DR. R. W. BROWN

Tuskegee Institute, Ala.—Dr. L. H. Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute, announced June 16 the appointment of Dr. R. W. Brown, former director of the Carver Foundation, as Dean of Research at Tuskegee.

Dr. Foster said, "This arrangement provides opportunity for a major officer of the Institute to work through all instructional departments, as well as the organized research units, to promote research at the Institute. Clear Up Court
House Rug Mixup

An old rug was back at the Polk County courthouse Wednesday, June 12, and a stricter policy governing the disposition of county property was in the offing.

The rug, a 9-by-12-foot discard from the city assessor's office, had been taken home by Floyd Shade, a maintenance man, and then ordered returned by Supervisor Orville E. Armstrong (Dem., second district) who has charge of the custodial staff and courthouse property.

"Misunderstanding"

Armstrong said Shade took the rug "apparently on a misunderstanding."

Armstrong said he had told various members of the custodial staff he had no authority to give away the rug or any other county property, even though it was worthless and had been discarded.

Armstrong said Shade talked with other supervisors and apparently thought a majority had given him permission to take the rug.

After the county attorney's office had received complaints about the taking of the rug by Shade, Armstrong said he investigated and found that Shade had misunderstood the supervisors.

Armstrong said Shade returned the rug and that the rug is now in a hallway for anyone to bid on.

"Last Sale"

Armstrong said some courthouse furnishings are not worth advertising for bids and are merely left in the open for anyone to bid on informally.

"This sale (of the rug) will be the last. Hereafter, everything is going to a charitable organization," Armstrong said.

NAACP Back to Detroit
For National Convention
Beginning Next Tuesday

Detroit—For the first time since 1943, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People returns to this city for its annual convention which opens on June 25 and continues through June 30.

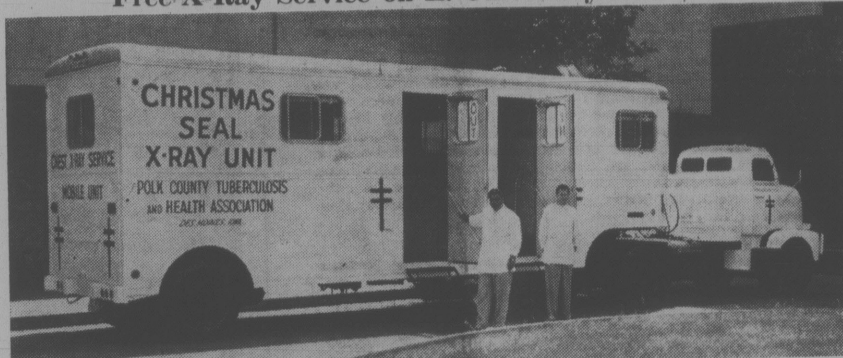

When the Association last met in Detroit the nation was in the midst of a global war. Previously, in 1937, the NAACP held its convention in the Motor City during the heyday of the New Deal. The problems confronting the organization at the earlier conventions were different from those which the delegates must ponder this year.

To Study Dixie Attacks

Never before has the Association faced the kind of official state action against it that developed in the South last year. Laws have been passed by southern legislatures designed to cripple the NAACP. Injunctions banning or limiting the Association's activities have been issued by state courts in Alabama, Louisiana and Texas. Fines have been imposed in Alabama and Georgia.

Ways and means of resolving the problems created by this attack will

Free X-Ray Service on E. University June 28

The Polk County Christmas Seal X-Ray Mobile Unit will be located in front of Bordenaro's Food Market at 1720 E. University, Friday, June 28, 1957, from 2 to 6 p.m., to X-ray all adult people who live or work in Polk County.

This is one of the services of your Polk County Tuberculosis and Health Association, which is made possible by the purchase and use of Christmas Seals in Polk County each year.

All persons, 18 years of age or over are urged to avail themselves of this free service. Remember, the X-raying of your chest is one of the best possible methods of finding an abnormality in its early stages. The quicker it can be cured. Many suspicious cases of lung cancer, heart disease, tumors, have been found as well as suspicious cases of tuberculosis through this screening process. If you have not had a chest X-ray recently, we heartily urge you to take advantage of this free service, being made available to you on the 28th of June.

Children of school age, 5 through 18, may also be X-rayed, but they must have a referral slip from their family physician, school nurse or city-county health nurse, which they will present to the technicians on the X-ray unit.

Last year alone, 47 new active cases of Tuberculosis were discovered in Polk County alone, as well as many cases of Cardiac, Cancer and other chest diseases, needing medical or surgical treatment.

