Boy Scouts to Visit 35 Million Homes

Just before Election Day, November 6, the nation's 4,175,134 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and their leaders will place on the doorbells of 35,000,000 homes Liberty Bell hangers, shown above, urging every citizen to vote. The Scouts' "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign is being conducted in cooperation with Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge. It is entirely non-partisan, without reference to any candidate or party.

Indians Say Forty Million Dollars Owed Them for Lands U. S. Government Got from Forefathers

"All we want is to be like everyone else," Lyzeme Savage, 57, president of six Chippewa tribes representing 16,000 Indians in Minnesota, said here Monday, when he and tribal representatives from six Chippewa communities and two Sioux tribes conferred with Glenn L. Emmons, United States commissioner of Indian Affairs.

"If the government paid us the 40 million dollars we're owed for our land there wouldn't be any problem," Savage said. "We'd all take our places in communities like every other citizen."

Suit Against U.S.

The Chippewa tribes have filed suit against the federal government for money they feel is owed them for their land, Savage said. The suit is now before the supreme court, he said.

Savage said the U. S. government's refusal to pay is an "example of bad faith by the white men."

William Morrell, 70, tribal secretary for 900 Chippewas at Leech Lake, Minn., said the Indians are trying to develop the natural resources in Minnesota but are held down by outmoded regulations.

Buck Regulations

"We always have to buck regulations which were formed years ago to keep us down," Morrell said. "If they'd give us the rights we've been fighting for the last 60 years

Minnesota AMEs Take Rev. E.J. Jones to Court; Call Bishop Allen for Hearing

St. Paul, Minn.—An AME church prelate who came here to hear charges of improper handling of church accounts by a church pastor which resulted in a court action by over 100 of the members, conducted a church hearing Tuesday night, Oct. 9. Later he congratulated the church on the quiet, orderly manner in which the meeting was held, the Minneapolis spokesman reported.

Bishop A. J. Allen, presiding officer of the Fourth Episcopal district came to St. Paul to preside at a church meeting of St. James church, St. Paul because of the action of members who went to Ramsey County district court, Sept. 24, asking the court to issue an order barring Rev. E. J. Jones from handling the financial affairs of the church.

Rev. Jones, pastor there for three years had been temporarily reassigned.

Postponed Twice

The court case was continued twice, once at the plea of Rev. Jones and the second time at the request of Bishop Allen, who informed the members' attorney that he was coming to St. Paul to make an investigation of the controversy on Oct. 9.

The entire matter was rather involved because Jones, who was returned to St. James church for three weeks in 1955 by the then presiding Bishop George W. Baber, instead remained for a full year.

This year at the N. W. Annual Conference in September, Bishop Allen, the new prelate in this district assigned Rev. Jones for what was announced a three week period pending transfer to another district.

Congressman Powell Says He Will Switch Support To Reelect Eisenhower

Washington, D. C. — The first major switch from the Negro community which backed Adlai Stevenson overwhelmingly four years ago was made by Adam Clayton Powell, Democratic congressman from Harlem, who announced last Thursday his support for the re-election of President Eisenhower.

Powell, a 12-year member of the house who backed Adlai Stevenson in 1952, announced his switch to Mr. Eisenhower in the office of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty after a conference with the president.

Turn Vote

Asked whether he expected to turn Harlem's traditionally Democratic vote toward the Republican column, he replied: "I'm going to do my best to sway it."

He said that he would campaign in eight or 10 major cities across the country where there were big Negro voting blocs.

"Powell said he was 'going out of here to form an Independent Democrats for Eisenhower' group that would enlist the support of 'all disillusioned liberal Democrats.'"

His switch to Mr. Eisenhower, he said, was motivated by respect for the president's prestige abroad, his

Morrell said that in 1857 "our forefathers ceded land to the United States for $1.25 an acre."

"They were paid only a fraction of what they were promised," Morrell said. "If we get the 40 million dollars we're asking we won't want any more from the government."

Powell said the Democratic nominee had campaigned in his own Harlem district last week and neglected to invite him to attend either the public rally or a reception at Harlem's Savoy ballroom.

NAACP Branch Meets Tuesday Night

The Des Moines branch of NAACP will have its regular monthly meeting October 23 at 8 p.m. at the Willkie House, 900 17th Street. The board meeting will be at 7 p.m.

Iowa High School Press at Drake Friday

Drake University will be host to the 1956 convention of the Iowa High School Press Association Friday, October 19.

Designed especially for Iowa high school newspaper and yearbook staffs, the annual meeting attracts students and faculty advisers from the entire state.

Robert L. Bliss, head of the Drake journalism department, is chairman for this year's event. Acting as hosts to the delegates will be members of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism organizations at Drake.

After School, A First-Grader Thinks of Football

Six-year-old Delbert Allen Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Jones of 1604 Lyons Street, is a first grade pupil at Lucas School. After school, he is a busy little man — helping his mother do the chores about the home, and playing his favorite games, which include football. He is modeling one of his prized possessions, a football helmet. And a tough man he'd be to meet on the line with that do-or-die expression. Though he likes to play football, his favorite pastime is watching the cowboy shows on television and imitating in costume, the actors. He goes to bed daily at 8 p.m., and is up with "Captain Kangaroo" each morning. His grandparents are Mrs. Lottie Jones, 1421 E. Eighteenth Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Harris, 1158 18th Street. Delbert also likes bike-riding and playing in his sand pile. (Photo Courtesy of Des Moines Register.)

