Local NAACP to Hold Lincoln-Douglass Program Here Feb. 25

The Des Moines chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will observe Negro History Week with a Lincoln-Douglass Program at Willkie House, Tuesday, Feb. 25 beginning at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the race relations observance will be the Rev. A. Lewis Williams, pastor of St. Paul AME Church.

The local organization decided against their usual presentation of a national speaker since they are bringing the Rev. Martin Luther King, leader of the successful bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., here for a speaking engagement next October.

Others appearing on the program will be Mrs. Myrtle Page, soloist; Vernon Kohls of the Des Moines Art Center, "the Gettysburg Address"; Mrs. Sarah Tucker, with patriotic music. Presiding over the program will be Mrs. Sara Jett, NAACP program committee chairman.

An executive board meeting will precede the program at 7 p.m.

Parental Protests Restrict 'Offensive' Classroom Book

Parental protests to a Des Moines public school official resulted in restrictions of a book that carried several references which are considered "offensive" from a racial standpoint.

The book is "All Over Town", by Carol Ryrie Brink and although it was not a regularly used textbook, has been available to grade school classrooms since about 1937, according to Superintendent of Schools John H. Harris.

Future Printings

Following classroom reading from the book by a teacher several weeks ago, parents protested to the principal and to the publishing house, (Macmillan). The latter promised "changes in future printings" and present copies were recalled by Harris for investigations.

References

The book refers to licorice that is shaped like "nigger babies." A candy is called "nigger head." One chapter cites "Indians or African or Chinese" as "REAL heathens." These references elicited subsequent protests.

Human Relations

The mathematical equation of human relations might seem complicated but the simple formula to the solution is brotherly love, tolerance and understanding. Apply it during Brotherhood week, Feb. 16-23.

350 Hear Brotherhood Talks By Evashevski, Panelists on State, Local Race Progress

Forest Evashevski, football coach at the State University of Iowa, flew through cold skies Monday and told nearly 300 interested Brotherhood listeners that "it's unfortunate we have a Brotherhood week to celebrate but since we do have one—it is well to go through it to feel out the problems."

Appearing as principal speaker at the Hotel Savory for the 13th annual "day of Brotherhood," Evashevski lauded the sports world for its total absence of intolerance.

Athletics—No Bias

He maintained, "In no other field in all America can a person pay the price, show his wares, and accomplish his objectives without handicaps of race or religion entering in."

Biased Ministers

Evashevski also criticized "some

Who's Who in Iowa

Albert Garrison, 30, Lands Production Analyst Position With Strategic Air Command

(This is the first in a series of articles featuring Negro first, leaders, and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, and entertainment fields.)

A week ago yesterday, Albert L. Garrison, 925 18th Street, was notified by telegram that he had been selected as a civilian production specialist at the Strategic Air Command base at Rapid City, S. Dak., and to report there March 2.

Chosen From Three

The 30-year-old college trained accountant had scored 99 on a civil service examination he took here two months ago; was one of three top men called to South Dakota recently for five days to be interviewed by a general from Strategic Air Command headquarters at Offutt Air Force base in Omaha, Nebr.; was taken on a tour of the base and introduced to the staff; and then returned to Des Moines to await the decision which would determine if he landed the job, which is equal to the grade level (G13) of postmaster in the civil service, or accept the position of postal inspector in the Internal Auditing Department at San Francisco, Calif. He scored a 94 on that test.

Staff of Seven

Specifically Garrison will be working in the production Control Branch, with five military orderlies, one military cost accountant and one civilian cost accountant under his supervision. In addition, when the Production Control Officer, (He's a Colonel) is away from the base, as he often is, Garrison will be in complete command. His job will cover scrutiny of estimates, and actual costs of bidders, expediting work of contractors and general advisor to the administration of the base.

Drake Student

A native of Waterloo, who modestly claims he "just got by" in elementary and East Waterloo High, Garrison attended Gates Business College in his hometown, Penn College in Ocasalosa, Drake University for three years majoring in accounting and business administration; is a former employee of the Department of Internal Revenue; and established his own Tax and Bookkeeping service.

