Capital Close-Up From Washington

BY CONSTANCE DANIEL

CRUMP FRONT

WASHINGTON, D. C.—William E. Gerber, former Boss Crump ax-man and Shelby County (Tenn.) prosecuting attorney, imported by Congressional segregationists to probe school integration in your Capital, has started his operations with a bang.

First-off, last week, Gerber called for the names and addresses of the four thousand District school employees—teachers and officers—so that they could be questioned. Two days later, he announced that the questioning, (which, in fact, had already begun via D. C.'s appointed Commissioners and Education Board members) would be extended to include officials of the District PTA (now very successfully integrated), other citizens group representatives, and two former Board of Education members, including Dr. Margaret Just Butcher.

Unofficial adviser to Gerber is a former long-time head of the Citizens Federation, here, (white parallel of the Negro "Civic" Federation), a northern-born segregation leader in the Federal City.

Questions Asked

Questions asked of Commissioners and School Board members included the effect of integration on the schools, its possible effect on juvenile delinquency, comparative efficiency of white and Negro teachers, classroom crowding and proposed construction.

Young Voters in YMCA Poll Place Foreign Policy First; Desegregation Second Place

Health of presidential candidates is not considered a major campaign issue by voters in the 21-to-35 age bracket.

This was revealed in finding of a poll conducted by the National Council of Young Men's Christian Associations and received here by Robert W. Lindberg, General Secretary of the Des Moines Y.M.C.A.

The poll covered 4,400 men and women 21 to 35 years old. They live in 53 cities located in 27 states. Seventy per cent of those polled were men.

Only one out of 10 persons taking part in the national poll listed health as a major campaign issue, according to Lindberg. Eighty-five per cent said experience, reputation and integrity of a candidate weighed heaviest with them.

Only one per cent rated a candidate's family situation as important.

As to political affiliation, 42 per cent said they were Republicans and 24 per cent listed themselves as Democrats. Thirty-four per cent claimed to be independents.

Top Billing

The young voters gave top billing to United States foreign policy as the nation's foremost political issue. It was ranked first by nearly 25 per cent.

Desegregation came next with 13 per cent. Federal aid to education and tax reduction followed closely, being favored by 12 and 11 per cent respectively.

Farm policies, the 18-year-old vote, civil liberties, government ownership of industry, universal military training, and the public vs. private electric power dispute held little interest as campaign issues for those polled.

In Coming Weeks, Most of Virginia Will Be Forced to Act on School Integration

Richmond, Va.—(CNS)—With last week's ruling in Charlottesville county before them, in which Federal Judge John Paul ordered the school board to begin making plans, for integrated Negro and white pupils in Charlottesville schools in September, the Arlington school board is facing a similar crisis this week and using the same arguments that failed in Charlottesville.

Delay

The Arlington County is answering the NAACP suit by asking the court to dismiss the suit on the grounds that it was premature and that the State had not given its consent to be sued.

In Charlottesville, Judge Paul stated that the state's policy has been one of "calculated delay" and for this reason he ordered the board to act at once.

Judge Paul concluded: "I may be too frank, but I will say I would be closing my eyes to the facts if I didn't realize that the State is pursuing a well-conceived policy of delay."

A Republican, Judge Paul did remind counsel for both sides that a desegregation decree wouldn't mean all the doors of all schools would be opened to anyone who wanted to get in. For while children couldn't be segregated because of race, there were other factors that could be considered such as residence, crowded

Emancipation Program Aug. 4 At Ft. Madison

The annual Emancipation Program at Fort Madison State Penitentiary will be held Saturday morning, August 4, beginning at 10:30 a. m. Percy A. Lainson, warden, has announced.

In commenting on the program, Edward C. Morgan, chairman, wrote: "This is not a program to remind us that we are to commemorate the freeing of Negro slaves at the end of the Civil War. Nor are we to look back and feel that the act of freedom has been accomplished. However, we may use the past as a measuring stick to compare the successes and the accomplishments that have been made by our great democracy."

"We as individuals should try to emancipate our hearts from hatred, our minds from fear, and bias from practice. Either of the three is a poison to the soul and to the personality."

A number of Des Moines friends and relatives annually are invited to attend the program.

Find Segregated Housing Is 'Crux' of Race Relation Problems in the North

The initial meeting of what is expected to be a permanent committee of citizens concerned with improving housing opportunities of minority groups was held Wednesday in the offices of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights.

In explaining the purpose of the committee, Robert C. Sweet, Commission Secretary, declared that it was not the intention that the committee should serve in pushing integration in housing. He noted that in spite of a multiplicity of restrictive measures, a substantial degree of integration is already going on within the city.

Basic Objective

Sweet said, additionally, that the committee should not be primarily concerned with the speed at which further integration takes place.

