Reuben Warren Reelected Head of Midwest Elks; D. M. Drum Corps in First

Kansas City, Mo., Rueben Warren, of Ames Lodge No. 106, Minneapolis, president of the Middlewestern States Association of Elks for the past two years, was unanimously re-elected by acclamation at the annual convention here June 23-26.

Warren and Mrs. Arretta Butler of Sioux City, Ia., president of the women's auxiliary of the association presided over meetings, parade and social festivities attended by 2,000 Elks and Daughter Elks from the states of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado and the province of Manitoba in Canada.

The Elks worshipped Sunday at 11 a.m. at Ebenezer AME church. The Rev. Harry M. Davis, pastor, delivered the baccalaureate sermon for the group. Warren was presented a key to the city by Benjamin Powers of the city counselor's office.

Des Moines Wins

A colorful parade was held Sunday afternoon with various drum and bugle corps, majorettes, and officers participating.

Competitive drills were held at the Mason-Halpin Fieldhouse Sunday evening. Some of the participating teams were from Des Moines, Iowa, who were the first place winners; Minneapolis, the second place winners; Waterloo, Iowa, third place.

Negro Magistrate Fines The Waldorf $50 Fire Fine

New York—(CNS)—The Waldorf-Astoria—one of the world's most expensive and finest hotels—was fined $50, on a fire technicality by Negro Magistrate, Vernon C. Riddick.

The hotel's attorney, John H. Sherry—one of a battery of lawyers for the Waldorf—was highly indignant at the fine as well as the charges that the hotel on one occasion had an exit locked and two others obstructed by chairs, tables, etc. Sherry called it all "petty" but Magistrate Riddick persisted on the fine.

Inject Race Issue to Try To Discredit Government Witness in Hoffa Trial

Washington, D. C.—(CNS)—Out of the clear blue sky—as the saying goes—the race issue injected into the Hoffa bribery trial this week. The Government's star witness, John Cye Cheasty, was suddenly cross examined by defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams with race questions by which it was obvious that the real intent was to discredit Cheasty and his testimony.

The race question had no link with the trial at all. For three and a half days Cheasty had been testifying that Teamster chief James R. Hoffa had bribed him to steal secrets from the Senate racketeers committee as one of its staff members. Cheasty says he secretly cooperated with the FBI instead to catch Hoffa red-handed.

Thereupon Williams asked Cheasty about "when you were employed by the city of Tallahassee to investigate the NAACP to break a bus boycott."

Went to Tallahassee

Cheasty insisted on telling the whole story here. He said he had gone to Tallahassee last July and after a 16 day probe, he recommended that the city hire Negro bus drivers, treat all drivers the same and "cut out the color line on buses." He said his recommendations were winners and Omaha, Nebr. fourth place winners.

Grand Ball Held

The majorettes presented a most colorful show along with the drum and bugle corps on Monday evening.

The opening session were held on Monday morning with the association meeting at Memorial Baptist Church, and the auxiliary at Ebenezer AME church. The Antlered Guard held its sessions at Mello-SEE PAGE THREE

Closing Addresses at 48th Annual NAACP Convention Heard by 16,000 Persons

Detroit—The 48th annual convention of the NAACP remains a topic of lively interest here as people recall the closing session which packed 16,000 persons into the huge Olympia stadium to hear stirring addresses by Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary; Thurgood Marshall, the Association's special counsel; and Jackie Robinson, chairman of the NAACP 157 Freedom Fund campaign.

Each of the convention's four public meetings was packed to capacity, with thousands turned away from the Henry and Edsel Ford auditorium where the meetings were held during the week.

Liberal Contributions

Mr. Robinson appealed for liberal contributions to the work of the NAACP, asserting that "every dollar sacrificed to the support of the NAACP has paid off." The former Brooklyn Dodge infield star told the huge audience that "association with the NAACP has made (me) a bigger man, a better man, and a prouder man." He urged all citizens to join actively in support of the NAACP.

'Healing Preacher' Pleads Guilty to 3 Larceny Charges

Durham, N. C. Jim Smith, 75, alias Bill Smith, who was also known as the Healer Preacher—and who allegedly spent more than half of his life behind bars, flim-flamed himself out of six more years of freedom Monday in Superior Court here.

According to Raleigh, N. C. "Carolinian", weekly newspaper, Smith pleaded guilty to three charges of larceny by trick, and Judge Clawson Williams gave him two years on the roads for each count. The terms are to run consecutively.

