'Will Allay South's Race Tensions'

Daylight Savings Time Scheduled to Start on Sunday

Daylight saving time will begin Sunday at 2 a.m. in Des Moines and continue until Sept. 23.

The Des Moines City Council enacted Monday the measure by a 3 to 2 vote.

Councilman Robert E. Conley, who had introduced the measure three weeks ago, moved Monday for its third reading and its final passage.

Councilman Frank W. McGowan and Mayor Ray Mills supported him. Councilman Allan W. Denny and Charles F. Isles opposed.

The ordinance, in effect, is council sanction of the use of daylight time—one hour ahead of the prevailing central standard time in Des Moines.

Capital Close-Up From Washington

BY CONSTANCE DANIEL

D. C. BAR DESEGREGATES
Washington, D. C. — Jim Crow went down to defeat in a voice-vote at the D. C. Bar Association, here, last week, amidst shouts of "Naye" from die-hard segregationists — largely Southern.

Three Referendums Failed
Three times within the past five years, Bar Association membership, predominantly in favor of desegregation, but lacking the necessary two-thirds vote, had attempted to level the color barrier by written referendum. Each time they failed, once by 18 votes and once by a frustrating three. This time it was determined to bring the issue on the floor at a regular meeting. To our knowledge, one member, at least, left a sick bed to help vote down the "wholly illogical position" in which the group was being held by a vociferous minority. "I've been called everything," said this member, "but I'm very happy over the outcome." Association President Charles S. Rhyne, who presided over the near-sectional battle, ruled that the voice-vote showed that two-thirds of the 600 present had voted "Yea." A member calling for a point of order was voted down—likewise a proposal for more written balloting.

Said Raymond R. Dickey, a long-time leader for desegregation, "If colleagues are sufficiently well-educated to be members of the bar, it is proper to admit them to membership in a professional society, where there should be no place for racial distinctions. This is no country club! We practice before the courts, here, every day, with men like Judge Cobb, Barrington Parker, George Hayes and many others. Also, as an integrated body we now can become a greater disciplinary force."

Member Edward Williams, speaking briefly to the point of delayed action, reminded his colleagues that the Bar Association of Sunflower — SEE PAGE FOUR

Hold Rites for Mrs. Elizabeth Early, 84

Services were held Wednesday at the L. Fowler & Son Funeral Home for Mrs. Elizabeth Early, 84, of 615 S. E. Astor street, with burial in Glendale cemetery.

Mrs. Early died May 4 at Broadlawn General Hospital. Born in Missouri, she had lived in Des Moines 50 years.

Mrs. Kelso Doing Nicely at Hospital

Mrs. Joburness Kelso, 956 Eighteenth street, music teacher and St. Paul AME Church organist, is reported to be doing nicely at Mercy Hospital this week.

Mrs. Kelso was injured recently while getting into Mrs. A. A. Alexander's motor car, following a meeting of the Mary Church Terrell Club at the Alexander Home, 2200 Chau-tauqua Parkway.

Iowa Association of Colored Women Present $5,000 Check to Simpson College

As the Iowa Association of Colored Women (IACW) plan for their annual state convention which will be held June 1 to 3 at Sioux Falls, S. D., cited as one of the important activities of the club year, was the awarding of a check for $5,000 to Simpson College, at Indianola, Ia., for the Carver Science Hall.

Services Friday for Mrs. Mable Thomas

Services for Mrs. Mable Moore Thomas, 40, of 903 Twenty-third place, will be held Friday, 1:30 p.m., at L. Fowler & Son Funeral Home, with burial at Glendale Cemetery.

Mrs. Thomas died May 15 at Still College Osteopathic Hospital. Born in Buxton, Mrs. Thomas had been a Des Moines resident 22 years. She was employed by the Robinson Furniture Store for 15 years.

Surviving are a son, Robert; her mother, Mrs. Lulu Moore; two brothers, Leslie and Lloyd, and a sister, Mrs. Beatrice Washington, all of Des Moines.

Indict 2 More in Cole Attack Case

Birmingham, Ala. — Two White Citizens Council members arrested in the April 10 attack on Singer Nat (King) Cole have been indicted on felony charges of assault with intent to murder, court officials said last Friday.

