K.C. Restaurant Serves Africans But Not Negroes

Tells Couple: Our Policy Is Not to Serve You Folks

Kansas City, Mo.—A Kansas City restaurant broke its "no Negroes served" policy Saturday, Nov. 16, when it served a party of three Nigerians dressed in native garb and three American Negroes but last Friday refused service to two American Negroes who went there alone without friends from Africa.

Slight Curiosity

A brief conference between the manager and a waitress followed the seating of the party of six, but when the waitress emerged she began to take orders and served the group without further delay. Other customers were reported to take no particular attention of the dark-skinned group. The native costumes of the Nigerians attracted only the slightest curiosity from a few.

Negro Couple

However, when the Negro couple went alone to the restaurant five days later they were told that "our policy is not to serve you folks."

According to a local newspaper, the restaurant is one of the Howard Johnson chain, the same chain, whose Dover, Del., restaurant refused to serve the finance minister from Ghana a glass of orange juice, thereby creating an international incident.

No Answer

Subsequently, Howard Johnson, owner of the eastern chain, made a public statement this his restaurant did not discriminate against anyone because of race or creed. Frank Graves, assistant manager of the local store, said that Howard Johnson does not own the Kansas City store and does not control its policy.

Carl Johnson, president of the local NAACP branch, has written a letter to Howard Johnson asking for a clarification of policy but to date has received no answer. The Nigerians were in the city five days as a part of a nation-wide tour under the sponsorship of the U. S. Department of State.

Cleveland NAACP Drive Nets 11,000 New Members

The drive opened on Sept. 15 with a public meeting at which Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, was the featured speaker. It closed with a series of "clean-up" meetings in November, Dr. Levy said.

He noted that the exact figures of campaign results are 11,200 members and 45,700 in funds.

Mississippi Boy Returns Home After D.C. Visit

Washington, D. C.—Two days later after it was reported that three white men had been picked up for questioning, unofficial reports reached Washington that Jesse Harvey Bradford, reported missing from his Pontotoc, Miss., home since Oct. 31, has returned home after visiting his aunt.

Word has circulated that the 16-year-old youth had been seized by white men and had not been heard from since. He was officially reported missing Nov. 4, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation was allegedly working with local and state officials trying to track him down.

Soon after, another report circulated that the boy had returned to his home unharmed. The U. S. Department of Justice would not verify this report as they had received no immediate confirmation.

Identity of One Remains Secret; $50,000 Bond Set For Parks; Two 'No Bills'

A federal grand jury returned 'no bills' against two and indictments against eight persons of an alleged dope ring smashed here by a Sept. 27 mass raid by federal, state, county and city officials and one other person whose name remains a secret. All defendants appeared in district court before Federal Judge Edwin Hecklin and pleaded innocent excepting the fifth defendant who according to officials is not in custody and has not heretofore been publicly connected with the dope ring.

"No Bills"

"No bills" were returned by the grand jury against two persons arrested in the raids—Pauline Judson, 31, of 1356 East Seventeenth street, and John Charles Bell, 25, of 908 Fourteenth street. "No bills" means the grand jury found there was insufficient evidence against the two to hold them for trial.

Indictment

Charged in one indictment with conspiracy to violate narcotics laws are Felix (Big Frank) Parks, 34, of 810 Twenty-fifth street, and Elizabeth Della Chandler, 27, of 1143 Enos avenue and Warren Albert Swanson, 26, of 1112½ Center street. Each of them is charged in the same indictment with three illegal sales of heroin during 1957 prior to their arrests.

Selling Again

Parks and Miss Chandler were charged by the indictment with starting to sell heroin again following their release on bond. Parks whose bond was set at $10,000 is Greensboro, N. C.—The city council here voted to sell their two public swimming pools rather than permit their being racially integrated. The action grew out of an effort by a Negro woman to gain admission to Lindley pool last summer.

Longview, Tex.—Four Longview NAACP leaders were released on bonds of $200 each last week after pleading not guilty to charges of failure to comply with new municipal law requiring registration of their organization's membership.

Columbus, Miss.—Funeral rites in the chapel of a local church for a 400-pound Negro woman had to be transferred to the vestibule, after attendants found that the coffin of the deceased was too wide to pass through the church door.