On May 30, appearing in Recorder's Court Smith declared that his name was Jim and that he was 75-years-old. Police records dealing extensively with his past show that his name was Bill Smith and that his age was 64.

Three victims of Smith's larceny by trick claimed that he swindled them out of money by claiming that he was a "healing preacher," who could help them or their sick relatives through prayer.

Posing as "Reverend Turner from Chapel Hill" Smith sold Miss Mary Dove of 106 Enterprise Street, a prayer for 25 cents.

He then requested that her sister leave the room for a minute while he and the ailing Miss Dove knelt in a silent prayer.

During this prayer, the victim said, "Reverend Turner" silently slipped out with $6 or $7.

Thomas Bullock, a man confined to a wheel chair, of 1209 Jackson Street, was also a victim of the flim-flam artist to the tune of $21.40.

Bullock told police that Smith of-SEE PAGE SIX

Plan to Hold Congress in Session Till President's Rights' Bill Gets Action

Washington, D. C.—President Eisenhower Tuesday backed Republican plans to keep congress in session until his civil rights program is acted upon, regardless of how long it takes.

The chief executive also told G.O.P. leaders that he is aware the civil rights battle may mean that certain other key measures must be by-passed until next year.

Reporting this after the president's weekly conference with Republican congressional leaders, Senate G.O.P. Leader Knowland (Cal.) also said Mr. Eisenhower has not closed the door against "clarifying" amendments to the bill.

Vote This Week?

Knowland said he hopes a vote can be reached this week on his move to call up the bill by "lengthening" the sessions. But he said he and other supporters will not decide until Thursday whether to try to hold the senate in session continuously on Friday and Saturday in an effort to get a vote.

"We will review the situation Thursday," he said. "I hope that the sessions will lengthen out but I hope it will not be necessary to go around the clock."

Serious Problem

"It will present a serious problem, however, if the vote on the motion is delayed beyond this week. It seems to me a week's time is a reasonable period in which to get a

Tell NAACP Leader and Members to Be Even More Vigilant About Communists

Detroit—Resolutions adopted by the delegates attending the 48th annual convention of the NAACP covered the entire range of the Association's varied activities and interests from defense of the right of the organization to continue to exist to the relief of racial and religious tensions.

Before the six-day convention closed here on June 30, the delegates went "on record as condemning all efforts to destroy (the NAACP's) existence and effectiveness in various states." They resolved "to fight with every resource such unlawful and unconstitutional action."

Use Influence

Moreover, they called "upon the President of the United States to speak and continuously use his influence to safeguard the right of the NAACP, as an organization, to operate to bring about first-class citizenship for all citizens of the U. S. by any and all legal means at its disposal."

Pointing out that the Communist party has adopted a new line "to insinuate its program on non-communist and even anti-communist organizations," a resolution warned "the leaders and members of the Association to be even more vigilant bill before the senate for a discussion of its merits."

He made it clear that he looks for a filibuster by southern foes of the civil rights bill if and when the senate does vote to make the bill its pending business.

4 to 8 Weeks

In reply to questions, Knowland said there was no discussion at Tuesday's White House session regarding merits of the bill. Mr. Eisenhower reportedly has called it a decent bill and a moderate one.

Wins Wimbledon Tennis Title

ALTHEA GIBSON

Wimbledon, England—Althea Gibson of New York City became the first Negro to win a Wimbledon tennis championship Saturday. She beat Darlene Hard of Montebello, Cal., 6-3, 6-2, in the women's final before 17,000, including Queen Elizabeth.

The 29-year-old Harlem girl dominated the 49-minute match from the beginning with her powerful service and volley game.

It marked the fourteenth straight time the title had gone to an American.

Housing Problem

"Housing is a problem of great complexity," a resolution asserted. "In order to achieve our goal, the Association must concentrate its efforts upon those government agencies concerned with housing, and upon industry and trade groups which contribute to the housing supply and SEE PAGE SIX

Western Canned Sweet Cherries Inspiration for Chinese Dinner

Why not try something different when it is your turn to entertain. Plan your menu with a theme in mind and let Western canned sweet cherries suggest one that will afford a conversation piece for the rest of the evening. This Chinese menu has its inspiration in the dark luscious sweet cherries from the orchards of the West. This dark purple variety is called Bing and its history is as interesting as the menu it inspired.

