Hails Election

Mr. Mitchell hailed the election, in the South, of several candidates who did not run on race-hate platforms. In this category he named Kefauver of Tennessee, Sparkman of Alabama

Tribute to Judge Waring At Testimonial Dinner for First Dissenting Opinion

Charleston, S. C.—Royally received by 500 of their friends, Judge and Mrs. J. Waties Waring were given a warm welcome at a testimonial dinner here on their return to the Judge's native home for the first time after his retirement from the Federal Bench in February, 1952.

The dinner, held on November 6 under auspices of the South Carolina Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People of which the Rev. James M.

and Scott of North Carolina. He also mentioned the election of Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland as "a symbol of how injection of the race issue into a campaign can backfire."

Governor McKeldin faced an opponent who received the support of the segregationists with open arms," Mr. Mitchell contended. "Governor McKeldin won by 60,000 votes."

Referring to Senators Kefauver, Sparkman, Scott and Gov. McKeldin as men who "no one pretends—are great exponents of civil rights," Mr. Mitchell pointed out that nonetheless Sen. Sparkman helped write the Democratic Party civil rights platform in 1952. Sen. Kefauver supported the platform, and Sen. Scott was "accused of supporting the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools."

Mr. Mitchell addressed representatives of the Mississippi State Conference of NAACP Branches on November 7.

D. M. Transit Co. Raises Adult Fares to 20c; Buy Weekly Pass at Its Office

The city council granted Des Moines Transit Co. permission Monday to increase the adult cash fare from 18 to 20 cents, while retaining the present token price of 16 cents.

In authorizing all other fare changes asked by the company a week ago, the council rejected, however, a request for elimination of the $3 weekly pass.

The council specified that the sale of the weekly pass would be limited to the Des Moines Transit offices, 707 Locust street.

The increase in the adult cash fare took effect on Wednesday.

Mail Order

Mail orders for passes will be filed Fred C. Worden, general manager of Des Moines Transit said. A mail order for a pass for the following week should reach the company by Wednesday, and should be accompanied by a check or money order and a self-addressed envelope, Worden said. The pass costs $3.

Beginning next week, the pass for the following week will go on sale each Tuesday and continue to be available through Monday of the week for which the pass is dated. The pass is for seven days Monday through Sunday.

Permission

Councilman Ray Mill, who made the motion, said Tuesday that the council did not require the transit company to restrict sale of the weekly pass to its offices, but permitted it to do so.

The council permitted elimination of the $13 monthly pass and communication ticket, which sold 14 for $2.

Tries To Slip Dope To Husband in Court

New York.—(CNS)—The Court was astonished and so was the judge when Mrs. Dorinda Pippins, a Negro Beautyician, tried to slip dope to her addict husband as he was being led away.

"I took a big gamble because I love him," was her defense. She had asked tearfully to speak with hubby David, who has a long record of narcotics, using as much as $100 worth a day. Then as the detective watched, they saw her pass a brown paper package to Pippins. It contained three hypodermic needles, a syringe and a vial of diluted heroin.

Sobbing "I knew he needed the stuff," Mrs. Pippins was booked for possessing narcotics, violation of the health laws and illegally taking dope

Disadvantage to Traveler Assigned Accommodations On Race 'Unreasonable'

Washington, D. C.—An interstate commerce commission examiner said Tuesday that the ICC should put an end to racial segregation of railroad passengers going from one state to another.

Howard Hosmer, the examiner, said the practice of some railroads in assigning separate accommodations aboard trains and in station waiting rooms to white and colored travelers on interstate is in violation of the interstate commerce act.

'Unreasonable'

"That act, he noted, prohibits any 'undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage' among interstate patrons of the railroads."

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race certainly is unreasonable," Hosmer said.

Urges Order

The examiner made his report after public hearings on a complaint filed with the ICC by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, challenging railroad segregation.

Sustaining the complaint, Hosmer recommended that the commission enter an order "prohibiting the continuance of these practices."

The group's case was directed against more than a dozen railroads as a test of segregation practices.