Balance Sheet

Mrs. Luther Glanton, assistant Polk county attorney, commended Iowa for its desegregated record. She cited the telephone company, Younkers, some insurance companies and the press among a few opening responsible jobs to Negroes.

Debit Side

On the debit side she noted the transit, fire department, taxi services

12 Arrested for Violating Key Club Ordinance

The first charges specifying violations of the new city key club ordinance were filed here Saturday when police raided the Workman's club, 1515 Walker Street and arrested 12 persons.

Marion L. Baker, 38, identified as operator of the club, was accused of failing to file the location of the club and the names of its officers, as required by the new ordinance, and of allowing consumption of liquor between 1 and 6 a.m., which is prohibited by the ordinance.

Innocent Plea

Barker, who gave his address as 1408 Maple St., pleaded innocent to both charges and to a charge of operating a disorderly house when arraigned before Municipal Judge Ray Harrison. Barker was released on $300 bond pending a hearing on the charges Feb. 28.

Eleven other persons—five women and six men—were released without bond pending hearings Feb. 28 after pleading innocent to charges of resorting to a disorderly house. Three of the men also pleaded innocent to charges of intoxication.

Garrison and his wife, Margaret, by a second marriage, have four children, ranging in ages from seven months to five years, and have resided in Des Moines since 1950.

He is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Pythias and served on the Willkie House Athletic Board.

His father, Frank Garrison, is a 33rd degree Mason and is Imperial Potentate of the Shriners in Iowa.

Jefferson City, Mo.—In celebration of Negro History Week, members of Lincoln University (Mo.) had the privilege of hearing one of the nation's outstanding educators, at a special convocation, Thursday, morning Feb. 13, in Page auditorium.

Dr. Horace Mann Bond, guest speaker for the occasion, is known both as a writer and educator. At present he is holding the post of Dean of the College of Education at Atlanta University, he was previously for some years president of Lincoln University at Oxford, Penn. He holds the degrees of A.M., LL.D., and Ph.D., and has been on the staffs of Langston U. of Langston, Okla.; Fisk U. at Nashville, Tenn.; Dillard U. of New Orleans, La.; and others.

Dr. Bond is the author of three books: the Education of the Negro in the American Social Order; Education in Alabama, a Study in Cotton and Steel; and Education for Production.

Reports Circulation of Negro Newspapers off Nearly 250,000

Jefferson City, Mo.—Negro newspapers today circulate a total of 1,697,500 copies an issue, a drop of almost a quarter of a million in two years. The 172 papers in the Negro group, mostly weeklies, are published in all but 15 states plus the District of Columbia and Alaska.

Results of an annual survey of the colored press, showing each paper's circulation, have just been released by the Lincoln University department of Journalism, Jefferson City, Mo.

Seven Defunct

The Lincoln University name and address listing, available on request shows a decline of seven papers from that of 1956 when the last survey was made. It gives Audit Bureau of Circulations figures for 26 member papers and identifies the 28 papers that belong to the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

California, one of the states absorbing Negro migrants from the South, spawned more newspapers (4) during the two-year stretch than any other state and leads the country, along with Alabama, with 14 weeklies.

89 Papers in South

Tennessee and Texas come next with 11 papers each; then New York with nine; Illinois, Florida, and North Carolina, eight each; Mississippi, Georgia, and Ohio, seven. Eighty-nine papers in 13 southern states and Washington, D. C. account for 155,473 of the 1,697,500 circulation total.

California Tops

The 138,074 circulation of the California Weeklies tops that of any single state except Pennsylvania, whose Courier, printed at Pittsburgh, sells all but 26,205 of its 224,104 weekly copies in other states, largely southern.

Two of the 172 papers are dailies (at Chicago and Atlanta) five are semi-weeklies, one a bi-weekly, and the remaining 164, weeklies.

