Hits Housing Bias

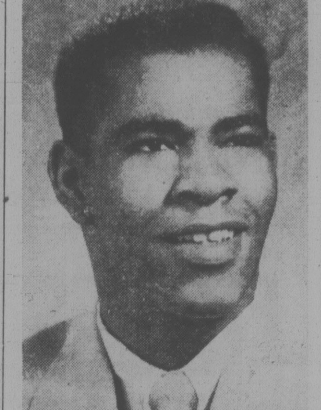

JUDGE WM. H. HASTIE
Washington, D. C.—Judge William H. Hastie of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, lashed out at housing segregation as "one of the most sinister breeders of bigotry," in a panel discussion at the fortieth anniversary meeting Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.
Race relations and civil liberties in American life were discussed and recommendations made Sunday by education leaders, jurists and law-making officials at the "freedom forum" of the meeting which was attended by more than 1,000 delegates.

Segregated housing, Judge Hastie held, does more than any other feature of American urban living "to make members of the segregated

Answers South African's Charges

New York.—Charges by an official of the South African delegation to the United Nations that "Walter White had not been 'accurate' in comments made in a radio broadcast on a United Nations study of racial conditions in South Africa were refuted Nov. 19 by the NAACP executive secretary.
In a letter to the South African, Mr. White cited the text of his comments and pointed to a story in the New York Times in support of his statements. The South African had, in a curt letter to Mr. White, accused him of misleading his listeners with inaccurate information.
"While we do not expect you to be impartial," the letter said, "I do feel that at least you could be accurate in your broadcasts of South African affairs."
The South African official charged Mr. White with saying "that 38 nations 'voted overwhelmingly' in support of the 352-page report on racial conditions in South Africa." This report, he asserted, "has not yet been discussed by the United Nations."
No Mention
Replying to the charge, Mr. White said he had not mentioned any vote on the report or said that it had been discussed by the United Nations. He had quoted from that report which was issued by the United Nations Commission for the Study of Racial Conditions in the Union of South Africa.
In conclusion, the NAACP executive said: "I would like to suggest that before you write any more letters as inaccurate as the one you

Finds Booker Guilty, Sentence Suspended

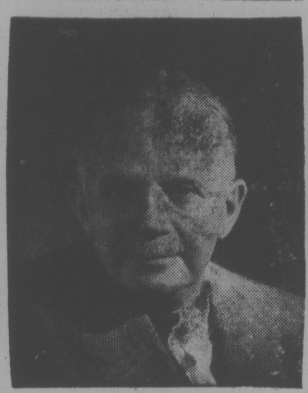

Polk County District Judge O. S. Franklin Monday found Ralph Booker guilty of contempt of court, but suspended a sentence of 10 days in Polk County Jail.
Mr. and Mrs. Booker, then living at 1519 Scott street, were divorced last July. A district court restraining order was issued to keep Booker from molesting or interfering with her (Mrs. Booker) in any way.
Mrs. Booker complained to the court that her former husband struck her with his fists and a pop bottle on Nov. 12 when they met at an E. Fourteenth street grocery.

Clarence Mitchell Hits Refusal of Air Force to Obey High Court Ruling

Washington, D. C.—Air Force officials are reprimanding Negro officers "who do not bow to southern Jim Crow practices in trains and busses," the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) declared Sunday.
Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP bureau here, said this amounts to a refusal by the air force to obey supreme court decisions outlawing segregation in interstate travel.
Case Cited
Mitchell cited the case of Lt. Thomas Williams of Philadelphia, Penn., a pilot in training at Craig air base, Ala. He said the air force "went to the extent of dropping him" because Williams refused to sit in a segregated section of a bus enroute from Florida to Alabama.
An air force spokesman, however, denied that the bus incident involving Williams had anything to do with his dismissal. He said Williams was only one of about 6,500 airmen being let out because of budgetary limitations and on the basis of "effectiveness reports."
The spokesman defined an "effectiveness report" as the gauge to select those men whose release would least disrupt the effectiveness of the air force.
Delay Asked
Mitchell said the program of forcing airmen "to submit to segregation requirements" had been upheld and executed by James P. Goode, deputy assistant secretary of the air force; Maj. Gen. James F. Powell of Keesler air force base, Miss., and Col. John H. Bundy, commander of Craig air base.
Mitchell said Williams' discharge wrote on November 17 you yourself take the trouble to ascertain the facts."

White Urges Oklahoma U. Students to Advocate Democracy in Education

Norman, Okla.—Students of the University of Oklahoma were urged to become active advocates of "democracy in education and in other phases of American life," by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in an address prepared for delivery here Nov. 21, before a student assembly.
"You are demonstrating what, only a few years ago, many claimed was impossible here in the South," Mr. White asserted.
"You have proved that Negro and white students and the youth of other races can attend classes without friction because of racial differences. Because of this experience you are prepared to take leadership in the struggle to escape from the restraining hand of the dead past. You know that it is possible for persons of different races to share the same classrooms. You will be able to bring your children up with this knowledge and conviction.
"The opportunity to commingle with various peoples is an enriching experience for all who participate in it. To this you can now testify and, accordingly, will be able to bring others to an understanding of the urgency for democracy in education and in other phases of American life."
The NAACP leader told the students, that with increasing industrialization of the South and with extension of the issue of race to the international level, "We have reached the time for change in the pattern of race relations in this country. We can no longer postpone our clear responsibility to bring our practices in line with our professions."