New Medical Research Center at Iowa University

A new Medical Research Center, built at a cost of $1½ million, was dedicated last week at the State University of Iowa. The new building will be a major part of the University Medical Center, which consists of three other facilities for medical care—Children's Hospital, Psychopathic Hospital and Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children—in addition to the Medical Laboratories and General Hospital buildings shown above.

Completion of the Medical Research Center frees much of the space formerly used for research and services in the General Hospital, where such space may now be converted for teaching and out-patient clinic use.

Economy-Rich Pumpkin Pie

SPICY GOOD AND CREAMY RICH PUMPKIN PIE is the perfect treat to climax any holiday meal. And, here's a recipe we'll all want to try... it calls for only one egg. You'll notice the difference in savings, but certainly never in taste; two tablespoons of quick-cooking tapioca takes the place of more eggs.

PUMPKIN PIE

2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger

1-1/2 cups mashed cooked pumpkin
1 egg, well beaten
1-1/2 cups milk
Pastry for one crust 9-inch pie
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, spices, and pumpkin; mix well. Add egg and milk and blend well. Roll pastry 1/8 inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Trim pastry 1 inch larger than pan, fold edge to form a standing rim, and flute. Fill with pumpkin mixture. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 1 hour, or until done. (Pie is done when a knife inserted near the edge of filling comes out clean. Then center will be soft but will continue cooking after pie is removed from oven.) Serve warm, or cool to room temperature. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

and financial activity in cooperation with the NAACP," Mr. Odom explained.

He said the effort will be implemented through NAACP state and local church committees.

The Association "is encouraged by the increasing concern exhibited by organized religious groups in the current integration crisis, particularly in the South," Mr. Odom added.

Expect Disclosure of Robinson Return Fight

New York City—Under pressure to return to the ring, Sugar Ray Robinson is expected to make a formal announcement next week—probably to fight a championship bout with Carmen Basilio, in Chicago. But the holdup is the fact that Sugar Ray had two suits which held up his last purse after the Basilio fight when Ray lost the title. And he wants no more of that.

Executives at IBC are busy ironing out the difficulties to pave the way for the February bout—even Jim Norris is pushing the deal all the way.

Waterloo's (East) Jim Hoosman Wins Spot on No. 1 All-State Team

Jim Hoosman, 195-pound senior back for Waterloo East was placed on Jack North's first all-state high school football team, the forty-second chosen by North for the Des Moines Sunday Register.

Hoosman who is big, rough, tough and has desire was rated the best all-around back in the state. The hard-running Hoosman was brilliant in leading Waterloo East to the Big Six championship and an undefeated season. He has been a standout for two years—both on offense and defense. Hoosman was the big-wheel in Waterloo's running attack—running for approximately 800 yards in 90 carries. Slightly more than 8.8 yards per carry.

A vicious tackler, Hoosman was brilliant on defense being used both at tackle and end.

Decorative and Different Salads That Can Be Prepared in Advance for Thanksgiving Feast

Iowa City—Here are some different and decorative salads that can be prepared in advance. Though they take a little longer to fix, you'll be able to save that last-minute effort for carving the turkey.

Relish Salad

Custom calls for cranberries on your Thanksgiving menu but there's no reason you can't combine raw cranberries with oranges for a tempting salad which doubles as a relish, too. Sort, wash and drain one quart of cranberries. Wash three oranges, cut them in half and remove the seeds. Put both through a meat grinder, using the medium blade for the cranberries and a fine blade for the oranges. Combine and add one cup sugar and one cup corn syrup. Place in a container that can go into the freezer and forget it until an hour before you're ready to put dinner on the table. You'll need to set it out to soften somewhat then.

Cranberry-Cabbage

For a crisp, chewy combination try cranberry-cabbage-molded salad. Place the contents of one package of unflavored gelatin in a pyrex cup. All 1/4 cup cold water. Let stand two minutes. Place cup with gelatin in pan of boiling water and heat until gelatin is dissolved. Add gelatin mixture to one pound of cranberry sauce that has been crushed with a fork. Fold in one cup shredded cabbage, 1/4 cup diced celery and 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Pour into flat pans and chill until firm. Cut into squares and place on lettuce. Bands of softened cream cheese make a good trimming.

Elder Gelatin

If you like spicy salad combina-

Pickled Peaches

Good Trimming

For Turkey Dinner

Don't forget spicy pickled peaches as a trimming for your turkey dinner.

