'Carver Helped Open New Doors of Opportunity and Hope,' Bunche Tells School

Indianola, Ia.—Simpson College's third annual Christian Liberal Arts Festival brought to Iowa last Friday and Saturday, distinguished speakers, among whom were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of New York City and Dr. L. H. Foster of Tuskegee, Ala.

Undersecretary of the United Nations and Nobel peace prize-winner, Dr. Bunche gave the memorial address Saturday afternoon during the dedication convocation of the new $350,000 Carver Hall, honoring the late George Washington Carver, famed Negro scientist and Simpson alumnus.

Students, faculty, townspeople, representatives of other schools and friends of Simpson filled Hopper Memorial Gymnasium for the ceremonies.

Gardner Cowles, as president of the Cowles Foundation, which made the principal gift for the new science building, formally turned the building over to the college. Cowles is president of The Register and Tribune Company and editor of Look magazine.

Born Slave

Dr. Carver was born of slave parents on a farm near Diamond Grove, Mo., about 1864. His exact birthdate is not known.

In infancy, he was stolen by raiders and carried into Arkansas with his mother, who was never heard of again. He was purchased from his captors for a racehorse valued at $300 and returned to his former owners.

He was 26 when he walked to Indianola from Winterset, where he had been staying. He had 10 cents left after paying his tuition. Another never-disclosed Iowa school had refused him admission because of his race.

He worked his way through Simpson and Iowa State College, Ames.

School Probe Ends: Battle Begins

Washington, D.C.—The last boom and crash of the school "integration" hearings, here in the Federal City, is dying away. The defunct Crump Machine's William E. Gerber, prober for the "investigating" Davis subcommittee, is back in Memphis, thundering against the National Capital's schools, that are, says he, "a disgrace to the Nation," with white children "thrown to the wolves" to appease the NAACP "and other racial left-wing organizations," where "proponents of integration, more interested in social equality than in education of children," are destroying "the educational achievement of white children."

77-Cent Memphis No Model

The newly-formed bi-racial and non-political Washington Committee on Public Schools, which counts outstanding liberal leaders of both parties among its members, answered Gerber's assertion that Memphis operates "a pretty good system" at a 77-cent a day cost per pupil, with facts from a 1948 study made by the D. C. Board of Education.

The South's Schools vs. D. C.

This study showed that it takes a child coming to Washington from a Southern city eight years to catch up to the District's school level (which, in the last five years of segregation, showed race differentials of 14 to 25 percent per capita in favor of white pupils.)

"Unfortunately, 'a pretty good' SEE PAGE TWO

Burn Home of NAACP Leader In Clarendon County

New York — The home of an NAACP leader in Clarendon County, S. C., was burned last week, the NAACP National Office here has been notified.

The home was that of the Rev. James W. Seals of Manning, S. C., a founder of the Clarendon County NAACP branch.

Mr. Seals was notified of the disaster, which occurred on Oct. 2, while he was visiting relatives in this city. He has gone back to Manning to inspect the damage.

Mr. Seals said he has received various threats because of his NAACP activities, and also has been subjected to economic pressures for the same reason.

Charged with Obstructing Justice by Intimidating Minors in School Cases

Tyler, Texas—Actions of the office of the Texas Attorney General in connection with federal school desegregation cases in that state constitute efforts to obstruct justice and intimidate witnesses, NAACP attorney W. J. Durham charged at a hearing before Judge Otis T. Dunagan in the Seventh District Court here this week.

The hearing in which the State of Texas is seeking a temporary injunction, to ban NAACP activity in the state opened on Sept. 28 and was resumed this week. The state's suit names the NAACP and the Texas Conference of NAACP Branches, organizations illegally operating in the state.

NAACP lawyers deny the charges and contend there is no legal connection between the national body and the unincorporated branches in Texas. The state introduced financial and other records obtained from local and national NAACP offices.

Round Up Used

In Texarkana and Dallas, Texas Rangers and other armed police officers were used to round up children and their parents who had signed school desegregation petitions. With armed guards standing by, an assistant attorney general conducted a court of inquiry in the office of a justice of the peace. At the court of inquiry, Mr. Durham told Judge Dunagan, an assistant attorney general, with the full knowledge that a case was pending in the Federal District Court, questioned the witnesses. The court of inquiry, he said, was "improperly formed, was an attempt to intimidate, and constituted an obstruction of justice."