Columbia U. Defines Its Stand On Athletic Bias

New York—Columbia University never participates in any sporting event in which Negro members of its teams are discriminated against in any manner, Ralph Furey, Columbia director of intercollegiate athletics, announced on Oct. 5.

His announcement followed a meeting with representatives of the Columbia University NAACP chapter, requested by the latter.

"Columbia never has and never will participate in any sporting event where a member of the team is not accorded all of the privileges, whether on the playing field or in eating, sleeping, travelling, or social facilities, granted his teammates," Mr. Furey asserted in spelling out the university's policy.

Southern Tour

The NAACP chapter had sought the meeting with the athletic director to define the university's stand on racial discrimination in light of an announcement that Harvard University was cancelling a scheduled southern

Predict Virginia's Legislature Will Destroy Schools

Petersburg, Va.—A prediction that Virginia's public school system will be destroyed by its own state legislature was advanced here last week by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary.

Mr. Wilkins commented at length upon "a program of confusion as to public schools" and "a package of seven bills aimed at the NAACP" recently passed by the Virginia Assembly.

He addressed guests at a testimonial dinner on Oct. 6 in honor of Dr. J. M. Tinsley of Richmond, a member of the Association's national Board of Directors and president of the Richmond NAACP branch. The event was sponsored by the Virginia State NAACP.

Program of Confusion

On the public school question, the NAACP leader asserted: "The Assembly has passed a program of confusion as to public schools that will destroy the system as surely as we sit here tonight. . . . The Stanley plan (on schools) is supposed to guarantee that a Negro child will require about two years to take all the hurdles set up by the new state law. If he survives, and succeeds in his quest, then the Governor personally intervenes, funds are cut off, schools are closed, and so forth."

Package-Bills "Threaten" Virginians — Mr. Wilkins said he agrees with the Richmond News Leader and Times Dispatch that the package of seven bills aimed at the NAACP, passed by the Assembly on Oct. 1, "threaten the liberties of all Virginians."

"Investigating committees are to be set up," he continued. "Citizens may not 'advocate' anything touching upon racial matters. Citizens may not challenge any racial practice in the courts. Lawyers may not accept employment to challenge any racial matter. Citizens may not, either individually or as organized groups, resort to the courts to redress a racial inequity."

If the laws are enforced, he declared, "free speech will be dead" and "the General Assembly will never again hear another word, pro or con, on racial matters."

United Nations Day Wednesday, Oct. 24

"Action for Peace" is the slogan of UN Week, which will be observed throughout the land, Oct. 21-27. The signing of the charter will be celebrated by United Nations on Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Student Tells Governor's Group 'We Cannot Use Education in This City'

"More than half the employed Negro men in Sioux City are working as janitors, custodians, porters or in the food and kindred industries. Only 7 per cent of the employed white men are working in these same occupations," the Governor's Commission to study Discrimination in Employment in Iowa was told Monday.

Making the statement was Wade Miller, chairman of the joint anti-discrimination committee of Sioux City local unions of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (AFL-CIO), who added that:

"This is the pattern of employment in Sioux City. Negroes and Indians are segregated, in large numbers, into the lower paying occupations; while white, if they have the ability, can rise in occupational status."

An Indian

Miller told the commission that "I am an American Indian—one of a group of the 100 per cent Americans who are treated like aliens in their own land."

Seven Negroes also testified before the commission in the seventh of a series of hearings in various cities. The commission will report its findings on the extent of job discrimination to the Iowa legislature, and recommend whether the state needs a fair employment practices law.

Office Job

Mrs. JoAnne Favors told how she tried, to no avail, to get a job as an office machine operator—for which she said she is fully trained and qualified.

Sharon Hayes, a Negro student at Briar Cliff College in Sioux City, said: "I know personally that Negroes are leaving Sioux City because they cannot get the kind of employment they want."

Study Cited

"We go to school in Sioux City, graduate from our high schools, and several of us graduate from our colleges, but we cannot use our education in this city."

Miss Hayes said one of the places she was refused a part time job was a company of which Commission Chairman Meyer S. Levitt is the executive vice president.

She said the newspaper advertisement

Says States Attempting to Outlaw NAACP, Taking 'First Steps Down the Road'

New York—"The time has come for law-abiding citizens of the United States—whatever their personal opinion of the NAACP—to rally to its defense in those states where its very right to existence as an organization is being challenged not merely by private individuals but by government itself," says Monsignor George G. Higgins of the National Catholic Welfare Conference in a feature article released by the Catholic Interracial Council here today.

Citing the attacks upon the Association since the United States Supreme Court anti-segregation ruling of May 17, 1954, Msgr. Higgins charges that "those states which are trying to outlaw the organization by administrative ruling or by legislative fiat are clearly violating one of the most fundamental principles of the natural law in the field of political action. That principle," he asserts, "is the freedom of association, which is given to men not by government but by the very law of nature itself and which may not legitimately be taken away from them by government."

