Hold 2 in Supply Company's Stolen Goods' Probe

Frank Collins, 30, 914 Laurel street, a janitor at the Consumers Supply Co., Sixth and New York avenue, is being held in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond pending action of the Polk county grand jury on a larceny charge.

Hollie Charles Cherry, 35, of 1447 Railroad avenue, is at liberty under $1,000 bond pending action of the jury on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

The charges were filed against the two men Nov. 4.

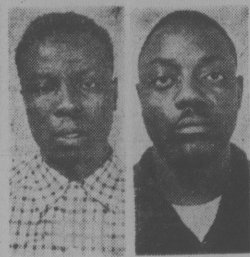

Many Persons

Detective Chief Robert E. O'Brien said "there are so many persons involved that we believe the grand jury should look into the matter."

Since the arrest of the two men Nov. 1, O'Brien said the men "willingly" have furnished police with a list of persons to whom the stolen merchandise had been sold.

By noon Nov. 5 more than $2,000 worth had been returned to the police. Purchasers whose names are on the list who have not returned the merchandise probably will be called before the grand jury, O'Brien said.

In the list of articles reported stolen are: 6 radios, 3 electric mixers, 8 deep fat fryers, 100 fishing reels, 10 electric coffee makers, 5 electric toasters, 10 fishing rods, 5 electric drills, 5 electric irons, 6 waffle irons,

Charges Federal Bureau Hires No Negro Printers; Ended Training Program

Washington.—The Bureau of Printing and Engraving of the Treasury Department is continuing its defiance of President Eisenhower's anti-discrimination policy in federal employment, Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charges in a letter to Phillip Young, chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission. The federal bureau, Mr. Mitchell asserts in his letter dated Nov. 3, employs not a single Negro among its 461 printers. In order to keep this force lilywhite, the Bureau has abolished its program of apprentice training in which 31 Negroes and 39 white persons were enrolled, he points out.

Disadvantage

"It appears," the NAACP official says, "that the Bureau is willing to place some of its white employees at a disadvantage just to keep all colored employees off the printing presses."

In 1950 the Bureau passed over colored persons eligible for appointment as printer apprentices to reach whites who were lower on the list. This action was challenged by colored employees and the Fair Employment Board recommended that practices which resulted in the exclusion

Dr. Clement Predicts That Only Top-Ranking Negro Colleges Will Survive

New York, N. Y.—Should the United States Supreme Court declare racial segregation in education unconstitutional only the top-ranking private Negro Colleges may expect to survive as interracial institutions, it was predicted Nov. 5 by Dr. Rufus E. Clement, president of Atlanta University.

"Within the next 10 to 15 years we expect most of the really good colleges which now, because of the laws of the state in which they operate, limit their students to persons of the Negro group, to become interracial institutions," Dr. Clement said, "but I do not anticipate that more than 5 to 10 per cent of enrollment in colleges will be white students."

Enrollment

During this same period, Dr. Clement added that he did not expect the Negro enrollment in the previously "white" colleges would be greater than 5 per cent.

Dr. Clement spoke at the second session of the United Negro College Forum, "The Changing Pattern," held today at the Cosmopolitan Club. With Ambrose D. Calver, assistant to the United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. Clement sought to analyze the place of the private Negro college in the changing education pattern of the South.

First Educator

The first Negro educator to be elected to the Board of Education in Atlanta, Georgia since 1871, Dr. Clement said that "those who fear that removal of racial barriers in the public schools will result in an immediate over-running of hitherto white schools by Negro students, should remember that urban patterns

Puerto Rican Governor Commemorates Columbus Landing

New York.—Governor Luiz Munoz Marin of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico will broadcast an address, "Puerto Rico Since Columbus," on CBS Radio Thursday, Nov. 19, in honor of the 460th anniversary of the landing of Columbus in Puerto Rico, the only soil now under the American flag to be touched by the discoverer.

of residence and the school district, which follows this pattern will operate against any immediate large inter-mixture of the races."

The private Negro colleges will be called upon to serve members of this racial group for a good many years to come, Dr. Clement concluded, because of geographical accessibility, church affiliations, and family tradition and ties.

Mr. Calver, a government specialist in the field of higher education for Negroes, held that Negroes in the states maintaining separate schools lag far behind the national norm and behind white students in these states.

'Wide Gap'

He predicted that it will take many years to close the "wide gap" between the education of Negroes and that of whites in the South.

Writer Finds Washington 'A City of the Jitters'

BY WILLA LEE CALVIN

Washington, D. C.—(CNS)—This is a city of the jitters—and it is so apparent and catching that it's got hold of high and common people alike. We noticed this nervous tension not five minutes after we arrived in the nation's capitol. The taxi driver at Union Station was moaning about the low tips and the fewer fares.

"Even the big people are sorry about this change," he sighed. "Why I had two big shots in here the other day. And one said to the other, 'I'm real sorry Truman's gone. Sure do miss him—for a lot of reasons.' Me, I'm just counting the days until the next major election. But what will we do until then?"

