Negro Minister Sues Illinois Central R. R. For $500,000 Damages

Chicago, Ill.—A Negro Minister Oct. 15, filed a $500,000 damage suit against the Illinois Central Railroad, contending he was segregated into an all-Negro car on a trip from Chicago to Memphis, Tenn.

The Rev. King S. Range, 55, pastor of the Range Memorial Baptist church, charged that on May 10 he was "humiliated, intimidated, menaced, insulted and forced to occupy 'Jim Crow' facilities" on the train, the City of New Orleans. The superior court suit said the alleged Illinois Central action was segregation and unconstitutional.

Negro Students Urged : Apply for Job Training

The local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was told Tuesday night at Wilkie House that not enough Negro students are applying for cooperative training at Des Moines Technical High School.

A. B. Musselman, co-ordinator of trade and industries at the school, said he doesn't know why this is so unless Negro students fear they won't be placed on jobs.

The co-operative placement program is open to seniors at the school. Students taking part in the program work on a job in trade or industry and receive school credit.

Musselman said only a small percentage of the co-operative program students are Negroes, and he added, "I've never had a Negro student refused for placement."

Virginia Segregation Act Unlawful; Supreme Court Refuses to Review Case

Washington, D. C.—In Virginia, a pupil placement law was voided Monday when the U. S. Supreme court refused to review a lower court's decision declaring the 1956 law unconstitutional and consequently brought the integration issue in that state to a showdown.

The decision, dealing with pupil placement law tests in Norfolk and Newport News, was given by U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk and was affirmed by the U. S. circuit court in Richmond. The supreme court refusal to review the lower court action lets it stand unchanged, and announced it in a brief order that gave no reason and maw no comment. School officials of both Norfolk and Newport News joined by the state's attorney, had appealed.

Massive Resistance

The pupil placement law has been the cornerstone of the state announced policy of "massive resistance" against integration, and permitted a state board to assign pupils to any school it chose. The understanding was that it would not send members of the two races to the same schools. Under the voided law all students changing schools or entering school for the first time were required to fill out elaborate applications.

The state board was then in a position to make student assignments on the basis of a broad range of social and economic factors giving it ample latitude to prevent Negroes from entering white schools.

Significance

The court's action was considered significant because Virginia has made a legalistic attempt to avoid integration, commencing with the legal device called "interposition."

The state now has two resources. One law of a series in 1956 permits the governor to close any school or classrooms where Negroes are admitted. Another automatically

The dinner, which is expected to attract more than 2,000 people, will honor Branch Rickey, Sr., formerly general manager of the Brooklyn profit organization it is not subject to the occupation tax.

Under the new ordinance, the Association is required to file the names of its members and contributors, its officers, agents and employees, as well as a financial statement indicating the source of all its income and a listing of all expenditures. Also required is an affidavit by the president of the branch setting forth the relation of the branch to the national organization.

Ark. NAACP: Nine Negro Students Do Not Get Paid

Little Rock—Leaders of the NAACP branch here today pondered what action to take in response to a demand by Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann for the list of members and other branch records in compliance with a recently enacted city ordinance requiring the filing of such information with the city clerk.

The measure, aimed at the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was also invoked by Mayor Mann against three pro-segregation groups in the city. The City Council passed the ordinance by a 7-0 vote on October 14. The following day the Mayor called upon the NAACP and the three racist organizations to submit the required information within 15 days.

MRS. BATES

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas State NAACP organization, announced on October 15 that lawyers for the Association "will study the ordinance and recommend what we should do."

The action by the Little Rock City Council was in response to a suggestion by State Attorney General Bruce Bennett that Arkansas municipalities enact such ordinances to supplement a state statute requiring the filing of membership and other records and payment of an occupation license for the privilege of doing business in Arkansas. Little Rock and North Little Rock promptly passed the restrictive ordinance. Arkansas thus became the first state in which such measures have been enacted by local governments although several southern states have passed similar statutes.

REFUSED IN PAST

In the past, the NAACP has refused to turn over membership lists lest they be used by hate groups to penalize members of the organization by firing them from jobs, foreclosing their mortgages, denying threatening and otherwise seeking to intimidate them. Moreover, the NAACP contends that as a non-

Near Record Vote In City Primary

In the largest municipal primary vote here Tuesday, under the council-manager government, two men and a woman who ran as a team and three other candidates were chosen to run for the three council seats in the Nov. 5 general election.

