Anti-Segregation Clauses Asked for States, School Districts Getting U. S. Aid

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Feb. 10, called upon Senator Lister Hill, chairman of Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, to support the inclusion of an anti-segregation clause in the proposed federal aid to education legislation.

The telegram, signed by Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, cites the United States Supreme Court ruling of May 17, 1954, which declared racial segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

Asks Certification

Reaffirming the Association's endorsement of federal aid to education, the NAACP telegram expressed the conviction that any such legislation "should require states or school districts receiving such assistance to certify their compliance with the Court's ban on segregated schools."

Because of "the openly avowed intention of some of the states to defy the Court and evade its unanimous ruling a clause requiring compliance is essential," the NAACP spokesman told the Alabama senator. "Since such a stipulation is merely a statement that the states will abide by the U. S. Constitution," he urged Senator Hill "to support the inclusion of such a provision in the bill to be reported out by your committee."

Appearing before the Senate committee at a hearing on January 31, Clarence Mitchell, director of the Association's Washington bureau, asked the committee to include a clause providing for federal aid only to states and localities complying with the Supreme Court decision.

Sends Memorandum

Meanwhile, the Association sent a memorandum to all its state and local units calling upon them to urge their senators and the members of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

Apartment, Tavern Damaged by Fire at 12th and Center

Damage in the near-zero temperature last Saturday night in the 1100 block on Center street, where 32 persons in the four apartments over the burned building and the two buildings adjacent to the east of it.

Damaged were Bob's Place, tavern at 1110 Center street, and the upstairs apartments. Smoke and water caused damage to the NU-Way Cleaners, 1108 Center Street, a shoeshine parlor and other apartments.

Many Spectators

In the first hour of the fire smoke billowed across Keosauqua Way, attracting many spectators. Flames intermittently erupted through the roof of the burning building housing the tavern.

District Fire Chief Virgil Quinn said the fire was caused by hot ashes piled against a partition in the furnace room at the rear of the tavern. Quinn said the flames spread up the partition to the second floor and then to the roof.

Largely Wood

The building largely wood construction inside a shell of brick veneer, "was just made to burn," Quinn said. He said damage might not exceed $5,000.

Spray from the hoses coated wires and nearby buildings with ice, and sand had to be spread in the street after the fire before curlers and other traffic could proceed.

Capital Close-Up From Washington

BY CONSTANCE DANIEL
Nixon Rang Two Bells

Richard M. Nixon, a pleasant young man in a brown suit, rang two bells at the Elks' annual Education-for-Citizenship banquet, here last week. As a Democrat sitting next to us at the press table, remarked—"I really don't see how he could have done much better."

The first bell the Vice-President rang was civil rights. After lauding IBPOEW's 28-year-old scholarship program, which has produced some 800 Elk "alumni," he identified himself as a scholarship-aided alumnus from Whittier College (Calif.) and Duke University (law school). Then he brought down the crowded house telling his fellow-citizens that his own two children nattered public

Challenge Segregation of Negro and Mexican Youth In Southern California

San Diego, Calif.—The segregation of both Negro and Mexican-American children and the discriminatory assignment of Negro teachers in El Centro, Calif., were challenged in two suits filed here this week in U. S. District Court by lawyers for the NAACP, the American Civil Liberties Union, and the Alianza Hispano Americana.

The simultaneous actions each ask the court to adjudge the segregation practices "void and unconstitutional." The actions further ask the court to compel the El Centro school authorities to admit "all persons of Negro and Mexican descent to the full use, enjoyment and privilege of attending schools in their respective districts."

Parents Sue

The parents of 44 children of Mexican descent and of 20 Negro children are named in the suit as plaintiffs. One white child is listed among the plaintiffs and asks that he be admitted to an elementary school which only Negro and Mexican-American children have been permitted to attend.

Commenting on the case, Franklin H. Williams, NAACP secretary-counsel for the West Coast, said that racial segregation in El Centro schools began in 1943, when a large number of Negroes and Mexican-Americans migrated to the El Centro region to work on Imperial Valley farms.

Rigid Segregation

In 1951, Mr. Williams continued, the NAACP and the American Civil Liberties Union conducted a joint survey of the El Centro schools and recommended integration of both pupils and teachers to the school authorities.

