HARVEY R. WILSON

DON D. GREENFIELD

Camp Pendleton, Calif. (Special)—Five Des Moines, Iowa, marines recently completed four weeks individual combat training at Camp Pendleton following basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. Four are waiting further transfer in accordance with directives to be issued by the Commandant of the marine corps and the fifth will be transferred back to San Diego for assignment to Field Music School.

The five Des Moines marines are: Privates Arthur S. Lee, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee, 1129 W. Thirteenth street; Donald R. Simmons, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Simmons, 1070 Sixteenth street; Donald D. Greenfield, 19, son of J. R. and Mrs. Robert Greenfield, 1055 Thirteenth street; Phillip N. Dudley, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Evans, 1320 Laurel; and Harvey R. Wilson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Wilson, 1164 Fourteenth street. Wilson was assigned to the Field Music School at San Diego.

Lee and Simmons are graduates of Des Moines Tech High school and Dudley and Greenfield are graduates of North High school in Des Moines.

Brad Morris Hurt In Car Wreck Enroute To NAACP Meeting

James Brad Morris, Jr., 34, of 955 Seventeenth street, is recovering at his home from cuts on the head, arms and legs and sprained ankles suffered in an auto accident last Saturday afternoon five miles west of Tama on Highway 30.

Morris, an attorney, was enroute to Cedar Rapids to attend a conference of Iowa members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

His car was in a collision with a westbound auto driven by Mrs. Harold Epstein of Highland Park, Ill. Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Epstein were treated at Deaconess hospital at Marshalltown and released. The Epsteins' 6-year-old daughter was uninjured.

Wilmer S. Johnson Reelected Head of NAACP Branches

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Wilmer S. Johnson of Marshalltown was reelected president of the Iowa State Conference of NAACP branches at the fourteenth annual session held here June 13 and 14.

In sessions held at the Peoples church, other officers elected were: Mrs. James Schram, Burlington, vice president; Leland Ahern, Des Moines second vice president; Mrs. C. H. Copeland, Cedar Rapids, secretary; Miss Joan Orr, Grinnell, assistant secretary; Mrs. Viola Gibson, Cedar Rapids, treasurer; Mrs. Charles L. Strange, Des Moines, state youth director; Mrs. Lorraine Collins, Des Moines, college chapters.

Executive board members are: Ike Smalls, Luther T. Glanton, Jr., James B. Morris, Sr., Mrs. Clifford Bayles, all of Des Moines; Mrs. Wilmer S. Johnson, Marshalltown; Mrs. Vaeletta Fields, Waterloo; Rabbi Gordon, Sioux City; Harold C. Ashby, Burlington; Dr. Theodore Lilly, Cedar Rapids; Roy Winston, Ottumwa; Mrs. L. K. Wallace, Clinton; Donald Harris, Davenport; Delores Robinson, Council Bluffs.

Youth Officers
Youth officers are: Lola Malbrue, Cedar Rapids, president; Patricia Warren, Marshalltown, secretary; Barlett Wilkinson, Burlington, treasurer.

Services Held For Mrs. Jessie Mae Perry

Services were held Wednesday at Corinthian Baptist church for Mrs. Jessie Mae Perry, 66. Burial was in Glendale cemetery.

Mrs. Perry of 754 Eleventh street died June 14 at Broadlawns General hospital.

She was born at Shelbina, Mo., and had lived in Des Moines for 39 years.

She was a member of Corinthian church, Daughters of Elks, Sisterhood lodge and Household of Ruth. Survivors include a son, Leonard Brown, and a brother, Charles Woods, both of Des Moines.

North's Majorette Gets Congratulations

Congratulations were sent to North High School's band director, J. B. Snyder, after the Drake Relays parade, this spring, when the school's marching band included a Negro majorette, Miss Lucy Marie Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shepherd of 1025 Thirteenth street.

The Merle Kinneys of Herndon, Ia., wrote the band director "how wonderful we thought it was that you used a colored majorette in your marching band for the Relays Parade. 'Not only was she the best appearing twirler, but the fact that prejudice did not enter into her selection is truly a noteworthy item in the furtherance of music,' the message to band director said.

Miss Shepherd, 15, who is attending summer school now, spent a half-semester after passing examinations for the honor of a majorette in the schools band.

Sunday School and BTU Congress Adjourn Friday

The first annual session of the Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska Minnesota and Illinois Baptist Sunday School and B. T. U. Congress will end Friday afternoon at the Corinthian Baptist church 9th and School street.

Stressing the theme: "Live Christ Teach Christ," the congress opened Tuesday morning with the Rev. B. H. Hunter of Omaha, president presiding.

The Rev. T. S. Patton of Davenport addressed the congress on the subject of "Live Christ" Tuesday morning, following the instruction period which was under the direction of Rev. J. Q. Evans.

Some Eateries Glad That Law Against Segregation Revived; 'Need Business'

Washington, D. C.—(CNS)—While police were ready to back up Washington's newly revived law against segregation in eating places, the restaurateurs foresaw little chance for complaints or violations, at least as far as they were concerned. For as one proprietor put it "I tell you I'm glad. We need more business."

But should a "well-behaved" Negro complain that he has been refused service at any eating place in the nation's capital, he need only go to the police, who will in turn take him to the Corporation Counsel's office in the Municipal Court for a hearing. Violators are subject to a $100. fine and may forfeit their license.

Police, though on the alert for violators, have been told by their Chief, Robert V. Murray, to "exercise good judgement, tact and give fair treatment."

Meanwhile, on the first days following the banning of segregation, few Negroes took advantage of being able to go into any bar, cafeteria, drug store or restaurant.

Supreme Court Rules That Property Owners Cannot Be Sued For Breaking Agreements

Washington, D. C.—The supreme court Monday ruled that property owners cannot be sued for damages if they break agreements against allowing non-Caucasians to move into "all-white neighborhoods."

The tribunal held in a 6-1 decision that to allow such suits would be to encourage the continuance real estate covenants and to use the power of state courts to enforce them.

It would be a violation of anti-Semitic agreements.