The basic objective, he said, was that the problem be looked at thoroughly and objectively with the hope that through sound planning there may come increasing opportunities for minority group families and a greater understanding and accept-

'The Crux'

Segregation in housing was described as "the crux of race relations problems in northern cities" because the physical separation it provides prevents the means of communication that are necessary for a vitalized community organization. Housing was also seen as an area in which the pace change has occurred much more slowly than in other phases of intergroup relations and as involving considerations not present in other aspects of the problem.

Further Consideration

While the committee made no decision on what action it might take, it did propose that further consideration be given to the following subjects:

1. Research projects concerned with determining attitudes toward, and experiences with integration.
2. Strengthening existing FHA and VA non-discriminatory policies.

Florida Legislator Asks that His Name Be Taken from NAACP Membership Roll

New York—Prentice P. Pruitt, a member of the Florida State Legislature, has been informed that his name has been removed from the rolls of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Pruitt had publicly complained that he had received an unsolicited NAACP membership card.

In a letter to Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, the Florida legislator denied ever having taken out an NAACP membership or having made any contribution to the Association inasmuch as his "views are utterly incompatible" with those of the NAACP. Implied that he was the victim of a plot to embarrass him, Mr. Pruitt requested that his name be stricken from the list of members.

Regular Mail

Responding to this letter, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, informed the Floridian that his name had been removed "since we do not desire anyone in our ranks who is not in sympathy with the purposes of this Association."

Vice Commander Page of American Legion Apologizes For Anti-Negro Statements

Washington, D. C.—Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. (D-Michigan) received word that American Legion National Vice Commander Page has apologized for his anti-Negro statements made in speaking before the Annual Mississippi Legion Convention on July 9.

In a letter to Diggs, National Commander Wagner quoted in full the text of a telegram from Page in which he told his superior "I regret very much that in the course of my opening remarks and before going into body of my talk, I made certain comments bearing upon an issue which I certainly had no right to speak as representative of The American Legion. I apologize to you and to all who were offended by my remarks. . . . I take this opportunity of stating that I was in no sense expressing the policy of The American Legion."

Apology Demanded

Page's apology was demanded by Diggs following an Associated Press report quoting the National Vice Commander as saying he deplored the NAACP-coerced action of his native Texas in sending Negro delegates to the Democratic National Convention and that he refused the post of Texas delegate because he doesn't wish to sit with Negro delegates.

How to Protect Ones Self and Family During Tornadoes

Violent windstorms each year cause untold damage and loss of life which often can be avoided if a few precautions are taken. Here is how to protect yourself, your family, your property.

Tornadoes

Tornadoes, most destructive of all storms, may appear with little warning. Fast action is necessary to escape their fury.

Safest place to be during a tornado is underground in a storm cellar. Next best is within a reinforced concrete or steel-framed building, near an inside wall away from all windows.

At home, if no storm cellar is near, a corner of the basement nearest the approaching tornado is safest, particularly in wood frame houses. If in a basementless house, seek shelter elsewhere—even an open ditch offers some protection.

Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums, other buildings having large "area roofs" relatively lightly anchored. They may collapse.

In open country move at right angles to the tornado's path. Most tornadoes travel at 25 to 40 miles an hour. A person in an automobile can usually outrun one. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or other depression. Don't stay in an automobile which may be rolled over and crushed.

Hurricanes

Hurricanes affect much larger areas than tornadoes, but their winds are not as strong. Adequate warning of approach is usually available so that precautions can be taken to prevent injuries and damage. Measures which minimize hurricane damage are equally valuable in other windstorms of lesser, but nonetheless

Coconut Mint Dessert

Cool, pretty, simplicity itself to make—and oh, so good to eat! What more can a busy homemaker ask for a hot summer's day dessert or party salad ideal Time-saving trick: Prepare melon balls in advance, even to the rolling in flaked coconut. Prepare orange slices, too. Then, at serving time, assembling this attractive dessert will be easy.

COCONUT MINT DESSERT

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon fresh mint leaves
36 chilled melon balls
(watermelon, honeydew, and cantaloupe)

Simmer sugar, water, and mint leaves for 2 minutes. Strain and cool. Dip melon balls in the minted syrup and roll in coconut. Cut orange slices in half. Place a small scoop of sherbet in center of each serving dish. Arrange 6 melon balls around sherbet. Place half slice of orange between each melon ball. Garnish with sprigs of mint, if desired. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

less destructive, magnitude. The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following precautions:

Before A Storm

Before a storm, tune to radio and television broadcasts of latest Weather Bureau information. In case of power failure, a battery-powered radio will come in handy.

Go inland. Get away from beaches and the low waterfront which may be swept by storm waves. Hurricanes bring abnormally high tides, high waves.

If your passage to safety is over a road likely to be under water, leave early. Otherwise you may be trapped by high winds and rising waters preceding the arrival of the storm center by several hours. Travel at the height of the storm is exceedingly dangerous.

If your house is out of danger of waves and is substantially built—anchored to strong foundations and with its roof securely fastened—it's possibly the best place for you to stay.