Winning were: Reinhold Carlson, 76, 303; Mrs. Florence T. Myers, 16, 138; W. P. Clarke, 14,228. Charles Iles 12,837; Newton L. Margulies, 5,889; and Jens Grothe, 5,401. These were all unofficial totals early Wednesday morning. Iles is the only candidate up for re-election.

NAACP in Little Rock Ponders City Council's Demand for All Records

Little Rock, Ark.—As the school integration deadlock moved into its fifth week at Little Rock, the Arkansas NAACP denied rumors that nine Negro students get pay for attending Central High School and rejected reports that the children's parents might take them out.

The statement issued by Clarence A. Laws, field secretary for the NAACP's southwest region, scoffed at a charge that the Negroes were "imported from the north." It said the allegation that the six Negro girls and three boys were receiving money for attending Central High is "pure propaganda."

Meanwhile half of the 1,100 paratroopers who were sent to Little Rock Sept. 24 to enforce a federal court order for the school's integration when back to their base at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

65 Reinstated

Late last week it was reported that all but eight of the 65 students suspended for walking out in a recent protest demonstration against integration have been reinstated.

A suit of a segregationist leader against the presence of federal troops in Little Rock has been dismissed by U. S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies of Fargo, N. D. Because of the dismissal order, dated Oct. 15, Judge Davies was threatened with impeachment by a Little Rock lawyer.

Keep It "Clean" This Hallowe'en

Soap comes into its traditional own on Hallowe'en, of course. But there's no reason why the youthful pranks can't be turned to mother's advantage.

When the children start their evening pranks, give each of them a supply of soap. Add an open invitation to write soapy messages—or draw soapy pictures—to their hearts' content on the windows.

With the dawn, all you need is a wet cloth to spread the "ghost writing" over the pane, then wash it away.

Here's To Halloween!

By BETTY BARCLAY

Halloween season is here again so why not honour the occasion by serving some of the timely treats which follow:

Ravioli Cheese Bake Makes An Ideal Meal

Here is a dish that is easily prepared because it takes advantage of a 15 1/2-ounce can of ravioli right off the pantry shelf.

This ravioli made from a renowned chef's recipe saves you time and work yet allows you to show off your culinary talent to best advantage. The ravioli—tender little macaroni pies filled with pure ground beef that have been simmered in a special sauce of juicy red tomatoes, beef and delicately spiced—are placed in the casserole. Then you pour a custard mixture over the ravioli and bake it for about 30 minutes.

Ravioli Cheese Bake

1 can (15 1/2 oz.) ravioli
2 cups milk or cream
1 cup grated store or cheddar cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion or chives
3 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese (optional)

Place ravioli in a greased 1 quart casserole or 4 individual casseroles. Heat milk slightly. Add grated cheddar cheese, stirring over a low flame until cheese melts. Blend in salt, paprika and chopped onions or chives. Beat eggs and blend well with the milk mixture. Pour cheese custard over the ravioli in the casserole. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired. Bake in a 350° F. oven for 30 minutes or until custard is firm. Serves 4.

Fondant Stuffed Fruits

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup KARO Syrup, Red Label

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
4 1/2 cups (1 pound) sifted confectioners' sugar
Dried dates, prunes, figs, apricots, for stuffing.

Blend butter or margarine, Light Corn Syrup, salt and vanilla extract in large mixing bowl. Add sifted confectioners' sugar all at once. Mix all together first with a spoon then with hands knead in dry ingredients. When mixture clings together and leaves bowl clean, turn onto board and continue kneading until mixture is well blended and smooth. Makes about 1 1/2 pounds candy. Flavor and shape may be varied to suit taste. Almond and vanilla goes well with many fruit flavors. Set aside and prepare fruits. Stuff or fill dried fruits with pieces of fondant. Roll in sugar if desired. Store in cool place.

Halloween Treats

1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1/2 cup water
1 cup orange juice
4 baked tart shells

Combine pudding mix, water, and fruit juice in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Pour into baked tart shells. Chill. Decorate with Halloween candies. Makes 4 servings.

