For 25 Years R. Hardaway Has Run Barber Shop and Watched Center St. Grow

By MARIE ROSS

"Good service and well-kept business places are the two main factors that keep a business growing," stated Rozenting Hardaway who is holding a silver anniversary celebration of his tonsorial parlor at 1004 Center street.

Over 300,000 patrons have been served at the Hardaway Tonsorial Parlor during the twenty-five years that Mr. Hardaway has owned and operated his barber business at the Center Street address.

First Customer

On the morning of Oct. 29, 1929, Mr. George Eppright of 1143 Enos, walked into the barber shop which had previously been run by Barber Spencer Curry for the owner, the late A. J. Esters.

When Barber Hardaway waited upon Mr. Eppright—the price of a haircut was thirty-five cents and a shave, twenty cents. Barbers worked then from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock each night on Saturdays until 10 or 11 p.m. Mr. Hardaway recalled in an interview this week.

During the twenty-five years of his business, many changes have been made—in men's hair styles, in the prices and hours at the barber shops.

"I believe that Center Street is much better than it used to be—better businesses have come and places are cleaner."

Changes Made

There was a time, Mr. Hardaway recalled, "when one could go into a barbershop and find a barber drunk; when you would find just one towel in the shop; when the barbers used mugs and neck-dusters."

"All that has changed with the improvement in the barber's profession and the strictness of the state laws. Clean linen is used now on each customer and mugs and neck-dusters are not allowed."

With those improvements the price of a haircut is now one dollar and a shave fifty cents. Mr. Hardaway listed, but was proud to add that never has his first customer, Mr. Eppright failed to come in regularly through the years, for his haircut and shave.

Mr. Hardaway did quite a bit of barbering as a young man, when he left his home town, San Antonio, Texas, and arrived in Des Moines in 1924. He worked a while for the late Oscar Glass on Sixth Avenue, and Charles Cochran at Second and Grand avenue. Then the young barber went to Chicago, Ill., where he spent over a year barbering before he returned to Des Moines in 1928 to go back to his chair at Mr. Glass's shop.

That next October he went into business for himself at 1004 Center; gave the shop its present name, a suggestion made by one of his early

Education Week Nov. 8-14; Visit Your Public Schools

American Education Week will be observed in the Des Moines public schools here Nov. 8-14, inclusive. The public is asked to visit the schools, and help emphasize the theme of the week—"Good Schools Are Your Responsibility."

Members of the American Legion Posts and Auxiliaries will be hosts and hostesses each evening at the schools' open houses.

Randy Turpin Faces Assault Charge

New York, N. Y.—Randy Turpin, former world's middleweight boxing champion, was arrested Monday on a charge of simple assault. A woman complained he beat her "on a number of occasions."

The complaint against the British boxer was brought by Adele Daniels, 24, whose attorney described her as "a girl friend" of the British fighter. Turpin lost to Bobo Olson Oct. 21 in the middleweight title bout.

The British fighter was scheduled to leave the U. S. Wednesday.

Denies Being Injured

SATCHEL PAIGE

Mobile, Ala.—Satchel Paige, veteran baseball pitcher, Monday denied he was injured in a traffic accident in Florida and that he was "very much in good health."

Jim Williams of Jacksonville, Fla., said Sunday he had been told that Paige, his secretary and three other baseball players were injured when Paige's car was in an accident between Savannah, Ga., and Jacksonville about 2 a.m. Sunday.

A. L. Cranshaw Comes Out Of Wreck; Drives Car To Town

A. L. Cranshaw, 849 Sixteenth street, escaped serious injury last Friday evening when the car he was driving left the highway, went into a ditch and rolled over.

The accident happened on Highway 60, when the visor he was wearing slipped from his eyes, causing him to be blinded by the sun. Mrs. Cranshaw related. His car left the highway and turned upside down in a ditch.

The rear of the car was smashed in, but after other motorists helped Mr. Cranshaw out of his wrecked car, they helped him to push it onto the highway again and he drove on into town, the wife stated.

Mrs. Cranshaw said that her husband spends his spare time reading the Bible stories of the lives of Peter, James and John and "they must have been with him at the time of his accident," she added.

Bernard Brown Is NAACP Guest At Davenport

Davenport, Ia.—Bernard Brown, assistant field secretary of the NAACP, was the guest of the Davenport branch of the NAACP, Tuesday, Nov. 3, 7 p.m., at Bethel AME church, Eleventh at Ripley street, with the Rev. John I. Thomas pastor. The NAACP's ten year, Fight-for-Freedom program was the center of Mr. Brown's theme, with attention given toward the equal education and Christ Seal appeal.

Mr. Brown completed his elementary schooling in Detroit, Mich. He is a graduate of Stowe Teachers' college, St. Louis, Mo., where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in education.

A former teacher in St. Louis, Mo. public school, Mr. Brown has traveled more than 65,000 miles, as a staff member and since 1950, an assistant field secretary of the NAACP.

At present he is director of activities in the Midwest region, covering Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Missouri, Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming, with additional work in Southern Illinois and adjacent areas.

Mr. Brown is an ordained minister. A short program did precede the speaker with mass rally and membership appeal and acceptance. The Tri-City branch and adjoining branches participated.

N. H. Butler, 1414 Spring street, is president of the Davenport branch.

New York Cocktail Party Nets $5,000 for NAACP

New York.—More than $5,000 was raised at a cocktail party for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund in the beautiful and spacious home of Miss Rose Morgan in St. Albans. Miss Morgan, nationally known business woman made her home available for the occasion and introduced Thurgood Marshall, the Fund's director and counsel.

After Mr. Marshall recounted the legal efforts to break down segregation and the vast sums required to carry on this work, Herbert T. Miller appealed to the guests for contributions to help finance the public school segregation cases to be argued before the United States Supreme Court in December.