Florida Police Arrest and Beat State NAACP Chief on Charge of Double Parking

Tampa, Fla.—Police harassment of NAACP leaders, now assuming a southward pattern, has victimized William A. Fordham, president of the Florida State Conference of NAACP Branches, who was arrested, handcuffed and beaten by police here this week on a charge of double parking.

Mr. Fordham, an attorney, double-parked his car in front of the local NAACP office to make a telephone call on October 1. While he was inside the office, police proceeded to call a wrecker to remove his car.

Capable of Driving

The difficulty, Mr. Fordham said in a statement the next day, "stemmed from the fact I insisted on being given a ticket and allowed to drive my own car instead of paying a wrecker $5.00 to pull it away. It seems to me that this policy of having drivers is a racket. I had not been drinking and felt that I was capable of driving my own car."

When he protested, he was "handcuffed, beaten, kicked and arrested by Officers W. L. Strickland and Zeon Henderson," Mr. Fordham said.

Actions Uncalled For

Backing up their president, the officers and members of the Florida State NAACP issued a statement affirming their support of Mr. Fordham "since our investigation reveals that actions of the officers were uncalled for and that they exceeded all lawful propriety."

Mr. Fordham also alleged that an account of his arrest in a local daily paper was "distorted," representing only what the police told the reporter. "I do not know of any attempt made by the local press to contact me or any officer of the NAACP to obtain facts," he said. "Nor did my wife, who was at home and who knew of my whereabouts at all times, receive any call from the press concerning the occurrence. The entire incident as related to reporters by the officers SEE PAGE SIX

Say Southern Protestant Church Leaders Disagree On Segregation Problems

New York—A group of southern Protestant church leaders today condemned segregation as having "no biblical support either in the Old or New Testaments" but at the same time disagreed as to the role of the church in dealing with the problem.

The symposium, organized under the auspices of Life Magazine to discuss the moral problems of segregation, consisted of Dr. Duke McCall, president, Southern Baptist Seminary; Dr. L. Nelson Bell, former member Presbyterian Board of World Missions; Bishop Paul Neff Garber, resident bishop of the Richmond, Va. area of the Methodist Church; Bishop Henry Irving Lottitt, Episcopal bishop of south Florida; Dr. A. C. Miller, executive secretary, Commission on Christian Relations, Southern Baptist Convention; Mrs. Spann W. Milner, vice president, United Church Women; Edwin Jones, executive committee member, World Methodist Council.

Moderated by High

The moderator was Stanly High, noted religious journalist, who led the group of eight in the consideration of such questions as: Does the Bible condone segregation? How can we apply to segregation the universal Christian principle that we are all under one God? Should the Christian churches take an active stand for or against segregation?

Graham's Stand

The views of the southern church leaders on these questions appear in the current (October 1st) issue of the magazine along with an article by SEE PAGE SIX

French Influence in This Cheese-Onion Pie

The idea for this dish came from the famous French dish, "Quiche Lorraine." Serve it for lunch or with bacon slices for a dinner main dish. Here, a subtle, curry-flavored sharp cheese and custard mixture is baked in a crumb crust.

A layer of tender cooked onion rings is spread over the crust. Then comes the quickly made filling. For this filling, cooked rice, grated sharp cheese, eggs and milk are mixed and poured in the crust.

INGREDIENTS:

1 1/3 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup uncooked white rice
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups thinly sliced onions (half large slices)
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups grated sharp cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/8 teaspoon black pepper

METHOD: Put the water, 1 teaspoon salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low.

Cover and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat and leave the lid on until ready to use, at least 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks add 1/4 teaspoon curry powder to the 1/2 cup melted butter. Pour over and through the cracker crumbs. (Crumbs are easily made by rolling crackers between layers of waxed paper or putting through a fine bladed food chopper.) Press the crumbs over the bottom and sides of a greased deep 10" round pie plate holding about 6 cups.

Melt the 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the onions and cook slowly until tender and slightly yellow. Spread over the bottom of the pie plate.

After the rice cooks, stir in the milk, eggs, cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, curry powder and black pepper. Pour over the onions. Bake in a pre-heated 325°F. oven for 45 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. It is important that the oven is at 325°F. and not too hot.

Allow to stand several minutes before cutting into wedges. This recipe makes 8 servings.