A Chinese gardener rescued a small straggling seedling from the trash heap. This tiny twig he tended lovingly and soon it was producing rich juicy cherries that came to be known by his musical name, "Bing."

The sweet sour sauce which makes this a bonafide Chinese menu is just as delicious when light cherries are substituted for the dark. The light ones are Royal Annes. The dark ones are the Lambert or Bing. But light or dark, all these sweet cherries are processed at the exact time of maturity to preserve every drop of their juice, every bit of their fructose or sugar. The results are perfect cans of plump, sweet fruit, versatile enough in meal planning to be used from breakfast fruit to midnight snack.

Sweet-Sour Sauce

2 cups dark Western canned sweet cherries (pitted)
1 cup cherry juice
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 pounds spare ribs

Pit cherries and set aside. Add cornstarch to 2 tablespoons of the juice. Mix with other ingredients in saucepan and bring to a boil. Stir and boil for 2 minutes. Add cherries and remove from heat. Cut spare ribs lengthwise between bones. Spread in single layer on baking sheet and place in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove to casserole, pour on sauce and continue baking for 30 minutes more. This will be enough for four.

at Second Baptist Church beginning July 8 through 13, by the Evangelistic Board of Eastern District of the convention, has been postponed until a later date.

Lovely Picnic

In many ways it was evident that the past Fourth of July was gaily celebrated here. Entertained with a picnic at her home was Mrs. Edna Arnett. Barbecue and everything good was enjoyed.

Mrs. Addie Buckner of Chicago, Ill., is here visiting her children. Mrs. Addie Buckner and daughter, Shirley Ann, report a wonderful trip when they visited in Chicago, Ill., to see a daughter there, Miss Beverly Patterson.

Mrs. Thornton Martin of Moline, Ill., was here last week to see her mother, Mrs. Lillian Lewis. Mrs. Martin visited Coppin Chapel at the special service last Sunday afternoon.

Back to Los Vegas

First Class Airman Thomas Howard left July 10 for Los Vegas, Nevada, after spending a long furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Malisa Howard.

Pigeonholes for Hats

A HANDY pigeonhole file for men's and boys' hats and caps, women's small hats, gloves and purses can be placed on the closet shelf. This collection of separate compartments is simply constructed like the dividers in an egg-crate. Use sheets of long-wearing Masonite one-eighth inch Preswood that's smooth on both sides. It may be obtained at any lumber yard. Cut slots with a power saw the thickness of the boards so they will fit together at right angles. A good width for each compartment is 13 inches. The height may be varied, depending on the closet. This pigeonhole storage rack should be made to fit the available space quite snugly, so that it will be steady. Slots for the "legs" may be cut into the wood shelf as an additional brace.

Strawberry Trifles

Captivating dessert for springtime is this fluffy cake-strawberry-and-whipped cream combination called a "trifle."

When you want something superlative for dessert, strawberry shortcakes, or variations on that theme, are the answer. Shortcakes are a nutritious dessert, too, since enriched flour is used in the shortcake base and provides essential food values.

Fluffy cake is often used for shortcakes, and individual ones are made by baking batter in muffin pans. Use either a conventionally mixed two-egg or quick-mix cake, or sponge cake recipe. If you do not have time to make them buy plain cup or sponge cakes from your baker's to make this excellent springtime dessert.

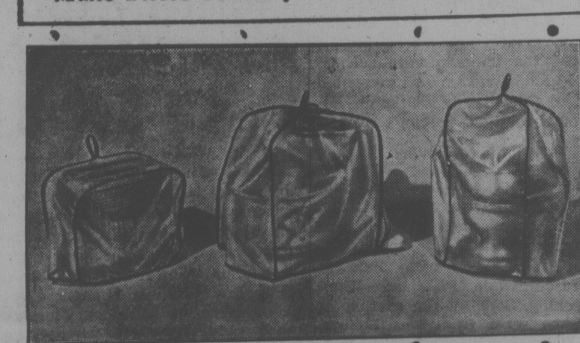

When ready to serve, cut tops off cupcakes and spread with whipped cream and berries. Put top back on, and then cover with more berries and whipped cream. The result is delectable.

STRAWBERRY TRIFLES

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ cup milk
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, beating well. Add vanilla extract. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Fill greased three-inch muffin pans one-half full. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Cut off tops of cup cakes, and spread with whipped cream and halves of strawberries. Replace tops of cup cakes, garnish with more strawberry halves, and top with whipped cream and one whole strawberry. Makes about 14 three-inch cakes.

