Negro Students Walk Alone Into Central High; Ark. Guardmen Take Command

Little Rock, Ark.—Despite Governor Orville Faubus' verbal hints and threats to close down Central High school, progress continues to climb smoothly and steadily in the Little Rock school-integration crises precipitated when the governor defied the "supreme law of the land".

Bulletin

Early Wednesday morning newspapers reported that President Eisenhower had rejected as inadequate, Governor Faubus' plan for an early withdrawal of federal troops from Little Rock, Ark., because "he (Faubus) had failed to live up to his part of the bargain."

Walk Alone

For the first time since the nine Negro students, six girls and three boys started at the historic high school, they walked in alone, Tuesday, Oct. 1, in several groups, and through different entrances. And for the second time in as many weeks the Arkansas National Guard took command, but this time—not to prevent the nine Negroes from entering but to aid them if any unpleasantness arose.

There was a brief flurry of excitement as some noise arose among about 75 white students at the main entrance. A detail of eight guardsmen, carrying rifles, dashed up to the entrance but the Negroes were already inside and there was no disturbance. The white students clapped their hands as the guardsmen turned about and returned to their posts on the sidewalk in front of the school. The flurry was caused, an Army spokesman said, when it appeared two white students were trying to block the way of the Negroes.

As the Negroes moved around the pair, one Negro girl accidentally dropped her books. By the time guardsmen arrived she had retrieved her books and entered the school.

Attendance

Attendance at the 2,000-pupil school continued to climb. School authorities reported 1,696 students were present Tuesday, Oct. 1 compared

ARRESTED ON NARCOTICS CHARGES

Virgil Lekin (right), deputy U. S. judge, acting as a U. S. commissioner, arraigned the men on individual charges of selling heroin. The six were seized in early-morning raids by city, county, state and federal officers. The two prisoners abreast of Lekin are Calvin C. Gilmore (left) 29, and Warren A. Swanson, 26. Both are from Des Moines. (Photo courtesy of Des Moines Tribune).

Called Largest in Iowa's History; $5,000 Seized; Hearing Set For Oct. 10

A pre-dawn meeting of city, county, state, and federal officers was climaxed by a series of lightning raids early last Friday morning, Sept. 27 on an alleged dope ring in which eight persons were arrested and two others taken into custody later.

The action was termed the largest narcotics raiding operation ever conducted in Iowa.

According to George Belk, district supervisor of the federal bureau of narcotics in Minneapolis, Minn., the arrests climaxed six weeks of intensive investigation in Des Moines under supervision of himself and J. E. Rabe, chief of the Iowa bureau of narcotics.

All eight were brought before Municipal Judge Ray Harrison, acting as a U. S. commissioner, on the specific charge of selling heroin, by U. S. Atty. Roy Stephenson. The charge, the first filed here under the new federal narcotics law, carries a minimum penalty of five years in prison and a maximum of 20 years upon conviction.

Plead Innocent

All eight persons arraigned pleaded innocent with preliminary hearing set a week from today, Oct. 10 at 10 a.m. Those arrested and the addresses they gave are: John Charles Bell, 25, of 908 Fourteenth place; Clark James Yeager, 32, of 1356 East Seventeenth Court; Calvin Gilmore, 29, of 813 School street; Warren A. Swanson, 26, 1112½ Center street; David (alias Kansas City) Jackson, Jr., 36, of 831 Sixteenth street; Felix (Big Frank) Parks, 34, of 810 Twenty-fifth street; Pauline Hudson, 31, of 1356 East Seventeenth street; and Elizabeth Chandler, 37, of 1143 Enos street.

The ninth person to be arrested in the dope case, Frank Crawford Brenklyn, 35, alias Little Frank, of 1222 School street, surrendered to federal officers Friday afternoon. The tenth person, Oliver Ford, 53, who gave his address as the G & W Central hotel, 762½ Ninth street was arrested late Friday by two Des Moines city detectives and was sent to Polk County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond to await preliminary hearing. Bonds of $10,000 were set for all but Bell, Gilmore and Miss Hudson, whose bail was set also at $5,000. Brenklyn and Ford pleaded innocent.