Rites Held For Mrs. L. Humbard Who Died in Marshalltown

Services were held Tuesday, Oct. 26, in Marshalltown, Ia., for Mrs. Luella Humbard, former Des Moines resident, Rev. N. R. Olphin officiated. Interment was in Riverside.

Mrs. Humbard, 68, died Oct. 23, in Marshalltown. She was the wife of Rev. W. H. Humbard, pastor of Second Baptist church, there, and was a member of Corinthian Baptist church in Des Moines.

Born in Fayetteville, Ark., Sept. 21, 1885, she had lived in Kansas City, Mo., for many years. She has a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Hazel Yarbough of Los Angeles, Cal., who was called to her mother's bedside. She is survived by a sister and brother, in Fort Smith, Ark.

Hold Rites for Robert Hopkins, 92

Robert Hopkins, 93, of 1212 Center street, died at Broadlawn General hospital Monday. Services were held Thursday morning at Estes & Son Funeral home, with burial at Glendale cemetery.

Mr. Hopkins who had lived in Des Moines 34 years, had been ill for several months. He was a native of Missouri. Surviving is a stepson.

Dayton Agrees to Employ Negroes as Bus Drivers

Dayton, Ohio.—After four-and-a-half years of continuous effort on the part of the Dayton branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the City Railway Company has agreed to accept applications from Negroes for training as bus drivers. Formal notice of the change of policy was transmitted to Mrs. Miley O. Williamson, executive secretary of the Dayton branch, by George W. Shaw, president of the transit company. Spearheading the drive for a fair employment policy in the transit system was Charles J. Francis, chairman of the branch's labor-industry committee. The Rev. James I. Davis is president of the branch. Supporting the NAACP in the drive was the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance; Henry S. Stout, a member of the City Commission; and other individuals and organizations.

As American Education Week Arrives — New Era Begins at Florida A & M University

Tallahassee, Fla.—The birth of a new era in Florida education—termed the most significant in the state's history—occurred in Tallahassee, recently when The Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University held its first convocation. These are some pictorial scenes from the historical event. In the top left photo, Miss Edna Calhoun, acting dean of women, lights her candle from the University torch held by President George W. Gore, Jr. At her right is S. Randolph Edmonds, head of the speech and drama department. In the second photo Dr. Gore reads the University pledge to the assembled student body and faculty of some 2,100 persons.

At his right is H. Manning Efferson, dean of administration. In the third photo is State Senator LeRoy Collins and in photo four is Attorney Hollis Rinehart, chairman of the State Board of Control. Both were participants on the noon convocation program, American Education Week throughout the nation is November 8-14.

Reargument of Public School Jimcrow Cases Scheduled for December

New York.—More than 130 experts have been working all summer and fall with the NAACP legal department in preparation of briefs to be submitted in the re-argument of the public school segregation cases before the United States Supreme Court in December, Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here this week.

Mr. Spingarn's statement was in response to an article in The New York Times of October 27 in which Arthur Krock of the newspaper's Washington bureau alleged that "the Department of Justice . . . is doing all the research work for those who hold" that segregation in public education violates the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. The Krock article went on to report what the Department of Justice and the attorneys for the states were doing by way of preparing for the case.

Omission

The omission of any mention of the work being done by the NAACP lawyers, Mr. Spingarn said, "cannot help but give the impression" that they are "not doing anything on the cases or the work they are doing is so unimportant as not to be worth mentioning." As a matter of fact the entire NAACP legal staff gave up vacations in order to work on the constitutional questions raised by the Supreme Court.

"While we do not wish to detract from the work being done by the United States Department of Justice and the lawyers representing the several states," Mr. Spingarn asserted, "we believe mention should have been made of work being done by others. The truth of the matter is that the lawyers representing the Negro school children in the five cases involved have been continuously working on these cases since June 8.

Working Thru Summer

"They have organized a large group of more than 130 experts including lawyers, law professors, historians, political scientists, sociologists, economists and anthropologists who have been working on a voluntary basis throughout the summer and fall. Many of these men and women, of both races, are from the

Nebraska Governor Names Group to Help Make State True Example of Democracy

Washington, D. C.—Governor Robert B. Crosby of Nebraska has just named a Human Relations Committee for his state. This shows that Republicans heads of the various states are following the forward march of President Eisenhower in the field of civil rights.

In naming his Human Relations Committee, Governor Crosby said: "Government, whether on the local, state or federal level, exists for the promotion and protection of the welfare of its citizens. This involves not only the efficient utilization of our natural resources, but also the stimulation and preservation of all of our human resources. The rights and freedoms which we as Americans have fought to preserve are enjoyed by very few people throughout the world, but if we are to maintain these freedoms for ourselves we must make sure that they are extended to all Americans."

See Pictures

"One could not help but react, as I did, upon seeing the pictures and reading the accounts of our returning Korean veterans, and those who can never return, that in this valient

Never Slave

"Nebraska has a wonderful heritage of freedom. We were never a slave state. We have a state civil rights law and in most ways we are ahead of many of our states in the promotion of freedom and opportunity to all our citizens. This is good. It is important not only because it is right but also because we live in a period where military weapons cannot in themselves insure victory for freedom. These our enemies can duplicate, but they cannot match the American way of life providing we extend that life to all.

"Because of my sincere conviction about the importance of this phase of our society and because I want to see the great State of Nebraska maintain its gains and correct whatever inconsistencies that exist I am hereby appointing by executive order a Human Relations Committee.

Committee

"I do this in complete confidence that the citizens of this state wish it to be a true example of American democracy. The Committee will be composed of the following citizens chosen on the basis of their interest, influence and familiarity with these particular problems in our state. The Committee shall meet at least four times a year. Place and time to be

Public School Teachers in Town

Thousands of public school teachers are in Des Moines this week attending the annual State Teachers' Convention, in session at KRNT theater.