Don't Put Family Snapshots Off Until Tomorrow

TOMORROW is definitely too late for picturing people as they are today. There are some varieties of family snapshots that you definitely shouldn't put off taking.

Among these are the family groups, the four generation snapshots. Sometimes in our concentration on picturing the small fry and how they grow, we tend to forget about the grown-ups in the family. They belong in the family picture record, too.

Picturing the oldsters and the youngsters together is something that can be fun, and at the same time produce snapshots that will become family treasures.

Of course, when it comes to picturing a family group, it is always important to have a center of interest—something that all of your subjects can focus their attention on and not look at the camera. In taking the three or four generation pictures that should be a part of every family record, the representative of the youngest generation makes an excellent center of interest.

Group the adults in a comfortable manner and let them be admiring the baby. Nothing could be more natural—and because of that it ought to be a sure-fire means of getting good expressions on the faces.

When you have a group like that together, don't take just one picture—the subject is too important to take any chances. Shoot several and you are bound to have at least one exceptionally good picture, and you'll probably have a whole series.

Jane White Returns to Cameras in TV Drama; Olga James Enjoying London; Basie and Vaughn Drawing Many

WITH DOLORES CALVIN

New York City—(CNS)—New Star Among Us . . . Jane White returned to the cameras in a television drama on Studio One last week—all about life in a South American village and we were surprised to find her talent definitely blossomed and her manner much more professional . . . Her voice has grown deeper and more assured . . . She moves in a more secure manner . . . she has an air which is more demanding, more sophisticated . . . Jane, as you remember, started her career as the lead in a controversial stage page "Strange Fruit" and being the daughter of NAACP Walter White made it even more of a controversy as the public wondered if she should play the role or not . . . For many years since, Jane has not been heard of in any prominent plays—but since the death of her father, she seems to have spread her wings again—this time with more assurance than she had before. Jane's part in the Studio One drama was a small one—as a doctor of the village who only has one small, but good scene . . . but in it she displays a good talent which needs only better parts to prove it . . . Hernandez plays the village's leader who engages an agricultural expert to plant and grow wheat in the fields which have been barren . . .

The expert, a young white farmer, and his wife, try their hand at settling down to the village and sort of "cultivating" a wild group . . . The natives, all Spanish-speaking, resent the wife's efforts and turn on the young husband who defends his wife in all her escapades . . .

After a pitiful revolt, they burn the tractor and all but run the young couple away . . . Hernandez has good lines in deciding that the people need this couple and sways his efforts to making them stay . . . Jane's bit in offering the wife a job to do at the hospital also aids her staying on . . . Jane speaks her Spanish lines beautifully and is well cast for the role . . . The end is a happy one, with much learned from all sides . . . We liked it because the racial angle was a vivid one where there was no hate, just resentment to keep things as they were—and both learn, in the end, to exchange ideas and help each other. It is the sort of story we'd like to see between white and Negro farmers of the south . . .

Olga James, enjoying London, does a 3 week stint at the Savory Hotel following her date at the famous Palladium . . . Naturally she does a medley from "Carmen Jones" which she did in the film—and numbers from "Mr. Wonderful" where she was a star of the Broadway hit . . .

We were happy to hear that Harry Belafonte hired a guitarist who is a buddy of his from the old days when both were poor and playing weekend dates anywhere they could—but unhappy to hear the guy was picked up for dope charges . . . What happens to success-starved entertainers who turn to such vices soon as they start getting the recognition—and the money they desire?

Director Robert Rossen, now enjoying the success of "Island in the Sun", will not rest on laurels—but forges ahead—this time with a different version of "Crime and Punishment"—with an all-Negro cast to be filmed in Harlem on a low budget . . . Not a very exciting prospect, but actors are looking for jobs . . .

Basie and Sarah Vaughn drawing so many high school prom kids dancing all over the Starlight Roof—got a return match from Aug. 13th to Sept. 18th . . . Lionel goes in July 16th . . . The Birdland crowd has gone snotty at the Waldorf Astoria.

Those in the know claim that because of lack of authentic calypso material and authentic representations—the fad is dying out and by Fall it should be well buried . . .

This comment, however, leaves much room for argument, with so many Jamaicans, Trinidadians, Bermudians, etc., around who have been trying for years to get the fad going and developed—and all of them carrying authentic calypsos under their arms ready to show them . . . What really happened to the fad is that too many "foreigners" got into the act—and they will cripple it permanently.