The Jefferson (Birmingham) County grand jury, Thursday indicted Kenneth Adams, 35, and W. R. Vinson, 23, both of Anniston, Ala. They have been free on bond.

Four others arrested after Cole was rushed before a segregated audience of about 4,000 white persons have appealed jail sentences imposed following recorder's court trials.

They are Jesse W. Mabry, 43, Birmingham; and E. L. Vinson, 25, Mike Fox, 36, and Orlist Wade Cleveland, 18, all of Anniston. Convicted on misdemeanor charges and given maximum sentences of six months in jail, they also are free on bond.

Grant Was First

The contribution will be used for the commemorative unit of the bacteriology laboratory on the first floor of the $350,000 building. The grant was the first since the college announced that $80,000 is still needed to meet costs on the structure and equipment.

Following the presentation, the group were guests at the college at tea in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Feyerherm.

The Iowa Association of Colored Women, organized in 1903, actively has been engaged in civic and cultural affairs affecting colored women, in particular, in Iowa.

Gets Recognition

The IACW became affiliated with the National Association of Colored Women shortly after its organization. The IACW's major project, which won recognition nationally, was its home for young women in Iowa City.

After dormitory facilities were opened to colored women at the University of Iowa, such a home was no longer needed. The sale of this home made it possible for the IACW to make this contribution to such an outstanding project as the George Washington Carver Science Hall, named for the famed Negro scientist, who found the doors of Simpson College open to him during the post-slavery days' efforts for an education.

The IACW's annual state meeting will be under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Luberta Bentley of Sioux Falls. A representation of more than 200 women is expected there in June.

David M. Diggs Pleads Guilty on Narcotics Charge

David Marion Diggs, who listed his address as 1620 Crocker street, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of violation of the narcotics law when he appeared before District Judge Tom K. Murrow.

He was sentenced to a term of not less than five years, nor more than 10 years at the state penitentiary at Fort Madison.

Diggs was arrested Dec. 6, 1955, by Des Moines police, who said he had heroin in his possession.

Paul L. Wilson Escapes Serious Injury in Mishap

Paul L. Wilson, 1164 Fourteenth Street, escaped serious injury Monday night when a tire blew out on the car he was driving.

The car, which did not overturn, went over an embankment into a ravine and up and across the highway again, Mr. Wilson reported.

The accident happened on Highway 6, about three miles east of Mitchellville. Mr. Wilson was enroute to Iowa City to pick up his wife who had spent the Mother's Day Weekend at State University of Iowa, with their daughter, Camille.

Mr. Wilson is owner of Wilson Realty Company.

'Grandmother's Parade' May 24

A "Grandmother's Parade" will be held Thursday night, May 24, 8 o'clock, at Kyles AME Zion church, sponsored by the Missionary Society. The public is invited to attend.

Says Jimcrow Bestows Upon Insecure Southerner 'A Status of Superiority'

New York — To achieve less strained racial relations in the Deep South, the nation as a whole must inform that region it will not "tolerate" lawlessness, even though such lawlessness "emanates from minds sick with fear," it was declared here at the First Annual Forum on Anxiety and Tension.

Speaking on the subject of racial tensions, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, repudiated the theory advanced by some southern spokesmen that racial tensions had erupted as the result of the Supreme Court's anti-segregation school decision.

Rights Denied

"In Alabama, as in Poland, there is 'peace' as long as the people whose rights are being denied have no channel through which to express their discontent and little or no opportunity to challenge the status quo," he asserted.

"To interpret their silence under this totalitarian regime is to fail to realize what lies beneath the surface. The absence of violence under such conditions is not to be equated with peace and harmony."

Dr. Tobias emphasized that "it was not the Court's decision which precipitated the present crisis in the South." He maintained it was rather "the organized defiance of that ruling, which, in the ultimate, is defiance of federal authority."

"Despite the protestation of those who seek to cloak themselves in the garb of respectability, there is no 'legal' way to disobey the law," the NAACP official declared.

Replace Slavery

He contended that segregation was instituted in the South to replace slavery "as an instrument of 'white supremacy.'"