Colorado Governor's Confidential Stenographer

MISS ERYLENE BRYANT

Denver, Colo.—Miss Erylene Bryant, 27 Governor Johnson's confidential stenographer and the first Negro woman to occupy such a position, finds the whole situation "a little overwhelming," wrote Eva Hodges, Denver Post Staff Writer in a special article recently.

The former secretary to H. R. Catherwood, president of the Western Wood Preserving, Inc., she'd had preliminary discussions on her new position but learned of her appointment via a radio newscast.

Miss Bryant, who has a classic profile, a quick smile and amiable disposition, began her duties which include handling the governor's personal correspondence and other office details.

Native of Kansas City

A native of Kansas City, she came to Denver as a young girl to make her home with her grandparents, the late Rev. L. P. Bryant, pastor of Shorter AME church, and Mrs. Bryant. She attended Morey junior high school and was graduated from Manual high in 1943.

Like her grandfather before her, she attended Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Mo., two years, and then completed a course at Levitan Business college in Philadelphia.

Worked in Prosecutors Office

She worked in the prosecutor's office at Kansas City as a secretary-stenographer and at the command and general staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, before returning to Denver two years ago.

Attorney Who
Defended Mrs. Moss
Appointed By Ike

Thomasville, Ga.—The attorney who successfully defended Mrs. Annie Lee Moss against "security risk" charges won a District of Columbia job nomination last Saturday from President Eisenhower.

George E. C. Hayes, 60, Washington, D. C., was nominated to be a member of the District public utilities commission. He is general counsel of Howard University.

Hayes stirred the wrath of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) when he insisted last spring that Mrs. Moss be allowed to deny charges of Communist affiliations without threat of perjury prosecution. He represented her at later hearings and won her continued employment with the army.

Miss Bryant comes under the classification of "bachelor girl," but not because she has anything against matrimony. "I think it would be rather nice, as a matter of fact," she says.

She shares a basement apartment in a home at 3720 Vine street, with her brindle boxer, Scamp, which she purchased from a colonel at Fort Leavenworth four years ago, and who "has the run of the house, the yard and the neighborhood."

She enjoys cooking and has a preference for steaks "real rare."

Of Governor Johnson, to whom she was highly recommended by the Negro community of Denver, she says: "He seems like a very nice warm person."

And of her new position, she reports: "I'll just try to do a real good job of it and hope their confidence hasn't been misplaced."

Congressman Says 'Expose Elements' Against Integration

Washington—American Negroes should "flush out and expose elements . . . who resist integration because they are dependent on our segregated economy for survival," a U.S. Congressman told delegates to the NAACP National Youth Legislative Conference here last week.

Rep. Charles C. Diggs (D-Mich.) urged also that Negroes, "in this era of integration," expand their interests outside the field of civil rights. He asked the delegates to work for an increased federal minimum wage, greater income tax exemption and a revised Taft-Hartley law.

Ring Doorbells

Another speaker at the conference, Mrs. Jaunita Jackson Mitchell, said the NAACP needs young people to "ring doorbells and get people out to register and vote."

"The potential of the Negro vote in the South is the swiftest way to clean up segregation," she declared. Mrs. Mitchell is secretary of the legal redress committee of the Association's Baltimore branch. She called Maryland "the NAACP's workshop" because "it is a state with a real Southern exposure."

'In the Spirit of Lincoln' Organization Seeks to Complete 'Unfinished Task'

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is striving to attain "that 'new birth of freedom' heralded by Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg," a top NAACP officer declared on a special Lincoln Day program here Friday.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's board of directors, noted that February 12, marks "not only the 146th anniversary of the Great Emancipator, but also the 46th birthday of the NAACP, for our organization grew out of a call for a conference on Feb. 12, 1909, the centennial of Lincoln's birth."

"It was my 10-year campaign," he said.

court decisions, Presidential decrees or legislation.

"But we recognize, also that such actions constitute necessary points of departure from which educational programs may be developed to achieve the ideal of an America of equal opportunity for all. This is the kind of America which Abraham Lincoln envisioned and the kind of America for which he 'gave the last full measure of devotion.'"

Lincoln Spirit

In the Lincoln spirit, the NAACP leader continued, "we have urged our local units to seek conferences with their respective school boards for the purpose of developing acceptable plans for early compliance with the Court's ruling. Throughout the year . . .