Lincoln Post-Unit Armistice Day Program Sunday

Lincoln Post and auxiliary of the American Legion, will hold a joint Armistice day observance Sunday evening, Nov. 8, 7 o'clock at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, S. E. Fourth and Racoon streets.

Pfc. Lawrence McShan of West Des Moines, prisoner of the Korean war, will be awarded a certificate of honor and membership in the American Legion.

In memory of his buddies who died in the Korean prison camps, the soldier wears in his left ear-lobe, a tiny gold cross. The cross was presented to him, shortly after his return, to Iowa from Korea, in August, by Wm. T. Johnson, representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

At the Armistice Day service Sunday, members of the American Legion post will appear in uniform. The Rev. H. R. Fields is pastor of the church.

Attends SUI Homecoming

J. L. DAMERON

Among thousands of former University of Iowa students thronging to Iowa City for the recent Homecoming festivities, one to whom many changes in both town and campus were apparent after a period of 65 years was James L. Dameron of Des Moines.

The statement was made by Johanna Nelson Beers in her column, "Have You Heard?" which is one of the features of the Iowa City Press-Citizen.

Miss Beers wrote: "Mr. Dameron identifies himself as the first Negro student ever to attend the University here, and recalls that H. C. Dorcas, who later became university registrar, was one of his classmates.

"Mr. Dameron came from Memphis, Mo., to matriculate in 1888. Circumstances did not permit his completing the four year liberal arts course, but he returned in 1919 and obtained further credit toward a B.A. degree, while his daughter, Helen Dameron Wimberly, also was a student here. She is an S.U.I. graduate.

"A record of 30 years' teaching in towns in Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky was established by Mr. Dameron before he retired to make his home in Des Moines, where for some years he has operated a parking lot.

"Joining him over Homecoming was his daughter, Helen, now of Chicago, Ill. She was employed by the state of Iowa in the field of social service at one time, and, also, has held positions in Illinois and New York, according to Mr. Dameron.

"Asked whether he thought Iowa City had changed much, the venerable Homecomer smiled and remarked that when he was a student at the university, total registration was approximately 600. Now, he pointed out, the number of professors, instructors and other personnel required to run the university must be as great as the number of students in his day.

"While in Iowa City, Mr. Dameron visited in the home of his late wife's nephew, Fred Winston, 930 South Dubuque street."

Mr. Dameron is nearing his 89th birthday. He is a member of St. Paul AME church here.

Elegant Chocolate Pie

There's something about a smooth chocolate filling set in flaky pastry shell and topped with a high hat meringue that is absolutely irresistible. But a tempting drizzle of melted chocolate is added anyway!

Chocolate Pie is one likely to be included in everyone's list of favorite desserts, for it is both rich and handsome.

Your baker makes Chocolate Pie to perfection, but you can make it at home, too, at a cost of only 8 cents for a big luscious cut. Start with an enriched flour pastry for that tender, flaky shell, and also for its good nutritional bonus. Because of the B-vitamins and iron of enriched flour, and food values of milk and egg, Chocolate Pie is surprisingly "good-for-you."

To have the pastry just as you desire it, fit it loosely into the pie pan. Gently pat out air pockets and then flute edge for a handsome effect. Prick the bottom and sides of the pastry with a fork to avoid puffing during baking. Allow shell to cool thoroughly before adding chocolate filling.

If you have egg yolks on hand for the filling, but no egg whites for meringue, use whipped cream as topping and garnish with chopped nuts.

customers, Charles P. Howard; and Mr. Hardaway has remained there these twenty-five years.

Taught Son

During the years he taught several young men the profession of barbering, including his late son, Langston, who worked with his father until entering the service of his country, as a member of the U. S. Merchant Marine. He died in 1945.

Mr. Hardaway's first student was James Bailey, who since has moved to Omaha, Neb., where he is in the barber business.

"My hardest years for the operation of business were during the early thirties—the era of the depression," Mr. Hardaway remembered.

"People were out of money—and my customers who had been coming in weekly, dropped off to once a month."

Mr. Hardaway cannot forget his busiest years—during World War II, when from morning until evening there remained a waiting line of customers in all of the city's barber shops.

"I worked my hardest then—for I was working by myself for one whole year during 1944 when all of my barbers had been drafted."

At that time members of the Women's Army Corps had swarmed Des Moines and crowded many of the barber shops—but they were "no problem," the barber said.

He went back to the years of the late twenties, just after the "flapper days" when women first had their hair bobbed, right after the World War I craze.

Women's Days

"I was barbering at Oscar Glass's—and some days I would work all day and not touch a man's head," he said. Today there are few women customers.

"I feel proud of the families I have served—and our shop has served several generations."

"There's Det. J. L. McGuire's family. I waited on his father, and the detective, and his son, Jimmy—and even Jimmy's boy—all have been customers during my 25 years."

The Hardaway Tonsorial parlor, which has been remodeled and redecorated several times during the 25 years, still has three chairs serving from 300 to 350 customers each week, and keeping busy, Mr. Hardaway and two other barbers, John M. Danforth, Jr., and William McLendon.

Regulated Hours

With regulated hours in the barber business now, Mr. Hardaway has had time to serve his church, Corinthian Baptist, as trustee; North Star Lodge No. 2 of the Masons; Monarch men's social club.

He is a former chairman of the Boy Scout Committee, Troop 59; a promoter of tennis activities in the Hill Top Tennis club and the donor of a trophy that has been in competition for several years.

He is a family man—and to this statement, he added: "I think that my success has come about because of my wife, Mary—the good helpmate that I have. I remember the time when she and I went to work together—to keep things going."