Hosmer's findings were in direct conflict with those of another ICC examiner, Isadore Freidson, in an earlier case.

NAACP in Eleventh Hour Fight to Save Walter Lee Irwin from Electric Chair

New York.—Lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are working tonight in an attempt to save a Groveland, Fla., youth from death in the electric chair for an alleged rape which the 26-year-old man consistently has maintained he did not commit.

Walter Lee Irwin was to be electrocuted during the week of Nov. 8. On Nov. 6 NAACP Attorney Frank Reeves obtained a stay of execution from the U. S. Supreme Court.

Association lawyers are now preparing a petition for writ of certiorari in the Irwin case, to be presented to the Supreme Court by Nov. 20. At that time the high court will decide whether to hear arguments for a new trial for the young prisoner.

Irwin is one of four young Negroes convicted in Florida of the alleged rape of a young white housewife. He was first was convicted on Sept. 3, 1949, by an all-white jury in the County Court in Tavares.

Convicted with Irwin at his first trial were Samuel Shepherd and Charles Greenlee, then 16 years of age. Greenlee was given life imprisonment, and Irwin and Shepherd sentenced to death. The fourth accused youth was shot death by deputized mob a few hours after the alleged crime of July 16, 1949.

Reign of Violence

Because of the reign of violence which was precipitated in the Groveland area after the woman made her accusation, the atmosphere of hostility in the courtroom, and the provocative role of press and radio in the area, NAACP attorneys at the time sought a change of venue and post-

THANKSGIVING FEAST BEGINS WITH BREAKFAST

WHY LIMIT THE BIG THANKSGIVING "FEED" to dinnertime? Every part of the day deserves to emphasize the spirit of celebration... especially breakfast since it's so often the whole basis for a successful day.

This agreed, what is it that pleases the entire family—Mom, Pop and Junior? One pretty good idea is certainly the favorite cereal—Sugar Crisp—served with a favorite topping in bowls according to the size quantities consumed. As for what sort of toppings for the individual servings of pre-sweetened wheat cereal, try sliced canned or frozen peaches for Pop, a baked apple for Mom and sliced bananas for the young ones. Then complete this appealing, though simple meal with toasted English muffins with butter and jam along with hot coffee for adults and tall glasses of milk for the minors. Ummm, how good can breakfast get?

Another of the wonderful features about these crispy sweet puffed wheat kernels is that because they are pre-sweetened no sugar is needed. Milk or cream is merely added to serve as a cereal. Designed with a three-way appeal, Sugar Crisp is equally good as a cereal, a snack, and a confection. Youngsters find it a welcome snack when watching TV, and ideal for times when friends drop in unexpectedly and refreshments are served. Eaten plain or with milk one thing for sure—it's easy eating. GUEST towels are welcome shower or wedding gifts. With touches of handwork, they indicate thoughtfulness and special pleasure in giving.
For a fine linen towel, a delicate edging crocheted of fine cotton makes a nice decoration. Heavier linen calls for thicker borders. And the rough texture of Turkish toweling, in enhanced by crocheted flower motifs centered and sewed to the towel. Directions for making these guest towel decorations are available. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to

Frank Davis Featured With Fred Waring

FRANK DAVIS
Soloist

Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians

When Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians played New Orleans on their 1953 nationwide tour, tall, serious bass-baritone Frank Davis, a "native son," was made an honorary citizen of the "Crescent City" and was presented with a scroll and gold key during the performance concert in Municipal Auditorium. He is soloist on Thanksgiving night performance at KRNT Theater, Nov. 25, at 8:30 p.m.

Davis is the second Negro to receive such an honor from the City of New Orleans. Dr. Ralph Bunche, Director of Trusteeships, United Nations Organization, received the first. The scroll presented to Davis was signed by Mayor DeLesseps Morrison. Mr. Waring also was presented with a scroll on the same occasion.

Show Stopper

According to all reports from the Pennsylvanians' 17,500-mile coast-to-coast tour of 58 cities, bass-baritone Davis was a show-stopper with his offerings, "Jesus Walked This Lonesome Valley" and "Ol' Man River." One reviewer identified him as having "The greatest Negro voice since William Warfield."

