Board to Hold Full Dress Review of Firing of Janitor

The Polk County board of supervisors voted Tuesday to hold a full-dress review Nov. 4 of the firing of Chester Jones, courthouse janitor. Jones was discharged Sept. 29 by Custodian Jack Maloy for insubordination after the janitor, with authority, took a time off to watch a televised World Series baseball game.

The supervisor's decision to review the case was made after a letter was filed with the board from Volney Diltz, Jones' attorney.

Diltz said Jones had asked Maloy for time off without pay to watch the baseball game. When Maloy refused to give him permission, Jones took time to watch the game anyway. He was subsequently fired.

Jones had been a county employee since 1931, Diltz said. The attorney added that he was "of the opinion that the discharge resulted from a personal animosity on the part of Maloy."

Representative Parker To Call For Post- Election Conference

State Representative Paul Parker (Republican, Polk County) announced Oct. 23 that he intends to call for a post election state-wide conference of all Iowa legislators interested in reapportionment.

Speaking in the Fifth District Caravan at Ankeny, Iowa, Paul Parker said that such a conference would enable the advocates of reapportionment to draft one bill suitable to all.

"In the 55th General Assembly," Parker said, "there were several different proposals, all embracing the principles of reapportionment. We who believe in reapportionment must join together before the next meeting of the legislature and agree among ourselves as to a specific program of action."

'Impressed' Visitors Return To Capital

New Rochelle, N. Y.—(CNS)—Six young white high school students—reared in Washington's formerly traditional segregated school—left New York this week a little wiser on the ways of integration and how simple it can happen.

The youngsters—four boys and two girls—are hoping they can ideas—a little more lenient back home." They all agreed that integration was most successful because Negro students were not banned from fraternities and clubs here. They, however, doubted this would work out in Washington—especially in the four high schools they came from which recently went on strike.

Lit Match

"I don't know what happened," Mrs. Randle said, "but I believe Shirley must have turned the gas on, then got on a chair to reach the matches on a shelf above the stove. She probably lit a match while she was still standing on the chair and the accumulated gas exploded. She probably wanted to warm a cup of coffee for me so I'd have it when I got home."

"I always told her not to light the stove when I wasn't around."

Parents Say Newly Drawn Boundary Lines Segregate Negro School Population

Trenton, N. J.—The first public hearing under the New Jersey Anti-discrimination law, since the Supreme Court decision outlawing Jim Crow schools began here Oct. 20, with the airing of complaints of two Negro parents against the Englewood Board of Education.

The parents charged the Englewood school board with fixing the school zone boundaries to include most of the city's Negro population in one zone, thereby forcing the Negro pupils to attend a segregated school.

The hearing was conducted by State Commissioner of Education, Dr. Frederick Raubinger, and held in the State House Annex.

The parents, Mrs. Susan Anderson and Mrs. Mary Walker, were represented by Mrs. Constance Baker Motley and Jack Greenberg of the NAACP Legal Defense staff and Leonard Williams, NAACP attorney of Trenton. New Jersey Deputy Attorney General Thomas Cook presented the case for the state and the parents.

Boundary Lines

Witnesses for the Negro parents testified that the newly drawn boundary lines segregate the Negro school population into one school, the Lincoln School, located in the 4th ward where the majority of the city's Negro population lives.

Dr. John Milligan, Deputy Commissioner of Education and Director of the New Jersey Division Against Discrimination, held that the new boundary lines were not drawn in the best interest of the anti-segregation policy of the New Jersey Anti-discrimination law. He testified that there is only one white student in the Lincoln Junior High School of one hundred thirty Negro students. The Engle Street Junior High School has more than 500 students of which about 10 per cent are Negro.

Two Junior Highs

Dr. Milligan pointed out that if the whole population in the area was white there would not be two junior high schools since it would be "uneconomical to have two junior high schools so close to each other, one of which had a very small student body. A single junior high school, accommodating 1,000 pupils, could very well take care of the community, he said.

