Physician Runs Into Problem of Buying A Home Here

The housing problems of a well-known Des Moines physician and his family became a matter of discussion Saturday, Sept. 11.

The physician Dr. Clyde R. Bradford, confirmed reports that he had been unable to buy a home he wanted in the Chataqua Park area in Des Moines.

Made Appointment

He said he had an appointment to inspect the home at 2 p.m. last Sunday.

"About 30 minutes before, I received a telephone call from a real estate agent," the doctor said. He informed me that the appointment had been canceled. He said the owner told him he did not want to sell to our family because it might hurt his business."

The transaction did not reach the point where he could make a cash offer, the doctor said. The price was $16,500, which he said he was willing to pay.

Here 20 Years

Dr. Bradford, 49, has practiced 20 years in Des Moines. He is a member of the American Medical Association and the Polk County Medical Society. His office is at 402½ E. Fifth Street. The family lives at 2901 Fifth Avenue. There are two children, 10 and 6.

"My housing problem is difficult," the physician said. "We've been trying for a number of years to get a home, or a piece of ground, in a desirable neighborhood. It has been pretty rough."

Owners Protested

A real estate man said he has received a number of calls from other property owners in the area protesting the proposed sale to Bradford.

The physician has been living in the area part of the time recently. The Bradfords have been part-time occupants of the home of Archie Alexander at 2200 Chataqua Parkway. Alexander was appointed by President Eisenhower to the post of governor of the Virgin Islands.

Des Moines real estate men said this is the first case of its kind to come to their attention in several years.

Rights Commission To Have Full-Time Executive Secretary

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights, which is empowered to investigate complaints of discrimination, still is taking applications for the position of executive secretary.

James B. Morris, chairman of the commission, said after its monthly meeting Monday in the city hall that the commission intended that the executive secretary be employed full time.

Riley Pittman, secretary-consultant of a predecessor commission, worked part-time for a salary of $3,600 a year. The present commission, the first established by ordinance, has more clearly defined duties and organization. Salary of a full-time executive secretary has not been decided, Morris said.

Freedom Sunday Set As Baptists Donate $1,000

St. Louis, Mo.—The National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., in annual session in Kiel auditorium here, voted Sept. 10, a contribution of $1,000 to the NAACP Freedom Campaign and to establish an annual Freedom Sunday in Baptist churches throughout America in honor of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated public schools.

Freedom Sunday will be observed in Baptist churches on the Sunday directly following May 17 each year. The Court's decision on school segregation was issued on May 17 this year.

Collections

The delegation directed that collections taken in Baptist churches on Freedom Sunday be contributed to the Fight for Freedom campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. It specified that the monies be sent to the president of the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A. who will forward the total to the NAACP.

The Fight for Freedom campaign seeks to abolish all racial discrimination and segregation from American life Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

The Baptist delegates took these actions following an address by Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special

Arthur Murray TV Contest Discrimination Attacked

Detroit, Mich.—Charging that the Arthur Murray Television dancing contest "has adhered to rigid policy of racial discrimination," the Detroit NAACP requested the National Broadcasting Company last week to ban the TV program.

The ban was sought after the Murray studios in Detroit refused to accept two Negro winners of free lessons in the tuxedo contest.

They were Mrs. Neugola Rosario, 6009 30th, and Edgar Johnson, Jr., 4136 30th, both of whom were told to present dancing certificates presented by the Murray studios to the counsel who successfully argued the case for integrated public schools before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Dr. J. H. Jackson, Chicago president of the convention presided over the sessions.

Mr. Marshall also addressed the Women's Auxiliary, at which Mrs. Nannie Burroughs, Washington, D. C. presided.

Peter Ford studios which by arrangement were accepting Negro winners.

Arthur L. Johnson, branch executive secretary, accompanied the pair when they appeared last Saturday week at the Murray Studios and were turned away.

The program is carried locally over WWJ-TV on Tuesday nights. In a telegram to NBC, Edward Turner, state NAACP president, and Johnson charged that the Arthur Murray Dancing Studios in Detroit and elsewhere in Michigan "have adhered to a rigid policy of racial discrimination" and has no plans, according to Mr. Russell Wildé, comptroller of the studios, for changing their policy and practices.