Game Room-Guest Room

AN UNUSUAL wall installation provides game room facilities along with a guest closet and a combination desk and vanity. Modern and attractive, the various units may be used separately or in combination.

As shown in the left of the illustration, the game room-guest closet gives little clue as to its real purpose. A functional door, about 8 inches thick, has storage behind sliding panels of Masonite Ridgeline, and the closet interior is outfitted with "Peg-Board" panels and fixtures.

Behind the central closed swinging doors, made of a new hardboard known as Panelply, are space for a TV set and books.

At the right is the combination desk and vanity, including nickel-plated shelves.

Each of the three units can be built in the average home workshop. The principal materials are lumber and Masonite hardboards, the versatile do-it-yourself materials that come in a variety of finishes and sizes. They are available at lumber yards.

A free plan detailing the construction in diagrams, sketches, cutting diagrams and bill of materials may be obtained by sending a postal card to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting plan No. AE-327.

Crowd Hears Pastor

Los Angeles, Cal.—The Negro pastor whose white congregation resigned recently rather than accept him drew a crowd of around 1,000 persons Sunday at the first sermon he preached at the Normandie Avenue Methodist Church.

The pastor, the Rev. Nelson B. Higgins, Jr., acclaimed the turnout as a triumph of good over evil. "I am happy to see God moving through men and women irrespective of race, creed or color," he said. "God gives love where there was hate . . .

Here to Defy

"This morning you have come here to defy the forces of hell—evil thinking and evil action. You have come to meet the challenge."

The church is located in a formerly all-white area which has become approximately 50 per cent Negro.

Its membership had dwindled from 253 10 years ago to about 45 when Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy appointed the Rev. Higgins to the pastorate. The 35 remaining active members said they had an all-white church and wanted to keep it that way. They resigned in a body last Sunday.

Sunday's congregation was about evenly divided between whites and Negroes.

Aside from planning and keeping up the flower gardens that grow around the Willkie-House building, the members discuss all phases of flowers and gardens.

Praise was given to the attractive appearance of the shrubs and gardens on the Willkie House ground—and somewhere during the discussion, attention was called to the healthy crop of weeds that are running wild in the parking in front of the building.

But, back to the meeting, the members listened to and watched a demonstration on how to preserve and prepare flowers for Potpourri.

Her Nylons Went To Her Head

THAT attractive head scarf above, used here to conceal lady's pin curls, is an ex-pair of nylon stockings that's been rescued from the scrap heap, according to the Tintex Home Economics Bureau. Home-dyeing and simple needlework did the trick.

Shown on dresser are other attractive items made from discarded nylons—lamp shade, doll's dress and sachets. Photo insets show dyeing process and finishing touch on lamp-shade. A preliminary step to re-dyeing is to take out old color with color remover, obtainable at all-fabric dye counters, the Tintex bureau says.

DES MOINES LEADERSHIP NEEDS PRODDING

A new committee planned by the Des Moines NAACP for the purpose of prodding standing committees to a more aggressive attack on the problems common to their assignment has been formed.

And while the organization steers clear of political action, the committee may well call upon Negro leaders in both the Democratic and Republican parties for more aggressive action.

During the last city election, a definite new alignment was placed in the city hall with labor commanding strong influence. The winners boasted considerable support among Negro voters. However, to date, absolutely nothing in the way of recognition has come as the result of that support.

In fact, nobody among the group has influence to get things done—even the appointment on some of the numerous boards and commissions. It so happens that the only Des Moines commission upon which a Negro holds membership is that of Human Rights and Job Discrimination, a ridiculous situation in comparison with other communities.

This same situation prevails at the state house. And to descend to the most ridiculous, Gov. Loveless does not have a Negro messenger as has been true with governors, both Republican and Democratic, for many, many years.

It is not that there should be any so-called Negro jobs and the governor has a perfect right to select his messenger, but in fairness to the Negroes of Iowa, he should give some Negro another job—certainly not reduce Negro representation at the state house for it is small enough at best.

Somewhat, there must be more political action and it is up to the leadership among Negroes to help get it done.

STOOPING LOW NOT UNUSUAL

Tuskegee Institute in Alabama has been a part of the town of Tuskegee. A large share of the business in the town comes from people connected with the school. And generally speaking, the races have gotten along peacefully. But the money in Tuskegee.