Mr. Hardaway praised.

The Hardaways spent their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last summer on a cruise to the Bermuda Islands.

Bought Building

The barber who started out 25 years ago—on Center Street—still owns his shop, but he has added to his properties—the corner building which houses three other businesses—a drug store, a tavern and a pool hall.

"I preach the business world to all youngsters. I tell them to go to school, learn business promotion—business management. Those are the things we fail to get into."

"We have an eight-year-old son, Rozenting, Jr., and I'm hoping to interest him in some business," Mr. Hardaway said.

Farmer Raising 9,000 Turkeys

Washington, D. C.—Willie Baker of Princess Anne, Md., largest Negro poultry farmer in the State, is raising 9,000 Beltsville white turkeys for market this fall, reports Maryland District Extension Agent Martin G. Bailey.

Mr. Baker has been in poultry production for nearly four years. Starting out with 500 broilers in 1950, he gradually increased the size of his flock and his poultry houses. Last year, he raised 60,000 broilers.

Schedule For United Negro Choir Broadcasts

New York, N. Y.—The November schedule for the weekly series of United Negro Choir broadcasts over ABC at 10:30 a.m., presented in cooperation with the Public Affairs Department of the American Broadcasting Company, was announced by W. J. Trent, Jr., the fund's executive director.

On November 1st the choral group of Dillard University, New Orleans, Louisiana, was heard. Subsequent broadcasts will feature the choirs of Huston-Tillotson College, Austin, Texas, November 8; Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida, November 15; Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, November 22; and Texas College, Tyler, Texas, November 29.

More Convenient Storage

MASONITE "Peg-Board" panels and metal hangers, which take the headache out of home storage, may be obtained now from most building material dealers.

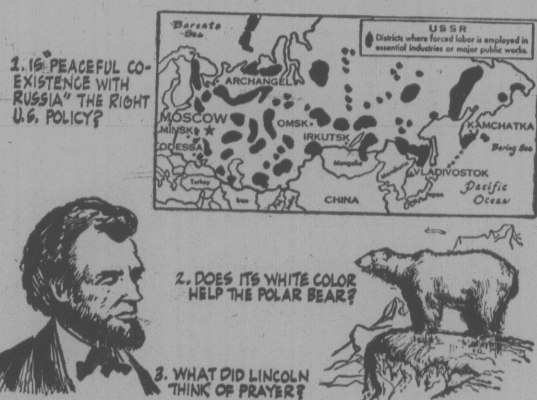

This happy combination of holes and hangers gives homeowners a versatile method of hanging a variety of things ranging from kitchen utensils to lawnmowers.

As illustrated, these strong, splinter-free panels have scores of perforations. Into them are slipped self-locking hangers and fixtures which hold the items to be stored. Of course, the hangers can be moved to whatever spot desired on the "Peg-Board" panel.

The panels, which come in standard sizes from two feet by three feet to four feet by eight, may be attached to an existing wall or directly to studs in new construction. The large panels may easily be cut with a cross-cut saw into the sizes wanted.

Here are a few of the uses for "Peg-Board" panels in the home—in the kitchen for hanging utensils, in the workshop for tools, in the utility closet for brooms, mops and dustpans, in the garage for garden equipment, in the sewing room for spools and scissors, in closets for hats, neckties and shoes, in the bedroom for a useful and decorative bed headboard, in a child's room for a wall, in the living quarters as a decorative divider.

Knowledge is Power

(1) Not at all, says Igor Bogolepov in the Freeman. "Without Western support and recognition, Russian communism would have gone under in 1921," he insists. As a former counselor at the Soviet Foreign office he should know what he's talking about. Get this: "The spontaneous revolution led by the Kronstadt sailors, the workers of Petrograd, and peasants from almost all the Russian provinces was about to crush the small gang of Marxist Utopians shivering behind the Kremlin walls. But the British Tory government chose that very moment to conclude a trade agreement with the Soviet leaders, involving de facto recognition. The date of the agreement, March 16, 1921, marks the beginning of a long series of treasonable Western acts against the freedom of the Russian people themselves."

(2) It helps him in hunting, in Nature Magazine, J. Lester Minner analyzes the polar bear's use of his natural camouflage in hunting for other animals. "So perfect is his protective coloring, against a background of ice and snow, that he can approach a person, or another animal, with little chance of being observed. Only his black nose is visible, and this he sometimes covers with his tongue as he stalks his prey. He is completely covered, even to the soles of his feet, with long thick hair. This hair, when wet, gives an unbelievable toughness to his skin."

(3) Abraham Lincoln summed up his attitude toward man's need for prayer in these words, "I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go; my own wisdom and that of all around me seemed insufficient for that day."

Iowa High School Students at Drake Next Thursday

Iowa high school students from central and southwest Iowa interested in the teaching profession have been invited to attend a "Prospective Teachers Day" at Drake university, Thursday, Nov. 12.

The meeting at Drake is one of a state-wide program designed to acquaint students with the opportunities of the teaching profession. Other similar meetings are being held on a number of college campuses throughout Iowa on the same date.

Tentative program of events for the all-day meeting at Drake includes registration at 9 a.m. in the university auditorium, and a panel discussion on "Preparation For Teaching" with educators from the Des Moines Public School System and Drake university participating.

Also on the program is a luncheon on the Drake campus beginning at 11:45 a.m. and party at 2:15 p.m. During the morning and afternoon sessions, prospective teachers will visit Des Moines elementary and secondary schools and have an opportunity to visit with teachers at the respective schools.

Tours of the Drake campus are also planned beginning at 2:30 p.m., and will conclude the day's program.

