K. C., Mo., Bandits Halted After Attempted Holdup; One Killed; 2 Jailed Here

A trio of Kansas City, Mo., bandits involved in an attempted holdup of a West Des Moines grocer was broken up with the killing of one by a state highway patrolman and the arrest of two.

Shot to death last Friday noon in Atlantic when he and two companions sought to escape officers was Cornelius Johnson Davis, 33.

Captured were James Jackson, 18, and Marcel Cole, 17, who are being held in the Polk County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each. They pleaded innocent to charges of assault with intent to rob.

Police said that the trio had beaten and attempted to rob Sol Brody, 63, of 100 11th street, West Des Moines, Friday morning.

Brody, operator of the store, said two of them entered the store and asked for some ice cream. As he handed the ice cream to one of them,

Capital Close-Up From Washington

BY CONSTANCE DANIEL
Morrow to White House Staff; Significant

Washington, D. C. — For many years it has been evident that an official appointment to the White House was overdue, and just as evident that whoever was named, in whatever capacity, should be a person of recognized competence and integrity—definitely not chosen from the ranks of the claimers, climbers and attention-seekers.

In this column for the week ending March 5, we commented that "murmurings add up to growing recognition of the need for a strong, full-time civil rights guard" at the White House. In Close-Up for the week ending March 26, we said, "Urgently needed hereabouts, are solid, unscarred citizens, whose names command nation-wide respect—who are neither fire-eaters nor quibblers, who understand politics from the word 'go,' but are not professional politicians, thinking and planning within the limits of political expediency. Compromise there may have to be, but it should be based on clear and undissimulated fact.

"A Channing Tobias of New York, or a Bennie Mays of Atlanta, on the Pennsylvania Avenue—White House-to-Capitol circuit — (full-time — no more now-you-see-'em-now-you-don't consultants) would not be wishing for the moon. . ."

Much will be said, elsewhere, about the choice of Everett Frederic Morrow, former Business Adviser at Commerce, CBS analyst and NAACP Field Secretary, as Coordinator of Internal Management Affairs in the Special Projects Group at the White House. We simply want to say that the Morrow appointment fits our specifications perfectly. We applaud it without reservation.

Garrison told Judge Grune he was playing poker. The cases against the other two men are set for July 22.

Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals Has Jurisdiction Over Four Southern States

Richmond, Va.—Southern statutes providing for the separation of races on city buses, trolley cars and other means of transportation suffered a severe setback July 14.

In an unprecedented and unanimous decision the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit ruled that the age-old "separate but equal" doctrine has been laid to rest by recent Supreme Court decisions and "can no longer be regarded as a correct statement of the law" in the field of interstate commerce. It declared that the recent Supreme Court decision should apply to segregation on city buses within the state.

ceived in the abdomen struck by the driver. Mrs. Flemming took a seat in the white section of the bus and was ordered by the driver into the rear of the bus in loud, abusive and threatening language and tone. She became frightened and feared further humiliation and bodily harm and at the next corner she attempted to follow a white passenger out of the front door. The driver ordered her to leave by the rear door and struck her in the stomach to further force her to obey his order.

Originally Dismissed

The case was originally dismissed by U. S. District Judge George Bell Timmerman on the ground that the separate but equal doctrine of Plessy v. Ferguson was still in control as to interstate commerce and that the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the school segregation cases did not apply in the area of transportation.

Attorney for the bus company argued that federal jurisdiction was not applicable because the South

Taboo Gambling At Elks Convention In Atlantic City

Philadelphia — Gambling will be "taboo" during the Grand Lodge Convention of the Negro Elks in Atlantic City, Aug. 20 to 27, bringing 100,000 delegates.

Dr. Robert H. Johnson, Grand Exalted Ruler, Improved Benevolent Order of Elks of the World, today addressed a letter to Director Thomas B. Wootton, Commissioner of Police and head of the Department of Public Safety in the resort where the '56 National Convention will meet, in which he asked Wootton to use the authority of his office to prohibit professional gamblers from invading the Convention. Dr. Johnson said:

Many Instances

"In too many instances where thousands of people gather for the purpose of conventions and similar affairs, there is a tendency for professional gamblers to set up enterprises to make money on these pe-

S. C. School District Is Given Order to Integrate 'With Deliberate Speed'

Columbia, S. C.—A three-judge federal court Friday ordered Summerton school district trustees to proceed "with all deliberate speed" to operate on a racially nonsegregated basis.

The trustees were enjoined from refusing on account of race to admit any child to any school "from and after such time as they may have made the necessary arrangements" for ending segregation.

The order was handed down after a hearing in one of the five cases in which the supreme court held that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

Remanded

The hearing was necessitated by the supreme court's May 31 decree remanding the case for action in line with its decision.

Attorneys for the trustees and for the Negro parents who brought the segregation suit, first opposed and then agreed to general lines of the decree.

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told Judge John J. Parker, senior member of the court, that a definite time should be fixed for ending segregation in the small school district.

More Time

Robert McC. Figg of Charleston, representing the trustees, said he felt more time should be given. "I think the trustees would be running the risk of being cited for contempt" if the decree were "no clearer than that," he argued.