A native of Quincy, Ill., Mrs. Talley was dead on arrival Tuesday, June 11, at Broadview General Hospital. She had lived here 50 years. She suffered a fractured hip in a fall two months ago and had been confined at the McCraney Nursing Home.

Surviving are two foster sons, James Osborne of Kansas City, Mo., and Arnold Swindell of Joplin, Mo., and two Des Moines cousins, Mrs. Beatrice Neal and Charles Barefield, with whom she made her home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Osborne were here from Kansas City to attend the funeral.

Laurence C. Jones
Gets Honorary
Degree from Bucknell

Lewisburg, Pa.—Laurence C. Jones, noted educator and founder of the Piney Woods School, Piney Woods, Miss., was one of seven distinguished men who received honorary degrees June 10, during Bucknell University's 107th annual commencement.

In addition to the honorary awards, Bucknell president Dr. Merle M. Odgers presented degrees to a total of 363 men and women students.

Jones was cited by Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of Bucknell University, for his "contribution to our common welfare as a united people."

Forward March

"For nearly 40 years," said Dr. Hartzell, "Professor Jones has been a leader in the forward march of Mississippi and the entire South." He received the degree of Doctor of Humanities.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Jones founded The Piney Woods School in 1909 and is still serving as its president. He has written several books and has himself been the subject of two, including "The Little Professor of Piney Woods." He has contributed outstanding leadership to a number of humanitarian programs and has previously been the recipient of four awards and degrees.

Others who received honorary degrees at the ceremony were the commencement speaker, Gwilym A. Price, chairman and president of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation; the Reverend Raymond H. Edwards of Ossining, N. Y., who gave the baccalaureate address; financier Joseph D. Dent of Maplewood, N. J.; the educator Dr. Karl K. Voting for Bill on Final Passages: 168 Republicans,
118 Democrats; 126 Refuse

Washington, D. C. — The house Tuesday passed President Eisenhower's civil rights bill. The vote was 286 to 126.

Just before final passage, the house defeated, 251 to 158, the southern bloc's fourth and final attempt to drive a jury trial amendment into the measure.

On final passage, 168 Republicans and 118 Democrats voted for the bill while 19 Republicans joined 107 Democrats in voting against it.

Record Time

The bill was sped in record time to the senate where Vice-President Nixon was in the chair.

The bill, however, could not be taken up for action since the senate was in executive session for a continuation of debate on U. S. ratification of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Democratic Leader Johnson (Tex.) said he proposed to return to legislative session after the senate acts on the treaty, but hours of speeches were in prospect.

Sen. Russell (Dem., Ga.), an opponent of the civil rights bill, asked Nixon if he was correct in assuming that the civil rights bill could not be taken up while the senate was in executive session.

"That is correct," the vice-president said.

"I'm glad to be sustained at least on that," Russell said, his voice heavy with irony.

A bipartisan coalition hopes to rush the bill on to the senate calendar for

White Student Enters
A & T College
For First Time

Greensboro, N. C.—A white student enrolled last Thursday (June 13) at A & T College to become the first in the seventy-year history of the college.

Rodney Jaye Miller, Greensboro, was admitted as a special student, entering the summer session which opened at the College on Thursday.

Miller, married and the father of two children, had filed application last January, citing convenience to his home, special technical courses in his field (engineering) which he could not get elsewhere in Greensboro and job opportunities here as reasons for wishing to enter the previously all Negro college.

Of Speech and Assembly
'Will Not Be Surrendered'

Austin, Texas—Welcoming "back into the fold" 81 Texas NAACP branches, which until last month were barred by court order from functioning, a national NAACP official declared here June 15 that the Association "will not surrender" its "freedom of speech, the right of petition and freedom of assembly."

Gloster B. Current, the Association's director of branches, spoke at a meeting of the Texas State NAACP, the first NAACP conference held in this state since an anti-NAACP injunction was issued in Tyler, Texas, last September.

He predicted that "in the traditional spirit of Texas," the time lost through the injunction "will be regained through redoubled effort."

Noting that the NAACP has had 600 branches in Texas since 1915, he indicated that the injunction was an attempt "to destroy the NAACP, as a last-resort measure to maintain the status quo" and evade the Supreme Court's anti-segregation school decision.

action by passing the senate judiciary committee and thus depriving southern senators of one of their opportunities to filibuster. A civil rights bill has been bottled up in that committee for months.