First Step

The Catholic leader, who is director of the social action department of the NCWC warns "that any government which violates this principle of freedom of association—for whatever reasons of political expediency or local prejudice—is taking the first step down the road that leads all too quickly to the violation of other human rights and eventually, unless the process is reversed, to some form of totalitarianism," as demonstrated by the history of nazism, facism and communism.

"There is no law which says that any individual or any government has to agree with the strategy of the

Animal Rescue League to Sell Fourteenth St. Property After Series of Protests

The board of directors of the Animal Rescue League Monday night decided to sell all league owned property within the city, including the shelter house at 919 Fourteenth street.

Michael F. Mathews, league president, said the property sale was voted "to clear the way for the building of new facilities on the edge of the city."

The league announced in September a fund campaign to finance a $75,000 building project, which will include a new shelter and expanded facilities.

Neighbors' Views

Mathews said the decision to sell league property in the city was made "after taking into consideration the viewpoints of residents" living near the present shelter.

Mathews said the primary reason for the sale was "the need for new quarters—we've outgrown what we have."

Last June about 250 residents of the area asked in a petition to the city council that the shelter be moved from its present location.

"They described the shelter as an 'offensive installation, a health hazard, a nuisance and a disgrace to the residents of the city.'"

In August, 1955, and in April, 1956, residents of the area appeared before the city council to ask that "something be done about the barking dogs" and the odor.

Site Not Chosen

Mathews said the league had not yet chosen a site for its proposed new shelter. He said he hoped it would be on an acreage and that it would include a small zoo and auditorium to handle classes of touring students.

"More demands on our facilities are made every day both for handling animals and for handling classroom programs," Mathews said.

Minnesota AME's Take Pastor to Court; Bishop Allen Called his return Rev. Jones, members claim, would not make a report of affairs at a church meeting and after the meeting had officers make complaints to the city attorney against members of the church conference who had protested his action at the meeting.

Meeting in Homes

Over 150 members of the church then began meeting at various homes and sent letters and telegrams to Bishop Allen in protest against the pastor's remaining in charge of St. James.

Receiving no reply the group finally obtained the services of an attorney and the court action followed.

Tuesday's meeting was quiet and orderly. Bishop Allen brought with him from Chicago a Rev. Mr. Brown, who took down a record of the meeting. A tape recorder was also used.

Speaking for the membership was Mrs. Robert Lee (Clarinda) Cox, who read a summary of the complaints against the administration of Rev. Jones intermingling the prepared statement with verbal remarks.

New Pastor

Others who spoke against Rev. Jones' administration of church affairs included Eugene Harris, Lester Boyd and Gloria Florenz for the member group, J. R. Collins, vice chairman of the stewards board defended the pastor.

Bishop Allen announced that a new pastor would be introduced to the church membership at the morning services Sunday, Oct. 14. He told the congregation if he had been told at conference time that Rev. Jones had been temporarily assigned to the previous year's conference he would not have repeated such an assignment.

Urges Dropping Action

He said he would make a finding on the charges preferred at a later date and urged that the legal action be dropped and that the members join in welcoming the new pastor.

The bishop left immediately after the conference. A committee of members which had been named by the group which took court action against Rev. Jones tried unsuccessfully to obtain an interview with Bishop Allen prior to the church meeting.

Bishop Allen said he preferred to have the entire matter heard before a regular church meeting. Those named on the committee were: Nathaniel Hardy, Eugene Harris, Lester Boyd, M. R. Burgess, Herbert Foster, Roosevelt Harmon, Aldonia Anderson Marjorie Ward, Gloria Florenz and Clarinda Cox.

The member group had boycotted services at the church for the past form is to get on—not to stand on," did nothing for him, even among the many Democratic supporters present.

Delegate Robinson

Robinson, named "Legislator of the Year" by his colleagues in the Illinois Legislature, made his points quietly but forcefully. Unruffled by Smith's roundhouse attack on the President and the GOP, he pointed out that "Ike" had ended the Korean War, and had won worldwide recognition and acclaim as "a quiet designer of peace."

From his background of constant contact with the underprivileged, Robinson reminded that the housing situation had eased with the abolition of controls, that rising rents "were equated" with rising wages, and that he knew of no move by Democrats to reestablish rent control.

The Press Asks Questions

In the forum questioning, Robinson, asked to account for the President's silence on school integration disorders, maintained that the President had no executive power to act until the situation broke down at the local level, and drew a line between a Supreme Court decision to be implemented at the District Court level, a decision of the High Court reversible by future court action, and enacted legislation requiring a Constitutional amendment to change, citing the action of Federal District Judge Thomas C. Trimble, in Arkansas, as an example of action at the local level.

On the President's was-time thinking on Armed Forces integration, he observed that the Chief Executive had "exercised the prerogative of changing his mind in the presence of facts observed," that "he has grown with experience... What he has done since that time is important."