The Lincoln elementary school is under capacity. The Cleveland elementary school is overcrowded. The boundary lines were drawn, the

Jamaica's Prime Minister Charges Reds Causing Bias To Grow in English Cities

London, England.—(CNS)—William Bustamante, Jamaica's fiery Prime Minister, who's here to represent the West Indies on trade discussions for the Commonwealth, has charged that the Communists are the cause of the growing race prejudice in London and other major English cities.

Bustamante says that a Communist organization is behind the agitation with the hope of stirring up trouble in Britain and the home territories as the West Indies and West Africa, from where the growing influx of Negroes is coming.

However the cause, the growing tension is very apparent. A parliamentary move to control immigration into Britain has been launched by Marcus Lipton, M. P. for the Briton area which has increased its Negro population from 800 to 3,000 in the last three years. More and more pubs, restaurants and hotels are discriminating against Negro patrons particularly in the poorer areas. Recently "Keep Britain White" leaflets have been shoved under doors and distributed on the streets.

Teachers College. He was beginning on his second year as a teacher in the local schools and was in charge of music at the Crosby-Garfield School. His parents are reported to be living in Pleasantville, New Jersey. His body was shipped to the New Jersey town on Wednesday, where it is reported that funeral services will be held.

Greet The Spooks On Their Own Terms

There's no better way to satisfy the "spirits" that roam on Halloween than with a piece of Devil's Food Cake. A family favorite it is, but one that prankish pumpkin faces can quickly transform into a spook's delight. In its dark, rich chocolate depths lie powers of witchcraft to tempt young and old alike.

HALLOWEEN DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk

With butter, margarine, or lard, use 1 cup milk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Then add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla; blend.

Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting

9 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Cream together butter, salt, and vanilla. Add sugar, alternately with egg whites, beating well.

Pour into three 8-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes, or until done.

Decorating: Spread Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Outline pumpkin faces on top of cake with a toothpick dipped in melted unsweetened chocolate.

Soap Is Better Than Chalk For Halloween

A happy idea for Halloween is to get the children to substitute soap for chalk. Then when they scrawl all over the windows and outside walls, they are inadvertently helping to clean up the premises! Why wash your windows when you might get the kids to soap them for you?

Rev. E. G. Scott Tells Corinthian Men of 'The Finger of God'

"It is a dangerous thing to cry holy on Sunday and cry hell on Monday," the Rev. E. Gladstone Scott of Lansing, Mich., spoke Sunday afternoon as he delivered a Men's Day message at Corinthian Baptist church.

The former Iowa minister who pastors the Friendship Baptist church in Lansing, chose for his subject, "The Finger of God—in Creation, in Judgment and in Grace."

"We are not God-conscious because we don't listen to the word of God; and, any person who is God-conscious will take heed to the finger of conscience shown in this book," he said as he pointed to the Bible.

"Try to make it without God and you run into a dead end street," the Rev. Mr. Scott told his listeners.

Criticizing some of the many racial prejudices, the Rev. Mr. Scott referred to recent tornadoes as the "finger of God being raised."

"Every now and then God has to go down South and make a path," the Rev. Mr. Scott said "you cannot participate in the holy things of God and live a damnable life."

"Some of us like to have the 'finger of the glasses with their ice cubes and drinks out on the boulevards. You know, when we make 'a toast to you,' he said as he raised a water glass to his mouth.

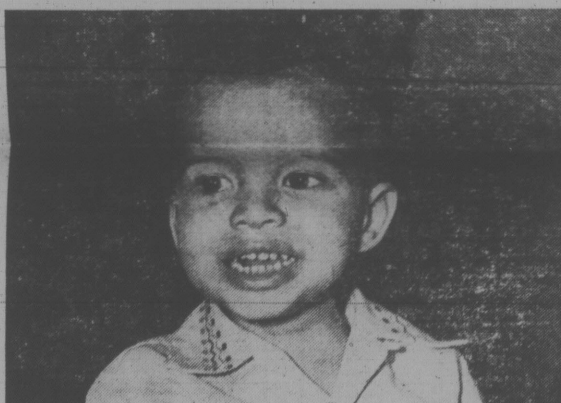

Then he added: "I've seen the boys in the alleys drunk. I call them the bottle squad. What is the difference? When both of you are drunk, you are in the same class," he declared.