"How can the church mobilize the conscience of the community to keep it on the edge of knowledge in the area of human welfare?"

Manifesto-signing colleagues did their best to sabotage integration throughout the country, from the stage of the Capital City, in a spectacular demonstration of South-in-the-saddle action, the government is concerned with the rights of its citizens; the church is concerned with the total needs of every man.

More Responsibility

"In a growing sense then, the government is assuming more and more responsibility for being our brother's keeper. But the church and the Christian have the additional job of being his brother's keeper. It is in the area of fellowship of love, of devotion, of dedication, that the church has its primary role.

"In this great impersonal technological society of ours, affection and love become two of the most vital qualities in the physical, mental and emotional health of people. The little things, the little visits, are kinds of things which are found in the basic programs of our benevolent, educational, welfare institutions and agencies."

Dr. Blackburn pointed out areas in which the church needs to continue to pioneer.

"In this growing age of highly specialized services, it seems the church and its related instructions can keep alive the quality and concern for the whole man," spoke Dr. Cleo W. Blackburn of Indianapolis, Ind., Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 3, as he addressed the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ at Veterans Memorial Building.

The convention, attended by 9,441 persons from all parts of the country and many countries of the world, closed Wednesday night.

Director of the Flanner House of Indianapolis, and president of Jarvis Christian College, Hawkins, Texas, Dr. Blackburn queried as he spoke from the subject, "Do You Want to Get Well?"

Highly Trained

"The greatest contribution the church can make to the several areas of human welfare and benevolence and social services, is in providing a highly trained, dedicated group of people who must find the leadership opportunities in our own church-related agencies as well as in governmental and non-church related organizations.

"For in my experience, those people who have possessed both the dedication and skills have been by far the most effective workers in alleviating human suffering. It is almost a foregone conclusion that unless people have solved the basic human and emotional and spiritual problems in their own lives, they cannot be very effective in solving these problems in the lives of other people.

"People with a concern, people with a sense of mission plus people with adequate skills for it takes more than enthusiasm and more than dedication to do an effective job in these areas."

school system' by Mr. Gerber's standards is not up to par for the course of study in Washington, D. C.," said Chairman van Arkel of the Washington Committee, who called 77 cents a day "a high price" for "a quality of education from 7 to 9 years behind its Northern counterpart."

D. C. Finds Its Voice

In the last go-around, D. C. school officials, facing an ugly prober who had stripped off all earlier pretense of fairness, got their feet under them and hit back hard with facts—unintimidated by former Prosecutor Gerber's "third degree."

Emerging from the fray with laurels were Superintendent of Schools Hobart M. Corning a former Superintendent in Omaha, Nebraska and Dr. Carl F. Hansen, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools. Both attributed many of the difficulties high-lighted by integration to the "complete separateness of segregation. The superintendent warned the prober of attempting before and after comparisons of racial achievement, citing deprived background. No statistical study of this situation had been attempted, he said, because "You can't put human beings into a little catalog and say this is going to happen."

Accused of alibiing, Corning retorted, "I'm not alibiing at all. I am telling you what is essential to work out a good program of education in Washington . . . what is basic."

No Longer "Innate Ability"

Denying that achievement lag by Negro pupils was conclusive evidence of lower "innate ability," he reminded Gerber that tensions over unequal facilities, here, were high at the time of integration, with eight law suits pending. Responding to Gerber's goading, "What do you care about law suits? . . . Did you get excited about law suits?" the Superintendent replied that he certainly did.

Queried on the NAACP's demand that the hearings be stopped, Corning declared that he would like to see them "concluded with all the facts revealed."

Dr. Hansen, also a former Omaha schoolman, referred to acute tensions due to overcrowding in Negro schools, with empty seats available in nearby white schools in the same area. "The only reasonable answer was to permit the children to get together," he said, emphatically stating his belief that "No child should be denied admission to a school because of race."

Telling the prober that Washington integration had been "a miracle of adjustment," he, like Superintendent Corning, blamed faulty teacher-understanding of integration, and the disparity between the former "Negro" and "white" divisions, to the old segregated system which barred a free rounded life, a life in balance.

"It seems that government is concerned with justice; the church is concerned with love and kindness; challenging the District's appointed Commissioners to take a "comprehensive look," as fiscal agents of the Board of Education, and find more money for the more buildings, more teachers and remerial classes, need for which was unwittingly underscored by the subcommittee hearings.

