Senate Action On A. A. Alexander Job Is Delayed

Washington, D. C. — Senate action on the nomination of Archie A. Alexander, as governor of the Virgin Islands is being stalled in the interior committee.

"We are bogged down with work," is the explanation of the committee staff, but it is no secret that Senator Hugh Butler (Rep., Neb.) is irked that Alexander was nominated.

Butler, chairman of the senate interior committee, had his own candidate for the job—Joseph Wishart, a lawyer from Lincoln, Neb.

However, Butler says he will not actually block the Alexander appointment.

"I'm too good a Republican to do that," Butler said, "but I can't see why there is any hurry about taking it up when our committee is carrying all the work it can at this time."

It is reported Senator Butler plans to sit on the nomination until President Eisenhower comes up with what the Nebraska senator considers to be a suitable appointment for Wishart.

The committee staff reported no orders have been received to prepare for hearings on the Alexander nomination.

Colorful Career of Dr. D. V. Jemison, Former Baptist Convention Leader, Ends

Selma, Ala. — Rites for Dr. David V. Jemison, 78, noted National Baptist Convention leader until his retirement last September at the Miami, Fla., meeting, were held last Wednesday from the Tabernacle Baptist church here, Feb. 24.

Dr. Jemison, who was president of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., for 13 years from 1940 to 1953, died here Feb. 17. His death will be mourned by church people throughout the nation and abroad.

The almost totally blind clergyman served as president of the Alabama Baptist State Convention for 34 years.

Humble Beginning

Born in 1875, near Marion, Ala., he rose to prominence from a humble beginning. He was the seventh of 12 children of Perry and Tyesa Carlose, born on Sam Jemison's plantation.

After emancipation, Dr. Jemison's parents scraped together $5,000 in modest savings and what they could borrow to buy the 375-acre plantation from their former employer. Reselling 125 acres to 37 more freed men, the Jemisons settled down to make a home for themselves and family.

Ordained as a minister in the Baptist church, he married Miss Henrietta Phillips, June 18, 1902. They had five children by this union. In 1903 Dr. Jemison became the pastor of Tabernacle Baptist church in Selma, where he remained until 1929. Then he answered a call from

Brash McCarthy Lets p On Mrs. Moss Accused As Commie

Washington, D.C. — (CNS) Following the historic "memorandum of understanding" which unleashed a nation-wide storm of protest that the Army had yielded to the bullying tactics of Senator Joe McCarthy and his committee, the junior senator from Wisconsin let up on the case of Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, the middle-aged Negro woman whom he has named as a past and possibly present Communist.

Mrs. Moss, an employee of the

the St. Louis Street Baptist church. After five years, in 1936, Dr. Jemison returned to the pastorate of Tabernacle Baptist church, which position he held at the time of his death.

Elected president of the Alabama Baptist State Convention in 1916, Dr. Jemison later served also as first vice president to the National Baptist Convention.

Upon the death of Dr. L. K. Williams, Dr. Jemison was elevated to the presidency of the National Baptist Convention in 1940.

In a dramatic decision, Dr. Jemison

Army Signal Corps, and a tearful and shabby witness, was told by the brash McCarthy that he had evidence that she was a Communist and that he "will have you dited for perjury if you testify otherwise."

Mrs. Moss' lawyer objected, pointing out that she had testified freely before the House Un-American Activities Committee on Monday, denying Communist Party membership and had never even taken refuge in any constitutional amendment.

The Senator said he was interested "in that woman as a person at all," and dismissed her as a witness though he added she should appear later when her health permits.

One of Nation's Few Negro Business Machine Salesmen Rated Outstanding in U. S.

San Gabriel, Calif. — "One of the outstanding salesmen in the United States."

That's the description given William T. Phillips, Jr., business machine salesman of Detroit, by Hugh L. Clary, president of Clary Multiplier Corporation, a leading business machine manufacturer.

Clary tendered the high praise to Phillips, one of the nation's few Negro salesmen of office equipment, as he announced today that Phillips had again won national honors among Clary salesmen.

Second Year

The star salesman has for the second consecutive year won coveted membership in the Producers club, a Clary honorary sales organization, as a result of his top rating among sellers of adding machines and cash registers, during 1953, Clary said.

