Take Part in End of Famous Case

State Senator C.H. Diggs, Jr. Of Detroit, 5th Negro to Congress in Recent Years

Detroit, Mich.—A third Negro went to the House of Representatives as a result of last week's election of State Senator Charles C. Diggs, Jr., Democrat, from this city's 13th district, and the re-election of veteran Congressman William L. Dawson of Illinois, and Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York.

Diggs, a 31-year-old undertaker, whose father served in the State Senate before him, defeated Republican Landon Knight, son of the editor of the Detroit Free Press, Detroit's biggest daily.

Diggs' father was sent to the state penitentiary for bribery during the 40's and emerged to run again for his seat in the State Senate.

When he was defeated, his son took up the cudgel and ran and was elected.

Won Negro District

Diggs' strength in Tuesday's Congressional race came from the heavily populated Negro section of the district which was the strength of the district.

Fifth Negro to be elected to the Congress since Reconstruction—first was Oscar DePriest, of Chicago, and the second was Arthur W. Mitchell, also of Chicago, Diggs weighs 200 pounds and was graduated from Fisk university. He served in the Air Force in World War II. In the primary, Diggs beat out the incumbent Democratic for the nomination. In his first race for public office, Detroit's Common Council, he placed 10th in the election of 9 members.

Great Victory

In a victory statement, Diggs said that his election is a great victory for the Democratic party, and "it also settles the deeper issue—the racial issue."

He said his major interest is housing. "I intend to work for an expanded housing program. I am also opposed to present discriminatory immigration laws," he said.

The defeat was Republican Knight's second try for Congress.

They reversed this year because of the key segregation issue. McKeldin's opponent, Dr. H. C. Byrd injected the racial issue in the campaign. Though he disavowed the literature, some of it claimed that Byrd was anti-segregation.

Thus Governor McKeldin managed to roll up a 93,983 in Baltimore and its suburbs with a 1,949 plurality state-wide.

Mayor Proclaims December 10-15 Human Rights Here

Mayor Joe Van Dreser of Des Moines proclaimed the week of Dec. 10 through 15 as Human Rights Week, with special emphasis on Friday, December 10, as Human Rights Day.

The proclamation stated that "the members of the Des Moines city council feel that it is their duty to lend their influence in breaking down the religious and racial prejudice," and, "that it is much better" to obtain, if possible, these rights for minority races "by governmental encouragement of the program for the prevention and the elimination of discrimination in employment."

The City Council resolved that "all business institutions make every effort to do their share in this program by observing Human Rights Week and Human Rights Day, and that all groups interested in the welfare of all peoples join together in a common effort to remove any restrictions in practices detrimental to religious or racial groups."

Des Moines has a Commission on Human Rights, of nine members which was created by an ordinance adopted last July.

Services Held For Mrs. Sarah Maude Jones

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Adah Bludose of Minneapolis, Minn., and a niece, Mrs. Doris Fields of Minneapolis, whom Mrs. Jones reared.

Henry Lee Moon Writes of Tour to Inspect Crusade For Freedom in Germany

BY HENRY LEE MOON

Director, Public Relations, NAACP

The Crusade for Freedom is a new and different development of an old American practice of extending aid and comfort to peoples struck by disaster. Traditionally this assistance has been in the form of food, clothing and other consumer goods and health services given to the victims of earthquakes, floods, hurricanes or other natural catastrophes—generally through the American Red Cross.

Keep Alive Hope

However, the Crusade for Freedom, a project of the American Heritage Foundation, is engaged in a different kind of aid. Like the Red Cross it is supported by the voluntary contributions of the American people from all sections of the country, from all classes and races. But the assistance which the Crusade has to offer is not in material things but in the realm of ideas and spiritual hope.

Instead of bundles for displaced families in disaster areas, the Crusade for Freedom seeks to keep alive the hope of some 70 million people trapped in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain. Through the extensive facilities of Radio Free Europe and the airborne leaflet project the Crusade counteracts with factual information the Communist propaganda constantly fed to these peoples through the controlled press and radio of those countries.

85 in Tour Group

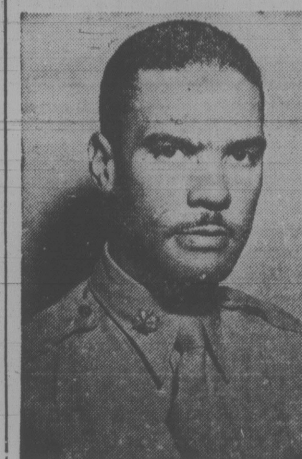

Along with 84 other representatives of some 45 national organizations I recently completed a 9,000-mile tour of inspection of the facilities of Radio Free Europe with headquarters in Munich, Germany. We also had opportunity to observe the

Mrs. Edmunds Hurt In Fall

Mrs. Lillian Edmunds, director of Willkie House, received injuries in a fall at her home Sunday. She is recovering at Mercy hospital.

Promoted To Rank Of Brigadier General

B. O. DAVIS, JR.

Washington, D. C.—Named the first Negro air force general was Col. Benjamin Oliver Davis, Jr., the White House announced recently.

Colonel Davis, son of Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, retired army officer, was promoted by the president from the rank of colonel to the temporary rank of brigadier general. He is a West Point graduate. He now is serving as director of operations in the Far Eastern air force, with headquarters in Japan. His father was the first Negro army general.

Born In D. C.

The junior brigadier general was born in Washington, D. C., Dec. 18, 1912. He received his high school education at Central high school, Cleveland, O., where he was graduated in 1929. He attended Western Reserve University, Cleveland for one year; and University of Chicago for two years. In 1932, he entered West Point graduating in 1936. He was graduated from the Infantry school, Fort Benning, Ga., in 1938. He then transferred from the infantry to the air force where he was graduated from the Tuskegee flying school in 1942.