Put loose material and movable objects such as garbage cans and porch furniture where they cannot be blown against the building or through a window. Movable awnings should be raised and securely tied or removed entirely.

Keep trees pruned away from your home. Dead branches, overhanging branches, and those which may sway against windows or roof are the most likely to cause damage.

Board Up Windows

In seriously threatened areas board up windows or put storm shutters in place, at least on the sides exposed to the most violent winds. Shutters should be securely fastened several hours in advance of the expected arrival of the storm. They are difficult to handle in a high wind.

Use good lumber and attach it firmly to the building. Makeshift boarding or insecure shutters often blow loose, do more damage than none at all.
Garage doors and others having large exposed areas must be secured particularly well.

Fill Jugs

Sterilize and fill jugs, bottles or cooking utensils with fresh water. The water supply may fail. A tub filled with water may be useful, too.

One or more windows can be kept open on the lee side—the side opposite that from which the wind is coming—to provide some ventilation and, under certain conditions, to prevent wind damage.

If wind or flying objects make an opening on the windward side of the building, wind pressure will build up within the building. Having an opening on the lee side will allow this pressure to escape, minimizing the interior forces tending to lift the roof or push out the walls.

Only small openings are advisable as long as the windward side remains intact. But as soon as windows are broken additional openings should be provided on the lee side to help equalize the pressure.

Have Flashlight

Have a flashlight in good working condition readily available. Be careful of fire. If oil lamps or candles must be used for emergency lighting, use them carefully. In an emergency a bucket of sand can be used to absorb spilled fuel or to smother a small oil fire. Better still would be a fire extinguisher of a type approved for use on flammable liquids. Be sure it is in good condition and you know how to use it.

Have extra food on hand, food that can be eaten with little or no cooking. Remember electric power failure may leave you without refrigeration. Emergency cooking facilities should be in safe working condition. Be particularly careful with appliances in questionable condition because of long disuse. They may cause a fire.

After A Storm

After a storm, don't hinder first aid and rescue work. Unless qualified to render valuable emergency assistance, stay away from disaster areas.

If you must drive immediately after a storm, drive carefully. Watch for fallen wires and tree branches. In coastal areas or near swollen streams, beware of wash-outs and undermined pavement.

Don't touch dangling or loose power lines or electric wires. In a storm the live power lines may become entangled with metal fences, telephone and other wires. Contact, in some cases, would be fatal.

Even after water service is restored, it may be wise to boil or sterilize drinking water until otherwise advised by your local health department.

Be careful of fire at all times. Damaged communications may result in a delayed fire alarm; debris- obstructed streets can slow response of fire apparatus and low pressure can make fire fighting difficult.

Irvin Plagues His Old Teammates

Chicago —(CNS)— Former Giant slugger, Monte Irvin added to the woes of last place New York Giants who seemingly are imbedded in the cellar, 19 1/2 games off the pace, Irvin hit two home runs off Giant pitching to beat them 7-4. The Giants sold Irvin last year to their farm club in Minneapolis when the Chicago Cubs saw possibilities in the former star and brought him back to the Majors.

Bennett Grad Teaching Piano in Hiroshima, Japan

Greensboro, N. C.—Teaching piano and voice to girls who neither speak nor understand English is just one of the obstacles that Miss Charlotte Alston, 1954 Bennett College graduate, has overcome since joining the faculty at Jogakuin College in Hiroshima, Japan.

Miss Alston uses an interpreter for this class but, fortunately, the girls in two other classes speak English since they are English majors. These classes include history, theory, appreciation, singing and creative melody writing. She also directs the college choir.

"I have 28 piano students," Miss Alston reports, "ranging in age from five to 24 years. I do some teaching at the college studio but the major portion of the piano work is done at my house where we have converted the 'big room' into a music studio."

Miss Alston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alston of Greensboro, is the seventh child in a family of eight children. She went to Japan last year to serve three years as a missionary under the auspices of the Methodist Church.

150 Members of Kansas City, Kas., Church Make Annual Good-Will Trip to Corinthian

On an annual good-will tour, the Rev. C. A. Pugh, pastor of Strangers Rest Baptist Church, Kansas City, Kas., headed three Grey-Hound busloads of church's musical groups and members to Des Moines last Sunday for an appearance at the Corinthian Baptist Church.

Approximately 150 persons made up the caravan which included private cars, also.

The Rev. Mr. Pugh, who began the good-will tours in 1948, on the fourth Sunday of July, revealed that the annual "spirit-inspired tours are to promote better brotherhood, goodwill and fellowship."

Speaking from the theme, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," the Kansas minister said: "God wants us to be brothers in this world so that we can know how to walk the streets of Glory."

"Our job is to help save the world. We come to help tell the story of peace. Either we must save the world or the world will destroy itself."

A large young people's choir, a men's group and a senior choir, all well-trained musical groups, offered anthems, and favorite hymns. Presiding at the organ was Mrs. Mayme Lewis, with Regiland Boston, a young Kansas piano virtuoso assisting.