Jail 2 Youth After Holdup Of Kahn Grocery Store

Two youths, accused of taking $12, a watch and cigarettes from a grocery store last Friday afternoon after beating the owner, pleaded innocent in municipal court Saturday to robbery charges.
Edward Jackson, 20, St. Joseph, and Theodore H. J. Moore, 22, of Kansas City, newcomers to Des Moines from Missouri, requested a preliminary hearing, which was scheduled Dec. 7 by Municipal Judge Howard W. Brooks.
The youths, unable to post $15,000 bond each, were taken to county jail.
They were arrested two blocks from the Kahn Grocery, 850 Tenth street, several minutes after Morris Kahn, 74, reported the robbery, about 2 p. m. Nov. 30.
Quick Call
Detective Capt. Robert O'Brien said a quick call to police by Kahn, the grocer, made the arrests possible. He was said to have been beaten to the floor by the youths.
At the time of the arrests, O'Brien said the youths admitted the robbery. Recovered by police were about $12 taken from the cash register, a handful of pennies taken from a tin cup, 20 packages of cigarettes, and a watch belonging to the store owner.
Kahn said the youths, who walked into his store while he was alone,

Butts was accused of stealing several hundred dollars worth of merchandise from the L. H. Kurtz Co., 312 Walnut street while employed there as a shipping clerk.

New Orleans Student Wins Right to Return

Baton Rouge, La.—Alexander P. Tureaud, Jr., is preparing to return to his classes at Louisiana State University from which he was excluded on November 11. His right to return to the university was indicated by the United States Supreme Court, which on November 16, granted a stay of the Circuit Court's judgment pending determination by the Supreme Court of the validity of the District Court Judge's ruling ordering admission of the student.
Young Tureaud, son of the well known New Orleans civil rights attorney, A. P. Tureaud, was admitted to the university as its first Negro undergraduate on order of the United States District Court. On appeal by the university, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals voided the lower court decision on the ground that the suit should have been heard by a three-judge federal court rather than by a single district court judge.

The student's father, together with other lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, promptly sought a stay of judgment from Justice Hugo L. Black, who in turn, referred the petition to the full court on November 9. Two days later, university officials, without waiting for the Courts action, notified Tureaud that his registration had been canceled.
Representing the young student were, in addition to his father, NAACP attorneys Robert L. Carter of New York and U. Simpson Tate of Dallas.

Detroit NAACP Opposes Segregated Hospital Unit

Detroit.—The proposal to use funds collected in the Capital Gifts campaign for an extension to the Parkside Hospital here is opposed by the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People because the hospital is a "segregated facility."
At its regular monthly meeting on November 16, the board of directors of the local NAACP unit passed a resolution reiterating the Association's historic position "against segregation in any form whether in hospitals, schools, public transportation, public accommodations, or churches."
The NAACP action followed announcement that the Metropolitan Detroit Building Fund had been asked to give $250,000 from money collected in the campaign for the construction of a 100-bed extension to the hospital.

Firm's Manager Said He Refused Negroes Because He Was Ordered to Do So

Tuesday, Judge Graven ruled that a ballroom is a place of amusement and violates the civil rights law.
The jury awarded Mrs. Amos $400 damages.
Mason City, Ia.—Whether a ballroom or dance hall is a "place of amusement" within the meaning of the Iowa civil rights statute, is the vital issue in the $10,000 civil rights action brought by Mrs. John Amos against the Prom, Inc., operators of the Surf Ballroom at Clear Lake.
The trial opened before Judge Henry N. Graven in federal court here Monday.
Except for some brief rebuttal testimony on behalf of the plaintiff, both sides had completed presentation of evidence Monday afternoon.
Mrs. Amos is seeking to recover damages because she was refused admission to the Surf Dec. 8, 1951, allegedly because she is a Negro.
Eight witnesses, including Mrs. Amos and her husband, were called by the plaintiff.
Testimony indicated that a group of eight young Negroes were denied admittance to the ballroom that night and that Carroll Anderson, manager of the Surf, told the group he was refusing to let them in because "he had received orders not to let Negroes in."
Several witnesses testified that as a result of this action, Mrs. Amos was greatly humiliated and was extremely nervous and upset for several weeks.
Kenneth M. Morre, 57, Chicago,

Ill., president of Prom, Inc., was the first defense witness called. He told the jury his firm had a $400,000 investment in the Clear Lake ballroom, which conducts "social dances calling for a general intermingling of all patrons."
He testified the guiding policy of the Surf is that "any person admitted must be acceptable as a dancing partner to all other patrons."
Moore testified that on the night in question, Lionel Hampton's orchestra, an all-Negro band was playing.

Illinois U. Student Sues Champaign Barber

Champaign, Ill.—Robert A. Johnson, a student at the University of Illinois, sought $500 in damages Saturday because, he alleged, he could not get a haircut. The suit charged Lee Ingwerson, Champaign barber, refused to cut Johnson's hair last Oct. 24, because Johnson is a Negro.

NAACP Sunday In Churches Nov. 29

NAACP Sunday will be observed Nov. 29 in many of the churches throughout the country. E." drive, for the benefit of the school segregation cases scheduled to begin in the U. S. Supreme court on Dec. 7.