He termed Congressman Dawson, who had been billed as his opponent, a "poor prophet" for predicting a Southern walkout in the event of Stevenson's nomination; called Civil Rights "a philosophy and way of life," and declared that the Supreme Court decision "struck at the roots of caste-class society." The question, he said, was "Which party and which candidate can best support first-class citizenship?"

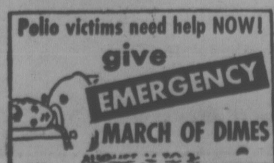

Senator Smith's Waterloo

The same basic question gave opposing Senator Henry Smith his roughest moments, when three self-answering questions on Southern control of Congress were put to him. These were:

If the Democrats win, would Senator Eastland of Mississippi, arch-foe of integration, remain chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, with Southerners retaining hold of big-committee chairmanships? Would the South continue to dominate the House Committee on the District of Columbia? (This situation was spotlighted by the recent hearings on school integration.) And did Senator Smith foresee any change in the minds of Southern Democrats in Congress?

The debater, grumbling, "There is such a thing as seniority," finally admitted that the only answer to the first two questions was "YES." As to Southern change of heart—"I don't claim to be a mind-reader!" he protested. Then, apparently thinking better of it, Smith expressed the opinion that a combination of Western, Northern and Eastern Democrats would dominate.

Robinson's reply to this was: "The men who run the Democratic Party know that the Deep South is the heart of the Democratic Party, and that opposing the Deep South would be political suicide for them."

Bahai's of Des Moines to Hold Eleventh Anniversary U.N. Meeting Sunday Evening

Bahai's of Des Moines are participating in the eleventh anniversary of United Nations with a public meeting on Sunday evening, October 21, 7 o'clock at 3939 Cottage Grove. The public is invited.

Bahai's believe that the nations will find no real peace until men recognize that they are all children of one God and that the sickness of the world cannot be cured by lesser remedies than the will to serve the whole of humanity.

Bahai's assurance for the uniting of the nations within this century lies in the teachings of Baha'ullah, Founder-Prophet of the Faith, who proclaimed that the destined age has now come for the fulfillment of the vision of every previous Prophet, each of whom foretold the eventual victory of righteousness and the gathering of the hosts of the earth into one peaceful community.

Principles

The National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States, with headquarters at Wilmette, Illinois, together with 14 other National Spiritual Assemblies throughout the world, has exemplified its trust in the principles of international order by taking the following steps: appointment of representatives to non-governmental conferences of the United Nations; participation of these representatives in many such conferences held in this country and abroad; submission of recommendation for revision of the United Nations Charter; Submission of statements on human rights and obligations, on the rights of women and on the Baha'i use of prayer selected from all the Holy Books.

Participation in a ten-year, worldwide crusade, initiated in 1953, for the purpose of promoting the understanding of the oneness of mankind and the fundamental oneness of religion.

NEWS FLASHES By the Flasher

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative Tuck (Dem., Va.) said Wednesday he has received reports that a Negro soldier from Virginia brought a German wife to the United States and is living with her on a farm in Halifax County, Virginia.

Virginia's miscegenation laws forbid marriage between whites and nonwhites.

Tuck said he has protested the "alleged" situation to the immigration service, asking if immigration law permits "a Negro to bring a white woman from a foreign country to Virginia to live with her as man and wife in violation of Virginia laws and policies."

He mentioned no names. In reply, Commissioner J. M. Swing of the service said that if a German national were lawfully admitted to the United States as a permanent resident under the immigration law and is "not amenable to deportation proceedings the service does not have jurisdiction."

CLINTON, TENN.—About 125 carloads of hooded Ku Klux Klan members paraded Saturday night through Clinton, scene of racial disorder arising from school integration last month. Four crosses were burned.

Newsman were chased from a vacant lot near town where hooded speakers later denounced public integration.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA.—All nine members of the executive committee of the Negro Inter-Civic Council have been arrested on charges of operating an illegal transportation system.

The council has been spearheading a boycott of city buses as a protest against segregated seating, and has been operating a car pool to provide transportation for boycotters.

Executive committee members include five ministers, a dentist, a grocer, a mortician and a barber.

City Judge John Rudd subpoenaed records of service stations he alleged have done business with car pool drivers.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Charlie Grimm, an old standby, and John Holland,

Los Angeles general manager, Thursday were named vice presidents of the Chicago Cubs in a drastic shake-up.

Holland managed the Des Moines when the first Negro player, Gene Baker, joined the club.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—Doctors reported late Tuesday that there is nothing organically wrong with Carl Cain, U. S. Olympic basketball player from Iowa's Big Ten champions who was taken to a hospital after complaining of a nagging back pain.

BALTIMORE, MD.—In Maryland, many signs point to a sizable shift of Negro voters from the Democratic to the Republican column in this year's presidential election.

The trend is particularly pronounced in Baltimore, where Negroes constitute 25 per cent of the city's population and cast about 20 per cent of its vote.

One reason for the shift is discernible:

President Eisenhower's ending of racial segregation in nearby Washington, not only in schools but also in restaurants and hotels. "When I visit friends in Washington now I feel like a real man," one Negro businessman said.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Mrs. Walter White, wife of the late executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Tuesday night she will vote for President Eisenhower.