Miss Bessie Coleman will be master of ceremonies and Mrs. Alice Cooper will be in charge of finances. Mrs. Estelle Allen is program chairman and Mrs. Georgia Add is president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

memorial sermon was given by Rev. Parker, using for his theme: "The Spirit of Man is the Candle of the Lord." Mrs. Ruby Bennett was in charge of the obituary and condolence. The New Bethel choir was in charge of the music assisted by Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Blanks of the Union Memorial Methodist Church, with Mrs. Ida Mae Stephens, of St. John Baptist at the piano. Mr. John T. Rhem motored to Des Moines Sunday in the process of getting more mileage on his new 1956 Pontiac.

The entire group of visitors were entertained at dinner by Corinthian Church, welcomed by the Rev. N. R. Olphin, pastor. J. A. Wilson, Strangers Rest orator, made a response.

Robert McFerrin at Italy's Finest, Tetra San Carlo; Billy Daniels Having Much Luck With Irish; Louis Jordan on Coast

BY DOLORES CALVIN

New York—(CN)—Negro Opera Stars Get Attention and $5 Abroad ... Several of the race's finest opera stars are indeed happy in Europe this summer for they are finally getting attention they deserve plus some fabulous money, too.

In Italy, it's Robert McFerrin, who was paid $1,000 fee for one performance plus a round trip transportation at Italy's finest Tetra San Carlo. This is regarded a rousing price for a newcomer making his European debut. Moreover, McFerrin, who was the first of the race to make it at the Metropolitan after Marfan Anderson, got attention he never received here. He was allowed 10 days rehearsal for his debut and this contrasts sharply to the Metropolitan which rushed him in without a stage or orchestral rehearsal, gave him a costume that belonged to someone else without any alterations to fit him plus wouldn't even show him the courtesy by allowing him to see the stage sets.

Attention is almost as important as money to an opera star. And the Europeans are showing it to Negro stars. Charming Camilla Williams has become a sensation in Vienna, singing "Saint of Blecker Street" plus she's being hailed for her German lullaby. In America, Camilla was never accorded more than second rate treatment but not so in Vienna. McFerrin will be doing many more opera roles while in Italy. The famous La Scala is bidding for him and there's even talk they will revive "L'Africaine" by Meyerbeer just for him.

Spider Burks, the outstanding Negro disc jockey for KXIV was fired for all things—not doing more rock 'n' roll. Burks leaned to jazz which he has featured for nine years. As he put it: "They wanted me to play all 'gut-bucket' music. That's an ignorant type of music that rock 'n' roll. I made the big grosses on the more intelligent music and I didn't see why all of a sudden I've got to do some other way."

Duke Ellington in an appearance with the New Haven Symphony Orchestra at the Yale Bowl drew $8,000 paid and this grossed $10,000. The Duke may cut an album with the work on his own material.

Barely back from a six months' tour of Europe and Israel, the Lionel Hampton crew is due to leave again in September. They will play in England September 30, for eight days followed up with 22 dates in provincial cities.

Billy Daniels is having much luck with the Irish. In Belfast in Northern Ireland, Billie's current tour is

Welcomes 15-Year-Old Girl Who Will Visit Norway as Jr. Ambassador

New York—Manhattan Borough President Hulan E. Jack is shown welcoming Miss Barbara Ann Crosby, 15, (1317 Burdett Avenue) Cincinnati, Ohio, in his office in the Municipal Building. Miss Crosby is enroute to Norway as Junior Ambassador in a 26-nation project known as The Children's International Summer Villages as guest of Remington Rand who is financing her trip abroad. During Miss Crosby's visit with the Borough President she presented a goodwill token from Mayor Charles Taft of Cincinnati. Mr. Jack paid tribute to the movement which established world communities in which children advance world citizenship through working and playing together in cross national contacts.

C., chairman of the House Committee on the District of Columbia, John Bell Williams of Mississippi, District Committee member who proposed the school-probing subcommittee, James C. Davis of Georgia, subcommittee chairman, Thomas Abernethy of Mississippi, and Gerber, hired to conduct the probe. One Republican member, Joel Brophy, of Virginia, signed the Southern manifesto opposing civil rights legislation.

On the "Senate side" the District of Columbia Committee is chaired by the veteran Matthew M. ("Matt") Neely of West Virginia, an outspoken friend of civil rights. Senator Joseph F. R. of Delaware, the only other Southerner on that Senate Committee, is rated as "friendly" to CR legislation. No integration inquiries are anticipated from this source.

Abernethy Sillies

Mississippi's Congressman Thomas Abernethy, speaking from the forum of the Congressional Record, recently accused Northern Congressmen who are publicly backing civil rights legislation, of "social discrimination" against Negro Congressmen, which sounds silly to us.