Prior to the arrests, 28 law enforcement officers assembled at 4:30 a.m. Friday at the Polk county jail on directions from Belk, Rabe, U. S. Marshal Roland A. Walter, Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth, and Police Chief Howard Eide. The 28 raiders converged on ten places starting at 6 a.m. Most of those accused as narcotics peddlers were arrested at their homes. Some were caught at their jobs. Officers seized $5,190 in cash carried by Parks.

Three autos also were seized—a 1957 Cadillac owned by Jackson, 1953 DeSoto owned by Yeager and 1949 Pontiac owned by Bell.

Free On Bond

Jackson had been on bond since being arrested in Chicago last July 17 with 1½ ounces of bulk heroin in his possession.

"Obviously, he has continued in business," said Belk.

Belk said it was felt the eight men arrested here made trips to Chicago to get supplies of bulk heroin "every ten days to two weeks."

"One ounce of bulk heroin can be

President Lauded For Little Rock Action

New York.—President Eisenhower's address to the country on the crisis in Little Rock and his ordering of federal troops into that city to prevent interference with federal court rulings were promptly and widely hailed throughout the country as indicated by report received here at the NAACP national office.

Immediately following the President's nationwide broadcast on Sept. 24, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, sent a telegram to the White House congratulating the President "upon steps taken to preserve law and order in Little Rock and the nation." Speaking personally and on behalf of the NAACP, Dr. Tobias expressed the belief that "law-abiding citizens of every race and creed in the South, as well as in the North, will applaud your heroic utterance."

Similar expressions in support of the President's firm stand to uphold law and order in Little Rock were sent to the White House by state and local NAACP leaders and others throughout the country.

Mrs. Jessie Walker Hit By Vehicle

Mrs. Jessie Walker, 65, of 1074 Eleventh street, suffered minor injuries Sunday, Sept. 29 when struck by a car at Sixth avenue and Locust street. She was treated at Broadlawn General hospital. The driver was identified as John M. Kime, 1160 Amos street. Police said Mrs. Walker had tried to cross Sixth avenue against a red light.

Grand Jury Returns "No Bill" Against Mrs. Steffani Watkins

A Polk County grand jury on Sept. 22 returned a "no bill" against Mrs. Steffani Crystal Mae Watkins, Watkins hotel, accused of the fatal shooting of her husband, Owen Watkins, 73, last April 26.

Such a finding means the grand jury has not found sufficient grounds to indict a person and the charges are dismissed.

Clarence Bogan Retires; 49 Years at State House

A half century is a lot of years to stay with one job but that's exactly what Clarence L. Bogan, 833 East 24th street did until he retired two days ago.

Coming to Des Moines from his birthplace, Salisbury, Mo., Mr. Bogan was first employed at the Wellington hotel and at building trades. On Dec. 7, 1907, he started working at the Statehouse, placed by Tim McCurdy, custodian, during the administration of the late Gov. Cummins.

He worked under Horace Lewis as extra fireman and was given regular employment as fireman and boiler room engineer in 1908 and so employed until Oct. 1, 1957 when he retired. At that time he was in charge of the International Harvester Building heating plant.

He was married to Mrs. Helen Roberts who died April 9 of this year and has only one relative in Des Moines, Miss Rosetta Saunders.

Mr. Bogan disclosed that after spending so many years at a job "because he liked the work and the job" expects to "spend considerable time resting and later continue some activity."

D. McQuerry Arrested For Peace Disturbance

Don McQuerry, 22, of 1526 Walker street, was arrested at Tenth and Center streets about 12:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 29 and charged with disturbing the peace and quiet and resisting arrest.

Detective James Allen said McQuerry was using loud and profane language and refused his order to accompany him to the police station. "I took hold of his arm and when he twisted around and tried to escape I hit him on the head with my pistol," Allen said.