"The present hue and cry in the South is raised not so much against the leveling of physical barriers be-

For Many Years, Residents Have Protested to Get Dog Pound Out of Neighborhood

Some neighbors living in the vicinity of the Animal Rescue League, 919 Fourteenth street, revealed this week that efforts to have the shelter removed from the residential district, in which Negro citizens have been forced to live, began in the late twenties when it was learned that the shelter house would be moved into the Negro neighborhood.

Realizing that the housing of many dogs and cats and other pets in the neighborhood, the nuisance of the barking of the dogs at all hours of the day and night, and the odors, would make the neighborhood undesirable one in which to live, and cause property values to go down, one of the present neighbors told of a petition that was circulated over 26 years ago.

"We had heard that the Animal Rescue League was planning to move its shelter house in the neighborhood and my husband and I immediately got busy to keep them out," Mrs. Hayes Bell of 1414 Crocker street recalled. She was Mrs. Bertha Terry, the wife of a late minister.

Owned Property

"We owned property next door to the place where the Animal Rescue League finally moved into—but we knew that if they got into the neighborhood, our property would be ruined."

"My husband and I got up a petition and tried to circulate it but could not get enough support, so we dropped it and Animal Rescue League moved into the neighborhood. Then, we sold our home," Mrs. Bell talked.

"It isn't fair to the neighborhood—and neither to the city," Mr. Bell injected.

Bring in Few Hogs

"If the city will permit all of those dogs to be housed right here, almost in the heart of the downtown, then it shouldn't mind if I bring in a few hogs and raise in my back yard. Their squealing wouldn't be near the nuisance as the barking of the dogs night and day," Mr. Bell said.

"I think I'll bring in a few hogs," Mr. Bell pondered.

During the War

Mrs. Sylvester Forrester, 914 Fourteenth street, who lives across the street from the Animal Rescue League's shelter, recalled that during World War II, when nearly every family in the neighborhood and vicinity had some members working

Say Voters to Weigh More Carefully Civil Rights Planks In Political Party Platforms

Washington — Both Republicans and Democrats have been dilatory on civil rights issues, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charges in an address prepared for delivery here tonight at a banquet meeting of the convention of Americans for Democratic Action.

Negro voters this year, he warns, "will weigh more carefully than in the past the civil rights planks in the platforms of both parties. The mere declaration that the Supreme Court has set forth the law of the land and it must be obeyed will not suffice. Compliance does not materialize out of thin air. The government and its elected servants cannot escape their responsibility for affirmative action to see that the law is obeyed."

President Eisenhower, Mr. Wilkins asserts, "has acted in his capacity as Chief Executive to eliminate racial discrimination in several important areas." However, the Republican administration has failed "to give lead-

Elect Five New Bishops at AME General Conference; A. J. Allen to Fourth Area

The Rev. John E. Hunter, pastor of St. Paul AME Church, early Wednesday morning wired to the Bystander last minute news of the AME General Conference, at Miami, Fla.

New bishop of the Fourth Episcopal District of the Northwestern Conference of the AME Church, which includes Des Moines and St. Paul, Minn., districts, is Bishop A. J. Allen of Cleveland, Ohio, transferred from the Third Episcopal District. He succeeds the Rt. Rev. George W. Baber of Detroit Mich., as head of the Fourth District. Bishop Baber was changed to the First District (New York Area).

New Bishops

New bishops elected at the quadrennial session of the conference were: Francis H. Gow of Capetown, South Africa; E. L. Hickman of Louisville, Ky.; Samuel Higgins of Columbia, S. C.; W. Ball, Miami, Fla. and O. Sherman of Little Rock, Ark.

(The Rev. Mr. Hunter is expected back in his pulpit here Sunday with more highlights of the convention).

Miami, Fla.—Bishop A. J. Allen, presiding bishop of the Third Episcopal District, called for sweeping changes in the structure of the AME Church and for a positive program to meet the challenge of bettering the social and economic conditions of the masses with proper spiritual leadership.

Delivering the Episcopal address, the "State of the Union message of

Mothers at Shiloh Get Special Mother's Day Honors and Gifts

The Deaconess Board of Shiloh Baptist Church awarded special honors to mothers Sunday afternoon in a special Mother's Day program under the direction of Mrs. O. L. Howard.