Hold New Suspect in Death Of N. Y. University Coed

New York —(CNS)—It almost looked for certain that the Negro friend of plump but pretty Ann Yarrow, white co-ed of New York University, was her killer. Thirty-year-old Ernest Jackson, 6 feet 2 inches and a student, too at the university, admitted he had been intimate with Miss Yarrow, who was so brutally slain last Sunday morning. She had been strangled, raped and then slashed 37 times with what police believed to be a knife.

Jackson, twice married, also knew of the whereabouts of Miss Yarrow, who had gone into "hiding" in a dingy sixth floor walkup apartment where she was killed. Questioned 29 hours by police, Jackson's alibi was that he went to a movie, alone, Saturday night, got home about 2 a. m. He had his ticket stub for the show but his wife, Ruby, couldn't tell what time he came in for she didn't see him until the next morning.

Turned Police

It was Ann's father in Ventura, Calif., who turned police to look elsewhere for the killer. He had a letter from his daughter saying she was going out with a new friend called "Mike." A salesman, and a friend of Ann's friend, Mike Morelli has a police record. He has said he went out with a prostitute the fateful Saturday night and that it was while fighting with her that he got the scratches about his face and neck. Police call his story "fantastic" for they have found no one to substantiate.

Meanwhile, Miss Yarrow's father voiced his sympathy for Jackson. "That man has been under a heavy strain," he cited, nothing that the newspapers even in California were quick to believe a Negro had committed the crime. "I just know he couldn't be involved because of what Anne said to her friends about him. She was very friendly with him. A man who studies human relations and how to help people isn't the type to commit a horrible crime like this."

Police stopped questioning Jackson and call Morelli their prime suspect.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

Nation wide observance of Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will be held February 20-27. President Dwight D. Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the observance. Ben Duffy, President, Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne, Inc., is general chairman.

The 1955 theme is "One Nation Under God." Special events more than 10,000 communities throughout the United States will mark Brotherhood Week. Educational institutions, religious and civic organizations will participate. Programs will extend the work of the National Conference which stimulates year-around programs in schools and colleges, churches and synagogues, magazines, motion pictures, radio and television.

The purposes of Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference, are to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for people and human rights. "We try to dramatize the practical things that people can do to promote an understanding and realization of those ideals. Brotherhood Week is essentially a campaign against the prejudices and bigotries that disfigure and distort religious, business, social and political relations."

An inventory of the nation's moral and spiritual resources for brotherhood is being undertaken by the National Conference as one of its main tasks during the current year.

The big promotion during Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Clinchy, will be to urge people to do more than give the principles of brotherhood mere lip service. "By getting to know the other fellow, the one who has a different creed, race or national origin than yours, by understanding his viewpoint, his ambitions and goals, you will find old prejudices disappear. You'll find that we are all one family made strong and great by the very differences that so many times divide us as individuals and groups. You'll learn to accept or reject a person strictly on his merits as a human being and not because he happens to be different from you."

"We hope that during Brotherhood Week people will get together with people they know, people they don't know, and with people they wish to know, in the informality of their own homes. By planning simple discussions about the meaning of brotherhood, and what it means in their own lives, they can contribute to the real spirit of Brotherhood Week."

Abbreviated Statements From Prominent Americans

For the first time in history people have been discovering that they can substitute understanding for tolerance, reconciliation for irrecconciliation, brotherliness for bitterness, love for hate.
By Edith Johnson, Oklahoma City (Okla.) Oklahoman

In these recent years the spirit of tolerance and good will has had a steady growth in this country. Where any opposite feeling has found expression it has been short-lived. The plain reason is that prejudice and antagonism, racial or religious, cannot flourish in the American climate.
Roy A. Roberts, Editor, Kansas City (Mo.) Star

Brotherhood Week, Feb. 20 to 27, is the vehicle designed by the National Conference of Christians and Jews for the advancement of justice, democratic principles, understanding and good-will among all peoples.
(Courtesy of the Davenport (Iowa) Daily Times)

The concept of "brotherhood" among men is another way of saying "good human relations"—about which there is often more talk than application. The nub of the matter with regard to good human relations is, of course, our ability as individuals to live up to the high principles most of us readily embrace and to which we pay lip-service.
Ralph J. Bunche, Director, Department of Trusteeship, United Nations