Buy the whole spiced canned cling peaches available in tins or jars, or spiced canned cling peach halves by simmering about 2 tablespoons vinegar and a few whole spices with syrup from No. 2 1/2 can for 5 minutes. Add peaches and simmer 5 minutes longer.

Let stand several hours before serving.

Parents

Your Des Moines-Polk County Health Department suggests that being a parent requires no special training, no college degree. It does take understanding and a bottomless well of patience.

tions, try cider gelatin salad. Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in 1/2 cup of cold cider. Heat two cups of clear cider to the boiling point, pour into the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Strain and chill. When the gelatin mixture begins to set, stir in one cup chopped apples, 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1/4 teaspoon salt, one tablespoon finely chopped parsley or green pepper and 1/4 cup chopped nuts. When set, turn out on salad greens and serve with salad dressing.

Vegetable Souffle

Light, fluffy souffle salads will taste delicious between helpings of potatoes, turkey and dressing. For a vegetable souffle you'll need:

1 package Jell-O (any flavor)
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup cold water
4 teaspoons vinegar
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon salt
dash pepper
1 cup shredded raw carrots
1 cup diced celery
1/4 cup drained, finely diced cucumber
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

Dissolve the Jell-O in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise, salt and pepper. Blend. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray. Chill in freezing unit 15 to 20 minutes or until about one inch from edge but soft in center. Turn mixture into bowl and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in vegetables. Pour into one quart mold or individual molds and chill in the refrigerator (not freezer) until firm.

Fruit Souffle

For fruit souffle salad, omit the vegetables and pepper and use any combination of fruits you like. If you prefer, you may use lemon juice instead of vinegar and whipped cream in place of mayonnaise.

Moccasin Toe, Forerunner of Shoe Industry Was Indian Thanksgiving Gift to Our Culture

When Americans gather around the groaning board on Thanksgiving Day many of them will be wearing shoes that are lineal descendants of the deerskin moccasins Chief Massasoit and his braves brought as presents to the white settlers at the first Thanksgiving feast.

For the moccasin shoe is one of the American Indian's most famous contributions to Western culture. True, a similar leather foot covering has been worn since earliest times. But these first "shoes" were of one piece of leather wrapped around the foot and tied with leather thongs.

Indian Idea

It was the American Indian who came up with the idea of a second piece of leather placed over the top of the toes and stitched to the side of the shoe to make what we all recognize today as the moccasin toe. In a camp or house slipper moccasin, the sole and side are still all of one piece of leather, but the popular dress or casual shoe with a moccasin toe has a separate leather sole.

Shoe Industry

The Pilgrims liked their Thanksgiving Day moccasins so well they began making moccasins for export to England as well as for themselves. Thus began the American shoe industry.

Hardly any moccasins are made of deerskin today. They come instead from the hides of cattle, calves, of goats, of sheep—110 million of them go into our shoes each year.

Evolution

And while the nature of these animals hasn't changed much in the intervening time, the leather that goes into shoes has undergone a remarkable evolution. New tanning processes have turned the stiff board-like

It would be hard to find an American today who'd want to give his moccasins back to the Indians.

Johnson Publishing Head Appoints New Promotion Manager

Chicago, Ill. John H. Johnson, president of the Johnson Publishing Company, Inc., announced the appointment of D. Parke Gibson as Promotion Manager. He will be responsible for the promotion of the company's magazines, EBONY, JET, TAN and HUE, as well as other promotional assignments.

Background

Gibson's background includes work as an Air Force public relations specialist during the Korean War, public relations consultant, and advertising salesman. Following his discharge he helped to establish Laws-Gibson Associates in Philadelphia, a national public relations firm. He then joined the sales staff of Interstate United Newspapers, publishers representative for a number of Negro newspapers.

Transfer

In May of 1956 Mr. Gibson joined the advertising staff of the Johnson Publishing Company. He has been working in the New York Office, and is being transferred to the home office in Chicago. Mr. Gibson is married to Mary Elizabeth Vroman, the award-winning author. Her short story, "See How They Run" became the M-G-M movie, "Bright Road" and won for her a Christopher Award.