In Fort Riley

Assigned to Fort Riley, Kas., he served as military aide to his father. Later he was put in command of the famous 99th Pursuit squadron serving in North Africa. He was organizer of the celebrated 332nd fighter group which served with credit in Italy.

Following the war, he went to the War college, from which he was graduated out of the air division in 1950.

During World War II, he flew 60 combat missions and received the decorations of Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters.

Mrs. Fanny Rice Gets Leg Fracture

Mrs. Fanny Rice, 65, 850 Tenth street, suffered a broken left leg and possible fractured skull last Thursday night when she stepped in front of a car in front of 1715 Walker street.

Police said witnesses told them Mrs. Rice apparently did not see the car driven by Harold Henry Robinson, 32 of 1265 Stewart street.

Officers said the lights on Robinson's car had blacked out moments before the accident.

Patrolmen Lester P. Reed and Stanton Rodgers said no charges will be filed. Mrs. Rice reported in fairly good condition at Mercy hospital.

Marshall Takes Ill In Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo.—Thurgood Marshall, general counsel and director of the NAACP became ill here recently and was unable to address a Freedom Rally at the St. Stephen Baptist church, Oct. 21.

Marshall was admitted to the St. Joseph hospital where, a physician said he was suffering from an abdominal ailment. He recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital and return to New York by plane.

Grandson and Namesake of Elder Justice Harlan Who Stood Alone for Rights

Washington, D. C.—U.S. Circuit Judge John Marshall Harlan of New York, who was chosen Monday by President Eisenhower to be a justice of the supreme court, if confirmed within a month, will take part in the conclusion of a case that brought fame to his grandfather on the same bench in 1896.

Sole Dissenter

Harlan is a grandson and namesake of Justice John Marshall Harlan who served on the high tribunal from 1877 to 1911.

The elder Justice was the sole dissenter in the Plessy vs. Ferguson case by which the high court set up "separate but equal" doctrine that permitted racial segregation until it was overthrown last May.

On Dec. 6, the present court will rule on how the implementation of its new doctrine—the doctrine the elder Harlan alone stood for 58 years ago—shall be accomplished.

Third Republican

Harlan will be the third Republican on the present high court. The others are Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Harold Burton.

Harlan, 55, would succeed the late Justice Robert Jackson, who died Oct. 9 of a heart attack.

Harlan has been on the federal bench only a little more than six months. From 1951 until last spring he was general counsel for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's New York State crime commission.

Born in Chicago, Ill., May 20, 1899, he is a graduate of Princeton University, and also received a jurisprudence degree from Oxford University, where he was a Rhodes scholar—and a law degree from the New York Law School.

Virgin Is. Legislators Delay Confirmation of Several Alexander Appointments

St. Thomas, Virgin Island—Gov. Archie A. Alexander, himself an Iowan, has turned to the Continental United States to fill some of the territory's cabinet posts. But legislators are hesitant about confirmation.

The legislators expressed belief in a conference with the governor Monday there are qualified islanders who should be given preference.

Legislative spokesmen said Alexander's insistence on filling cabinet jobs with individuals from the United States reduced persons born in the Virgin Islands to second class citizenship.

Denial.

Alexander's request for an appropriation to cover transportation costs for the heads of five departments—education, public works, public safety, industry and agriculture—was temporarily denied.

The legislators and the governor agreed to hold over the appointments for two weeks to give the legislature an opportunity to submit a list of Virgin Islanders for Alexander's consideration.

Names

The governor, who is from Des Moines, has named three men from the states for cabinet jobs, and proposed to name others later. The three are:

Dr. Robert Cotton, president of the Kansas Technical Institute, Topeka Kan., He would succeed Frederick Dixon, who has been in the service 23 years.

George Reed, Tuskegee, Ala., engineer, to replace Donald Boreham as public works commissioner upon Boreham's retirement next spring.

Carl Nelson, retired police sergeant, to head the department of public safety.

In addition, the governor has made three other appointments of persons already in the islands:

Leroy Quing of St. Croix, finance; Nolle Smith, insular affairs; and Rotm Born, health and welfare.

Call Emergency Conference On School Desegregation

Philadelphia.—A two-day emergency conference of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held here during the Thanksgiving Day week-end, November 26-27. The conference, to be attended by delegates from Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia, will consider problems arising out of desegregation of public schools in those states and in Washington.

Following anti-integration demonstrations in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Melford, Del., and Baltimore and Washington, the NAACP Board of Directors authorized the calling of the emergency conference. An analysis of these incidents and suggestions for dealing with them will be presented by Dr. Alfred McClung Lee, Brooklyn College sociology professor.

To Hear Reports

Reports on the various incidents will be made by local representatives. T. G. Nutter of West Virginia will tell the story of White Sulphur Springs. Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson will report on Baltimore, Eugene Davidson on Washington, and John W. Flamer on Melford. Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors will deliver the keynote address at the opening session, Friday.

Saturday will be devoted to discussions of ways and means of organizing community support for integration and of working with school boards to implement the program. Among speakers scheduled to address these sessions are Rev. C. Anderson Davis, president, NAACP branch, Bluffton, S. C.; George Schermer, director, Philadelphia Fellowship Commission; Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations assistant; Robert L. Carter, NAACP assistant special counsel; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member, District of Columbia Board of Education; and Spottswood W. Robinson, Ill., NAACP attorney for Virginia.

New Loading Zones Mid-Block On Loop Streets

Locations of mid-block loading zones for buses on several west side loop streets were announced Friday by Fred C. Worden, Des Moines Transit Co. manager.

Effective Sunday, the new loading points are substituted for loading zones near the intersections:

Worden said the change is being made in the belief that it will speed operation of buses through congested areas and for the greater convenience of passengers.

The following changes were made, as shown in a notice to bus operators:

Fifth avenue, south bound, discontinuous stop at Grand avenue and load at mid-block in front of Elks Club and in front of Central National Bank & trust Co.