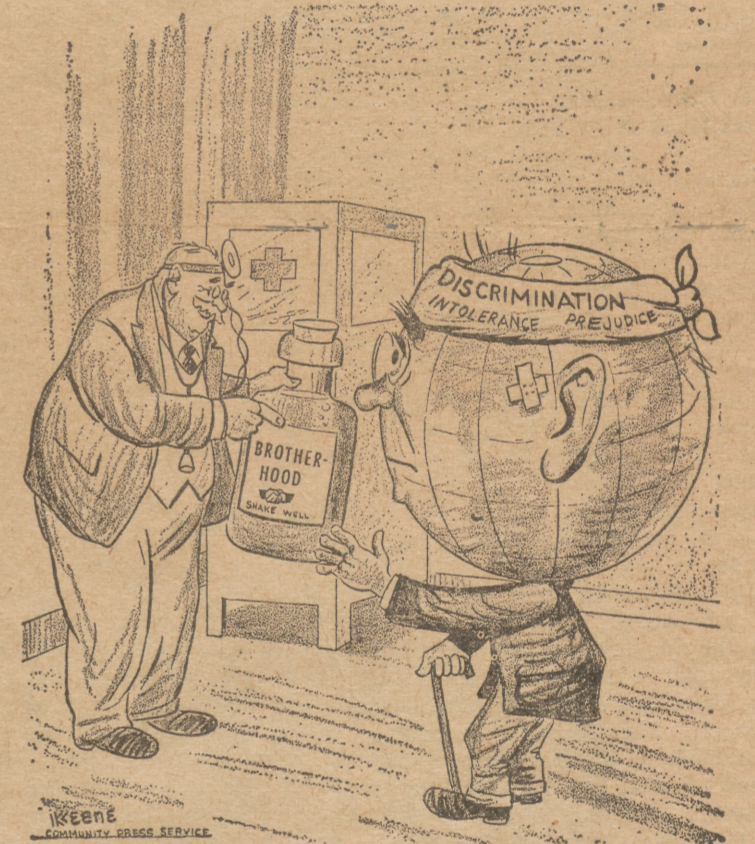

One of the great ills of our time stems from the problem of how to bridge the gap between principle and practice.
Millicent C. McIntosh, President, Barnard College

The present year marks a milestone in American history and in the realization of the ideals of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. When the Supreme Court decided in May that racial segregation in the public schools of the United States is illegal, a victory of transcendent importance was won for all who believe in the unity of the human race and the equal rights of men in a democratic society.
Sarah Gibson Blanding, President, Vassar College

America is a young land, but a great land, a powerful land, a good land. And it has become that way largely because we've been able to avoid the hatreds that have swept far older nations and drenched them with fratricidal blood.
Rabbi Norman Salt, President, Synagogue Council of America

We talk about building bridges of brotherhood around the world in answer to the communist pretensions, and that's a splendid vision. But brotherhood begins on a man to man basis here at home and not a mass to mass basis across the oceans. Without that footing, it is idle talk and an empty vision.
Eric Johnston, President, Motion Picture Association of America

The elimination of statutory segregation in public education not only provides new opportunities for achieving the American ideal but also confronts the citizens of communities with various problems.
Allyn P. Robinson, Director, Commission on Religious Organizations, National Conference of Christians and Jews

Mrs. Forest Williams Of East Moline Here

Mrs. Forest Williams of East Moline, Ill., arrived last Saturday to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. Frances Moore, 1211 Laurel street.

by Mrs. Helen Sharp. She presented me one of her shop's calendars with the picture of a handsome brownskin girl and then queried: "Would you like a rose?" And as I thanked her for the flower, I said to myself—"here is a lady who knows about brotherhood and good will, too."

At some relaxing with more books and papers after a busy day, I turned on Radio Station WHO to await the Telephone Hour program to hear Miss Lily Pons. On the air at the time was a program of Piano Classics being played by Dr. Curt Rogosinski. I had missed the opening of the piano number but it was something in a minor key and I was in a quiet mood as I awaited the end.

Then Dr. Rogosinski, with an accent that sounded foreign announced something about "a lonesome darky whistling in an alley in the dead of night," and I dropped my reading and began to wonder what was going on and—where I was.

He informed in his choppy English as he played the next part of the suite of "Alley Tunes," something about a "a darky playing . . . and a pickaninny in the shadows."

Then I wondered where Dr. Rogosinski has been all these years. Now, I'm sure he must have been observing Brotherhood Week, too, because right after that "Alley Tunes" suite, he chose Nathaniel Dett's beautiful "Magnolia Suite". But somebody should straighten out Dr. Rogosinski's description bring him up to date on the language to use on the air for good race relations.