N. Y. Negro Voters Score In 3 Precedent-Setting Wins in Democratic Sweep

New York City.—(CNS)—Negro voters here scored three precedent-setting victories in the Democratic sweep of the city-wide election on Tuesday (Nov. 3) when their support placed Negroes into top positions they never held before.
Top prize went to Hulan E. Jack (D), who was elected President of the Borough of Manhattan—the richest island in the world. Jack will be the first Negro to hold this post, which pays $25,000 for a four-year term, and is the highest elected post ever won by a Negro.
Attorney Lewis S. Flagg (D) was elected to the Municipal Court bench in Brooklyn for a 10 year period at $15,000 per year.
Walter H. Gladwin (D), the first Negro ever to receive a major party nomination in the Bronx, won the State Assembly seat for the Seventh District. The job pays $5,000 annually for a two-year period.

63-year-old Commissioner of the State Commission Against Discrimination, who was runner-up to Jack with 135,420 votes. Jack received 214,302 votes. Third and fourth, respectively, were the Rev. James H. Johnson, Liberal-Independent, with 87,293, and the LAP's Andronicus Jacobs with 17,057.

The race for Borough President of Manhattan this year was unique. It marked the first time Negroes were named as candidates for the post by any major party. After the GOP's first named Carter, the other parties followed with Negro candidates.
Mr. Jack, the Borough President-elect of Manhattan, has been a State Assemblyman from Harlem since

Open House At Capital City Bank Until Nov. 30

An open house celebrating the 75th anniversary of Capital City State Bank, East Fifth and Locust, was held Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Seventy-five savings accounts totaling $2,000.00 will be given away November 30 as the final event in the celebration.

Open house for the public will continue during regular banking hours through Monday, November 30, Miller said. The public is invited to tour the bank and see the mammoth new bank vault, the recently enlarged savings department, and the many other improvements which have been made at Capital City, Raymond G. Miller, president said.

Four bicycles for children will also be given. Free cigars and flowers will be given to open house visitors.

"Capital City has pioneered many new ideas in banking," Miller said. "In 1948, new services and facilities were added to Capital City's already modern banking service when we became the first drive-in bank in Des Moines. This spring, we built a new drive-in teller's lane to make drive-in banking even easier and faster. Our drive-in teller's window now handles up to three cars a minute, and our 55-car parking lot adjoining the bank has been completely hard-surfaced."

Capital City led all Des Moines banks in new savings in 1952.

Rolfe O. Wagner is chairman of the board. Other bank officers are J. N. Coffey, vice-president and trust officer; George Radcliffe, Warren Ferguson, and C. Allan Evans, vice-president; Frank Tamsie, cashier; O. Lee Minear, Marvin Vermie, and Fred C. Sutton, assistant cashiers. The bank has 51 employees.

Prominent Young Kansas City Business Man Killed

Kansas City, Kas.—One of the most prominent young men in the Kansas City, Dan C. Matthews, 42, 2103 N. Tremont street, was shot to death on the night of Tuesday, Nov. 10, by a wine-crazed ex-policeman who apparently had attempted to hold him up in a liquor store at 400 Minnesota Ave., of which Matthews was the proprietor.

Matthews' white assailant, Tanner Bryant, 55, 309 Smart Ave., is under police guard at St. Margaret's hospital where he is recovering from a bullet wound of the right shoulder inflicted by Patrolman Mike Donahue, one of several policemen who gave chase when he fled after firing two shots into Matthews' body.

First Degree

Bryant was charged with first degree murder in a warrant issued Thursday by Donald E. Martin, Wyandotte County attorney.

Matthews died instantly of bullet wounds of the chest and abdomen. His body was removed to the Jones Funeral Home, 440 State.

The shooting took place about 7:45 p.m. Matthews had returned to his store from dinner about 7:15 relieving his father, Charles S. Matthews, who had taken over for his son at 6 o'clock so he could go home to dinner. When young Matthews returned, the father went to a lodge meeting.

in the rear of a service station at 406 Minnesota Ave., a few doors from Matthews' liquor store. Police believed that Bryant had forced Matthews to leave his store at the point of a gun and to accompany him to the spot where the fatal shots were fired.

Bryant was trapped about a block from the shooting, in the alley between Minnesota and Armstrong avenues just west of Fifth Street.

Donahue fired at him when he refused to drop a .38-caliber revolver, identified by police as the murder weapon. The revolver contained three fired shells.

Witnesses said that Matthews and Bryant appeared to be arguing over a bottle of liquor before the fatal shots were fired. They said that a struggle between the two men, apparently over the revolver, had also ensued before the shots were fired.

Police said that at the time of his arrest Bryant appeared to be highly intoxicated.

Rites were held for Matthews Nov. 13 at the J. Jones Funeral chapel.

Matthews was one of the most widely known young men in Greater Kansas City. A native of Pensacola, Fla., he had come to Kansas City, Kas., with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Matthews, when an infant.

He was graduated from Sumner High school, attended the University of Kansas, where he received his bachelor of science and master's degree in zoology.

In Store Holdup

Moines about six months ago, when Jackson had been employed as a bus boy in a hotel.