Calls Attention to 83rd Congress' Curb of Race Relations Work in Housing

Washington.—The first legislative move in the 83rd Congress to ban segregation in the District of Columbia was this week sidetracked by a parliamentary maneuver in the House of Representatives.

A fast move by Representative W. F. Norrell, (D., Ark.), saved his fellow congressmen from a record vote on this issue when, on June 3, he moved to send back to committee a bill providing funds for District agencies.

Because of seniority, Congressman Norrell was able to secure the floor before Congressman Adam Clayton Powell (D., N.Y.), who was seeking a vote on a motion to recommit the bill with instruction for the committee to report it out with a non-segregation amendment. An attempt by the New Yorker to get the amendment passed on June 2 failed by a vote of 78 to 15. As the House was sitting as a committee of the whole there was no record of how the members voted. Representative Powell's follow-up proposal would have forced a record vote which was averted by action on Representative Norrell's motion.

Moreover, he continued, "the 83rd Congress was the first to attack and cut down the activities of the racial relations service of the housing agencies" and to consider seriously slashing the funds for Howard University and Freedmen's Hospital.

Despite the President's instructions to end segregation in schools on military posts, action has been held up, the NAACP executive asserted, because "Mrs. Oveta Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, believes that Congress might not provide funds to support the President in this move."

Electa Grand Chapter of OES and Amaranths Meet

Over sixty delegates had registered by Tuesday for the forty-fourth annual communication of the Electa Grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star and the fifth annual communication of the Royal and exalted Court of the Amaranth.

The sessions which opened Monday with meetings at the Des Moines YWCA, closed Thursday afternoon following the election and installation of officers.

A public reception was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Sarah E. Jett presiding.

Greetings of welcome were extended by the following: Mayor Allen W. Denny of the city; Mrs. Gladys Brown, worthy matron of Princess O'Zell Chapter No. 9, on behalf of the Princess O'Zell, Princess Zorah No. 10 and Olive Branch No. 32; Mrs.

Leona Jordan, royal matron of Amaranth; James W. Rhone, illustrious commander of William Frank Powell Consistory No. 45, on behalf of fraternal orders.

Responses were made by William Wington of Mason City, past grand worthy patron; Mrs. Odessa Roberts of Davenport, past grand royal matron; and M. F. Askew of Sioux City, past grand royal patron.

Mrs. Dorothy B. Bush, grand worthy matron, presented the Electa Grand Chapter officers and Mrs. Marjorie Lewis of Ft. Madison, grand royal matron, presented the grand officers of the Court of Amaranth.

The Rev. N. R. Olphin, pastor of Corinthian Baptist church, gave the invocation. Music was offered by St. Paul Junior choir; Mrs. Sadie Jones, soloist; Burns chorus and Shrine Chanters.

Tobias to Give Keynote Address Tuesday to Open NAACP Meet in St. Louis

New York.—Harold E. Stassen, Mutual Security Administrator and former Governor of Minnesota, will address the closing session of the 44th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in St. Louis, June 23-28.

Mr. Stassen replaces Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam who will be unable to attend because of participation in the 150th anniversary of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, in Philadelphia on the same day of the NAACP meeting. "My regret is matched by my disappointment," the Methodist prelate wired upon discovering the conflict in the date.

Sharing the platform with Mr. Stassen at the Sunday afternoon session on June 28, will be Walter White, NAACP executive secretary. Music at this session will be by the Mariners, popular and internationally famous quartet of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The keynote address will be delivered at the opening night session on Tuesday, June 23, by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Associations board of directors. Welcome addresses will be delivered by Mayor Raymond Tucker and Howard B. Woods, city editor, St. Louis Argus.

L. Adams Hurt In Freak Mishap

Lloyd Adams, 55, of 3003 Third street, attendant at the city garage, Second and Maple streets, was injured about the face in a freak accident at the garage Tuesday morning.

Adams had just filled the gasoline tank of a city-owned truck and was preparing to put gasoline into a police three-wheel motorcycle.

The gasoline hose, which rolls onto a spring-controlled reel when not in use, apparently caught onto the truck and was unrolled several feet before it suddenly came loose, flew back and struck Adams in the face.

He was taken to Iowa Lutheran hospital, treated for cuts and bruises about the face, and then was taken to his home.

East Side Union Mission To Meet

The East Side Mission society will hold its board meeting Wednesday afternoon, June 24, 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Alberta Gray, 624 S. E. 8th street.

To Enter Iowa U. College Of Nursing

MINTA LAVERNE SMITH

Miss Minta Laverne Smith, daughter of Mrs. Hollie C. Cherry, 1447 Railroad avenue, was one of the 61 students selected as members of the 1953-54 freshman nursing class at the State University of Iowa.

Admission to the college is based on motivation for nursing, past academic record, personal qualities, intellectual ability as shown by examinations and physical health, the dean explained. Graduates of the four-year program will receive the degree of bachelor of science in nursing.

After satisfactorily passing the Iowa state board examinations, they are licensed as registered nurses in Iowa.

Miss Smith was graduated in January this year from East High school.

Mrs. Verona Western, daughter of Mr. L. A. Garland, 1052 Fourteenth street, recently passed the state board of cosmetology and has her license to go into the business of beauty culture.

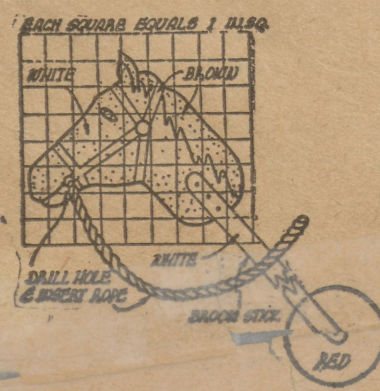

Mrs. Western is a graduate of the Crescent School of Beauty Culture, here, in the last January class and North High school. She is a member of Corinthian Baptist church.

Old-Fashioned Plaything

EVEN in this streamlined age of television and jet planes, the child of two to six enjoys a toy that's quite primitive, like a hobby horse. It makes no difference if you can't purchase one, because making one is a cinch for the proud Dad.