Congressman William L. Dawson's Johnny-come-lately protest to the House Administration Committee, to the effect that the hearings were illegal because held without permission from the House to meet during adjournment, is generally regarded, here, as a face-saver action in both directions for the veteran legislator from Illinois—one Negro member of the House Committee on the District of Columbia—who had nothing to say during the three months that his flow of information and ideas.

1956 GOAL:

A SERVICE TO DES MOINES
MADE POSSIBLE BY YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE UNITED CAMPAIGN.

This year's United Campaign begins October 15th and runs through November 2nd, and we feel certain that your cooperation can help put this year's drive over the top.

Some information you might find useful is the goal for this year is $1,480,922 an increase of 8.5 per cent over the amount raised last year.

For the first time Muscular Dystrophy will join the United Campaign, therefore there will be no separate drive by the Des Moines firemen this year.

The United Campaign supports 46 separate agencies through the money raised by the annual drive. These agencies are vital to the health, welfare and recreation facilities of the community.

Working on the 1956 campaign are over 5000 volunteers including 3000 women who will hold a door to door solicitation.

Youngsters, teen-agers, the retired, babies and their mothers, those handicapped by disease, those pictured and thousands like them — all these you help with your dollars.

Needs are determined through business-like budgeting at each member agency. Over a four month period each year these budgets are studied by 1000 persons — volunteers on the boards and staff members. The result is a goal that actually reflects needs and nothing more. Your gift is transformed into help to people in need every single day of 1957.

More helping dollars are needed this year because more people need help and because a new agency has been added. You give this year so children cut down by muscular dystrophy can have hope and proper care, too.

Look down any street. Your heart will confirm the need for community health, welfare, and character-building services. Keep in mind, too, that United Campaign's one drive for 46 agencies is much less costly than raising money by separate drives. U. C. distributes your dollars where they are most needed, distributes them fairly and efficiently. You help more people more ways when you pledge your Fair Share to United Campaign.

Personal Touch

In Des Moines Saturday was one of the prominent Negro educators of the South; Dr. L. H. Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

Dr. and Mrs. Foster were guests at Simpson College, Indianola, where he was honored at a luncheon in connection with the dedication of the new $350,000 Carver Science Hall, named for the late George Washington Carver, a Simpson alumnus, and noted educator and scientist while a member of the Tuskegee Institute faculty.

The dedication was a feature of the two-day third annual Christian Liberal Arts Festival at Simpson.

At the A. A. Alexander home Saturday evening where Dr. and Mrs. Foster were feted at a dinner party, the Tuskegee Institute president answered several pertinent questions regarding the effect of Alabama's racial uprisings, the battles for civil rights and the bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., not many miles from Tuskegee.

Persons in this section of the country have frequently wondered about the welfare of Tuskegee, one of the South's most prominently known among the oldest Negro institutions—in the midst of the racial battles for a "new South."

Dr. Foster stated that, certainly, Tuskegee was well aware of what was going on. The bus boycott in Montgomery had caused no problem to Tuskegee Institute. There has been no violence to students and no great change in attitudes of citizens toward Tuskegee, he said.

About desegregation of Tuskegee Institute, Dr. Foster informed that the institution's charter would have to be changed to permit the integration of white students.

He added that many foreign students come to Tuskegee and enrolled World "Seriesitis" was quite an epidemic this week. It struck about every place radio or television broadcasts could be heard.

It affected its victims in many ways. If the ball game started out with the Brooklyn Dodgers making frequent home runs, "Seriesitis" seized the victims with periods of spontaneous yelling, boisterous shouting, yipping, pounding, jumping.

Then all was quiet. Victims stood or sat for long periods, staring into space with moments of memory lapses.

By the fifth and sixth innings, if the ball teams had made no hits or no runs—and if the victims survived, their mouths scarcely could be opened, sweating was profuse and there was great anxiety, nervousness, much flinching and twitching when the Yankees pitched.

Victims were just everywhere.

In a shop this week, a sign read: "Heel caps put on in three minutes." The customer handed the clerk her shoes. The game blared through a radio. The clerk stood paralyzed at the heel machine. He'd had an attack of "Seriesitis" and finally recovered enough to finish the heels in twenty minutes.