D. M. Dodgers Open $50,000 Stock Sale

SET $10 PER SHARE TO FIRMS, FANS

The drive to assure solid financial backing for Des Moines' first community-owned baseball club, the Des Moines Dodgers, began Feb. 19th. Goal is the sale of $50,000 in stock at $10.00 per share.

Baseball, Inc., is the name of the civic organization that will run the Western League club under a working agreement with the Los Angeles Dodgers. The civic group took over the franchise from the Chicago Cubs, who had owned and operated the Des Moines club since 1947.

Community

In recent years, Des Moines was the only Western League city whose club was under outright ownership of a major league sponsor. Des Moines now joins a whopping majority of cities throughout the minor leagues whose clubs are financed and operated by community organizations.

Local Project

"We intend this to be a community-wide project," said Herb Drey, president of Baseball, Inc., "It has been demonstrated in other cities that the fans like to own a piece of the ball club and I think it will work out that way here."

Drey said business and industry will contribute to the purchase of stock, but that "it's up to the fans to help keep baseball alive in Des Moines."

Limited

"There will be a limit on the amount of stock any firm or individual can buy," Drey said. "The more stockholders we have, the wider interest there will be in the club." Drey said the sale of $50,000 in stock "will assure a successful operation with the help we get from the Dodgers."

The 1958 theme is Brotherhood for Peace and Freedom—Believe It!—Live It!—Support It!—that people shall live as one family of man.

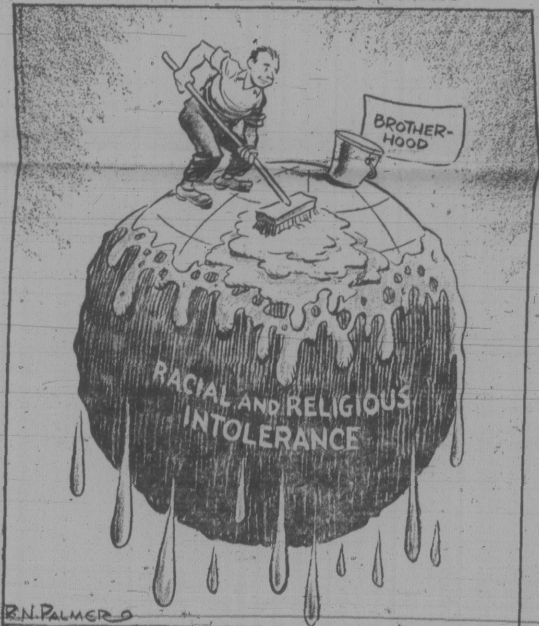

Special events in more than 10,000 communities throughout the United States will mark Brotherhood Week. Programs will extend the work of the National Conference which stimulates year-around programs in schools and colleges, churches and synagogues, labor-management and community organizations, and in newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, radio and television.

The purposes of Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference, are to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for people and human rights. "We try to dramatize the practical things that people can do to promote understanding and realization of those ideals. Brotherhood Week is essentially a campaign against the prejudices and bigotries that disfigure and distort religious, business, social and political relations."

The big promotion during Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Clinchy, will be to urge people to do more than give the principles of brotherhood mere lip service. "By getting to know the other fellow, the one who has a different creed, race or national origin than yours, by understanding his viewpoint, his ambitions and goals, you will find old prejudices disappear. You'll find that we are all one family made strong and great by the very differences that so many times divide us as individuals and groups. You'll learn to accept or reject a person strictly on his merits as a human being and not because he happens to be different from you."

"We hope that during Brotherhood Week people will begin to get to know and appreciate each other—to make Brotherhood a year round practice."

Statements by Prominent Americans on the Meaning of Brotherhood

Our American way of life is based on the concept of brotherhood: giving to others the same rights and privileges we would like for ourselves. Our free enterprise society is based on the concept of the utilization of the most efficient human skills and the most efficient machine skills. The challenge to all of us today—labor, management, government—is to implement these principles to their fullest extent in practice so that we may maintain and expand our system for the benefit of all.