Frank has three times been featured on the CBS-TV "Fred Waring Show" in a musical production of James Weldon Johnson's collection of sermons, titled "God's Trombones." He was supported by the Fred Waring Glee Club and orchestra in the presentation, which has also been recorded by Decca in album form.

When Fred Waring instigated his "Varsity Showcase" feature on the 1951-52 "Fred Waring Television Show," it was his desire to offer an opportunity for college students to display their professional aptitude. From schools all over the nation came vocalists and musicians to appear in this production feature. Frank Davis, from Xavier University, New Orleans, drew the most favorable mail in the season's competition.

Handing in the bundles were: (left to right) Louella MMay Webb, 6, of 1022 Pleasant street; Sharon Wallace, 11, of 5512 Westwood drive; and Lucille Spratlan, of 1107 Twenty-seventh street. William Warfield To Open Drake-Des Moines Concert Nov. 21

The Drake-Des Moines Symphony orchestra will open its 17th season Sunday, Nov. 21, with William Warfield, baritone star of "Show Boat" and other films, as guest soloist. The concert will be at 4 p.m.—a new "family" time—in KRNT Theater. Warfield, who made his concert debut in New York only in March, 1950, has since become well-known for his moving portrayal of Joe and his singing of "Old Man River" in "Show Boat."

He has been heard many times also in recital, as soloist with symphony orchestras, as a recording star and on radio and television.

The 100-piece Symphony is under the direction of Frank Noyes, head of the violin department at Drake university. It includes musicians from Drake, Des Moines and other Iowa communities.

In Des Moines Warfield will sing selections from Handel's "Samson," Verdi's "Simon Boccanegra," Rossini's "Barber of Seville" and Bizet's

FURNITURE IS SUDS SAFE

Sponge upholstery with thick suds. Then rinse with a clean damp sponge and wipe dry.

Since colorful upholstery on your furniture is the main eye-catcher in your room, it must be kept bright and clean to look well. Besides, clean furniture lasts longer. Luckily plastic upholstery, and most fabrics, can be sudsed off safely if you know how.

Use thick warm soapsuds to lather over plastic upholstery on your sofa and chairs, but don't get it dripping wet. Rinse quickly with a clean damp sponge or cloth, and wipe dry.

If upholstery fabric can stand plain water, you can wash it with "dry" soapsuds. To make this, use your egg beater to whip some soap in a little water until the lather stands in stiff peaks like meringue. Work these thick suds over a small section of the upholstery with a circular motion, using a cloth, sponge, or brush. Scrape off the soiled suds with a spatula; then wipe the surface twice with a clean rinse cloth wrung almost dry so no water can soak into the fabric. Let the sections overlap as you go along until the entire piece is clean.

While you're at it, suds off the wood frames of your furniture the same way and apply fresh wax or polish.

Personal Touch
By
ROSS

In the office of the Bystander this week, "counting his blessings," as he paid another year's subscription to the paper was the Rev. J. H. Ross of Moran, now retired Baptist minister. "I have 58 receipts to show that I have taken the Bystander 58 years," he listed.

The Rev. Mr. Ross, as he looked forward to another Thanksgiving Day, said he "considers having a good Thanksgiving when one is at peace with God, then he can be at peace with his family."

Although this will be his first Thanksgiving in sixty-three years without his wife who died last February, the Rev. Mr. Ross said he will have much to be thankful for because "God has blessed me with health and strength and kept me going and out of the hospital."

"I can speak for experience. My wife was sick for four years until her death—and in my lifetime I have spent eleven days in the hospital."

The 81-years-old Virginian recalled that he has had many happy Thanksgivings, since he left his family home in Patrick County, for Roanoke, where he began working on the railroad. He went to West Virginia to work in the coal mines, then to Missouri where he married.

In 1920 he moved his wife and their only child, a daughter, to Moran, Ia. There tired minister recalled that the "happiest time he has had was in the early part of 1900 when he was working in Kansas City on the railroad. His wife was living in Huntsville, Mo., and he was not sure that he could get home.