McQuerry, former East High football star, was treated at Broadlawn General hospital for a scalp wound and returned to jail, officers said.

Designates Center of City For First Renewal Plan

An area set near the center of Des Moines has been designated by the city for its first application for federal aid in an urban renewal program.

The specific area which was publicly defined Friday, Sept. 27, by Frank C. Price, city development and housing administrator, contains about 280 acres. Consisting of about equal parts on the east and west sides of the Des Moines river, the proposed area is bounded on the Mo., and in the same year received the Journalism Alumni award which is voted to the outstanding student each year.

A resident of Des Moines since September, 1951, Mrs. Hawthorne is the wife of Peter Hawthorne, Jr., also a Lincoln graduate. They are the parents of three children.

New News Editor

MRS. HAWTHORNE

Taking over the news editor and reporting duties of the Bystander, beginning with this issue, is Mrs. Frances Hawthorne, 1223 10th st.

In 1951 she received her bachelor of science degree in journalism from Lincoln university, Jefferson City.

Explains Real Estate Tax Sale Deadline

According to Polk County Treasurer Vincent L. Browner, a number of taxpayers are under the mistaken impression their property will be listed automatically in the December sale if they failed to meet the Sept. 30 deadline for second half tax payments.

He explained properties are not listed for sale unless taxes and penalties are not paid by the first Monday in December. A penalty of three-fourths of one per cent a month will be added to the amount due.

Second-half personal property taxes were due Sept. 30.

north by University avenue, the south by Grand avenue, the east by East 7th and the west by sixth avenue.

An area so designated in the urban renewal program is considered generally blighted, and thus in need of clearance and redevelopment. That need not apply, however, to every individual property within the area.

Price said the program would not apply to the Veterans Memorial auditorium, Mercy hospital and some other properties within the area designated.

Federal Funds

The city must submit for redevelopment of the area a plan that the federal Urban Renewal Administration considers workable. If the plan is approved, the federal agency will advance funds to pay for a survey necessary in planning the redevelopment in detail.

If a resultant master plan is approved, the federal government provides funds to pay two-thirds of the net cost of acquiring properties within the designated area, clearing sites and selling them to private developers, possibly at reduced prices.

The city pays the other one-third of the net cost.

'Don't Fumble Ball' Trotter Tells Local NAACP; Mrs. Morris Makes Report

"The Negro is down to the five yard line now, but the other team is fighting hard. We mustn't fumble the ball," was the cautioning statement made by Arthur P. Trotter, president of the state council of branches of the N.A.A.C.P.

Speaking to the Des Moines branch of the N.A.A.C.P. Mr. Trotter was one of several speakers at Wilkie House, Sunday, September 29, who reported on the groups national convention last June in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. J. B. Morris, one of the delegates, said it was "a convention of no foolishness and very little small talk. There was no great displays of oratory. It was a serious, dedicated convention."

Mrs. Morris praised Mrs. L. C. Bates, head of the N.A.A.C.P. chapter in Little Rock, Ark. "She is standing alone and is one of the greats of our time," she said "She is an amazing woman."

Mrs. Clara Bayles, president of the Des Moines branch, said the convention was "unique in mustering great Negro leaders from all over the country from all walks of life."

Robert Wright, a Des Moines attorney and legal delegate to the convention, said Negro attorneys were

Maple Syrup's Super for Breakfast

THE SEASON'S HERE for heartier meals—and breakfast is one time to plan on having those pancake and waffle delights that all enjoy. Maple-blended syrup with plenty of butter is a favorite topping in every household, but sometimes—just for a change, or a special breakfast—we recommend a maple-blended nut-apple-currant sauce. Crisped in butter or margarine, the nuts add wonderful crunchiness to this delicious sauce.