One week-day afternoon when the Series games were neck and neck, downtown no cars could be seen moving through the loop. Neither shopper nor passerby was in sight. One secretary looked out of her window and frantically queried: "Where's everybody? Was there an air raid test or something?"

DR. RALPH BUNCHE AT SIMPSON COLLEGE

Simpson College at Indianola dedicated the newly built George W. Carver science hall last week and had as the main speaker Dr. Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of United Nations, a choice which could not have been more appropriate.

Carver, born in obscurity and beset by handicaps, became a great leader in the scientific field. And Dr. Bunche, who, though not so unfortunate in his early days, has accomplished much.

There are aspects of Dr. Bunche's speech which are well worth attention. He said:

First, if America is to prove democracy to be what it stands for, the Carver life story must not be the exception but the general rule. In other words, every child must have the opportunity to grow and learn and if the ability is there, then a chance to become a George W. Carver.

Second, the flareups over desegregation of the public schools were inevitable; that thousands of Negroes in the South and border states are attending mixed schools and that in time desegregated rather than segregated schools in these areas will be the rule in the South. And this is due in part to the enlightened view being taken by the young white southerners themselves.

Third, that based on his experience abroad and as an officer of United Nations, the non-white nations are watching America's solution of the race problems here and it behooves every community, every state to clean its record on the subject so that our diplomats will not be hampered in dealing with these people on a world basis.

These observations do strike at the very vitals of America's relations in spite of the inclination of some to treat them lightly. Certainly Dr. Bunche is well qualified to hammer home some of the vital things which America must do in order to maintain its position of world leadership among nations.

SOUTH SHIFTS FIGHT ON THE NAACP

Not content to harass and intimidate individual Negroes in the south, some states in that section are deliberately trying the same tactics on the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Their technique is to secure a list of the local members and records for the purpose, they say, of determining whether the organization is operating illegally. Of course, this is not true. The organization has been in operation in these communities for almost a half century and all of their operations have been carried on in a legal manner.

White Citizens' Councils and the Klu Klux Klan are in full operation. Nothing is being done to correct this evil. Then why the NAACP?

Once they get a list of members, every one will be subject to penalties causing loss of jobs, business, credit and in many cases bodily harm.

Thus, the NAACP has an additional job on its hands, not only to fight the battle of Negroes for their rights, but also for the survival of the organization itself.

This places an additional responsibility upon the Negro in sections not so situated to double their efforts to support the need.

their parents by the Rangers and local police and the interrogation of them in the court of inquiry was an effort to find out if they had consented to have the NAACP represent them in legal action and to determine whether the penal code had been violated, Assistant Attorney General L. W. Gray said.

No Right

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, indicated that the NAACP is considering filing suit to restrain Attorney General John Sheppard from questioning children and their parents involved in integration suits before the federal courts. A hearing on an appeal in the Dallas case was scheduled for October 1. Two days before the scheduled hearing, the police rounded up the plaintiffs. Thereupon, Mr. Marshall requested, and was granted a postponement of the hearing.

The NAACP contends that while these suits are pending in the federal courts the Attorney General of the State of Texas has no right to detain, question and intimidate witnesses, especially minor children, in the presence of armed police.

once the racial contradictions and the rich democratic promise of our land, and the opportunity it affords to every man and to every woman, irrespective of origin and despite the most unjust and onerous handicaps, as those of race surely are, to advance on the strength of merit and determination alone," said Dr. Bunche.

In his tribute to the man "who demonstrated that the barriers of race... were not insuperable," Dr. Bunche continued:

"In Dr. Carver's life and time, and in no small measure abetted by his achievements, the American concept of equality of opportunity for all has come to have increasing meaning for the Negro American."

"He helped to open new doors of opportunity and hope to Negro Americans; he inspired them to a new confidence in themselves."

"It is impossible to calculate the good that has resulted from the social 'chain reaction' which began when Simpson College in 1890 admitted this unimposing black man consciously seeking learning and also, perhaps unknowingly, in quest of 'simple acceptance.'"

Racial Problems

Dr. Bunche went on to point out that non-white peoples of the world are demanding a better life, self-respect and freedom and that "many of the problems threatening the world today are racial in origin, or have racial overtones."

He pleaded that "the Carver story be multiplied many, many times" in order that it "become the unnoticed rule rather than the spectacular exception."