"We had bought a place and had it paid for by Thanksgiving and I had been away working and was afraid that I could not get home so that we could give thanks.

"I made it home and my wife had a happy Thanksgiving dinner—plenty to eat—turkey, cranberries, duck, pumpkin pie—that is what I love best—and plenty of ice cream."

The Rev. Mr. Ross said friends in Perry have invited him out to dinner for next Thursday.

Now that he has retired from the ministry, he spends his time hunting and fishing and raising food at his Moran home. Last summer "I raised nearly everything that I eat," he revealed. He plans to add hog-raising next year.

The retired minister recalled that he pastored 45 years, starting at a booming mining camp in Missouri, known as "Sixty-One," where he spent 16 years. Then he went to Bethel Baptist church at Perry, Ia.,

Announce Engagement of Miss Duncan

MISS CHIQUITA MARIE DUNCAN

Mr. and Mrs. Earlhol Duncan, 1317 Day street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Chiquita Marie, and Cpl. Arthur S. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee, of 1129 Thirteenth street.

Miss Duncan, a native of Des Moines, is a member of Corinthian Baptist church, and a graduate of North High School. She is employed as a secretary at the Crocker Branch YMCA.

Corporal Lee, who returned recently from Korea, where he served with the Marines, ended recently a furlough here, and left for North Carolina for reassignment.

Born in Des Moines, he is a graduate of Des Moines Tech High School. He also, is a member of Corinthian church.

More perplexing than the new Cashword puzzle that is featured in the Sunday paper is the daily puzzle of what the all-ready wearied bus-riding passengers are to do next.

Like someone's got grievances against the poor human beings who have to depend upon public transportation and cannot afford to purchase motor cars to go to their daily work.

It isn't enough to have to spend long periods waiting for buses each morning and night. Missing them at intersections while loading is going on at mid-block, zig-zagging the routes, raising fares to 20 cents at the bat of an eye, and now trying to figure out how to get to that one and only place the company has to purchase a pass each week—all are enough to make you wonder what kind of a game is going on against the passengers.

Maybe, someone should start a new game called "Bus-Riding Obstacles," just to see how many more disadvantages the bus-rider can expect to suffer.

There is such a thing as mental cruelty which the courts recognize as sufficient grounds for action; but when added to physical exasperation and financial infiltration, all we can say is—"so help me God!"

Shriner's Pre-Thanksgiving Dance 100 Club, Wednesday, Nov. 24.

Overheard him telling one of his jokes down town the other day, while on a relief from his traffic-directing. It went like this:

"My wife kept telling me to get up and close the window because it was cold outside. Then I got up and closed the window and I said—now, it's warm outside, eh?"

That may be one reason Mrs. Thompson has to go to the beauty shop so often, to get her husband's jokes out of her head.

Mrs. Cora Shanks, 1309 DeWolf street, phoned that she was given a party Monday night at her home, and brought many gifts, in celebration of her seventy-eight birthday. Her hostesses were Mrs. Bernice Edmunds and Mrs. Violet Hunley, granddaughter and daughter-in-law.

Back in town, enjoying the Indian Summer weather is Mrs. Thelma E. Harrison who returned recently from Chicago, Ill., where she resided sev-

Treating a Child Like a Baby, Often Cause of Problems as Child Grows

BY AFTON SMITH, SUI ASST. PROFESSOR

Said a mother one day, "My baby does not mind me as well as he used to. He is ten years old now, but he is harder to manage than he was at three."

Said her friend, "He is no longer a baby, is he?"

"Well," replied the mother, "he is still a baby to me and I suppose he always will be. You see, he is our youngest."

Here was a ten-year-old boy who was hard to manage because he was still treated like a baby. Such treatment is often the cause of problems as a child grows older. We know that he weighs more at ten or twelve years of age than he weighed at three, and we can see that he is much taller. But we forget that his mind is growing as well as his body. We continue to treat him like a baby at an age when he can be reasoned with and when he can be appealed to on a higher level of interest.