We know that management seeks a stable community in which to establish new plants. Discrimination, causing restlessness in the community, is therefore a handicap to the industrial expansion of any locality. Discrimination, unrestrained, can bring anarchy, threatening the basic structure of our law, which in addition to protecting human and civil rights, protects private property.

For these and other reasons, we should practice brotherhood every day in the year. Brotherhood Week presents an opportunity to rededicate ourselves to the acceptance of every individual as a human being, with a spark of divinity, to be judged on his or her own capacity and merit.

Richard Nixon, Vice-President
Chairman of the President's Committee on Government Contracts

Discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin is contrary to trade union principles and contrary to the policy of the AFL-CIO.

Such discrimination in employment or in wages or other conditions of employment is unfair and has the effect of undermining wages and labor standards of all workers. The AFL-CIO looks upon such discrimination as a roadblock to advancements of labor and of the whole community toward a higher standard of living.

The AFL-CIO is dedicated to its drive to bring about the full and equal rights for all Americans in every field of life.

George Meany, President
A.F.L. and C.I.O.

It has always seemed to me that brotherhood must exist between men—as men—before it can exist between races, religious persuasions, or political creeds. It follows, therefore, that brotherhood must exist first in an individual's own heart, before it can exist in a neighborhood, a community, or between nations. Surely the Almighty Himself and the Almighty alone is the fountainhead of brotherhood, and our love of Him the beginning of our love for others. Here are the greatest commandments and the most difficult. But until man obeys them he cannot fulfill his destiny on earth.

Philip M. Talbot, President
U. S. Chamber of Commerce

Lip service is not enough. Tolerance . . . that dreadful word . . . of one another's beliefs is not enough. Brotherhood must be as deep rooted in the spirit as a natural involvement outwardly expressed in service as the worship of God.

Faith Bielewicz

"Togetherness" is but a new and revitalized name for a primal human need. To live richly and fully—perhaps to live at all—man must be able to live with at least some others. To satisfy this deep hunger, he has devised friends: family, tribe, club . . . and touched them with love, the better to hold them together. Where these are lost, with nothing to replace them, man is lost.

Ahmed S. Bokhari,
Under Secretary of Public Information of the United Nations

The family of man is made . . . of many different kinds . . . and each in his own special way . . . worships at different shrines . . . in color, creed and language . . . there is variety. . . and yet each member is alike . . . read on and you will see . . . each has a need for true love . . . without which all is lost . . . love strengthens bonds of brotherhood . . . and pays the highest cost . . . each has a need for friendship . . . the sincere kind I mean . . . friendliness can help to make . . . the sea of life serene . . . so you can see how close we are . . .

the family of man . . . pledged to God the Father . . . and part of His great plan

Ben Burroughs

Brotherhood is one of the most demanding—and most rewarding—principles in our lives. Its application is not limited to our homes or to our homeland. The responsibilities of brotherhood stretch around the world; and wherever men dwell, their needs and their successes are for all to share.

The furtherance of such a principle demands the utmost in justice and charity, but the rewards of brotherhood are even greater. These are the fruits of a world at peace.—Dwight D. Eisenhower, Honorary Chairman

If you want to live the American way, speak up for brotherhood, speak out against prejudice.—Bob Hope

Today you are betting your life on this country you live in. If we want to win the prize of national strength and security we've got to work together. Let's respect each other's race and color and creed. Let's make Brotherhood Week last all year.—Groucho Marx

One thing I like about show business is that people are judged on the basis of their ability, not because of their race, color or creed. And that's the way it should be in every walk of life.—Faye Emerson

Believe that you are a brother to all men and that all men are brothers to you. You'll like yourself better if you do.—Dinah Shore

The opportunity to practice brotherhood presents itself every time you meet a human being.—Jane Wymann

The spontaneous feeling of brotherhood is a mark of human maturity.—Oveta Culp Hobby