Sixth avenue, northbound, mid-block stops between Mulberry street and Grand, eliminating corner stops at Locust street and Grand.

Seventh street, southbound, near side stop at Seventh as now but mid-block stops from Grand to Mulberry.

Ninth street, discontinuous stop on Ninth north of Locust and stop on Locust mid-way between Ninth and Eighth.

All near-side stops on Locust will be discontinued as far as Fifth and mid-block stops will be substituted. Walnut street, westbound, mid-block loading only from Fifth to Ninth.

Bus loading signs are being moved to indicate the new stopping points.

Grand avenue will continue to have stops as at present, at least through the winter.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the different churches friends and neighbors for flowers, cards and visits. Especially do I thank them for their prayers.

Mildred Caldwell.

Make Magic Maple Fluff in Five Minutes

IT'S AN OLD AMERICAN CUSTOM to have three or four desserts to choose from on the Thanksgiving menu. Here is a delectable nomination for honors at the big feast—Magic Maple Fluff. It is a luscious pudding that can be whipped up in five minutes time with Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk.

The tartness of orange and lemon juice contrasts nicely with the rich creaminess of the sweetened condensed milk. And the maple flavoring tops off the whole effect with a decided autumnal tang.

As a festive dessert, it looks mighty pretty, too, and no one will ever know it took but a few minutes to prepare—and with no cooking at all for you to do.

MAGIC MAPLE FLUFF

1½ cups (15-oz. can) Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk ¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice ½ teaspoon maple flavoring
2 egg whites stiffly beaten ½ cup pecan nut meats, chopped

Combine sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, orange juice and maple flavoring and blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into milk mixture. Fold in nut meats. Fill into sherbet glasses lightly. Top with custard sauce made with the egg yolks. Serves 8.

2 Hurt In Apartment House Fracas; 11 Persons Arrested

An apartment house fracas in which a man was stabbed and a woman was injured resulted in the arrests of 11 persons late Saturday.

Police received a report of a shooting at 1155 Ninth Street, shortly after 5 p.m. It was also reported that a man had barricaded himself in a room of the three-story apartment house.

Come with Gas

A dozen police officers converged on the house with guns and tear gas. They found only the two injured persons, the results of a shotgun blast on a wall, and a crowd of people.

After interviewing many of those present, detectives placed 11 of them under arrest for questioning. Most of them told officers they "hadn't seen or heard a thing."

Among those placed under arrest were Leonard A. Lawrence, 44, who had stab wounds in the shoulder and a head cut, and a woman, Willie Myles, 54, who had a leg injury.

Hospital, Jail

Both were treated at Broadlawn General Hospital and later transferred to the city jail. The woman said she was injured when she was knocked down by a fleeing man.

Charges of intoxication were filed against most of those arrested. Detectives said there was evidence of a scuffle involving several persons.

Brookins Heads N.H.A. Announces Scholarship

DYKES A. BROOKINS

Newark, New Jersey, business and civic leader who is the new National President of the Nationwide Hotel Association, Inc.

Washington, D. C. — Dykes A. Brookins, newly elected National President, Nationwide Hotel Association Inc., announced the establishment of the NHA Scholarship Fund for Negro students majoring in Hotel Management and Allied Fields of the industry. This is believed to be the first such fund initiated by Negroes in the hotel field.

The Nationwide Hotel Association Inc., is composed of leading hotels, motels and tourist homes catering to the public without regard for race, creed and color. The Association celebrates its First Anniversary November 30, this year.

Brookins was elected to the top office in NHA at the recent annual meeting of members in Miami, Fla. He takes over the position vacated by Ralph S. Dadd, West Haven, Conn., who is chairman of the board of directors.

In announcing the NHA Scholarship Fund, the president said: "Our purpose in making funds available to Negro students who are majoring in Hotel Management and other courses is to lend encouragement and financial aid when such assistance is needed."

"Although the amount of the scholarship this year is modest ($300.00) and we expect to increase it as we grow, the important point to remember is that members of this Association are conscious of the great need for trained personnel in every branch of the hotel industry and this Fund and others like it, encourages students to enter this field."

Recognition Dinner For Scout Leaders To Be Nov. 17

Over 400 Scout Leaders and their wives are expected to attend the Recognition Dinner to be held on Wednesday, November 17, at the Des Moines Golf and Country Club in West Des Moines. This is an annual affair at which the Tall Area Council, Boys Scouts of America pays tribute to the leaders who work directly with Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts.

Judge Jacob M. Braude, for the past seven years presiding Judge of Chicago's Boys' Court will be the principal speaker. Judge Braude is nationally known for his handling of juvenile delinquency cases and is a forceful, inspiring speaker.

Four outstanding Scouters of the 13 county area making up the Tall Corn Area Council will receive the coveted Silver Beaver Award for outstanding service to boyhood. This is the highest honor that can be conferred by a Boy Scout Council and the recipients will remain unknown until the awards are made during the dinner program. Last year's awards went to Kenneth Best, Arthur Savage and B. W. Hopkins of Des Moines and to Emmet F. Butler of Newton.

A special tribute to Cubmasters, Scoutmasters, Explorer Unit Advisors and Den Mothers will be given. Also Arrowhead Awards, Scouter's Awards and Scouter's Key Awards will be made to those leaders who have qualified in the training program of the Boy Scouts of America.

work and varied activities of the Crusade in Europe and to learn first hand from American officials, from governmental representatives, from refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, and from citizens of West Germany some of the problems contributing to and stemming from the cold war.

The members of the group making the tour and the organizations they represented were different from the group with which the NAACP is usually associated. Of the 50 organizations with which the NAACP works for civil rights, only three were represented in the group—the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the American Federation of Labor and B'nai B'rith. The party consisted largely of persons from industry and organizations.

