Mr. Wilson urges all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements.

NAACP Executive Reviews Race Relations During 1957

New York, N.Y.—Three major developments on the race relations front in 1957 were of such significance as to overshadow all other events of the year in the continuing struggle to eliminate racial discrimination and segregation. They were (1) the enactment of the Civil Rights law, the first such statute to be passed by Congress in 82 years; (2) the use of United States troops to sustain a federal court decree ordering the admission of nine Negro children to the previously all-white Central High School of Little Rock, Ark.; and (3) the enactment of a New York City ordinance banning racial and religious discrimination in private housing, the first measure of that kind ever enacted into law in any American community.

Federal Court Order
The Civil Rights Act empowered the federal government to intervene to protect the right to vote and set up machinery for the execution of this power. In addition, the law established a bipartisan Civil Rights Commission charged with the responsibility of investigating violations of the right to vote and of other civil rights.

When he sent troops into Little Rock to uphold a federal court order, President Eisenhower served notice that the Executive Branch of the government is prepared to sustain the federal judiciary in its desegregation orders.

Housing
Housing has long been the most pressing problem confronting Negro citizens in urban centers. The limitation on the Negro's living space has sometimes been more severe in the North than in the South. This denial of freedom of residence has fostered de facto segregation in public schools and in other public facilities, even in states in which such segregation is legally banned. Accordingly, the New York City ordinance against discrimination in private housing is a measure of vital importance to every community in which a large number of Negroes reside.

Prayer Pilgrimage
Other important developments on the positive side include the successful Prayer Pilgrimage which brought some 27,000 persons to Washington on May 17 in a demonstration of unity in behalf of civil rights; the continuing desegregation of the schools which added another 50,000 to the 300,000 Negro school children who were already attending classes in desegregated school systems; the mass refusal of Negro citizens in Tuskegee, Alabama, to purchase consumer goods of local merchants after city officials had redrawn the city lines to exclude all but ten of the city's 400 registered Negro voters.

First in the Nation

New York, N.Y.—The first municipal ordinance in the nation banning discrimination in private housing was signed into law Monday by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and will take effect April 1.

His action followed a public hearing in which some citizens of New York City had threatened a race riot, if the bill should be passed. Wagner left the hearing promising that nothing had changed his mind.

The law forbids discrimination on the basis of race, creed or national origin in choosing tenants for private multiple dwellings housing three or more families.

Afro-American Newsmen Turns Down Passport with Geographical Restrictions

New York, N.Y.—The American Civil Liberties Union disclosed (Dec. 29) that newsmen William Worthy, Jr. had turned down an apparent State Department proposal that his passport be renewed if he would abide by the government's restrictions on travel abroad.

Major Test
The Union, which is backing Worthy's case as a major test of the State Department's control over American citizens' travel abroad, released a letter from William M. Kuntzler, ACLU cooperating attorney, to the Board of Passport Appeals. An appeal from the State Department's rejection of Worthy's application for renewal of the passport is pending before the Board. The Board is the final administrative group that must review the case before the issue can be taken to the Federal courts.

The Board had asked if Worthy, under oath, would state that he would live up to geographical restrictions placed on his passport if it were renewed. At present the State Department bans travel to Communist China, Hungary and North Korea.

Unconstitutional
The inference raised by this question is that Mr. Worthy would receive his passport if he agreed to

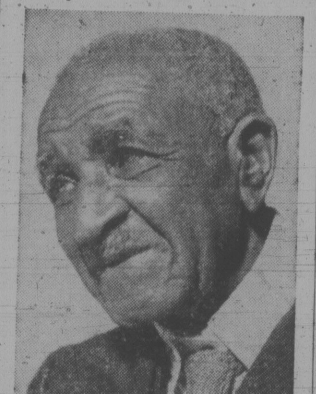

Althea Gibson Lands Two Awards in 1957

Althea Gibson, outstanding tennis ace and winner of every award in her field was named one of "Ten Young Women of the Year" by Mademoiselle and presented a 1957 Merit Award from that magazine. She also was cited as outstanding in the field of tennis by the Women's editors of Associated Press newspapers.

In the field of education, the press women of the nation named Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas NAACP, as outstanding for her courage during the integration crisis in the schools in Little Rock.

44th Tuskegee Race Relations Reports to Be Released Jan. 15

Turbulent cross currents marked the pattern of race relations during 1957. Rapidly moving and significant year-end occurrences require advancing the release date of the 44th Annual Tuskegee Institute Race Relations Report to Jan. 15. This change in the release date from Jan. 1, makes possible coverage of all major developments for the entire year.