The time will come, and soon I hope, when Brotherhood Week will be a reminder, not of the presence of discrimination in our midst, but of its eradication.—Bernard Baruch

The Olympic ideal of sport for sport's sake has defied dictators, outlasted wars and risen above political struggles. It will continue to do so. Sports are most effective weapons against prejudice and intolerance.—Avery Brundage

It seems improbable that we, or any nation or group of nations, will attain peace until each man, in his own mind and heart, treats all men as his brothers.—Eddie Cantor

If you really believe in the brotherhood of man, and you want to come into its fold, you've got to let everyone else in too.—Oscar Hammerstein II

SEEIN' STARS....

WITH DELORES CALVIN

New York City (CNS).—With 30 degree weather in Florida, and no heating system, this usually sunny land is suffering its greatest blow—a bad season all around for everyone. Showbusiness, hotels and other places and people—who solely depend on tourists for trade are hit hardest. Many of the winter vacationists are heading across the way to Havana where it's a bit warmer (at least you can go without overcoats) and spending their dough over there. The recent 3 inch snowfall really finished the future outlook, and though it was fine and dandy for the kiddies, most of whom had never seen snow, it was a horror for businessmen.

ly fainted at the rehearsal the day before—plain pooped after all the excited happenings. He wanted to go on, but Jack insisted he take it easy for a few days in the hospital. Rochester may now be laid up for a week as his physician says he is "exhausted." Trying to sub for Rochester was a hard thing to do, but Andy Devine, who has a matching voice, managed it and got many laughs. Somehow it seemed a cruel blow for fate to play that his faithful valet miss his most important show of the year.

Sarah Vaughn has a new man on the ivories; he's Ronnelle Bright, and she introduced him at the Black Angus in St. Louis where she's performing. With this the season for charities and benefits, the March or Dimes did a magnificent job on their 20th Anniversary at the Waldorf with such stars as Helen Hayes, Eddie Cantor, Rudy Vallee, and newcomer Geoffrey Holder, whose dancing has become a rage here in New York. Geoffrey and his wife, Carmen, have begun a new era in modern dancing—they are frequent attractions at the top theatre stages here on Broadway.

A Last Letter

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Franklin, wife of Mr. George Franklin, 927 Twelfth Street, who died on Feb. 8, spent many moments of her later years, helping many worthwhile causes, sending out messages of cheer and consolation, and greeting cards.

One of Mrs. Franklin's last letters—with a wedding gift note—went the day before her death to a little friend in New York who was a member of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) here during World War II. Throughout the years, they exchanged cards and letters—the last one reaching the former WAC Feb. 10. (Among the things the woman, who had befriended many WACs, penned were these lines: "It is nice to be remembered. Thanks for being so nice and thoughtful to me. May God bless you and yours.")

Helping Children to Understand Moral Responsibilities to Community Can Aid in Arrival at Balance of Conflicting Loyalties

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

CONFLICTS IN LOYALTY

The National Parent-Teacher magazine for January, 1958, contains an illuminating discussion of the question of children's tattling. The article tells of vandals who destroyed a great deal of public and personal property in classrooms over a period of several weeks. The identity of the culprits was known to a number of their schoolmates, but no one reported them. No one wanted to be a "stool-pigeon."

Cost of Vandalism

The school used the episodes of vandalism as an impetus to assign students to interview law enforcement personnel about the reasons behind many kinds of law. Students discovered information about the cost of the vandalism to each taxpayer, including their own parents. They interviewed students whose personal possessions had been destroyed—some valued creative works were impossible to replace.

Conflicting Loyalties

The interviews were used to further a discussion of the conflicting loyalties that tug at all of us. None of us wants to be a squealer, but these children were in an especially difficult position. If they tattled, they were "squealers"; if they did not, their parents, their friends, and they themselves might be future victims of the vandals. The community as a whole would be the most serious victim.