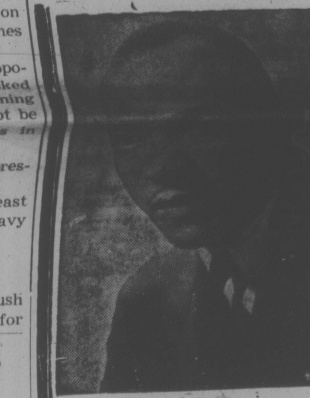

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Cal.) said he is "prepared to take whatever steps necessary" to speed action.

Knowland's strategy will be to keep the house bill from going to the senate committee, and try to place the measure directly on the senate calendar for debate a bit later.

However, the bill still would face a likely filibuster on the senate floor.

The provisions of the bill would: Permit a bipartisan commission to investigate civil rights problems. SEE PAGE SIX

Nation Has Made Race Relations Gains

JESSE OWENS

Champaign, Ill.—Jesse Owens, triple Olympic track champion in 1932, June 8 told a group studying race relations he is "proud to be an American but prouder to be an American Negro."

The one time world champion said he had seen a number of advances in the last two decades toward eradication of racial bigotry and prejudice.

"The nation has knocked down a lot of prejudicial hurdles in a sprint toward harmonious living," he said in an address in the seventh statewide conference on human relations. Owens is now employed as coordinator of recreational activities for the Illinois Youth Commission.

Says Older People Need to Be Shown Value of Play

Iowa City, Iowa—Many a retired person needs to be shown that fun is respectable, says an article in the new Bulletin of the State University of Iowa Institute of Gerontology.

"The human body requires alternation of work, rest and play," explains Virginia Stafford, author of "Recreation Planning for Older People." Miss Stafford is co-author of a 1956 book, "Fun for Older Adults."

"Yet many older adults are victims of the idea that anything but hard work is unworthy and that hobbies and handicrafts are child's play or makeshifts to fill time," she says. These people need demonstrations that crafts "provide creative activity with overtones of relaxation and genuine fellowship, often offering challenges to find and hands comparable to any job one may do for hire," Miss Stafford explains.

Personal Touch
By MARIE ROSS

Summer arrives officially on the calendar this week-end—and before it does, I will try to get the Personal Touch spindle with notes and reminders cleared of reminders.

One note reads: "Birth-Dated Calendar of St. Paul AME Church." Sponsored last fall by the Birt Pastor's Aid Club of the church, it is a handy birthday calendar to own, with names of members and friends of the church listed under their birthdates.

Some of the birthdays for the remainder of June are:

June 21—Thelma J. Calderon, Robert Greenfield, Delores Hunter; June 23—Curtis Morton; June 24—Haley Houston, Ben H. Johnson, Theodore Frazier; June 25—Maud Pickett; June 27—Hazel Murphy, Robert Shaw, Princess O'Ziel Chapter; June 28—Vernon Nichols, Jr.; and June 28—Nancy Jackson and Naeve Lou Cooper.

If you see the name of a friend—drop that person a surprise birthday card. You will enjoy doing it.

Another reminds: "Find a cherry wine recipe for W. B.; and a dandelion wine one for C. H."

W. B. wants to preserve the cherries in his back yard for his next Thanksgiving Day feast.

From one of the old recipe books—I ran down this recipe:

Cherry Wine

Get a small barrel or large stone jar. Pick sweet cherries; stem them and remove stones. Press out juice. To each gallon of juice add 2 pounds of sugar. Let it work in earthen crock, stone jar or small barrel, covered by a thin cloth to keep out insects. When finished working keep it fastened tight for two months. When bottling, put a little sugar in each. It can be used after standing six weeks.

"Mrs. Mary Frances Ashley likes flowers and eats ice cream," is written on another slip of paper, with a notation to take her some, in appreciation of some fine books she gave me. Nearly totally blind, she misses getting out to public affairs like she used to. She is in the care of Mrs. John Mitchell, 1227 Laurel Street.

I paused when I came to a slip of paper that had these words: "Up and around University Way." Then I remembered—walking in that direction the other evening on Eleventh Street to see the James Osbornes of

The Allens of Chicago At Summer Home

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Allen of Chicago, Ill., were in Consul, Ia., last week to open their summer home, the "A Ranch." Two guests came from Chicago with them, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Young.

The Chicagogs picked wild strawberries which grow bountiful on the ranch. The Youngs and Allens spent Sunday, June 9, in Des Moines visiting friends and relatives.