The only parts needed are an old broom stick, two pieces of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood, a four-inch wooden or metal wheel from an old wagon, a piece of rope, and some paint—white, red and brown.

Following the diagram shown here, Dad can lay out the head pattern on the Tempered Presdwood. He will cut out two heads with a coping or jig saw and glue their screened sides together so that only the smooth faces will be exposed.

He'll select the desired length of broomstick and cut slots into which the head and wheel are bolted. After applying a prime coat of paint, he can cover the various parts with colors as shown. The youngster will thoroughly enjoy this old-fashioned plaything.

For a free plan showing other toys that can be made in the home workshop, write Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, and ask for Drawing No.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Three-Fourths of Teen-Agers Undernourished

Are we Americans starving our teen-agers? Three fourths of them are undernourished, according to a recent study of 3109 teen-agers in Pennsylvania, chosen because they were typical of all American teen-agers. This sounds startling in the world of plenty in which we live, yet only a very few meet their daily nutritional needs for growth, energy, and physical attractiveness and well-being. The reason is bad food habits.

Boys have better dietary daily habits than girls, the study said, but even so, they fall below their nutritional quota on almost every count. What are some of the reasons for these startling finds? In the case of girls, food fads and weird dieting practices account for a lot of the poor nutrition. Teen-age girls seem to think that being small is highly desirable. The idea is about as outdated as binding the feet of Chinese women, but it persists. And the sad part of it is that the girls skip meals of non-fattening foods which they need, and go in for mid-meal snacks to "hold them over." Usually the snacks have little nutritional value, but plenty of calories.

Food Fads Boys, on the other hand, are not interested in dieting, and escape poor food habits on that score. But they are subject to food fads, substituting hot dogs and a soft drink for a well-balanced meal. They usually eat more than girls, and they need more. They usually grow faster, are more active, and grow taller than girls. Nevertheless, the fact that they are so active often is bad for their diet. They eat in a hurry, grabbing this and a bite of that, and never seem to have time for a slow, leisurely, well-balanced meal.

Barometers of good nutritional intake are the skin, the eyes, the hair, and general physical well-being. A well-balanced diet can do wonders for personal appearance.

It allows growth to full stature, corrects weight, clears up the skin, improves vision, brightens hair, reduces nervous habits and tension, lends pep and vitality, and helps resist infection. Unfortunately, most teen-agers do not discover their "best" selves because of poor food habits.

plenty of calcium from milk, phosphorus from meats, poultry, and sea foods, vitamin A from butter, fortified margarine, cream, eggs, leafy green and yellow vegetables, vitamin C from citrus fruits and tomatoes, and vitamin D from fish liver oil and fortified milk.

For resistance to fatigue all these are needed plus some bread, other vegetables and fruits. Fats and proteins and vitamin B complex foods are important to clear skin and good muscle tone.

Milk is most often left out of teen-age diets. Often girls omit it because they think it is fattening, and it's an easy food to omit when they are on a "diet." They don't realize that a five cent candy bar has about one and a half times as many calories as a glass of whole milk. Actually, milk is one of the most nearly perfect foods and supplies more of the needed nutrients than any other.

Alertness

Sometimes, after poor diet has been the rule for several years, permanent damage is done to the body. Teeth may be decayed, bones may be deformed, or skin may become scarred from acne. But with a consistently adequate diet, the appearance of a teen-ager is bound to change. It may take time, sometimes months, but the mirror will bear witness that a good diet pays off. School progress may improve, too. Proper diet increases mental alertness as well as physical well-being. Of course, proper diet effects they way he feels. He'll lose the tired, nervous, jittery feelings, and the way he grows will be sure proof of proper diet.

that only one fourth of our typical teen-agers are eating properly, it is time to do something about it, and the job usually falls to the parents. For nutritional information and guides to proper eating, write to the Nutrition Service of the Iowa State Department of Health, Des Moines, Iowa.

Every Child Should Know the Joy Of Putting Hands Into Good Earth

Afton Smith, Assistant Professor State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

Jean, in first grade, announced that she wanted to plant a garden in the spring. "Because," said she, "fresh vegetables are better for you."

"How do you know?" asked her mother. "The teacher told us," said Jean as if to say, "Who else would know?" (She was at the age of teacher worship)

Should we merely be amused at 6 year old Jean's wisdom and devotion to the teacher? Or should we respect her ambition and take the trouble to help her plant a little garden?

Here is our chance to stand behind the school's health program. Practice at home is the only way for Jean to make use of her school room knowledge. If she is ready and willing to put her information to work, we should encourage her. She is too little to do it alone.

Jean's garden may produce more weeds than carrots. But it is not the vegetables that count. It's the chance to put an idea to work that matters.

If only one carrot grows large enough to be served at the table, Jean's satisfaction in achievement will reward her interest in health rules. Furthermore, she may become interested in eating some vegetable which she has not liked before.

There are other home-school values in a child's garden. Every child should know the joy of putting hands into good earth, of seeing seeds come to life, besides sharing a task with teacher and parents. Through these experiences the child puts school room nature study into practice at home and the parents can give meaning to the school program.

We know in a general way that the school gives our children what we call "education." Do we know how much better the school can teach our children when we back up the school program with helpful experiences at home?

It's Desk or Dresser!
DON'T let the high cost of furniture prevent you having a desk or dressing table! By following a free plan, you can build one that will serve as either. The plan also describes construction of a three-legged stool, in the event you want a dressing table. Features of this piece are the removable top, the drawers without pulls, and the durable, smooth surfaces—

Masonite Tempered Preswood. An interesting alternative, for the top, is Masonite Leatherwood, the embossed hardboard which makes an unusually attractive surface for a dresser. Leatherwood is stain and burn-resistant.

As shown in the illustration, this desk-or-dressing table is neat and modern. The cost of materials used in its construction is comparatively small. The plan is easy to follow too. It may be obtained free by writing to Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting Drawing No. AE-170.

'Study Everything—Go Into New Fields,' Dr. Bunche Tells Grads

DR. RALPH J. BUNCHE

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the trusteeship department of the United Nations, spoke in Des Moines May 7, at Drake University's Honors' convocation and at a luncheon meeting given by the Willkie House board.