The Rev. Mr. Scott addressed the Sunday evening men's meeting, after which the men's made their financial report, turning in $1,000, and topping the woman's day proceeds of $834, the Rev. N. R. Olphin, pastor revealed.

Refusing to Obey Supreme Court's Ruling is Subversive, Says Bishop Oxnham

Cleveland, Ohio—Bishop G. Bromley Oxnham of Washington, D. C., in an address to the 3,000 delegates who attended the Methodist church's national conference on family life that met here October 8-10, declared that resorting to violence in refusing to obey the supreme court's ruling against segregation in schools is subversive.

The outspoken Methodist prelate, who appeared voluntarily before a congressional committee last year to clear himself of charges of alleged subversion, said the reaction to the court's ruling that Negroes and whites can not be segregated in the nation's schools was "heartening beyond expression."

"But," he continued, "there are those among us who advocate disobedience to the law, who stand ready to use force to prohibit its execution." After commenting that, "surely a man has the unsegregated right to earn his living upon the basis of his character and his capacity, not upon the basis of his color," the bishop said those ready to use violence against the decision "apparently do not know that disobedience of the law leads to anarchy."

"Resort to violence and refusal to obey the law is subversive," he continued, "and does more to undermine democratic government than any traitor Communist can do."

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Seeing Things Straight

We were talking about Halloween bugaboos, down at the store . . . and that reminded Bill Simpson of a scare his grandson had the other night.

"Sat up in bed and yelled to his ma there was a ghost by the dresser," Bill chuckled. "It was his own shirt hanging over a chair."

It's funny how things we were afraid of as kids fade into insignificance with knowledge and understanding. Seeing things in their right light is a part of growing up. Maybe we don't always see eye to eye with our neighbors, but we recognize the other fellow's right to his point of view.

For example, along about this time of year some folks put on long underwear. Others keep theirs short and lightweight. It's a matter of personal choice, that's all. Like a preference for pork chops or steak . . . detective plays or comedy on television . . . pop or a temperate glass of beer.

Like I said, maybe we can't always see things from the other fellow's point of view . . . but let's never lose sight of his right to have them.

Attorney Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the NAACP, will address remarks to the group, as will Marion Wright, president of the State Conference. The main address will be delivered by Judge Waring.

Campy's Second Operation Encouraging

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS)—Convalescing the second day after his second operation on his left hand, Dodger catcher Roy Campanella reported: "I've been trying it today and there's some life in the fingers. It's very encouraging."

The second operation, which Campy insisted on, was to free a tangled nerve in the left hand. He's resting now at Queens Memorial Hospital. Roy has already started to devise a careful schedule to get back his full strength. First he plans to get to his favorite resort Hot Springs, Ark. He'll be there several weeks before the Dodgers officially break camp for spring training.

"I'm not going to pick up ball or bat till then, though," commented Campy. "That doctor wants me to move the fingers as much as I can right away, to sort of keep them limber."

We don't have to tell you about Ray Harrison. Practically everyone is acquainted with or has heard about Ray. He is more than qualified for the position of Polk County Attorney by virtue of his 25 years legal experience; his long record of unselfish help to his downtrodden and unfortunate fellow-man; his Christian attitude of Justice tempered with understanding charity; his many contributions to the public service of his community. We don't have to tell you what an asset he'll be to the County. We just want to remind you to vote for him November 2nd.

Let's put a RAY of sunshine in the Polk County Attorney's Office.

Milwaukee Couple Spends Vacation Here

MR. LEE STANTON

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stanton, Milwaukee, Wis., left the city Monday morning after having spent a three weeks vacation here with relatives and friends.

They were guests of his brother, Mr. George Stanton, at the home of Mrs. Blanch Bonham, 1024 Seventeenth street; visited a sister, Mrs. H. Hawkins, 1370 E. Eighteenth; and were guests of Mrs. Katie Chatman.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton who were married 33 years ago in Des Moines, have resided in Milwaukee about 30 years.

Mr. Stanton is a former Buxton, Ia., coal miner. Born in Shelbyville, Mo., he came to Iowa in 1902 and left in 1922 after living in Des Moines two years. Then he moved to Minneapolis for two years.