She said she voted in 1952 for Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee.

"Mrs. White said the Democratic party has 'turned its back on those of us who are deeply concerned about civil rights and integration.'"

NEW YORK, N. Y.—There is no evidence that Negro children are intellectually inferior to white children, a group of prominent social scientists declared Monday.

Eighteen of the nation's recognized authorities in the field announced that theories of white superiority were scientifically unjustified. Two of the signers of the statement were Negroes.

Personal Touch
By MARIE
ROSS

During the Indian Summer of the year, any number of persons will tell you—"I get that restless feeling. All I want to do is to roam the woods." "I've practically given up the idea now," talked Mrs. Evelyn Walker, 834 Eleventh Street, the other evening. She reminisced to her early childhood when she would get her sack and go alone into the Missouri woods for hickory nuts, wild berries, walnuts, persimmons—and "all through my growing up days that roaming feeling would come each year—and I'd have to go."

"But now," she lamented, that feeling doesn't come any more."

Evidently, many of us get that same feeling, whether we go into the woods with sacks, or take the family car, catch the train or roam by plane—for recently, there have been a number of visitors in Des Moines.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Commodore Hendricks is his sister, Mrs. Emma Hendricks, 85-year-old Mississippian, who came all the way from Columbia to visit her brother she had not seen in 39 years.

Mrs. Olin Cooper for the past ten days until Tuesday entertained her sister, Mrs. S. K. Phillips, from Holly Springs, Miss.

On the East side, the Matthew Johnson home, 1331 McCormick Street, had guests, their nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bailey of Chicago, Ill., and his grandmother, Mr. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Fannie Evans of Gary, Ind., a Chicago school teacher.

Mrs. Bailey was interested in flowers from the Johnsons' gardens, which border their velvety-green lawn and surround a garden patio. Accompanying the Baileys also was their pet monkey, Penny.

Dropping in this week end at the Stanley Proctor home, 1111 Eleventh Street, were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Earl Wilbekin of Cincinnati, Ohio, and his sister, Miss Beryl I. Wilbekin of Saint Croix, Virgin Islands.

Miss Wilbekin, who is on a month's vacation from the Virgin Islands, spent several weeks in New York visiting brothers, and when she got to Cincinnati to see Harvey and Cleota, she urged them to "run over to Des Moines to see the Proctors."

Mary Church Terrell Club, One of the Oldest Here, to Celebrate 50th Anniversary With Public Tea Sunday Afternoon at Wilkie

Mary Church Terrell Club will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary with a tea Sunday, Oct. 21, 4 to 7 p.m., at Wilkie House, 900 Seventeenth Street, to which the public is invited.

The Mary Church Terrell Club, which is the oldest federated club in the state, has been a leader in civic and social activities here. The club was pioneer in many types of group activity and has contributed largely to all community fund raising drives.

Participated in Tag Days

The club played a large part in the annual tag days which for many years financed the former home for Negro girls at the State University of Iowa, before dormitory integration. More recently the club was a part of the group of Iowa Club Women who gave a $5,000 gift to the Carver Memorial Science Hall at Simpson College.

Mrs. Emma Hendricks of Columbus, Miss., Feted on Birthday

Mrs. Emma Hendricks of Columbus, Miss., is house guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jett, president, president, Mrs. Robert Frazier was in charge of the dismission, "Are You Prepared to Vote?" The hospitality committee assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9 when Mrs. Hazel Oliver will be guest speaker. She will talk on the United Nations.

The "happy birthday" song was sung and Mrs. Hendricks blew out the lighted candles on her birthday cake. She plans to leave Des Moines on Saturday night.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN
SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Growing Children Are Absorbed in Testing Their Present Strengths and Abilities

One of the most obvious characteristics of growing children is that they are so often absorbed in testing your present strengths and abilities. Young children commonly talk about doing things that we know are impossible, like flying, or lifting father. As children grow older, their proposals become more realistically related to their capacities.

sted, St. Croix, Miss Wilbekin does most of her traveling by plane and was convinced after eight hours on the highway that Cincinnati was more than a "stone's throw" from Des Moines.

The Virgin Islander who was in Des Moines several summers ago to attend the wedding of her brother, revealed that there were many travelers in the islands this summer when the tourist season is generally dull.

Until recently she was acting manager of the airport in Fredericksted. Serving also as a licensed radio operator, she is on the job many times from early morning until evening, talking to plane operators coming in and leaving the airport, she said.

The Wilbekins left here early Monday morning to return to Ohio, Miss Wilbekin planned to spend a week in Hampton, Va., with another brother before returning to her home in St. Croix.

Recently, Mr. Wilbekin was one of the six Cincinnati men who ranked high in engineering examinations completed by the State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers and Surveyors. A Hampton graduate, he is employed by the City of Cincinnati in the Department of Public Works, structural division.

Wilbekin with George Rowe Jr., another Hampton graduate, are believed to be the first Negroes in Cincinnati to obtain the coveted licenses.

The dish towel letters are in the mail again. I am supposed to send out 6 letters and one towel and get back 36. I did that last winter and up to now have received nary a towel.