In one of his brief moments between meetings, he chatted at Willkie House where he met a number of citizens on his first visit to Des Moines.

The Willkie House lounge was filled with an interracial gathering of luncheon guests who shook hands with the internationally known Nobel Peace Prize winner.

Many of the guests paused to ask him questions about world conditions, United Nations problems, experiences in Palestine. With a smile upon his face, or a flash of the eyes, and then a serious look, Dr. Bunche discussed briefly situations and made all who talked with him feel that they had met an old friend.

Advice

"I tell youth not to choose careers because they are popular ones—or because their friends have gone into them and have become successful. Those fields, already, are too crowded. 'Study everything—prepare for new fields,' the former mediator in Palestine said.

Then Dr. Bunche recalled that he might have been discouraged, even when he was a college student, had he paid attention to those who criticized him for his choice of political science as a career.

His critics and advisers thought he was wasting his time. They thought that he—a Negro—would not be able to get employment with an education that prepared persons for work with the organization and government of states and nations.

But, Dr. Bunche went to the University of California (UCLA) for his Bachelor of Arts; Harvard university, for his Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees. He did post graduate study in Northwestern university, London School of Economics, and University of Cape-town, S. Africa. On fellowships he studied in Europe, South East Africa, Malaysia, Netherlands, Indies.

He taught political science at University of California, Howard University in Washington, D. C., and Swarthmore, (Pa.) college.

The American yearbooks list many more deeds and honors won by Dr. Bunche.

Date Filled Coffee Braid

Braid an enriched sweet yeast dough for an attractive cover to a luscious date layer. Glaze the baked coffee cake with icing for party refreshment.

Whether you and your friends watch football at the stadium, on your T-V set, or listen to it on the radio, the end of the game is the kick-off for refreshments.

You'll find a ready welcome for a tray of fresh sugared doughnuts and spicy cider . . . or fruit-filled coffee cake and hot chocolate. Stop by the baker's for these treats, or if you're in a baking mood, add Date Filled Coffee Braid to your family's roster of favorites.

It's reassuring to know that anything so good can also be good for you. Enriched flour is the star ingredient for this good bread because of the quota of B-vitamins and food iron it provides. It is a thrifty base, too, since the coffee cake costs under 30 cents.

Apricot, prune or fig fillings may be substituted for the rich date filling to accommodate your larder or a friend's preference.

DATE FILLED COFFEE BRAID

1 package yeast, compressed or dry
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons shortening
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
Date Filling

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to rectangle about 24 inches long and 6 inches wide. Spread Date Filling lengthwise down center. With scissors or knife make slashes 2 inches long and 1 inch apart along each long side of strip. Fold these pieces across filling alternating from side to side. Coil loosely into greased 9-inch layer pan. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 25 minutes.

Date Filling

1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Dash salt

1/2 cup water
1/2 cup chopped dates

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add water and dates and mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened (about 7 minutes). Use as filling for Date Filled Coffee Braid. Makes 1 coffee cake.

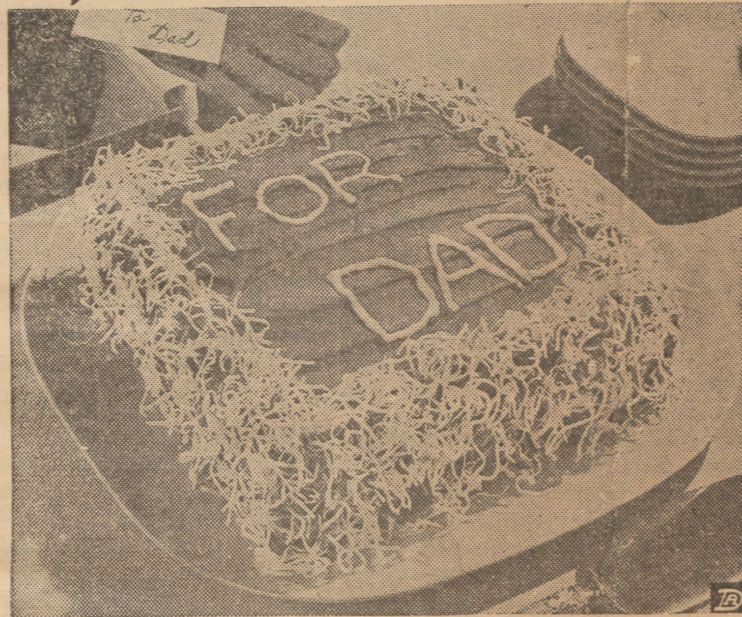

Racial Discrimination Here Puzzles Greek Newspaperman

New York.—Reporting on his observations of race relations in this country, Chiston Oeconomon, Greek newspaperman, has written a series of articles on various phases of the problem for the Athens Embros, a leading publication of that ancient city.

After recounting an interview here with Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Mr. Oeconomon concludes that "it is a puzzling fact that in a country of real democracy, like our great ally, the United States, where the worker, farmer, scientist and every honest citizen enjoys freedom and conveniences, there are colored people who, despite equal obligations, have not the right to live like real free American citizens."

Mr. Oeconomon visited the United States under auspices of the State Department.

Let Father Have His Day

"Don't tell Dad we said so, but don't you agree that too often he comes out on the short end of things? The family decides what it wants to do, and Dad is expected to follow along. And when presents are in order, you know how it is. 'Oh, Dad doesn't care—give him a tie!'"

So how about making Father's Day this year completely his day? Help the children choose a gift he really wants. Prepare his favorite dish for dinner; make a special Father's Day cake for him. And by the way, if chocolate is his favorite flavor, here is a cake he will love. It is simple and easy to make with a wonderful devil's food mix. The fancy part can be the decoration—and there is no better way to turn a simple cake into a fancy one than by showering it with snowy shredded coconut. In this case, enough space is left on the top to write "For Dad."

Father's Day Anniversary Cake

1 package devil's food mix
1 1/4 cups milk

Turn cake mix into bowl. Add 1/2 cup of the milk, blend, then beat 2 minutes. Add half of the remaining milk, blend, and beat 2 minutes. Then add remaining milk and beat 1 minute longer. (Beat vigorously by hand or at low speed of electric mixer. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater often.)