Dr. L. H. Foster, President of Tuskegee Institute, in making this announcement stated that the Institute Report would include a more intricate media analysis than in prior years. This will take into account the strong propaganda offensive launched by segregationists during the waning weeks of the year. The Jan. 15 release will be a summary based on a detailed study of legal action and of the unprecedented growth and activity of voluntary groups during 1957.

Chicago, Ill.—John H. Johnson, President of the Johnson Publishing Co., Inc. has named William P. Grayson and LeRoy W. Jeffries as Vice Presidents of the company. Grayson and Jeffries, Eastern and Mid-Western Advertising Managers respectively for EBONY, TAN, JET, and HUE Magazines, became the first two executives appointed to corporate management positions outside of the Johnson family in the company's 15 year history.

Grayson, located in the New York office, has been with the company ten years, having opened the company's first branch office in 1947, as ad manager or EBONY. He holds a B.S. in Business Administration from Los Angeles City College. Prior to joining EBONY, Grayson was employed for 12 years by the Afro-American Newspaper in Baltimore. A federal appeals court Friday reversed the ruling of a lower court on the grounds that the Dallas school authorities needed additional time for preparations. Previously, the appeals court here had ruled—Dallas Schools must integrate "with all deliberate speed." Federal District Judge William Atwell at Dallas then set the time at mid-term, which comes in February.

The appeal court in an opinion by Judge Richard Rives, said "we thought, and still think, that this court's mandate made it clear that before a more specific date could be fixed and before any orders or judgments should be entered to require compliance with the judgment directed in that mandate, the school authorities should be accorded a reasonable further opportunity promptly to meet their primary responsibilities in the premises."

Then if the plaintiffs, or others similarly situated should claim that the school authorities have failed in any respect to perform their duties, there should be a full and fair hearing in which evidence may be offered by any and all parties. The original suit was brought by parents of 23 Negro children who were denied admission to white schools in 1955.

The appeals court's decision also prevented Dallas from losing 1 1/2 million dollars in state aid if it had obeyed Judge Atwell's order to integrate at mid-term. The schools also stands to lose accreditation if integrated. These penalties were made possible by a Texas law passed last May which penalizes a school district for integrating unless a majority of its voters favors it.

National Association of Market Developers, National Vocational Guidance Association, American Cancer Society, and the Urban League. He is married to the former Vermont Moody of West Point, Miss. They live in Chicago.

Grayson is a member of the Merchandising Committee of the Magazine Advertising Bureau. Both are members of the American Market- ing Association.

NAACP Surrenders Lists Of Members in New Orleans

New Orleans, La.—In compliance with a 1924 Louisiana state law, Arthur J. Chaplain Sr., president of the New Orleans branch of the NAACP, announced in an interview to a Negro newspaper that it would file its list of officers and members before Dec. 31.

This announcement came shortly after the national NAACP officials at New York headquarters promised aid to all local and state officials and urged them not to submit membership lists under threats of fines or arrests.

Compiled in 1957
The NAACP operations in Louisiana were halted in 1956 for not filing such a list; however, it complied and resumed activities in 1957. Recently the Secretary of State Wade O. Martin issued a statement that all fraternal, patriotic, charitable, benevolent, literary, scientific, athletic, military or social organizations, which are incorporated or unincorporated, should file with his office between Dec. 15 and Dec. 31. Mr. Martin said the only organizations exempted by the law are regularly organized churches and the National Guard.

Bird's Eye

We would see more if we had eyes like a bird's. A bird has two keen-vision patches in each eye rather than one circular retina as we do, according to the Murine Company feature service. One pair of keen-vision patches provides straight ahead vision, while the other gives sideways vision. Thus a bird can look straight ahead, to the right, and to the left—seeing clearly in all directions.

Magic Lemon Petal Tarts For Teen-Ager Treats

WITH THE OPENING OF SCHOOL, even the resourceful mother is sometimes put to it to provide refreshments for the youngsters' treats and parties. Bite-size lemon meringue tarts with sweetened condensed milk filling are sure to win the approval of even the most critical teen-ager and from the mother's point of view, they are a real treat, too. The sweetened condensed milk filling needs no cooking and is always magically smooth and creamy.

To add eye appeal to the tarts, make the shells in your small muffin or cup cake pans like little cups of petals. Top with meringue or whipped cream.