Winning awards were: Mrs. David Green, mother of five children, youngest mother under the age of 30 with the most children.

The award for the church's mother over 50 years old with the largest number of children living, went to Mrs. Archie Lucas, Sr., 1221 Shaw street, with eleven children.

Foster mother's honor went to Mrs. Joseph Scott, 1617 E. Eighteenth street, who has cared for 18 children in a period of 16 years. She has three children now. Mrs. Scott also received presentation from a mother whose child she had cared for during an emergency.

Guest speaker was Rev. Paul Brooks, who moved here recently from Seattle, Wash.

Miami Conference

The Bishop's Council, before a packed Dinner Key Auditorium, the scholarly bishop from Cleveland, Ohio, placed the church squarely before the forces of the "Era of Integration."

Bishop Allen termed as significant the fact that for the first time in this century the General Conference was convening in the South. "It is significant and symbolic that we gather here," he said.

Wide Range

The Episcopal address covered a wide range of topics including: Commission and the United Nations, The World Council of Churches, The Roman Catholic Church, FEPC, The Labor Movement and the Merger of CIO-AFL, Bandung Conference, the U. S. Supreme Court and Segregation.

Other topics included: The Ministers' Salary, Social Security for Clergymen, an A.M.E. Insurance Plan, The Future of the A.M.E. Church.

In a section called "We Need More Trained Ministers," Bishop Allen cited the Felton report (Feb. 2, 1955) as a call for more trained Negro ministers.

"The church militant is the organized expression of Christianity, both in individual belief and combined actions. It meets periodically, not for the purpose of making plans to save itself. It meets periodically to make plans to carry out its mission for the salvation of mankind in an ever changing world," Bishop Allen said.

"Never the Church" — "Denominations may become decadent and weak and ineffective and may fall apart, but never the Church of the Living God. Denominations are branches of the church. Some are pruned, which fail to bear spiritual fruit."

Bishop Allen gave "due credit to the leadership given in this fight by the NAACP. No church has given more impetus, stimulus and support to the NAACP than the A.M.E. church."

According to Dr. DuBois, one of its founders, the movement was started which gave us the NAACP as the direct result of a ringing speech by the then Dr. Reverdy C. Ransom on John Brown's Day at Harper's Ferry, West Virginia. From that day to this, the A.M.E. Church has supported unswervingly this great organization for human rights, though at times some of its leaders (just a few have thrown their support to a state supported school for Negroes in Ohio just because of their personal friendship for certain persons involved.)

"We might as well face it, we are in for a long drawn out fight."

Resolution
Among the resolutions unanimously adopted by the General Conference was one which will make mandatory the moving of all bishops and their reassignment to new districts.

Pointing out that "the Episcopal committee is often hampered in its duties to plan changes for the actual good of the church by pressure and intimidation which often lead to a courtesy reassignment by the committee of a bishop to his old district, the conference resolved:

"That the Episcopal Committee of the 35th General Conference of the A.M.E. Church meeting in Miami, Fla., be hereby directed that it shall assign no bishop to the Episcopal district to which he was assigned by the 1952 General Conference or by the Council of Bishop in the interim of the 52-56 General Conference."

Texans Observe Third Anniversary of Tornado Which Struck Waco, Killing 114; Another Alert Sounded—People Pray

Waco, Texas—The old Indian legend that Waco would never be struck by a tornado was wrong as evidenced by the fact that today (May 11) marks the third anniversary of one which struck Waco, killing 114 persons, injuring more than 300 and doing more than $57,000,000 in damage, not to mention thousands of broken hearts.

Wacoans remember that dismal, unforgettable Monday evening, May 11, 1953, at about 4:40 o'clock when greenish-black clouds swooped down on this Central Texas metropolis and dumped terror and fright never before witnessed.

People in this area had heard the warning but did not heed it.

It was a wet, dreary day—a perfect nightmare—although unbelievable, it was true.

Today, Wacoans go about their daily tasks, trying in every way to forget the horrors of that day.