"The contests which are conducted over the facilities of NBC television are not intended in the first place to reach Negro viewers of the

NAACP Branches In Mississippi Get Threats, Calls

Brigmanham, Ala.—Efforts to run the NAACP out of the State of Mississippi were reported here this week by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, the Association's Southeast Regional Secretary. Mrs. Hurley described the efforts as "repercussion from the political campaign leading up to the recent primary election in Mississippi."

Action to run the NAACP out of the state was promised by the winner of the Senatorial nomination and several of the legislators in Mississippi, Mrs. Hurley explained.

She said her office has received numerous complaints from NAACP branches in Mississippi describing threatening visits and telephone calls by white persons to branch officers in several sections of Mississippi.

Cause of the lawless threats was laid by Mrs. Hurley to the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to increased interest among Negroes in voting.

"Although our people are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as they might have been a few years ago," she observed.

Mrs. Hurley said she has been assured by the national office of the NAACP that the full resources of the Association will be used to protect Negroes in Mississippi.

County School Head Orders Return to Jimcrow in W. Va.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.—A return to separate schools for white and Negro students in Greenbrier county was ordered Monday night after some 300 students quit classes and marched through the streets with placards reading "No Negroes Wanted in Our Schools."

The end of integration was ordered by D. D. Harrah, county school superintendent following a day-long meeting of the school board with school principals and parents.

The students, about three fourths of the high school enrollment here, stayed away from classes to protest admittance of 25 Negroes to their school under West Virginia's new integration policy.

The county's first trouble came last week when the combined elementary and high school at Rupert was picketed.

Sees 'Evil Consequences' If Maneuvers Are Made to End Mississippi Schools

New York—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Sept. 9, predicted "three evil consequences" if public schools in Mississippi are abolished as a legislative maneuver to avoid compliance with the Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools.

Declaring that "the people and taxpayers of Mississippi are to be pitied for the action of their legislature in voting to abolish public education," Mr. White anticipated these results:

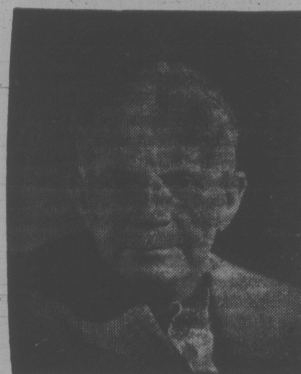

Money Wasted

1. "Many thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money will be wasted in futile legal and administrative actions to flout orderly government in a subversive manner."

2. "Mississippi's educational system, which is the poorest of all American states, will be further disrupted and weakened."

3. "The action of the Mississippi legislature will play directly into the hands of Communist and other enemies of American democracy."

Elaborating on the final point, Mr. White noted: "We can be certain that headlines have been made all over the world by the Mississippi legislature's action, to the great harm of the United States."

WALTER WHITE

The Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated public schools "has done more to raise American prestige than any other act of our generation," he added.

According to United Press report, a state constitutional amendment to permit Mississippi to eliminate its public school system to preserve segregation has received such favorable response in the state legislature as to virtually insure its passage. If the bill is passed it will go to the voters for ratification in December.

D. C. Judge Turns Down Plan to Halt School Segregation

Washington—A federal district judge has turned down a plea to halt plans for racial integration in the Washington public schools.

The action came on a motion for a temporary restraining order filed by the all-white Federation of Citizens' Associations.

Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut denied the motion after hearing some two hours of argument.

The federation had sued to throw out desegregation plans approved by the District of Columbia Board of Education after the Supreme Court held segregation illegal in public schools. Parts of the program already are in operation.

Decision Postponed

The Sept. 9 hearing was on a motion for an immediate order restraining school officials from carrying out the program. The Supreme Court cases which resulted in the decision against segregated schools were brought to the judicial authority by the NAACP.

After Judge Schweinhaut rejected that motion, Assistant Corporation Counsel Milton D. Korman moved for dismissal of the main suit.

The court, however, postponed decision on that motion. Counsel for

Trumbull Park Tenants Say They Will Remain in Homes

Chicago, Ill.—Twenty Negro families residing in Trumbull Park Homes here have announced their intention of remaining in the federally-owned housing project in spite of constant acts of lawless violence against them.