Spirit's Treat

3 large oranges
2 cups milk (not canned)
1 pkg. Chocolate "Junket" Rennet Powder
Whipped cream

Candy corn
Cut oranges in half, squeeze juice and remove membrane from shell. Cut a strip about 1/4" wide around top of each half shell, leaving it attached for about 1/4" on opposite sides. Lift strips and tie together with ribbon to make handles.

Warm milk slowly to lukewarm, not hot (110° F.). Test a drop from spoon on inside of wrist, as you would test milk in baby's bottle. Then remove from heat at once. Empty package contents into milk—stir until dissolved, not over one minute. Pour at once while still liquid. Let set undisturbed 10 minutes until firm. Then chill. Garnish each basket with whipped cream and a few pieces of candy corn before serving.

Simple Table Decorations, Centerpieces To Help Make Food Look More Attractive

Iowa City, Iowa, — You can avoid the monotony of sitting down to meals that look the same day after day by planning a few simple table decorations, advises Margaret Keyes, home economist at the State University of Iowa.

Even though you work from 8 to 5 and have neither the time nor energy to set a "fancy" table, there are a number of simple things you can do to make food look more attractive.

Place Mats

"Substitute colorful place mats for tablecloths some of the time and add a bright centerpiece. It's easy to make a centerpiece that costs next to nothing and requires little effort.

Here are a few suggestions: Place a candle on a pretty saucer and swirl a napkin under the base, being sure the napkin is secured well away from the candle. Set some lemons in at bowl or on a napkin and arrange colorful autumn leaves among them.

Toothpicks, especially the colored ones, offer many decorative possibilities. Buy a dime's worth of clay, mold it in any way you want, and stick a number of colored toothpicks into it. You might add a few colored suckers or a tall straw in the middle. On the toothpicks you can place olives, mints, grapes or colored marshmallows.

Autumn Color

You can bring autumn color indoors to your table with arrangements of bittersweet, gourds, hedge apples, milkweed pods or colored ears of corn. One simple centerpiece planned by an SUI home economics student used an inch-deep layer of instant coffee topped by an artificial flower in a colorful candy jar.

Another suggestion calls for pastel napkins in an especially pretty glass or cup. Let the edges stick up at all angles. Arrange your "bouquet" by bending some of the edges back. Or use a small white gift box as a "horn of plenty." Scallop the edges, cut out an end or attach a handle. Fill it with fruit or colorful vegetables, marshmallows or mint patties.

These aren't decorative ideas suitable for formal entertaining, but little touches that can brighten a family table at any time, Miss Keyes suggests.

Halloween's Fun Today But Used to Be Time of Fear, Sadness, Superstitions

From the News Desk

Do you know that jack-o-lanterns were first carved out of turnips? That today's customs of "trick or treat" originates from an old English custom of "begging cakes"?

Most important do you know that Halloween originated thousands of years ago when the Celts believed in the power of darkness and witches? Then, November 1 which was the beginning of the new year, The Celts did not understand about winters having shorter days and feared the god of darkness was angry with them.

Witches, Ghosts

To appease him, a feast was held in honor of lord of death and ghosts arose from graves and warmed their bones by firesides; witches mounted broomsticks (besoms)—and whisked through the air with black cats perched behind them.

The beginning of a new day dawned when the Romans invaded England in 55 B.C. The conquerors brought their custom of worshipping Pomona, goddess of harvest. Our present day fun of bobbing apples Medical Society and Epsilon Boule. From 1947 to 1949 he studied at the Montreal Neurological Institute, and at the time of his death he was serving as a consultant at the National Institutes of Health.

Soul Cakes

In England where the living gave much thought to the dead, a curious custom grew up. People went from house to house shouting, "a penny or a soul cake". Housewives gave them little pastries called soul cakes and in exchange they prayed for the souls of the dead. Hence comes today's "trick or treat."

The Irish, who first had the custom of jack-o-lanterns, carved grinning faces on hollowed turnips until their coming to America in 1840 where they were introduced to the pumpkin. In Ireland, land of legends, Jack-o-Lantern was a legendary stingy man who could not enter heaven or hell. He was condemned to roam the earth with his lighted lantern until Judgement day.

Of course, we know that ghosts, witches and jack-o-lanterns are non-existent and always were, but it's real good to live in times when Halloween is fun. Trick or treat!!!!

How to Adopt a Child Through ICHS--Private Agency Gets 'Right Child, Right Parents'

BY MRS. FRANCES HAWTHORNE

(This is the second in a series of three articles about the Iowa Children's Home Society, a private child-caring, child-placing agency.)