MAGIC LEMON MERINGUE TARTS
1 package pastry mix
1 package sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind or 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
2 egg yolks

Stir sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, lemon rind or lemon extract and egg yolks until mixture thickens. Pour filling into chilled baked tart shells. Top each with a fluff of meringue or whipped cream.

For petal shells, roll pastry out 1/8 inch thick. Cut pastry circle for bottom of each muffin or cup-cake pan and put in pans. For petals, cut circle pattern of stiff paper the depth of muffin pan, plus 1/8 inch, and cut five rounds of pastry for each tart. If you have a round cookie cutter approximately the right size, use it instead of the paper pattern. Place circles around sides of each muffin pan, overlapping for petal effect. To hold together, brush with unbeaten egg white where surfaces touch. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool and remove from pans.

Personal Touch

By MARIE ROSS

Another new year—time for beginning again—for making resolutions or promises to do certain things that one found little time for, during the past year.

Some persons favor making resolutions. Others say they do not believe in doing so, that they would not keep resolutions if they made them.

Unconsciously, resolutions or promises are made often in our daily conversation. Some friend will say to another—"Come over to see us sometime." The other friend will reply—"I promise to come over before the year," or, "I'll be seeing you soon." Years pass and neither friend visits the other. The promises go—broken; the unconscious resolutions are never kept.

Some unconscious resolutions or promises were made this year in the pile of greeting cards that are still arriving in my mail. They were like these:

"I'll write real soon," penned Mrs. Cecil Thompson, 1168 Eleventh Street. "Will write later," promised Mrs. Mollie Beverly, 1441 E. Nineteenth Street.

Here is an interesting "resolution."

"If intentions represented letters, you would have many before now. But, I promise a letter to you. Will be my first in the new year. I have so many things to tell you that I have not had the time to begin a real long letter," Mrs. Helen Be-shears-Wimberly, 1127 Eleventh Street.

So much for the unconscious resolutions. Here are a few notes from other greeting cards.

"Visited our son at New Hampton in October. Found it to be a very fine school and the people very hospitable. Its located in a lovely part of the United States," Chester Simms, 1728 Maple Street.

"Never miss the water till the well is dry. Never realized you were leaving so soon. We all miss you—meaning everyone," Mrs. Corinne Adams, 1610 Walker Street.

Redeemed Promise

"I fully intended to write you a note about our trip (last summer) but have been so very busy that I haven't had time. I'm sorry. Orchid in Chicago—his most popular being his two hits: "Wonderful" and "Chances Are."

I haven't found time to do so. I especially enjoyed our stay in Hampton, Va. It was so nice having the whole family together. Oh yes, I got to see little "Cindy," the new granddaughter and Imogene's Baby. Imogene's husband is a senior at Hampton Institute this year. Cleota and Harvey will spend the holidays with us. We will have open house on Sunday. I have baked lots of cookies also fruit cake. We certainly miss you in our city," Mrs. Stanley Proctor, 1111 Eleventh Street.

"Never Make Plans"

"I've been so busy with home duties and NAACP that I haven't had time... however, I am giving up publicity chairmanship in NAACP so I'll have more time for personal writing projects... As for the new year, I never make plans or resolutions unless you would saying vowing to do the best I can with what I've got and living each day as fully as I can—a resolution or plan," penned Mrs. Ruth Turner, 1253 E. 17th Street, who added that her oldest son, David, served as an altar boy at the midnight mass this Christmas Eve service, his first serving.

New Plans

"Just read your column and want to send a note telling you we miss your cheery smile—but hope you are doing a lot or writing and will be very successful with it... We have excavated the lot next to our old shop and are putting up a new block building, with Red Roman brick front. You wouldn't know this old block, and you might not like walking in the street as we have made considerable mess. Hope we can move in—in January. Our new address will be 812 Twelfth Street," Jean Boyd of Service Saw Co. 810 Twelfth Street.

Mrs. Lalah Morris, 1331 E. Seventeenth Street Court, wrapped her new year's "resolution" in a pretty gift box. It is very lovely.

"Better Late"

"Better late than not at all... hope you had a merry Christmas and will have a prosperous new year... There were a lot of prayers answered—but that prayer for a white Christmas was not. It was very pretty to get up ready for early prayer services. It was lovely. I was out for dinner and breakfast; and, out today (Dec. 26) for dinner and a party tonight. Just got a phone call for an after-Christmas party Monday. Will be glad when things settle down—from writing cards, wrapping presents, baking cookies. Feel like a let-up will be good. We did miss you at the Doll Show this year. Had a wonderful success—over $240. Attendance was very good. If it gets any larger, will not be able to have it at Willkie House," Mrs. Georgia Goggins, 1067 Seventeenth Street.