Among organizations represented were Chamber of Commerce, American Hotel Association, the Advertising Council, American Farm Bureau, American Legion, Kiwanis International, American Library Association, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Boy Scouts of America, U. S. Conference of Mayors, and such fraternal organizations as Lions International, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Loyal Knights of the Round Table, Improved Order of Red Men, and others.

Highlights of Tour

Highlights of the crowded nine-day trip included a trip to the balloon launching site near the Czech border, a tour of East Berlin and a briefing in Paris by General Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander, Supreme Headquarters of Allied Powers in Europe.

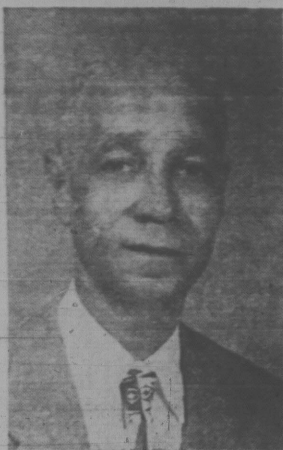

The border between Soviet-dominated Czechoslovakia and West Germany graphically illustrates one of the differences between the two countries. Immediately across the border, the land is serene, abandoned and untended. On the German side, the fields were green and fresh. Livestock grazed on the slopes and farmers tended the land. There was also a sharp contrast between the west and Soviet sectors of Berlin. There was greater evidence of business activity and the people looked more prosperous in the American, British and French sector than in the Soviet part of the city.

Like other recent travellers abroad I found great interest in race relations at home. Americans stationed abroad are made acutely aware of the status of the Negro by the often embarrassing questions of Europeans and of course, by Communist propaganda which contains enough truth to bewilder the uninformed.

Reports on Progress

I was interviewed by the press and participated in two radio programs for translation and rebroadcast to the peoples of the satellite countries. While freely admitting that racial discrimination and segregation exist widely in American life, I was happy to be able to report substantial gains in recent years in breaking down racial barriers in education, in public service, in trade unions and professional societies, in public accommodations, in transport and, to a lesser degree, in housing and employment. I cited the Supreme Court decision in the public school cases and told them of our

Special Assistant

ALEXANDER F. LANEVILLE
Washington, D. C.—Alexander F. Laneville of New Orleans, La., has been appointed Special Assistant in the Office of the Administrator of Veterans Administration for the Southeast Region.

Mr. Laneville, who is a native of Louisiana received his early education in New Orleans and attended Xavier and Dillard Universities where he studied Government and Personnel Management. He also has taken supplementary courses in corporation organization and accounting.

He has had long experience in the life insurance business, having begun as an agent for the Unity Industrial Life Insurance Company in 1919 and worked up to Supervisor and later Agency Director. From 1943-46 he worked as Agency Director for the Keystone Life Insurance Company and Gertrude Geddes Willis Industrial Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Laneville is a life long Republican. He worked tirelessly in the 1952 campaign for President Eisenhower's election; is a member of the Louisiana Republican State Central Committee; Secretary of the Orleans Parish Republican Executive Committee and Vice-Chairman of the First Congressional District. He was delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1952.

campaign to end all such discrimination by January 1, 1963, the centennial of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

Vital to Crusade

It did not take long to realize the correlation between the Crusade for Freedom in Europe and our Fight for Freedom at home. The success of our Fight is vital to the Crusade. The more freedom flourishes at home, the more convincingly can Radio Free Europe speak to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

The elimination of segregation in America will deprive the Communists of one of their most effective weapons not only among the colored peoples of the world but also among Europeans. Our fight to end racial discrimination strengthens the voice of Radio Free Europe and inspires greater confidence among peoples who themselves have been denied basic liberties by a totalitarian state.

The Fight for Freedom at home and the Crusade for Freedom abroad are complementary one to the other.

Haiti's President

The forthcoming visit of Haiti's popular and energetic President Paul Magloire to the United States on January 26 is, according to the White House announcement, "further demonstration of the cordial relations and historic friendship between the United States and the Republic of Haiti".

The President and Madame Magloire will be official guests of the Eisenhowers at Blair House. They will spend three days in Washington and will visit New York and a number of other American cities. Plans for the visit have not yet been completed, but it is expected that the President will take this opportunity to visit a number of agricultural and industrial centers in order to obtain a better understanding of American techniques, particularly those which might be helpful in furthering Haiti's Five-Year Plan of Economic Development instituted by President Magloire after his election in 1950.

Charge Physical Education Unrealistic, Good Teachers Are Hampered

Des Moines, Iowa.—Iowa teachers heard last weekend that most of our physical education is unrealistic in its lack of carryover into adult life. And they also heard charges that while the public seems to want good teaching, it does little to bring it to pass.

Learning at Home

Speaking at the state convention of the Iowa State Education association, C. H. McCoy, State University of Iowa research professor in men's physical education, declared that "there'd be a real uproar if our social studies and business education could not be used in adult life, but few people seem to worry because adults have little chance to continue with football, modern dancing and even tennis."

He recommended more school emphasis on learning to exercise at home and on sharing neighborhood backyard, basement decentralized playground activities. More table tennis, horseshoes and archery are needed, he said, and less football.

Declaring that "the American public tolerates poorly trained teachers as it would never tolerate poorly trained physicians, lawyers or engineers," John Gerber, SUI English professor, charged that many outstanding young persons are discouraged by the lack of public support for good teaching.

Make Over Classroom

Professor Gerber said that "some in our society would make the classroom into an over-size playpen or a moderately pleasant detention home. On occasion they even constitute first visit to the United States. He made a brief business trip to some of our Eastern cities in 1947. Madame Magloire was in the United States for a few weeks last winter when she underwent a medical checkup at Johns Hopkins.

As ambassadors of good will, president and Madame Magloire received enthusiastic welcomes last June when they made a tour of Cuba, Puerto Rico, Nicaragua, Venezuela, Panama, and Colombia.