Mrs. Oprahha Stanton, native of Fishville, Ia., was reared in Des Moines.

Mr. Lee Stanton, janitor at the Hell Company, one of the large heavy machinery manufacturing plants in Milwaukee, is shown pushing a two wheel truck that holds some of the cleaning equipment he uses around the spacious plant where a stream of motorized trucks moves constantly.

As a safety measure to protect his life "and the life of the other fellow," Mr. Stanton invented green and red safety flags, attached to the side of his truck, which lets the truck drivers know that it is safe to travel on the side of the plant where he is working.

Mr. Stanton said the company which makes road machinery, trailer tanks, farm dehydrators, cable dozers, furnaces, boilers, and other heavy articles, hires about 15,000 employees, many of whom are Negroes. He said, though the company has not recognized his safety device, he has received praise from the truck drivers and employees and has been awarded other commendation from the company.

Hallowe'en Excitement Soon Will Be Here With Ghosts, Witches and Beggars

Hallowe'en excitement will soon be with us with its ghosts and witches and beggars. At this time we may see good examples in many communities of a better kind of constructive discipline. It is discipline by having something to do.

Parades, parties, contests, lots of organized and supervised fun have largely taken the place of lawless amusement. Because such constructive programs destruction of property on Hallowe'en has been greatly reduced.

High School skip days and all night reels on graduation night seem now to be the thing. While these escapades are for the most part innocent enough, they can be dangerous. There have been serious accidents with the excited youngsters driving at high speeds late at night.

Meeting Problem

In a number of places the parents and schools are meeting the problem by giving the young people something else to do. They provide all-night entertainment with plenty of Cokes and hot dogs in the "wee, small hours" of the big night. In the Iowa City High School, for example, the parents staged a show dressed in their sons' and daughters' clothes. They "took off" their own children in a clever skit. It came as a complete surprise to the kids who howled with approval. After the play there was dancing and other lively doings plus hot dogs and Cokes. The parents were practically dead on their feet by 4 a.m.—but their youngsters were still alive. No automobile accidents that night.

Watch the newspapers next spring. You will see reports here and there from communities with ingenious ideas for giving youth something better to do than reckless, aimless driving about the countryside on graduation night.

Then there are the recreation centers which provide continuous constructive outlets for youth's spare time energy. An able—and well paid—recreation director is worth more than the cost in money to the community.

Giving youth something to do provides better discipline than telling them what not to do.

The 'Mambo U.S.A.' Comes To KRNT Monday, Nov. 8

Every once in a while a musical rhythm creates a new dance craze which rocks the country from coast to coast. The "Mambo USA" show which comes to KRNT Theater on Monday, November 8 for one performance is dedicated to the mambo and rumba tempos that have made the Mambo and the Rumba the most popular dances of the fifties. In keeping with this thought, the "Mambo USA" show has gathered together the outstanding Latin-American stars of music, song and dance and have assembled them in a neatly packaged show.

The music that started this dance craze will be aptly presented by Joe Loco & His Quintet, Machito & His Orchestra, Carlos Ramirez, The Facunda Rivero Quintet.

The authentic Latin dances will be demonstrated by the Arthur Murray Dancers plus the world's finest mambo-rumba dance teams who will dance the mambo and the rumba as they should be danced.

All this plus the versatile comedy of Tun Tun which has gained him the title of the "Prince of Mirth".

Billy Eckstine in 'Biggest Show' at KRNT Oct. 30

Billy Eckstine, fresh from his European triumphs and Peggy Lee, with the plaudits of the movie critics for her work in Warner Bros. Technicolor production of "The Jazz Singer" still ringing in her ears, burner motors, freezers, electric ranges, radios and other small electrical appliances. Units for this service range in power output from 1,000 to 10,000 watts and are driven by gasoline engines or by power take-offs from farm tractors.

have teamed together for the first time in their famous careers as the stars of "The Biggest Show of '54" which will be at KRNT Theater on Sat. Oct. 30, at 8:30 p. m.