Given Credit

Moore was quoted by detectives as saying that when he lived in Des Moines at that time he was given credit at the Kahn Grocery, but that last Monday he was refused credit

by Kahn. He explained: "I was hungry."

Moore said they had planned to divide the cash at Jackson's room, five blocks from the store, where they were heading, when arrested.

Since arriving in Des Moines from Omaha, Neb., last Monday, the youths had been living separately, one at a rooming house, the other at a hotel, they told detectives.

Another Holdup

A few blocks away from the Kahn grocery store, another holdup took place Saturday night at the Hockenberg Grocery store, 1107 Keosauqua Way, where $1,000 was taken. Isadore Hockenberg, 65, owner of the store, estimated the holdup man about 25 years old, and young woman accomplice got $700 in cash and $300 in checks.

Hockenberg, his wife, Pearl, 52, and their son, Robert, 30, were all in the store about closing time at 7 p. m., when holdup man entered with a small silver gun in his hand and ordered them to go to the back of the store. A young woman came in and scooped up the money.

1954 Young Artists Auditions To Be Held Month Earlier

The 1954 Young Artists Auditions sponsored by the Drake-Des Moines Symphony Association will be Jan. 23 at 10 a.m. in the Drake Auditorium, Mrs. Lewis M. Bolton, chairman of the Auditions committee, announced this week.

Sponsored by the association in the interests of symphonic music, the auditions provide an opportunity for young artists to appear as soloists with a symphony orchestra.

Winners in three divisions—instrumental, vocal and piano—will be featured at the Symphony's third concert of the season, March 7 in Roosevelt High School Auditorium.

The auditions are open to students between 17 and 25 years of age who are currently studying with a teacher who maintains residence in Des Moines. This makes it possible for certain young musicians from out-state to enter the competition. Former winners are eligible to compete after an interval of a year.

Applications should be made in writing by the applicant's teacher, including the name of the number to be used. Only members for which orchestral accompaniments are available on a rental basis will be acceptable.

Jan. 15 is the last day for applications. They should be addressed to Mrs. Bolton, 3829 Woods Drive, Des Moines.

Contestants must memorize their numbers. Each audition will be limited to six minutes playing time.

Major Cheyne Tells Interracial Group Of His Travels

Fort Dodge, Iowa.—An interested group of members attended the second meeting of the Fort Dodge Interracial Commission held Sunday, Nov. 15, at the Salvation Army Temple here.

The program themes emphasized during the afternoon session included "The Spirit of Fellowship," "Our Common Interest," and "The Interdependence of All Peoples."

Major Jack Cheyne discussed his travels through the years, concluding his talk with comments on his recent trip to Europe. A movie was shown depicting the work of the Salvation Army, through the Harbor Lights Corps, in handling the problems of alcoholics along Chicago's "Skid Row."

A solo, "I Heard The Voice of Jesus Say," was sung by Sheila Irish.

Harry Meriwether, president of the interracial group, conducted the business meeting. Miss Ethel Shannon, program chairman, announced that the commission's next meeting will be held Jan. 10, at the First Evangelical United Brethren church. Dr. Charles S. Hampstead is to be the speaker.

To Meet Monday

Princess O'Neil chapter will meet Monday night, Nov. 30, 8 o'clock at the Masonic Hall.

Report Results of 4 Year Drive to End College Bias

New York, N. Y.—A 4-year campaign to end discrimination in colleges and universities is beginning to bear fruit, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith reported last Wednesday.

More than 450 of 518 institutions of higher learning checked by the league have taken positive action toward removing bars against admission of Negroes, Jews and various foreign minority groups, the organization said.

Freedom Forum

The league completed a study of the situation to mark its fortieth anniversary celebration at a 3-day "Freedom Forum" in Washington, D. C., beginning Friday.

The observance will end with an hour-long nationwide telecast at 7 p.m. Monday, on which President Eisenhower will receive the league's annual "America's Democratic Legacy Award."

The league was founded in Chicago, Ill., in 1913 to fight anti-Semitism, but since then it has dealt with many other forms of discrimination.

Arnold Forester, director of the league's civil rights department, said the survey grew out of a joint conference with the American Council of Education in 1949.

The league studied college admission applications. Each was checked for questions about race, creed or national origin. Some were checked for requirement of photographs, church organizations, languages spoken at home and other "indirect" questions.

The results showed that 92.27 per cent of the 518 colleges surveyed asked at least one potentially discriminatory question. The league asked the colleges to take remedial action, and most of them did, the report showed.

Forester said gains had been made in elimination of fraternity and sorority memberships. Some still have bars against "Negroes, Negroes, Jews and Mohammedans," he said, but the members gradually are "throwing over the traces."

Visiting around Iowa

Is Iowa Changing?

"What's happened to our Iowa autumns?" Edna asked while we were driving last Sunday. "Seems like the trees don't seem to turn as pretty as they used to."

That reminds me of Granpaw Jim. He claims that Iowa blizzards aren't what they used to be.

Well, honestly, I doubt whether our autumns or winters change very much. It's our point of view that changes.

And that's something we all should watch... our point of view. Let's not criticize the kids because they like to run and shout.

We oldsters enjoyed that too, once. Let's respect the fellow with a broken accent. We'd sound funny to him, too, if we tried to talk HIS native language.