Small but Spacious Plan From Small Homes Guide

Four Room Design

Total living space is cut to a minimum without sacrificing room size in this design by Architect Elmer Gylleck. The front bedroom is definitely out of the minimum class, as are living room and kitchen.

The living room is made especially attractive by the floor-to-ceiling corner window near the fireplace. It furnishes an ideal spot for a conversation grouping. An excellent feature is the two wardrobes in the master bedroom. Also admirable is this bedroom's window area, and the convenient bathroom linen closet. Glass blocks help beautify the bath.

L-shaped kitchen permits traffic-free work space, while being spacious enough for a dinette set. Storage space for garden tools, screens, etc., is available in the large garage or basement, but this plan can be had in a basementless version. Total area of this house is 996 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, 82 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Ill.

HOME DYES FOR STAINING unpainted furniture is latest research benefit being advanced by Tintex Home Economics Bureau after series of successful tests. Big advantage of staining with all-fabric dyes, besides ease of application and low cost, is extensive color selection. The dyes come in 54 regular colors and you can mix two or more of these to get an endless variety of others.

Here's the five-step process recommended by Tintex bureau: 1. Prepare dye in usual fashion, as per directions on box. 2. Apply dye with brush, as above, or with cloth. 3. When dry, brush on coat of white shellac and let dry again. 4. Rub down wood lightly with fine sandpaper. 5. Apply clear varnish with brush.

You can get the dyes at all-fabric dye counters for 15c, 20c and 25c a box.

"Good Schools Are Your Responsibility" is the theme of the American Education Week which will be observed beginning Sunday, Nov. 8 through 14.

Des Moines public schools are co-operating in this important community event with the hope that not only the parents of the youth, but the citizens in general, take a personal interest in the schools.

Even some of the parents do not go to visit the schools or take an active part in the Parent-Teacher Association activities.

Last Month, Mrs. Samuel Miller of 1140 Fourteenth street, spent a week attending a state PTA meeting where thousands of other parents were in session.

According to Mrs. Miller, she was the only Negro mother in attendance. Of course, there are several Negro mothers in Des Moines who are active as officers as well as members of PTA groups.

Just this week, I ran into Mrs. P. McClain who has two daughters in the public schools here. Daily, this mother works downtown but one day she was off at noon and I asked: "Is this your half-day off?"

"She explained that she did not get a day-off or even a half-day, but that she was taking the half-day because she had been 'requested' by the school where one of her daughters attends to be at the parents meeting that afternoon."

"When the school was just inviting me to attend the parents' meeting, I did not feel that I could afford to take the time off to go—and I didn't go. But, now that they say that I must be at this meeting, I just took the afternoon off."

Mrs. McClain was happy about the matter as she told the joy her daughter registered when she informed the girl that she would attend the meeting.

"Really Mother, are you going to come this time? I'll be so proud," Mrs. McClain said her daughter remarked and added that "then, I can introduce you to all of my pals."

"I just haven't taken the time to go to the schools. I really didn't know that my going to visit them in their schools would mean that much to them," the mother pondered.

So go next week to some of the many public schools in Des Moines and visit the institutions where your children are learning to become intelligent citizens.

Open house schedules at the schools will be held: Monday evening, at Casady, Clarkson, Frisbie, Lucas, McKinley, Maple Grove, Monroe, Nash, Scott, Wallace, Woodlawn.

Tuesday evening: Adams, Army Post, Bird, Brooks, Cattell, Crocker, Curtis, Elmwood, Fort Des Moines, Hanawalt, Howe, Hubbell, Jefferson, Logan, Longfellow, Meredith, Moore, Park Avenue, Phillips, Rice, Saylor, Smouse, Stowe, Webster, Willard and

Northeastern District Club Women Are Entertained At Waterloo

The Northwestern District meeting of the Iowa Association of Colored Women's club was held Sunday, Nov. 1, in Waterloo, Ia., entertained by the Mary Bethune club. Miss Mary Bannan of Marshalltown, Ia., president, presided. Mrs. Valceta Fields is program chairman.

At the dinner meeting reports were heard from the district chairmen. Financial report given by the financial secretary, Mrs. Maude Spencer of Mason City, excelled all previous years. Election of officers and short talks were given.

New officers are: Mrs. Bannan, president; Mrs. M. Broiles of Waterloo, vice president; Margaret Spencer of Marshalltown, secretary; Odell Spencer of Marshalltown, corresponding secretary; Mabel Scott of Mason City, treasurer; Maude Spencer of Mason City, financial secretary; Catherine Collins of Cedar Rapids, program chairman; Lorraine Collins of Des Moines, music chairman; Addie Howard of Marshalltown, publicity; Valceta Fields of Waterloo, parliamentarian; Catherine Collins of Cedar Rapids, chaplain.

A program was given Sunday afternoon at Mt. Carmel church. Participants were: solo, James Tanner; welcome address, Mrs. Lydia Page; president's talk, Miss Bannan; solo, Mrs. Rainey May Burgess.

A panel discussion was held on "Widening Our Club Horizons" with Mrs. Lorraine Collins as moderator.

Wednesday evening: James Callahan, Benjamin Franklin, Warren Harding, Amos Haitt, Washington Irving, Nathan Weeks, Woodrow Wilson, Whitties.

Thursday evening: Douglas, Dunlap, Grant, Greenwood, Hillis, Kirkwood, Madison, Oak Park, Perkins, Riley, Sablin State Street, Washington.

High Schools

The high school schedules for open house are: Monday, North; Tuesday, East, Lincoln, Roosevelt; Thursday, Des Moines Tech.

Integrated Education

Des Moines citizens can be proud of their public schools. For many years Negro and white students have been securing integrated education—and, now, several Negro teachers are on the teaching faculty.