Tuesday morning I was still wondering about the "Alley Tunes" and why the WHO pianist described the numbers as he did. I phoned the library of WHO, but the librarian was out, and, when I asked to get the names of the numbers that Dr. Rogosinski had played, she was "home sick and would not be back until tomorrow."

So I phoned the music department of the city library and a very obliging woman secured me all of the information I wanted on "Alley Tunes," written by one David Guion of Ballinger, Texas.

"They are three scenes from the South—and they are entitled: 'Broder Sin Killer and Flock of Sheep,' 'Lonesome Whistler,' and 'Harmonica Player,' the lady at the public library informed as she went on to tell me more about the composer.

Still curious about Dr. Rogosinski's description, I asked the librarian: "Is there anything about a darky or a pickaninny?" The librarian paused and then said—"No there isn't."

Ridding ourselves and our communities of old roots—old remnants of days gone by—which clutter up good soil and make it difficult for democracy's seeds to take root is a daily job. It is a job that should be given much thought as well as practice—not in just one month in the year during the observance of Brotherhood, but every day.

On guard to rid the land of democracy's weeds and old roots are many organizations like Des Moines Interracial Commission, which through its secretary, Atty. W. Lawrence Oliver, wrote the following letter to Radio Station KRNT, protesting the "Don Bell Show With Sam." Mr. Oliver said:

"I have listened with regret to the way in which you handle your program each morning on the 'Don Bell Show With Sam'. We do not consider it good taste to attempt to mimic a race over the radio anymore, and we consider it a personal affront to the race that you are attempting to mimic.

"This matter was discussed in the Des Moines Interracial Commission on Nov. 22, 1954, and by the unanimous decision of the Commission, I

Personal Touch
By MARIE ROSS ★

The most puzzling things can happen during the month when all of the nation is in the act of paying the annual respects to Brotherhood and repeating the Biblical verse: "Thou shall love thy neighbor as thy self". After listening to good religious sermons on Brotherhood at the churches last Sunday, and reading vital articles on the necessity of ridding ourselves of prejudices in order to live peacefully with ourselves, our neighbors and the rest of the world, I turned on the radio Sunday evening to hear coast-to-coast discussions from New York City's Town Hall Meeting on the nation's number one subject of the century—"Desegregation Law and Practice."

When Senator Ellender of Louisiana aired his reasons for wanting the continuation of segregation in the public schools in his state and declared that "no effort is being made on the part of colored people to improve themselves morally or otherwise," I listened at him grasp at last straws of prejudices and wondered where he's been while the waters of progress have been rising in his land. His remarks were tucked away for after-Brotherhood Month hash.

LET'S QUIT TALKING AND ACT BOLDLY

During the coming week, Brotherhood Week is being observed in most communities throughout the U. S. Sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the organization has carried on these special observances annually and worked through committees and teams which have conducted panels and appeared at meetings in an effort to create better sentiment for brotherhood throughout the year.

Many organizations have cooperated with the National Conference believing that its program of education did much to create a climate where many of the seeds of better racial cooperation could grow. Apparently it has been pretty well financed.

As a part of Brotherhood Week in Des Moines, a national human rights program will be conducted. Prominent speakers will appear. The By-stander understands a movement is on foot to make it an annual affair.

No law or course of action can be very successful without a receptive attitude upon the part of those whose conduct it proposes to regulate or follow. And therefore these conferences have their value. But the time for talk tests is a thing of the past. Too long have we recognized that race prejudice is wrong, that everyone is entitled to free and equal consideration before the law and in his effort to make a living. Too much have we talked and talked about such things but formulated no definite program to put these principles into practice.

Here in Iowa, sentiment for a positive program is good. And while there are some institutions, companies and unions that refuse to operate in a democratic manner, many have taken and do follow the right course.

All the angles have been "resolved" throughout the nation by many organizations operating "with caution" and "without haste". But Negroes did not vote with the freedom they do today; Negroes of equal training and experience did not get the same salary as white teachers; Negro students were not given an opportunity to get the education of their choice in some states; Negroes were not permitted to serve on petit and grand juries in some states; Jim Crow and residential segregation were legal until after the NAACP, with little money but a program of positive action, fought cases involving each of these principles through the courts and won favorable decisions.