"Hard to Believe"

"It is hard for me to believe that you have left Des Moines. You had become one of the fixtures in the old town... May God bless you. I am very happy," Wm. B. Foster, Chicago, Ill.

"So you thank me for remembering you—do you? I don't think I will ever forget you! What you did for others, you did for me, also. I have reckoned you among the Daughters of God... penned William Winfield Bolds from Iowa State Penitentiary, Ft. Madison. Thanks for his very kind letter with its reference to "Isiah 9:6"—which he suggested reading.

Thanks for all of the interesting messages in the greeting cards. Whether to the sick or shut-ins, on birthday or holiday cards, they have more meaning with just a word or two, added. Try-it during this new year.

UNCF to Administer Testing Program

New York.—Beginning with the 1958 program, the United Negro College Fund will administer the group examinations through which 28 of its member colleges test high school seniors seeking scholarships, according to Dr. F. D. Patterson, College Fund president.

"More than 3,500 candidates are expected to take the Cooperative Inter-collegiate Examinations this year," Dr. Patterson said. "The tests will be given in 183 centers throughout the country between Feb. 24 and March 8." Scoring and interpretation of test results are handled by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton.

Inaugurated in 1951 by 15 of the Fund's 31 privately-supported member colleges, the program has been highly successful during the past seven years.

Integration Riff Stops N.A.I.A.'s Bowl Plans

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The integration issue may force the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics to drop future plans for putting on the Holiday Bowl here, Sports Editor Jeff Mosher of the St. Petersburg Independent wrote Monday.

Mosher wrote that despite the game's success from a financial viewpoint and from the standpoint of thrills "it is pretty definite" the N.A.I.A.'s "post season small college championship will not be repeated in St. Petersburg."

Days Following Christmas are Opportunities For Us to Live Up to Our Sense of Values

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

DAYS AFTER CHRISTMAS

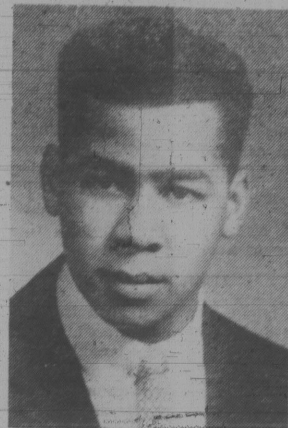

Christmas Day is the climax of a season of growing excitement, of holiday activity, and of thoughtful reaffirmation of the values of living and of life. During the holiday we deliberately encourage our children to understand the joys of giving as well as of receiving, and we help them to appreciate the spirit of the gift.

We explain to them the many symbols representing the high purposes and ideals of human life. We take time to re-examine our own purposes, and we look for enrichment of our own lives in relationship with other men.

Illams and Mr. and Mrs. John Cranshaw.

the rights and wishes of others as we consider our own; we can express our concern for the well-being of others; we can even believe that our contribution to the well-being of others is a contribution to our own.

Remember Values

This does not demand a humorless self-consciousness about everything we do. It means only an expansion of what we already sometimes do, and a remembering of the values that we hold most important. The fairness and considerateness of our dealings with our own children and family can often serve as samples of the kind of concern we can extend to others.

The days after Christmas need not be entirely different from the day before.

WHERE WE STAND
THIS NEW YEAR

Nineteen hundred fifty-seven has been an eventful year in many respects. Russia gave the world something startling to shoot at. And although many Americans are mad about it, undoubtedly, the discovery will serve as an incentive to work for greater things.

From a purely domestic point of view, sending federal troops to Little Rock to preserve law and order was by far the most important.

Not since the Civil War has a state government challenged the federal government as did Governor Faubus of Arkansas. Not only would his acts in calling out the national guard to prevent the carrying out of federal court orders have been a blow to law and order, but this would have been a precedent for the governors in other states to do likewise.

The challenge was met, head on. Many people did not approve of the course. A majority did. However, as much as law enforcement by local authorities is most desirable, once the situation gets out of hand, little time should be taken in putting down mob action. And this is exactly what disobedience to court orders is whether by anti-integrationists, labor leaders, or the unscrupulous business man.

Great progress was made in the advancement of the Negro toward full citizenship. And while perhaps flares here and there frightened some people, they were growing pains in the child reaching for manhood.