Right now, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is asking the support of all citizens throughout the country to help financially, in the fight for integrated education. Five famous school cases are pending and scheduled to be heard by the U.S. Supreme Court again—all for the purpose of wiping out segregation in public schools.

So, next week, take time out and visit your public schools. "Good Schools Are Your Responsibility," says the American Education Week theme.

On next Wednesday, which is Armistice Day, many Johnnies and Jims will get guns and hit the highways—not in celebration of the country's first World War victory—but to start their annual search for that brilliantly plumbed bird—the pheasant. Already, some hunters I know have proclaimed a holiday for the opening of the pheasant hunting.

A FIELD OF DAISIES ADDS BEAUTY TO YOUR COFFEE TABLE

CHARMING daisy motifs delicately joined with lacy open-work stitches makes an exquisite cover for a coffee table or tea tray. Two balls of white mercerized crocheted cotton and two balls of yellow tatting cotton are required for this design. Directions for making this dolly may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, specifying design # 1905.

Members of the panel were: Mrs. Rose Johnson, program and publicity; Mrs. Maude Spencer, finance; Mrs. Ferguson, education; Mrs. Catherine Collins, youth. Mrs. Fields was mistress of ceremonies.

Five cities were represented at the northeastern district meeting. Mrs. Rose Johnson, past state president, made an appeal for the scholarship loan board. Mrs. Sarah Jett of Des Moines is chairman of that board.

Au Faite Club Has November Steak Fry In Walnut Woods

The Au Faite club members and their husbands had a steak fry at Walnut Woods park, Nov. 1. Their next meeting will be Nov. 17 with Mrs. Geraldine Small.

TEN KEYS TO MEET WITH MRS. BROOKS

The Ten Keys club will meet with Mrs. Rose Brooks next Friday. At the last meeting prize winners were: Mrs. Leona Jordan, first; Mrs. Elizabeth Kinchelov, second; Mrs. Inice Carter, booty.

DELUXE CLUB TO MEET NOV. 5

The DeLuxe club will meet Nov. 5 with Mrs. Alice Smith, 958 Eleventh street.

season.

A note arrived this week from Mrs. Cleota Proctor Wilbekin, of New York City, who was visiting on the campus of Hampton Institute, Va., to attend the fifth annual homecoming.

"Met President Moran and enjoyed talking with him. You know he is also formerly of St. Croix, Hampton beat Lincoln (Pa.) 57-0. We were delighted to see so many friends from many states here. We also pleased to see Harvey's brother who is head director of the R.O. T.C. department."

Mrs. Wilbekin sent a picture of Virginia Hall at Hampton Institute—the hall where Booker T. Washington was to have scrubbed the floors to secure his education, the former Iowan penned.

Another card came from former Iowan Mrs. Mary Hunter who has been living for a couple of years in New London, Conn. She had received a copy of the Bystander sent to her by a friend, Miss Mabel Harris of 1319 Lyon street.

Mrs. Hunter complimented the "very fine" Human Relations conference. She lives in New London with her daughter, who teaches in Connecticut college and her husband, in high school. "This is a very beautiful state," Mrs. Hunter wrote.

Social Art Club Hears Mrs. Stroud; Has Fall Exhibit

The Social Art club held its annual potluck and fall exhibit of needlework Thursday afternoon, Oct. 29, at the home of Mrs. Oscar Roper, 1420 Buchanan street.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Theodore Stroud, an editorial and public relations officer of the League of Women Voters, who is also a member of the advisory committee of the Mayor's Commission on Human Rights.

Mrs. Stroud talked to the women of the commission's plans and urged the club members to participate in organizations like the League of Women Voters, and Civil Liberties League, Parent-Teacher Associations—church and civic groups.

Mrs. Mary Jones, president, presided at the meeting. A potluck luncheon was served. Among the guests were: Mesdames Mary Ruth Simmons, N. R. Olphin, Mary Collins of Rahway, N. J., Colen Seales, Zulu Turner, Barbara Jean Williams, J. E. Hunter, Melba Ganaway, Gertrude Moore, and Miss Marie Ross.

The next meeting will be Nov. 12 with Mrs. Julia Cannon, 1220 Laurel street.

Miss H. M. Staten Entertains Church's Sick Committee

Miss H. M. Staten entertained the Corinthian Baptist church sick committee last Thursday at 1267 E. Seventeenth street.

Members of the committee are: Mesdames A. Moore, Lottie Jones, Ethel Crumb, Dorezo Manuel, Clarence Strother and Capitola Jones.

Among the guests were: Rev. and Mrs. N. R. Olphin, Mrs. Mary Collins of Rahway, N. J., Mrs. Willa Mae Knox of Pine Bluff, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ashford and Mr. Levi Moore.

Mary Church Terrell Nov. 2 Has Picnic

The Mary Church Terrell club No. 2 entertained at a picnic supper Oct. 23 at the Airport shelter house. Games were played.

The guests were: Retha Wolfkill, Josephine Brooks, Dorothy Hawkins, Edith Newcombe, Helen White, Gladys Brown, Thelma Caldron, Bertha Tolson, Rosemary Boston.

MRS. FRANCIS OF SAN FRANCISCO AND MISS MASSEY OF CHICAGO HERE

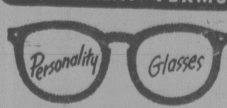

Mrs. Queen Francis of San Francisco, Cal., is visiting in the home of her brother, Mr. Frank Massey, at 1219 Thirtieth street, and Miss Nadine Massey of Chicago is guest in the home of her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Massey Nicola, of 1016 Thirtieth street.

Mrs. Nicola is doing nicely at Still hospital where she underwent major surgery on Oct. 27.

and given consideration, with not a Negro on the list.