Kansas City who were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hubbard. Mrs. Hubbard was ending her vacation and arranging honeysuckle flowers in a vase. Mr. Hubbard said he enjoys flowers but since his stroke has not been able to cultivate them.

Admired the red spirea at the porch of Mrs. Lula Weeks. She pointed out a beautiful red rambler in bloom, a bed of giant outdoor fern that resembled ostrich plumes. Paused to chat with Mrs. Theodore Bell sitting on her cool, shady porch; Mrs. Fannie Jackson on Enos, talking to friend on her closed-in porch; Mrs. Martha Dixon, enjoying the cool of the evening with her daughter, Madeline and granddaughter, Gwendolyn; Mrs. John Guess pointing out the many flowers and vines she grows in water. They decorate the windows of her home and porch.

Around Thirteenth and Enos, Mrs. Lula Parsons was asking if her favorite greens—"Missouri Poke"—were growing on a certain hill where she gets some each year.

Rounding up a group of children and taking them to vacation Bible School each morning is Mrs. Trella Perry. Teaching some of the vacation Bible School classes—while still looking for a summer job as a typist or an office employee, is Louise Stewart, who said—"I just must find a job this summer. I want to go to school this fall."

Rushing home from his ditch-digging job and "feeling fine" after a hot-eight-hour day was Irving Miller who was fortunate to find a summer job with the Iowa Light and Power Company. "The rugged work will keep me in good condition for school this fall—and the pay is fine," Irving remarked.

Back from a recent vacation in Memphis, Tenn., are Mr. and Mrs. Moses Jones of West Des Moines. Mr. Jones revealed that "this is a good year for cotton" on his wife's farm in Tennessee.

Will continue cleaning off of the Personal Touch spindle later.

A travel card arrived this week from London, Ontario, Canada, from Mr. and Mrs. Art Turner who are on vacation. "It's grand—seeing the sights," was the comment on the postcard.

Welcome Delegates from Five Continents to MRA Assembly of Nations

Mackinac Island, Michigan—Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, national president of the NACM, Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, past California president of the NACW, and Charles Howard of Des Moines, were among those who welcomed delegates from five continents to the Moral Re-Armament Assembly of Nations which opened this week in Mackinac Island, Michigan. With them were leaders from Detroit, from the Tuskegee Institute and from the Bethune-Cookman College.

Mrs. Gaines said, "A new era for America and the world has begun here."

Four hundred Americans, black and white, stood together in what a spokesman of the colored people, Attorney Charles Howard, described as "a group symbolic of united America."

"Contrite Heart"

He said, "We come with a contrite heart, conscious of the evils of the past and committed with you to right those evils and wrongs." The Vice President of the Bethune-Cookman College students, Sam Hayes, declared, "I have seen MRA in action. It is the strongest force in the world. I have only one gift to give you, Dr. Buchanan; that is my life for this work."

Charles Trout, Director of Public Relations at Tuskegee, Ala., said that the assembly had brought "a great first step towards unity in America which will give us the respect of other nations which we have sought by other methods and have not found. There are no iron or bamboo curtains here. There are no second class citizens either. All are first class citizens at Mackinac. I see you are a first class or a second class citizen by the way you live."

Every Race

Men and women of every race, class and background had flown in special planes from Africa and India, from Japan, Korea and the Philippines, and from Europe. Statesmen like Mr. Hoshijima, Supreme Advisor to the Japanese Cabinet; Mr. Yung Sung Soon, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Korean Assembly; Senator Pelaez, Defense Minister for the Philippines; Rajmohan Gandhi, the Mahatma's grandson; Senators Kato and Togan from Japan, and many others arrived during the week-end.

The opening session of the Assembly was addressed by Dr. Frank Buchanan in a speech widely published in the press of this country and since rebroadcast throughout the world in many languages, including Japanese, Chinese, Indonesian, Arabic, the European languages and Russian. The theme of the speech is, "Ideas are God's Weapons for a New World."

Great Vision

The colorful African delegation from North Africa and Egypt, from West, East and South Africa mounted the platform together to speak of the direction which the ideology of Moral Re-Armament was giving their continent.

"But for Moral Re-Armament," said Manasseh Maerane, Vice President of 10,000 African teachers in South Africa, "there would have been more bloodshed through this continent. More than that, Frank Buchanan has always had a great vision for Africa as the continent with an answer. We commit ourselves to make Africa the continent which can give the world the answer."