Together with the other 23 leading salesmen from across the country, Phillips will journey later this month (March) to Southern California for a week of fun and festivities with all expenses paid, to receive a variety of awards, including cash and merchandise.

The "producers of sales" will stay at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, attend banquets in famed Hollywood restaurants and night clubs, and be guests of honor at a motion picture studio luncheon.

Phillips, in addition to repeating his Producers club achievement, last Fall won first place in the National Clary Crusade, a one-month's sales contest among the firm's representa-

Catholic Bishop Hits Racial Bar in Cleveland K. of C.

Cleveland, Ohio — A Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop threatened last Friday to leave the Cleveland Knights of Columbus Council because the group last year turned down the membership applications of three Negroes.

"The only reason they're keeping them out is their color," the Most Rev. Floyd L. Begin declared. "Anyone who denies that is a pussyfooting liar."

The bishop said he had tried to persuade Cleveland K. of C. Council members to accept the Negroes but, he pointed out, as few as five blackballed can bar an applicant from membership.

The persons who cast these five (or more) blackballed, he said, are "traitors."

"As Americans they're wrong, as Catholics they're wrong, and as Knights they're wrong," he said.

"The K. of C. should either identify itself with the Catholic church or cease to call itself a Catholic organization and use instead the term, 'fraternal organization for Catholics.'"

"I want to remain a Knight, but I'm afraid the real Knights aren't running the order any more."

Either I have to say Negroes are second-rate Catholics or I must say the Knights are not acting as Catholics. The decision is obvious."

Burlington Arms Plant 'Not Moving'

Washington, D.C. — Senator Hickenlooper (Rep., Ia.) said Thursday the ordnance bureau of the defense department has advised him it knows nothing of reports that the Iowa Ordnance plant at Burlington, Iowa, may be moved to some southern city.

Hickenlooper said the bureau has advised him it has made no decision to move the Burlington plant and that it has no explanations as to how such rumors may have originated in Iowa.

Hickenlooper said he has asked the defense department to keep him informed closely if later developments were to cause the government to even contemplate any change in the situation.

Racial Discrimination in Employment Accentuated By Growing Unemployment

Washington. — Racial discrimination in employment has been accentuated by growing unemployment, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told the Senate Labor Committee Feb. 25 at a hearing on an FEPC bill.

"We have been carefully watching the effects of unemployment throughout the United States," Mr. White said, "and we know that occupational groupings of colored workers makes them more susceptible to unemployment in times of stress."

"Thus a colored individual is penalized doubly because of his race. He is arbitrarily denied employment at a job for which he may be qualified and thereafter is put on a job requiring little or no skill. This makes him an employee who may be readily sacrificed in time of retrenchment."

"The NAACP executive cited a U.S. Census report indicating that unemployment among Negro men was twice that among white males in January."

Danger Point

"The Bureau of Employment Security," he said, "believes we have reached a danger point in our economy when more than 5 per cent of

Georgians Told By Judge That 'Life Begins With First Class Citizenship'

Savannah, Ga. — A scathing attack on James F. Byrnes and Herman Talmadge as "enemies of our democratic form of government" was made here Feb. 28 by a distinguished judge and civil rights leader.

Judge Hubert T. Delany of New York City scolded recent tactics of the two Southern governors to evade a possible Supreme Court decision eliminating public school segregation. "These men have indicated that they will defy the authority of the Supreme Court when it hands down the only decision we can fairly expect," Judge Delany declared. "They are the enemies of our democratic form of government."

Need Not Be Jurist

"You do not need to be a Supreme Court jurist to know that segregation is per se inequality," he continued. "Judge J. Waties Waring, that distinguished jurist from South Carolina, told us that in 1951 when the Clarendon County case was originally decided."

"Do not be afraid of the propaganda of Byrnes and Talmadge and their ilk. Do not believe it when you hear it said that the public schools will close, that Negro teachers and principals will lose their jobs, that blood will fly in the streets of the South when the decision is handed down."

"We will not provoke others to fight, but we shall stand up like men and women unafraid to be free and equal with our fellow men. We shall defend our right to be free."