In 1920 the Mary Church Terrell Club brought to the city its illustrious namesake, the late Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, who appeared before many educational and civic groups here. In order that the name would be perpetuated, a group of younger women known as Mary Church Terrell Club No. 2 was organized. They will serve as assisting hostesses at the anniversary tea on Sunday.

Senior Members

The senior club members are Mesdames A. A. Alexander, Joan Bullock, Nellie Esters, Jessie Davis, Fred Johnson, Bonnie Herndon, Howard Kelso, Oscar Lewis, Gertrude North, A. P. Trotter and Miss Jessie E. Walker. Mrs. Lewis is president and Mrs. Johnson is program chairman.

At 6 p.m. a program will be presented by a number of prominent musicians.

Parliamentary Club To Meet Nov. 9

The Parliamentary and Culture Club met last Friday at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Rush. Mrs. Sarah Jett, president, president, Mrs. Robert Frazier was in charge of the dismission, "Are You Prepared to Vote?" The hospitality committee assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9 when Mrs. Hazel Oliver will be guest speaker. She will talk on the United Nations.

La Mesa Club

La Mesa club will meet Oct. 22 with Mrs. Maybelle Jefferson, 1320 E. 19th Street. The last meeting was with Mrs. Capitola Jones.

Mrs. S. K. Phillips of Mississippi Ends Vacation with Sister

Mrs. S. K. Phillips of Holly Springs, Miss., a retired Jeanes Supervisor, ended this week a ten-day vacation with her sister, Mrs. Olin Cooper, 1112 Eleventh Street.

While here Mrs. Phillips was feted at a noon luncheon last Thursday by Mrs. Cooper, and at brunch Monday by Mrs. J. L. Danforth.

Mrs. Phillips, who has been in educational work in Mississippi for 42 years, recently received a gold medal for having completed 20 years as a Jeanes supervisor over the work of Negro schools in Marshall county.

Aside from supervising the educational work at the school, she had charge of Red Cross and Polio drives and revealed that her pupils reported a total of $4,000 in contributions to the cause during the past ten years. She taught also in city and state schools and was a former Rust College instructor.

Mrs. Phillips, also has done graduate study at Drake University in recent years.

On Vacation

Mr. Cooper returned recently from his vacation in Kansas City, Kas., and Warrensburg and other parts of Missouri.

Amyvets No. 7 Install and Award Post and Auxiliary Officers

Installation of the newly elected post and auxiliary officers of Amyvets No. 7 took place Sept. 29 at the Amyvet Home, 1221 McCormick Street. A barbecue dinner was served to 87 members and guests.

The following auxiliary officers were installed by Mrs. Betty Crivaro, national executive secretary of Amyvets: Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, president; Mrs. Florence Robinson, senior vice president; Mrs. Jewell Evans, junior vice president; Mrs. Ethel Volinier, treasurer; Mrs. Leota Hunter, secretary; Mrs. Geneva Robinson, public relations officer and historian; Mrs. Jamesena Brown, chaplain; Mrs. Lena Martin, liaison officer.

Mrs. Crivaro also presented past president pins to Mesdames Geneva Robinson, Jamesena Brown and Leota Hunter. All the auxiliary members and women guests received roses.

Atty. Herbert Bennett of Fort Dodge, Iowa, was installing officer for the post. Melvin Wallace was installed as commander; Frank Martin, first, James Boston, second, Pat Manuel, third, vice commanders; Ralph Trumbo, adjutant; John Evans, finance officer; Frank Fant, service officer; Jewell Robinson, provost marshal; Richard Collier, P.-R. O.; Donald Nicholes, legislative officer.

Mr. Ralph Rossignolo, state executive director, presented Jewell Robinson, Harold Hunter and William Robinson with past commander's pins.

Distinguished guests were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Crivaro, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rossignolo, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beck, Atty. and Mrs. Bennett and Mr. Mort Hoffman.

ering us with his inquiries. When it seems that the child is honestly interested in learning new things, then patience and planning can help us encourage his inquiries. We can honestly admit sometimes that we don't know, and sometimes we and the child can together try to find the answer. When the child really seems to be trying to "measure his size" against us, it helps to remember that what he is doing is essential to his growth. Dogmatism and stubbornness aren't likely to convince the child, nor do they set the most admirable example of the adult behavior he is trying to learn to perform.

UNITED CAMPAIGN
DESERVES FULL SUPPORT

This week, hundreds of volunteers are calling on the citizens of Des Moines in behalf of the 1956 United Campaign. The drive for funds to support the agencies in the community chest is an annual affair with a goal this year of $1,480,922.

The practice of supporting charitable organizations in American cities has gone on for some time. But the almost complete inclusion of all types of agencies in the drive has gained momentum in recent years. This system reduces the cost of raising funds, the number of separate and sometimes annoying calls and enables the donor to see, in a more practical manner, just what happens to his money.

Fortunately, the directors do a pretty good job of getting all classes and groups working together in the drive just as the agencies do likewise spending the money.

The goals get higher each year partly because of the increase in the cost of services, just as everything else has gone up and the conclusion of additional agencies as is being done this year.