Plan "Never-to-be-Forgotten" Birthday Honors For W. C. Handy: Belafonte Wised-Up S. Poiters

WITH DOLORES CALVIN

W. C. Handy
Erskine Hawkins and crew into Detroit for two weeks. They're going all out to make W. C. Handy's birthday a never-to-be-forgotten one—even Althea Gibson, the tennis star, will step into another profession and do some singing. Althea loves to sing and has a deep, husky voice which she handles adeptly to pop tunes—however, we don't think she'd make much of a career of it: there are too many husky-voiced pop singers and little or none top tennis champs.

Louis Jordan

Louis Jordan, enroute east, will feast on Thanksgiving Turkey in Chicago. The six servants of the late Louis B. Mayer were left sums in the will depending on their length of service: from $2,500 to $5,000 each. A rush on Christmas songs and albums out in time.

Dinah Washington

La Verne Baker has a new album brilliantly named just "La Verne" which is more in the ballad style than her usual rock and roll. Calvin Jackson, who has been rather quiet these few years, has a record with his orchestra for Liberty with an unusual flip: the ork. on one side with Gershwin's "Rhapsody In Blue" and the reverse features the Jackson Quartet with more Gershwin tunes. The entire effect is a standout. Dinah Washington comes up with a Mercury release, "Blues Down Home" backed with "Everybody Loves My Baby."

Sidney Poiters

Barry Gray says it was Harry Belafonte who wised up Sidney Poiters into refusing the "Porgy and Bess" role which he had accepted and which was to be produced by Sam Goldwyn. Belafonte is said to have whispered to Sidney to take a quick glance at the script first—whereupon Goldwyn is said to have retorted, "No one looks at my pictures before they are made but me."

Negro Clerks

First National City Bank, in New York, which has been commended for hiring many Negroes in white-collar positions, has been cited as "keeping them in restricted areas where they are not seen."

Meaning: not as tellers, guards, etc. but rather as clerks, typists, etc.

Roy Eldridge joins the force at the Cafe Matropole on Broadway with such greats as Coleman Hawkins, Charlie Shavers, Henry Red Allen, J. C. Higginbotham and Benny Moten.

Like our Pilgrim fathers, Thanksgiving Day is an end and a beginning... an end where we give thanks for our triumphs over misfortunes and for our discoveries of new meanings in life during the year past... a beginning of new faith and anticipation of victories and achievements in future days... From the Days of the Mayflower...

As in the days of our Pilgrim Fathers, beer will be a favorite beverage for thousands of Americans on Thanksgiving tables again this year.

And, as we celebrate Thanksgiving, it is interesting to look back and note the unique circumstance by which beer played a role in the actual landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock. An account of the times states that "beer was all but the universal beverage." And the diary of one of the passengers on the Mayflower reveals that they landed at Plymouth Rock instead of pressing on further because of "our victuals being much spent, especially our Beere."

In the American tradition, beer—the light, bright beverage of moderation—has been enjoyed in our homes since the earliest foundings of our nation.

Mrs. Bates Questions Withdrawal of Little Rock Regulars

Little Rock, Ark.—Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, indicated she questioned the wisdom of withdrawing the remaining 225 paratroopers from Central High. She said reports from Negro parents and children directly involved did not reflect army secretary Brucker's optimism.

Her statement came after the army secretary made the announcement that the remaining regulars here would be removed Wednesday and that duty at the school would be turned over entirely to guardsmen, some 900 of whom remain in federal service.

Announce Christmas Seals Drive; Funds Are Sole Support of Polk County TB Ass'n.

One hundred and fifty three residents of Polk County have been stricken with Active TB since Jan. of 1955. Many of these, possibly all of them, could have been detected before reaching the advanced stages. How? Through yearly check-ups, by your family physician, including a chest x-ray.

Friday, Nov. 15 marked the opening of the 51st Annual Christmas Seal Voluntary Campaign, on the fight against the Nations Number One Infectious Disease and Infectious Killer... TUBERCULOSIS.

Sole Supports

Your help is urgently needed to continue the attack on this dread disease, which can strike anyone at anytime, regardless of race, color or creed. Christmas Seal Dollars are the sole support of your Polk County Tuberculosis and Health Association. In order to keep x-raying and patch-testing thousands of persons each year to find the infectious cases, $65,000 must be raised through the sale of Christmas Seals in Polk County.

X-Ray Unit

The Christmas Seal X-Ray Mobile Unit has taken 160,000 x-rays and the findings will amaze you: 2,051 were suspicious Tuberculosis... 1,450 were certain types of abnormal Heart Conditions and 3,274 were classified as other chest disorders, many of which were Cancers and Tumors, that required medical and surgical treatment.