At Mass Meeting

Mr. Delany, judge of Domestic Relations Court in New York City, spoke at a mass meeting sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The meeting, held in a local church, concluded a three-day NAACP Southeast regional conference convened under the general theme, "Life begins with first-class citizenship."

Byrnes and Talmadge, governors of South Carolina and Georgia respectively, have threatened to turn their states' public schools over to private operators if the Supreme Court rules against segregated public schools.

Other speakers at the convention—the second Southeast regional conference to be sponsored by the NAACP—included Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP.

New York, N.Y. — Henry Cabot Lodge, permanent representative on the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, will address the one-day Freedom Fulfillment Conference of the NAACP March 10, it was announced here by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary.

The conference, which also will be addressed by President Eisenhower and Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York, is scheduled for March 10 in Washington, D.C. The event will formally launch the NAACP Fight for Freedom campaign, which aims to eliminate all racial discrimination and segregation by January 1, 1963—the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

Delegates to the convention also will hear top NAACP officials including Arthur B. Spingarn, president; Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board of Directors; Carl Johnson, Kansas City, Mo., attorney and member of the Board, and Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, Pittsburgh, also a Board member.

At the conference, delegates from the Association's 1,300 branches in all sections of the nation will consider ways of stepping up the NAACP's anti-discrimination work, and methods of raising $1,000,000 annually to implement the Fight for Freedom campaign.

Toasted Corn Bread Tops Chicken a la King Taste

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken a la King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is rare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey a la King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey. A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the drippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

Rev. And Mrs. W. H.
Ogletton Honored
At St. Paul Banquet

Nearly a hundred friends of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ogletton gathered at a beautiful banquet setting at St.
Paul A.M.E. church last Thursday evening to pay a formal tribute of respect and appreciation to their distinguished churchmen.

For the Rev. Mr. Ogletton, esteemed presiding elder of the Des Moines district of the Northwestern Annual Conference, the occasion was fraught with deep historic significance.

It marked: 19 years as presiding
elder of the Des Moines District; 24 years as presiding elder in the Northwestern Annual Conference; 29 years of pastoral ministry in the state of Iowa; 46 years in the active work of the pastoral ministry.

Dr. Ogletton has served as a member of every A.M.E. General Conference since 1920. His tenure as presiding elder of the Des Moines district has been the Reverends Guy,
Alexander, Hackley, Boyd, Irvine, Singleton, and Hunter as pastors of St. Paul church.

Dr. Ogletton has served under the following bishops: H. B. Parks, Joshua H. Jones, B. F. Lee, Archibald Carey, L. J. Coppin, Abraham L. Gaines, John A. Gregg, all deceased, and the present bishop,
George W. Baber.

His first pastorate was at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., in 1908. Since then he has served the following charges:
Sandy Hook, Tenn.; Lewisburg,
Tenn.; St. John, Nashville, Tenn.; Bethel, Chicago, Ill. (associate minister); Clinton, Iowa; Beloit, Wis.

Visibly moved by emotion, Dr.
Ogletton gave a hearty response during which he thanked the people for their kindness and expressed gratitude that they had given him flowers and praise while he could appreciate them.

Hearts were deeply warmed when
he, after receiving the presentations,
in turn presented them to his wife
whom he said, "has walked by my side for 58 years."

The pastor and congregation at St.
Paul expressed the hope that the tenure of service as Presiding Elder Ogletton would be continued in future service beyond the current conference year. — (J.E.H.)

Four Generations

The Ogletton family represents four generations of ministers. Presiding Elder Ogletton is the son of the late Rev. W. H. Ogletton, Sr., of the Tennessee Conference.

In 1896 he united in marriage with Miss Marguerite Thorne, daughter of the late Rev. A. W. Thorne, also of the Tennessee Conference.

Their son, the Rev. W. F. Ogletton,
Sr., is now pastoring at South Bend,
Ind., and their grandson, the Rev.
W. F. Ogletton, Jr., was ordained in 1952 and is now serving with the Armed Services in Korea. Their daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Penn, lives in Evanston, Ill.