Friendship Bonds

Bonds of friendship between the United States and Haiti, second oldest Republic in the Western Hemisphere, date back over the centuries. Historians point out that the United States owes a great debt to the valiant Haitians. Their soldiers, including a man who was destined to become the Emperor Christophe, helped fight in the American battle for independence. Later it was Haiti's victory over the Napoleon's forces that blasted his dream of Western Empire and made it possible for the United States to acquire the rich and strategic lands known as the Louisiana Purchase.

Visiting around Iowa
by Joe Marsh

Iowans Are Friendly

Visitors to Iowa frequently comment about the friendliness of Iowa people.

Did you ever notice that when your car stalls, some friendly motorist is glad to give you a push. If a farmer is sick, his neighbors help with the chores, or harvest his crop for him.

If there's a fire or an accident or any kind of trouble, Iowans are quick to lend a helping hand. And the important thing about this friendly helpfulness is that it is offered without "any strings attached."

It just isn't our way to insist that a man must agree with our

The Lee Craytons In Ottumwa Honor Dr. And Mrs. D. B. Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crayton, 737 Center street, Ottumwa, Ia., held a reception Sunday afternoon, Nov. 7, honoring Dr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Scott of Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Scott is the new physician in Ottumwa. Pouring tea were Mrs. Marguerite Robinson and Miss Frances Jones. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Adams and Mrs. Magdalen Jenkins.

Real Jazz Fans Mourn Hot Lips Page

New York. — (CNS) — The sudden death of Hot Lips Page last weekend stunned the music world. It especially stunned true jazz fans for this quiet, unassuming man was one of the most talented. The men who worked with him called him the "greatest trumpet player ever." And yet he never quite made the top.

Page was more of a pioneer. One of the first Negroes to be regularly employed by a white jazz orchestra, he trailblazed before the rest as Lionel Hampton in the '30's.

Had Talent

He knew he had the talent. His family however complained he was too good-hearted without that dash of prodding to get to the top no matter the cost. He was forever anxious to help young folks and would spend hours giving them advice and listening to their problems.

His Edgecombe Ave. apartment was a haven for them. When they took too much of his time, he would just shrug it off saying, "Somebody's got to look after the future generation of musicians."

Everybody in showbusiness expected that one day Oran "Hot Lips" Page would get his just reward and make the big money his talent called for. A hard worker, he would hardly complain saying "The real break will come."

Page died of a heart attack at Harlem Hospital. 200 fellow musicians were to play at least 20 bands at a benefit performance at the Stuyvesant Casino. It was to be a fine tribute to a Texas musician who fell in love with a horn at the age of 12.

themselves 'cultural vigilantes' to see that nothing but their own favorite dogmas are taught."

Cosmetiste Club No. 2 In Waterloo Holds Installation Tea; Mrs. Humphrey Honored

The Cosmetiste Club No. 2 of Waterloo, Iowa, branch of Cosmetiste club in Des Moines, held an installation tea in Waterloo on Sunday, November 7, at the Republican 6-4 Club. Mrs. L. Bell and Mrs. L. Anderson poured and other citizens assisted as hostesses.

Atty. William Parker, formerly of Des Moines, was the guest speaker. He spoke about the importance of organization of the group and the place of the beautician in society.

He gave credit to Crescent Beauty School for the part it has played in the preparation of women for this profession in Iowa and in many other states as well. He also noted that Crescent School has the highest state board grade average in the state.

Mrs. Pauline B. Humphrey was the guest of honor.

A color scheme of purple and gold was carried out with flowers. All of the hostess beauticians were attired in formal.

The officers of Cosmetiste No. 2 are: Mrs. Leola Anderson, president; Mrs. Rainey Burgess, vice president; Rainey Mac Austin, recording secretary; Mrs. Louise Whitehead, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice Martin, treasurer and Joy Lawrence, reporter.

Prizes: Jerry Stinn, 3154 Fortieth St., Des Moines Technical School, first; Judy Brown, 920 Franklin ave., Des Moines Technical School, second; Jack Klebs, 3806 Easton blvd., Des Moines Technical School, third.

Personal Touch
By MARIE ROSS

At Willkie House this week, and continuing through Nov. 21, is the twenty-second annual exhibition of the Dilettante club's art show. Leroy Mitchell, Drake University art student, has done a very fine job of mounting the exhibits which have been hung in the trophy room at Willkie. (See Story of Winners on This Page).

Escorting me through the room was Mrs. Beatrice Caldwell Bigsby, one of the former Negro Community Center employees, who is on duty at Willkie House while Mrs. Lillian Edmunds, director, recovers received in a fall last Sunday at her home.

At one of the counters, Ken Whitney, in charge of the athletics, was drawing some designs of basketball problems to be tried that night by some of the practicing Willkie teams.

Among some of the new posters on the bulletin board, one announced a class in photography to be held on Thursday nights.

Ran into Mrs. Rosa E. Wilson who said she had been to Iowa Lutheran Hospital to see Jay Howard, a polio patient. For years, as a kid, he helped his father, the late Neal Howard, in the coal business here.

Changes constantly are being made in the business of downtown transportation. Since Sunday, bus passengers have been rushing from corners to the mid-block loading zones of some of the busiest downtown streets. (See Story Page One).

A passenger almost needs to carry a chart to know where to catch a bus now. To get off at mid-block and rush to the corner of the intersection to see a bus you might have transferred to, already crossing, is saddening; and added to the mention of bus fares going higher is enough to make one go to night school to learn how to building his jealousy.

The east end of the downtown Loop, around Second street, qui-

The 1st District of the Iowa Association of Colored Women's clubs held their annual meeting at Willkie House November 4.

Business sessions were held in the afternoon at which time plans were made for a city association of women's clubs. The officers for the new year are: chairman, Pauline B. Humphrey; vice chairman, Dorothy Bush; secretary, Mary Hardaway; and treasurer, Fannie Danforth.