Granpaw Jim likes corn pone; I like white bread. Edna's a great coffee fan; I enjoy a temperate glass of beer. Both points of view are O.K. And as long as we can keep our vision broad enough, and tolerant enough, we'll all stay younger, grow wiser, and be happier.

When Children Are Allowed To Do Small Things For Themselves Their Self-Confidence Grows

It's hard work shaking Johnny down into his snowsuit and squeezing Betty into her gashoes. Mother comes up red in the face and all out of breath.

Johnny and Betty are all out of patience. They'd rather stay indoors if they have to be shoved and pushed.

Ave., S. W., has been a patient at the University hospital, Iowa City, where a dilation operation was performed on her throat Nov. 16. At news time, Mrs. Downing was doing nicely, and was expected to be released from the hospital this week.

A daughter, Mrs. Ethelyn House, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ridout, Mrs. Edwin White and Mrs. Edward Shelby, all of Burlington, Ia., nieces and nephews of Mrs. Downing.

into their wraps everytime they go out to play.

Now here is one of the everyday opportunities for teaching Johnny Betty to do things for themselves.

Johnny is two and he would like to try to put on his own snowsuit if his mother would let him.

Of course he can't do it all. But he can sit flat on the floor and pull on the leggings if mother will straighten out the suit in front of him. Then she can help him to stand up while she puts the rest of it on him. He can do the zipping, which is what he has been working toward all the time.

It's a great disappointment to have a mother hurriedly finish the zipping and push a child outside. Small children like to zip. They can manage large buttons too.

Why bother to let Johnny pull on the leggings and do the zipping? After all, his mother has to do most of the work.

Here are some good reasons, Johnny may feel proud of his small part in helping himself. He is getting ready for the next larger step when he can do more for himself. And he is more interested in dressing for the outdoors.

Betty may be able to fasten her own gashoes. Why not give her this privilege?

When small children are allowed to do small things for themselves, their self-confidence grows. A self-confident child is a happier child.

Monday, December 7, is the date for the hearing before the U. S. Supreme Court of the public school segregation case. All branches everywhere are urged to make this a supreme effort for freedom and the status of first class citizenship. L. H. Smith, reporter.

Plans for New College of Bible Building at Drake

Plans for the new College of the Bible building and the Oreon E. Scott Memorial chapel for prayer and meditation have been approved by the university's building committee and will be soon submitted to contractors for bids. Dr. Henry G. Harmon, president of Drake university, announced recently. It is hoped that construction can begin this fall.

The two buildings will be erected on the east side of twenty-eighth street and south of Fitch Hall of Pharmacy. Architects are Sarrinen and Associates of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

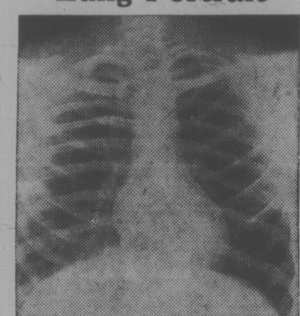

The Bible College building will provide classroom, library and laboratory space for seminary students and will provide accommodations for conferences, institutes, and informal gatherings for the college and its interchurch community.

Funds for the construction of the Bible college building estimated at approximately $225,000 have been underwritten in cash and pledges by the Christian churches in Iowa with the help of individual donors interested in the training of ministers and lay workers.

Chapel A Gift

The chapel is the gift of Oreon E. Scott, life member of the Drake board of trustees, leading layman among the Disciples of Christ, and a St. Louis real estate man. The gift of $30,000 is estimated to be the

Kindergarten Tots Stir Up Pre-Thanksgiving Cookies

Twenty-eight kindergarten pupils from Lucas Elementary School spent an exciting 45 minutes last Tuesday afternoon at Amos Hiatt Junior High school, E. Fifteenth street and University avenue.

Wearing aprons and their company manners, the small fry helped the ninth-grade girls make pre-Thanksgiving chocolate chip cookies and crisp cereal candies in the home-making laboratory at Hiatt.

The children helped to mix the ingredients and later sampled the approved results.

They learned about the value of cereals as a food and helped with the dishes. The older girls did the cooking.

The visit was a return call by the youngsters, who earlier had played hosts to the junior high girls.

Child-Care Study

Each of the 90 girls in the home-making course at Hiatt recently spent four days with kindergarten classes at Lucas, Logan, Webster or Wallace schools as a phase of their child-care study.

There the teen-agers observed the children to see what they liked to chickens, eggs, fruits and vegetables from their gardens; and bits of carved ivory.

"An African woman cooked some greens—and when I tasted them, I knew we were kin."

"We went to a leprosarium in the Congo. All the people wear there is a 'G-String'. You are shocked at first—but you learn that their moral codes are more strict than ours."

"The women have markings on their bodies to take place of the beautiful dresses that we wear," the speaker described.

Although the Africans were "nearly desolate for meats," Mrs. Welch said they showed their appreciation of her visit by killing an antelope and giving it to her.

The Chicagoan, not accustomed to eating antelope meat, said she wanted them to keep the meat which they really needed, but she had to accept it; later on her trip, she gave it to a needy mission school.

"I stood in hospitals and clinics and saw black men with skills and efficiency that any of the Americans have. I saw them, who operate without a missionary doctor. There aren't enough doctors to go around."