The banquet was sponsored by the Pastoral Relations committee of St.
Paul A.M.E. church, of which Mrs.
Iva Mae Hayes serves as chairman, and was supported by the Steward Board, church clubs, officers, and members in addition to friends from other churches.

Personal tributes were paid to the presiding elder by laymen, Pastor Hunter and the Revs. Cecil E. Duke of Bethel church and James M. Barr of Albion, Iowa.

Greetings were also received from the Revs. Christina McDonald, Iowa City and Theodore Hudson, Council Bluffs, Iowa. A presentation to the beloved church leader was made by the minister on behalf of the church.

Hearts were deeply warmed when
he, after receiving the presentations,
in turn presented them to his wife
whom he said, "has walked by my
side for 58 years."

The pastor and congregation at St.
Paul expressed the hope that the

Children Would Rather Be Friendly—But They Do Not Know How To Handle Conflicts

AFTON SMITH, Assistant Professor, State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station

Since children's fights and quarrels receive more of our attention than do their friendships, we assume that they would rather fight than be friendly.

Yet several studies of friendly tendencies in children seem to show that they are as ready to be friendly as they are to be unfriendly. In one study of two-year-olds, for instance, Professor Mergert observed over four times as many friendly as unfriendly acts. And Professors Jersild and Fife found that even between two very aggressive children there was more friendly behavior than unfriendly.

A third study was made by Professor Wright, who found that the children were friendly to a new-comer in the group more often than they were hostile. Yet another study revealed more conflicts between two close friends than between other children in the group. Perhaps there was more opportunity for conflict between the two who played more with each other, but they still remained good friends.

In other studies at the preschool age it was found that conflict usually arose over possessions, or when one child got in another's way. Friendliness seemed to be a natural state, while hostility arose only when there was cause for it.

Another cause of hostility may be a below-par physical condition due to poor sleeping or eating habits. Insecurity due to strain, tension and too much excitement in the family atmosphere also will cause irritability and make a child less friendly. Gangs of older children often work up a feud with another gang. They may fight because they have no constructive outlets for their energy. They often fight for amusement and even their hostility is pleasurable, yet the members within the gang are friendly.

Supervision of children always will be necessary, for they do not always know how to handle their conflicts. Nevertheless, the child's greater need is for play situations where he can use his friendly tendencies. He is at least as ready to be friendly as he is to fight.

Several housewives who heard the couple from India, Mr. and Mrs. A. Aaron, who filled a week's speaking engagement under the auspices of the Central YMCA, have asked me since when I plan to print some of the Indian food recipes that Mrs. Aaron mentioned in some of her lectures?

Well, after reading Monday's news from New Delhi, India, stating that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had refused President Eisenhower's offer of arms to aid India and delivered a biting attack on the United States for its arms aid promise to Pakistan, I decided that now is the time to start using them instead of waiting for a hot summer day, comparable to the hot temperatures in India, where the highly seasoned food is eaten.

Before she left Des Moines last month, Mrs. Aaron compiled an Indian Curry dinner, made up of Indian Curry Sauce, Fried Rice, Dhal and Banana Chutney.

The Indian Curry sauce is served over the fried rice, similar to some of the American rice and meat dishes.

MRS. AARON

Indian Curry (for 6 persons) as prepared by Mrs. Aaron:

Ingredients
(1) Any fresh meat, beef, veal, lamb or chicken, cut up in ½ inch cubes. If chicken, cut up joint by joint. (1½-2 lbs.)

Miss Shirley Bell Weds Marcel Andrew

MRS. MARCEL ANDREW

Miss Shirley Bell and Marcel Andrew were married at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 27, at the home of the bride's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Wyant, 912 E. Fourteenth street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. William Bell. Mr. Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Andrew of Richmond, Calif.

Rev. L. H. Ford of Chicago, Church of God in Christ overseer and pastor of the St. Paul's Church of God in Christ in Chicago, officiated at an improvised altar which was decorated with bouquets of yellow carnations and white gladioli.