Help Shortage

We were at the Department of Labor Building. One of the guards went on: "We've got a shortage in help here. We are nowhere near our quota of guards but we are so jittery about everything until I'm studying law at night just in case. Sure do miss Mrs. Norford (Thomasina Norford who headed the Minority Division). She was such a wonderful person."

Riding with a group of Commerce girls—they are stationed out from Washington with the Department of Commerce: "I never read so many newspapers in my life trying to keep up with the latest reports on who's going where and when. I can tell you almost any Negro in any part of Washington, as long as he's a government worker, and when his department is rumored to be getting the turnover. "But this fear of losing your job, has got to a place where you can hardly do your work well, she continued. "Morale is terrible among Negroes and whites. And we Negroes are still the first to get fired even in Washington."

Walking Papers

Here we thought of a girl in Agriculture. She was quite flippant on top about her walking papers which had not arrived as yet but she still could approximate the date they would be there. She had heard from another department that she was due to go.

And the matronly brownskin elevator operator at the Agriculture Building: "I've been here for 16 years now and don't expect to be losing my job. But then you can never tell, the way this town is now."

The best summary on this city of jitters came from the President of the Hecht Department Store, who's genuinely worried over the big drop in revenue for all department stores. This war of nerves has got to stop, he warns, because it's affecting the very economy of Washington. People who have money are just afraid to spend it. They've got to feel secure in their jobs before they will let up on their hard-earned dollars.

Groveland Case Victim's Appeal to Supreme Court

Washington.—Petition for an appeal of the second conviction of Walter Lee Irvin, sole surviving defendant in the famous Groveland case was filed with the United States Supreme Court this week by NAACP attorneys in behalf of the twice convicted farmhand.

The appeal is the second taken to the high court by NAACP attorneys to set aside the conviction and death sentences of Irvin for allegedly raping a white farmwife on the grounds that he was denied due process of the law.

One Of Three

Irvin is one of the three Negro youths originally charged with the alleged rape of the Groveland woman and convicted in 1949. Two of them, Irvin and Samuel Shepherd, were sentenced to death. The third youth,

Seals for Sale

Bobbie Branche

Miss Bobbie Branche, NAACP office manager, has for a second consecutive year been designated Director of the Association's annual Christmas Seal Campaign. Last year the sale of these seals netted the Association $38,000, the largest sum since the campaign was initiated 27 years ago. Miss Branche expects to exceed that figure in 1953.

women students. Veterans number 970, as compared with 795 of a year ago. Largest increase among the university's colleges is in the graduate college, with 1,805 as compared with 1,615 in the fall of 1952.

Final count of other colleges is: Commerce, 363; Dentistry, 231; Engineering, 401; Law, 180; Liberal Arts, 3,610; Medicine, 459; Nursing, 465; Pharmacy, 172.

Seek High School Grads for Pilot, Observer Training

Sgt. Curtis Phillips, recruiting officer of the Des Moines area of the U. S. Army Air Force, is seeking young high school graduates for pilot and observer training. "They must be unmarried."

According to the sergeant, the new program has been expanded recently and now includes young men between the ages of 19 and 26½ years, with high school diplomas.

With the training, men may qualify for navigator, navigator-bombardier, armament officer, radar intercept officer, aircraft performance engineer and bomber defense officer.

Enlistments may be made immediately. The enlistee is sent to Chanute Air Force Base for acceptance and from there to the training centers for a 30-week pre-flight course. Then he is ready for the specialists training. After 14 months he should be ready for graduation and then commissioned a second lieutenant on the flying status. His pay is $438.58 per month.

"The pay advantage is a big one and the work is something that the average young man would like," Sergeant Phillips commented.

'Ahead With Praying' Pastor Discovered

Madison, N. J.—"Go Down, Moses," the new bulletin put out by the Rural Church Department, Drew Seminary, tells the story this and twenty other successful Negro rural pastors.

"When the Rev. L. Nelson started to build his new St. John church in western Tennessee all of his deacons but one opposed his plans. But it was a Negro Baptist church and the congregation voted to go ahead."

"Pastor, if we build this church," said one of his members, "we're going to have to pray hard and we're going to have to curse some. You do the praying and I'll do the cursing."

"So far, we're ahead with the praying," Mr. Nelson explains. On the wall behind the pulpit is a large banner which says, "Prayer changes things."

This new St. John Church out in the open country seats 400 people and is full every Sunday.

'Coon Hunting Is Lawful Until January 10, 1954

Iowa 'coon hunters are reminded by the State Conservation Commission that the 1953 raccoon hunting season will extend to midnight, January 10, 1954.

Some confusion has arisen among hunters because of the special raccoon season which began October 1. From that date until November 10, raccoons could be hunted but not trapped.

From November 10 to midnight, January 10, 1954, both hunting and trapping of raccoons is lawful. No raccoon trapping was allowed during the early hunting season because raccoons are mainly trapped in water areas, where furbers such as mink and muskrat might be accidentally taken in 'coon sets, although the trapping season for mink and muskrat did not open until November 10.

Charles Greenlee, then 16, was given life imprisonment. He did not appeal and is still serving time in the Florida penitentiary. A fourth youth, Ernest Thomas, was shot to death by a sheriff's posse before ever reaching the courtroom.