Judge Parker answered that if the trustees acted in good faith "no one would need have any fear." He indicated that it might take a few weeks or even a year to make the arrangements.

Earlier, Figg had asked the court to permit Summerton schools to continue segregation of races in the coming school year.

Figg said the trustees are convinced that any other plan would "so disorganize the schools, so impair the efficiency of the system, and would adversely affect public support of education" that public education could not "reasonably be expected to survive."

Figg told the court that the trustees had arranged for a "comprehensive survey" of the question of reorganizing the district schools on "a racially non-discriminatory basis."

Ernie Banks Continues To Hit Home Runs Though Team Loses

Philadelphia, Pa.—(CNS) —Whatever ails the Chicago Cubs recently, it certainly hasn't been caught by Ernie Banks—the sparkling Negro shortstop for the Bruins.

For Ernie continues to hit home runs even when the team loses. Sunday, he made it his third grand slam of the season. Still Chicago lost to the Cardinals—12 to 11.

In the second game of the double header, Ernie made it his 26th home run. The game ended in a tie—5 all and called according to Pennsylvania law. It will be resumed right from the fifth inning tie.

Bitter Exchange of Words In Committee Hearings on Civil Rights Measures

Washington—The Eisenhower administration has been sharply criticized for failure to cooperate on civil rights bills by three representatives testifying before the House Judiciary Committee on bills which they had placed in the legislative hopper.

The hearing was set by the committee after a group of congressmen headed by Representative Adam Clayton Powell of New York and James Roosevelt of California joined with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People urging that action be taken on civil rights in this session of Congress. The hearings opened on July 13. Clarence Mitchell, director of the Association's Washington bureau, is scheduled to be heard on July 27.

Bitter Exchange

The hearings on July 13 were also the occasion for a bitter exchange between Representatives Roosevelt and E. L. Forrester (D., Ga.). The Georgia congressman charged that the bomb slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Moore in their home at Mims, Fla., on Christmas night, 1951, was not the work of Floridians. The issue came up when Mr. Roosevelt cited the case as an example of why federal civil rights laws should be strengthened.

The Georgia congressman insisted that the use of a bomb in the murder showed that Florida people did not commit it. Florida killers, he said, would have used a shot-gun. Mr. Roosevelt said he was not interested in whether the killers came from Florida or California. The main thing, he said, is that they be brought to justice.

Cause of Attacks

Attacks on the administration were made because the following agencies refused to testify: Department of Justice, Department of Defense, the Civil Service Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Housing and Home Finance Agency agreed to appear.

Congressman Emanuel Celler (D., N. Y.), who is chairman of the full committee, was the first witness to testify. He said he was stunned and surprised when the agencies declined to appear at the hearings. Congressman Powell charged that their failure to appear the agencies were

Why Newcombe Hits—Keeps Swinging

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS) — How does Don Newcombe manage to attain a batting average of .406? Says the big fellow himself: "It's like I always say, I just keep swinging, that's all. You keep swinging and sooner or later you're bound to hit something."

Newcombe made it his sixth home run in his 12-3 win over the St. Louis Cardinals and thereby tied the National League record for homers by a pitcher. About records though, Newk says: "You swing hard for records and you wind up getting nowhere."

Porter Confesses Much-Headlined N. Y. Murder

New York—(CNS)—A much headlined murder—with an aging actress as the victim—was solved in twenty-four hours when porter Marion Gaillard confessed.

Gaillard 20, and married, told how he accidentally brushed against Adlyn Woodington, 58, when she called him a "dirty" name. Angriily he followed her to her room at the Hotel Chesterfield where she repeated the epithets. It was then he killed her, according to the confession.

Miss Woodington—who had appeared on the stage in 45 states—was beaten, stabbed in the face and then strangled in her shabby 17th floor room. Police had first thought she had been raped. The autopsy ruled this out. Since nothing in the room was disturbed and the woman was of poor means, police were at a loss as to the motive.

It was Gaillard's actions that led them to him. Hotel officials became "The Hon. Thomas B. Wootton, whom I have known for a number of years, is a capable and respected city administrator and I am sure that he will cooperate with the Lodge to the fullest extent to prohibit any invasion by the underworld to profiteer on our delegates. Says Office Workers Need Shorthand More Than Ever

Iowa City, Iowa—Despite increasing use of dictating machines, the office worker who can take shorthand with speed and accuracy is now in more demand than ever before, members of the Conference for Business Teachers learned Wednesday at the State University of Iowa.

The recording instrument is often an extra expense to the small firm, it was pointed out, because the employer still needs a girl to type the letters, answer the phone and perform the other chores of a small office. And the boss might have bought the machine only because of the shortage of employees with shorthand skills, Madeline S. Strony, education director for the Gregg Publishing Company, told the group.

Although shorthand is useful to many people besides stenographers, in taking notes, recording conversations, and in general, as a quick aid to memory, not everyone should attempt to learn it, Mrs. Strony said. Real ability in shorthand is based upon quick reflexes and unusually good coordination between the mind and fingers, she said.