Think of the lives that have been saved through this wonderful service. YOU CAN HELP further the need of this voluntary Health Association and continue to help in saving the lives of others, by "Buying and Using" Christmas Seals on all your cards and packages.

$29,000 Grant to Dillard University

New Orleans—A National Science Foundation grant of $29,000 has been made to Dillard University in support of a summer institute for high school teachers of science, it was announced by Dr. Albert W. Dent, president of the university.

Do It Yourself

"It should be done, but let the other person do it." This brand of thinking will not solve problems or bring victories. Your Des Moines Polk County Department of Health suggests that a dollar spent now for the purchase of Christmas Seals from your Polk County Tuberculosis Association will help win the fight against tuberculosis. How about some action now instead of waiting for the other person to do what we should be doing ourselves.

Personal Touch

By MARIE ROSS

Before all of the Thanksgiving Day dinner has been devoured—the turkey hashed, creamed, sandwiched, and souped—one's thoughts, automatically, have been routed to the turnpike that leads to Christmas.

And, by the arrival of December—these annual questions have returned:

"What am I going to do for Christmas?"

"Am I going to send out any cards?" "Oh, the postage."

"What will I give the children, the grandchildren, the relatives, my friends, my co-workers, my church, my secret pals in social clubs, my lodge and chapter gift exchanges. What tokens for the post man, the milkman, the breadman, the newsboy—"

"What about the Christmas seals—the NAACP seals—Tuberculosis Society's seals—the Boy's Home seals—the stickers, the tissues—the gift paper—the ribbons, tapes and string?"

If you can think of any more questions, add them, then make your list and get started because right now you are on the Christmas turnpike and if you can find any place to turn back or turn off, let me know immediately.

Of course, if you did your Christmas shopping last summer and already have the gifts wrapped—like some people—some where, do, or if you are a member of some of the many Christmas savings clubs, you have no problems.

Many of the art clubs are planning their programs so that their members can work throughout the year, making gifts for the Christmas season.

I recall having seen at the Atelier Guild's exhibit at Willkie House last May, many good Christmas ideas—like Mrs. Dorothy Hammett's setting of dinner plates, designed with Christmas scenes, and placed on a cloth decorated with colors of the Yuletide; the many ceramic pieces, appropriate for gifts—made by Mrs. Korinne Jackson; and the embroidered towels like those Mrs. Beatrice Robinson exhibited.

Some school kiddies now are selling to their neighbors—potholders, aprons, tea towels, metal pieces and other items they learned to make in craft classes.

In the office last week were two brothers—one 15 and the other 17. After school they do odd jobs—and on week ends both sell newspapers.

At their ages, preferably, you would think that they would be interested in bicycles. When I asked them what they were doing with their paper money, they said, giving it to buy themselves a Christmas gift. And, they have a big idea for their Christmas gift. They want a car—and as soon as they earn the ten-dollar down payment—the brothers said they will have a car they have picked out. Their weekly payment will be five dollars a month.

"What about licenses?" I asked the brothers.

They informed that by Christmas they will be able to bring home the car, but they will not be able to run it before the early part of January. By that time the brothers hope to have earned enough money for everything that the car will need.

Something different for impressive little Christmas gifts, I saw at the recent Iowa State Fair.

Fair-goers were standing in line waiting to buy them. The advertisement read: "Have 'The Lord's Prayer' printed on your pennies for 10 cents each."

You handed a man working behind a little machine a penny. He took it and slipped it inside or under the machine and out slid a shiny oval-shaped piece of brass upon which the prayer was printed. A hole was punched in an end for chain or key-ring—and the piece was dated and engraved with a name. The prayer-penny made a personal gift—one to be treasured and kept indefinitely.

If you are interested in another treasured gift that you can place inside of your Christmas cards—you might try your hand at making "Potpourri Packets."

Quite a number of persons started during the summer to make up two of my recipes which appeared in the July issue of The Ladies Home Journal. By now their potpourri, made from their own roses and scented leaves, should have delicious fragrances and should be ready for rose jars or to be sealed inside of the little clear plastic packets.

Would you please extend to my sisters of Des Moines, my sincere thanks for their love, food and friendship, given me when I visited their city. This is a time when the peoples of Africa and the colored people of America should reunite.