Very few, if any tornado scars are left. This city is thriving on every hand—numerically, financially and in some spots with a little more spirituality.

"Waco is building and continues to do so in order to take its place among the modern cities of Texas."

Wacoans do not feel their city is indestructible but rather they proceed with fear and caution and with strict adherence to intelligent procedures advised whenever the forecast calls for weather severity.

This does not necessarily mean that the necessary precaution taken is to the effect that every person is perfectly safe but it does mean that the chances of survival or not sustaining undue injuries are less.

Just within the past ten days an alert was sounded and Wacoans resorted to the most sensible weapon—prayer.

The Waco Messenger feels that when these forecasts of fearsomeness come, they serve as a check-up and the strengthening of faith in the handiworks of the Almighty.

But are we spiritually stronger in 1956 than we were before May 11, 1953?

Our experience in the past catastrophe should inaugurate or reveal some better pattern of living. (From Waco Messenger).

Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me. Cast me not away from Thy holy presence. — (Psalm 51, 10-11.)

It is only when we have gained, through devout prayer, Our Father's everlasting mercy, that we can gain also a clean heart and a right spirit. Then we will know His presence, enveloping and filling us, and find therein a strength superhuman, a peace beyond description.

A pile of mail is coming in from the high schools and colleges around the city and state with lists of students who will be receiving their diplomas in the May and June commencement exercises.

One very interesting report on the graduates came from North High School where Miss Essie Wherry, girl's advisor, compiled a list and sent a thumb nail sketch of each student, including his or her plans for more education, employment or military duties. My thanks to Miss Wherry who interviewed each graduate.

With the Bystander's sixty-second anniversary edition coming early this year on June 7, in order to catch up with the graduates of the local high schools, in time to get their picture stories for the annual Graduate's Page, one of the anniversary features, a bit more cooperation will be appreciated from the graduates.

Photos may be brought to the office this week end and next to get ahead of the Memorial Day holiday on Wednesday, May 30. For further information phone 8-1904.

This business of integration is working so well in some of the state schools that it is difficult to find names of the Negro students who are in the graduation classes, unless you know them personally.

The L. T. Club had a potluck dinner at the home of Mrs. Harriett Scales, recently. Mrs. Katherine Bell who was ill at Mercy Hospital, is home convalescing. The club met May 16 with Mrs. Mildred Bayles, 1140 Thirteenth street. Mrs. Scales is reporter.

"asset" in the country, it is necessary to search for the Negro talent, so that his light may shine in many of the darkened areas of our prejudiced communities.

Replies to letters I sent to several of the state schools have been answered as follows:
"This college makes no distinction, in its records, concerning race or color. Therefore it is impossible to separate the Negroes from all others. If we have personal knowledge of a Negro graduate we would be very glad to tell you of his activities. And if you know the name of a Negro graduate we would be happy to look up his record."

If any parents have sons and daughters who are graduating from Iowa colleges and universities, please send in their names immediately.

An unusual letter I found in the mail Wednesday morning. Seems like Des Moines citizens must be in the "need of prayer" because I have seen several of the "Good Luck Prayer" letters in the mail.

With all of the added confusion—the daylight and the standard time mixups, someone has suggested sending a copy of the "Good Luck Prayer" to members of the Des Moines City Council.

The letter revealed that the original came from the Netherlands and that the "Good Luck Prayer" has been around the world four times by the United States Officers.

"General Atkins received $17,000.00 three days after receiving it. General Patton received $8,000.00 but lost it because he broke the chain," the letter said.

The prayer states first: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart—in all thy ways acknowledge Him and He will direct that path."

Fifteen names were on the letter sent to me. Will I break the chain? Certainly not! Thanks to Atty. (Mrs.) Gertrude E. Rush for adding me to the chain.

Attached to the Fort Dodge weekly news column that comes from Correspondent C. L. House was this note:

"The other day I was up to the local T.V. station. Eve Rubenstein delighted in telling me she had breakfast with you recently in Des Moines. She put it this way:

"There is always someone who makes one's day so very nice to remember when away from home. I enjoyed so very much meeting Miss Ross and hope some day she comes to Fort Dodge. I would like to interview her over T.V."