Adoption is a long established procedure for providing a new set of parents for children who have been permanently separated from their natural parents.

For 69 years the Iowa Children's Home Society, a private child-caring, child-placing agency, has combined wisdom and skill in providing care for children in Iowa from infancy to 16 years—excluding no race, no sect and no creed. Its primary concern is with the child. But they have found it particularly difficult in placing Negro children—because of the lack of Negro adoptive parents in the state and foster homes in the community.

Adoption Rules

As with all organizations ICHS has its adoption regulations—specific and general. But ICHS has its regulations to fit the needs of the child and the prospective adoptive parents. With whites there is an average of 10 adoptive parents for every child; but with Negroes there is one parent for every six children.

Specific but flexible rules of ICHS are:

"Prospective parents," she added, "no matter how adjusted they are to each other—must adjust to and accept as their own a child not born to them. They must always live with that fact."

Procedures

Adoption procedures at ICHS starts with a group meeting of interested couples at state headquarters, 2203 Grand Avenue, Des Moines. This is the orientation period in which adoption procedures and other general matters are discussed. The couples are given an inquiry blank and if they return it filled out, they are asked to past a registration fee of $.55. Steps are then taken through a series of interviews to determine if the parents are suitable and if so, plans are made to place the right child with them.

Flu-Absent Total Declines in Secondary Schools; Up in Grades

As the current flu outbreak hit its peak in Des Moines, absenteeism declined in the secondary schools but climbed steadily in the elementary grades, it was reported early yesterday.

According to Dr. Lester D. Powell, director of health services for the public school system, "absenteeism is creeping up to the 30 percent level in the elementary schools."

Presently, hardest hit of the junior and senior high schools is Amos Hatt Junior High with 550 of its enrollment of 1,032 absent Tuesday.

Dr. Ralph Heeren, director of the

If the adoption is approved an installment of one-fourth of the total adoption fee is paid; then six months later one-fourth again and at the end of the state required one-year waiting period, the remaining half of the fee. Usually couples with an income of $3,000 accept a fee of $100; $3,000 to $4,000, $150 and over $9,000, $450.

Periodic Visits

After the child is placed with adoptive parents, periodic visits, three or more a year, are made to the new parents home to help them in their new role of creating their very own family.

However, two rules are rigidly adhered to. A child is never placed with adoptive parents living in the same county as the natural parent; and the natural mother is never told the names of adoptive parents.

"Right Child"

Children placed with ICHS for adoption are children who have suffered permanent loss of natural parents through death, divorce, unwed mothers seeking to mold new futures, and court orders. According to supervisors at ICHS no Negro children have come to them through the latter channel.

ICHS works daily to meet the needs of children placed in their care. Their chief concern is to bring together "the right child and the right parent"—wedding new happiness and security for both sides.

Philadelphia Penna.—A far-sighted plan to greatly simplify operations in the 4,500,000-member National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., has been started here by top convention leaders. Board chairmen and secretaries of the convention from all sections of the country met with President J. H. Jackson for the specific business of unifying services of the board, and of improving procedure at annual NBC national sessions.

A separate—but no less important—project outlined at the meeting—would register at least 10,000 new churches by convention time next September in Chicago. This move would represent a hitherto unprecedented campaign, aimed directly at bringing these unaffiliated churches into the great NBC family.

Presided over by President Jackson, the historic meeting here gave top priority to that part of the plan which calls for establishing in Philadelphia all major board offices of Education, Beneft, and Home Mission Boards—as a means of developing a unified budget for them.

Other Leaders

NBC leaders attending the meeting in addition to Dr. Jackson were Dr. Maynard P. Turner, Jr., president of American Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. Primrose Funches, A.B.T. Seminary director of promotions, D. W. Haggard, Foreign Mission Board Chairman, T. J. Jenkins, NBC Secretary, L. G. Carr, M. C. Cleveland, W. H. Brewster, M.

Fire safety regulations for nursing homes and custodial homes were prepared by the state fire marshal's office under a separate law. The fire regulations already are in effect.

Food Standards

Patients needing nursing care will not be allowed in so-called custodial homes, said F. W. Pickworth, director of the health department's hospital services division. A separate set of regulations for custodial homes, where personal services but no nursing care are provided, are being prepared, he said.