A 6 o'clock dinner meeting was held in the evening with representatives from many of the city clubs present as guests. The speakers at this meeting were: Mrs. E. O. Bumgardner, president of the Des Moines federated women's clubs and Mrs. A. A. Alexander, first lady of the Virgin Islands.

vered and shook for days until this week while deathblows were given to the city market buildings which went down in crashes of brick, cement and steel. More passersby lamented the demolishing of the city's only public market place, a sturdy building which was constructed in 1914, some recalled. Soon all of the rubbish will be cleared away just for a space to park motor cars.

Something new called a "symphony rummage sale" was held in the Loop last week end, sponsored by the women's committee of the Drake-Des Moines Symphony Orchestra Association. Many musical items were almost giveaways in prices.

When I heard the sound of Bach, Beethoven and Tchaikovsky coming through our office floor from the storeroom below, where, until last summer, the jukebox boogies and blues had beat for the tavern customers for years, it was astounding.

Shortly I found myself downstairs, thumbing through the piles of sheet music, searching the volumes of recordings of masterworks, inspecting a 100-year-old accordion from England, testing the tone of an old piano, watching several customers try out banjos; radios.

It was a lot of fun and a good idea for musical groups—and, there were some very good buys—like—Jon Barbirolli conducting the Philharmonic Symphony of New York in Rimsky-Korsakov's "Capriccio Espagnol"—all for fifty-one cents, or, Artur Rodzinski conducting the Cleveland Symphony orchestra in Tchaikovsky's "Symphony No. 5"—for sixty-one cents; or, the Bach

"Oh, you don't say," remarked Mrs. Katherine McFarland, who regretted that she did not stop by the sale. A masterworks music fan, she listens each morning to WO's Music Shop program.

The women also sold season tickets to the current Drake-Des Moines Symphony programs this year.

Christmas plans are stepping right along too. The annual all-city Christmas Carol sing has been set for December 13, 7 to 8:30 p. m., when approximately 500 persons from 50 groups will go to nursing and children's homes hospitals, homes for the aged and hotels to sing Christmas music.

The program is sponsored by the music department of the Des Moines Federation of Women's Clubs and the Des Moines Recreation Commission. Mrs. Clarence E. Manders is chairman, and church groups, choirs, company choruses, sextets and quartets wishing to participate should contact Kathryn Kreig, co-chairman, at the recreation commission offices of the city.

At the office this week Rev. Lovell Johnson, new Bethel A.M.E. church pastor, who lived in Detroit, Mich., a year and a half prior to coming to Des Moines in September, was comparing the cities he had lived in.

"Now Detroit is much like Des Moines in tempo," he said "Now, I have lived in Chicago," and he shook his head, as he added, "but I didn't like it nearly as well. It has twice the tempo of Detroit or Des Moines."

He revealed that he liked living in Des Moines. Recently his church

With New Success, Dorothy Dandridge Studying French; Believes in Making Plans

BY DELORES CALVIN
New York — (CNS) — We were most impressed with the philosophy of Dorothy Dandridge. Here's a gal endowed with such good looks that you wouldn't think she needed to use her brain. But she does.

She knows timing of the most important assets in succeeding at anything. She was discussing her itinerary now that "Carmen Jones" is an established success. "First a night club tour. Then I hope, another picture and after that a Broadway show. I hope it can work out like that—it would be perfect timing and timing is so important in this business."

Planning Moves

Dorothy's shrewd, planning her moves as best as possible. She knows her full capabilities and she knows her limitations. She has no intention of getting typed as Carmen even though it's being strongly suggested that she "Porgy and ess" for the films.

"People would say this is all this girl can do," was her retort. I could play Carmen or a nun and audiences would believe either role. If I couldn't, I wouldn't be an actress."

With her new success you would think Dorothy Dandridge wouldn't need any more study. But this is a gal who is never satisfied with her-

Young People Would Rather Be Right Than Wrong—If They Know What Is Right

Written by Afton Smith, SUI Assistant Professor

Why does the youth of Junior High age scorn good manners? There may be several reasons: his elders often set him a poor example, for example, or he has too many other interests. He is driving pell mell toward "life" and forgets all about the small courtesies.

Probably a more basic reason is found in a combination of ignorance and bluff. He and his pals do not know how to be well-mannered so they cover their embarrassment with scorn and label a well-mannered child a "sissy".

Parents assume that of course children know enough to eat properly, not to gobble their food, keep elbows off the table, let a girl go through the door first. Haven't they nagged Junior about these things continually?

Practice Teaches

But nagging does not teach. Practice teaches, and it must be interested practice without irate criticism. The child must be able to see a real reason for his manners.

In the May 1954 issue of the National Parent-Teacher Magazine Mrs. Loula Erdman describes a Good Manners Club formed by an eighth grade in Phoenix Ariz., where discipline had become a serious problem—rather be right than wrong of on the theory that the young people only they know what's right, the clubs jobs with individuals from the Un-supervisor saw the practice of cafeteria manners extended to dress-up dinner parties and finally to banquets given for the club by some of the town's business groups.

The problem of discipline in the cafeteria was solved, and youngsters learned how to meet people in social situations. Many of them secured vacation jobs because employers were impressed by their poise and intelligent conversation. They found that good manners are not "sissy".

Disappointed

Dorothy was disappointed in marriage—she and Hargold Nichols were divorced several years ago. Still she's not afraid to give it a second try if and when that right guy comes along. She's even got this planned. "After you're really established in this business, you don't have to be everlasting on the go. I think two people with careers can have a successful marriage."

Meanwhile, she's just too busy now for romance. When it does come, she'll want to know everything about him—and get a chance to share things with him to really get to know him.

Meanwhile, it's work, work, work for La Dandridge and she blossoms on it.