Unfortunately too many organizations and individuals fear to tackle the common problems in their respective communities and deal with them boldly throughout the year without fear that this or that person or organization will not like it; that time is not ripe; that the thing must not be pushed too fast. And yet it would have taken a hundred years to accomplish by education all of the things the NAACP has been able to do in twenty years.

Much needs to be done 365 days a year in Iowa to help make brotherhood a reality; but talk, talk and resolve is a pretty slow program.

To this end, it is hoped that Brotherhood Week in Des Moines, with the emphasis placed on it by Human Rights institute will produce a blue print by which positive action can be taken.

WHAT IS TO BE GAINED HERE?

Prior to 1953, the Republican Party had not controlled a national administration for twenty years. In fact, Republican fortunes got pretty low at times. Thus it was thought that Republicans would maintain a pretty solid front for at least during President Eisenhower's term. But this has not been the case. When Congress convened there were those who began pecking away at the administration and have kept up this running line of destructive criticism since.

A group of these critics met in Chicago Saturday, Lincoln's birthday, where they engaged in a series of speeches by Senators McCarthy of Wisconsin, Malone of Nevada and Derksstein of Illinois criticizing the Republican administration, a retired general who has no Republican record, capped the climax by advocating a third party.

In fact the meeting was definitely a disgrace. Most of this criticism centers around the effort of some old timers to block progressive legislation. The charge is that the administration has gone new deal and contrary to the principles of the Republican party.

Maybe some of these changes are true but it is foolish to expect the US to move back to a program antedating the 1930's. The New Deal gave the country some good legislation which the people would be unwilling to kick out. And Mr. Eisenhower knows that the people wish them continued.

Of course, the Democrats had the same experience which went to the extent of a rump (Dixiecrat) party. Mr. Eisenhower is doing an excellent job operating under very difficult conditions. And the people believe in him. But all the Dixiecrats have tumbled back to the Democratic party, because their program did not work, so will the disgruntled Republicans who are fighting Mr. Eisenhower's administration.

They will not, however, take part in or yield to any schemes devised to evade or circumvent the clear meaning of the Court's unanimous decision.

The Lincoln Day program, sponsored by the NAACP, was broadcast over the ABC network. Readings from Lincoln's speeches were given by Frank Silvera, stage and film star. A Negro spiritual was sung by Robert McFerrin of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

The program was produced by James P. Terzian, and was a public service broadcast.

Ban on U. S. Aid

"The acceptance of federal aid in any form," the resolution declared, "must require a positive pledge that all activities, programs or construction made possible or assisted thereby must be free from racial segregation."

The memorandum cited this resolution and added: "It is unthinkable that anyone should expect the NAACP, which won the school segregation cases, to remain silent on a proposition to give federal money to states which have declared flatly that they intend to maintain segregated schools in defiance of the Supreme Court."

Southern California

SEE FRONT PAGE among high school students was abolished, the NAACP officers said, but "rigid segregation of children in kindergarten through grade eight was maintained." Last year the NAACP conducted another survey of the El Centro schools.

The NAACP now has been joined by the Alianza Hispano Americana, an organization among Mexicans, in the fight to end segregated schools in El Centro.

Named as defendants in the current suit are Guy Weakly, superintendent, and all trustees of the El Centro School District and the Central Union High School District; Olin Cresham, superintendent of schools of Imperial County; and the five members of the Imperial County board of supervisors.

Refusing Credit

Following appeals from NAACP members and others in Mississippi who were being penalized because they demanded the right to vote and compliance with the Supreme Court anti-segregation ruling of May 17, 1954, Mr. Wilkins, on January 10, wrote to leading business institutions throughout the country asking them to join the NAACP in making deposits in the Tri-State Bank for the purpose of expanding its lending capacity.

May white lending agencies in the state were refusing credit to militant Negroes to whom they had previously granted credit. As a result, Negro spokesmen were threatened with mortgage foreclosures, denial of financing for agricultural and business projects, and rejection of applications for loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

Atomic Energy Works for Health

The world of the future: cars with atomic engines, houses atomically heated. We think of things like this when people talk of the peaceful uses of the atom. But atomic energy is already at work for us in the laboratories of medical researchers seeking ever better ways to cure and prevent disease.

Scientists have found that by "labeling" a substance they are studying with radioactive isotopes they can follow its behavior more accurately than ever before. These isotopes are byproducts of the manufacture of atomic energy and are allocated for research by the US Atomic Energy Commission.