"After meeting you she told me if she could do anything to help in the way of news, feel free to call on her," penned Mr. House.

So many pleasant notes are added to the news, I'll continue them later.

Mrs. Olin Cooper, 1112 Eleventh street, was the proud possessor of Mother's Day orchid from her daughter, Mrs. Gwendolyn Fowler who is in government service in Saigon Viet Nam.

Des Moines Branch Reports 275 Memberships at Kickoff

Captains of the Des Moines Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People reported 275 new memberships at the 'kick-off' dinner held Friday, May 11, at the Crocker Y.M.C.A., 14th and Keo.

The program began with a prayer and The Negro National Anthem as sung by Miss Alberta Bates accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Williams.

Attorney Robert A. Wright, membership chairman, addressed the group: "It will soon be one-hundred years since Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation to set us free—but we are not yet, truly free. Our people in the South suffer greatly as they struggle to be free. We, here in the North, are handicapped by bias and prejudice—trapped in ghetto neighborhoods—refused fair employment, which would help us to rise. N.A.A.C.P. has been in the front line fighting all the way," he said.

Makes Plea

Attorney Wright cited the Alabama Bus Boycott in which Negroes were arrested for refusing to ride the buses, the economic pressures brought to bear on those seeking to establish their dignity as human beings, the intimidation of Negro voters, the Lucy case, in which a young woman was stoned and egged by a mob of 2,000 to 1.

"There is much open defiance of the Supreme Court Ruling on the desegregation of schools. N.A.A.C.P. has much work to do. It has done much—but it can only do as much as you let it! Wright said.

"Give your money! Give your time and your prayers to N.A.A.C.P.," he said. "Hurry to join!"

Captains

The campaign will end June 15. Those wishing to join the organization may contact any of the following captains:

Mrs. Clara Bayles, 951 17th street; Mrs. Dona Greenlee, 819 Boyd; Mrs. Gwendolyn Howard, 1136 14th St.; Mrs. Gertha Jones, 940 16th; Mrs. Ione Lloyd, 913 Maple, West Des Moines; Mrs. J. B. Eartha Kitt 'First' at Plaza Hotel's Persian Room; Hazel Scott a Headliner

New York.—(CNS)—Eartha Kitt becomes first Negro at Plaza Hotel's Persian Room. Only the most sophisticated of white stars play the fabulously wealthy Plaza Hotel in New York. Such stars as Lisa Kirk, Hildagarde—who makes it her yearly visit—get to the Plaza. Now an unheard of thing is about to happen... The Plaza will have a Negro performer and the first one to break through is none other than Eartha Kitt, who recently went to lunch with former Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain—a statesman who grants precious few interviews with anyone.

Meanwhile, back in Las Vegas, Nevada another top femme artist is making news. Hazel Scott is first headliner in the history of Las Vegas to double between the main dining room and the lounge. Jumping back and forth from one section of the Flamingo to the other, Hazel is doing a "squeeze schedule" all because of her friend Al Parvin, who owns the hotel. She's on at three shows in the Lounge each night plus two shows in the main room—for a total of five shows a night—and finishing up at 3:30 in the morning. No other performer has been seen that much in a night in Las Vegas.

The word "confidential" so angers Sammy Davis, Jr. that he wants no part of it after three lurid stories from the magazine. Even so, the magazine's publisher can't see it this way and has approached Sammy to record a tune by a local newspaper columnist titled: "Shh—It's Confidential." When Sammy turned a deaf ear, the publisher continued on to Sammy's recording company to influence him to record a tune of publicity value to the magazine that has called him more names imaginable.

CITY COUNCIL PASSES
DAY LIGHT ORDINANCE

The Des Moines City council has passed an ordinance changing from central standard to day light savings time from May 20th to October 23. The ordinance is binding upon municipal activities only, voluntary as to the others in the city.

The mayor announced that his vote on the ordinance would depend upon the wishes of the people made known by cards and letters mailed to the council. A large majority opposed the measure but that sentiment was not followed.

Des Moines is not prepared for day light savings time. Many institutions make their plans far in advance and find it difficult to make shifts on short notice.