"I was proud of what has been done by the missions all around the world. Mrs. Welch praised as she told how missionaries were "giving them hope to live a better way of life."

Causes of Unrest

Many of the causes of unrest about the world, she attributed to peoples seeking better ways of living.

"That is what the Christian doctrine does—it makes us dissatisfied with the old way of living," Mrs. Welch remarked.

"The great masses of people around the world are determined that they will no longer be dominated and

Iowa City Party Honors Couple From Michigan

The Michigan couple was shown a delightful time. Others who shared the hospitality of Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Lemme were: Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Dooley and son, Mrs. Stella Scott, Mrs. Mary Garnett, Mrs. Althea Wynn, Mrs. Mahalia Hughes, Mrs. Louise Bolden and son, Mrs. Harris, Sylvester Hardin, Mr. C. T. Culbertson, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke L. they are determined to have their freedom without bloodshed.

"India is the only country that has gotten its independence and that was because of Gandhi and Nehru."

"I never got the feeling that India wants Communism. India does not want it," Mrs. Welch who spent two months there, declared, as she urged her listeners to support the United Nations and its "four-point program."

Praises U.N.

The speaker said that the United Nations is the only "effective medium that we can look forward to for peace around the world."

"If you could see the effect of the world health program around the world, you would have an appreciation for United Nations that you never had before. I saw it, never had before. I saw it."

"The people around the world want a better way of living. They do not want hand-outs. They want to be able to help themselves," Mrs. Welch concluded.

Her closing song was "There is a Balm in Gilead to Heal the Sin-Sick World." Her prayer was: "We will share with these people who are God's children."

This noted Chicago singer and lecturer and world traveler, is scheduled to return to Des Moines Sunday, Dec. 6, for a Women's Day meeting at the Park Avenue Christian church.

Made a trip to Iowa State Penitentiary at Ft. Madison last week, where I talked with one of the lifers. Learned that one Negro lifer, Tex. Jones of Denver, Colo., had died the previous Tuesday. He had been at the institution since 1927.

The men are anxious to have relatives and friends visit them. They have many problems. More later.

I saw "The Robe"—that truly great motion picture which has been breaking all box-office records around the country. It ran weeks on Broadway and had theater-goers standing in line. "The Robe" ended Tuesday in Des Moines after a four-week engagement.

"The Robe" shows progress in the motion picture world in that it introduces an entirely new concept of picture production—a process which took ten years to develop and two years to produce—known as Cinemascope.

Lloyd C. Douglas' great novel is an exciting one—and you are held spellbound as the story is portrayed on a wide screen.

You are thrilled as you see the picture—then, you go home and begin to wonder.

Of course, the author cautioned all to "remember that 'The Robe' is a novel. It is not a 'Life of Christ'."

draw a picture of Jesus and the people with whom he walked and talked in an age very much like ours," stated Mr. Douglas when he wrote the book.

But you still wonder. You saw in the movie the image of Christ struggling to bear His cross—all alone. And, if you have read the Bible stories of the crucifixion, you wonder what happened to "one Simon, a Cyrenian, who passed by, coming out of the country (Africa), the father of Alexander and Rufus," who was compelled by the Romans to bear Christ's cross.

You wonder why this representative of Africa, Simon, was not in the movie—in this day and age of "so much talk of democracy."

Simon was there when St. Mark wrote about the Crucifixion in Chapter 15, of the Holy Bible. You wonder why they keep cutting out democracy.

You just wonder about this "Robe." It possessed strange powers to whomsoever put it on. It drove one man out of his mind, yet it brought peace and contentment to another—for it was Christ's robe.

I keep wondering about "The Robe." I wrote my mother to "be sure to see this great movie when it comes to Kansas City."

She wrote back: "The Robe" has been in Kansas City, Mo., for six weeks and people have been standing in line.

"I tried to get tickets at the Orpheum theater where it is showing—but the theater management, will not admit Negroes to this great religious picture," wrote my mother.

Now, I am really bewildered!

I wonder how Jesus Christ, himself must feel about all these discriminations. And, if we are "anyone of the millions who say or sing the creed—"I Believe," then we also must believe Christ's words when he said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Seems strange to think that it was easier to try to be one of the followers of Christ during all the cruelties of the Roman days under the reign of Pontius Pilate, than it is today—in our very modern democratic way of life, for persons—just because their skins are colored, to break down the cruelties of racial discriminations.

I wonder was it easier?

FAIR PLAY THE ESSENCE OF SPORTS

When the football season began this fall, even though Iowa had a great coach in the person of Evashevski, few expected that the team would rise to the height which enabled the squad to wind up by tying one of the number one teams in the nation.

Saturday was a day Iowa fans had longed for during several past seasons; a great coach and a great football team.

The public likes a good sport, and a sport plays the game fair even though he goes down to defeat. But this is not what Notre Dame did Saturday.

The feigning of injury by a player was so plain that sports announcers called it immediately. The act placed the officials in a difficult spot, for while they might have surmised of what he stunk was, they were in no position to do other than take the players word: that he had been injured and thus the clock was stopped which permitted the Irish to run another play.

There has been some criticism that colleges are placing too much emphasis on football. But those who take the other view argue that among other things, football like all sports, teach boys to play the game fair—to play a sportsmanlike game. But the type of strategy used by Notre Dame was not sportsmanship but pure dishonest deception.