We have always "figured" that, unlike professional, political and other public contacts, social contacts are one's own business. Mr. Abernethy, for example, might be, personally, quite unwelcome as a guest in any number of homes, including many Negro homes. But we have observed that Congressman Dawson of Illinois, Mr. Abernethy's Negro colleague on the Dixie-loaded House Committee for the District, serves there without friction. He does not, thereby, have to invite Mr. Abernethy home to dinner.

refuge in the Fifth Amendment should be fired from their jobs, 42 per cent in the YMCA poll said "No."

Witnesses

Thirty-two per cent—disagreed, saying Fifth Amendment witnesses should be fired. Twenty-six per cent had no opinion.

A test sampling made among voters over 35 showed 55 per cent approving the discharge of Fifth Amendment witnesses.

Universal military training, Lindberg said, while not highly regarded as a campaign issue, was supported as a national defense measure by 60 per cent of the youthful citizens.

Only half of the young men and women polled said they were satisfied with the stand of their parties on important issues. However, two-thirds reported they never changed their party alignment. Further, they split 50-50 on voting a straight party ticket or crossing party lines on their ballots.

Major Issues

Sixty-six per cent did not know where their Congressmen stood on major issues. But eight out of ten said they knew how, when, and where to register. Almost two-thirds actually were registered.

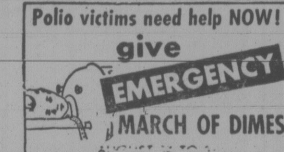

The poll was conducted by the National Young Adult Council of the YMCA as part of its election-year effort to induce younger voters to take a more lively interest in politics.

The program, known as "The Y's Voter-Cade," also includes a registration project, a study of issues and candidates, and a get-out-the-vote campaign. There will be election fol-

Personal Touch By MARIE ROSS

A vacation letter arrived finally from Mrs. Guy Greene, 1412 Center street, who left here the latter part of June to attend the NAACP national convention in San Francisco, then spend a vacation.

After making an apology, Mrs. Greene wrote:

"I'm having a wonderful time. (Trying not to gain weight). I arrived in Los Angeles from that beautiful city of San Francisco on July 2... visiting here Mrs. Rosa L. Marshall, 1336 West 36th Street. I have seen many friends... making new friends... being entertained with breakfasts, luncheons, dinners and parties. Garden parties, teas, shopping tours and on Wednesday, July 25, Mrs. William Hampton will take me to lunch and we will see 'The Cinerama Holiday.' Everyone here is raving over it."

"I have seen my nieces, Nellie Spencer, Idah Eddins and Nancy Windsor, and nephew, Tommy Smith."

"Friday, July 6, my hostess gave a party for me and I had the privilege of inviting my own personal friends. Invitations were issued to nearly 100. About 70 persons were present. There were many former Des Moines friends. The reunion was great. However, with all of my entertainment, I have not missed a Sunday attending church. The hospitality here and in San Francisco is wonderful. This Sunday my hostess to church will be Mrs. Jarmorie (McCracken) Funchess. She is a sister to Mrs. Mercedes Smith of Des Moines."

In San Francisco

"In San Francisco we visited for a few moments Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph. There are many visitors in the city. I've met people from Seattle, Wash., Chicago, Carbondale and Evanston, Ill., and Kansas City, Kansas and Missouri."

Heard Dr. King

"We saw at the National NAACP many friends whom we meet at each national we attend. My entire expense was worth it to hear Rev. Martin Luther King. He was wonderful. San Francisco Branch entertainment was of the best. Mrs. E. T. Seales and I shared together two parties here in Los Angeles. I called Mrs. Clara Bayles but missed her on each call. I will return to Des Moines August 2. After all, there is no place like home."

"Mr. Vivian L. Jones and I visited

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Homer Lewis. Mrs. Norman Olphin was guest.

Miss Jessie Walker Hostess to Mary Church Terrell Club

Miss Jessie E. Walker entertained the Mary Church Terrell Club Monday night at the home of Mrs. Nellie Esters.

Mrs. A. A. Alexander gave an interesting talk on life in the Virgin Islands where her husband was recent governor. She showed pictures of happenings of the couple during their stay there. Of special interest was the visit of Vice President and Mrs. Nixon who were among the many distinguished guests from all parts of the world whom they entertained.

Mrs. Bonnie Herndon is a new member of the club. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Howard Kelso. The club is making extensive plans to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary in October.

the Lincoln Memorial Cemetery and there placed flowers on the grave of my brother, the late Jesse A. Graves, and many other friends buried there we shared flowers with. I have been given many gifts and am purchasing a few gifts... I am grateful for my many friends.

Busy at Conference

"I was busy at the NAACP Conference. Was secretary of the Rules Committee; served as contact person for Region 4. We tried but in vain to take the 1958 Conference to Denver, Colo. Cleveland, Ohio, worked their political hand and won."