Draw Up More Strict Home Nursing Laws Aimed at Higher Standards of Care

New—and more strict—nursing home regulations were completed Oct. 15 by the state health department. Aiming at higher standards of care for Iowa's aged and infirm, the regulations must be approved by the attorney general's office before they become effective.

New Rules

The new rules set minimum standards or skilled nursing care. They provide:

That each patient must be under the medical supervision of a licensed physician of the patient's choice.

That each patient must be visited by his physician at least once every three months and complete medical records must be kept for each patient.

That nursing service in all nursing homes be under supervision of a qualified nurse, with nurses hired according to the number of patients and their needs for nursing care.

That at least one person capable of giving nursing service be up and dressed during the night.

That all medications and treatments be administered by a nurse or qualified person.

That no medications, including prescriptions, be given to a patient without a written order from the attending physician.

The regulations spell out a number of requirements for patient care and privileges, including "reasonable" visiting hours and the right to leave the home for walks, to attend church or other outside activities if the patient is able. Included in the regulations are rules for sanitation, medical records, handling of narcotics, building requirements and supplies.

Personal Touch
By MARIE ROSS

Someone remarked this week—while scores of persons were going down with seiges of the flu and the annual change-of-the weather colds—that "Grandma" had in her cupboard—some remedy for all of the ailments that came along.

One person who can vouch for that statement is Mrs. Alice Bell, 915 Fifteenth Street, who will celebrate her eighty-third birthday on Halloween Eve.

"Don't worry about the flu," Mrs. Bell has told friends many times. She said she had a cure for the flu when it hit many Iowans during World War I, when she was living in Gold mining camps.

Her remedy, she said put many of the 1918 victims back on their feet—and it is very simple—an egg beat up with sugar and drops of turpentine added. Drop her a line if you want her recipe.

If you would rather drink a tea—there is a plant called Burdock or Cockle Burr that persons around town have used for colds and flu. The tea is made from the root, leaves or cocklebur, and, taken cold each morning and night.

So much for Grandma's Cold remedies from her cupboard. If you have some good ones that you would like to pass along, then send them to the Column.

Ran into Mr. Ellsworth Blackwell of Chicago, Ill., who returned to the States recently from Haiti where he spent a year setting up the St. Marc Baha'i Community there.

He spoke Saturday night at a founder's dinner given by the Greater Kansas City Area and St. Joseph Baha'is; and, will speak Saturday, at a special dinner in Waterloo, Ia. A graduate of the University of Iowa, Mr. Ellsworth has many friends in Des Moines.

Another person spoke up—"My grandmother used a flaxseed and honey syrup for flu and colds. She made a flaxseed tea and let it stand for 24 hours, then added to it one juice of four lemons, a pint of honey, about 2 ounces of glycerine—and after the substance had boiled to a syrup, she added about enough alum so that the point of a knife would pick it up. She said "Grandma took a dose of it whenever she felt she needed it."

Another woman suggested—"Go home and put a teaspoon of baking soda in a cup of warm water and drink it."

A clipping in a newspaper accredited Grandma with rubbing her soles of her feet each morning with pumistone—"to be free of colds forever."

A woman in Kansas, who came through the 1918 seige of the flu—and brought her large family through the episode, said this, "Each morning before breakfast—and every night before retiring, eat a red (hot) onion."

It was a surprise Saturday evening to run into Cliff and Clara Bayles who were with Judge and Mrs. Carl R. Johnson, on their way to attend the football classic between Langston and Lincoln Universities.

Bounty For The Bride

HAPPY THE BRIDE THE SUN SHINES ON—and to improve an old adage—happier still the bride who brings sunshine into her first and all-important attempts at meal planning.

Sugar Information, Inc. has developed a delicious Sunburst Cake recipe that's simple to make and as tasty as anything one could ask for. Although June has always been associated with weddings, it's also the time we celebrate National Dairy Month. So, in honor of the occasion we've topped this cake with ice cream.

Ideal to serve at showers and parties as well as after a light summer snack, the Sunburst Cake, topped with a generous scoop of his favorite ice cream, is sure to make as big a hit with the man in your life on his fifth anniversary as it will the first time it is served to him.