Progress in racial cooperation in Des Moines continued to improve.

As is true in most communities, housing continues to pose a major problem in Des Moines. Negroes pushed the perimeter of proverbial neighborhoods further, but in other sections few residences are to be found.

Undoubtedly, the freeway and urban renewal programs in 1958 will cause many changes and the improvements they bring will depend upon just how aggressive and intelligently Negroes pursue their remedies.

Possibly, the most discouraging has been an almost lack of opportunities in the highly skilled trades. Union constitutions generally ban discrimination on the basis of race but a careful perusal shows that little is being done to implement those provisions.

The Independent (Des Moines) School District, Mercy Hospital, Methodist Hospital, YMCA and a public garage project are all big construction jobs. So far (The Bystander suggests that the readers check this personally) none of the contractors employs Negroes other than as laborers. Check the machine shops, plumbing, telephone, electrical projects skilled in the same situation prevails.

This situation presents a most unfair distribution of employment and upgrading in plain violation of the laws of the unions and the city of Des Moines. Of course, all of this unfairness cannot be charged to labor unions only. Management is directly involved for they operate under mutual working agreements.

Des Moines maintains a Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination which is charged with the direct responsibility of remedying this and similar injustices. But it cannot do the job without the full cooperation of decent citizens and the Negro in particular.

Here are two problems: housing and skilled employment of minority groups which must command special attention in 1958.

NAACP Series on Industrial Skills Opens

Detroit. The first of a nationwide series of NAACP-sponsored conferences designed to develop industrial and technical skills and to eliminate racial restrictions in apprenticeship and other training programs was held here Dec. 14, under the auspices of the Detroit NAACP branch and the Association's national office.

Leading spokesmen for industrial management, educators in the field of vocational training and guidance, trade union representatives and social agency leaders participated in the meeting.

Retina

By not looking at them, you can see faint stars in the sky. The cells in the center of your retina are not as sensitive to light as the cells clustered around the center. By not looking directly at a star, its image will fall on the more light-sensitive cells, and you will be able to see faint stars.

Races Unite in Fund
Drive for Prep Coach

Ardmore, Okla.—Negro and White citizens and friends of Tim Crisp, veteran Negro coach and teacher, are raising funds to give something extra at a high school football banquet this month. The proceeds are to be given to Crisp to honor the man whom they say "has ably helped mold the youth of this area over a quarter of a century." In the first few hours $105 was given.

Crisp coached Ardmore Douglass, a Negro school, to an Oklahoma Class B football championship this year.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The top sports story of 1957 wasn't Althea Gibson's tennis victories. She was the only player who could be rated number one. The best woman player in tennis and since the best player in tennis wins nine-tenths out of ten, Miss Gibson just naturally did what she was supposed to do.

The best of the fellows who was the first Negro to win a major golf tournament was to us the top news. Other stories would include the Ray Robinson-Basilio fight for the middleweight championship. We thought that was a close one and believed that Ray's troubles with the International Boxing Club cost him his title.

The brilliant plays of the Negroes for Milwaukee in the World Series; the sensationalism of Aubrey Lewis in the Drake Relays also rank; The intensive number of the strong relay team at Drake from Negro schools; and the number of players who have gotten into the pro-football league; The fine plays of Sid Williams of Wisconsin probably the Best Big Ten regular quarterback; Jim Pace of Michigan who runs like George Tolliver used to; Bill Russell's pro-debut and the way he shook up the pre-basketball league.

Locally our Hilltop tennis meet was about the best news. This was the biggest meet of them all. From the standpoint of entrants from different places. The number of little fellows in the little football league and have done good most of the year. The doings of the kids in high schools, none of them too good.

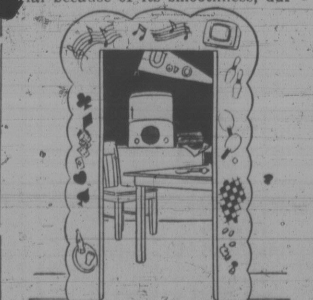

1957 was quite a year, oh yes, what a college all star football game!

An Unusual Entrance

IN SOME settings, a valance can dress up an otherwise drab doorway between rooms. Typical locations are a recreation room, a nursery or an enclosed porch.

A pattern for this improvement may be laid out on wrapping paper and then transferred with carbon paper to pieces of Masonite 1/4" tempered Preswood. This material because of its smoothness, durability and paintability is widely used for valances and similar installations in homes and commerce.