The first conviction and death sentence of Irvin and Shepherd were taken to the U. S. Supreme Court by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The high court ordered a new trial in April, 1951. Justice Robert H. Jackson, in his concurring opinion, stated

Administration Trying to Live Up to Its Campaign Promises, Record Shows

Mobile, Ala.—While the Eisenhower administration has failed to live up to its campaign promises on labor and farm programs, it has, by and large, adhered to its pre-election pledges in the field of civil rights, Walter

In one case, Mr. Mitchell asserts, a white combat veteran, Clarence N. Ambler, was reduced from permanent to indefinite status because of the job change. The veteran has been employed at the Bureau for 19 years. Most of the colored employees not only lost permanent status but were reassigned to unskilled jobs such as elevator operators and minor clerks. White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said at the closing session of the eighth annual convention of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP branches here Nov. 8.

"As a candidate, President Eisenhower gave assurance that he would use his executive power to eradicate racial discrimination and segregation in all areas under federal jurisdiction. Shortly after his election, he repeated this promise, to an NAACP delegation which called upon him," Mr. White told the delegates.

On Record

"On the record, it is evident that the administration is trying to live up to this commitment," the NAACP executive declared. "Among achievements in this area are (1) revitalization of the Government Contract Committee which has moved to enforce the non-discrimination clauses in contracts the government has let to private firms and which recently succeeded in getting the District of Columbia to include similar clauses in all of its contracts; (2) the response of Attorney General Herbert Brownell to the invitation of the United States Supreme Court to present the government's position in the public school segregation cases.

(3) Mr. Brownell's refusal to appoint to the office of United States Attorney an Oregon state senator who led the opposition to the enactment of a civil rights law in that state; (4) the order to cease segregation in schools maintained for the children of military personnel at military posts; (5) the order to abolish segregated facilities for the use of civilian personnel in Navy yards at Charleston, S. C., Norfolk, Va., and elsewhere; (6) approval of the Supreme Court decision banning exclusion of Negroes from restaurants in the District of Columbia; and (7) appointment of Negroes to offices not previously held by colored persons.

On Debit Side

"These are all to the credit side of the administration," Mr. White said. "However, on the debit side are the incredible appointment of Gov. James F. Byrnes as a United States delegate to the United Nations and the suspension of the requirement that banks handling farm loans

UPWA Delegates Vow to Break Down Remaining Plant Jimcrow by 1954

Chicago, Ill.—A bitter condemnation of the appointment of U.S. Delegate to the United Nations of ex-Governor James Byrnes "or any other advocate of white supremacy" was voted here by nearly 500 local leaders of the United Packinghouse Workers of America-CIO, as they concluded the union's first National Anti-Discrimination Conference at the Hamilton Hotel here November 1.

With better than 100 victories over Jim-crow already under their union's belt this year, the conference delegates vowed in a formal resolution to break down all remaining forms of discrimination in their plants by the end of 1954.

The three-day conference brought together delegates elected by UPWA locals from coast-to-coast and from Atlanta and New Orleans in the South to St. Paul in the North. Puerto Rico was also represented by a delegation. The unionists sailed into the problems of discrimination on the job and in the community with vigor and frankness characteristic of the UPWA.

Weaken Unity

Declaring that discriminatory practices can only weaken the unity of the workers, the delegates agreed that segregated locker rooms, cafeterias, drinking fountains and other facilities must be abolished and job opportunities opened wide to all comers, without regard to color or nationality.

Segregated eating and locker facilities were already eliminated in several southern plants through UPWA action earlier this year, thus demonstrating that such victories can be won when given aggressive leadership.

Community relations got an airing with delegates especially concerned over Jim-crow hospital bars. With the union's newly-won company-paid hospitalization plan shortly to begin operation, it was pointed out that the refusal of most hospitals to admit Negro patients will rob thousands of UPWA members of the full benefits of the plan. Employers and insurance companies will be vigorously pressed to help break down these barriers.

Close Coordination

Close coordination of UPWA efforts with those of other community organizations, such as NAACP, Urban League and especially CIO Industrial Union Councils and local unions, will be sought all along the line.

The fight for equal rights took on a world-wide aspect with a panel report on suppression of colonial people. Pointing out that low wages in Africa and Asia are a constant threat to American wage levels and make it impossible for our industries to sell to the vast potential markets of those continents, the conference report declared, "We believe that neither wars nor depressions are inevitable and that the true fulfillment of the American dream of equality, and a better life for all mankind will be advanced by a policy which fights for an end to colonialism."

AFROTC Retreat Daily At Drake

A unit of the Drake university AFROTC Monday, Nov. 2, began retreat (flag lowering) ceremonies in front of Old Main at Drake. The event will be held at 4:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Five AFROTC members are utilized in the ceremony. Two members serve as color guards, two as color bearers and a bugler. During the ceremony, the bugler sounds "retreat" and "to the colors."

Personnel of the unit will be changed periodically to give various AFROTC members an opportunity to participate.