"Cooperation among races is the best policy in all the world. I have no one to say a word on my behalf, nevertheless, outside help from society can mean so much to me and other like me, too. As you know, after a while here, people will and do forget some men behind bars, and I'm one of no exception. It is for these and a good many of other reasons that I ask you to please write for me a letter of recommendation to the Governor of the state of Iowa for commutation of sentence."

Serious Matter If Adolescent Has No Constructive Interest

Arton Smith, Assistant Professor State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

Don't worry if your teen-age boy is sure today that he wants to be an airforce pilot and next month he is all for a business career.

A certain girl was mentioned in one of the earlier books on child development whose interest shifted from raising pampies to bare-back riding in a circus, to serving as a missionary overseas. Today she is a good homemaker with two sons and a daughter of her own. Her children also have gone through periods of changing interests just as their mother did.

A twelve-year-old boy had a new hobby every few days. He left so many old projects unfinished that his mother thought he never would

Drake-Des Moines Symphony Season Opens Nov. 15

First concert of the Drake-Des Moines Symphony's 16th season will be Nov. 15 at 8:15 p.m. in KRNT theater.

Guest artist will be the world-famous Helen Traubel, known best perhaps for her Wagnerian roles with the Metropolitan opera company.

The 100-piece Symphony is under the direction of Frank Noyes, head of the violin department at Drake university and includes musicians from Des Moines Drake and other Iowa communities.

Other concerts in the 1953-54 season will include an all-orchestra program on Jan. 17 with winners of the Young Artists auditions on March 7. Leonard Pennaria, American pianist, will be the guest artist on the May 2 concert program.

All are presented on a Sunday evening in KRNT theater with the exception of the March concert which will be in Roosevelt high school auditorium.

Memberships in the Symphony association, which include season tickets to the four concerts, are $3.50. Student memberships are $1.50. Tickets may be purchased at the New Ulica, KRNT theater or at the office of the college of fine arts at Drake.

The Nov. 15 concert will be followed by a special program for Des Moines elementary school children Nov. 16 at 10 a.m. in KRNT theater. At that time the Drake-Des Moines Symphony will play the numbers that the children have studied since Oct. 19.

amount to anything. Today he is a responsible partner with his father in business. He has a wife and baby. He has a hobby that he does not leave unfinished. He is decorating and remodeling his modest home in excellent taste. Neither he nor his parents had dreamed that he had any such skill.

Two psychologists, Malinson and Crumline, made a study of the changing interests of high school students. They asked 250 pupils in the 9th grade what they hoped to do in the future. When these same pupils reached 12th grade, they were asked the same questions again. A large number of these young people had changed their minds about their future vocation.

So your teen-ager is not the only one whose interests change. Through their changing interests young people acquire a basis for their final choice of life work or for a lifelong hobby.

It is a serious matter if the adolescent has no constructive interests of any kind. It is not a serious matter if his interests often change.

JUST AS WE EXPECTED

The Good Government Committee tried to whop up a good turn out at the polls Tuesday but without much success. When the League of Women voters was telling Des Moines several years ago that Richmond, Virginia got such a large vote at an election by passing out feathers to those who had voted, the Bystander disagreed and said that campaign issues and good candidates brought people to the polls and nothing else.

This election Tuesday proved the Bystander's position.

We have got to plan so as to get good candidates to run for the City Council. As the situation now stands only such as the Good Government Committee endorses cares to make the race.

Lets have the law changed raising the salary of members of the city council (the mayor of Des Moines gets only three hundred dollars per year) and at the next election the vote will be larger feathers or no feathers and this change should come at the 1955 season of the legislature.

It takes money to run a campaign. The price of printing cards and sending out a few letters will cost more than a member of the city council gets for a year's work. The independent candidate pays his own so he refrains from running because the deal does not pay. It is a losing game from the start.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORIES NEED STUDY AND ACTION

It was not particularly surprising that Democrats made excellent gains over the country on November 3. There has been considerable dissatisfaction among various classes of voters and some who hoped that President Eisenhower would continue the policies of the New Deal.

People are fickle and want things done at once even though they involve conditions which have existed for years. Ten months in office is not sufficient time to get much done. Much of this dissatisfaction has merit for the Republicans have not moved out on positive programs as was expected by the voters. This has been true in many states, certainly in Iowa.

Then, too, a lot of foolish people had the notion that the South would elect Republican candidates. Some dents have been made but the time is far off yet when much success can be achieved.

These losses should be a signal to Republicans to get busy and do a job for the people.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS IN SPITE OF BURNS AND TALMADGE

Governor, James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, speaking before the governor's conference in Excelsior Springs, Missouri, Monday reiterated their determination to abolish the public school system in their state should the U. S. Supreme Court rule that segregation in the public schools violated the 14th amendment.

These governors said that great progress was being made in the South in education, employment and general advancement of the Negro and to open white schools to Negroes and the continuing pressure by outsiders would hinder that progress.

They further called attention to the large sums southern states are appropriating for capital improvement of the Negro schools admittedly to impress the Supreme Court that the schools were equal and thus there was no need of disturbing the status quo.

These governors don't tell their listeners that they have fought every effort to improve the lot of Negroes in their states. They forget or don't give a hoot, that these states used their attorney generals and private counsel to contest cases involving equalization of the salaries of Negro teachers, jury service for Negroes, their right to vote, restrictive covenants, mistreatment of prisoners by public officials and mob action in criminal proceedings—in fact all civil rights of any character which have been before the courts. They fought the right of Negroes to decent employment and any protection labor unions give them. In fact, all this progress has been made in spite of their opposition.

Yes, they don't want any outside help either from individuals or the federal government to help solve the race problem but they are proud recipients of the millions of dollars that are poured in to improve the educational and economic standing of their states.