Soirettes Have Glamour Party

The Soirettes met at the home of Mrs. Jo Ann Jackson, June 14. Her guest, Mrs. Alice Thomas, had charge of the glamour party. She displayed her array of cosmetics and then explained how to select the type and shade of cosmetic for each skin type; and the correct application to enhance one's beauty.

A social hour followed with refreshments by the hostess. The next meeting will be June 28, 8:30 p. m., with Mrs. Bobbie Jean Carson, 1425 Fremont Street.

swers of unity."

The story of how the Prime Ministers of the three regions of Nigeria went on the basis of unity to current negotiations in London for the independence of their nation was told by Alhaji Umoru, a Chief of the Hausa People of Nigeria's Eastern Region. He stressed the importance to his country's future of the fact that the three leaders went united to the conference table in London.

Most Essential

"MRA is the most essential and necessary thing in Africa. When we get our independence, we shall stand on firm ground. It is only on the basis of MRA that the three regions can unite."

The aim of this Assembly, which will continue throughout the summer, is to equip all nations with the ultimate weapon—the idea having power to: reconcile nations, bridge the gulf between the East and West, redirect peoples who have lost their way, inspire a renaissance adequate to reconstruct a crumbling civilization.

CIVIL RIGHTS PASSES
FIRST HURDLE

The House of Representatives in Washington passed President Eisenhower's civil rights bill by a vote of 286 to 126. The vote was split with 168 Republicans and 118 Democrats for the bill; 107 Democrats and 19 Republicans against the bill.

Several attempts were made to include an amendment requiring jury trials for violating injunctions issued by federal judges which, in the end, is the very meat of the measure. Proponents of the law know from experience that juries have made a mockery of civil rights cases presented to them for consideration; that this is the only way to get enforcement.

The bill, goes to the Senate for action where it is expected to encounter rough sledding, for not only will southerners use every parliamentary trick to sidetrack the bill but they will also filibuster the proceedings to the limit.

Senate rules may be invoked to cut off debate by a two-thirds majority of the members — 64 — and maybe this is going to be a difficult job to accomplish. However, sufficient senators are pledged to support the measure and if they stand pat something tangible may come up.

Undoubtedly, the measure is needed to cope with the shameless manner in which judges and clerks of elections deliberately intimidate Negro voters.

STEVENSON PULLS
NO PUNCHES

Adlai Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, had occasion to visit South Africa last week. He observed the complete segregation of races and the almost total effort to keep the natives down.

But before leaving, he blasted the system, calling attention to the fact that such a program negates what the western powers stand for.

Of course, the South African officials were upset and criticized Stevenson for his remarks. Like Gardner Cowles, who had likewise last year, Gov. Stevenson saw the wrongs being committed and spoke up against them.

RECEIVED AND FILED—
THAT'S NOTHING

As instructed by the Des Moines Branch NAACP, its legal redress committee filed a formal protest with the City Council objecting to the manner in which the Iowa Civil Rights Law was used as a football while granting a beer permit to James McCarty.

By unanimous vote, the protest was received and filed, a nice way to do nothing. Of course, little else was expected. On the other hand it is important that even city officials know that there is a civil rights law and that just as any other measure, should be given respect.

Army Audit Agency
Seeks Civilian
Personnel

A drive to secure professional civilian auditors for Civil Service positions with the United States Army Audit Agency began June 18 in the Fifth United States Army Area. The announcement was made by the Kansas City Regional Office which services the 13 State Army area. It applies to operating branch offices in Chicago, Denver, Detroit, Minneapolis, and St. Louis. In addition, field offices at several Army installations and contractor activities are affected. Throughout Army Audit offices in the Fifth U. S. Army area approximately 300 professional civilian auditors are required. Opportunities exist for all grades of personnel ranging from college graduates to experienced unit supervisors and executives. Many of those currently employed in the organization are members of CPA societies and NACA chapters.

Salary Ranges

Except for trainees, salary ranges are from $6,400 to $12,000 per year. Other benefits authorized by law and available to those auditors are a liberal retirement plan, employees' life insurance, and sick and annual vacation privileges.

The Regional Director of the Army Audit Agency, stressed that the Army is as much interested in experienced older individuals as in the recent accounting graduates. Excellent professional positions are open on the basis of individual merit.

Civil Service Announcement 7 (b), available at local Post Offices, lists the criteria necessary to qualify for a position with the Army Audit Agency. Further information concerning opportunities within the Agency may be obtained by request.

Establish a new civil rights division under an assistant attorney general in the justice department.

One provision of the bill authorizes the federal courts to take direct jurisdiction in civil rights matters, whereas at present state court remedies must first be exhausted.