In a joint statement released this week by the Chicago NAACP branch, the Negro tenants declared: "We wish to make it abundantly clear to the community in which we live, the city of Chicago—its citizens and officials—that Trumbull Park is our home, for better or for worse."

Here To Stay

"It is here that we will rear our children," the statement continued, "send them to school, and as good citizens shoulder our responsibilities in helping to better our community, city and nation."

"The forces of bigotry, lawlessness and ignorance shall not deter us from this resolution. . . . In short, this is our home, our community, and we are here to stay—come whatever."

Repeated Bombings

Trumbull Park Homes has been the scene of repeated bombings and other violence by hoodlums since it admitted Negro families last year.

The first Negro family to move into Trumbull Park—the Donald Howards—moved out of the project last spring.

Another Negro family, the Johnsons, recently moved out because Mrs. Johnson's poor health was worsened by the Trumbull Park atmosphere of terror.

The moving of the Johnson family prompted the statement by the other Negro tenants.

In another action this week, the Chicago NAACP branch protested the demolition and subsequent dismissal of Miss Elizabeth Wood from her position as executive secretary of the Chicago Housing Authority. The NAACP unit questioned whether Miss Wood was dismissed from her job because of her stand for racial integration in Chicago Housing Authority projects.

An NAACP delegation which called on Mayor Kennelly and Chicago Housing Coordinator James

Better Breakfasts—Better Grades

Better grades, better work, better attitudes from Better Breakfasts. With vacations over, youngsters going back to school, and everyone back on a schedule, this is the time to establish good eating habits for every member of the family.

For in recent studies at a distinguished medical school of a leading mid-west university, it has been shown that omitting the morning meal may result in the lowering of the mental and physical efficiency of young women, young men, and old men during the late morning hours.

The findings of the newest of these scientific tests, a study conducted with boys 12 to 14 years of age, show that maximum work rate and maximum work output were significantly less in the late morning hours when breakfast was omitted.

From the teachers' observations and records, it was the consensus of the school authorities that the omission of breakfast exerted a significant detrimental effect both on the attitude and scholastic attainment of the boys who followed this practice during the time they were in school.

The subjects showed no significant change in body weight whether they ate no breakfast or a basic cereal breakfast so long as their total caloric intake per day was not changed.

The quickest, easiest, and least expensive of all breakfasts is the cereal breakfast, which is as effective nutritionally as other breakfasts. Using the nationally accepted basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ of the day's total food requirements is provided.

Here's a breakfast to start the day right—baked apple, a large casserole of piping-hot oatmeal with butter melting into it—to be topped with a liberal sprinkling of cinnamon and sugar; milk for cereal and as beverage, and hot muffins. When you eat a basic cereal breakfast like this, you will work better, think better, and be calmer and steeper.

United Campaign

IKE'S FAIR DOLLAR isn't in my wallet, but some of his words are still in my mind. Let me hasten to say that this isn't going to be a political column. I rank myself as an independent.

BUT I LIKE IKE. I have a personal liking for him. He was the top general of SHAEF when I was with the army in Europe. I saw the back of his head in Reims once when I was turning the corner in my jeep. He was at Columbia University when I got my master's degree. I stood six feet away from him as he made his first talk as college president.

ON AUGUST 30th I was among those who saw him pass quickly through the downtown area. He waved briefly in answer to the applause of those lining the street. Then someone in the front seat asked him a question and he bent forward to catch it.

Altogether I've been more impressed by Ike than the only other celebrity I've ever been close to—Dorothy Lamour.

Free World

But I want to write of what he said. Let me quote briefly.

"ALL THIS FREE WORLD needs to be safe is united approach to the problem of security and defense."

"Now this does not mean that we expect every nation, every friend to agree with us, no more than any one family is always in perfect agreement. We do not always expect to agree with them because this is a characteristic of free life. A free family, free city, free state, free world has its arguments. But we adhere to basic principles."

DES MOINES, A FREE CITY in a free country, has a united approach to its health, welfare and recreation problems. We call it the United Campaign and next month the third one gets underway.

But every friend of United Campaign isn't always in perfect agreement either, nor would we expect them to be. People have questions about UC, about the agencies in it, about what UC does and does not do.