Every effort is made to get the support of the masses of the people. And while it takes a lot of large donations, the effort to broaden the base of solicitations is in line with the effort to broaden the base of service to the people.

It appears that the people of Des Moines are pretty well satisfied with the manner in which the chest is operated. That being true, Des Moines must give the chest the funds with which to continue its program.

WHY EMPHASIZE MEDIOCRACY IN GOVERNMENT

During recent political campaigns, much is being made of the charge that Wall Street and the favored few are running the country; that something must be done for the poor man, the farmer, the little business man.

Much as it is desirable that all men prosper, there is no sense in pitting one group against the other in order to create false nations.

Ever stop to think that as the average youngster grows up, he wants to be a big man in his field whether the choice is a doctor, lawyer, preacher, farmer or mechanic? Ever stop to think that most the big men who head the nation today started far down the ladder?

Of course, there is a difference in men—some small in stature, some large. And difference in the long pull through life, some emerge at the top of the ladder, some all the way down to the lowest round.

After all, the successful government is more apt to thrive under those who have reached the higher round, than those who have not.

So those who preach class hatred are those who are jealous that someone has reached the top or is on the way up while he himself is attempting to block the way.

HOW GULLABLE SOME PEOPLE CAN BE

The South has a knack of fooling a lot of people about racial conditions, very often done under conditions which should make them know better.

A group of New England newspaper editors have been touring Mississippi at the invitation of the segregationists of that state with a view of showing what is being done for Negro betterment. To the great surprise of some of these editors, larger sums than ever have been appropriated for Negro schools, better ones have and are being built in order to bring them up to the standard of white schools.

Some of these editors were surprised, did not know that such progress was being made and concluded that the lot of Negroes was not so bad after all.

If these surprised editors knew the facts, they would find that up until about fifteen years ago, Mississippi was spending three to four dollars per year on a Negro child while at the same time thirty on a white child. And they began these larger appropriations in an effort to head off desegregation which they saw coming and still they are far behind.

These editors were not permitted to see registration books which show that practically no Negroes vote in Mississippi. They were not taken to the White Citizens Council meetings where plans are made to deny Negroes their simple rights.

Of course, there is improvement but it has been made in spite of those people who have hoodwinked some New England newspaper editors that after all Mississippi was doing a good job in behalf of Negroes.

Generally, character witnesses are called in when a lawsuit is somewhat weak.

Job Discriminations
In Sioux City

ment was for women to type envelopes. But when she inquired, she was told the jobs were all filled, she said. But, she said, the ad was carried again in the paper less than a month later.

"I was not even given a chance to fill out an application," Miss Hayes said.

"First I Knew"

Levitt said: "This is the first I knew of this and I naturally am interested in the circumstances."

Levitt said the company will "employ persons of any minority group" if they are qualified. He said he wanted to determine the facts about the job Miss Hayes applied for and how she applied for it.

Ben Hamilton, a Negro representing the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (N. A. A. C. P.), said he was turned down for a job by one television station. He said he is a graduate of the University of Oregon, and now has a part-time radio job.

Hamilton said a proposed fair employment ordinance was defeated by the Sioux City city council, for reasons "varied and unsound."

Larry C. Freeman, another Negro, started to read a statement on his "philosophy" on racial equality and discrimination.

But he was interrupted two or three times by commission members who said Freeman's statement was not pertinent to discrimination in Sioux City.

Tells of Treatment

Freeman insisted that it is "my right and my duty" to read the statement. But finally he cut it short, saying that he would write a letter of protest to Gov. Leo A. Hoegh "about the treatment I have received here."

Freeman said he is president of the Young Men's Athletic Association. He said his wife is one of two Negro school teachers in the Sioux City public schools, a job he said she got after "they had pressed the issue."

State Representative Jack Miller (Dem., Sioux City) also appeared before the commission and said he believes most Iowa legislators are "sympathetic" to the problem of minority groups.

"But it has been my impression that many of the legislators from rural areas did not understand the problem," he said. "They haven't lived with it as we in the cities have."

Refusal Told

Charlotte Marzett, a Negro student at Morningside College, said she was refused a job as an elevator operator in a downtown store because "they told me they did not have a uniform that would fit me."

Henry Kendrick, a Negro who said he is unemployed at the present, listed several places in the city where Negroes have held jobs, such as the police department and the court house.

It was reported at the hearing that 700 to 900 Negroes live in Sioux City, which has a total population of about 85,000.

Commission members present besides Levitt were Dr. Thomas Scales, Des Moines; Dr. Harry Harper, Fort Madison; Ray Smith, Oskaloosa, and Richard Bruner, Des Moines.

The last hearing is scheduled Nov. 19 in Des Moines, but Levitt said it may be called off because of lack of time for the commission to prepare its report.

HEALTH FOR ALL

70 MILLION CUSTOMERS

Did you ever stop to think how many Americans are tested in general hospitals each year? About 70 million! Of these about 20 million are "inpatients," actually housed at the hospital during their illness, while the rest are "outpatients" who came to the hospital for treatment but do not remain. One way or the other, we all have a good chance of becoming customers of these great American institutions.