The American Negro today has a "much-increased concern for his self-respect and for his dignity of man," said Dr. Bunche.

"He is even willing to walk to work to preserve his dignity, and so in Montgomery, Ala.—and in some other Southern cities—empty buses become an impressive symbol of the Negro's demand for full acceptance as a human being with all that this implies."

Within Law

Dr. Bunche emphasized that the American Negro, in his upward struggle to attain equality, exerts his efforts within the law.

"He has not resorted to those extra-legal and illegal activities so characteristic of the hate groups which today seem to be experiencing a renaissance in the South, with most ominous implications for other minority groups, religious and racial, and for the safety and prestige of the American way of life," said Dr. Bunche.

The No. 1 social problem—"South as well as North"—said Dr. Bunche, is to give "full application of our democratic creed to the Negro minority."

"Simpson College, I am sure, is the better for his (Carver's) sojourn here," Dr. Bunche concluded. "And because of Simpson College, our land, our nation, is a better place for the free of all colors and faiths."

Dr. Foster Speaks

Honored at a noon luncheon at Pfeiffer Hall were Gardner Cowles, president of the Gardner Cowles Foundation and of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company; Dr. J. HEALTH FOR ALL

Check-up Time

Service stations throughout the country blossom with signs these days urgently reminding us to bring the family car in for a fall check-up. If motors need special preparation to face the coming winter, what about people? Aren't we as much affected by changes in weather and "driving conditions" as our cars?

The man who takes good care of his car knows that there's more to getting ready for winter than putting anti-freeze. His car gets a complete check-up stem to stern. The woman who takes good care of her family knows there's more to getting them ready for winter than getting winter coats out of mothballs. Everyone must be in the best of health to meet the challenge of winter. A complete physical check-up is called for.

Delay May Be Fatal

It's easy to say you feel just fine and don't need anyone to tell you you're healthy. But can you be sure? Tuberculosis has no symptoms in its early stages. A person can look and feel just fine and yet have TB. As long as the disease goes undiscovered it tends to get progressively worse. When symptoms finally show up, and you really feel sick, the disease will have gone so far that sure may be long and difficult. Delay may even be fatal.

A physical check-up now will uncover any disease or condition which needs treatment. Be sure to tell the doctor if the family seemed to have winter. He may have some special suggestions.

Your doctor will appreciate the opportunity to help you maintain your family's health. Make appointments for all the members of your family to see the doctor, (and make sure they keep the appointments).

East Waterloo to help break the Lee Township unbeaten record. The fellow scored a couple of markers and made himself unpopular in certain quarters by his behavior with the pigskin.

East Des Moines made too many mistakes, but they should have won the game, at least 20-19. Oh well, wait until next year.

North finally got a city series win and really had a ball. Still think the Polar Bears have a good ball club in the making, even if they never do as they should.

Why?

We watched the face of the Dodger Big Don Newcomb in the second World Series game. The guy looked drawn and tense, like a scared kid. We thought we could see why he can't win the one he wants. We think he tries too hard.

A fellow once told us about boxing. He said he wasn't afraid because if he were he would never get into the ring. But when he got into the ring, he just couldn't make himself do anything but run. He wondered why. He never did find out, but he got into the ring and came out a fellow who wouldn't ever pan anybody. But now he never argues. Maybe Don has the same complex tis fellow had.

COMPROMISE

No compromise is apropos—When character's at stake, a calculated risk's okay—but what a chance we take.

To sacrifice one whit of good—because of evil's pressure, is helping to enrich the wrong—give sin the extra measure. No one need be a mental wiz—nor need to be real wise, to know there is no mite of good—wrapped in a compromise!

southern evangelist Billy Graham, addressed to the same subject. Graham, while agreeing with the round table that "the whole weight of Scripture is for treating all men with neighborly love, regardless of race or color," admits that there is nothing Biblical to prevent voluntary alignments on the basis of social and other preferences, "where personal choice alone is involved and where the Christian ethic is not at stake."

Graham points out that it was "after study of the Bible, as well as current events," that segregation was ended in his evangelistic crusades. In his last four desegregated southern crusades, Nashville, New Orleans, Richmond and Oklahoma City, there has not been a single incident. On the other hand the evangelist notes that since the crusades have become desegregated Negro attendance has fallen off.