William worked hard for a long time, helping his father drag bean poles down to the garden. He felt very important and helpful and he tried to follow his father's directions. After a while, he lost interest in the work, for he was only eight years old.

He became careless and stepped on a bean vine. Then his father scolded him sharply and William began to cry. Saying that he was a baby and more trouble than help, his father

DEPUTY SHERIFFS GET BAD ADVICE

Somebody gave 35 Polk County Deputy Sheriffs bad advice when they joined the Teamsters' Union in an effort to hold their jobs after January 1st. The County Attorney has ruled that the step is illegal in that it created a divided allegiance between the public and the union.

With this the Bystander fully agrees. Unions, like other groups do some silly things. And once they are allowed to get a toe in the door the people may have all kinds of stoppages, set down strikes, etc., with which to contend.

Maybe these men won't inconvenience the public. But whose knows that this situation will continue permanently? It is a chance too serious to take.

MCCARTHY SHOULD BE
CENSURED PROMPTLY

Thoroughly disgusting is a reasonable description of the proceedings in the U. S. Senate over the McCarthy censure report. And it becomes worse day by day for some senators are beginning to renege on their original position of the committee which recommended censure.

Few people object to Senator McCarthy's effort to route communism. But most reasonable people object to his methods.

Unfortunately, the Senate is greatly to blame for allowing Senator McCarthy to go too far in his illegal methods. It tolerated one incident after another hoping that he would tone down. But each outburst of rotten conduct, which was smoothed over by the Senate or allowed to go unchallenged, has simply sharpened him to try new things.

And now that a committee has recommended that he be censured for improper conduct (if the recommendations made by the committee are true Senator McCarthy certainly should be censured) McCarthy says that everybody who had anything to do with the report is being used by the communists to do their bidding (a smoke screen to be sure).

The U. S. Senate has earned the title of the greatest deliberative body in the world. However, the antics of Senator McCarthy and the apathy or fear of reprisal upon the part of other senators are undermining the prestige of that great body both at home and abroad.

BETTER TONES AMONG SOME GOVERNORS

Judging from reports which have come out of Boca Raton, Fla., where the recent southern conference of governors was held little was accomplished in the efforts of some to organize a concerted attack on the U. S. Supreme Court desegregation decision.

Seven governors and one governor-elect issued a joint statement later registering a protest against efforts to force mixing of the races in public schools.

The statement said the signers would attempt by constitutional methods "to preserve the right of the states to administer their public school systems to the best interest of all our people."

Those signing were Governors Thomas B. Stanley, Virginia; Robert F. Kennon, Louisiana; James F. Byrnes, South Carolina; Allan Shivers, Texas; Herman Talmadge, Georgia; Charley E. Johns, Florida; and Johnston Murray, Oklahoma and Governor-elect George Bell Timmerman of South Carolina.

Five other governors and one governor-elect attending the conference did not sign the statement. They were Governors Theodore R. McKeldin, Maryland; Lawrence Wetherby, Kentucky; Frank G. Clement, Tennessee; Francis Cherry, Arkansas; and William C. Marland, West Virginia, and Governor-Elect James E. Folsom of Alabama.

McKeldin issued a statement of his own in which he said that in his opinion it was the duty of every citizen to accept the Supreme Court decree regardless of how he felt about the matter.

McKeldin was the only Republican governor at the conference.

It is apparent that many states, which heretofore had segregated schools, are going to work to comply with the court's decision. And as this program is carried out in one state, compliance will trickle to the next one.

The recent improvement in the physical plants of segregated schools is an admission by southern states that they themselves were responsible for the ignorance and backwardness of the very people they don't want around for the reason that they are ignorant and backward.

But unlike those southern governors who refused to go along with the rabble, there are many fine white people in the South who are going to balance the scale against the rabble rouser and help their states comply with the law.

uled meeting and issued a directive that "under no circumstance" should Bowles, president of the so-called National Association for the Advancement of White People, be permitted to address a NAACP meeting.