The hospital is not only a good place to be treated for illness we know we have but also a place where we can reassure ourselves about illnesses we might not know about such as tuberculosis, which often gives no warning and produces no early symptoms.

Chest X-Ray

Because a chest X-ray helps discover tuberculosis and other chest ailments, many hospitals offer their "customers" a chest X-ray on admission. Each year more and more hospitals are becoming convinced that these "admission" X-rays have great value in protecting both the patient and the community.

In most cases the X-ray will show nothing and then the patient has the peace of mind that comes from knowing that he is free of tuberculosis or other chest abnormalities.

In the few cases in which tuberculosis will be discovered, the patient has a much better chance for recovery because his disease can be treated promptly. Moreover, every time a hospital X-ray discovers a case of tuberculosis, the individual's family, his friends, and the entire community are protected from possible infection.

So, if you should be one of the millions of Americans who will go to a hospital for treatment sometime during the next 12 months, remember that a chest X-ray at the hospital is for your own protection.

SPORTS

By ALLEN ASHBY

The World Series is over and the Yanks are back on baseball's throne again. The Dodgers played about as they did last season. First red hot and then all cold. They went several games last year a minimum of hits. Lusty three-hundred hitters melted away to about two-seventy. So it is no wonder the Yankee pitcher looked good. Yankee fans call it good pitching. Dodger fans call it poor hitting. Certainly the earned run average of the Stengel men didn't indicate that they were as good as they turned out to be.

Football

Iowa has another one under its belt. The Hawkeyes showed a big fast defense line and crunching tackles. Their offense wasn't anything to yell about but they seemed to run it in spirits. Looks as if they will be tough. Shouldn't have much trouble this week end but then comes Purdue.

The Boilermakers have five Negroes including that pass catcher, La Marr Lunday. Iowa should be glad that they don't play Michigan State.

Powell to Work
For Eisenhower

To him, Powell said, Stevenson's refusal to be interviewed about his civilrights position suggested that the Democratic candidate had wavered from his vigorous stand in 1952.

Powell emphasized that he was not breaking with the Democratic party. He asserted he would support local and state Democratic candidates on the ticket.

Reflects Discontent

Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Powell's switch might have "substantial effect" in New York City.

"It reflects," he said, "a certain discontent with continued rule by southern committee chairmen in congress."

In the conference with Mr. Eisenhower, Powell indicated that a proposal of Attorney General Jacob K. Javits of New York might provide a possible compromise of Powell's position that federal funds for education should not be spent in states or districts maintaining segregated schools. Javits has suggested that such federal funds be barred only in cases where a federal court has ordered a school district to integrate schools and the district has declined to comply.

The president, it was said, warmed to the idea as Powell discussed it and ordered his aides to look into it. Whereupon Powell startled those in the room by saying:

"Mr. President, I think I will support you for re-election."

IN THE LIGHT

There's a craving for affection that—if given some attention by an understanding heart, could stop the disaffection and the world's continued ruction, block the brawls before their start. Where the people cursed and thundered

and their family circle's sundered, what a change if they would pray.
Ask forgiveness when they blundered love their children that have hungered, for the happy, righteous way.

When all governments and nations live by fair and square relations, give each man an equal right: cease disruptive aggravations, set up decent valuations, then all men live in the light.

NAACP," Msgr. Higgins asserts. "But there is a law—the very law of nature itself—which states imperiously that no power on earth has the right to legislate a voluntary organization out of existence unless, of course, in the words of Leo XIII, the organization in question is professedly seeking an objective 'which is clearly at variance with good morals, with justice, or with the welfare of the state.' It need hardly be pointed out that Leo XIII and his successors would not concede that the NAACP is such an organization. On the contrary, the NAACP is professedly seeking an objective which is in complete harmony with Christian social teaching as interpreted by Leo and his successors, namely, equal rights for colored people in the civic and political order."

At present, large animals are quartered on an acreage where League Director Max Finch lives at 5050 Seventy-fourth street.

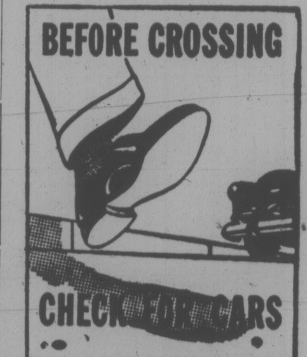

Mathews said the league plans to build the new shelter "as soon as possible—probably sometime in 1957." He said final plans depend on the sale of league-owned property.

A REAL BOOST TO FARM INCOME

One of the steady customers of Iowa farmers is the brewing industry, which uses huge amounts of agricultural grains in the making of beer.

In fact, the nation's brewing industry last year spent over $250,000,000 for such farm products. This would fill 47,000 freight cars . . . making a train which would reach from Des Moines well past Indianapolis. And, of all these cereal adjuncts used in beer, corn leads the list . . . which also includes soybeans, wheat, barley, and other grains. Later, many of these brewers' grains benefit Iowa farmers again, coming back as vitamin-enriched cattle feed.

Yes, Iowa farm income receives a real lift from the brewing industry, with a steady volume of purchases that can always be counted on.