Free Citizens

WE ADHERE to basic principles, too. One, that it's a good thing to have this one annual drive for funds instead of the 33 there would otherwise be. Two, that it's equally good for free citizens to support organizations not controlled by the government. Three, that it is inspiring to see thousands of enthusiastic volunteers working for a good cause without pay.

And most of all that each man is his brother's keeper, as the Holy Bible suggests. That is, that it is not only good to give, but right to give.

SOMETHING HAPPENS inside the free person who gives freely. He feels closer to his wife and children. He becomes a brother of his fellow man. He walks the streets thinking "This is my town."

So we'd like to answer your questions about United Campaign. As important as your gift is your understanding of United Campaign, and your approval. Dollars given reluctantly go just as far as those given cheerfully in supporting the 33 UC agencies. But we prefer the latter kind.

Housewife America's Queen for a Day

Los Angeles, Calif.—The legendary "Alice in Wonderland," in all probability, never experienced the fabulous thrill and surprise of Mrs. Louise Barnett when she literally stepped through a looking glass to become America's "Queen For A Day" recently on the nationally popular Old Gold cigarette sponsored 11:30 a.m. daily radio program, by Enicee Jack Bailey.

Lifted from the everyday, hum drum walk of life, Mrs. Barnett suddenly found herself showered with an array of wonderful gifts, lifted into a glamour-filled atmosphere of celebrities and bright lights as she reigned as a "Queen for a full 24-hours."

This royal whirl, as accorded over

2,000 "Queens" before her, came as the result of a wish which Mrs. Barnett voiced when she appeared as a candidate on the world-famous, Old Gold cigarette coast-to-coast "Queen For A Day" radio program.

The wish, voiced with sincerity, told the story of Mrs. Barnett's personal struggle and her love for her husband, who has been confined in the San Fernando Veteran's Hospital since 1949. With lowered eyes and a quiet voice, Mrs. Barnett, a resident of Los Angeles, told of many hardships. Her story was dramatic in its simplicity. Her wish was for a television set for her husband. A television set which represented a luxury that was unbelievably out of reach financially.

Following her interview with master of ceremonies, Mr. Bailey, Mrs. Barnett returned to the Old Gold cigarette "Queen" candidates table and waited, for her wish to come true.

In addition to the TV set, she received such gifts as a fabulous wardrobe, a washing machine, food freezer, garbage disposal unit, vacuum cleaner and many prizes.

Other officers are: Barbara Bettis, vice president; Edith Grant, secretary; Catherine Thompson, assistant secretary; Catherine Moore, social chairman; Evelyn Carter, critic; Clara Wade, reporter.

Other club members not mentioned above are: Ella Mae Burks, Dorothy Sherman, Barbara Kaiser, Hazel Thomas and Esther Wadsworth. Mrs. Burks returned to the city last Thursday after a two weeks vacation in Los Angeles, Cal.

The next meeting will be Sept. 24 with Mrs. Thompson.

St. Mary's Society To Meet Sept. 20

The St. Mary's Home society will hold a potluck dinner meeting Monday evening, Sept. 20, at the home of Mrs. Classy Rogers, 1124 17th street. Mrs. Ruby Cooper is president; Mrs. Vivian E. Brent, reporter. Hancher.

but is opposing the will of God himself.

It is only "at the community level that the goal of equality can be permanently established," he said, and added, "regardless of legal decisions, this can come only through continuing faith and mutual effort."

Restrictions Denounced
Negro "resent the legal restrictions which the South enforces, based on color alone," Phillips said in an address on Booker T. Washington, noted Negro educator who died in 1915.

"It is my honest opinion that if all restrictions were removed Negroes would be content to fraternize with their own group just as other racial entities do," he said. "It's just the idea of being legislated against that makes many Negroes militant."

"My extensive travels throughout the North, East and West reveal that a very small percentage of Negroes and whites develops close friendly relationship even though laws in these areas do not forbid such mingling. New York is fairly democratic, but there is still a Harlem."

"A Christian attitude, backed up by friendly co-operation, will work in the best interest of both races," Phillips said.