The more I go across this country, the more I am aware of this fact and I hope that the friendships which we have started now will be a lighted torch to penetrate into the dark corners of both countries.

Select African Film For International Festival at Frisco

San Francisco The film "Freedom" produced by Moral Re-Armament has been accepted as one of the 14 films to be shown at the San Francisco International Film Festival, December 4 to 17, in the Metro Theater, San Francisco.

In Lille, France, in October, 1957, as an overseas film contest in which 170 films participated, the jury made the first award to "Freedom" for its "outstanding qualities" and the "promotion of better understanding of peoples and civilizations." "Freedom" was also shown in the Seventh International Berlin Film Festival where it received the greatest public acclaim.

The American premiere of "Freedom" was held in the Hollywood Egyptian Theater on Lincoln's birthday, 1957.

All-African

"Freedom" is the first great all-African color film, written and acted by Africans. It tells a dynamic story of modern Africa. Based on recent true events, it shows the passions let loose as men struggle for their nation's freedom, the heartache in the homes a nation rising to revolt and a solution which could apply as well in America as in Africa.

Ten thousand Africans take part. The great Chiefs of Nigeria co-operated to arrange the crowd scenes, and it is all filmed in authentic settings in Africa.

Tiredness in Children Rather than Lack of Appetite Can Bring on Pre-Supper Crises

Written By Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

PRE-SUPPER CRISIS

Parents whose adolescent boys seem perfectly able to eat seven times as much food as they need may have trouble remembering that when these same children were younger the pre-supper period was often hectic and strained when children and parents were tired and short-tempered.

Sometimes the same goal can be accomplished for families whose children are a little older by having supper hour moved ahead a little, so that hungry people don't have to wait quite so long and so empty for the meal.

'Home of Brave', Filmed 10 Years Ago, Predicted Present-Day Integration Upheaval

New York City—It's funny how history repeats itself but those who have watched "Home of the Brave" on television this week must have noticed how many of the predictions of integration between white and Negro have come true. Filmed more than eight years ago, the film, in a casual manner of speech, betwixt two soldiers James Edwards and Lloyd Bridges still serves today as a criterion of a solid friendship and also serves to help us remember how very few other films there have been like Stanley Kramer's "Home of the Brave," which incidentally was an Academy Award nominee.

Lack Fire

In reviewing films of the year "Something of Value," Band of Angels, "China Gate" and others, we find there are none with the fire and fury of "Home of the Brave," none with the brilliant acting for any with the message carried as well as in this film. "The Steel Helmet," also starring Edwards, and which we like to think of as a sort of variation of the same theme, came closer to the reality of white and colored understanding than did any of the others which followed. The human emotions of "Home of the Brave" have not been equalled.

THANKSGIVING

As Thanksgiving is observed, in addition to the indispensable blessings which come from the Almighty, we are prone to look around for personal ones for which thanks should be given. Maybe they are not big, always, but sometimes a passing incident of the day offers excellent examples. This one gave the editor of the Bystander an excellent experience for which to be thankful and which is well worth passing on to the readers.

November 18th was miserable having snowed all day; the streets were slippery and cars were stuck in everywhere. Moving west of the incline on Ingersoll Avenue and 35th Street, one car after another was unable to move. At the bottom of the incline were a half-dozen teenagers who put their shoulders to one car after another and pushed it over the hump. All refused pay from the grateful motorists.

These youngsters earned a little thanksgiving prayer from each one they helped. And in spite of those bad ones who cause many headaches for their parents and public officials, there are thousands of good ones who deserve praise. Surely these kids do.

After being pushed over the hill and while moving slowly westward, it became necessary to turn in a driveway. I got stuck. The more I tried, the deeper I got in the snow.

Two young women, both employees of large downtown business firms, came out of their apartment and asked if they could help. I was a bit surprised but accepted the offer of help. We introduced ourselves. For almost an hour they helped shovel snow, pushed and drove the car and with some success, but the job was too much for us three to handle.

A neighbor in the adjoining apartment house called to one of the women and asked if more help was needed. Of course, she said "yes". "My husband and I will be out" the other said.

They came. The man said "I thought this was you Mr. Morris. Get in the car and drive. You have no business struggling with a car like this." (No doubt remembering I am no longer a young man.)

"I took the wheel and we five shoveled snow, pushed and pulled with considerable success but not quite over the hump. And behold my battery went dead.