Discussions

These discussions of a costly incident which the students knew about helped them arrive at a balance between the several kinds of loyalty demanded of them at once. They were helped to understand that expected loyalty to their community is an important force, and that they can rightly be expected to assume certain responsibilities toward their Moral Responsibility They were helped to see that rules and law enforcement agencies are not separate from them as persons but are actually extensions of their own selves as citizens. Though they are seldom exercised, citizens do have certain powers of arrest, and citizens do have an interest in placing moral responsibility to the community high on the list of guiding principles of conduct.

Personal Touch

By MARIE ROSS

With the arrival of the season of Lent, many social activities in organizations and institutions about the city will be scarce from now until Easter—seven Sundays away. In the meantime business meetings will go right on—with officers and members planning spring projects.

Soon it will be time to send delegates, messengers and representatives to annual spring and summer associations, conferences, councils, congresses, conventions and convocations, and scratching their heads now—are committee members who are wondering what they can promote for a financial success.

Here is a project I think worthy of mentioning for so many people are benefitted, and much happiness is sent out, and the sponsors are rewarded.

The very successful project which closed Sunday at Kansas City, Kansas church—Stranger's Rest—reaped the promoters—the Sunday School department, a total of $314.35. That amount already has been banked and with another sum to be raised on the regular youth Sunday in June, will be used, specifically, to send the Sunday School superintendent, the director of the training school and two young people as the church's delegates to the Sunday School Congress which meets in June at Omaha, Neb.

A part of the money will be used to send another youth delegate from the church, a college freshman, to the World Youth Alliance which meets in Toronto, Canada, this year. When one thinks of what these opportunities will mean to each youth—one can feel quite proud of the church and its sponsors for such a worthwhile program.

Gala Event

The program which ended Sunday is one of the gala events of the year

How-To-Do It

How was the money raised? That is what the finance committee people are waiting to find out. Well, it was easy to do. The Sunday School (or it could be some other department of an organization) encouraged all of its members, its friends, and just everybody, young or aged, newcomer or old settler, to have his or her name entered on the church's birthday roll.

To do so, one must give or have given for him or her, as a registration "gift"—the small sum of eight cents for each letter in the name of his or her birthday month. If born in February, one would make a gift of thirty-two cents; if May—only twenty-four cents. The person's name and address is registered with the church's birthday chairman, who in this case is Mrs. Frankie J. Wood, also program chairman of the Sunday School. If she gets too busy she always has her Sunday School pupils to help her address the especially selected birthday cards which are mailed to the recipients so that they will receive the cards on or before their birthdays. The recipients "really enjoy getting birthday cards," the chairman commented.

The cards and postage are furnished by the church. Heading the church is the Rev. C. A. Pugh, remembered by a large number of Des Moines residents who heard him and one of the choirs of his church—and met about 125 members in a goodwill concert at Corinthian Baptist Church two summers ago.

A commendable project for young people to sponsor—won't you agree! Sending out birthday cards seems to be such a little thing—but—it is

MAYBE, CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION JARRED

"When a pig is stuck he squeals" with all his might may well be applied to the reply by the Des Moines Civil Service Commission to a series of complaints of racial discrimination made by the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights.

The Civil Service Commission charged that the complaints by the Human Rights group were a deliberate attempt to influence them to violate state laws and that the charges were underhanded, unethical, impolite and an unsatisfactory method. This, of course, is simply a smoke screen to hide the issue.

But the crux of the Civil Service Commission's reply, which, while written to the Human Rights group, was released by City Council sources and was bad ethics is the attitude of most city departments to ignore the commission, states:

"Constructive criticism and advice from the members of the council and the city manager is certainly welcomed and solicited."

The commission has and will present adequate proof of their charges. The Civil Service Commission has been jarred in the conduct of their jobs reasoning "the king can do no wrong."

The Bystander backs the Human Rights group and offers any assistance it can give in their efforts.

KEEP OBJECTIONABLE

MATERIAL OUT OF SCHOOLS

Not until Negro children reported to their parents was it generally known that readers containing offensive terms were being used in the public schools of Des Moines. And to make things worse one teacher told pupils who complained that they could leave the room if they did not like to have them read.