Escorted to the altar by Mr. Wyant, the bride wore a white gown of net over taffeta fashioned with a fitted jacket with long sleeves, halter-length skirt. Her short veil was attached to a crown of lace with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Patty Wyant, maid of honor, wore a pink dress fashioned with ballerina length skirt. Mr. Chester Kennerly was best man. Assisting the bride were Miss Edna Thomas, and Mesdames Kitty Lighon and Leonard Wade.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wyant wore a beige dressmaker suit.

A wedding reception was held from 2 to 8 p.m. Sunday at the Wyant home. Hostesses were: Mesdames Emery Wade, Leonard Wade, and the Misses Sharon Kay Wade, Shirley Berry, Elsonette Wade, Barbara Jean Wade, Jackie Doyle, May Miller.

A courtesy for the bride was a miscellaneous shower given by a group of her friends at the home of Mrs. Alma Berry.

The couple left Monday for Richmond, Calif., where they will make their home.

Ingredients

(1) Uncle Ben's converted long grain rice is the best—two cups of rice or one package

(2) One large-sized onion cut up into thin slices

(3) One large tbsp. of butter or oleomargarine

(4) Four cups of boiling water. Allow two cups of water to each cup of rice

(5) One level tsp. of turmeric powder

(6) Mixed spices—exactly the same as item No. 6 in curry recipe

(7) One-half can of cooked peas

Method: Fry onions in the butter or margarine until golden brown. Uncle Ben's rice need not be washed. (Other kinds of rice should be washed and water drained off). Moisten rice and add to the fried onions and lower the fire and stir well and get it dry. Add the mixed spices and the cooked peas and the double quantity of boiling water, one tsp. of salt and stir thoroughly and lower the fire as low as possible. Then stir in the turmeric powder and put a tight lid on and leave undisturbed for 20 or 25 minutes. The rice will be cooked when all the water is absorbed. The rice should be fluffy and separate.

Just run a fork through to see that the peas and green onions and green pepper are all mixed in with the rice.

That's just part of the spicy hot dinner which should be very tasty during these cold windy March days. The remainder of this dinner—Dhal and Banana Chutney, I will publish in a later column.

Now those good friends of mine—the one who made that delicious cream chignon cake, and another who left orange-nut cookies on my desk, and the other, who handed me a small spiced cake—all just last week, might try out these Indian recipes—then let know—and I'll be right around to balance up my diet.

Thanks to Mrs. Aaron for sharing her Indian cookery with us!

Estelle Osborne Now With Nurses League

New York City.—Mrs. Estelle Massey Osborne resigned her position as assistant professor of nurses training at New York University to join the staff of the National League for Nursing, 2 Park avenue, as assistant director.

The league is the largest of the national nursing organizations, the membership of which is composed of trained nurses, non-nurses and agencies, and is inter-racial. Mrs. Osborne's appointment is a climax to her years of pioneering for progressive standards in nursing, including the integration of Negro nurses in the major nurses' organizations and institutions of the country.

She was a leader in the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, which dissolved in 1950 after Negro nurses were admitted to the American Nurses Association. She was also the first Negro nurse to receive the degree of master of arts. Mrs. Osborne pioneered in opening the doors to other Negro nurses by being the first Negro director of Homer G. Philip Hospital in St. Louis, the first Negro to be elected to the board of directors of the American Nurses Association, and the first Negro nurse appointed to teach at New York University.

During World War II, she served as consultant with the National

POOR STRATEGY IN LABOR RELATIONS

One would think the day far past when a company tried to bring in a group of Negroes as strike breakers. And yet this is exactly what the Hat Corporation of America at Norwalk, Conn. did.

It appears that the Hat Workers Union AFL, to which some Negroes belonged, struck at the Norwalk plant. In an effort to break the strike the local NAACP said:

"An investigation has disclosed that the corporation has approached employment agencies largely patronized by Negroes and has solicited unemployed Negro workers for strike-breaking by other means."

Strike breakers do no good for themselves, are temporary cats paws for management and of course get the disrespect of the union men who after all are competitors during their working years.

Unions are here to stay and anyone who takes a different view gets little support. And even though some officials have made rackets out of their organizations, some practice racial discrimination, or go too far in their efforts to reach goals, the principle of trade unions is here to stay. Their short comings should be cleared up like that of any other organization.