Turn batter into 9 x 9 x 2-inch square pan which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 30 to 35 minutes.

Frost entire cake with Clever Judy Frosting and sprinkle coconut over sides and top edges. Using pastry tube filled 1/2 full with Ornamental Frosting, write the words "FOR DAD" in center of cake.

Clever Judy Frosting

1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg yolk, unbeaten
4 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/2 tablespoon butter

Combine ingredients in order given, beating with rotary egg beater until blended. Place bowl in pan of cracked ice or ice water and continue beating until of right consistency to spread (about 3 minutes). Makes 2 cups frosting, or enough to cover top and sides of 9 x 9 x 2-inch cake.

Ornamental Frosting

1 egg white, unbeaten
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Add half of sugar to egg white and beat thoroughly. Add vanilla and lemon juice; then add remaining sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. After all sugar is added continue beating 2 minutes. Keep covered with damp cloth until ready for use. Use for decorating a frosted cake. Force frosting through pastry tube, filling tube only 1/2 full.

Heard in Graduation Talks To Youth Thruout Nation

JUDGE WILLIAM HASTIE
Talladega, Ala.—"Integration! When did we start using that word in talk about race relations?" Judge William H. Hastie asked the question when he addressed graduates at Talladega college commencement here June 1.

"I cannot remember its use before the 1940s to describe the evolution of American race relations. Only then was there need for such a word to describe an idea that people were beginning to consider seriously . . ."

"We never have been happy about jimcrow. We have not been pleased with our isolation from the main stream of American culture.

"But we have become accustomed

Father's Day will be observed at Coppin Chapel AME church Sunday evening, June 21, 7:30 p.m. A special program by the local dads will be held.

Rev. LeRoy Patterson, pastor of Coppin Chapel will be heard over radio station KVFD-KFMY Saturday, June 20, at 6:05 p.m.

Miss Anzul Johnson left last week for Denver, Colo., after spending two months visiting home here where she was extended many social courtesies.

Senior Event at St. Joseph Academy Includes Tour of Washington

One of the grand events of the senior activities at St. Joseph's Academy was a six-day sight-seeing trip to the nation's capital, Washington, D. C., where 21 girls and two sisters saw everything from the White House to the U. S. mint. The group is shown aboard train, waving a good-bye before departure.

Tells of Tour Over Haiti's Mountains; Natives in Huts

This is the third of a series of travel articles by Mrs. Luella Westbrook, Des Moines resident, who recently returned from a post-convention trip to the Islands of Nassau, Haiti, Jamaica and Cuba. The trip climaxed the 23rd annual meeting of the women's convention of the Church of God in Christ which met last month in Miami, Fla.

BY LUELLA WESTBROOK After lunch we went on our first project at the Martissant school. This is a private girl school, the best one, I saw, with 120 students and 8 teachers. It is a Catholic one. Nevertheless, Protestants can attend. The project teacher was at her best.

Project Teachers Mrs. Lena House taught the students how to make marmalade out of mangoes, how to can soup stock, peapapples, beans. Sewing was taught. Lessons was given by Nurse Johnson on hygiene.

The evening was free and after our evening meal, Miss Webster called for an after-dinner chat, giving us instructions for the next and following days. She urged us to be on time for breakfast as our journey would be long on the next day. Our schedule was, after breakfast to take a trip through the mountains to Petitguare, to visit a missionary school named Mother Coffey.

Road to Petitguare The road to Petitguare was pretty rough and rugged as we climbed the mountains. Until you drive from Port Au Prince to Petitguare, you could not believe that people could actually exist living as the animals of the wilds.

Hut After Hut Hut after hut, all over the mountains, under neath the mountains; natives without clothing, some just half-clothed; some bathing in a pool of muddy water, a few feet down a small stream; others washing clothes

June Graduates of Des Moines High Schools Busy Planning to Be Useful Citizens

Some of the city's many June high school graduates have hopes of continuing their educations in schools of higher learning, others will seek employment or continue on their jobs. Some of the young men will enter military services. On this page are some of the ambitious youth and their school activities.

BY MARIE ROSS

MADONNA JEAN FRAZIER
East High School Graduate Madonna Jean Frazier has been employed for the past seventeen months as a long distance operator for the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company here.

While completing her high school work, Miss Frazier said that she has enjoyed her job "a great deal and plans to be with the company for many years."

How she secured her job, Miss Frazier commented: "I was recommended by Flora Bell Gilmore (North High School graduate); and the personnel manager asked to interview me. Within a week, I found myself telling people I had a job at the telephone company."

At East High school, Miss Frazier's main studies were English with special interest in economics. She averaged a grade of 2.

Her extra activities includes the following clubs, Senior Debs, Philo, G. A. A., Spectators and Modern Miss.

A daughter of Mrs. Irene Frazier of 1309 Sampson, she plans to do advanced study at the American Institute of Business here.

GLENDORA JOYCE SMITH

Des Moines Technical High School graduate Glendora Joyce Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollie C. Cherry, 1447 Railroad avenue. At Tech, she was a member of the Junior Red Cross, Student council, Service club, All-School Social committee, Cap and Gown committee and Senior Social committee.

Miss Smith specialized in tailoring, and, in the spring and fall fashion shows, sponsored by Tech's tailoring department, she modeled clothes she made during the semester.

This summer, she plans to do sewing at home, to get practice for the shop she plans to own after her advanced schooling at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, where she will enter this fall.

Miss Smith is a member of St. Paul AME church and its youth choir.

CHARLOTTE MARIE DIXON

Des Moines Tech High school graduate Miss Charlotte Marie Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dixon, 771 Thirteenth street, is employed as a stenographer for the Des Moines school board.

On the honor roll at Tech, Miss Dixon plans to work a while then enter Iowa University's School of Nursing next year. She will receive a scholarship from the Methodist church.

Miss Dixon was a member of Tech's baccalaureate committee, tennis,

CHARMAINE A. MILLER

Employed during her senior year as a part-time assistant secretary in the office of Amos Hiatt Junior high school here was Charmaine A. Miller, Des Moines Tech High School graduate. Now that she has finished high school, Miss Miller plans to take civil service examinations for a government job.