Last Saturday, O'Brien said Collins was seen by another employee of the supply firm, carrying two electric toasters and an electric coffee maker from the company.

Lahomma Paige, wife of the fabulous hurrier.

Says Report False

Mrs. Paige said Monday that the Associated Press story with the West Palm Beach, Fla., dateline was entirely incorrect. She said both Satchel and she were horrified by the story which said Paige had suffered three broken ribs and a possible fracture to his left shoulder.

Mrs. Paige said that her husband was of the opinion that the story about the accident may have been started by Jim Williams, promoter for the Satchel Paige all-Stars, and Eddie Locke, a Monarch pitcher with the team, as a possible excuse for evading a scheduled game which did not look too promising at the gate.

All Details Wrong

Other details of the A.P. story said that three other players and the promoter's secretary were injured when Paige's car was involved in an accident between Savannah, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla.

The report said that Williams said
Paige was treated by a physician and taken to a private home in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Paige said that she put in a call to Paige as soon as she heard the report, but was unable to reach him.

"I doubted the story from the first,
said Mrs. Paige, for I knew that I would have been called if any accident had happened to Satchel. He keeps his pockets loaded down with identification papers, all of which carry my name and his home address and telephone number.

Corinthian Men's Club to Present Women's Styles in 'Fashion Modes' at Jewish Center Monday Night

Members of the Corinthian Men's club, recently organized, will dramatize "Future Fashion Modes" Monday evening, Nov. 16, 8:15 p. m., on the stage of the Jewish Community Center, Ninth and Forest streets.

Models in the show will give their versions of "how women's clothing should be worn."

The show will open at the breakfast table, a familiar scene in the modern home—only the men's club's main character will fall asleep and dream of beautiful creatures in fine fashions bringing him his bacon eggs, toast and breakfast fare. After he awakens—and the smoke clears out, the show will move on into the fashions of the evening. The men will model fashions for morning, street, evening, sports attire and casuals. Clothing will be shown for the teen-agers, too. Music for the evening will be played by Ernest (Spec) Redd. Special numbers will be given by an orchestra. Lowell Cooper and Lawrence Davis will appear in a novelty act. Other musical numbers will be given by the St. Paul AME youth choir; and, Christopher Moore, who will impersonate Sarah Vaughn.

The show is being given for the benefit of the Men's Day activities at the Corinthian Baptist church, which will culminate on Sunday, Nov. 22.

Brownell Rejects Job Bid Of Anti-Rights Senator

Washington.—Because of the vigorous protest of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Attorney General Herbert Brownell has refused to appoint State Senator Warren Gill United States Attorney for the Senator's home state of Oregon.

Senator Gill was opposed by NAACP branches in Oregon, with the support of the West Coast and National offices, because of his leadership early this year in the fight to prevent enactment of a state civil rights law. The bill was passed over Senator Gill's protest. Speaking on the Senate floor against the bill, he contended that the measure curtailed "the right to discriminate" which he maintained was a "constitutional" right.

Voted Previously

Although the senator had previously voted favorably for an FEPC bill and for the repeal of the state's anti-intermarriage law, the NAACP Portland branch, headed by Otto G. Rutherford, felt that his vote against the civil rights bill disqualified him for appointment as U. S. Attorney.

In this, the local NAACP leaders joined the NAACP in protesting against the proposed appointment. Meanwhile, the NAACP informed the Attorney General of its opposition to the senator.

In an effort to secure the appointment for his protegee, Mr. Gard came to Washington last week for a talk with Mr. Brownell. He also stopped by New York to talk with NAACP officials. Upon his return to Portland, the Republican leader announced the failure of his mission and admitted for the first time publicly that the civil rights issue barred the appointment of Mr. Gill.

Empire-Princess Lines Gives Slimness To Plump Figure, Says Kay Vaughn

New York.—(CNS)—The new empire-princess line in the "special dress" which is catching on quite fabulously for a new trend, is justly popular. For it is a mode that certainly "batters" the full bosomed woman.

The quip number—borrowed from the French of the 1890's or so when their empire was in full flourish—features the accent on a high bosom and following through with a smooth middle. Thus those so naturally endowed with fullness in front will feel very much at home in the new style. And those who aren't will have to do much padding to look right in such a design.

But it's the slightly plump woman who will really be happy in the empire silhouette. The best styles and fabrics are in sizes 18 to 20. This is certainly because the new line not only gives the appearances of slimness to the plump figure but really looks its best on the mature womanly woman.

Groveland Case

that the events surrounding the trial did not "meet any civilized conception of due process of law."

On the eve of the new trial, November 6, 1951, Shepherd was shot to death and Irvin seriously injured by the sheriff while he was transporting the two men from the state penitentiary.

The second trial was held in Ocala early in 1952. After one hour and twenty-three minutes deliberation, the all-white jury found Irvin "guilty" and he was again sentenced to the electric chair by Judge Truman J. Futch.