Iowa coal operators tried the use of Negroes as strike breakers many years ago. But it did not work for the men found that the union was their best friend, joined up and became prominent in local and district organizations, undoubtedly contributing to the friendly relations among members of the different races who came out of these coal camps.

In the long run the Negroes who refused to be used as tools will not only have the respect of the Hat Workers Union, but that of the Hat Corporation as well for nobody likes a squealer or a coward.

UNFORTUNATE
DEMONSTRATION
HURTS CAUSE

It is most unfortunate that the Porto Ricans who threw members of the House of Representatives in Washington into a mad scramble by putting down a pistol barrage with automatic guns, chose this method of emphasizing their desire for the independence of that island.

True, independence is the cry of all colonial peoples these days and even though some are well satisfied with their status, as appears to be at least the ruling classes of Porto Rico, there are those among different classes who feel otherwise and give vent to their impulses just as was done in Washington Monday.

The U. S. policy is to give Porto Rico their independence when they feel that they can take on full responsibility of government. Thus, to murder officials in order to impress the world of their cause argues little sense.

There are those who blame Russia for this shooting spree. That is not unusual for we have come to believe that everything that goes bad these days is chargeable to the Communists. But while this affair is an isolated case, it would appear that such incidents demonstrates against the position such people hope to emphasize: that they are ready for self-government.

IOWA UNIVERSITY ATHLETES ON UPGRADE

The Iowa Hawkeyes under coach Buckley O'Connor have just closed a most successful basketball season. And even though they do not share the conference title (they still have hopes depending upon what Indiana and Illinois do this weekend), nobody will deny that they have brought credit to their school, themselves and their coaches with their fine training, ability to work together and a will to win under trying circumstances.

The boys who did most of the playing were sophomores which of course meant that this was their first year in college competition—and this Big Ten Conference competition is rough. But these boys kept their eyes on the thing for which they were fighting and measured up.

Basketball requires the ultimate in team work and quick thinking. O'Connor performed a job many coaches overlook and that is a team of good players rather than a few stars.

Iowa is proud that the Athletic Department at Iowa City is producing teams worth seeing.

KEEPING THE RECORD STRAIGHT PAYS

Last week the State Conference of the NACP, after a full investigation of the case of A. W. Fitz at Council Bluffs, concluded that his civil rights had not been violated. On the other hand had Mr. Fitz complied with communications from the public safety department the whole affair could have been avoided.

The Bystander is convinced that Mr. Fitz was not properly advised from the beginning or refused to be advised in the light of his apparent expressed satisfaction that he, after all, had no ill will in the matter.

The NAACP is just as anxious that white people will not be prosecuted for something they don't do to Negroes as it is to prosecute where civil rights are violated. Their job is to see that justice prevails whoever is concerned.

If this matter had been brought to the NAACP in the beginning, the whole incident could have been avoided. And this emphasizes the often repeated admonition that Negroes in small communities should support the NAACP and the Negro newspaper in their own state for it is the Iowa courts, the Iowa legislature with which Iowa citizens must deal and thus when help is needed, Iowa people will be the proper ones to render assistance.

Letter To Editor

More Christian Light Needed
The 2,311 census takers bring to light some very important facts. There are some 212 churches in the city of Des Moines. A rough estimate, I would say, some 80,000 nominal Christians. If this number were subscribing to the call of the church which should be "a deeper spiritual one, composed of Saints and Christians. If this were really true, what a light would come to the dark areas of the city and by the same rule throughout the world.

Let us name one or more of the very dark areas, viz., child delinquency, faulty reasoning, lukewarm members of the church, and non-thiers, etc.

As to faulty and un-Christian reasoning, I mention two articles, one entitled "Denunciation from Chicago," by J. W. Hough, the other in part by a southern woman who said in substance among other things, that Heaven would have two departments: one for Negroes and one for whites. (I wish the exact statement were before me.) This statement with some of those made in the article "Denunciation from Chicago" in the Des Moines Sunday Register of Feb. 14, 1954, by J. W. Hough, are in the same category.

I quote from the said article: "If our Northern Negro-loving politicians furthermore, after the white people experience with these black brutes in the large cities of the North, in armed holdup, rape and murder, the North would never be able to raise a white army to turn against the white people of the South as they were able to do in 1861, etc."