APPLE-NUT-CURRANT SYRUP

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons chopped pecans
- 1 1/2 cups Log Cabin Syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup thinly sliced tart apples
- 1/2 cup currants

Melt butter in a saucepan. Add nuts and brown lightly, then remove nuts. Add maple-blended syrup, cinnamon, and salt to butter in saucepan. Add apples and currants; cover and simmer slowly about 10 minutes. Remove cover and simmer 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat and add nuts. Serve at once on pancakes or waffles. Makes about 2 cups.

Called Little Rock Too Slow At First

Little Rock, Ark.—(CNS)—All the ruckus in Little Rock involving Gov. Orval Faubus and his calling out of National Guard troops to "preserve the peace" glossed over the fact that the integration plans which Faubus thought too violent were mild to Negroes and just enough to the whites to prove they were trying to integrate.

Negroes were so disappointed in the plan when it was first set forth that they protested and sued in Federal Court to have it set aside. Federal Judge John E. Miller upheld the plan and ordered the School Board to go ahead and so did the Circuit Court of Appeals. That is why only 10 Negro children—outstanding in scholastic work—were chosen to integrate into Central High with a student body of 2,000 whites. This is the same plan the whites thought just right, the Negroes thought too slow and Governor Faubus thought would cause "violence".

What a glorious, uplifting feeling it is to look out upon another new day and realize that Almighty God, who made the shining sun to rise and stay true on its course, also is Our Father—merciful, loving each of us, His children, ever willing to forgive us our sins, to help and sustain us.

Vegetable Beef Pie

Truly a meal-in-a-dish is this hearty beef stew topped with a golden biscuit crust that invites you to cut on the dotted line.

Beef stew is always a specialty in restaurants that cater to men. Why not make it a specialty at home, adding a cover of flaky biscuit? Biscuit topping dresses up beef stew and also makes it more economical. Roll the biscuit dough out to fit the size of your casserole. Then, with lines of a fork, press squares, or other design, into biscuit dough before baking. The result is a professional look for your casserole dish at no extra cost!

Four people can eat heartily of Vegetable Beef Pie for as little as 30 cents a serving. It's a wonderful way to get essential food values, since enriched biscuit has protein, B-vitamins and food iron to add to those of meat.

Accompany Vegetable Beef Pie with a tossed green salad garnished with tomato wedges, and cold milk, and the main part of your meal is complete. For dessert, plan on fresh pears and Camembert cheese.

VEGETABLE BEEF PIE

Human Rights Commission Acquaints City of its Powers

During two weeks in September the Des Moines' new Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination busied itself educating the people of this city on what it is equipped to do.

Malcolm Higgins, 37, executive secretary of the Commission since July 1 said he has been "impressed" by Des Moines since his three months on the job here but stressed the fact that "much of the commission's work is educating the people about the services we can perform."

He emphasized that he had been "confering with community leaders and setting up displays explaining the commission's functions" in order to acquaint the people with knowledge about the organization.

The commission has powers to investigate complaints of job discrimination and try to persuade employers to hire members of minority groups.

If the employer refuses, the commission can hold public hearings on the complaint.

If the commission finds evidence of discrimination, it can order the employer to stop such practices.

If he still refuses, the findings of the hearing can be turned over to the city legal department for action.

City statutes provide for a maximum penalty of a fine of $100 or a jail term of 30 days as punishment for discriminatory hiring practices.

Reopening

Higgins, who came here from Topeka, Kans., where he had been executive secretary of the Kansas Anti-Discrimination commission since 1953, explained further that seemingly legitimate complaints against a company cannot be pursued unless complainants take part in a public hearing. If they fail to do so then the case is dropped and cannot be reopened until another formal complaint is made against the previously accused.

In addition he commented on the commission's jurisdiction in cases where firms lie outside the city limits.

"If we find any discrimination in these cases we can only try to persuade the employer, even though he and the complainants live in Des Moines," Higgins said.

Human Rights Display Before its Removal From Library

Malcolm Higgins (left), who has served three months as executive secretary of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination, and William Moss, 5626 Walnut Drive, looked over the commission display at the Des Moines Public Library before it was taken down late last week. The display, which had been up during two weeks in September, explained the commission's powers and duties. Booklets which contain the ordinances and other information are still available at the main library. (Photo Courtesy Des Moines Tribune).