"I have talked to Mrs. James L. Edwards, formerly of Des Moines; also visited with Mrs. Maude Mash Stewart, Mrs. Margaret Bohanon, via telephone. Mr. George A. Gater called in person. The freeway is wonderful and frightening. My hostess has a car so I am able to see many friends. Then everyone comes for you when they invite you out. It is a large city and growing more. It is said 1,000 persons a day come here to live."

"These are a few highlights of my vacation. I will leave here July 31. Oh yes, my most thrilling exciting day was Thursday, July 12, at the races. My first time at the race track. My horse lost. Eight thrilling races, beautiful horses... people... many people and money galore!" (Mrs. B. L. Greene).

EXPERIENCES IN MIAMI AND MIAMI BEACH

The Rev. Lovell Johnson, pastor of Bethel AME Church, who with his wife traveled through the Southland during May, continues this week, highlights of their trip.

"As I have intimated in previous articles, our treatment in Miami and Miami Beach was good. However, there were a few unpleasant experiences to remind us that racial prejudice against Negroes was present."

"One day I visited a sidewalk ice cream stand. I asked for a malt. The young lady who took my order could hardly speak English but she gave me something more akin to a milk shake. It was not very tasty. The next day I decided to stop at this same stand as I was doing some shopping nearby. A different waitress told me that they did not serve colored. When I informed her that I had been served the day before she looked puzzled and said she would have to see the manager. While she was out looking for the manager I left. This incident took place in Coconut Grove near the vicinity of Dinner Key Auditorium where our AME General Conference was being held. This was the only time I was

To Miami for NACW Meeting

MRS. JOSEPH WIMBERLY

Mrs. Joseph Wimberly, president of the Iowa Association of Colored Women, left Wednesday morning by motor to attend the 39th biennial meeting of the National Association of Colored Women which will convene July 28 to August 3 in Miami, Fla., at the Miami Bay Front Auditorium.

Mrs. Wimberly was accompanied by Mr. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jett, and Mrs. Maude Brewton of Mason City.

The party will stop in Hopkinsville, Ky., Atlanta, Ga., and Daytona Beach, Fla., enroute to Miami.

Mrs. Wimberly will serve as moderator on a panel discussion, "The Importance of National Legislation to the NACW," July 30. The theme of the convention will be: "Uniting We Work for a Better World."

refused service during my sojourn in the South.

Experiences

"Another unpleasant experience was that occasioned by a political telecast by ex-Governor Fuller Warren who was seeking to oust the present incumbent, Tom Collins, who was trying for a second term. Fortunately, Governor Collins won the election and became the first Governor to serve two consecutive terms in Florida. Mr. Warren is a dyed-in-the-wool segregationist who wants the races to remain separated forever in all matters where they might come together on equal terms."

"Needless to say, he is against integration of the races and he bought 15 minutes of T.V. time to tell the people of Florida his story. It was the same old line. 'Negroes must be kept in their places.' If you permit integration Negro men will marry white women.' (This is a very dumb argument. Negro men cannot make white women marry them. They do it of their own free will and accord. What they are admitting is that some white women for various reasons will marry Negro men if the law will permit. In fact many white women prefer Negro men, else why do they voluntarily cross the line?")

"Well, Mr. Warren lost his campaign and a bit of his T.V. audience. One white man sat nearby in the hotel lobby rose to his feet and in a disgusting tone of voice said: 'That's as much as I can take.' With those words he walked outside to cool his temper. Of course, Mr. Warren never had my mind on his side from the start. Evidently, he did not have the majority of the people of Florida because he failed to win their votes. On the other hand Gov. Collins believes in gradual integration."

"While in Florida my wife and I lived in the Patrician Hotel located at 37th and Collins Ave. in Miami Beach. This is a beach city chuck full of beautiful hotels. However, there are lots of beautiful homes, also. Our hotel had 125 rooms, with private bath. Our room had two double beds and as were all others, air conditioned. In the back yard was a horseshoe shaped swimming pool bedecked with lounge chairs. About twenty-five yards away was the beautiful blue Pacific ocean and between you and the ocean was gentle soft white sand. The blue waves continually beat the white sandy

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

ATTITUDES VS. BELIEFS IN CHILD CARE BY LLOYD LOVELL, SUI ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

Mrs. Carroll told her neighbor, "I know I shouldn't restrict the children, but I can't help it. When I've finished cleaning the house, I just can't stand having them storm through it, dragging dirt in and musing everything up. But everybody says the kids should have more freedom, and that their own house is a place for them to have fun in. I try to relax about it, but every little thing they do gets me more tense than ever."

Mrs. Carroll is trapped by a conflict between certain beliefs that she holds about child care, and certain attitudes of hers which make it impossible for her to practice those beliefs comfortably. Perhaps the belief which causes her most difficulty is her belief that there is only one good way to manage her house and children and that she is failing as a by employing widely differing specific practices.

Some families are comfortable when their homes permit children's untidiness, when sturdy furniture is jumped on, and when children can storm freely through the house. There probably is no important reason why such families ought to become stricter or "neater" so long as the family is optimally happy this way.