A good test for those interested in studying shorthand, she said, is to write 1234567890 as many times as one can within one minute. Sixteen or more times within 60 seconds probably indicates the speed necessary to become a capable court reporter, but anyone who writes the digits less than eight times probably will not acquire enough shorthand speed for general office stenography, she said.

Gospel in the City of Brotherly Love, where he was born.

In 1786, while in prayer, with friends, at St. George's Church, where he had been preaching, he was pulled from his knees by church officials. From this curious beginning in contradictions came the powerful African Methodist Episcopal Church. Forty years after her husband was forcibly stopped from prayer, the founder's wife, Mrs. Richard Allen, organized in Philadelphia, in 1827, the Women's Missionary Society of the AME Church.

Here at the Capital, last week, President Anne E. Heath, of New York, urged the delegates to the Third Quadrennial Convention of this oldest organization of Negro women, which has grown up with the Republic, to work for the complete eradication of segregation and discrimination, whether imposed by law or social custom, and to fight whatever implied ghetto patterns of living, for any group.

What Makes a Judge?

Last week the Appellate Court for the District of Columbia reversed the color-line decision of District Judge Alexander Holtzoff, refusing the application of a Negro stepfather to adopt his white stepson. The reversal sharply underscored Judge Holtzoff's apparent incapacity for true judicial action.

Judge Holtzoff also appears to be suffering from an acute inferiority complex, which fills him with apprehensions, and has caused much misgiving among liberals of all origins, who are concerned about the effect of his blunderings, here in the Capital.

His refusal, as a judge, to approve adoption papers because the child would "lose the social status of a white person," was on a par with his warning, some years ago, to non-white members of an Americanization class, that they should not expect to receive all the benefits of American democracy.

It is a pity that Judge Holtzoff must remain on the bench, but, as we said, elsewhere, it is fortunate that his self-conscious pronouncements are thrown into relief against a backdrop of jurists like the late Associate Justices of the Supreme Court Brandeis and Cardozo — like Justice Frankfurter — whose names are synonymous with the finest traditions of our American courts.

Athletes Score With Ike Top-flight athletes, coaches and physical education heads lunched with President Eisenhower, last week — discussed juvenile delinquency and military rejections in terms of greater sports participation. Among the President's twenty-nine luncheon guests were Archie Moore,

Can Tomatoes Whole for Salads

In home-canning tomatoes, the utility or regular pack, in which the tomatoes are pressed down tight, is all right for most purposes, but a few whole packed tomatoes come in handy. When chilled and cut in quarters, they add much to tomato aspic and other congealed salads.

Regardless of how you are going to pack tomatoes, use only clean, fresh, sound, firm, red-ripe tomatoes for canning. Every tomato should be washed, rinsed, and drained before scalding. To scald tomatoes without over-cooking, put 6 or 8 in a square of cheesecloth or wire basket and hold in boiling water about one-half minute. Dip in cold water and drain before cutting out the core. (Cut deep enough to get it all.)

After the core is out, slip off the skin and drop tomato into a hot Ball Mason Jar. If whole tomatoes are wanted, pack them closely without crushing and add hot tomato juice or water to cover. If using utility pack, press the tomatoes down tight until juice runs from them. One teaspoon salt is usually added to each quart of tomatoes, although tomatoes keep as well without salt.

Don't forget to leave almost 1/2 inch of headspace when filling the jar. Run a knife down between the tomatoes and the jar to bring up air bubbles. More liquid may be needed to fill space left when the bubbles are removed from jars of whole packed tomatoes. Don't bother to add more to the utility pack.

Wipe tops and threads of jars clean. Then apply your Ball Dome Caps according to instructions printed on the box. Process tomatoes in a boiling water bath, 35 minutes for whole tomatoes and 45 minutes for a utility pack.

Jersey Joe Talks to the Solons On the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott scored heavily on Capitol Hill, where he testified on juvenile delinquency before the Sub-committee on Juvenile Delinquency of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare.

The retired ring champion, father of six, who is Arnold Cream, outside the ring, now works with juveniles for the Camden, New Jersey, Police Department. Mr. Cream told the solons that parents need to get on the ball and teach youngsters "to face up to a knowledge of right and wrong; to make sure that evil will be punished; that no particular reward ought to be expected from just behaving yourself."

A Washington daily editorialized, "How refreshing it is—to hear the kind of common sense that Jersey Joe has spoken."

New York—(CNS)—D. C. Transit Strike Postpones Negro Opera: A pageant of the National Negro Opera Foundation had to be postponed in Washington, D. C. as the transit strike in the nation's capital continued. The pageant which was featuring attractive Margaret Tynes—one of the hardest working sopranos on TV—was to have been shown in Griffith Stadium, home of the Washington Senators baseball club. Now it will go on August 29.

Val Says It Isn't So

The reputable Val Washington, Minorities Director at GOP headquarters, was quoted, recently, as saying that he was about to retire—as soon as he saw the President off on another four-year course.