Such sentiments as these cause astonishment. I wonder how in this enlightened age when the Gospel of Jesus Christ the Father and Brother of mankind is being preached from the pulpit, radio, television and otherwise, such un-Christian reasoning can be taken even by a small number. It is indeed sad. William H. Wheeler, 777 13th St., Des Moines, Ia.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Rabies

Recent rabies reports from several parts of Iowa and in Chicago have again focused attention on this disease. Rabies can occur at any time during the year. However it is more prevalent in Iowa during the late winter and spring months when dogs and wild animals tend to roam in search of mates. At this time they are more likely to come in contact with animals with rabies and thus contract the disease.

Last year rabid animals were reported from 63 counties in Iowa. During the first six weeks of this year, reports of 19 cases of animal rabies were reported to the Iowa State Department of Health.

There is a reservoir of the disease among wild animals. Rabid dogs, however, are the cause of most of the human exposures because of the closer association between man and dog than most other animals.

Dogs can be protected against rabies by an annual anti-rabies vaccination. Many cities and towns in Iowa require all dogs to be vaccinated every year. In some areas the vaccination programs have been on a county-wide basis.

Vaccination has been found very effective. No cases of rabies have been reported among dogs that have had an annual anti-rabies vaccination. If young puppies are vaccinated, they should be re-vaccinated when they are six months old.

If an animal is suspected of having rabies, it should be securely confined for observation for 14 days. If it dies during the observation period, consult a physician or veterinarian about sending the head to a laboratory for a brain examination. Examination of the brain is the only sure way of knowing whether the animal had rabies.

An animal suspected of having rabies should not be killed early during the disease because it is difficult for the scientist to find evidence of the disease in the brain tissue at this stage. Nevertheless, if it is necessary to kill the animal it should be done so without damaging the brain if possible.

When a person is bitten by an animal, the animal should be confined for observation by a veterinarian. The wound should be washed with soap and water at once, and a physician should be consulted promptly for advice and possible treatment.

players should watch for frand discussion of things they do wrong and accept them in the right spirit. Nobody is jealous of anybody's apparent success. Most of the old-timers come along and there are about three who have a chance. Maybe this will be their year.

WHILE THEY WAIT

Somewhere . . . upon an eminence, they ponder while they wait; in the planning of the universe there's nothing left to fate . . . The charted course of all the stars throughout each galaxy . . . must surely be scribed on His chart. for heaven's host to see . . . Write there for everyone who knows . . . that He is in each grain of sand, in every living thing that grows; at sea, in air, and on the land . . . Throughout the ages, they still wait, for finite man, so greedy, so blind, to change his ways while there's still time and build a future for his kind . . . The signs that mark God's way are clear, and soon 'twill be too late through all the years man failed to prove his value, while they wait . . . While heaven's hosts wait patiently, for man to show his worth . . . through man's own greed, more millions die; and looters strip this earth. There's one sure plan, for every man, no life is ruled by fate . . . God marked the route to heaven, where patiently, they wait . . .

said. "Often companies which have good employment policies in one location become some of the most timid and discriminatory in other locations," he asserted and cited as examples Western Electric, General Electric, Lockheed, and the Tele-Company.

The NAACP spokesman opened his testimony with an expression of "deep concern" about the postponement of the hearing which was originally scheduled for January 12. "Past experience," he said, "has shown that this type of postponement alone could deal a fatal blow to chances of consideration of fair employment legislation in this session of the Congress."

Moreover, he pointed out, the Senate Judiciary subcommittee, under guise of holding hearings on a proposal to establish a federal commission on civil rights, attempted "to propose S.1 as a substitute for fair employment legislation with enforcement powers."

In support of S.692, the bill before the Labor Committee with "fair and reasonable enforcement provisions," Mr. White said "it would be useless to have a law that merely calls attention to the problem of discrimination but fails to provide any means for correcting the problem which has been established."

Others testifying in behalf of the bill included Walter Reuther, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt (D., N. The statement further called upon all Negro Americans "to fully make use of the opportunity the amendment affords to make themselves felt in the political life of the nation."