The gentlemen said "I have a neighbor in the apartment who has a tow chain and chains on his car." Into the apartment he went and soon appeared with the next man, who had the difference between our effort and getting over the last obstacle. He hooked the cars together and within a few minutes I was over the hump able to move on my own power. "What do I owe you?" I said. "Nothing," they all said. "We are glad to have done it."

"What a relief to be free after being stuck for almost two hours but as I drove away, I could not help but think and whisper 'what a blessing to be living among people who are willing to undertake and conquer a difficult task not for money, not for glory, but as a friendly act for one who needs help. I shall always be grateful to these people and my Thanksgiving thought for 1957 is prompted by their noble spirit."

Maybe we cannot always find such a dramatic opportunity to help a fellowman, but hardly a day passes that everyone of us has an opportunity to perform some kindness not for pay, not for notoriety, not for self-aggrandizement but which sinks deep into the heart of those for whom they are done.

If in the world live only such people as I described here, there will be no reason for fears of Sputnik, cold wars, fighting wars and racial strife. Unfortunately, this is not the case. However, if each individual, day after day, does his duty to his fellowman life is bound to be better for us all as the years roll by.

WELCOME CHANGE

The President's Committee on Contract Compliance, headed by Vice-President Nixon, has announced a new policy. No longer will it wait for complaints of job discrimination but investigations will be initiated by its representatives to determine whether contract provisions against such practices are being observed.

This is an excellent move. And now that the committee has stature, has pretty well secured the cooperation of labor and industry, better results are bound to follow.

It so happens that all communities there are many in Iowa need the attention of this committee.

It is hoped that interested persons will let the committee know what firms are not carrying out their obligations.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

It won't be long now. The end of the season is about over and Iowa will rank as one of the nation's best. Notre Dame probably missed Aubrey Lewis, their best and fastest running back. He hasn't played since mid-season. The all conference team had a bunch of Negroes on it. Kaiser of Michigan State, Pace of Michigan and Thomas and Clark of Ohio State. One team had Burrell of Illinois. Remember when one Negro on any one of the three teams was big news?

Big Jim Brown

Big Jim Brown must have run as he did in the all star college game. He literally ran over the pros that night and from the way he ran last Sunday must have run that way again. Hate to be in front of him when he takes off.

Lincoln U dropped from the unbeaten ranks leaving Tennessee A & M as the only unbeaten Negro college that we know of. The Rattlers have at least one game left and could finish unbeaten.

We noted with interest the item that some team was going to come up with the old Notre Dame shift and it would be fun. The main drawback against that shift is the length of time it requires to get in motion. If the player could break right into the shift and then run without the skip-out step that it uses it might be tough. Then the coaches who could not handle the thing would call for rules against it.

You recall the revival of the goal defense in basketball. Working that takes teamwork. So the coaches supplemented rules so they wouldn't have to play against the thing. That would probably happen if some coach breaks away from the present system of football offense.

But it would be fun to see how the present day defense would adjust to that lightning hop step and away offense that used to ground tackle to pieces.

The colleges now have almost adopted the pro types of offense without much variation. This does not leave much room for imagination.

High Schools

The only Negro on the first all state high school team is East Waterloo's Big Jim Hoosman. Couldn't have kept him off.

Iowa Finishes Season With 7-1-1 Mark

South Bend, Ind.—Iowa offensives marches netted them a 21-13 victory over upset-minded Notre Dame last Saturday to give the Hawks, at the end of their season, a 7-1-1 record. Were it not for Iowa's sudden attacks of fumbleitis—the margin of victory could have been more decisive.

First Since 1940

However, Saturday's victory was the first for Notre Dame Stadium in 17 years (last in 1940), when Iowa won 7-0. And it is only the second victory in 13 contests with the Irish since 1940. The Hawks beat Notre Dame 48-8 last season. Three other meetings ended in ties. Over-all figures show Iowa with five victories and Notre Dame with eight . . . three games were tied.

Freedom

To the senior gridironers who played their last game for Iowa the victory over Notre Dame may not have been as glorious as they might have liked it but it seems the general consensus was that they hate to finish up football but glad to get a rest. Typical reaction to the freedom that they can now enjoy was by rugged, capable Mike Hagler when he accepted a congratulatory cigar from a fan. "All right, all right now we can relax," said Hagler between puffs.