Now that the new time is here, the people must make the best of it. Undoubtedly, much confusion will result but confusion seems to be the order of the day.

THEY NEVER QUIT
FIGHTING BACK

Chafing under the U. S. Supreme Court decisions on segregation and discrimination, opponents of freedom and equality for all citizens are shifting their attack to that body.

Senator Smathers of Florida has pending in the senate a bill requiring that no person be appointed to the court who has not had at least five years service as a district or U. S. circuit judge or a member of a state supreme court. This bill gets little substantial support because such a restriction would bar many able lawyers from the court who had never served as a judge.

James F. Byrnes of North Carolina has written an article in U. S. News and World Report attacking the court on the ground that its decisions—means against segregation—have been political decisions and not based on law or precedent.

Byrnes has been U. S. Senator, secretary of state, Justice of the Supreme Court, Governor of South Carolina, and war time director of mobilization. As such, he has had wide experience in public affairs, should know that times have changed and that the constitution must be interpreted in the light of world conditions today.

Of course, these attacks have been aimed at the court's liberal interpretation on the race question.

It is significant that all these court decisions have been unanimous, that justices on the bench come from all sections of the country and are members of both major political parties.

Men of Byrnes experience and training should be expected to rise above pettiness and recognize the dignity of man. But it appears that at times it is hard to convert even intelligent people to decent thinking when their background is such that they throw all reason to the wind.

Balanced Ticket

W. H. Nicholas of Mason City, Candidate for the Republican nomination, stopped in the Bystander office this week.

He emphasized that as a business man, farmer and former lieutenant governor, his nomination would add strength to the Republican ticket.

His friends remember him as a public official upon whom the people of Iowa can count for able and efficient service.

tween the races as against the destruction of the symbols of a superior status," Dr. Tobias asserted. "Jim Crow bestows upon the insecure white southerner a cherished status of superiority which he does not have to prove in open competition."

"It is fear of losing this privileged position with its economic, social and political advantages and of being forced to compete with the Negro—it is this suppressed fear which has aggravated the situation and inflamed many white southerners to disregard law and order, decency and humanity."

Dr. Tobias spoke on April 30. The forum was under sponsorship of the National Association for Mental Health.

on the various shifts at the defense plants, it was a "nightmare trying to get some sleep" with the constant barking of the dogs.

"We made complaints then to the city, and nothing was done," she said.

Last Summer

Last summer, during the intense heat of August residents in the neighborhood went again to the Des Moines city council for some relief from the nuisance of the Animal Rescue League's barking dogs and odors.

Joseph Van Dreser, then mayor, said the council realized the league quarters were a problem and then referred the matter to City Manager Leonard Howell to "find out what can be done."

Few Dogs Then

Then, Mrs. Forrester told the council that before Max Finch, director of the league took over 1954, there were usually no more than 25 to 30 dogs kept on the premises at one time.

She said she talked to Finch about the noise and he told her "there is nothing that can be done about it."

Mrs. Forrester told the council Finch said he sometimes had a dog population of more than 150 at one time.

12,408 Last Year

Finch revealed January this year at the annual meeting of the league's board of directors, that the league in 1955 handled 12,408 dogs, twice as many as were handled in 1954.

In the group of residents who protested this summer were: Gene Cheatham, 930 Fourteenth street, who said he had his home for sale—but the dogs bark all day and all night and nobody wants to buy his house.

Mrs. Robert Lane, 940 Fourteenth street, told the council then that "those dogs are just a nuisance."

"The city doesn't allow a human being to disturb the peace, so why let those dogs make nervous wrecks out of us?" Mrs. Lane said, "I think something should be done about moving the place (the league quarters) somewhere else—out in the country."

Keep Windows Closed

Mrs. Lillie Malone, 931 Fourteenth street, last summer told the council: "I have to keep my windows shut all the time to get any peace at all—the noise goes on day and night."

"Now, please, help and get the league out somewhere so we can get a little rest."

The then Mayor Van Dreser, before referring the matter to Howell, last summer told the group that "we saw the tornado coming, rushed to the home of the Edmunds and escorted Mrs. Edmunds and two children to their basement. Windows in the home were blown out.