Width of the pieces should be approximately twice that of the door framing, depending on individual taste and the size of the doorway. Mitered joints between the two side panels and the top should be planned. The curved lines forming the outline may be cut with a coping saw.

After making certain that the parts fit, by laying them out on the floor, the craftsman should lightly bevel the exposed edges with a file, beveler or sandblock. They should be fastened directly to the door frame with finishing nails. If there is a molding around the outer edge of the frame, shims of Preswood should be attached first to bring about a level nailing plane.

The artistic homemaker can decorate the door valance in some ingenious manner.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Defective Eyesight

During this Holiday Season we should take stock of our successes and our shortcomings of the previous years. Dr. James F. Speers, Director of the City and County Health Department, states: "We wish the New Year to be a happy one. To make it what we wish it to be, we must put forth effort to shape it to our liking. We must remember that health and happiness are related. We cannot have one without the other."

Health Resolutions

As we think in terms of resolutions we should promise ourselves that we will look after our own health as well as the health of our families. We take good care of the family car by repairs before they become too expensive. Why not apply the same caution to the care of the human machine? Resolve now to go to your family doctor, have a physical examination.

Aching teeth can cause unhappy nights and days. They usually result from previous neglect. It's better to chew it than to gum it. So, have that dental check-up very soon.

House Clutter

It might also be a good idea to resolve to get uncluttered. Let's not commit suicide by breaking our necks in a poorly lighted or littered stairway; or poison a youngster by carelessly leaving medicines or other poisonous substances within easy reach of small children.

"Last, but not least," concludes Dr. Speers, "a sage of old was not far wrong in the admonition, 'live within your limits, be your age.'"

Two Bishop Players Named to the Gulf
Coast All-Conference Football Team

Marshall, Texas.—Two Bishop College Tigers have been named to the Gulf Coast All-Conference football team, and two other Bishop players have been named to the second team. The ratings of football players and teams in the Gulf Coast Athletic conference were revealed as the result of a meeting held in Hot Springs, Arkansas Saturday, Dec. 12th.

Chambers

Named to the All-Conference squad was Stanley Chambers, 185-pound speedy, shifty, fullback from Dallas. Chambers earned a berth on the All-Conference-squad because of his consistent display of hard tackling and vicious running. He was a threat throughout the season, chalking up long gains in practically every game.

Harvey

Named to one of the guard posts on the Gulf Coast All-Conference team was stocky Lawrence Harvey of Fort Worth. Harvey tipped the scales at 210-pounds. He was an effective plug in his side of the line with his hard tackling. He also was effective for "bullying" open holes for Tiger backs. Harvey has completed his college football career. Chambers still has one season to play.

The two players named to the second team were Tommie Wyatt, 175-pound sophomore tackle from Lubbock, Texas and Willie Robertson, 213-pound sophomore center from Dallas.

GENTLE PEOPLE

We need more gentle people
And not men of renown,
But the kind of easy-going folk
That grace a quiet town.
The sort you know as neighborly
Who live the Golden Rule,
And share the trouble and the joys
And love their Sunday school.
These do not bow to wealth or pomp,

For they're honest from the start;
That is the way of gentle folk,
They judge you by your heart.

EACH VICTORY

Each victory is twice as sweet
That we have won alone,
We lay them at the Masters' feet
And for our sins atone.

To gain and grow in grace today
We treasure every mite;
Sharing strength along the way
Preparing for the night.
The night will come, that we know
Jesus told the brethren so.
And we march to meet eternity
Joyful in each victory . . .

Golfer Sifford in Line
For Hickok Belt

New York, N. Y.—Charley Sifford, first Negro to win a major golf title, is now again for the first time, in the running for the professional athlete of the month, thereby gaining an opportunity to compete with 11 other athletes, should he win the monthly award for the big trophy, the $10,000 Hickok belt. In the past seven years of competition one Negro has won the S. Rae Hickok belt. That was in 1954 when Willie Mays won over the field.

Monthly Votes

Every month sports writers vote on the winner. Although baseball lagged in the years' voting, over the seven-year stretch, four annual award winners have been baseball men. Only once has a football player won the prize. The other two spots went to boxing and golf. Monthly winners have included jockeys, auto racers, hockey, and basketball players.

Negro Winners

Over the years, baseball, boxing and golf have led the fields and on numerous occasions Negro professional athletes have been monthly winners.

The big choice however, is the one that counts and annually at a big banquet in Rochester, N. Y., the winner is presented the valuable diamond studded gold belt carrying a cash value of $10,000.