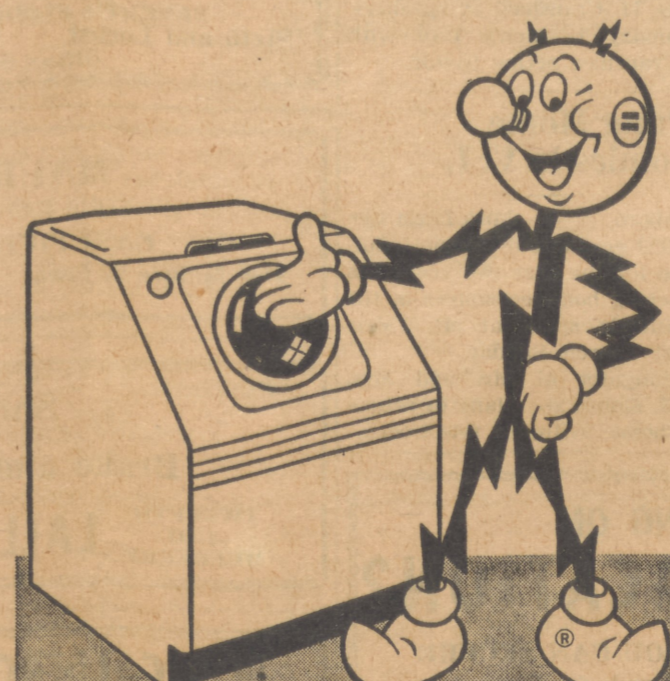

Val says it isn't so—that he does have a farm, and would like to spend more time there—just like Ike—but that all he sees ahead is hard work and plenty of it. He regrets that he has no chair to share. He says that he will be occupying the only one he has, throughout the foreseeable future.

A.M.E. Churchwomen Call for Immediate Action on Civil Rights

Washington, D. C.—The Women's Missionary of the African Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday called upon Congress to act immediately on proposed civil rights legislation now before a House Judiciary Sub-Committee.

The plea came in the form of a resolution as the women ended their six-day Third Quadrennial Convention. The resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of the 1,500 delegates in attendance.

In support of the resolution, the Society sent a delegation to the House Office Building to appear before the sub-committee, and urged others to wire their congressmen asking their support in the enactment of the proposed legislation.

Other action taken by the women in their final business session included the re-election of Mrs. Anne E. Heath, 1933 Pemberton Street, Philadelphia, Pa., as Women's Missionary Society president for the next four years. Mrs. Heath, who is the wife of Rev. Julius J. Heath, minister of an A.M.E. Church in St. Petersburg, Fla., has been W.M.S. president since 1945.

Other officers were re-elected to four-year terms by the delegates who represented A.M.E. Churches throughout the United States and in some 20 foreign countries.

The Adolescent Needs Desperately To Rate With Her Own Age Group

"Oh, mother, she is so wonderful," said 12-year-old Cynthia, speaking of her newly-found girl friend. "I can just tell her everything!"

"Yes," said her understanding mother. A puzzled pause on Cynthia's part. "But, mother, I can tell you everything, can't I?"

"Yes, Cynthia." After another pause came this comment, almost a wail. "But, mother, after all, you are a grown-up!"

An understanding, sympathetic mother here was helping a sensitive daughter to accept her own experience.

The adolescent needs desperately to rate with her own age group. For many parents it is difficult to step aside and let their children find themselves in this new experience.

Another mother told of an experience with her teen-age daughter, Mary, a year or two older than Cynthia.

"Mother, you know I just used to tell you everything. But now—" a troubled look coming to her face, "I don't want to tell you everything." Then this sensible and secure mother replied, "That's all right—you don't need to tell me everything if you don't want to."

Then the mother smiled and said, "I just couldn't resist saying, 'Of course, Mary, maybe it would be just as well not to do anything you'd be ashamed to tell me!'"

These two thoughtful girls with their understanding mothers are probably headed toward happy adjustment in growing up. Getting along with persons their own age is important, but another big job for the adolescent is to accept himself in relation to his parents. Persons counseling the teen-ager frequently find that he wants desperately to have his parents trust him, and he is dismayed at their fears.

Thoughtful parents, like the mothers in these situations, know that this is the same child they have loved and guided all these years. He still needs them and wants them, but he must have a measure of freedom to find himself.

Hot Weather Menu

To glorify a hot weather menu is our cool, tinted, refreshing Limeade Sherbet. This comes under the "make it yourself" division—but easy does it. No more cooking than heating a kettle of water. That's the kind of cooking we like on a warm day. Economical too, because you get so many servings. This will keep a couple of days or more in your freezing compartment if you don't eat it all right away. Our recipe comes from the Test Kitchens of Minute Maid Fresh-Frozen Juices.

LIMEADE SHERBET
1/2 cup sugar
1 package lime flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
1 can (6 oz.) Minute Maid Fresh-Frozen Limeade (undiluted)
2 eggs whites, beaten stiff

Add sugar and lime flavored gelatin to hot water and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly, then stir in fresh-frozen limeade, undiluted. Pour into trays and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator. Set dial for fast freezing. When mixture is partially frozen, turn into mixing bowl and break with a fork. Whip with rotary beater but do not let it reliquify. Carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour back in trays and place in freezing compartment. When Sherbet is frozen, return dial to normal. Serves 8-8.