While Billy Eckstine has appeared in concerts for the past eight years, this tour marks the first time in over 10 years that Peggy Lee has made a personal appearance outside of a theatre. Mr. B's concert tours in the past have been tremendously successful, and with the addition of Peggy Lee for this years tour, it is certain that all past box office records will be shattered.

The music that will be played behind these great vocalists is of the utmost of importance and both Peggy and Billy were anxious to obtain the best aggregation possible. Therefore, this chore fell to none other than Pete Rugolo and his orchestra—the group that is famed for its "Expositions In Jazz". Pete has won every poll at the top arranger for the last five years and undoubtedly is responsible for many of Stan Kenton's successes.

In addition to Peggy, Billy and Pete the cast of "The Biggest Show of '54" also included The Drifters, the famous quartette whose recording of "Money Honey" monopolized the juke boxes during this year, the comedy of the Slate Brothers, the hilarious pantomime of The Three Arnauts and the dancing of the Bill Robinson on skates, Harold King.

Fall colors are at their peak now, but the masses of red and gold in Iowa woodlands won't last long. Conservation Commission foresters said this week.

Mrs. A. A. Alexander Tells of Life As First Lady in the Virgin Islands; 'Never Dull Moment in Government House'

MRS. A. A. ALEXANDER

Mr. Archie A. Alexander, wife of Governor Alexander of the Virgin Islands, is spending several weeks at her Des Moines home.

BY MARIE ROSS

Back in Des Moines after six months in the Virgin Islands where her famed engineer-contractor husband is governor, Mrs. A. A. Alexander has been supervising the moving of furniture from her Old English style home at 2200 Chautauqua park way and making arrangements for a caretaker to occupy it during their absence.

She expects to return to the islands before the middle of November.

Governor Alexander, who came with her as far as Miami, Fla., was due back in the Virgin Islands this week. He went to Washington, D. C., on official business; then to New York City for a meeting of the trustees of Tuskegee Institute; and on Tuesday was honored there at a dinner by Gardner Cowles.

Answering Questions

While home, Mrs. Alexander, still packing, shopping and keeping appointments with her dressmaker, is busy answering questions about her life in the Virgin Islands.

The most frequent question is: "What is your life like as the first lady of the island?"

Mrs. Alexander smiled when I repeated the question, then she leaned back in one of the easy chairs left

I asked. Cecil Brewton, coming from his work at Broadlawn hospital said: "You'll have to sit my new garage and barbeque pit, I built all by myself."

Dora Mackay, seated in one of the downtown shoe departments: "I'm resting while Midge Cole browses over the shoe tables."

Mrs. Katherine Stewart with a bouquet of red oak leaves: "Oh, the trees are so beautiful all over town."

Mrs. Clara Fant, strolling to a shop: "Kid, I have a darling apartment."

Mrs. Verla Lewis of Burlington, changing shoes here at the home of a friend: "My feet are killing me."

Mr. Tom Lewis of Burlington, watching his wife: "I know what's good for that. Guaranteed to get rid of corns."

Mr. Lewis: "For nine mornings, before you say a word to anyone, put the toe that hurts in your mouth, or rub saliva on it. Guaranteed."

Asst. County Attorney Luther Glanton, Jr., at the court house: "I'm on the tubby hubby diet—and I've lost ten pounds."

Mrs. Alta Coleman: "I'm on my way to North High School—Inter-racial Commission meeting night."

Mrs. A. A. Alexander, at home here after the furniture packers left: "Oh, the moving men packed my writing paper and my check book."

Mrs. Vera Morrow, home for a week end from St. Louis: "I'm going to Poro college. Jim (her barber husband) and I have a plan."

Dr. Lewis James: "I read your column every week." Thanks!

Cpl. Leroy Miller Guest of the Johnsons

Cpl. Leroy Miller of Cedar Rapids, Ia., back in Iowa after having spent two years in military services in Tokyo, Japan, is house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson.

Birthday Party For Pamela Jo Taylor, 6 Years Old

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Taylor of 930 Fourteenth place gave a birthday party for their daughter, Pamela Jo, Sunday, Oct. 17. She was six years old on Oct. 15. Art work and games were features. Pictures were taken by Mr. Vernon Ashford. Mrs. Edna Ruth Barrow refereed the entertainment.