At Tech, Miss Miller was active in the Student Council, Service club, played tennis, helped publish the school paper and year book, was lunchroom cashier, service desk clerk and student court clerk.

Illustrated Summer Lectures at Drake's Municipal Observatory

A six-week series of illustrated lectures will be given this summer at the Drake municipal observatory in Waveland park.

The series is designed to provide a non-technical general view of the solar system and the universe beyond.

Lectures—by Dr. Philip S. Riggs, professor of astronomy at Drake—will be given at 8 p.m. Mondays and Fridays beginning June 19.

On nights when sky conditions permit use of the telescope, observations of the planet Saturn and other subjects will follow the lectures.

The moon will be observed on June 19-22 and July 17-20, weather permitting.

Lecture subjects: June 19-22 The Earth and the Night Sky; June 26-29 The Moon and the Sun; July 3-6 The Sun's Family; July 10-13 The Stars; July 17-20 Clouds in Space; July 24-27 The Milky Way and Beyond.

The age limits, waived for persons entitled to veteran preference, are 18 to 35 years.

Further information regarding the requirements and the addresses of the places where applications should be sent may be secured from the Commission's Local Secretary, Mr. Carl S. Stall, located at Des Moines, Iowa, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications for both examinations will be accepted until further notice.

Bible Thought

Miss DeSleet Weds In Beautiful Ceremony

REV. AND MRS. LOVELL JOHNSON (Bill Ashby Photo)

Miss Marguerite Jane DeSleet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris DeSleet, 3106 Bowdoin street, became the bride of Rev. Lovell Johnson, of Detroit, Mich., at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 10, when the Rev. John E. Hunter read the ceremonies in the auditorium of the St. Paul AME church.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson, former Chicago, Ill., pastor, is son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Bessemer, Alabama.

White standards of tapers linked with white satin ribbons and clusters of flowers marked the aisle for the bride and groom. The church's altar where an arched trellis was decorated with fern and daisies, flanked by candelabra and large arrangements of pink and white gladioli and carnations.

The wedding music was by organist Mrs. Seymour Morrison. Soprano soloist, Mrs. G. B. Tucker sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. DeSleet gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's gown of ice blue Chantilly lace over nylon which fell into a soft panel of tiny pleats in the front of the full skirt, was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder illusion yoke, pointed lace long sleeves and a fitted bodice. Seed pearls and lace entwined the coronet which held her fingertip length illusion veil. She carried stephanotis and pale yellow roses on a white prayer book.

★ Personal Touch By MARIE ROSS ★

God's good old summertime will arrive officially, on the calendar, Sunday, June 21, although temperatures in Iowa, have been hitting the ninety-degree mark many days this spring.

But, "as your vacation grows closer to reality, you begin to visualize the wonderful coat of tan you will acquire," wrote Marion Matthews in her "Beauty for You" column in the June 13 issue of the Des Moines Register.

"A tan that is pretty and enduring is one you should work at over a period of time," the writer advised—and immediately, I could think of hundreds of thousands, maybe, millions of peoples who have pretty tans that range from that beautiful brown color that the sun gives—on down to black—as the tents of Kedar—as the curtains of Solomon," the Songs of Solomon described.

"You'll suffer severe pain and ugly peeling areas when you try to achieve a deep tan on your first day out," the writer warned.

Then I folded my arms and wondered whether I should laugh or cry about the world in which we live: four-fifths of the peoples of the earth, dark-skinned—and the one-fifth trying to get a tan that will endure—just for a summer.

And, millions of people upon whom the sun has looked—and given a permanent tan that will endure for a lifetime—know what it means to suffer more than pain—but "slings" grows of outrageous color. As Shakespeare might say, "It makes you wonder—especially, when you read another article in the news about a hospital in N. H., being accused of firing

Mrs. V. Hendricks Heads New Group Of Polio Volunteers

Polio Emergency Volunteers of District 7, a group of women who are volunteering their services, was organized Tuesday, June 9, at Willkie House.

Mrs. G. E. McCracken, president of the Polk County chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, and Mrs. Carl Winders, vice president, were guests.

Mrs. Winders explained the treatment and training for iron lung polio patients. Mr. John McCarty, guest of Mrs. Winders, discussed what volunteers do in the training.

Officers of the new group were installed by Mrs. McCracken, as follows: Mrs. Victoria Hendricks, organizer, president; Mrs. Clara Wade, vice president; Mrs. Edith Hunter, secretary; Mrs. Rose McCracken, assistant secretary; Mrs. Jesserean Dixon, treasurer; Mrs. Jacqueline Randall, chaplain, Miss Dorothy Abington, sergeant-at-arms.

The group will meet the second and fourth Tuesday nights at Willkie House.

Mrs. COTTIE LUCAS DINNER HOSTESS

Mrs. Cottie Lucas, 1410 Center street, was hostess at a dinner honoring Mrs. HESSIE STEVENSON of Chicago, Ill. Sharing the courtesies were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Lewis, son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Stevenson and grandchildren, Paula Jane and Clifford Lewis.

Mrs. Stevenson, formerly of Des Moines, was also visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Brewer and family and sister, Mrs. Ada Jefferson.

your lawn" from mail order page of the June 7 issue of the D.M. Sunday Register.

But last winter, Mrs. Stanley Griffin, the mother of three children, said "you haven't read anything until you read 'Pinkie Marie,' and she brought the book to me.

When Mr. Bruner, whose work with the union, deals with anti-discrimination in communities, said, he made a trip to Ames, Ia., to see the WOI radio program director, Richard Vogel, and talk to Mrs. Sunderlin who read the story, I had to take time to read "Pinkie Marie."

He said he found the director of the children's program, "set against racial prejudices, too. She said I was barking up the wrong tree," he related.

Nevertheless, he returned to his office at 605 Capital City Bank Bldg., and wrote a letter of protest about the broadcast.