Teach Child Responsibility by Having Him Experience Consequences of Irresponsibility

Mrs. Jones was talking at a parent education meeting. "I just don't know what to do about Jack," she said. "He's 14 years old, and he acts like a 7-year-old about responsibility. He's always starting some new project that would take a lot of work, and then never finishing it. This summer he wanted to grow home hogs for a 4-H project, but after two weeks he gave up. Last summer it was a garden. He always has a band rehearsal, or a game to go to, or something else that interferes with working on his project."

Opportunist

Another lady commented that the projects certainly did not seem too big or complicated for a 14-year-old, and then someone asked what had become of the garden and the pigs. "Oh, his father finished the projects," Mrs. Jones replied.

Then she exclaimed, "Why! When Jack was eight we gave him a puppy, on condition that he take care of the dog. He did, too, for a long while. Then, he got less and less reliable about the dog as he got interested in other things and his dad just took over. That's happened every time!"

It may be that Jack is not really irresponsible, but a shrewd opportunist. He has evidently learned that the projects he begins will be finished, as were the dog care, and the garden and hog project. He may be exploiting his father.

Lose Privileges

One of the ways of teaching children the meaning of responsibility is to have them experience the consequences of irresponsibility. When parents and children have agreed on areas of responsibility for the children, then children can be helped to see what happens when the responsibility is neglected.

Younger children might be required to complete the chore or lose a privilege. Older children might be confronted with having to deal with the results of their irresponsibility. For example, Jack's father and mother might have insisted that he make some disposition of the problem of the pigs—he might sell them, or pay someone else to tend them, or in some other way deal with the care he had failed to provide.

Nobody... But Nobody... Should Skip Breakfast

YOUNG AND OLD, EVERYBODY NEEDS A GOOD BREAKFAST each day. And the nice thing about breakfast is that one menu does for the whole family. Especially when you base the morning meal on this Quick 'K' breakfast pattern of fruit, or fruit juice, crisp ready-to-eat cereal served with milk or cream, bread, butter and a beverage. It's hearty enough for the man in the house and yet has lots of appeal for children's fickle appetites.

If you have a problem getting your children to eat in the morning, try decorating the table with colorful, attractive dishes. Choose a cereal, such as Kellogg's Raisin Bran Flakes with plenty of plump sweet-tasting raisins included in every package. Or, perhaps one of the presweetened cereals, such as Sugar Frosted Flakes, is more popular in your house. Round out the menu with orange slices, or other fruit in season, bread, butter and milk. And feel sure that your children are getting the energy and nutrients they need to romp and play these sunny summer days. (ANS)

ANOTHER BLOW TO SEGREGATIONISTS

Thank God for the United States Supreme Court. Consistent? Absolutely, for like other diehards who think they can concoct nefarious schemes to circumvent the school decision of 1954, the state of Virginia, called the cradle of the South, is the latest to be told that the laws passed by their legislature aimed to nullify the Supreme Court decision, are unconstitutional.

Over the years, legislatures in most southern states enacted laws which deny Negroes their rights and the equal protection of the law. Some were held invalid; some passed the muster of the United States Supreme Court notably, Plessy vs. Ferguson, which gave sanction to the doctrine of "separate but equal facilities did not violate the United States constitution."

But times have changed. Men have changed. The dignity of man has meaning whatever race or nationality is being considered. There is more to the doctrine "all men are created equal"; all are entitled to the equal protection of the law.

The Supreme Court has always been considered the bulwark of democracy. Certainly it proves the case everyday, now. May its members and their successors hue close to the line of cases it has decided.

UNITED NATIONS WEEK OBSERVANCE

America is in the midst of the observance of United Nations week. Unfortunately, too few people know much about the organization. And those who don't make little effort to find out either by reading or attending lectures and meetings on the subject.

Organized in 1945, membership has grown to 52 nations. And although member nations may disagree with each other over all kinds of problems, the very fact that they are talking over rather than shooting about their problems means there is peace however shaky.

Of course it has not been easy to reconcile differences between races, nationalities, government, ideals and principles when some have been suspicious of the other for centuries. At times progress seems slow, but there is the ever present drive for a better understanding, more cooperation which help to make an organization maintain peace. It deserves support for its valuable program.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AS EDITOR

This week closes the 35th year of J. B. Morris as Editor of the By-stander. They have been interesting years to say the least. And while all the things hoped for have not been accomplished changes with which I have had a part have developed far beyond expectations.