Haiti Crisis

cision to seize power.

Haiti's troubles stem mainly from rivalry among 10 candidates for the presidency in elections originally scheduled for Sunday. There have been rumors that Fignole intended to seize the post without elections.

Acute Hunger

Port Au Prince, Haiti—There is acute hunger, often bordering on starvation, everywhere in unhappy Haiti.

5-Hour Day

Even Haitians who work stay on the job only about five hours a day, on the average.

Thousands of hungry Haitians try to take the easy way out by begging for what they need to eat. The island is swarming with the aged and crippled, emaciated mothers with crying babes in their arms, and with boys and girls begging for alms.

The government, through its relief agencies, occasionally makes some food distributions. But they appear to be a drop in the bucket compared to what is needed.

American organizations trying to help needy Haitians feel a long step forward would be taken if Haitians would do more to help themselves—such as putting in long, hard work on self-sustaining projects—and cutting out political squabbling.

75 Per Cent

Robert R. Peterson of Laramie, Wyo., director of America's Point 4 assistance program in Haiti, estimated 75 per cent of the 4 million people in this Negro republic "suffer from shocking malnutrition and acute hunger."

Peterson said thousands of tons of American surplus foods, a gift from the U. S. government, had gone, or were going, into districts where hunger was the most acute.

Ships recently unloaded 300 tons of rice and beans at Gonaives, 200 tons at Port-au-Paix, and 300 tons at Cap-Haitien. Nine hundred tons previously were sent to those areas, making a total of 1,700 distributed so far this year.

HEALTH FOR ALL

HOW MUCH FOR HEALTH?

How much is good health worth to you? If you have it, you don't worry about it. If you don't have it, you'd give every cent to get it. You can't put a price on it. But you do pay for it.

The average American family spends four to five per cent of its yearly income for medical care and related services. All of us together spend more than ten billion dollars for personal health services. That's not counting what the federal, state and local governments spend. Of course, we spend more than that for recreation, more for alcoholic beverages and tobacco, twice as much to buy and maintain our cars. Four or five per cent doesn't seem too much for health.

Medical Expenses

But does that mean you can budget five per cent for medical expenses for the coming year, and stick to the budget? We all know better than that. Where is that average American family? A 1953 survey showed that 11 per cent of American families incurred 43 per cent of the national medical bill. Eight per cent had no medical costs whatever that year. Wonder what happened to them in 1954?

We all know that illness inevitably strikes each of us at some time. Even with the wonders of modern medical science, good health is not a foregone conclusion. We can't take it for granted.

Poor general health lowers resistance to TB germs. So each of us must guard his personal health. The rules of good health we learned in school haven't changed: cleanliness, sleep, proper food, fresh air, and exercise. If we follow the rules we have a good chance of defeating any TB germs that attack us. Another important personal step we can take against TB is to have a regular physical check-up and a chest X-ray. If TB is discovered early, there's every chance that it will be cured.

People have TB. People spread TB. People must fight TB, personally.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by Polk County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

Don't know how the subject of basketball came up on a hot day, but it did. We ran into one of the members of our old Crocker Y Big Five which was quite a ball club in the late twenties and early thirties, we thought.

We recalled, with each other the old Sunday School league that developed a lot of good high school players. But in most cases the best players never got to high school. We agreed that it was worth a man's life or limb or both to go in for a layup shot. For example, when Corinthian played Burns, all the points were scored from the middle of the floor on the foul line with the Webb brothers, Bob and Reggar, guarding the Baptist goal. You just didn't go under that basket unless you wanted to be carried out.

Burns had a fairly rough combination at guards, also. Brother Bill Ashby was one. Bill couldn't play basketball but he would hustle and nobody took the ball away from Bill once he got his hands on it.

The veteran and Yours Truly laughed about the play in the pivot position, now called the post. The guy said it wouldn't have been necessary to have a three second rule for staying in the post. If any player had been foolish enough to go in there, he should have been awarded a congressional medal. And if he stayed two minutes, the referee wouldn't have to call time on the victim. He would have been glad to come out if he could have made it.

Then we both remarked that our Big Five averaged a shade under six feet and we were considered a big team. Now we would have a team of midgets. Oh well, such were the old days.

Track

Guy Bell of Indiana U. may be our man to break Jess Owens' broad jump record. But then we said the same thing about Willie Steele a few years ago. If Deacon Jones hasn't already reached his peak, he will be a good prospect to beat the two or five-mile mark. Right now