That brings me back to my starting point. Let's see, what did the beauty writer say? "You'll suffer severe pain and ugly peeling when you try to achieve a deep tan on your first day out"—but, she did not Bruner, program co-ordinator for the United Packing House Workers, who related a protest he made to Radio Station WOI, after listening to the Children's Corner program, on June 9, at 11 a.m.

During the program, he said, Edith Sunderlin of the WOI staff read a stereotyped children's story, "Pinkie Marie," written by Lynda Graham.

The book about the little picanninny with the "kinky black hair," and her "mammy" and "pappy," has been on my table to read since early spring when I turned back to the library the stereotyped children's stories of "Little Black Sambo" and "Nicomemus and Petunia."

Also on my table for further study is a clipping of repeat advertisement of the "Negro Hitching Post to decorate

Waiting for the final word from Mother before they launch out on their summer vacation activities are John E. and Eva Laura Strother, children of Mrs. Edwin N. Craddock of 977 Twenty-Fourth street.

John, 12, a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 76, has had many happy week end trips with members of his troop in which he is the official bugler. He is looking forward to his vacation at Camp Mitigwa with other Boy Scouts.

John, a Grant school student, is taking trumpet lessons in summer classes at Drake university. He has a few hobbies, too; collecting stamps, making model planes and playing baseball.

Eva Laura, 13, an 8-B student at Callahan Junior high school is "sorta sorry and glad" that school is out. She is active in a Y-Teen club and will attend YWCA camp at Boone, Iowa.

Eva's hobbies include: eating, sleeping, hiking, handicrafts, reading, collecting story-book dolls, making new friends and playing baseball, she listed.

Happy that the summer vacation time has come so that she can relax from her daily schedule in her home, and her Parent-Teacher Association interests at Grant and Callahan schools, is Mrs. Craddock.

Fishing is her main hobby—and on many evenings when with her husband, a State Liquor Store employee, gets home, she and the family will be ready to go fishing. (Ross Photo).

THE VERMONT HILLS OF MILWAUKEE GUESTS OF THE N. CRADDOCKS

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hill and family of Milwaukee, Wisc., and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Close and son of Chicago, Ill., the daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, were recent visitors here of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Craddock, 977 Twenty-Fourth street.

Mr. Hill is a brother of Mrs. Craddock.

MOVE ON SEGREGATION MARCHES FAST

Each week some new phase of racial discrimination is being eliminated. In its closing session before adjournment for the summer, the U. S. Supreme Court drove another spike in the coffin of restrictive covenants when it ruled that state courts may not be used to sue those people who violate restrictive covenants by selling their property against those to whom the restriction is directed.

Said the court, to rule otherwise would encourage the extension of restrictive covenants.

The Bystander has said on more than one occasion that if the laws now on the statute book were enforced, there would be no necessity for civil rights legislation. And this is well emphasized when we realize that the decisions on racial segregation are based on the 14th Amendment to the constitution which was adopted in 1868.

On other occasions, the Bystander has emphasized that it has taken a lot of work to bring about the good things which are opening up to minority groups today and that the job has lasted many years. Many of those who helped pave the way have passed on. It remains for the recipients of the results of their efforts to demonstrate that they are capable of measuring up and will do so if given the opportunity.

Of course, along with opportunities go responsibilities. For instance, the fellow who gets the first opening should watch carefully that the job may be left intact for his successor. This means promptness, good behavior and just plain getting along with fellow workers whether they be black or white.

It cannot be emphasized too often that this is a two way street, that Negroes must get rid of their prejudices and dislikes of white people just as white people are being asked to get rid of their prejudices against Negroes. Wiping out barriers is bringing the American people closer together. And frankly most of them hope that this be done.

FIFTY-NINE YEARS—HOW ABOUT THE NEXT?

This week the Bystander celebrates its fifty-ninth anniversary. It is a happy event for many because less people are with a business, it is different for each milestone demonstrates that the older the institution, the more it must have done something worthwhile, otherwise fate would have placed it among the dead.

When the founders of the Bystander began publication little did they know that it would have lived so long. But they did see the necessity of a Negro newspaper as have succeeding owners and a lot of fine people who have given it their full support over the years.

Many changes have come about with respect to the things for which the Bystander has worked. Its primary object has been to raise the standard of the Negro in particular and thus that of the whole state and nation. Judging from what has been accomplished since the turn of the century, it has had some part in bringing about the desired results.

The Bystander has tried to emphasize to Iowans that a Negro newspaper was essential to their economic, political and social growth; that it was a part of their responsibility to support it as much as it is the responsibility of the Bystander to serve the public. After all, a newspaper, while privately owned, is a servant of the public.

Fifty-nine years is a long time for any business to operate. It is hoped that there will be no necessity to continue another fifty-nine years for the things it has worked to bring about are coming to pass rapidly.

So, thanks to all who may have been so thoughtful and civic-minded that the Bystander has continued to serve its constituents for fifty-nine years.

VISITS THAT ARE REVEALING

The editor of the Bystander appeared on the program of the NAACP conference in Cedar Rapids last week and was provided an opportunity to visit with many subscribers and friends there. It is always pleasant to make these visits for they provide an opportunity to compare notes of the present with those of years ago.

Like most communities, Negroes in Cedar Rapids are making progress all along the line. They have and are getting more good jobs, more and better homes are being acquired, the youngsters are continuing their education because their chances are better.

Beginning next week, Cedar Rapids will have a regular news-letter in the Bystander and it will be on sale there either by the year or copy through C. H. Montgomery, 804 Eighth Ave., S. E.

What Commencement Speakers Told Grads Throughout Country

CONGRESSMAN POWELL

Raleigh, N. C.—The 88th annual commencement exercises of Shaw University were held in Raleigh Memorial auditorium, June 1, and degrees were conferred upon 104 candidates in the college of arts and sciences and school of religion.

The address was delivered by Congressman Adam C. Powell, Jr., minister, Abyssinian Baptist church New York.

Speaking on the subject "The Fight to Save America," Congressman Powell said his world travels in recent years have shown him that the U. S. is the most disliked nation in the world even though it has poured billions into many critical areas.