Letter to Editor

Writes Mr. Meriwether 'Leaped Off Deep End'

Mr. Harry C. Meriwether is sincere in what he is doing and saying but he certainly leaped off the deep end when he made the assertion that interracial marriage tends to weaken mental capacity. Presumably he believes that the children born of such unions are not as strong intellectually as the children whose parents are of the same race.

How then would he explain the fact that Alexander Dumas of France is one of the world's most widely read novelists?

For nearly a century readers all over the world have been fascinated with his thrilling tales—and are still. He was a son of a white mother and a Negro father.

What About Pushkin

What about Alexander Pushkin, beloved poet of Russia during the early nineteenth century? He had a white father and an Abyssinian mother.

Coleridge Taylor of England was an outstanding musician some years ago. He was the child of a Negro father and a white mother.

It is well known that Booker T. Washington and Frederick Douglass had Negro mothers and white fathers.

There are thousands of people all over the world whose parents are of different races but they have unusual mental capacity.

Governor of New Hampshire Proclaims 'Amos Fortune Day'

New York N. Y.—The researches of CBS Radio's James Fasset into the history of Amos Fortune, 18th Century freedman, have resulted in a proclamation by Governor Lane Dwinell of New Hampshire, naming February 20, "Amos Fortune Day."

Mr. Fasset told Amos Fortune's story on a CBS Radio New York Philharmonic-Symphony broadcast intermission two years ago, and again last year. He will repeat the story, "Sacred to the Memory of Amos Fortune" on CBS Radio Sunday, Feb. 20.

Governor Dwinell cited the achievements of Amos Fortune, who "born in 1710 free in Africa, made a slave and sold in America, did by the strength of his character and his industry surmount almost of New Hampshire." He stated that "Amos Fortune did . . . by his life exemplify the highest obligations of good citizenship."

Calling attention to the fact that February 20 is also part of Negro drug became radioactive when the drug was labeled with an isotope named Carbon 14, whereas resistant germs did not become radioactive. Now they are able to study just how isoniazid attacks the susceptible TB germs. With this information, doctors treating TB will know better how and when to use the drug to help TB patients.

This is only one of many medical research projects in which radioactive isotopes help the scientist to "see" things beyond the power of any microscope yet invented. These test tube experiments may seem far removed from the problem of the tuberculosis patient lying in his hospital bed. But because of them, the doctor knows more about his disease, the germ that causes it, and the means of curing it.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

Every week one reads or listens to a lot about basketball officiating. It is our guess that the pro rule of shooting at least every so often will eventually be adopted by the colleges.

Now that we think of it, we ran into a similar rule in Fort Smith, Ark., about 1906. Our club played strictly control ball and so the guy who was refereeing stopped our whipping the ball around and gave the ball to the home team, saying if we wouldn't shoot we ought to let them try.

Of course, we did a slow burn, but that was too far from home to really get mad, so we laughed it off especially since we won the game. But now we know the guy was just twenty years ahead of the rules.

The number of Negroes playing big time basketball around the country is surprising. The current number one team has four Negroes in the standing lineup and features a seven-foot guy who can handle himself with the best of them.

Now it looks as if the Iowa-Minnesota game is to be the one to decide the Big Ten race. The Illinois coach stop both Iowa and the Gophers on their next time around. Then some of the other door mats are capable of rising up and stopping a championship contender with no warning.

Boxing

We were hoping that Joe Louis' Al Andrews could come through but it looks as if the fellow doesn't have it. Would like to see Johnson and Moore go it for the light heavyweight crown. But Archie wants Rocky and may let his title go by the boards. But, it will be quite a while before Negroes hold six of the eight crowns as they once did. But they don't do badly at that. They hold five out of eight and most of the leading contenders are Negroes.

Everything locally points to the Golden Gloves bouts here. The directors here are expecting some red hot competition. If Mel Barber can get his Willkie House team in shape they should grab off not one but some crowns.

History Week and Brotherhood Week, Governor Dwinell proclaimed "the day, February 20, 1955, to be Amos Fortune Day," and further said, "I do call upon the citizens of New Hampshire to consider on that

A new note was added to banquetting, hereabouts, when the former Congressman from Ohio, George H. Coming off a poor second in competition with the hungry diners determination to dine—and to make a little din of their own—the Ohio solo announced that he would (and he did) lead one and all in singing "When the Roll Is called Up Yonder?"