For some reason, a bill was passed recently restricting the area so as to exclude Tuskegee Institute from the corporate limits of the town of Tuskegee. And, of course, the good people at Tuskegee Institute will not be able to vote in municipal elections.

In retaliation, Tuskegee Institute's people are boycotting business houses in the town. This hurts, of course, and it is quite obvious that loss in business may produce a change in the situation eventually.

Southerners often say they have an unusual problem with Negroes which northerners don't understand implying that excessive illiteracy among them makes the job of developing good citizens difficult.

However, this argument falls flat here because the average intelligence among the people at Tuskegee Institute is far above those in the town.

But all this goes to show that there are those who are willing to go to any extreme to block the progress of Negroes.

In fact, new efforts to block the elimination of segregation—their way of life—have become so ridiculous and fantastic that no sane man can say other than no plan is to low to embrace.

USING OPPORTUNITIES WISELY

Athletics continue to set the pace for offering equal opportunity to all to compete. This can best be illustrated when Althea Gibson of New York won the Wimbledon Tennis Championship Saturday.

This is the first Negro woman to have attained this honor. More and more Negroes are getting a chance to compete and they are giving a good account of themselves.

After all, opportunity to compete and equal justice in picking a winner is the goal of minorities today. Athletics is doing an excellent job in its field. Others who are timid to try may well take a cue here.

NO NEW ARGUMENTS BY OPPONENTS OF CIVIL RIGHTS

Senate leadership piloted by Knowland of California, seems determined to get action on the pending civil rights bill.

Senator Russell of Georgia, leader of the southern forces is predicting all kinds of dire consequences should the bill pass. This of course, is nothing new for the opponents of civil rights have raised the same objections to any and every measure which has been advanced for the uplift of the Negro.

ferred to pray for him to heal his lameness. The only catch was that Bullock give him $21.40 which his Sunday School class had raised for him.

Tricky Knight

Bullock said Smith tore the corners off the $20 bill and mystically told him that he (Smith) would have to take a walk 20 yards east and 20 yards north, a move reminiscent of the tricky knight on a chess board.

Upon the return of Smith, Bullock was to be healed. According to Bullock he never returned, and though he can walk now he doesn't give Smith the credit for it.

Mrs. Scarlie Thornton 1020 Rosedale Ave., was the third victim. Smith claimed he would heal her sick son through prayer and asked her for 25c which he wrapped in a handkerchief and tossed around the room twice.

Then he told her to place all the money on the table and leave the room for an hour. When she returned $3.50 was gone.

The NAACP leader revealed that two participants in the convention had received threats during the sessions. The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Michigan who presented the Spingarn Medal to the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. on June 29, received a vile and abusive letter of his role in the convention.

C. R. Darden, President of the Mississippi State NAACP, received a call from his wife in Meridian, Miss., who informed him that angry whites had called her threatening her life and those of their young children because Mr. Darden was attending the convention.

Association's Role

Mr. Wilkins also reminded the audience that for many years the NAACP has been stimulating registration and voting in the South. He cited the Association's role in having the grandfather clause and the white primary invalidated by the United States Supreme Court.

The Association, he asserted, consistently has worked for the enlargement of the Negro vote throughout the region.

"We shall continue our efforts," he promised, "to the end that every eligible Negro citizen will be assured of his right to vote anywhere in this country."

Mr. Marshall said that following the Supreme Court's anti-segregation rulings of 1954 and 1955, the Association's legal department called in lawyers from all over the country to study the situation.

"It was the unanimous conclusion of this group of lawyers," he declared, "that there was not one reason under the sun for the NAACP to change its general over-all legal strategy insofar as the program is concerned, and we do not intend to change it."

Threats to Two at Convention are concerned with the matter of occupancy."

The housing resolution asked for a presidential directive "forbidding racial or religious segregation or discrimination in all housing using any kind of government assistance."

"Open Rebellion"

Assaying the progress of school desegregation in the South and the stubborn resistance in eight states, the delegates concluded "that there is no longer any reason to wait and vainly hope for voluntary compliance by these eight states. We must, therefore, plan ahead with the certainty that all freedom-loving Americans of all races should by now understand that we must defend our constitutional system against open rebellion by states which defy

HEALTH FOR ALL

ARE YOU POSITIVE?

Recently an island in the Pacific was relocated 4,000 feet to the north-west of its previous position. They didn't pick it up and move it. They simply discovered by modern methods of measurement that it had been incorrectly placed on the maps.