Appealed

NAACP attorneys for Irvin appealed the conviction to the Florida State Supreme Court and cited twenty-two errors committed by the lower court in convicting and sentencing Irvin the second time. Most glaring were the refusal of the lower court to admit into evidence a public opinion poll showing that the people in the county of the trial were prejudiced against the convicted man, and the refusal of the court to order a mistrial after the State's Attorney had made prejudicial remarks to the jury, plus the introduction into evidence of articles seized by arresting officers without a search warrant.

The Florida high court denied the appeal and affirmed Irvin's conviction on June 23, 1953. On July 27, the court also denied a petition by NAACP lawyers for a rehearing.

In the petition to the U. S. Supreme Court, NAACP lawyers for Irvin are again asking for a reversal of the conviction and death sentence on the grounds that he was, for the second time, denied due process of law. Attorneys are Thurgood Marshall, Director of NAACP Legal Defense, Jack Greenberg of New York, and Paul Perkins of Orlando, Fla.

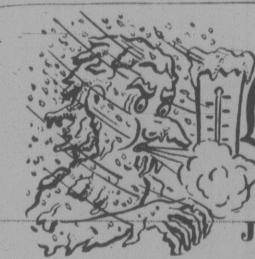

Easy as Pie

From flour sifter to oven, she'll make apple pie for dinner without moving from her chair. Learning the easy way to do everyday jobs is an important part of staying well for this TB patient. Rehabilitation programs for the tuberculous are aided by the sale of Christmas Seals conducted from Nov. 16 through December by the tuberculosis associations throughout the United States.

Request For Proverbs On SU's Broadcast

Iowa City.—Since proverbs usually say what most men think, there is always interest in the saying. Recently several proverbs were used on State University of Iowa's School of Religion broadcast and requests came in for a "reprint." Here they are:

"With God go over the sea. Without him do not go over the threshold."

"Justice, like oil, will come to the surface no matter how deeply it is buried."

"Why should two bald men fight for a comb?"

"The barking of dogs does not hurt the clouds."

Last Monday evening at the Central Christian church, where the Des Moines Council of Church Women observed World Community Day, it was my pleasure to hear Rosa Page Welch, noted singer and speaker of Chicago, Ill., share many of her travel experiences from around the world.

Mrs. Welch returned recently from a world tour for the Disciples of Christ, as a member of the Commission on World Order.

In the many countries Mrs. Welch traveled throughout the Far East and Asia, Africa the Holyland and Europe.

"Wherever I went I always got there to singing to keep the from being strangers," Mrs. Welch related as she told of the hundreds of thousands who would come to her meetings to hear her speak or sing.

Although her listeners spoke many different languages, Mrs. Welch said there was one word that all of the races knew throughout Christianity — and that word is "Amen."

Then the singer hummed a pitch while her audience listened and then she announced, "Now I'm going to start to sing something and all I want you to do is sing 'amen.'"

And while the audience descended and ascended "amen," Mrs. Page, in her clear soprano went on with the solo: "He Is King of Kings."

"My that was real singing," she praised the audience and told them that "any person who recognizes the power and the grace of God can sing this."

In this method, she went like wildfire in many of the villages and communities around the world. People would walk for miles to many of the meetings; and some of her concerts were held as early as 6:30 o'clock in the morning. People had filled the church long before 6 o'clock, she learned.

"This witnessing for Christ goes on in ways you seldom see in our country," Mrs. Welch talked.

"All around the world, where we have sent missionaries, people pay a great price for their freedom," Mrs. Welch noted and added that "we are so free. We have had freedom so long — we take it for granted."

"You don't realize how much we

At the Des Moines reception, hostesses were Mesdames Marzetta Burrell, Eleanor Tolson, Jacqueline Turner, Bernadine Butler, Henrietta Tolson, Allene Johnson, Doris Davis, Rose Bailey, Helen McCraven, Kathryn McFarland, Emma Jean Cavi, and the Misses Helen and Henrietta McDonald.

Junior hostesses were the Misses Maggi Lu Bailey and Delores Chaney. Assisting the hostesses were Mesdames Ruby Cooper, Ada Jefferson, Ida Green, Fay Cullins, Elizabeth Williams, Myrtle Bailey.

Mrs. Johnson wore a yellow gown with a corsage of Talisman roses. Music for the reception was played by Mrs. Doris Davis, at the piano.

Mr. William Bailey, brother of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte) and "Because".

The couple is at home at 3803 Fourth avenue, South, Minneapolis, where Mrs. Johnson holds the position of a junior clerk-typist in the outpatient department of the University of Minnesota hospital. She is a graduate of Des Moines Tech High school. Mr. Johnson is employed in masonry work.

Post nuptial miscellaneous showers were given in Minneapolis by Mrs. Lewis Whitlock, Jr., and Mrs. Doris Swanson.

take our Christian faith for granted until you see people who have paid the price because they have dared to express their faiths.

"I was in Burma, Pakistan, Bierut, Ceylon, Lebanon, Palestine, Egypt, Belgium Congo, Africa, England, Scotland, France and Switzerland."

"Everywhere I went, around the world, I tried to take your expressions of good will and love and desire for Christian fellowship — in song and in talk."

"I talked to people everywhere — anywhere they would stop and listen. I had fellowship with some people who were non-Christians," Mrs. Welch said as she told of the deep appreciation the non-Christians had for the churches' missionaries.