These books included the use of the word "nigger" in several instances.

Superintendent Harris, informed of the matter, stated that the objectionable portion of the books would be deleted if the matter was found to be objectionable. Of course, such terms are all objectionable. Any intelligent person should know this.

The Bystander is glad Mr. Harris proposed prompt action and hopes it will be carried out promptly. But as an assurance that similar incidents do not occur again, it would be well that a general order go out to teachers that such terms are objectionable and material including them must not be used in the school system.

Radio and TV stations, newspapers, magazines and all types of publications are following a course in line with the suggestion mentioned above. Surely our schools could do no less.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

A stranger who reads the U. S. and state constitutions and laws made pursuant thereto and hears protestations about democracy in America is easily bewildered to find the necessity of brotherhood week. But as he reads the ad in the New York newspaper presenting the "clean side" of White Citizens Councils, the daily papers about bringing a council speaker into Iowa from Mississippi and the host of injustices against citizens because of their race, religion or color, he begins to understand.

It happens all too often that those who should be leading the way of brotherhood are pulled away by some irrelevant issue which carries more weight with some than the things that are just and proper.

Thus, those who believe in fair play and are attempting to make it a living thing among all people find themselves putting up a lot of time fighting things which should not exist.

And it is for these reasons that groups over the country are observing Brotherhood week, February 16-23. This, of course, does not mean that the practice of Brotherhood should stop at the end of this period but should continue 365 days each year. When gatherings bring together all groups of people interested in making America a better place in which to live, these observances do a lot of good.

On Guard!

For a better, greater Des Moines, speak up for BROTHERHOOD... and speak out against prejudice. The rewards of BROTHERHOOD are great. Observe Brotherhood week in Des Moines, Feb. 16-23.

BROTHERHOOD means giving to others the rights and respect you want for yourself. Make BROTHERHOOD an integral part of you. Live it! Believe it! Support it! Observe Brotherhood Week in Des Moines Feb. 16-23.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

Delbert Baldridge became one of the few fellows around here who has won both the pocket billiards and the carom billiards titles. Del won the carom billiards title a couple of years ago and last Wednesday night defeated his uncle, Frank Winters for 150 to 74 for the pocket billiards crown.

To reach the finals Del had to also win the family championship.

Baldridge

He beat brother, Mel Eubanks in one match and his uncle in the finals. Lee Banks ran 37 balls in his losing first round battle with the champion. This stood up for the tournament high run and netted Banks a nice trophy and a ten dollar bill. E. P. Jackson won a trophy for the best sportsmanship of the meet.

Al Garrison really out did himself in awarding prizes. Besides the above mentioned prizes, he gave the meet winner a fine trophy and fifty dollars cash; second place Winters received choice of a twenty dollar pair of shoes or ten dollars cash and a cue. Winters took the cash and the cue.

The meet was a handicap affair as it has been the case in every meet held here. No man who didn't start from scratch has ever won any of them. In fact Winters is to our knowledge, the first player with a handicap to reach the finals.

Basketball

We were glad to see that there will be no segregation at the NCAA basketball meet in Charlotte, N. C. This is about the only step the boys could take if they wanted to make a representative meet. With most of the country's leading basketball teams depending on Negroes to make them go! You can imagine what kind of a meet they would have if all of the top teams pulled out.

To schedule the tournament in a southern state in view of the number of Negroes who would be competing wasn't too brilliant. But now having made their choice, the NCAA officials had no alternative but to stand behind their previous policy. Are they to be commended or not? What do you think?

This silly segregation thing is really getting the South in the pocketbook and may suddenly die a natural death pretty soon. As soon as the diehards realize how much they won't get in football games that have been postponed or called off.

East Boxing Teams Merge For Tourney

Mel Barber's Boxing Club will merge with the Lee Township team to form Barber's Lee Township Club for the Golden Gloves tournament at KRNT theater, Feb. 19-20.