The change won't be very noticeable on even a large scale map. But 4,000 feet can make quite a difference when you're cruising around in the dark looking for an island.

Modern science has taken a lot of the guess work out of life. Take your health, for example. In grandmother's day, a doctor almost never saw an early case of tuberculosis. When patients came to him with symptoms of TB that he could diagnose with the limited knowledge and equipment he had, they were almost always in an advanced stage of the disease. With modern knowledge, with X-ray and laboratory equipment, the doctor can diagnose TB in its early stages before the patient is aware of any symptoms of disease.

Has Problem

But the doctor still has a problem. Too few of us take advantage of the scientific advances he can make available to preserve and protect our health. Have you ever said, "I couldn't have TB. I don't feel sick," or "I'm too old to have TB," or "Only poor people have TB?" Are you positive?

TB recognizes no limits on age, income, race, or sex. You can have it without obvious symptoms. But you don't have to wonder. You can find out for sure. A simple skin test will tell whether or not you've been infected with TB germs. A chest X-ray and laboratory tests will tell whether or not active disease has developed. It takes so little time to make sure. So why waste time wondering? It can mean the difference between an early case of TB which is most easily and quickly cured, or an advanced case and months, even years, under treatment. It could mean the difference between life and death.

River and Stream Fishing Returning After High Water

BY ALLEN ASHBY

It isn't news that Althea Gibson finally made it at Wimbledon. She had been up there before and had time to condition herself. We read a story in a paper to the effect that Miss Gibson was given the cold silent treatment at Wimbledon. It can be a severe test of one's moral and inner strength when he suddenly realized that everyone in the place wants him to lose. In some contact games, football, basketball, boxing, etc., it is possible to be so keyed up or so mad that the crowd doesn't effect you one way or another. But we have heard football players say that the crowd's animosity got them down. It is a thing one has to experience to understand. Some people never get over it, but apparently Althea did.

Now, there will be likely some mutterings that she ought to pass up the Negro nations. But she certainly can qualify for that meet. On the ened at the ATA if Althea were to stay out.

While we are observing tennis, here at home, Esther Myers stopped an upset by defeating the third seeded girl in the women's singles in the Hawkeye open. She lost in the semifinal to Janet Holmes. But let Mrs. Myers work on a central game and she will be awfully tough.

Archie Moore and Sugar Ray Robinson may greet each other next fall or a pair of ex-champs. But neither guy is counting on that and they might be around for at least one more go.

There has been a lot of talk about the fact that kids don't train now. But they have too much to distract them from the rigid program, we kids had set up for us. We used to run a mile or two just for the fun of it. Let someone try that. Then come other track event including about a twenty-mile walk. Oh yes, we were in shape.

the law of the land."

In recognition of the impact of automation upon the future of employment possibilities for Negro workers, the convention passed a resolution calling for the full utilization of the Negro potential test the country "be denied urgently needed manpower skills and the Negro be forced into an even more marginal position in the American economy even though economic opportunity increases for other groups within the community."

To this end, the delegates adopted a resolution "strongly urging that all forms of public support be withdrawn from discriminatory apprenticeship programs including the use of public school buildings and other facilities in programs which deny admission to Negroes." They also called "upon municipal and state fair employment practices commissions to help to end discriminatory restrictions in technical and industrial training programs."

Mrs. Smith was determined. "I am not going to have you going off swimming with the gang whenever you feel like it," she said. "Goodness knows what fool things you'll be doing, or where you'll be swimming. You can go when the family goes, or when your big brother can take you."

Whether her decision about her 12-year-old son was wise depends a good deal on her own son. Many boys his age do have good sense about water safety and adequate swimming skill, but some do not. If Mrs. Smith has a realistic conception of her own son's judgment and skill, she can decide whether he can be allowed to go with the gang, or whether older supervision is required when he swims.

Realistic Capabilities

As in many other activities, like bike riding in city traffic or learning to handle a gun, age alone is no gauge of the child's competence and readiness for swimming. Any decision about when to teach or permit such activities involves a calculated risk. Some of us may feel strongly that swimming and shooting are so dangerous that our children should be discouraged from learning them.

Other parents feel that they are such typical male activities that boys should be taught them very early. Either attitude may blind us to the realistic capabilities of our own children, one may be ready at one age while his brother should wait until his judgment or strength increases.

The calculated risk must consider that all of us occasionally do on impulse some thing that we would never do if we took time first to