Democracy Not Practiced "Why," he queried, "does the world look askance at American leadership? It is because, wherever I have gone in Europe, Africa and Asia, the question is asked me:

"How can you Americans expect to sell us your leadership, when we know the democracy that you are trying to sell us is not practiced at home?"

"America," he continued, "cannot lead as long as any segment of its population has second-class status. We've got to fight to save America and it must be done by colored citizens. Democracy is more precious to us for every little bit we got, we had to fight every step to get it."

No Longer a Racial Fight

"The fight for civil rights is no longer a racial fight, but a fight to save America and make democracy work, to restore the integrity of America."

In conclusion he said that this problem cannot be solved by education or time. It is up to us with the power of unity, truth and God, working together, and walking together to get America in the midstream, and have the leadership that made us great and set us free.

Dr. F. D. Patterson Of Tuskegee Honored In Look Magazine

New York.—Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute, is honored on the "Look Applauds" page in the issue of Look Magazine released June 15.

Dr. Patterson gets Look's plaudits for his work in behalf of Negro education at Tuskegee and as the founder of the United Negro College Fund, a movement to support privately endowed universities for Negroes. After twenty-five years of service, he is retiring from the presidency of Tuskegee to head the Phelps-Stokes Fund, a philanthropic foundation concentrating on Negro education and race problems in the United States and Africa.

THE DES MOINES BRANCH NAACP Says:

The Des Moines branch takes this opportunity to congratulate the Bystander on the occasion of its fifty-ninth anniversary.

The NAACP is not 59 years old but during its forty-three years of service, tremendous strides have been made toward the elimination of every barrier which mars the progress of Negroes toward equality of citizenship in its fullest extent.

But the NAACP realizes that its job has been made less difficult because the Negro press, from its exception, has given the work unlimited support. Not only has the press cried out against injustice, but it has also made the Negro conscious of his rights under the constitution and given him courage to seek out

BY ALLEN ASHBY

We had a special article written for the anniversary edition, but events sort of changed that. We were surprised to see a big tall guy in a blue suit who turned back the calendar a whole gang of years.

George Bourland had come to town to bury his wife, Flossie, who was his high school sweetheart. We got a fleeting glimpse and a handshake with the fellow and rushed off to keep an appointment.

As we walked we were thinking about Mr. Bourland. He started his athletic career at East High in 1922 as a second team tackle. Coach Hoyt said of him, "he has hands like elephants' ears" and he was right.

George took up boxing and managed to do quite a bit of boxing while serving two years as a varsity tackle and miler on the Lee Township school.

Won the state heavyweight title while still a lightweight—lightheavy, beating a veteran who had been champ for umpteen years. With a change to get seasoned in amateur competition, George might have become one of the games leading heavies. But in 1923 and for a few years after there were no amateur fighters in Iowa.

The same man provided the turning points in George's career. Bearcat Wright, one of the most feared heavies in the game, a man not even Jack Dempsey wants as a sparring partner or anything else, was the guy.

The cat met our hero in a twenty-four-foot ring at the Coliseum, and George who was awfully fast on foot, danced and used a jab and a one-two to out-punch the big slugger. Then bouts came fast and the name of Bourland was a box office attraction.

About two years later the cat got his young rival in a fifteen-foot ring at the old Berchal theater. There was no place to run let alone hide, and the Omaha terror who could hit his opponent on the shoulder and knock him out simply pounded George to pieces in four rounds.

That bout seemed to take away the ambition to get anyplace. George fought on, but now it was because it was the only means of making money and with no idea of getting anywhere.

Then after retiring the fellow organized amateur boxing teams in his gym on the East side. One thing was certain. The Bourland fighters were in condition whether a fight was two or twenty-two rounds. The boys went the distances and he never had a boy seriously injured.

Won several team trophies in Golden Gloves competition and his best heavyweight was Don Turner.

and exercise them. Here in Iowa, the Bystander has been a pillar of support for the NAACP. It has cooperated whenever and wherever called upon. We have supported the Bystander in its work; we shall hope to continue and call upon all organizations and individuals to do likewise.

But Turner was one of the very few Bourland fighters who would rather play than train and he didn't turn around until after the war.

The Bourlands moved to California where they say his son, George, Junior, could be a coming champ if he decides to box. Quite a guy—this George Bourland.

Sixth Annual Good Park Swim Meet July 19

The sixth annual Good Park swimming and diving championships sponsored by the Olympian club will be held Sunday, July 19, with the finals scheduled for 6 p.m.

The largest entry list in the history of the meet is predicted for this year's affair with contestants coming from all over Iowa and the surrounding states as well.

Now recognized as one of the finest in the mid-west, the championships will cover 18 events including both women's and men's divisions. A special race for boys 10 years and under has been added to this year's program.

Advance sale tickets at reduced prices are now on sale at the New Utica, Wilkie House, Metropolitan Drug store and Good pool. In addition youngsters of the city are participating in the advance sales being allowed to retain a portion of the ticket money to help them in securing their camp expenses.

By special permission from the Des Moines Park Board any profits from the championships are used by the Olympian Club to provide "free swim days" for children at Good Pool and to purchase extra recreational equipment for Good Park.

Irwin and Hank Break Giants' Losing Streak

New York—(CNS)—The Giants finally came up with a win after a five game losing streak and it was none other than Monte Irwin and Hank Thompson who did the main share to win. Monte and Hank both hit home runs and were thereby responsible for two of the Giants' three runs as against the one run gotten by the Milwaukee Braves. Thus the Giants are only nine games out of first place, which is being held, so far, by the Milwaukee Braves.

INTO THE DARKNESS

Into the darkness—I go without fear, knowing, while going, that Jesus is near.
 Laden, I venture, on life's rocky road, sure, as I struggle, He'll help with my load.
 Singing, I'm sailing o'er a dark sea,

I am not frightened, for He's here with me.
 When I am sure, that death hovers near,
 In the shade of His hand, I'll wait without fear.
 Manifold blessings will come every day, since I became His, I am walking His way.

 Daily I'm praying, the world will know peace,
 that brotherhood will come to reign, and all the wars shall cease . . .
 Into the darkness, none need ever go,
 Without the bright light of the Jesus I know.