Mr. Spingarn also pointed out that the Times columnist was incorrect when he said in his article that the Supreme Court had put no time limit for the filing of briefs. The rules of the Court, the NAACP official pointed out, require filing of briefs on behalf of parties appealing from lower court decisions three weeks before the case is called for hearing. Lawyers on the other side must file at least one week before the argument.

Asks The Farmer First, Before Hunting

With the quail season open and pheasant season to begin Nov. 11, hunters are again reminded that their sport lies in the farmers' hands.

Every hunting season sees farmer-sportsman friction that could be avoided with a little judgment and common courtesy. Every hunter is eager to get some birds, but in his eagerness he sometimes forgets that hunting on private property is a privilege, not a right.

Nearly all farmers will gladly permit hunting on their property if the hunter is considerate enough to ask permission. They only ask the sportsman to respect their rights and property.

If every hunter would do so, "No Hunting" signs would soon disappear from farm fences.

THE DES MOINES BRANCH NAACP Says:

Several weeks ago, the secretary of the Iowa Restaurant Association, at the request of Attorney General Hoeg, wrote his members urging that they cooperate in the enforcement of Iowa civil rights laws.

As yet, nobody has reported any violations. This does not mean that all places are complying with the law. But it does mean that Negroes continue to follow the old pattern of staying out of good restaurants and good hotels.

Strong muscles are kept strong by exercising them; doors opened by the fight to exercise civil rights remain so if they are exercised.

The secretary of the Minnesota Interracial Commission was asked while in Des Moines how they secured such a splendid set up in his state. He said "We have a good governor."

One must say for the 1953 Hawkeyes that they look good in losing. That is something an Iowa team hasn't done for a long time—and win or lose, Iowa continues to rate as a first class lineman. Maybe the "wait till next year" chant will mean something.

This Caroline lad from Illinois is about to set a record that people never thought possible. He is close to breaking Buddy Young's ground-gaining mark for Illinois backs. As certain to break it as one can be of such things.

The Big Ten touchdown parade continues to be led by Ohio State's Bob Watkins. Look as if, barring injuries, the Buckeye plunger will keep his lead.

Drake

Here at home Drake's football team doesn't amount to much as a winner if one throws out the Iowa State game. But the Bulldogs have a trio of fellows that people go to see, no matter how the team does.

Young Gene Gatewood has developed into a passer and that added to his running makes him worth seeing. A fast-shifty breakaway runner, the guy has broken away even in Drake's losing battles.

Big Gene Hendrix, the two-hundred-pound full back just ducks his head, bows his back and might run right through the stadium wall some day with the momentum he gets up. The man is terrific.

Norman Johnson who played defensive end last year has played guard and ought to rate several all opponent team. He makes a good share of Drake's tackles. Really they are a great trio, ought to go see them sometimes.

In fact, Iowa is just about surrounded by states with interracial commissions but we continue to do nothing but pass out a bunch of empty promises.

The branch has undertaken to sell 3,000 NAACP Christmas Seals this year. Half of the proceeds will be applied on the Fighting Fund quota which each branch is asked to raise.

Use these Seals on your Christmas mail. Mrs. Georgine C. Morris, 955 17th Street is chairman of the Christmas Seal Committee. The stamps sell for one cent each. Order from her or any member of the executive committee.

Dame to lose a football game and East High to lose a city series football game. Yep, we looked at Coach Archie Johnson's boys making ground down the middle and guessed the Lee Township lads couldn't handle the stuff they would see. Well we were fooled and glad to be. Big Ed McQuerry was without a doubt the best defensive player and pass catcher on the field. He got mad at a call on a pass play and rocked the Rough Rider fullback so hard the latter may have tasted salt when he got up. That was the turning point of the game. That last second goal line stand of East was the greatest thing since General Custer made his stand at Little Big Horn.

HEALTH FOR ALL

HOW DO YOU READ?

Every few months we read about a new medical "miracle," as the magazines and newspapers keep us up to date on the phenomenal progress being made these days by medical and dental science.

Sometimes, however, the doctors wish we were informed either much less about medical matters, or much more correctly. After reading a headline, excited patients besiege the doctors demanding a new and unproved "cure." Keeping the news out of the press is not the answer. You and I have the right to know about new medical discoveries that may some day affect us. But we must learn to read beyond the headlines of a scientific news story.

Headlines are not supposed to tell a story, but to lead us to read the complete story. There are not many articles which can't be trusted, and you can usually spot them by their sensational tone. Learn to watch for certain signposts. If the writer seems to be telling you: "This is it," "This disease has been definitely defeated," "This new discovery will cure everyone," that's the time to be doubtful.

Most science writers are very careful in announcing a new medical treatment. If it holds out hope, but has not been thoroughly tested, they will tell you that it is "based on a limited—" or "a single study." You will see such words as "experi-

Friendship was a common trait a few decades ago, but it has met the same old fate as other things we know—Green—in all its vicious forms has pushed and choked and lied.

friendship couldn't take the dirt it broke a heart and died . . . Against all rules—they killed it—those ugly, greedy things: the spawn that hatched in evil minds grows on the hate it brings. The wreckage left of friendly souls.

abounds in every nation . . . Unless right conquers all the ghoul's they'll bury all creation!!

In a note to the paper, Mr. Gallagher wrote that "Many people have asked me when I was going to issue a book or booklet of my poems". Right now, the writer is wondering how "to determine if it would pay to publish my poems in book form—as I am over-buried financially."

If you would like a collection of Mr. Gallagher's poems, you have been reading weekly in the Bystander, then drop a line to the paper naming your favorite ones.

story will appear in the papers before the doctor has been able to read about it in his medical journal.

Don't expect the doctor to give you an immediate answer. Only if the new treatment has been thoroughly tested and shows promise for your case will he use it. The important point in any illness is to start with a doctor you trust and then accept his decision.