Personal Touch By MARIE ROSS

Home-towners are busy entertain- ing out of town guests and getting rested up from vacation trips they have taken.

Mrs. Myrtle Butler, who went away for a week's vacation in Chi- cago, Ill., got a rest at the home of a daughter and is back in her bakery shop.

The C. C. Johnsons, 1176 Thir- teenth street, are happy to have their son and family, the C. C. John- sons, Jr., who live in the suburbs of Washington, D. C., at Hyattsville, Md.

Mr. Johnson, who has been away from his home town, Des Moines for 15 years, since employed in govern- ment service as a public health en- gineer, has been spending much time showing their six-year-old son and 4-year-old daughter some of the in- teresting places in Des Moines for children to visit.

Among the favorite spots have been the swimming pool at Good Park and the amusements at River- view Park.

Out in the Maryland suburbs where the Johnsons have their home, they are far removed from swim- ming pools, but, are in the area of many beaches which do not have the "same exciting appeal" to the young swimmers as the park pools, the father talked.

Charles talked of the hometown and was interested in finding out how much progress has been made in employment, housing, recreation, and other phases of life, since he left Des Moines the early part of World War II to enter military services.

"Is everything wide open to all citizens here?" "Can you eat in any of the places here? Go to any of the night clubs?" "What kind of jobs do the young men, about my age have?"

These were some of the questions C. C. Jr., asked as I tried to bring him up to date on the progress, along certain lines of endeavor, and activities that had been made in Des Moines since he left.

He talked of the "remarkable" changes that have taken place in Washington, D. C., "so much so that you can go to nearly any of the best places and get service."

Mrs. Florence Holiday Of Knoxville, Tenn., Guest Of The Browns

Mrs. Florence Holiday of Knox- ville, Tenn., is vacationing with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Brown, Jr., of 1538 DeWolf street.

After military service as an of- ficer in the U. S. Marines, Johnson completed his education at Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., then went into government service, as a sanitary engineer. Before returning to Washington, he was employed in one of the three government agencies which operates the public health service in Monrovia, Liberia.

Another home town boy who is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Davis, 1115 Eleventh street, is Dr. Emanuel Davis, Jr., who is in private practice as a den- tist in Chattanooga, Tenn.

After completing the study of den- tistry at Iowa University, during World War II, Davis was one of Uncle Sam's dentists on military posts. Six months ago, he opened offices in Tennessee.

Catching up on some rest after a busy year of teaching in the Detroit, Mich., public school system, is Mrs. Naomi Walden Nelson who is here with her daughter visiting their par- ents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Walden, 3019 Amherst and other kin.

Naomi is much impressed with Iowa's bumper corn crop—and, at mealtime, each day, finds herself eating "just another ear."

At the C. V. Chapman home which they built at 3006 First street, Mrs. Chapman was a gracious hostess with her two sisters, as they enter- tained visiting sister, Mrs. Nettie Phillips of Bakersfield, Calif.

Of interest to the guests was the new home of the Chapmans which they moved into last December.

Burning up this week under the Iowa sun were Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Dacus of 3110 Bowdoin street, who returned last week from a three-week vacation at their cabin on Lake Adney, near Minneapolis, Minn.

While downtown delivering mail one hot day this week, Mr. Dacus recalled that "the weather was fine, the fishing was good—and many days we just stayed in the cabin and rest- ed." He is hoping to be back to his cabin before the end of the summer season.

DON'T PENALIZE THOSE ON OUR SIDE

Speaking before the annual convention of the NAACP last month, Vice President Nixon told the delegates not to spend their time and energy fighting their friends over methods at arriving at the same goals each was fighting for.

Specifically, he had in mind the amendment proposed by Rep. Powell to the army reserve bill barring racial discrimination. Frankly speaking, Powell's amendment is desirable and a goal to which good thinking people are working. But as a practical proposition it had absolutely no chance of passing through Congress and to have made it a part of the reserve bill would have defeated the measure.

For years, Congress during both Republican and Democratic administrations, had enumerable civil rights measures introduced. Except for an anti-lynching bill, which passed the lower house many years ago, none has been voted on so far.

Unfortunately, as the rules in the Senate stand, a minority may block the passage of most any measure it chooses. And this has certainly been the experience over the years. It is almost impossible to break a filibuster as southern Democrats have been able to carry on and this because the rules require a two-thirds majority in the Senate to do so. And it requires such a majority to change the rules. So here when civil rights are up for consideration, the minority action then becomes the will of the people.

Had the question of abolishing racial discrimination public schools been presented to Congress, disregarding constitutional entanglements, it never would have passed. And it was the judicial branch of the government which took the lid off of this type of discrimination by interpreting the Fourteenth Amendment as it did.

It is well that Powell brought this up just as other Congressmen, over the years, have introduced anti-lynching bills. None ever became a law but so much light was shed on the practice that this method of law enforcement has just about passed off the scene.

MORE EVIDENCE OF TRUE LEADERSHIP

New things are happening daily that show the crumbling of segregation and second-class citizenship.