Penny Drive or New Blank Guild Heart
Station Runs from Nov. 16 to 21; Milkmen
Will Leave 'Wishing Well' in 50,000 Homes

Children in the Des Moines area now have the advantage of special diagnosing equipment in town because of the Raymond Blank Memorial Hospital Guild.

The new Blank Guild Heart Station, which began operation this month, has facilities for diagnosing heart ailments and can be used in connection with other disease. The station is located at the Raymond Blank Memorial Hospital in Des Moines.

The Penny Drive sponsored by the Raymond Blank Hospital Guild will help finance the Heart Station, along with many other activities of the Guild. Collections for the Penny Drive will be from November 16 to 21.

Milkmen from the seven dairies in Des Moines will help the drive by leaving the "Wishing Well" envelopes in approximately 50,000 homes of the city and surrounding communities during the first of next week. The envelopes will also be seen in many grocery stores and restaurants of Des Moines.

Chairman for the Penny Drive is Mrs. Morton Booky, and co-chairman is Mrs. John Hurley. Mrs. Rollo Bergeson will handle grocery store collections. Mrs. John Galloway and Mrs. John Zeis, restaurants; Mrs. William Dau, West Des Moines and homes she visited in different countries. The world project is to help the homes, she added.

"Everytime I see these great bundles of articles you have gotten together," Mrs. Welch said, commenting upon the special project of the Monday afternoon session here where the women brought bundles.

"It warms my heart as nothing else can."

The Council of Church Women's packages which contained wash cloths, towels, pillow cases, sheets, blankets, quilts, curtains, drapes and table cloths, will be gifts to refugees sheltered in camps, reception centers, orphanages and children's homes; also youth hostels, hospitals, sanatoriums, and invalid homes, rehabilitation centers and homes for the aged.

"I know how warm the hearts and bodies of many adults and children will be when they get these things," Mrs. Welch related.

She told of spending six weeks in the tropical climate of Thailand, then going on to India in December, where she spent two chilly months. "I saw children with no clothing and some with only one piece of clothing. I felt ashamed of myself when I, wrapped up in all I could put on," looked out of a train window to see men working on the railroad, clad in one piece of clothing.

Mrs. Welch told of purchasing a dozen of large, ripe bananas from a stand in India, when she heard the strange wailing of a woman and child standing behind her. The frail mother stood with the limp, little baby thrown over a shoulder. I wondered how the baby had enough strength to breathe. I gave the mother half of the bananas, and soon a crowd gathered, all begging food, and one by one, I gave away the bananas.

"I became frightened. I found myself running to the station to get away from the crowd. I knew that if I had bought every banana at the stand, it would not have taken care of those begging for food — and, I thought of how we waste food here in America — how we are in such a hurry that we don't even take time to thank God for it," the speaker paused.

"In spite of all that we have — we seem to be the most fearful, the most frustrated, the most impatient division," Mrs. Herb Jacobs, drive secretary; Mrs. Robert Webber and Mrs. Amos Pearsall, publicity.

The Lewis system will pick up money brought into the dairies by the milkmen, and will deliver it to the Iowa-Des Moines National Bank, where it will be counted. "Pennies, dimes, dollars and checks will make the drive a real success," says Mrs. Booky.

All money given to the Guild will be used to expand child care for children at Blank Hospital.

Major purpose of the Guild is to provide funds for free bed care when youngsters would not get it otherwise. Since the Guild was established 6 years ago 750 children have been helped; last year 220 were given aid.

Other services of the Raymond Blank Hospital Guild include additions to the staff at the children's hospital, a scholarship for the outstanding pediatric nurse, and clinics are sponsored to provide for out-patient care of under-privileged children.

This year $20,000 is needed for free bed care aid by the Guild, and $13,000 for vitally needed equipment at the hospital. "With a child well and given to the Penny Drive," concludes Mrs. Booky.

and we are still trying to get more. "I wonder all the time why God is so patient. I wonder why God is so good. I think God would like to use us as his instruments to help people around the world."

"We are so busy clutching our possessions that we do not have additional hands to receive God's blessings — and the blessings he would like to give to others through us."

Calling attention to the complacency of "people around the world who have," the speaker told of a conversation she had, with a traveler.

It went like this: Suppose the command would come that you have only a few hours to get out of here — and all you could take with you would be what you could carry in your hands. What would you take? Mrs. Welch related that the woman "came to the conclusion," after much difficulty, of taking the pictures of her family.

"In the Philippines, I visited in several families. One night I spent in a town which was wiped out by the Americans during the war. The home had been one of the best in the town. The children there were trying to rebuild this house. Bombs had uprooted a lot. Little partitions stood — for all else had been torn out. "I went to bed — but I did not sleep much. I lay awake most of the night trying to imagine what it must have been like when the bombs were dropped."

"In Manila I was soloist in six different churches during one morning. Missionaries would whisk me from one church to another from the humblest to the largest. "One church was made out of a quoinest hut. The minister's wife told how the American soldiers got the hut up. Everywhere people were so grateful — all through Asia and in the Near East and Africa."