Sugar Ray's Heart of Gold Hurt as Former Theater Friend-Manager Sues For His Money

New York City—(CNS)—Not one to brag about his great big heart, Sugar Ray Robinson's fans were just now catching up on the fact of all he had done for tennis champion Althea Gibson in her lean years when she was a nobody who thought Sugar was the biggest thing in life—and another lady, a fighter's widow smilingly praised Sugar's generosity only this week—but a blow to this kind-hearted guy's heart—and perhaps to his purse—is the news that Joe Glaser, top theatrical agent for many stars, is suing Sugar for his share of 10% of the Carmine Basilio fight. Glaser is quoted as saying Sugar tried to duck paying him, telling him he wasn't due it. But Glaser insists he is. In fact, he insists he loaned Sugar $120,000 which "saved Robinson from complete destruction."

Glaser acted as manager for Robinson first when he went on a tour dancing his way across stages of the country on "personal appearance" tours. Close friends, Glaser has always attended Sugar Ray's fights and he has been one of the first in

Sugar Ray's Answer

Sugar Ray's answer to paying off the $60,000 was: $15,000 down and $25,000 from the Basilio purse—the remaining $20,000 in installments to cover 3 years. Glaser called this "the silliest deal I ever heard... Why should I wait three years for money I took out of the bank?" The manager implied he doesn't want to sue but cannot understand Ray treating him this way. Glaser, incidentally, has made a fortune from such stars as Billie Holiday, Lionel Hampton and hundreds of small Negro acts.

made into about 400 capsules to sell to addicts," continued Belk. "These caps sell for $3 each."

Officers said sales in the Des Moines area ran into "tens of thousands of dollars" over a period of time. They added that "it was quite a big operation for this area" and felt that this particular alleged narcotics ring has been in operation some two or three years.

When the investigation started six weeks ago, special federal employees were sent to make heroin purchases from the distributors. According to Belk, they made "two to six purchases of heroin" from each of the narcotics distributors or peddlers. State and federal agents observed each transaction. Once sufficient evidence was on hand, the raids were planned. Warrants of the suspects were made out Thursday afternoon, Sept. 26 in Municipal court.

U.S. Attorney Stephenson said the investigation is continuing.

Backs Ike But Hints He Acted A Little Late

Boone, Ia.—Speaking before 50-year residents of Boone county, Sept. 26, U. S. Representative Merwin Coad (Dem., Boone) said he believes the president was right to send troops to maintain peace and uphold the law in Little Rock, Ark., "but I also believe a firmer stand sooner might have prevented such drastic measures."

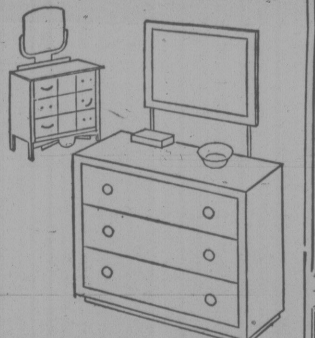

Previously Coad had told an REA meeting in Des Moines Sept. 24, that "full understanding is necessary, for it doesn't do any good to force something on a people that these people will not accept."

In his speech at Boone he commented that those remarks had been "grossly misconstrued," and that his statement at the REA meeting concerned "social acceptance, not integration."

"Integration can be forced upon people," the congressman said, "but you can't force a person to socially accept another person. Social acceptance has to be a matter of personal desire and understanding."

Freshen Old Furniture
MUCH old furniture still is useful, but its appearance is against it. Yet, it's too good to give away and not old enough to be considered antique. What can be done? A bit of ingenuity and effort will transform an old dresser into a thing of modern beauty, and at small cost. Note the "before and after" sketches of the same dresser. There's quite a change!

cessed wood base, instead of legs, does much to modernize the piece. Most likely, the top has been scarred. Easiest cure is the addition of a panel of Masonite Tempered Presdwood, 1/4" thick. This then may be primed and painted. Alternates might be black Presdwood, or Leatherwood, a textured hardboard. One of the gay plastic-surfaced hardboards would be suitable, too, as they are resistant to stains and cigarette burns. Various colors and patterns in Marlite are available.