When President Eisenhower was conducting his campaign in 1952, among other things, he promised to appoint qualified persons to office without regard to race or color. Negroes had heard this before, and the refusal of Mr. Eisenhower to commit himself to the passage of any new civil rights laws made many skeptical.

But day by day, President Eisenhower is showing the people that he meant what he said, the latest demonstration being the appointment of E. Frederick Morrow to his official staff in the executive offices.

Mr. Morrow is an able young man, has had considerable experience even with Mr. Eisenhower officially and thus is qualified to do a good job. As a general rule, the national administration is doing a good job integrating Negroes into higher echelons of official family.

Many states are doing likewise. But somehow Iowa lags behind. Gov. Hoegh is on record that better recognition be given Negroes but to date nothing has been done. True, the commission to study discrimination in employment is a step forward but that is not enough. And now that the legislature is not in session to take too much of his time, some definite favorable steps should be taken to bring Iowa up to the position of our sister states.

Certainly Mr. Eisenhower is working at the job of eliminating second-class citizenship and to do so along both economic and civil lives makes the accomplishment of results go faster.

Men like he are needed in public life who are willing to lead rather than look around to see, politically, how to follow the people.

Bandit Roundup

tured a short time later by a posse when he was found hiding in a tree near Atlantic.

Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth said Saturday that Davis was a former Des Moines resident, who had worked in a foundry in West Des Moines before going to Kansas City, Mo., where he was a taxi driver.

Hildreth said Jackson and Cole made written statements claiming that Davis planned the holdup and that the new car used was stolen by Davis in Kansas City the Wednesday before the holdup.

In an inquest held shortly after

Federal Court Ends

Carolina statute made the bus driver an officer of the state. When he was enforcing the segregation regulation on the bus he was not acting for the company but as an officer of the state.

Statutes

South Carolina statutes provides for the segregation of the races on motor vehicles in both city and intrastate carriers and empowers bus drivers or operators with special police authority to arrest persons who violate the bus segregation laws.

Attorney Robert L. Carter who argued the appeal on behalf of Mrs. Flemming declared that there could be no question as to the jurisdiction of the federal court. He contended that the bus driver in enforcing the state segregation statute was acting as both bus driver and officer of the state. Mr. Carter contended also that the bus company was charged by the South Carolina statute with the duty to enforce the law. He argued further that the recent Supreme Court decisions had swept away all support for the separate but equal doctrine even as applied to intrastate commerce.

In handing down the decision, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals struck down the South Carolina state segregation statute, reversing the district court's decision and remanded it back to the lower court.

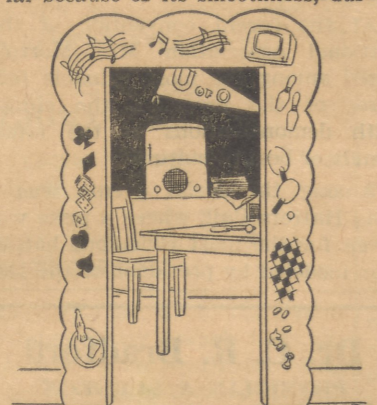

The decision in this case is highly significant in that it means that segregation in local streetcars, buses and other means of transportation can no longer be enforced. The Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals has jurisdiction over the states of South Carolina, North Carolina, West Virginia and Maryland. Unless the U. S. Supreme Court reverses this decision in these states, the circuit court ruling of July 14 can be applied.

An Unusual Entrance

IN SOME settings, a valance can dress up an otherwise drab doorway between rooms. Typical locations are a recreation room, a nursery or an enclosed porch.

A pattern for this improvement may be laid out on wrapping paper and then transferred with carbon paper to pieces of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Preswood. This material because of its smoothness, durability and paintability, is widely used for valances and similar installations in homes and commerce.

Width of the pieces should be approximately twice that of the door framing, depending on individual taste and the size of the doorway. Mitered joints between the two side panels and the top should be planned. The curved lines forming the outline may be cut with a coping saw.

After making certain that the parts fit, by laying them out on the floor, the craftsman should lightly bevel the exposed edges with a file, beveler or sandblock. They should be fastened directly to the door frame with finishing nails. If there is a molding around the outer edge of the frame, shims of Preswood should be attached first to bring about a level nailing plane.

The artistic homemaker can decorate the door valance in some ingenious manner.

Cole's capture, Highway Patrolman Dan Foster, 31, was freed of any "criminal negligence" in the shooting of Davis.

The coroner's jury found that Davis met a "justifiable death," and that Foster shot after his command to halt was ignored and that the patrolman had reason to believe Davis and Jackson were armed.

HEALTH FOR ALL

HOW LONG WILL IT KEEP

July weather brings up the perennial housekeeping problem of the over-stuffed refrigerator. Cool drinks are in demand; fresh vegetables are coming in from the garden every day. What foods must be refrigerated to prevent spoilage?

Left-over cooked foods, especially meat and poultry, must be refrigerated as quickly as possible to prevent development of the bacteria known as staphylococci. These are the little fellows that cause food poisoning. Putting hot foods right into the refrigerator won't hurt the food, but it may raise the temperature in an already overloaded refrigerator too high. Place the containers of hot foods in cool water before refrigerating to speed cooling. Don't leave them outside more than an hour.