The teams have joined in the hope of halting Barton's Chili King squad from sweeping the team honors for a third straight year.

Barber's Lee Township group will include two defending gloves champions, featherweight Gary Sturdivant and welterweight Ernie Martin.

It's Nigerian Champ vs. Mexican Boxer Mar. 20

Los Angeles, Calif., — Nigerian bantamweight champion Hogan "Kid" Bassey is coming to Los Angeles to defend his title against Ricardo "Pajarito" Moreno of Mexico City in Wrigley Field, Mar. 20.

Matchmaker George Parnasus signed the champion for a $70,000 guarantee. Moreno will get $38,000. California state bantamweight champion Billy Peacock and Tulaco Lopez will tangle in a 12-round companion feature the same night. The winner of this contest will get a chance at France's Alphonse Hamilli sometime in May.

HEALTH FOR ALL

ASTHMA

A child coughs, wheezes, gasps for breath. It's a terrifying experience for a parent. Is it asthma? If it is, will the child get over it?

Today there is no reason to panic when the doctor says, "It's asthma." Thanks to modern medical knowledge of the condition, children rarely die of it. Some children outgrow it, usually during adolescence. With drugs and understanding care attacks can be eased. Often it's possible to find the cause and eliminate it.

Allergic Reaction

Asthma is not contagious in the sense that a child "catches" it. It is a condition caused by allergic reaction to some substance which is inhaled (Pollen, dust, gas, animal dander) or carried to the lungs through the blood stream (possible a drug, virus, bacteria, or food derivative). The result is swelling and spasms in the bronchial tubes and excessive secretion of mucus. Attacks vary widely in frequency and severity. Chronic asthma with frequent, severe attacks can result in permanent damage to the lungs.

Cause of Attacks

The most important step is to find out, if possible, what causes the attacks. The doctor will try to get a complete history of conditions under which attacks start, any family history of allergies. Skin tests may give valuable clues to the substance which produces allergy.

Protection

Once the cause is known, the child can be protected as far as possible from contact with the allergen. It's important to guard him, also, against certain predisposing factors such as colds, fatigue, overexcitement, or anxiety. Sometimes a change of climate helps, but only if it's certain the new location is free from the allergy-producing substance. Any child with asthma should be under a doctor's care.

Young Middleweight Boxer is Tough Competitor In the Ring and—On Motorcycles, Too.

Eugene Wesley Brown

An 18-year-old North High junior who is interested in auto mechanics, Eugene Wesley Brown, is a hard-hitting amateur boxer, a fast-riding motocyclist and former-cinder star at Amos Hiatt Junior High.

Eugene, who has a record of three knockout-victims and two-decision losses, got started in boxing about two years ago when Earl Jackson, a local trainer, dropped in at a East side business shop where Eugene was working and interested him in trying out.

The 151-pound middleweight, (started as welterweight) entered the Golden Gloves competition here last year but didn't get beyond the elimination series. An ardent admirer of Sugar Ray and Joe Brown, he will compete in the Golden Gloves again here this week at KRNT theater and if he goes all the way... to Chicago, that is, he may... just may turn pro.

Under the directions of his manager, William Heath who is a pastor also, Eugene trains one and one-half hours each evening after he's completed his daily part-time job duties at the Iowa Bystander.

Eugene, who kayoed the 1957 Golden Glove champion last April has a keen interest in motorcycles.

Building a Greater Iowa

America's Top Farm State

Nature gave Iowa a rich endowment — first in the nation in Grade "A" farm land. In fact, Iowa has one-fourth of all Grade "A" soil in the United States. No wonder our farm wealth tops the nation!

And adding to this wealth, one of the best customers our farmers have is the brewing industry. Each year the industry buys over $250,000,000.00 worth of farm products for the brewing of beer... the light, bright beverage of moderation. High on the list is corn, our No. 1 crop, because corn is a principal ingredient in brewing. Yes, in boosting farm wealth, as in so many other phases of our Iowa economy