THE DIE HARDS CONTINUE THEIR BATTLE

At the election November 2, in the states of Georgia and Louisiana the people voted on new laws and a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to abolish the public school system and turn education over to private schools. In Georgia, the measure carried by 9 to 8, a close margin, while in Louisiana the vote carried by 5 to 1. It is interesting to note that the measures ran behind in the cities but the heavy pro vote in backward communities carried the program over.

It is further interesting, rather discouraging, that the people of the South continue in their efforts to block the progress of America in their program to keep the Negro down.

The so-called intelligent people over the years have resorted to laws, many of which have been declared unconstitutional, to keep Negroes from voting and otherwise enjoying their civil rights, while the ignorant, the hot heads resorted to mob violence to intimidate Negroes and frighten them away from attempts to exercise their rights. And this is how backward communities make life most uncomfortable for Negroes. But in recent years, few lynchings have occurred in the South because the arm of the federal government and the campaigns against the evil conduct by white and Negro citizens have reduced this barbaric practice to a minimum.

The NAACP has fought discrimination laws through the courts successfully, gradually knocking out one after another. But this has not been without resistance all the way by the states involved in spite of the old theory that the southern white man is the Negro's best friend.

Desegregation will be accomplished in the same manner. And it would be silly to permit individual U. S. District judges to formulate decrees to carry out the decisions of the Supreme Court.

Certainly, the campaign against the school decision does not make good reading at home or abroad. And if the backward people are allowed to have their way, we shall continue to be criticized for blowing hot and cold on the theory of the democracy we espouse.

BLIND VOTING OFTEN BACKFIRES

The election in Iowa followed a pattern which has existed in large populated states for years. For instance, New York City and Chicago, and now Detroit, have been Democratic for years while the Republicans have depended upon the small towns and country districts to elect their state and national tickets.

This year, Des Moines and the other large Iowa towns fell into the pattern set by the large cities in other states and voted the Democratic ticket by large majorities.

As precincts reports came in, a clear division of classes of people was indicated by the returns. In Des Moines precincts 26 east and from lower Highland Park south (and this constitutes the area where most working classes live, the blighted areas, the Negroes, for most of them are included in these two groups) the Democrats found their greatest strength. In precincts west and on the outer fringes of the areas described above, the Republicans found most of their strength.

The working classes and/or many living in blighted areas, in their struggle to elect state officers and a legislature which they thought would repeal certain laws to which they objected, defeated a lot of their friends but did not gain the desired objectives at the state house. So there is less chance of getting any changes in these laws.

This clearly defined vote in these areas indicates just how well many have been sold on the theory that the Republicans were the rich man's, the Democrats the poor man's party. And this in spite of much the Eisenhower Administration has done for the average man as a whole; for the Negro in the enjoyment of his civil rights.

A GOOD WORD FOR "TRICKS OR TREATS"

This comes a bit late due to the election (something must be blamed for our shortcomings) but the By-stander has a good word for the youngsters who were out for "tricks or treats" on October 30th.

Never have children who came to the door been so orderly, so mannerly this conduct prevailed in most communities.

The groups which have carried on a program to improve the unfavorable results of "tricks or treats" in the past must be commended for doing a fine job teaching youngsters that they can have fun without destroying other people's property. Here is an example where positive constructive efforts do pay off.

Maybe, these people will eventually drive crime stories off the radio and TV for they do more to teach youngsters the wrong way to live than any single force today.

Tuskegee Choir Starts off UNCF Sunday Broadcasts

New York, N. Y.—The famed Tuskegee Institute Choir lead off the November college choir broadcasts presented by the American Broadcasting Company in cooperation with the United Negro College Fund. The programs which feature the student choral groups of the UNCF member colleges are broadcast weekly over some 170 stations of the ABC radio network. They originate with WABC in New York on Sundays at 10:35-11:00 a. m. and are heard at varying local broadcasting times and dates throughout the United States and Canada.

The November schedule as announced by W. J. Trent, Jr., executive director of the UNCF is as follows: November 7, the choir of Tuskegee Institute, Alabama under the direction of William L. Dawson; November 14, Wiley College, Marshall, Texas under the direction of Gilbert Allen; November 21, Texas College, Tyler, Texas with James E. Dorsey directing and November 28, Paine College, Augusta, Georgia directed by Ruby T. Robinson.

Ice Fishing Shack Permits Being Issued

Ice fishing shack permits are now available to winter fishermen through several state conservation officers, the Conservation Commission said this week.

Only substantially-built structures will be permitted, to reduce the possibility of littering state-owned property. Permit numbers must be painted in a contrasting color in numbers at least 6 inches high, and the name and address of the owner must be placed on the door of the shack, in "a legible and durable way". There is no fee for ice fishing shelter permits.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Now In November

We might as well face it. We may have a few of those crisp, bright days that fool us into thinking winter won't be so bad this year. But it will. Now in November begins the triumphal march of the common cold.

Wherever as many as three people are gathered, there will be at least one sneeze, one sniffle, or one cough. And that one will soon be multiplied many-times. It's all very well to advise people to avoid gatherings in order to avoid colds. Few of us can or want to follow the advice. The children must go to school. The breadwinner must take the crowded bus or streetcar to work. Church, club meetings, parties, movies—the American people aren't going to stay home till spring comes.

Then what can we do to prevent the round robin of colds from making this winter a season of misery? In the first place, no saline, nose drop, gargle, laxative, vitamin pill, or vaccine on the market can be depended on to prevent or cure the common cold. There's hope, but meantime the advice of the medical profession is to save your money. Or better, spend it to make sure your family gets a balanced diet containing the protective foods. See that they get enough sleep, rest, and recreation to help ward off infection. At least try to keep them in warm, dry clothes.

There are a few reasonable steps to avoid contagion. Stay as far away as possible from people you know have colds. Never share drinking or eating utensils, towels or toilet articles. Wash the hands well with soap or water before eating or handling food.