Talk by British Pastor
The Rev. Dr. Lord gave the annual Booker T. Washington memorial address at the convention Friday.

"In my own church in London, I preach every Sunday to all races and colors," he said.

"The problem of race relations can be solved when we have true fellowship. The day will come when it won't matter what is the color of your skin or whether your grandfather was a slave. For one day we shall be one in Jesus Christ."

Trained Minister
Negro churches need better trained ministers, the convention was told by the Rev. Dr. E. Luther Cunningham of Philadelphia, Pa., chairman of the Commission on Theological Education.

"Only 11 per cent of our ministers have had college and seminary training," he said.

He said that there are 40,000 National Baptist local churches. Of these, 24,000 are in the rural South, 10,000 in the urban South, and 6,000 in the urban North and West he added.

Rev. Lovell Johnson New Bethel Pastor

REV. LOVELL JOHNSON

As of Sunday, September 12, the Bethel A.M.E. church of Des Moines has had a new pastor. He is the Rev. Lovell Johnson who for the past 20 months has been the associate minister of the Bethel A.M.E. church, Detroit, Mich.

Rev. Johnson succeeds the Rev. Cecil Duke who pastored Bethel for the past two years.

As associate minister at Bethel Detroit, Rev. Mr. Johnson was both the director of christian education and the assistant to the pastor. He comes to Des Moines with a wealth of pastoral experience for his new post.

Preaching 11 Years

Rev. Mr. Johnson has been preaching for the past eleven years. Two and one-half years of that time was spent as assistant chaplain in the U. S. army, where he served with distinction from Hawaii to Korea in World War II. This was with the 521st QM Group.

Most of this time Rev. Mr. Johnson actually did the work of a chaplain as the group was without one.

He received two citations for his work as chaplain. For eight and one-half months Rev. Mr. Johnson served as ADC case worker with the Cook County Welfare Department in Chicago, Ill., where he received high rating from the district supervisor.

For five years Rev. Mr. Johnson attended Wilberforce University and Payne Theological Seminary where he received both the A.B. and B.D. degrees. While at Wilberforce Rev. Mr. Johnson was president of the Christian Endeavor League for three years and organized four Scout units. He also sang with the famous Payne Singers.

Married Here

In June of 1953 Mr. Johnson married the former Marguerite De Sleet who for two years taught in the Des Moines public school system. Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Drake University. They are the proud parents of a baby boy, Lovell Jr. In Des Moines they will make their home at 1524 E. University Avenue.

Rev. Johnson will preach his first sermon at Bethel on Sunday, Sept. 19, at 11 a.m. His subject will be "WHY I CAME TO BETHEL." He invites all of the members and friends of Bethel to be present.

Personal Touch

By MARIE ROSS

It's never safe to mention what the weather is doing. It's more accurate to say what it has been doing—and for the past few days—it has been cool enough for fall coats to come out and blasts to come on in some of the furnaces.

With this chilly spell on, it seems out of season, still to be writing about what went on during the tour of the summer reserve training at Camp McCoy, Wis.

But, the night we spent there last month as guests of the Iowa Military District, I recall that it was cool while it rained, and I slept under a blanket in a little room at one of the guest houses.

The camp seemed quite and restful as night fell. The day had been full. It started in Des Moines at 5 a.m., when I arose to finish packing and get ready to board the plane that left at 9 a.m. for Camp McCoy, and ended that evening about 8 o'clock, when I began to retire after touring many miles of the army reserve summer training camp.

At intervals, that night, could be heard the distant put-put-put sound from a machine gun being fired by night training field units. Then dawn arrived.

Not a sound was stirring in the guest house at 5 o'clock when I arose. The colonel in charge of the artillery group of Iowa visitors had informed that breakfast would be at 6 a. m. and that a post car would pick me up in time to join the men at the mess hall.

Realizing that I had about an hour to dress, I threw on my house coat, grabbed my utility bag and started for the washroom down the hallway.

I hadn't bothered much about the door to my room which had a yale lock on the inside and a padlock on the outside, because I had been given the key to the padlock. So I left my door partly open while I was in the women's room. When I returned the door had closed—the yale lock had locked and there I stood in the hallway looking out at that quiet hour.