Matching material, if needed, may be used to re-cover dingy-looking drawer fronts. Standard 1/4" Presdwood is excellent for replacing cracked drawer bottoms and dresser backs.

After his arrival in Des Moines the Rev. Mr. Williams was asked his views on the Little Rock crisis and he answered, "If the United States wins in Arkansas, maybe this battle won't have to be fought in other states. Mr. Faubus really got us off to a bad start. President Eisenhower has taken a courageous stand, the kind our presidents have always taken in a crisis."

Equally generous in his praise of Iowa he said that while he was traveling through Iowa enroute here he thought that "this surely is what Katherine Lee Bates had in mind when she wrote America the Beautiful."

'Grass Faraway Seems Greener to Grownups But Looks Pretty Green Everywhere to Children'

WRITTEN BY LLOYD LOVELL, SUI ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

We joke about the fact that we drive our family 150 miles to visit an attraction in another town, while the residents of that town ignore their spots of interest and drive 150 miles to see ours.

The grass does seem greener on the other side of the fence to us adults, but to the curious minds of our growing children the grass seems pretty green everywhere. Local activities and facilities that seem commonplace and too-familiar to us may appear entertaining and instructive to our children.

Visits to a local appliance or implement dealer or to a hospitable farmer can be fascinating to children. Many factories encourage visitors; much can be learned in a tour of their plants. Work crews building houses, extending telephone lines or repairing city sewers are not always too busy to explain their jobs to youngsters.

Tn Keys Add New Member

The Ten Keys met at the home of Leona Jordan. Joining the club was a new member, Eva Ropers. The next meeting will be with Elizabeth Kinchen, 1331 Park.

A trip to the city hall or to a fire station can teach much—not only about delightful equipment, but about the functions of the agencies that maintain our community. Every neighborhood has some resources that are taken for granted by us but that seem new and attractive to our children. Exploring them together can be an adventure.

Such trips need not always be an unrelieved chore for the parents who accompanies the child. We ourselves can learn much, of course, from such visits but more importantly, we can have a hand in helping to enlarge our children's comprehension of our world.

Perhaps the most pleasant and valuable reward from such excursions is the sharing of an enriching experience with our children. For a while, sometimes, we can borrow their fresh perspective that makes even the most familiar things seem real and exciting.

Initiates Campaign For Junior Members

New York—Initiation of a campaign for NAACP junior life memberships was announced here today by Miss Mariop Stewart, who is in charge of the Association's life membership campaign.

The NAACP junior life membership, a classification recently authorized by the organization's Board of Directors, is for children under 13 years of age. Its cost is $100, in contrast to that of $500 for a regular life membership in the Association.

A committee of distinguished citizens under the co-chairmanship of Kivie Kaplan of Boston and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays of Atlanta, promotes the solicitation of life memberships in the NAACP.

ARMSTRONG'S BLOW UP NEED NOT BE SERIOUS

Much has been written and said about Louis Armstrong's outburst against President Eisenhower and the statement "To hell with the government".

Recently, in one of its controversial decisions, the U. S. Supreme Court said you can't convict a person for what he thinks or what he says unless his words slander someone.

Prior to President Eisenhower's bold action in the Little Rock controversy, most people felt that he had not moved fast enough and when they saw the pictures in newspapers of the gallant high school pupils as they went through hell in order to exercise their rights, they felt more so.

These events made the blood of all decent people boil. Some people are more calm than others but the feelings of many were the same as those of Louis Armstrong.

More restrained people would not have struck so hard at President Eisenhower, nor said to hell with the government. The Bystander would not for it believes the office of the President commands more respect and that in spite of the defections in government, it does much more than any other similarity situated.