If, in spite of all precautions, you do catch cold, play safe and take a day of rest, preferably in bed. If any member of the family seems to have frequent colds, consult the doctor. The trouble may be an allergy or some other condition that can be corrected.

SPORTS

BY BILL ASHBY

No need to say very much about Iowa again. But when Eddie Vincent took off on that 96-yard run, the Purdue linebacker hit the fellow hard enough to drop him. Vincent spun and the backer couldn't hold him. The safety man came up fast and missed so the foot race was on. Earl Smith didn't have to do anything but run when he got his long run.

Iowa didn't do his All American campaign any harm and John Hall made his bid. We sat in with a group of the Register sportswriters and Al Coupee night sport and viewed the pictures. Listened to Coup rave about Jones and saw him on Vincent's reverse. His job was to move the defensive guard and that young man nearly lit up in the stands. Had to laugh at one writer who forgot we were in the group. He said, "Iowa sure has a lot of—(and he used an uncomplimentary word) on that team but I don't know what they would do without em." After the show, he apologized to us, and we said that we would probably say the same thing about him in a group of Negroes.

High School

Well, the East-North battle is over. That was the best game we saw out of North all season. They actually stopped Clark and McQuerry most of the ball game. Franklin of North did all right, but couldn't break away. On the opening kickoff, the speed merchant was out in front of the pack, but like a lot of high school backs had to cut back and got nailed.

We really hope Clark wants to go to college. He is real college material, the first such since John Estes was at North. Big, fairly fast and handy, the guy would make some college coach mighty happy. But it all depends on whether he wants to go.

Miscellaneous

Ollie Matson has made himself a one-man gang for the Chicago Cardinals. The guy personally scored enough points and made enough defensive plays Sunday to rate the compliment that it was the Steelers against Matson.

The Pros are combing any Negro schools now in search of talent and every time they spot an extra big guy, they sign him up.

Prairie View rates as tops among Negro college teams. They have a fast team and their first teams could rate some very tough Northern college team. Saw the roster of A & T college of Greensboro, N. C., and were surprised at the number of big linemen. But the backs were too short and light to hold their own in fast company up this way.

AH! NOVEMBER

Ah! November's here again soon snowflakes fall, so soft and white.
Now the light of winters moon spills diamond dust all through the night.
His jeweled canopy of stars that pagentry of spatial scope, by the Architect who planned and built with the love and glory, faith and hope.
UUUM! Spicy smells and groaning board, the happy day we all remember. It's strictly all-American, Thanksgiving, praise, ah, November. Glenn A. Gallagher. (First American Serial Rights Only)

There are many super values that make this life worth while. Did we ever find a substitute, more welcome than a smile? The day is cold, depressing as we drag that last, long mile. Then suddenly, we lift our feet; we meet a friendly smile.

Suppose we're weary and alone our rights, the men defile, how quick our woes can fade away, in the warm light of a smile. The value of that smile we show could have a mystic power, restore the freedoms, rights of man; when decision has its' hour. This earth must seem a sad, drab place where nothing is worth while, to all who can not see His face nor the sunshine of His smile. Glenn A. Gallagher. (First American Serial Rights Only)

Football Hero Fatally Injured; City Rallies Aid

Richmond, Va.—While a city rallied all possible financial aid and moral support, Daniel Harrison Pritchett died Saturday morning, Oct. 30 in Richmond's St. Phillip Hospital from a football injury.

He had suffered a broken neck on Sept. 24 while playing for Carver High of Henry County, against R. Moton of Farmville.

The school's 800 students had previously raised $100 which they sent to the hospital. Another $200 was used Saturday to pay additional hospital bills.

Two of the lad's teachers visited the hospital Saturday afternoon not knowing the player had already died. One fainted and had to be treated at the hospital.

Mother III

The whole town of Martinsville which is surrounded by Henry County, had come to the assistance of the Pritchett family. The father is Zular Pritchett, 46-year-old farmer and trucker. The boy's mother has been ill for home time with medical bills of $1,500 outstanding.

The dead player was insured for football injury under the policy recommended for all schools of the Virginia Interscholastic Association,

Fund Insufficient

The school considered paying some expenses out of the athletic fund, but the fund barely is sufficient to carry the athletic program.

Coach Sidney Trot said that Pritchett, a center, had been with the team four years and was his most experienced man. He stated that in four years, the boy's injury was the only one of a serious nature at the school.

Pheasant Seasons Opens! Few Hunting Tips

The pheasant season, the high point in the hunting year, opened Nov. 11.

The State Conservation Commission estimated that about 200,000 nimrods were in the cornfields and weed patches of the state, hunting that wily old Chinese immigrant, John Ringneck. For a better hunt and a more enjoyable time, the Commission offered a few hunting tips.

First, ask the farmer first. You'll enjoy your hunt more if you have permission to hunt on private land. The farmer can also tell you where the birds are, where livestock is, and where the best game cover on his farm is located. Second, don't hunt for hunting, hunt for birds. Instead of driving the roads all day hoping for easy shooting, find a good farm with pheasant cover and hunt.

Use plenty of firepower. A 12-gauge shotgun with number 6 shot is a general favorite. Don't shoot hens. If a bird flies into the sun and there's any doubt about its sex, hold your fire. The roosters can take plenty of shooting but the hens can't.

Daily shooting hours are from 12 o'clock noon until 4:30 p.m. each day. Bag and possession limits are 3 cock birds.

40 & 1 Bowling Club Lists Teams With Top Scores

The 40 & 1 Bowling League met Nov. 7 at East Des Moines Bowling Center for their weekly bowling session. The top scoring teams up to and ending the week of Nov. 7 are: No Way Cleaners; Welcome Inn, Metropolitan Drug and Garrison Billard Parlor with Estes & Son in fifth place, American Legion Post 126, sixth; Hardaway's Barber shop, seventh, and Gray Brothers, eighth. John M. Danforth, Jr., is president; Lacey Spriggs is secretary.