Luckily, the couple in charge of the guest house resided across the hall and there was nothing left to do but to awaken them. After hammering on their door for minutes, a sleepy-eyed man stuck out his head and listened, then went to the kitchen, got a long butcher knife and a hammer and began to pry open the lock through the moulding of the door. He banged and banged and in and not waste their training; to urge 17-year-olds to come in and serve, three years before being drafted; to help cut down juvenile delinquency by urging the youth to come in for training; to urge employers to make it as easy as possible for the men in the reserve to discharge their obligations.

Then the air force plane took off and two hours later we were back at the National Guard airport—home again.

Much more could be written about the summer training army reserve camp tour, but the season is changing and fall will have officially arrived when the next column goes to press.

I have been showing with much pride a little gif from some Iowa vacationers who went to the west coast, stopped in Santa Cruz, Calif., "where the Redwoods meet the sea," and sent back greetings.

The tiny souvenir, is a viewer on a key chain which reveals a colorful interpretation of Leonardo da Vinci's famous painting of "The Last Supper."

Thanks to Mrs. Ethelda Robinson, 1143 Fourteenth street place, and her two small daughters for their remembrance.

Guns were booming as we neared the area. As we left our cars for close-ups, an officer suggested that we open our mouths to avoid that jarring effect when the guns fired.

We watched the units, looked at the guns, inspected the shells, listened to firing orders being shouted and repeated: "Deflation 2785; Elevation 248; Set! Fire! then boom went the heavy gun firing at some target five or six miles away.

Our party left this area, boarded our cars and rode miles to another area where we transferred to jeeps in order to climb a rugged mountain-like hill for the observation post where other units were busy, checking the results of the firing groups below. There we looked through field glasses, binoculars and periscopes to see the targets, six miles away; watched the observation post crews draw diagrams on blackboards to show how far the shells were on or off the targets. Then I began to realize how important mathematics—algebra, geometry and logarithm are to the operation of the army.

Well, our morning and early afternoon went pretty much like that with other visitors going to other parts of the camp. Before time to board the afternoon plane back to Des Moines, there was mess again and greetings from Commander George H. Olmsted who told us what we could do for the army reserve training program.

He urged the visitors to help create public opinion in favor of reserve training so that the men who have had active duty will come back in and not waste their training; to urge 17-year-olds to come in and serve, three years before being drafted; to help cut down juvenile delinquency by urging the youth to come in for training; to urge employers to make it as easy as possible for the men in the reserve to discharge their obligations.

Then the air force plane took off and two hours later we were back at the National Guard airport—home again.

DISRESPECT FOR LAW AND ORDER IS SERIOUS

It was to be expected that all kinds of problems would arise as various communities tackled desegregation in their public schools.

Two instances have been noted where local boards instituted their program only to be met by such violence from high school pupils and parents that the boards reversed themselves and went back to the old system.

Next month, the U. S. Supreme Court will hear arguments and suggestions from such states and parties of record as will appear as to the best method of carrying out the decision which when decided upon, will no doubt apply to all alike.

There have been suggestions that local communities might be left to institute desegregation as they saw fit. This, of course, is preposterous for such arrangement would create nothing but confusion. On the other hand, some would never make an honest effort to comply.

The action of students in taking the law into their own hands is simply mob violence, a disregard for law and order and a blot on the people of their respective communities.

It is an example of the sit-down strikes by labor unions during the 1930's the use of force by individuals seeking to keep Negroes from moving neighborhoods and the violence against property and individuals witnessed in some strikes today.

Disrespect for one law creates disrespect for another. For this reason, the so-called lawabiding citizens of a community are equally as guilty as the lawless if they sit idly by and make no substantial effort to have them see the light. And we are not so sure but that the so-called good people have winked at this lawlessness.

DES MOINES BRUINS HAS GOOD SEASON

Last Saturday, baseball fans honored the Des Moines Bruins team. Special events including a foot race, sack race, long distance batting and throwing between members of the Sioux City and Des Moines teams preceded the regular game and provided the fans with much fine entertainment.

When the Bruins came home last spring, Manager Les Peden promised the fans that he had a fine aggregation of players and that Des Moines could count on a good team.

Peden and his men made good on his pledge. Throughout the season, the team played an excellent game and the people gave excellent support.