Other families are more comfortable when tidiness is maintained and children's most boisterous activities are confined to the basement or the out-of-doors. Probably there is no pressing reason for such families to become more casual, either, as long as this style of home life contributes to the optimal happiness of this family. And parents need not feel guilty just because they are more or less formal or strict than some other family they know. It is difficult to apply policies that run counter to your own attitudes and expectations, mother because she cannot conform to that on way.

There is a good deal of evidence that emotional comfort within the family is one of the most useful criteria of a "good" home, and that different families can achieve this emotional comfort for their members and often it is not necessary to try to apply them.

This is not to suggest that every one, is perfect just as he is, but many families with good arrangements for their own families are unnecessarily concerned over whether they ought to attempt a different arrangement just because it works well for another family.

LACK OF LEADERSHIP
TAKES HEAVY TOLL

The committee, appointed by Gov. Hoegh to investigate the extent of discrimination in employment on the basis of race, creed, color or religion, has held hearings in Burlington, Davenport and Council Bluffs.

While the committee has not prepared its findings, it is apparent that it has found credible evidence of what was generally known all along: that there is widespread discrimination in and near those communities and that very little was being done to remedy the situation.

It appears that one of the difficulties to a fair solution of the problem is a lack of the type of leadership which knows how and is willing to go forward and take the necessary steps to get things done.

True, Negroes in these communities attend and graduate from the same schools as whites but find it necessary to leave home to find employment any ways commensurate with their education. Thus, these towns educate students for leadership in other communities.

Des Moines has been more fortunate in that leaders produced years ago hung on and worked for the economic and political advancement of the Negro even though they themselves were not secure. Many have made terrific sacrifices that those of the present might enjoy more security and independence.

This situation is rather serious for Iowa Negroes for it neutralizes the strength of those who are trying to get things done.

Something should be done to fill this gap. True there are state-wide religious and fraternal organizations in Iowa but they do nothing for the economic advancement of the Negro. The NAACP has a statewide organization but the leadership has been hampered because the respective branches have not functioned and thus are unable to support the organization to the extent that it has been ineffective.

Of course many people are overloaded with civic duties and thus are unwilling to tackle additional jobs. Somehow this problem must be met and by Negroes taking the leadership.

PLAYING BOTH ENDS
AGAINST THE MIDDLE

Last week, the House of Representatives at Washington passed the civil rights bill submitted to Congress by the Eisenhower administration. Several measures introduced by both Democrats and Republicans have been pending since the beginning of this session.

As was to be expected, the measure has met tough going in the Senate. It was referred to the judiciary committee of which Senator Eastland of Mississippi is the chairman. And of course most people realized that this meant that the measure would die without any action.

Realizing this situation which many Senators recognized, three Democratic Senators, Lehman of New York, Jennings of Missouri and Douglas of Illinois made a move Tuesday to bypass the committee in order to bring the measure before that body for consideration on its merits.

However, this sounded too good to be true for Senator Russell of Georgia objected promptly and since unanimous consent was required under the rules to perfect such a move, the effort was fruitless and the bill passed over.

This maneuver was a perfect example of playing both ends against the middle. The Senators who made an effort to bypass the committee knew in advance that they had no chance at all to make a success of what they proposed. Realizing that the Democrats controlled Congress, it was their responsibility to pass it. But knowing the bill could not pass, they made this move to prove to their constituents back home that they wanted the measure to pass. And undoubtedly some members, including the sponsors of the measure, honestly wanted the bill to pass. But they also knew that it had no chance because the southern leaders of their party could and would oppose it.

Congress is controlled by the Democrats, and of course since men like Senators Eastland and Russell have been in the senate for many years they head most of the important committees and are in a position to block the measures they don't like.

Just how well Negroes will come to realize this and put control of Congress in the hands of Republicans is problematical. But it does appear foolish to support those people who are in a position and try to keep their feet on the Negro's neck.

conditions of schools and student qualifications.

In Prince Edward County, the board's counsel has been ordered to hold a conference with Judge Hutcheson, Virginia's attorney general J. Lindsay Almond, Jr. and the NAACP attorney, Oliver W. Hill to decide on a date for hearing of a motion brought by the NAACP that Prince Edward school authorities make a prompt start toward desegregation by September.

In the next two weeks, because of these main cases due, most of Virginia will soon be forced to act on the school issue.

wired National Commander Wagner at his Washington and Idaho Department Offices calling the statements "a despicable demonstration of bigotry wholly inconsistent with the 'Americanism' theme of your organization."

He told the Commander "whether the remarks were spoken as an individual or not, they will be taken to reflect the position of The American Legion unless there is an immediate and official retraction and a full apology by Commander Page and the American Legion to the NAACP and to all people affected and concerned by such expressions."

In Commander Wagner's response, he told Diggs "I sincerely regret that the incident occurred" and said, "I reiterate that Mr. Page did not express American Legion policy in the statements attributed to him."