TWO EXAMPLES TO FOLLOW

The past two issues of the By-stander have carried the 25th Anniversary stories of Dr. E. T. Scales and Rozenting Hardaway. Both men came to Des Moines at the same time casting their lot with the people in this Iowa city.

In fact, they were success stories for both have been successful in his field and made substantial contributions to their community.

These stories bear out pretty well that a young man can succeed if he tries and that the height to which a man reaches depends greatly upon his own efforts. Both of these men made their own way; they found that people along the path of life are willing to help a young fellow if he tries.

Both Dr. Scales and Mr. Hardaway are distinct assets and art to be congratulated for having made a real contribution to this community. They are examples for young men and women to follow.

ARMISTICE DAY

November 11, Armistice Day, is an anniversary with many recollections by people living today. It marked the end of the first global war in which America was engaged, involved the greatest number of Americans engaged in a war up to that time and developed weapons never before used in a war.

The end of World War I marked the beginning of a substantial effort to form some type of association of nations to prevent war. And while the one set up, the League of Nations, did not get far in America, it sowed the seeds for other and more successful efforts which were to come later.

And not only were seeds sown to work in harmony but seeds were sown which brought about World War II and a new alignment of nations.

Many of those who died in World War I had a little conception of the reason they were fighting. The enemy was not fighting on our shores. Most boys went because they were drafted, voluntarily to be patriotic or went along with their buddies.

Said the late President Wilson, they went "to make the world safe for democracy."

But as time has gone on the whole thing has become plainer to the survivors of this war. They have seen one nation after another attempt to grab territory from weaker nations, exterminate citizens because of their race and to dominate the world carrying the doctrine "to the strong belongs everything."

New methods of communication have closed distances between nations. They have made dormant peoples alive, they have made minorities alert to the things modern men should enjoy.

So even though many men went to their death with only a vague idea for what they were fighting, it has remained for the living not only to celebrate but to educate and elevate that men everywhere may live and work together in peace and contentment.

NO CASUAL MATTERS FOR ABLE GOVERNOR

Included in the statement of Governor Crosby of Nebraska setting up a state interracial commission last week, he said:

"Government, whether on the local, state or federal level, exists for the promotion and protection of the welfare of its citizens. This involves not only the efficient utilization of our natural resources, but also the stimulation and preservation of all of our human resources. The rights and freedoms which we as Americans have fought to preserve are enjoyed by very few people throughout the world, but if we are to maintain these freedoms for ourselves we must make sure they are extended to all Americans."

Too many public officials operate on the theory that raising money by taxation and spending it are the only requisites of a good officer. And all too many take the right of equality of all citizens in the enjoyment of their civil rights as a small matter; too many fear to jeopardize their political future by standing for what is required to be done—exert leadership in this field of activity.

Governor Crosby puts his finger on the duty of officials in this whole race problem when he says:

"If we are to maintain these freedoms for ourselves we must make sure that they are extended to all Americans."

The spring primary elections are not too far off. Many candidates are already campaigning for office. It's a pretty good thing to know how they feel about this all important matter early in the game.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT

There was a time when Negro students in high schools and colleges around Iowa played on athletic teams and that ended their activities except for a possible party. The Negro group only attended. The school often paid for these parties. This is no longer true. One party is given for all students and many do attend.

Possibly one of the most forward steps taken has been the selection of a Negro girl as a band major-ette at both North and East High School. They are selected by a vote of the student body. It could not have been done without the backing of school authorities.

Thus, these youngsters are being given substantial places in the life of their schools, a policy which encourages them to stay in school and try for what it has to offer.

However, said Mr. Calliver, to attempt to do so on a separate but equal basis will cost many more billions of dollars a year than are now being spent.

The Forum was sponsored by the New York City clubs of 11 Eastern women's colleges, the New York City branch of the American Association of University Women and the United Negro College Fund. The final session, "The Community Faces Itself"—a discussion of the efforts of anti-tension teams to eliminate racial prejudice and patterns of segregation—will be held November 18, also at the Cosmopolitan Club.

Interpreters at today's Forum were: Mildred McAfee Horton, president of the National Social Welfare Assembly and former head of the WAVES; Mark A. McCloskey, director of the Bureau of Community Education of the New York City Board of Higher Education; Margaret Lewisohn, chairman of the board of trustees of the Public Education Association; Kenneth B. Clark, associate professor of Psychology at City College, New York and co-founder of the Northside Center for Child Development.

must observe fair employment practices.

"Some of the executive measures are, to be sure, merely the extension of steps initiated by previous administrations. In some instances, the program of integration has been accelerated by the present administration. The indication is that the administration is making a sincere effort to live up to the President's campaign pledges."

Mr. White pointed out that the administration has failed to submit a civil rights legislative program to Congress and also recalled that, as a candidate, General Eisenhower had made no promise to support a federal FEPC with enforcement powers.

The NAACP, he asserted, is continuing its efforts for a comprehensive civil rights legislative program including an FEPC with enforcement powers. He expressed the hope that the administration would present such a program to the next session of Congress and push for its enactment. Senator Irving Ives of New York, he said, had at the suggestion of the NAACP proposed revision of the Taft-Hartley law to ban discrimination and segregation by employers and labor unions covered by the act.