In fact, the attendance has been better than that of several years due to a great extent to the excellent showing made by the team and the stronger desire of the fans to give them all-out support.

Denver won the Western League pennant with Des Moines winding up in second spot.

It has been gratifying to witness Solly Drake's popularity with the crowd. He is an excellent player and the fans honored him with that in view, which emphasizes that given an opportunity athletic fans honor any participant who does a good job in his assignment.

Solly told the Bystander on many occasions that he has found the other men on the team to be clean fine fellows.

In years gone by, many a fellow was denied a chance because those in authority feared that their patrons would resent him. However, many business institutions as well as athletic projects have exploded the myth. The argument does not stand up certainly in communities like Des Moines which have more and more come to extend opportunities on the basis of merit alone.

The Bystander congratulates the Des Moines Bruins on their excellent season and hopes that the boys will be back another year with the same spirit to win the highest laurels. It congratulates the fans who came out and gave the team consistently good support. It takes a good team and sports-minded people to produce a successful season and that is just what Des Moines has had in 1954.

Halt D. C. School Integration Ban

The federation contended it was a question to be taken up later.

A major contention in the federation's suit is that the education board acted illegally in starting integration before there is a final Supreme Court decree spelling out the order to drop racial bars.

More Hardship

In rejecting the plea for a temporary order, Judge Schweinhaut said there would be more hardship in halting the plans already under way than there would be for a comparatively few people in allowing them to go ahead.

David C. Colladay, federation attorney, said he realizes that the Supreme Court can only give a board outline of desegregation plans and that details for elimination of separate schools for Negroes and whites must be left to local authorities. But, he added, the district board should await further word from the Supreme Court in view of the fact the highest court has invited additional argument on how to go about abandoning the dual school system.

Mr. Korman told the court that to halt integration plans now in the national capital would bring about "utter chaos."

Registration was carried out Sept. 8 for the first integrated classes which started Sept. 13.

Mrs. Annie Moss Gets Hearing September 20

Washington, D. C.—(CNS)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, who is fighting against "new charges" by the Army that she is a communist, will get her hearing on September 20.

According to the army, the major new charge against Mrs. Moss consists of a report that she had been given a Communist Party membership book, number 37269 for 1943. This charge, along with six other ones caused her to be suspended again from her $3,335 clerk job without pay. She was allowed 30 days in which to file answers to the charges.

Mrs. Moss will give her arguments at her hearing which is scheduled to be at Ft. McNair. Twice before this middle-aged woman has appeared before other loyalty boards on substantially the same charges and both times was cleared and reinstated to her job.

Her attorney, George E. C. Hayes, says that these latest charges against her are the same as before. He has admitted that one or two new details such as the book number had been added but still he felt his client would be cleared as before.

Discrimination Hit in Detroit—Dancing Studio TV

Arthur Murray program on an equal basis. It is quite obvious, therefore, that NBC cannot escape sharing a large part of the burden for the resultant discrimination in various local communities.

"This situation constitutes a grave offense to the good practices code of the television industry. Under the circumstances, we are impelled to demand in the interest of decency and fair play that televising of the Arthur Murray dancing contests be discontinued immediately until such time that the opportunities offered are available to all citizens without regard to race or color."

HEALTH FOR ALL

"What, Never?"

"Well, hardly ever." Even the Captain of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore" occasionally suffered the pangs of sea sickness. You don't die of this horrible malady. You only wish you would.

The fact is that modern science instead of controlling sea sickness, has caused it to become more widespread. More and more ways of traveling have been invented, and more and more people are going places. It is now known that isn't only sea travel that brings on that awful feeling on the pit of the stomach. Planes, trains, and cars can also be the villains. We've had to change the name to "motion sickness."

Experiments

In wartime experiments thousands of military personnel suffered in the cause of science by being jounced in swings, spun in tilting chairs, flown through turbulent air, and bounced about in small boats in rough water. One result of their sacrifice has been a precise definition of the signs of motion sickness: drowsiness, pallor, cold sweating, salivation and swallowing, nausea and vomiting, appearing in that order.