Bowles Invited
The white supremacy advocate had been invited to speak by the Peekskill branch, host to the conference, without the knowledge of state officials or the national office.

Discussing the incident in the Board meeting, Dr. Tobias made it clear that he did not consider the issue of freedom of speech involved. "Freedom of speech," he said, "does not require us to make our platform available to a man in custody of the law as Bowles was at that time or to one who openly incites violation of the law of the land as interpreted by the U. S. Supreme Court. Bowles is opposed to everything for which we stand."

a man should so live that he will be cursed by the past and blessed by the future." Mr. Wright expressed confidence that "the bench and bar of South Carolina, the State itself officially, will rectify their present omission fittingly to reward this central and dominant figure of the epic struggle" to end racial discrimination and segregation.

Reviewing Judge Waring's southern origin and associations, Mr. Wright declared that the jurist had overcome regional limitations. He has "done far more than write judicial opinions which will affect the course of life for generations. He has demonstrated in his own personality the fact that man is capable of triumphing over self. The great contribution which he has made to the lives of us all is to be found in the demonstration that, by the grace of God, an individual, regardless of how he may be circumstanced and cabined, may reach that pinnacle of moral estate in which his own identity is merged and lost in a common humanity."

And now that a committee has recommended that he be censured for improper conduct (if the recommendations made by the committee are true Senator McCarthy certainly should be censured) McCarthy says that everybody who had anything to do with the report is being used by the communists to do their bidding (a smoke screen to be sure).

ponement of the trial. This was denied. An NAACP appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court brought an order for a new trial for Shepherd and Irvin. In an opinion handed down on April 9, 1951, the late Justice Robert H. Jackson said:

"These convictions, accompanied by such events, do not meet my civilized conception of due process of law. This case presents one of the best examples of one of the worst menaces to American justice."

Shepherd was killed and Irvin wounded by Sheriff Willis McCall on their way from the prison to the new trial on Nov. 6, 1951. The two prisoners were unarmed and handcuffed together, but McCall claimed he shot them in self-defense and was exonerated.

Second
At Irvin's second trial in Feb., 1952, as in his first trial, the prosecution failed to produce any medical evidence of the plaintiff's testimony that she had been raped. The U. S. Supreme Court refused to review the second conviction.

In its petition to be presented to the Supreme Court by Nov. 20, the NAACP will contend that the prosecution in the two trials of Irvin and his co-defendants refused to call to the stand a white doctor, the NAACP contends, could have testified that the housewife had not been criminally assaulted. The NAACP petition also will point up several other errors in the prosecution's case.

The Right To Choose

You look out the window and watch your teenager hurry off to school with his books under his arm. What will he choose to be when he grows up? Doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor—? On the surface he seems to be thinking only about football and girls, but underneath he's probably giving serious thought to his future.

In our country, a boy doesn't have to follow in his father's footsteps unless he wants to. There are thousands of different kinds of work to choose from, and he has a right to choose the kind that will give him the most satisfaction. But it takes more than just choosing. It takes ambition, education and experience and to follow a career successfully. This is one part of his preparation for the future where you can really help.

An Enemy

One of the enemies that could prevent him from making a free choice of a career is tuberculosis. TB no longer kills young people at the terrifying rate it did in the past, but it attacks thousands every year. And when it attacks it may mean not only a long period of treatment. It may also mean a new way of life.

to prevent a recurrence of the disease. If TB strikes, your boy may no longer be able to follow the calling of his choice, if it requires too much physical strain.

TB is caused by a germ. A healthy body can usually fight the invading germs to a standstill. You can help your boy keep well by seeing that he eats properly and gets enough sleep, rest, and exercise in the fresh air.