THE DES MOINES BRANCH NAACP Says:

Some members complain that they don't know when annual meetings of the branch at which officers are elected are held and thus have no opportunity to vote for candidates. This serves as an excuse for destructive criticism.

Of course, this is not true. Cards are sent to the address of every member of record and notices of the meetings are published in the daily and weekly papers.

The nominating committee for 1953 was appointed at the October meeting and will report at the regular meeting in November. The election of officers will be held December 8. Write this date on your calendar.

The members of the ministerial alliance has agreed to lift a collection in all the churches for the benefit of the Fighting Fund for Freedom. This will offer many people an opportunity to make a contribution to this important campaign to banish segregation in American during the next ten years.

Of course, the ministers could not afford to do otherwise for the NAACP has aided materially in the economic advance of their members and thus enabled them to make bigger contributions for the upkeep of their churches. After all, the church has a responsibility to help teach people how to live as well as to die. And the task of helping Des Moines raise its quota for this all important work is well worth undertaking.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

By now everyone has heard or read of the thumping win over Purdue. You have all read about Vincent's running and the fine line play of Jones, Gilliam and Hall. There isn't much we can say. But one of our barbershop quarterbacks wanted to know why Vincent wasn't run more. We explained by saying that Vincent's runs spaced as they were made the Iowa fullbacks look good. The defense has to spread wide to stop Vincent and that lets the big line crackers look good.

Illinois has the same punch in Caroline and Bates. They have to loosen up to try to hold Caroline. Then Bates goes slamming down the middle. When they tighten up to hold Bates, off goes J. C. on a long run.

The Michigan State coach paid Bobby Watkins, leading Big Ten scorer, a rare compliment in Sec Taylor's column of Tuesday. He said it took as many as five men to throw down Watkins who wasn't broken for a loss all day. Baldwin and Wells, while not powerful runners are tricky with their knees and hips so they are hard to bring down.

Big Seven
Every time we look at Nebraska with its Negroes, McWilliams and Daniels, we think of about the time we were in high school when a Negro named Smith made the Iowa State varsity as a tackle. The Iowa State folks asked if it would be alright for Smith to play. The Nebraska guys said, of course, he won't last long anyway. Well, Smith, a big six-four two-hundred-twenty-pound youngster literally wrecked a good Corn Huskers line that day. Now anyone can play up there. How times change.

High School
East High did it again. That makes twenty-one straight in the city. Last week we got our McQuerrys mixed up. Guess it was Chuck, not Ed.

SHALL WE SURVIVE

Shall we survive—if men unleash that power from on high, the forces of infinity, living in the sky?

The countless ergs of energy—that formed the galaxies, the power of the triune God—the Master's mysteries.

A galaxy at one time lived—where drifts the milky way, all that debris of spatial scrap, was the worlds like ours one day. Did some fool play with power then—and trigger chain-reactions, to blow apart his galaxy, divide it into fractions? Has finite man—on any sphere—the right to loose this thing, to nurture trouble, hate and fear; the chaos it can bring? What shall we do—to bring real peace and keep our world alive, to reach that point where all wars cease, tell me, . . . shall we survive????

HEALTH FOR ALL

It Isn't True

"Only poor people get TB." When you hear anyone make that statement, speak right up and say, "It isn't true."

A bank account is no barrier against tuberculosis. The disease is caused by a germ passed on by people who have TB. It can attack castle or cabin.

Poverty can make people more vulnerable to TB. Poor nutrition weakens resistance to infection. Crowded slum living conditions make it easy for germs to be spread from person to person. But most of us live and work in close contact with a number of people. If one of them has TB, some of the germs are likely to be passed on.

This does not mean that the disease will necessarily develop. The germs may live indefinitely in the body without doing serious harm. But if there is a heavy bombardment of germs, or if resistance is lowered by illness, emotional strain, or bad health habits, TB may develop. The business man who can't take time to eat properly and the housewife who diets unwisely lower their resistance to TB just as effectively as people who can't afford to buy steak.

There are barriers you can build against TB. Good basic health is one. Cooperation with community efforts to fight the disease is another. Your tuberculosis association is fighting TB through education, rehabilitation, case finding, and medical research.

Farm Wives Wanted

Edna thinks she's quite a match-maker.

So I had a bit of fun when I read her this headline last night: "50,000 midwest farm men need wives."

"Too many farm girls going to town to get jobs," I told Edna.

"Not at all," says Edna. "Lots of folks get fed up with the city, too, and move out to the farm. It works both ways."

Well, I had to admit she was right on that. Some tire of city life and move to the country . . . some tire of the country and move to town. Each to his own way; that's as it should be.

In fact, that's the essence of our American freedom of choice. It applies to choosing where we live . . . or liking coffee, tea, or a temperate glass of beer with our dinner . . . or such a thing as riding a bicycle instead of driving a car.

Each to his own taste . . . and, Edna says that applies to choosing a bride or a husband, too.