Hand Hurt . . . Machen Inactive For 6-Weeks

San Francisco, Cal.—If Eddie Machen, the number one heavyweight challenger is to get a bout with Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson he has forced himself, at least to wait a while. Machen will be out of training for about six weeks with hand injuries he received in his decisive win over Hurricane Jackson.

Machen's trainer, Mario Spilnato, said Machen hurt both hands in the second round and an X-ray showed a fractured metacarpal bone in the right hand. Machen won a technical knockout in the tenth round.

HEALTH FOR ALL

WHEN YOU DRINK

You know it all the time, but science has finally tested and proved it. People behave differently when they drink.

Strictly for scientific purposes, the Yale University Center of Alcohol Studies threw a couple of parties. One was for hard drinkers—derelicts from Skid Row. They didn't have a good time. They just sat there and drank until they fell to the floor, one by one. The other party was for a group of teachers. A couple of cocktails and the pedagogues were joking, laughing, slapping each other on the back. It was a great party.

Stupid or tipsy, however, they all had the same concentration of alcohol in the blood on the same number of drinks. And they responded pretty much alike to tests of the speed of their reactions.

Spreading Drinks

Another thing you know that has now been proved scientifically is the fact that you "feel" your drinks more if you haven't had anything to eat. Food in the digestive system slows down the absorption of alcohol and the liver has time to oxidize it. The liver can handle only three quarters of an ounce of alcohol in an hour. So spreading your drinks out over a long time helps, too. The Yale researchers figure that if you take 60 minutes to drink half a highball or three quarters of a can of beer, you could conceivably drink 24 hours a day without getting tight. Adding water to your drink won't slow it up, but adding soda will speed it up. It's the carbonation in champagne that makes it "go to your head" so fast.

Slows Skills

The Yale experiments have shown that a small amount of alcohol calms the nerves and eases tensions. But while it lowers tensions, it also lowers skills—driving skills, for instance. Tests showed that after two or three cocktails or highballs we all react more slowly to the flash of a light or the ring of a bell. We can't do tasks such as typing, memorizing, or sorting cards as well as usual. But, since the alcohol depresses the center of judgment, we think we can do anything better. That's the danger of "one for the road."

Globetrotters in St. Louis for Holiday

Chicago—The famous Harlem Globetrotters, rolling along with an unbroken victory streak, are primed this week for a whirlwind trip through the midwest.

St. Louis cage fanatics will enjoy an added holiday treat when the Trotters play their Thanksgiving night and Meadowlark Lemon, basketball's top comedian, puts on his hilarious one-man show.

Showman

The 6-foot-one-inch center from Wilmington, N. C., is a greater showman than ever this season. At Madison Square Garden recently he convulsed a capacity crowd with his side-splitting antics and new routine of gimmicks.

Ermer Robinson, coach of Abe Saperstein's internationally famous quintet, agrees that Lemon's showmanship is beyond comparison. But he is even more impressed with Meadowlark's steller play this year. "When he first joined us," Robinson recalled, "he was strictly our 'funny man.'" But over a period of two years, Meadowlark has also developed into a topflight professional player.

"Crack Shot"

"He is a crack shot from the pivot and, also, a real tiger when it comes to snatching the ball off the boards. As his coach, I naturally get more satisfaction out of his actual playing than I do his comedy, although both are something to see."

Besides St. Louis, Meadowlark will appear with the Globetrotters in the following cities next week:

Nov. 29—Detroit; 30, Anderson, Ind.; Dec. 1, Ft. Wayne; 2, Lake Forest, Ill.; 3, Elmhurst, Ill.; 4, Rockford, Ill.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Do we thank the One who gave it?
Are we faithful? Do we pray?
Do we share it? And receive it?
Are we living in His way?
While we send up praises to Him,
May His blessings come our way.
While we thank him for the harvest
Heaven bless . . . Thanksgiving Day.

THE OLD THANKSGIVING DAY

How many do remember
As they look beyond their hoard:
To an age-long past November
And another groaning board?
Loaded with the fruits of harvest
Covered deep with luscious fare.
Meats of yard, of plain and forest
Alluring scents pervade the air.

Burning pine and spices adding
To the hunger pangs within:
Pies and cakes and fudge for padding.

Songs and chatter, cheerful din
All the tokens of Thanksgiving
Of that past, more peaceful way:
When the years were used for living
On the old Thanksgiving Day. . .