After refreshments, many gifts were opened by Pamela Jo. Cards, basket of apples and balloons were given to the guests.

Attending were: Paula Perkins, Patricia Howe, Marsha Burrell, Tanya Daniels, Ruth and Sharon Banks, Kathleen Fowler, Gale Manuel, Edith Brewer, Virginia Houston, Neal Williams, Luck Greenfield, Michael Burrell, Georgie Banks and Bruce Taylor.

dress will be coming to pick up the laundry; or, the maids could be in a wrangle.

"There is never dull moment and it's something different all of the time," she commented, adding that the variety has been "so interesting" and her program "so busy" that she has not had the time to write to her many friends back home.

"Another note may inform me that we are expect a government official from Washington and then the guest house has to be made ready; or, we will have to take someone to dinner that night."

If there is anyone who enjoys the role of hostess, it is Mrs. Alexander who has entertained many many guests in her Des Moines home. "During the summer, the Mutual Insurance Company of New York brought to the Virgin Islands a group of 40 or 50 people. I had to act as the official hostess because the governor was out of the city."

A Moment of Rest

Mrs. Alexander revealed that "generally after dinner at night is the only time that I have a moment for myself. During this summer it was dreadfully hot and I would sit out on a patio and look at the lights across the bay, and say, as I watched the moon and the stars, that they are shining over Iowa, too."

Born in Cook County, Neb., in what she described as a "thatched-roof mud hut out on a claim," the first lady of the Virgin Islands said "never did I dream that I would be managing the social and household affairs in a government house."

'Wasn't Easy'

"It wasn't easy at first when I went to the government house. I had to win over the servants. It was natural for them to resent me. They had been on their jobs a number of years and they thought that because I was a new first lady, coming from the United States, I would fire them. "But, the other day, the cook came to me and said: 'you are a god-send to the islands.' The other day, one of the daily papers carried a story which quoted the help as saying how much they like me and that 'the governor's wife pitches right in and helps us.' One of the servants asked me to be a god-mother to her baby and I accepted," Mrs. Alexander said. She revealed that eleven servants are attached to the government house, four to the governor's office, and seven to her quarters.

Mrs. Hendricks Honored At Hankie Shower By Purple Cross Nurses Unit

servants gave her a list of items to bring back to them and aside from the first lady's personal shopping, she has done some for her help, buying several bright-colored boulevard umbrellas, raincoat, necklace, polo shirt, dress goods. She revealed that yards goods for dresses cannot be purchased in the shops there. The better shops carry the material but "they let you pick your pattern and make the dress for you, costing about doubly what you would pay for it here."

"Everything costs about twice as much as it does here," she informed. The first lady revealed that she did most of the shopping for food used at the government house; and then, the chauffeur accompanies her for shopping.

"You can get all of the fancy foods there, but there are times when you can't get an egg. The farms are run mainly by the French people. The natives do not go in for farming, and there is a milk shortage," she noted.

"Recently I found some canned whole milk that comes from Denmark. It does not have to be under refrigeration until opened."

Depend upon Ships

"We depend upon the ships for the fresh vegetables; but, there is a central market where only the natives get there early enough to get the fresh vegetables from the hills."

"There is one central grocery store I depend upon and you do much better if you have a charge account with them. Then, they will let you see the list of foods to be imported and permit you to check the items you want."

"Especially do I miss lettuce and celery; and for the governor who cares nothing for lettuce, he gets a very little to decorate his salads," the first lady laughed.

She said she found a melon from Puerto Rico and that meat comes from the United States and Venezuela.

"haven't been able to get a rolled roast nor short ribs of beef. I've found good steaks but for three medium-sized ones, the cost was eleven dollars."

Busy Season

When Mrs. Alexander returns next month to the islands she will be going into the busy fall and winter season of entertainment. A grand ball will open the fall social season, honoring the incoming and out-going legislators.

The Frog Men will come for their winter maneuvers. Then in December the big boats with many tourists will begin to arrive; and by early spring plans will be under way for the annual carnival time, she listed.