These flareups are bound to come but they must not be taken as the rule, rather they are the exception. And Louis will go on footing his trumpet—the thing he knows best how to do.

MAKING REQUESTS TO WORK SOURCE

Requests to President Eisenhower to remove the federal troops from Little Rock came from the southern Governors' Conference and individually from Senator Russell of Georgia, and Sparkman of Alabama. They see in the presence of these troops a determination upon the part of President Eisenhower that the country shall be run by law and order and not by mob violence.

It is rather interesting that none of those making these requests appealed to the people of Little Rock to observe the law or to Governor Faubus to uphold the law which he had agreed to do.

On October 1, the governor again promised to uphold the law and obey court orders but with strings tied to the promise.

After all, the troops would not be in Little Rock if the people observed the law. Their conduct brought the troops to scene of the disorder.

True, local law enforcement should be in the hands of local authorities, but when the law and order break down and allow mob rule to take over, then it's time for state and federal authorities to take over.

Several weeks ago Governor Faubus promised President Eisenhower that he would obey the law, that he would withdraw the national guard from Little Rock. But apparently his word means nothing. It's hard to deal with a person who does not keep his word and that is just why Governor Faubus has been a dangerous public official.

Nobody can predict what will happen when federal troops are withdrawn. However they should remain on the scene until there is definite assurance that laws and court orders are observed. And the best way to accomplish this is for those people who appealed to the President is to appeal to those who are at the root of the trouble.

Over the weekend Faubus has hinted repeatedly that he will close down Central High. Although he has not yet put his words to action, Faubus says he is thinking clearing about calling a special session of the legislature to close down the school.

MAKIE ROSS' DEPARTING A DISTINCT LOSS

There are individuals who fill important niches in a community. And the more such people the better the community—the better the institutions of a community.

Last week, Marie Ross, who for 18 years served as news editor for the Bystander, resigned and has returned to her home in Kansas City, Kansas. She certainly filled an important niche in Des Moines—in the Bystander's office.

Miss Ross was trained for and knew her work. She knew what the public wanted and how to get along with people. And as a result of these assets, not only did she do much to make the Bystander a better newspaper, but also her ability was recognized in her professional associations in journalism where she won state and national honors for good newspaper work.

Marie's shoes will not be easy to fill but her parting admonition to the many friends she made in Des Moines was "give my successor the same co-operation you gave me and the work will go on."

The Bystander can but say thanks for her untiring service to the people of Des Moines and best wishes in whatever work she decides to pursue.

Double Crown Winner

Hank Aaron

Most baseball fans are saying that whether or not the newly crowned Milwaukee Braves wrest the Series crown from the formidable Yankees depends in a sizeable degree on the continued performance of double crown winner, Henry (Hank) Aaron, Milwaukee's slugging centerfielder. Hank led both leagues in home runs with 44 and runs batted in with 132.

His last two home runs were blasted in heroic, dramatic style, one clinching the pennant in an extra inning game against St. Louis and the last a grand slam against the same team.

Jackie Robinson, former Dodger star, picks the Braves to win "if they don't get awed by the Yankees" and if Aaron can continue to hit like he has since he came out of his slump.

Integration

pared to the low point of 1,250 on the first day the troops arrived at the school, following the riot of the day before.

Maj. Edwin A. Walker, in charge of the troop operation in Little Rock, reported there had been no incidents inside the school for several days and added that the "education process is going on bigger and better all of the time." He declined to say whether the replacement of the army regulars was his decision or one from Washington.

The guardsmen took over the patrol posts previously held by crack regulars from the 101st airborne division, sent in by President Eisenhower a week ago last Monday, Sept. 24, to enforce integration after mob violence broke out at the school. Only ten guardsmen were stationed inside the school where at the peak of the crisis last week 24 regulars had policed the corridors.