Among other things learned was the fact that motion sickness is not "just your imagination." It's always caused by motion, even in the classic case of the old lady who got sick before the ship left the dock. Boats do move while tied up. Inexperienced travelers were found to be more susceptible, but really rough travel will make 9 out of 10 persons sick.

Drugs Found

The wartime studies also showed that motion sickness is a problem for the doctor and pharmacologist as well as for the engineer. Shock absorbers, gyroscopes, and other devices to stabilize the equilibrium of vehicles aren't enough. Some types of motion are almost impossible to abolish mechanically.

In recent years drug compounds have been found to protect the passenger with some success, providing him with an internal "stabilizer." Physicians today can prescribe several remedies almost as effective as the sailor's favorite—"go sit under a tree."

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

We sat in the Drake Stadium and watched the Cerebral Palsy football game between the six high schools. We thought the teams don't play this one for keeps the way they used to. It is a grand project for a great and worthy cause. But last year and this year it seemed as if the teams played with their next game in mind.

The North, Tech part of the deal looked like the only part of the game in which the players really went to it. But, then we guess as long as the game brings in money for the cause, as it does, we will have to see it.

Once more we watched Coach Archie Johnson's Roosevelt High team turn out a flock of fast alert backs behind a big mobile line and we can't see anyone beating them.

Then we see East High looking not as big and with one exception, not nearly as fast without the apparent well drilled line and we just can't see them beating Roosevelt. But, for two years, they have, when we thought they wouldn't.

Because I fly, somehow I know of many unseen things. Some Greatness, somewhere, talks to me, and other men with wings.

Once man has flown, a realm unknown, presents itself to view. It seems the sky, and all on high, is talking, just to you.

When freed from earthly dirt and grime up in the stratosphere, the heart and mind are freed of stress, that's where your soul can hear. The Voice above, and all His host are in all things we see, to hear Him speaking the heart, tune in the E. S. P.

All groundlings, hear the call to arms, from all the Saints on high. Prepare to battle for the right join those who'll never die. Because I fly, I pray for all for every race, the slaves, the free; that they may see, the glory He has given them, and you, and me. Glenn A. Gallagher.

Jackie To Go Though Brooks Will Keep Rookie Manager

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS)—About the biggest rumor out now is that Jackie Robinson, who put Brooklyn on the map in his own fashion, is slated to get the axe comes the end of the season. And at the same time, the man who has his share in causing the Dodgers to trail behind the Giants all season long—rookie manager Walter Alston, is slated to get the nod as next year's pilot.

Consistently Boored

The undercurrent is that Walter O'Malley, prey of the Dodgers, feels that Jackie's usefulness is at an end to the team and to the gate. He's being consistently boored not only on the road but soundly by Brooklyn fans. To O'Malley, a pretty fair businessman (until he decided to fire Chuck Dressen last year and save money), Jackie certainly can't help at the box office.

Physically, Jackie's been having his miseries. Still he's playing as hard as he can and does have a .316 average. But the rumor has it that "hot or cold, Jackie will go."

As to rookie manager, Walter Alston, O'Malley feels he's done the best job possible with what he had. And also that Alston can do a good job overhauling the club. Whether this holds, only time will tell. So far, Jackie has made no comment. Nor has Alston.

Out of the Living Past—'The Negro'

by MARION E. HOCKENHULL

We have seen that the civilization of the African people was the foundation for the rest of the world to travel upon.

We have mentioned their good contributions and their bad ones. So now let's walk, ride or paddle to other parts of the continent of Africa and talk about some of the natives as we move on one way or the other.

There is a short street in Damascus which is called "straight" but is a very long way from being so. First, Damascus is one of the old cities of Syria, and, of course, everyone knows that Syria is in the continent of Africa.

We shall pause a while and watch the people as they parade up and down "Straight Street," which reminds one of two other streets many hundred miles from Africa. That is Maxwell Street and Fourteenth Street in Chicago, Ill. But just the same the street called "Straight," which is not straight, has many things of interest.

There is the wood-turner of Damascus, the Egyptian, who looks like a man of Turkey or one of his brothers of North America—the Afro-American. The everpassing throng of people coming and going on "Straight Street" stops and watches him turning the stick with a bow and a loose string while holding the chisel with his toes. This is a primitive bucksaw, turning a log into wooden