Other excellent mediums for development of staphylococci are sandwiches made with mayonnaise, soup stocks, and gravies. Four hours outside the refrigerator is the limit of safety. How long they may be held depends on many factors. The safest rule is to use them up within a few days.

Fresh meat keeps in the refrigerator somewhat better than cooked meat. Chopped meat should be frozen or cooked immediately. The life of fresh meat can be prolonged by cooking just before it "turns." This kills the bacteria in the fresh product, so you start off with a "new" food. Vegetable shortenings and salad oil should be refrigerated if they are to be kept for more than a few weeks.

Fresh vegetables are best, of course, if they are eaten within a few hours of picking. High temperatures speed the enzymatic change from sugar to starch—the reason why city folk never know the real flavor of corn on the cob and new peas. If these vegetables must be held before cooking, refrigerate corn on its husks and peas in their pods. To get the most from your refrigerator these hot days, be sure you aren't wasting space on unopened bottles and cans or useless little dabs of left-overs. Don't open the refrigerator door unnecessarily. And be sure to defrost when a half inch of frost has accumulated on the freezing unit.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The seventh annual Des Moines Open Tennis tournament beat the rain and some early round delays to come to a close on the Good Park Court Sunday.

In the men's singles, Professor Erling Jensen of Ames tangled with Frank Cartwell who played on the West Coast a lot. The Iowa State Prof took a set to fathom his opponent's game and then started blasting that dynamite forehand around the court. The first set went at 7-9 with the former Tulane end winning, but then it was just a series of hard rifle shot placements by the older man.

And the last two sets went 6-0, 6-1. Jensen thus put his name on the Langston Hardaway trophy. The guy also won the veterans singles by beating Frank Brody who was in high school when we were.

Women's Title

Janet Tillotson Holmes really won her women's singles title in her semifinal round. She took on Esther Myers who won our vote on the most improved player of the year. Myers and Holmes battled through three torrid sets and two hours, before Janet's greater experience pulled her out. The final match was just a breeze.

John Nadig, whom we like to tease, had a busy day. He won the junior boys doubles and then beat his partner, Jack Harberg for the junior boys honor.

John then paired up with Ralph Whitehead and lost out in the men's doubles finals to older brother, Gene Nadig and Harold McCullom. This was a duel worth seeing.

Glenda Pickett, North High player won two titles in the girls division, the singles crown, and then beat her partner in the girls final. Gary Lubin of Iowa City carried back the boys singles trophy to Iowa City and helped win the boys doubles.

Negro players didn't do too well, but Esther Myers really made us proud of her in her losing match with Janet Holmes.

Everett Mays and Phil Tindrell went out in the opening round of the men's singles. Harold Holt lost a three-set match to Tom McCullom in the boys singles and Mays, Tindrell and Bill Ashby got there early in the men's doubles. It was unusual not to see Bill Ashby and Chet Williamson not having trouble in the men's event, but we guess the guys are beginning to wear out.

Railroad Lost and Found Items Make Up Great Variety

Philadelphia, Pa.—If all the articles left behind in railway trains and stations by forgetful passengers could be placed on display in some museum, the exhibit would be not only of tremendous size but also of great variety.

Included in that extraordinary exhibit would be such things as a Gila monster, a human skull, a kitchen sink, an artificial leg, many sets of false teeth, and an amazing variety of umbrellas, brief cases, wearing apparel and other personal effects.

Every day, conductors, trainmen, porters and other railroad employees turn over to Lost and Found Departments scores of handbags, purses, pocketbooks, overshoes, gloves, hats, sweaters, topcoats, cameras and

Rules of Safe Boating, Whether Fishing or Just Joy Riding

Since boating has reached the scale of a national pastime, the joy of a small boat and motor is within the reach of almost any Iowa family that wants them. Each year more of us are discovering the thrill of sun, water and our boats, whether for fishing or just joy-riding.

But for many of these new boaters, unfamiliar with boats and boating, the door is open to tragedy if precautions are not followed. Whether you're a landlubber or an old salt, take a look at these rules. They may mean your life, advises Iowa State Conservation Commission.

1. If your boat capsizes, stay with the boat. Boats will float. Hold on until rescued.
2. Don't overload your boat. Know its capacity.
3. Never stand up in a boat or canoe. Raise anchor while seated.
4. To change positions—row to shore and change there.
5. Storms develop fast—strike for shore when storm clouds gather.
6. Learn or teach handling craft in shallow, calm waters.
7. Boats and canoes are not dangerous if properly handled.
8. Non-swimmers may safely use small craft only when in shallow water reasonably close to shore.
9. To determine the capacity of your boat, call your nearest State Conservation Officer or Lake Patrolman.
10. Non-swimmers should always wear life jackets in small craft.
11. Don't take chances.

jewelry, fur coats, golf bags and skis are found in season, and occasionally wigs and toupees, radios, typewriters, canaries and homing pigeons are left behind by passengers.