Three persons were killed in Flint and over 200 injured. In 1953 when a tornado hit Flint, 116 persons were killed.

Kin in Cleveland

Mrs. Alice Bell of 915 Fifteenth street, who has sisters living in Cleveland, Ohio, has been trying to contact them this week, since last Saturday's tornado.

HEALTH FOR ALL

SELF-CONTROL

Most people agree that self-control is a fine virtue. Without self-control on our part and on the part of others, life could be very unpleasant indeed.

But in time of illness we learn that self-control is important not only for pleasant relationship but also for our very survival. If we have a bad cold we don't question the wisdom of staying indoors and resting; we would never think of using a broken arm or leg until the doctor tells us we may. These are forms of self-control.

Strict Rules

Tuberculosis is a disease that calls for a maximum of self-control, for it may require obeying strict rules not only for a few days or weeks but for years. Because tuberculosis is not a disease that runs a short course and then is "cured," it can be a harsh task master for its victims. Winning the fight against tuberculosis depends very largely on the individual's determination and self-control.

While a tuberculosis patient is in the hospital he must do what the doctors know is good for him. However, many patients, unable to accept this discipline, leave the hospital before the doctors say they may. A patient who fails in this test of self-control lessens his chances of recovery and endangers the lives of those around him.

But even if a patient does not leave the hospital until the doctors dismiss him, he still faces major tests of self-control. For the rest of his life he must follow instructions on how to take care of himself in order to avoid another attack of the disease. If this self-control is weak, he may lose the fight against the disease. Where victims of tuberculosis are concerned, the reward for self-control may be life itself.

enough but by the time they get into the final straightaway, the Tech flyer was gaining on that blue shirt with every jump, and in another ten yards could have caught it. But Jim has two more years to run, and will certainly be heard from if he will stay in school.

Half-Miler

North High came up with a half-Miller in Don Walker, who anchored two relay teams and ran two good half miles, bringing home the baton in the medley race. North's Jim Owens and Tech's Morton Graves had it on one leg of the two twenty in this race. When Graves pulled in ahead of the pack, we thought the Engineer had the race, but Walker came up with a good half mile and crossed the line well in front. In the half mile relay it was Owens chasing Ken Burnett into the tape, with the East man winning by a slim margin. In this race, one which we thought Tech would have won, the Graves boys had some baton raising troubles. Morton, after running a fine two twenty, came into pass the thing to Brother Phil. Phil became over-anxious and reached for the baton. Naturally, when Morton felt the tug on it, he assumed that younger brother had it and let go. The thing fell, and everybody was gone. Phil turned around, picked up the stick and fairly flew, but it was too late. They couldn't catch the rest of the field.

In the four forty yard relay Owens and another boy from East High kept well ahead of the mighty O'Brien all the way to the tape. The fellow never could gain on them. Dave Douglass really put North in the money in this race with a fine leg. Among the other fellows, John Caon of Tech got two third places in the hurdles, Lewis Hobbs of North took over the Graves mortgage on third place in the broad jump and Floyd Shepard of Tech got fourth. Bob Dixon of Tech raced to a third in the four forty.

After the meet, we were impolitely informed by the Graves Brothers that we were a jinx, and would we please stay away from the Tech meets in the future. So we will be in Ames come next Saturday, and see what can be done about it.

Baseball

The Bruins suffered a severe jolt when their infielder Don Eady was called up before his draft board and seems to be on his way to the army. That leaves Johnson and he won't be enough. Wonder why Negroes don't go to see the team play. Just about every team in the Western League has at least one Negro on its roster, and they are all playing pretty fair ball. lows used to sit around the pool room and argue that they didn't want any Negro players on the Bruins, we wouldn't go to see them. Now that they have some and we still don't go to see them. Wonder what the reason is now? And why don't more Negro kids get into the Little League? Now, when just about every kid who can throw hard, run fast or hit a ball can have a chance to make a living at baseball, our boys take up softball. Isn't there anyone who can interest them in the game where the money is? East High's Jim Thomas will make some semipro team a fine prospect this summer, and maybe he will get a chance to move up. Sure would like to see him do it, because the kid can play just about anywhere with equal skill.