Mrs. Alexander revealed that she and the governor plan to spend their first Christmas in the Virgin Islands this year; and on New Year's Day, big boats of tourists from England and the United States are to be welcomed by the governor in a holiday celebration.

President Eisenhower Deserves Big Vote of Confidence Tuesday

Tuesday is election day all over America. Every citizen should go to the polls and vote. This is his privilege and unless exercised, he is not performing the responsibility to himself, his community and nation.

A part of that responsibility is the election of candidates for public office who, in the long run, will do the things that are for the best interest of the whole community, state and nation; who will support those who have demonstrated by act and deed that they have the capacity and will live up to their oath of office.

The campaign issues have just about narrowed to one question: shall the voters endorse President Eisenhower's leadership of the Republican party and his activities as head of the nation.

The president's record, we believe, merits an affirmative answer. Let's see what that record has been.

1. The Korean War has come to a close thus saving the lives of American boys needlessly snuffed out.
2. This country has more people employed in peace time than ever before. In other words, it has not been necessary to raise prices and keep people employed with blood money.
3. The Eisenhower administration has lowered taxes, removed thousands of unnecessary employees from the federal payrolls and instituted other savings which have reduced federal spending materially.
4. President Eisenhower has gone far to clean up dishonesty in the federal government and routed thousands of Communists and otherwise undesirable people from office.
5. The Eisenhower administration has raised social security benefits and included 10 million workers who heretofore have not been covered.
6. The Eisenhower administration has reestablished honesty and sound policies in government.
7. President Eisenhower has done more, without making a lot of vote catching promises which he knew could not be fulfilled, for fully establishing the Negro's rights as first class citizens than any president since the turn of the century. Negroes have been fighting for civil rights since reconstruction days. Never since has there been a man in the White House who took the position that equality for all was a moral and not a political issue and that in order to demonstrate that democracy in America was what it says, all citizens must be treated as first class citizens.

Those who argue that control of congress by the Democrats would not hurt the country are not realistic. It's just another smoke screen to befuddle the people.

President Eisenhower is still popular with the people. To vote the Republican ticket Tuesday is a vote of confidence for a man who has not hesitated to do the thing which seems for the best interest of all the people. Encourage such people who are in office.

ANTIQUATED LAWS NO LONGER DESIRABLE

Iowa has many laws which are as antiquated as the horse and buggy on the highways. Back in 1892 the legislature passed a law requiring employers to give their employees two hours off to vote.

During those days, the people worked ten and twelve hours per day. Transportation was slow making it difficult for people to get to the polls.

This is no longer true. Most people quit work between four and five with all or a part of Saturday off. Polls remain open until eight o'clock.

There is no reason why an employer should pay a person to perform his civic duty and that is just what happens when an employee is given two hours off to vote with pay.

Recently, the Iowa Supreme Court upheld the old law. It could not do otherwise. However, there will be much demand for repeal of the law at the next session of the legislature.

Employees generally don't want handouts from their employers anyway. And this is just what the law is.

INTERSTATE SEGREGATION MUST BE OUTLAWED

In spite of recent decisions of the US Supreme Court outlawing segregation based on race or color, the NAACP still finds it necessary to battle railroads that insist on segregating Negroes in interstate travel.

Today, the Interstate Commission is being asked by the NAACP to bring its decisions on the subject in line with those of the US Supreme Court. And while the Interstate Commerce Act may not forbid such practices, its decisions must not conflict with the constitution of the US.

It so happens that an Iowan, Richard Mitchell of Fort Dodge, is a member of this commission. It is hoped that the decision will be in line with the 1954 and not the 1894, ruling.

school board attorney, former Judge Thomas J. Brogan, argued, to relieve the Cleveland school. He pointed out that last year the Cleveland enrollment was 702 and 622 this year.

Tried To Get Change

Dr. Milligan testified that while the new lines reduced the enrollment at the Cleveland school, the enrollments of the Roosevelt and Franklin school, both all-white, were increased. The Lincoln school was left with six vacant classrooms. It is possible to "eliminate a racially segregated school," the director of the Division of Discrimination said, if the lines were different. He testified that he tried to get the Englewood Board to change the lines last August, but he was unsuccessful.