Withdrawals

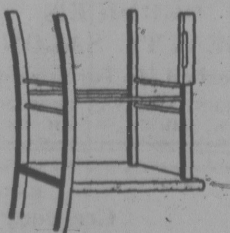

The withdrawal of the regulars was sudden and without preliminary announcement but not unexpected. Since the campus and surrounding areas have quieted down during the past week, the patrols of regular troops have gradually been relaxed.

The national guard was federalized by Mr. Eisenhower at the same time that he ordered the army regulars

How to Even Up Chair Legs

WHEN a chair is out of level, one method of evening the legs is to trim the legs which are too long. A simple method of performing this tricky operation is described in Family Handyman.

To assure getting each leg the identical length, slip the tube over each other one in turn, marking them to the same length. Now adjust the length of the tube to the shortest leg and mark all others for cutting.

HEALTH FOR ALL

CATAPLEXY

Did your father ever give you that old line: "This hurts me worse than it does you," as the introduction to a good, old fashioned spanking? It might have been true—but probably not if you got the spanking.

Parents have, on occasion, suffered a sudden paralysis of the arm raised to strike a child. The condition is known as cataplexy, a temporary weakness or paralysis of voluntary movement caused by emotion. The brain sends inhibiting messages to the muscles to prevent an action which consciously or unconsciously it wants to stop.

Parents aren't the only people who have been stopped in their tracks by cataplexy. There is the case of the boxer suddenly unable to land the knockout punch, the hunter with his finger frozen on the trigger, the fisherman unable to reel in his catch. Even in such a quiet game as chess, the winning player has found himself unable to move his piece for the final play.

In such cases, the psychologist will look for some hidden feeling of guilt, shame, or fear. The parent may feel guilty about his attitude toward the child he's about to strike. Cataplexy rarely happens when aggression is justified. Cataplexy rarely, if ever strikes the losing player in a game. It seems to happen to the winner because he feels guilty about beating a competitor even in sport. He may not like to lose, but winning makes him even more uncomfortable because he satisfies unconscious hostile feelings of which he is ashamed.

have someone who can have the time to teach him to handle himself. He would make fans forget a lot of the famous backs of recent years.

The Little Leaguers also go about their business of knocking heads each week-end. To date their biggest success is that they have had no injuries. This will refute what most of the opponents of the project are trying to hold against it. John Estes' team hasn't done badly. We think they are in second place. Our nephew Lucius Ashby, plays on the Rams, and he says it was about time they were beating someone. The kid's dad was one of the best backs in local history, and we wonder what he thinks as he sees his son's name in the lineup as tackle.

Baseball

Who are you for? All the experts say the Yankees will win the Series from five to six games. Remember you saw it first here. Milwaukee will get all keyed up and take the thing.

Ernie Johnson Stays With Demons Despite 300 Plus Average

Ernie Johnson's second successive 300-plus average for the Demons wasn't enough to keep Portland from canceling its option on the crowd-pleasing outfielder. The Pacific Coast league club has turned Ernie back to Des Moines.

Armstrong To Ike: 'Take Me Along, Daddy'

Davenport, Ia.—"If you decide to walk into school with the colored kids, take me along, daddy. God bless you," was the way Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong revoked his previous criticisms of President Eisenhower's handling of the Little Rock, Ark. crisis.

"Things are looking a lot better than they did before," he commented following the President's speech to the nation explaining why he sent federal troops to Little Rock. "It was just wonderful the way he explained it."

The man with the horn hinted he may play in Russia after all when he said, "I don't say I won't go. Our next trip is to Germany, France and Italy, and Russia isn't too far away."

He also cited reports of Southern efforts to obtain N.A.A.C.P. membership records and bring pressure on local members.

Syracuse's three-yard line. One more long stride and he was over. The extra point was needed. They got that with tackle Lyle Carlson's right-through-the-middle kick.

Final score Iowa State 7—Syracuse 7.

And thus Brian Dennis and Company foiled two-touchdown favorite Syracuse and gained for themselves a moral victory that should serve to prove to themselves and to others as well, that unconquerable spirit and determination are integral and significant factors in this game of football.