One of the biggest finds in recent years was a bag containing jewelry worth $125,000—promptly returned to the owner by the Pullman Company. The most generous reward on record was $2,000 paid to an individual for turning in around $6,000 in cash found in a passenger car.

The business of restoring lost property to the rightful owners often involves some clever detective work. Railroads and the Pullman Company spend large sums each year in efforts to locate the owners of lost articles. It is estimated that about 75 out of every 100 articles left on railroad trains and in stations are returned to the owners eventually.

Most lost and found Departments keep articles a minimum of 90 days—longer in the case of very valuable items—before they are offered for sale at public auction.

BREATH OF EARTH

Breath of earth—winds pulsing beat blow hot or cold, breathe soft or bold, on the arctic waste or deserts heat touch the virgin peaks and the temples old.

The unseen power—never still may crush the forest, turn the mill, drive sea and sky to do its will: build useful power—or maim and kill.

How strange its patterns, low and high they came to stay with world at birth, to weave across the loom of sky the currents that are, breath of earth...

Satchel Paige In East-West Game July 31

Chicago—(Special) — Battle lines have been drawn for the big East vs. West Negro Baseball Classic on Sunday afternoon, July 31, at Comiskey Park, which includes one of the greatest "crowd pullers" in this long rivalry dating back to 1933—the one and only LeRoy ("Satchel") Paige.

Paige, famed "ageless" pitcher, was the first player chosen to play for the West and rightly so. This skinny, lanky right-handed thrower, who'll be making his fifth All-Star appearance, was responsible for attracting close to 200,000 fans through the turnstiles of Comiskey Park in his first four All-Star showings.

Once the announcement was made that Paige would be on hand to engage in a three-inning pitching stint, advance ticket sales began to boom. On the basis of this early interest by the fans, the game's promoters expect this year's Classic attendance to be the best in the last five years.

Paige, as most fans recall, was the magnet that helped pull a record of 51,753 through the gates at Comiskey Park for the 1943 game, which Paige helped win for the West, 2-1.

Satchel became eligible for this year's Classic when Tom Baird of the famed Kansas City Monarchs signed baseball's hardy perennial to a reported $40,000 pact to play again for the Monarchs. Paige inked his contract last June 2 after being idle for almost a year. Thus, Paige again will represent the Monarchs in the Negro American League's best attraction.

Campy and Jackie Out; Rejoin Injury List

Brooklyn, N. Y.—(CNS) — Both Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson were reinjured last week after getting back in the lineups. Campy's was the least serious for it was his left little finger as hit by pitcher Willard Schmidt that caused him to sit it out for a few days. He's available for pinchhitting now.

Jack, on the other hand, re-hurt his knee in batting practice so that he doesn't know when he'll be able to return. As he explains the accident: "I don't know how it happened. All I know that I was lying down on the ground in much pain." He's feeling a lot better from whirl-pool baths.

NAACP Units Urged To "Keep Heat On" In Anti-Bias Fight

New York—Key branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in pivotal states have been urged to "keep the heat on" in the drive to secure an anti-segregation amendment to the federal aid to school construction bill now pending in Congress.

In a telegram to local NAACP leaders, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary, warned that an effort is being made in the Senate "by a combination of Democrats and Republicans to bring up the will without the amendment and have only a voice vote so that no one will know how members voted."

To avert this move, Mr. Wilkins urged the branch leaders to "telephone, see or write your county and state chairman of both parties explaining how strongly colored citizens feel on this issue and protesting anything but a showdown vote. Ask them to wire senators, representatives and the national chairman of their parties advising that colored voters in the grass roots want an anti-segregation amendment and a record vote."

The NAACP-sponsored amendment would make federal funds to build schools available only to states and school districts which already ban segregation or indicate that they will comply with the United States Supreme Court anti-segregation rulings.

Virginia City Sidesteps Integration By Fall

Alexandria, Va.—(CNS)—Negroes in a strongly worded petition to the Alexandria School Board tried to get the board to integrate the school system in time for next year. The board stated that it was "kindly received" but thought that it would uphold the policy as set by Governor Stanley and the State Board of Education which points out that "hasty action would result in serious damage to the public school system."

Rights Measures Attacked

dropping a "jim-crow curtain" between the Congress and the Executive branch of government.

Congressman Roosevelt cited the President's plea for must legislation and noted that civil rights bills were not on the list. He said that the President had failed to supply leadership in the field of civil rights legislation.

Under Consideration

The bills under consideration include measures to prevent and punish the crime of lynching, protection of the right to vote, and others including an omnibus civil rights bill, H.R. 389, which would establish an FEPC, end segregation in interstate travel, strengthen existing civil rights statutes, enlarge the civil rights section of the Department of Justice by making it a division under an assistant attorney general, prohibit segregation in government assisted housing and halt federal grants to segregated schools.

Thomas J. Lane (D, Mass.) chairman of the sub-committee, said hearings would continue in the second session of the present Congress. Other members of the sub-committee are Democrats E. L. Forrester, (Ga.), Harold D. Donahue, (Mass.) and Charles Boyle, (Ill.) and Republicans Usher Burdick (N. D.), William E. Miller (N. Y.) and Chauncey W. Reed (Ill.)