As I have gone about through the years, I have found many fine people both on the side of subscribers and advertisers and those with whom the operation of the business has been carried on.

One safe conclusion I have found: you win friends in proportion that you merit them.

Undoubtedly, another thirty-five years will produce better and more satisfying results. However, the past thirty-five have been interesting.

National Education Week: Nov. 10-16

A cordial invitation is extended to all the citizens of Des Moines to visit the Des Moines Public Schools during American Education Week, November 10-16. The general theme of this year's observance is "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward."

National sponsors of American Education week are the National Education Association, American Legion, U. S. Office of Education; and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Co-Chairmen of local committee are Merle Wilson, Director of Elementary education and Howard Traxler, assistant director, department of Public adjustment.

News In A Nutshell

Albany, Ga. — A heavily-armed Florida deputy sheriff Saturday persuaded an angry group of white men to disperse from the Albany jail where a Negro youth was held in a white farmer's slaying. The Negro youth, L. T. McLenon, 16, is held in the Friday slaying of Melvin Jowers, 44, a Havana farmer.

Machen-Jackson in 12-Round TV Bout

San Francisco, Cal.—Seeking his way into a heavyweight title bout, unbeaten Eddie Machen will take on former challenger Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, Nov. 13 in a nationally televised 12-rounder from the Cow Palace in San Francisco, Cal.

It will be Jackson's first fight since being defeated by Champion Floyd Patterson in the tenth round of a title clash July 29. The twenty-five year old Machen has won twenty-three straight fights since turning pro in 1955. His handlers are hoping that an outstanding showing against Jackson would force a title bout.

Larry Doby To Attend NAACP Benefit Dinner

New York—Larry Doby, star outfielder of the Chicago White Sox baseball team, will be among the celebrities attending the NAACP Freedom Fund dinner here on November 22, Jackie Robinson, chairman of the Association's 1957 Freedom Fund drive and head of the dinner committee, announced.

Mr. Doby is the first of the nation's outstanding athletes to purchase tickets for the $100-a-couple dinner, although several others have indicated that they will get their tickets and be present. Among leaders in the entertainment world who have arranged to attend the dinner are Nat (King) Cole, Oscar Hammerstein II, Miss Jinx Falkenberg, Sammy Davis, and Steve Allen who will serve as master of ceremonies.

Record 58,147 Homecoming Throng Watch Iowa Hawkeyes Pass Wisconsin Test, 21-7

Iowa City, Iowa—The University of Iowa Hawkeyes were being tested by a rugged, capable Wisconsin eleven. Thrillingly and with honors, they passed that test with a 21-7 margin before a jubilant Homecoming throng of 58,147, the largest crowd ever to see a game in this state.

Iowa has won four straight games and is the only Big Ten team with a perfect record, (4-0). The Hawkeyes are tied with Ohio State for the conference lead at 2-0.

Why Hawkeyes Won

The Hawkeyes' deserved victory does not subtract from the capability of a tough Wisconsin team but rather it is attributed to their readiness for the tasks, playing of alert heads-up football, (like intercepting four Badger passes and recovering two fumbles) outstanding plays (inside runs, outside runs and good passing) and outstanding performances by key players, among them stellar right halfback Mike Hagler's touchdown run that gave Iowa a first-quarter 7-0 lead which put Wisconsin behind in a game for the first time this season. This could have had a mild psychological effect on the Badgers. Mike also was the game's leading ground gain-

Officially Selects Renewal Project

Urban renewal project No. 1 was formally recommended last Thursday, Oct. 17 by unanimous vote of the Des Moines Urban Renewal committee. The city council was asked to approve its recommendation and file an official application for planning funds with the federal urban renewal agency of the Housing and Home Finance Administration.

Boundary Told

The area is bounded by University Avenue on the north; Grand Avenue on the south; East Seventh Street and Pennsylvania Avenue on the east and on the west by Sixth Avenue, Fourth and Third Streets and Second Avenue.

The area must have approval of the plan and zoning commission as well as the council. It is expected this approval will be sought before the council takes final action on the application for planning funds.

Find Housing

One of the major problems facing the city will be to find housing for families displaced. Part of that problem may arise when the state starts acquiring right-of-way for the Interstate freeway which will cut through the area.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"An automobile can not run without gasoline in its fuel tank." Polk County Public Health Nurses are of the opinion that the active teenager or school child cannot lead a typical life at that age without fueling up at least three times a day.