NAACP Mourns Death
Of Jewish Leader

New York — The death of Dr. David W. Petegorsky, executive director of the American Jewish Congress, removes from the public arena one who "devoted his energies and great talents to the noble cause of creating a society in which men of different faiths, races and national origins could dwell in peace, harmony and mutual respect." Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary said, in a telegram of condolence to the Jewish leader's widow.

After a long illness, Dr. Petegorsky died at his home in New York City on July 15. He had served as executive director of the AJC since 1945. The NAACP, Mr. Wilkins said, will "miss the cordial cooperation and support he gave to our common cause."

HEALTH FOR ALL

SMALL WORLD

These days a trip abroad isn't the rarity it once was. In time, we are told, we may hop into a jet on Friday, spend the weekend on another continent, and be back at work on Monday.

Although Americans are not yet seeing the world on a weekend, many thousands of us are working and serving abroad in large numbers. We all know someone, a member of the family or a friend, who is living or has lived overseas. So the world has become a smaller and more familiar place for us than it was for our parents.

The "shrinking" of our globe has brought to Americans in some areas of the world the problem of greater exposure to contagious diseases, which makes the difficult problem of controlling such diseases within our own borders even more difficult.

Take tuberculosis for example. The organized fight against this contagious disease in the United States is already more than a half century old, despite all that has been accomplished, we have not erased tuberculosis as a major public health problem.

Lower Standards

In countries with living standards lower than ours tuberculosis is more prevalent than in the United States. Some precautions can be taken by Americans going to those countries, but there is no such thing as tight control over the disease that is present in millions and millions of the world's population and that spreads from person to person.

So today, controlling tuberculosis within the United States depends more than ever on how well the disease is controlled elsewhere in the world. Thus our efforts to help other nations in their fight against TB may result in better protection from the disease within our own borders. In an effort to give people everywhere better protection from TB, the National Tuberculosis Association, with which your local association is affiliated, cooperates with tuberculosis associations throughout the world through the International Union Against Tuberculosis.

Harlan Miller
Describes Russia
Of 1956 at SUI

Iowa City, Iowa—Columnist Harlan Miller described Russia to a State University of Iowa audience recently as a land of healthy, rosy-cheeked children, clean-cut, courteous teenagers and trim, young soldiers.

But the average Russian of more than 30 years of age looks 10 years older than his same age group in the United States, he said. The Des Moines Register columnist returned to Iowa early this month from a 15-day visit to Russia.

Children, students, soldiers, scientists, artists—all receive preferential treatment in Russia, he explained. As for other citizens "they don't have it good now but they never had it better," he remarked.

Miller, who first visited the USSR in 1936, a year of many trials and executions, said he observed a "relaxation of tension wherever he went." And the official hate-America campaign doesn't seem to have affected the ordinary citizen, he said, as he described his warm reception by almost all the Russians he met.

Impressed by the emphasis upon book education in Russia, he noted a tremendous number of bookstores, with subway riders reading hard-bound books rather than periodicals or newspapers. Aboard a Volga River ship he observed that Russia was "far from a classless society," with four distinct classes of accommodations and the least-privileged class sleeping on the floor.

Fishermen Foul Up
The Party Line

Fishermen in the Liscomb area have been breaking in on telephone conversations, and the local sheriff has asked them to "Get off the line."

It seems that some anglers fishing from a bridge west of Liscomb have been fouling telephone wires as they cast their fishing lines into the river.

The sheriff's office has received complaints about such disruptions in times of emergency. So the bridge has been posted against fishing and violators will be prosecuted.

Probably, as disgruntled as any one is the angler who drapes his line over the telephone wires. Especially if some wag happens to comment: "What are you trying to catch? Flying fish or electric eels?"

A BILLION YESTERDAYS

Up from the clay—part of the land
Of value, (as a grain of sand)
So like a speck of cosmic dust,
No greater than a mote of rust:
Vain creatures we poor mortals are.

Let us look upon a star
And think what vast mentality,
Conceived the galaxies we see.
He made this ever-changing scene
And scored the grand, eternal theme.
In time-less, age-less growth in space
His power puts each mote in place.

We visualize the Master's plan
Created when world's life began:
This universe of our todays
Grew from a billion yesterdays. . .

Mrs. Murray Fined
In River Incident

A woman was fined $5 Thursday by Municipal Judge Ray Harrison after she was found guilty of disturbing the peace of a policeman who was fishing in the Des Moines river near her July 5.

Patrolman Robert M. Burns testified that Mrs. Martha Lee Murray, 1404 Dixon street, "used loud and profane language" toward him when he prepared to throw out a fish line near her own just west of police headquarters.

Burns said when he identified himself as an officer, the woman cursed louder in the presence of his son, Robert J. Burns, 13, and Dennis Burns, 9, his nephew.

Mrs. Murray denied using profane language. Her attorney, Lawrence Oliver, said the weather was hot and Mrs. Murray "just lost her head."