Despite precautions, a heavy invasion of TB germs may defeat the body's defenses, and tuberculosis may begin its slow and silent development. Since TB has no warning symptoms in its early stages, it is harder to find before it has done serious damage than some other diseases. Doctors advise young people over 15 to have a chest X-ray once a year to make sure that TB doesn't get a head start. Your boy may think it's "sissy stuff" to go for a medical check-up when he feels perfectly well. You can persuade him that a few minutes in a doctor's office now isn't to pay to help his dreams for the future come true.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

If you didn't hear or see or hear about Iowa's 22-20 loss to Minnesota last Saturday you must live on Mars. Everywhere we went people were criticizing Reichow for calling a pass play on first down when his runner had been gaining ground all day. Then they argued about the pitchout that resulted in a safety. Well, it is easy to call plays the next day or so later. But when one is in there getting one's brains bated out and under the pressure of trying to win, then the signal calling becomes a real job.

No one need be ashamed of the performances of the Big Five. Don't think there was ever a quintet of Negroes in the Big Ten or any other big time school to equal those guys. The penalty that nullified Earl Smith's long run was a tough break. But we have always argued that if a game is close enough for one official decision to win or lose it the thing was close enough to have been decided on several different plays before or after the fatal decision. Think about that game.

Do you know the night boys who work in the Register Sports department think Iowa's five Negroes ought to be included on any All-American team. They are really sold on those boys. Call them by their first name: Eddie, Cal, Vince, John and Earl. The general vein of people we talk to have forgotten that the kids are Negroes. They recognize only their ability.

Kid Lawson

The death of Kid Lawson brings back memories. The kid was unfortunate to have been at his best in an era when Negro boxers weren't considered anything but trial horses or were supposed to lose to make white fighters build reputations.

Lawson was one of the few Negroes who didn't go for that. He had confidence in himself and wanted to do his best all the time. His great rival here was Louie Mays, a hard-hitting left hander. Lawson tangled with the Greek several times and made him look bad. But the decisions were left to whomever happened to write about the fights, called newspaper decisions. So the Kid never won.

He wouldn't get into the fight for anybody unless he thought he was ready, and was just beginning to be popular when an accident ended his career. Lawson was active in YMCA work and served as official referee for the Willie House and last year refereed the Golden Gloves bouts. A fitting climax to a real athletic career.

AAA Offers $3,175
To School Children
In Poster Contest

Art students in elementary, junior high and high schools throughout Iowa have an opportunity to share in cash prizes totaling $3,175.00 in the American Automobile Association's eleventh annual National Traffic Safety Poster Contest, according to an announcement by E. R. "Johnny" Lange, Safety Director for the AAA Motor Club of Iowa.

In addition to the cash awards, the ten posters judged best will be reproduced and sent to teachers in more than 150,000 elementary and junior high schools throughout the country to assist in teaching safety during the next school year. Encouraging all young Iowa artists to enter, Lange added that Iowans had done extremely well in the last four contests by carrying away three first place awards.

"In spite of the fact that a special announcement is being sent to schools all over Iowa, there may be some that will not receive it," Lange said. In these cases he suggested that art students, supervisors or

YES, THIS CAMPAIGN IS IMPORTANT TO POLK COUNTY

This week you've read and heard about the new Easter Seal Rehabilitation Center that is being built in Des Moines to help physically handicapped children and adults. You have been asked to give YOUR money to help build this Center.

You may well have asked, "With all of the organizations here at home asking for money, why should I help build this Center in Des Moines?"

The answer is simple.

This Center will be used as available to a crippled child in Polk County as it will be to a child living in Des Moines. It is built in Des Moines only because this is a central location. It becomes part of the facilities available to you and your children whether you give or not.

You may well have asked, "Why should I give at all?"

Again the answer is simple.

These crippled children need this building . . . they need it badly . . . and they need it NOW. They can't wait. Twisted legs and arms that can be helped this year may be beyond help next year.

SO COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS . . . and then give from your heart to "Thursday's Children" . . . the crippled children.

Lifesaver

When you need help in a hurry, there's nothing like a quick phone call to save seconds—even lives. If you're on a party line, you, too, can be a lifesaver—by releasing the line promptly to let emergency calls go through. Other tips for good party-line service: space your calls, replace the receiver carefully, hang up quietly when you find the line in use. Party-line courtesy is catching. Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.