"The most important fueling period is the first one in the morning," said Dr. James F. Speers, Director of the combined city and county health departments. "It's very sad, but this is the one most neglected."

Eat on Run

"I don't have time for breakfast, I just have to run." "The bus is coming, good-by mom." These are comments that may be heard during the morning hours. Time seems to be the important factor in not stopping up.

Student would do well to map out a schedule for school preparation that includes time for breakfast and not take that energy meal on the run.

Some teenagers become figure conscious. They think that skipping a meal will improve the figure. This thinking is faulty, a trim figure depends on having proper amounts of food intake of proper kind of food at regular intervals during the day.

Parents Fail

Your Public Health Nurses believe that teenagers are not always at fault. Many parents fail, to set the example. "How about setting up a meal training plan for the family?"

"Don't be a breakfast skipper or a skimpier," emphasized Dr. J. F. Speers. "This fueling period is the key to vitality, good looks and popularity."

HOW TO CATCH A COLD

Do you want to catch a cold or have the flu? This may be a silly question. Your Polk County Public Health Nurses, Ellen Reid, Marion Balantyne and Carolyn Johnson agree that a lot of people act as if they insist on getting sick. "It's very simple," say the nurses, "Merely do the thing you should not do. These are the rules."

1. Leave a warm interior without protection, let yourself be suddenly invigorated by the cooling blasts of fall and winter.

2. When it rains, don't wear raincoat, rubbers or protective clothing. Make sure that your feet become thoroughly drenched.

3. When the weather is nippy be sure not to wear enough clothes. Get your hot blood chilled. This helps.

4. Get all tired out from lack of rest. Just remember that you are tough and not a sissy.

5. If you feel a little sick, don't pay attention to the small detail of protection. When Mr. Cold or Flu Virus slaps you on one cheek, turn to him the other.

6. Finally and most important. Find a person who is sneezing and coughing. Get close to him. Breathe deeply. Inhale amply and well.

"Follow these very simple rules," said Dr. James F. Speers, Director of the Health Department, "and you will succeed in catching a cold or flu. If you are silly enough, to do the thing you should not do, you can be assured of uncomfortable days and nights of leisurely regret."

Persons in various sections of the nation have been asked to serve on the sponsoring committee, some of whom include Dr. Algernon D. Black, Mrs. Marguerite Belafonte, Mrs. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Benjamin A. Cohen, Nat "King" Cole, Sammy Davis, Jr., Jinx Falkenberg, the Rev. John LaFarge, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, John T. Patterson, Jr., Dr. C. B. Powell, the Rev. James H. Robinson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Hon. Meier Steinbrink and the Hon. Stuyvesant Wainwright.

$100,000 Goal

Each member of the committee, said Robinson, has been asked to raise $1,000 through the sale of tickets to the dinner. The Association hopes to raise $100,000 for the NAACP national budget. It is also hoped that the dinner will stimulate participation and interest in life memberships in the NAACP.

The Polar Bears just got chilled. They are really a better team than that so don't give too many points on East against North. East just rally along maybe someone else will stop 'em . . . but we don't know who.

The little footballers are having a heck of a time with the flu. But the little fellows keep on trying and we will expect to see a full schedule next week.

Oh, yes! The Hilltop Tennis Club started its series of winter tennis sessions last week. Believe it or not after football season we shall be there.

In The Still of The Night

In the still of the night,
 When the big cats prowled;
 The screech owl screams
 and the coyotes howl.
 The rats sneak around and the snakes all crawl, then the bob-cat feeds . . .
 and the lambs all bawl.
 When the pale moon shines,
 like a slab of chalk;

then the devil hunts,
 and the ghosts all walk.
 All the timid souls,
 who will die of fright;
 get their final scare,
 in the still of the night.
 There's a weird appeal,
 when that white moon gleams;
 and an eerie thrill . . .
 if a night-bird screams . . .
 In the still of the night,
 in the quiet hours, . . .

filthy creatures stalk;
 all the demons walk . . .
 and it's dark on high;
 let's us guard our own,
 danger prowls near by . . .
 Now the vandals creep,
 and they spread their blight;
 all the craven crawl,
 in the STILL OF THE NIGHT!