He said he regretted having to be the first Director of the Division Against Discrimination to call a public hearing on charges of discrimination against a school board. "I regret what has been done here," Dr. Milligan asserted, "and I regret I failed at conciliation."

HEALTH FOR ALL

Take It Easy

If you're 40... or more... don't try to do 40 things at once!

Take it easy! Don't try to do all of your fall chores in a day or two. If the leaves aren't raked, or the storm windows hung, or the garden made ready for winter, remember it took a number of years to acquire that yard, house and garden so it should take several days or weeks to take care of them. And... shouldn't YOU have learned in that time that "tomorrow is another day"... to do what cannot be done today?

Over-exertion places a strain on your heart and nervous system. Your heart sends out pain signals and your nervous systems ties you into knots of tension when you've worn them out. Neither of these... pain or tension... is good for you. Moderation is!

It's wise to learn... while you're young... at 40, you've got a long time to live, with life expectancy increasing each year. You'll want to enjoy those extra years that medical science have made possible.

Learn to live moderately. Work moderately as well as play moderately. Remember... while you may not be too old to enjoy a game of football with your teen-age son you're not young enough to play for hours without rest the way he does.

Don't wear yourself out now if you believe what Robert Browning wrote that "the best is YET to be." It can't be if it is spent with a poor heart and a tired body.

It's rather corny... but good for you to remember that

If you're 40 or more
Take it easy with chores.
Do things one at a time.
With time to rest between times!

This advice is from Iowa State Department of Health.

BY BILL ASHBY

We were awakened by a rapping on the barbershop windows that nearly knocked them down. The Old Timer walked in, removed a wad of tobacco the size of a tennis ball from his mouth, took out a can of snuff, and when he got a mouthful we wondered why he bothered to put the can back in his pocket.

"Yes sir, there were three big upsets last week. Colorado loss to Nebraska, Michigan over Minnesota and Colgate over Princeton were big upsets in my book."

What about Iowa?

"They're gonna be awfully tough. They have put Jones in the middle of a five-man defensive line and he is rougher than pig iron. Nobody runs over him. You know those Negroes are Iowa's bread and butter. Without Hall and Jones I'd hate to see Iowa's line and don't mention the backfield without Vincent Smith and Jones."

What happened at Wisconsin?

"Nothing. Those guys are big and fast hard runners. All one has to do is fail to hit one of them square and he's gone. Do that twice and you have two touch downs and the flood gates are open. Indiana's Mill Campbell is another one big strong and hard fast runners ten times but the eleventh time, he gets away."

Illinois has three of those game wreckers and some day they are going to beat the tar out of some Big Ten team. Can't keep those three Negroes bottled up forever.

Have you seen Drake's Hendrix play?

"That guy is a player after my heart; when he smacks em they are smacked. He loves contact and if he could cut, he would hurt people."

The old guy left and we missed five chocolates. Don't say he took them, but we do say it he hadn't been around we could have eaten ten chocolates instead of five."

This week end the black chips are down. East meets Roosevelt in a game in which the winner take all. Wonder if Archie Johnson's smooth working Riders can corral Clarke and McQuerry of East. In our book those two are the first pair of backs in the city. Clark can kick or pass with the best of them and is as good a runner as there is in the city. McQuerry is strictly a big time runner and can pass. Either boy can go all the way if he gets the least break.

Well, we will see you at the Drake Stadium Friday night.

Predict 50 Per Cent Turnout Average For 'Off-Year' Election

Iowa City, Iowa.—Only about half of the persons of voting age in Iowa go to the polls and vote Nov. 2 this year—if this is an "average" election year. Yet in some counties in the state over 60 per cent of the voters will turn out to vote while in other counties only 40 per cent will vote.

These estimates are based on figures compiled by the institute of public affairs of the State University of Iowa from census data and election records over the past 20 years.

Why do some counties have a better voting record than others? Why is the percentage of turnout in certain counties consistently lower than the state average in election after election? What can be done to encourage more people to vote in elections?

"These questions are of great interest to political party leaders, candidates for office and political scientists, and many factors are in-