Notre Dame has a great team. It is a great school. T hey can't teach young men to be dishonest in their effort to win games and at the same time retain the high respect in which the Irish have been held.

HOUSING SEGREGATION A SERIOUS PROBLEM

Speaking before the Anti-Defamation League in Washington, Judge William H. Hastie of the U. S. Circuit Court of appeals said:

"Housing segregation is one of the most sinister breeders of bigotry."

Segregated housing, he held, does more than any other feature of American urban living "to make members of the segregated minority, and particularly Negroes as the largest such minority, strangers in what is nominally their home community."

The housing situation for Negroes presents a very difficult situation due in most instances to the nation among a lot of people that their presence in a neighborhood lowers property values; that they fail to keep their property up.

Many low income groups of all races are poor neighbors and fail to keep their property up. But all people of a class should not be thought of in the same category for Negroes with the same economic status do just as good a job maintaining their property as any other group.

And to a large extent Des Moines has succeeded in hemming Negroes in certain ghettos because the real estate and loan companies have made it difficult to buy and build decent property in most neighborhoods. They have kept the legislature from passing an enabling act which would permit of Federal housing projects; often they have refused to loan or sell to Negroes in white neighborhoods or whites in Negro neighborhoods. And even though the taxpayers' money is used to do the financing, they have manipulated the program to their own choosing.

Speaking at a work shop on housing during the recent Human Rights week, one suggested that the problems could be solved if a group went off by themselves and built a number of houses together. That's like solving the race problem by the back to Africa movement or the all Negro state idea. Neither program is desirable.

Of course, the situation will improve as people come to realize that segregation and discrimination negative democratic action and that a man can improve in his field if he meets the test laid down for all men to pass.

Segregated neighborhoods penalize the very poor who least can afford it. The interest rate on borrowed money is higher; no matter how fine the home, its value is gauged by the houses that surround it.

GIVE THANKS; WE ARE FORTUNATE

When the colonies were first settled in America, the people did not observe Thanksgiving day. They depended upon themselves to fight the Indians but raising good crops was one with which the Almighty had much to say. Crop failures made life miserable but when the first big crop was harvested, the governor proclaimed the last Thursday in November as a legal holiday and it has been so observed since.

Aside from being alive, the cessation of hostilities in Korea is possibly the greatest thing for which we in America should give thanks this year.

In spite of strife and turmoil over the world, America has been pretty fortunate. The fighting in neither World War reached its shores. Most of its citizens have ample food, clothing and other things to make life happy; good schools, churches, fine recreation, and in most cases good homes. For all these things the people should be thankful.

Thanksgiving day observance lasts only a day. However, these blessings are had the year round, so that thanks should be given the year round. But it is well that we emphasize our thanks on this day as a renewal of our daily thanks.

A former student of the city's public schools and New York University, he has served faithfully and well in the State Assembly for the last 13 years, and was considered one of the best speakers in the Assembly. He is familiar with city problems and in his discussion of them emphasizes economy.

A devoted family man, Mr. Jack is married and has an 18 year old son, Hulan E. Jr.

Unsuccessful Candidates

Other unsuccessful Negro candidates in the election included Dr. Alphonse Henningburg, who ran for a City Council post from the Borough of Queens on the Liberal-Independent slate. He polled 10,498 votes, but his white opponent, incumbent Eric J. Treulich won with 41,276. Also, a Negro, Ramon A. Martinez (Rep.), and William H. Staves (Rep.) were runners-up for the Municipal Court seat in Brooklyn. He got 10,332 votes, while the winner, Justice-elect Flagg received 25,913 votes.

Judge Hastie, the ranking Negro jurist in the country, expressed optimism that the end of government enforced segregation is in sight because "the forces now cooperating to cause government to stop its part in this shabby segregation business are insistent, strong and constantly growing more powerful."

"Not Compromise" In a discussion on civil rights legislation, Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem., Minn.) indicated his willingness to compromise with "the new leadership of the south in working out a politically realistic fair employment practices bill." He said he would "not compromise on the necessity for federal legislation in achieving equality of opportunity," adding that "I will, however, compromise on the terms of mechanics of that legislation in the interests of a basic objective."

On that occasion a group of Negroes had been admitted, and Moore testified the management received numerous protests from regular patrons about the presence of Negroes. As a result, Moore said, he instructed Anderson to refuse admission to Negroes in the future.

Attorney's Advice He testified he had been advised by his firm's Chicago attorney such action would not violate the Iowa civil rights statute. On cross-examination, Moore admitted the Amos party was denied admittance because they were Negroes.

Anderson largely corroborated the testimony of Moore, and testified to numerous complaints from regular patrons received after the previous admission of Negroes to the ballroom. He, too, admitted that on the night in question admission was denied because members of the group were Negroes.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The greatest gridiron battle of the year is over, but the tumult and shouting probably never will die. The Iowa supporters insist they were gyped by the timekeeper and maybe the officials because some of the Notre Dame players got extra time-out by pretending to be injured.

Grantland Rice, the dean of sports-writers and in our book one of the best, calls it disgraceful.

You all know the result of the game and we are sure you are all familiar with the heroic deeds of Vincent, Jones, Gillam and Hall. Also the great diving catch by Gillam for Iowa's second touchdown.

But, we are concerned with the bitterness and accusations that followed the game. Football generates in players and spectators alike a fierce desire to win. About eighty percent of the people around the country were for Iowa because the Hawkeyes were the underdog and were making a grand battle. The frustration and disappointment at having what apparently was a well earned victory snatched from their group was enough to temporarily unbalance Iowa players and supporters.

Now, we think it was simply a case of the shoe being on the wrong foot. We have in mind the now illegal "sucker shift" that Iowa used in Ohio State and drew light penalties at crucial moments. Not a single Iowa fan went away yelling poor sportsmanship. Instead they went away talking about how "smart our boys were."

When Notre Dame used it against Oklahoma it became the last word in unfair tactics and was promptly ruled out. Oh, these Irish have caused more changes in the rule book than any single team in history.

Then there was the year in the Minnesota game when the rampant Hawks gang tackled the Gophers great back, everytime he had the ball. On one occasion, Jones literally picked up the guy and slammed him to the ground. We recall the same treatment given Ozzie Simmons in 1935 by Minnesota. Against the Gopher's great back, it was great defensive play; against Simmons it was rotten tactics.

Now we wonder what Iowa rooters would be saying if that had been one of our boys who fell out and got an extra play to tie the game. Wouldn't they be calling it smart?

Don't get us wrong, we wanted Iowa to win just as much as anybody else. But in spite of our desire for an Iowa victory we couldn't help but feel a wave of admiration for Notre Dame. There was a truly great team fighting with its back to the wall, pulling out all stops, using every trick in the book to stave off an almost certain defeat that they refused to accept. There were the Irish passers and receivers with the ball game riding on each pass and they knew they had to keep the ball. Yet they played the deal right down to the last turn and saved by a tie.

Brother if you don't think that deserves admiration instead of a kick in the pants, we wonder what is sportsmanship.

No one wants to take anything away from the Hawkeyes for their great November record and wonderful game. But, let's quit yelling we were robbed and respect a great team that refused to be beaten and come up with a tie against our equally great Hawkeyes.

Liberia To Ask Extension of Technical Assistance

Washington.—The five-year economic development program in partnership with the United States which was begun in mid-1951 is working out so successfully that Liberia plans to ask American consideration of an additional four-year extension. (In the first two years of the program, Liberia contributed over 50% of cost, amounting to more than 20% of her national budget.)

Present plans call for an extension of health facilities, hydro-electric power, roads, schools, police, prison, fire fighting equipment and the agricultural program. Increased production of tropical farm produce such as cocoa, coffee, sugar, rice, palm oil and kernalis is also being given special attention to further raise the national income.

A modern agricultural research center has just been opened to assist toward this goal. The production of swamp rice in tropical climate is being investigated with the aim to make Liberia a rice exporting country.

A joint Liberia-U.S. project has so far completed the photomapping of 87% of the nation. This proportion would be saying if that had been one of our boys who fell out and got an extra play to tie the game. Wouldn't they be calling it smart?

O LORD MAKE US THANKFUL

For life in its beauty,
For sunshine and rain,
For God's christian duty,
We chant this refrain:
"O Lord, make us thankful."
For laughter and tears we all must share,
For all life's sorrow we must bear,
For He who is mighty who makes us strong,
For music and joy in God's song,
"O Lord, make us thankful."

For blessed assurance through silent prayer,
We know when we need God—He's some place near,
For God's written word and His home on high,
For angels who proclaim His might in the sky,
"O Lord, make us thankful."

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving comes but once a year and when that old day draws near, a special kind of warmth abounds, with spicy scents and poyful sounds. The family gathers 'round the board that groans with overload of hoard, of all good things from everywhere, lots of food and seeds to spare!!!!

The spuds are in the cellar now—the hay is in the mow, there's ham cured in the smokehouse; and one more patch to plow. So we gather 'round the table thanking Him for all He's giving, That's the reason for the label, for the day we call Thanksgiving. —Glenn A. Gallagher. (First American Serial Rights Only)

HEALTH FOR ALL

SWEAT BATH

The commonest thing in medicine is the common cold. The best home treatment says Dr. Alfred Lewy of Chicago, Ill., in a recent issue of the Journal of the National Medical Association, is the sweat bath. This means immersion in a hot bath (the steam bath or "sauna" of the Scandinavian countries is better) for fifteen minutes.

While in the bath three pints of hot liquid, with or without alcohol, should be drunk and the patient should then go to bed between cotton or wollen blankets, not sheets, which get clammy from perspiration. After about an hour's sweat the patient should have a dry rub-down and then a night's sleep.

Dr. Lewy cautions that coal tar derived analgesics such as aspirin do no help and sometimes lower resistance to secondary infection.

For relief of pain and stoppage of acute sinus inflammation, an excellent treatment in addition to the sweat bath is the inhalation of steam. This is best applied by wetting a large folded towel in steaming water and holding it against the face and inhaling the steam. Chronic cases require the services of a specialist.

Dr. Lewy says: "If patients could be persuaded to go to bed for a day or two with their colds, I don't think we doctors would have to suffer the jibes of the public on our inability to cure the common cold."

Diabetes Patient

Successful management of diabetes in the active patient depends largely on the extent of cooperation between patient and physician, it was disclosed in a recent issue of the Journal of
