Martel Bolden Builds Own Radio Transmitting Set; Is One of Iowa's Ham Operators

This is the 54th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Martel Bolden, of 1107½ University avenue, held to tradition by joining the infantry as his ancestors had done instead of the air force as he wanted. But, when he returned from Korea with the Purple Heart medal, he broke tradition and took studies which enabled him to become Iowa's only known Negro ham radio operator.

Several years after Korea, Mr. Bolden entered American Technical school, 927 W. 8th street, for the study of radio and television. He finished and went into the business of part-time repair work for the medium.

Installs Set

However, he had always wanted to be a ham radio operator and proceeded to install his own 50 watt set, novice class, in his home with the help of associates, finishing the job several months ago.

"It took about three weeks to build the set for a cost of about $40 and a second hand receiver cost another $80," he said.

3 States To Go

"I have worked (communicated with other ham operators) a lot long distance, the West coast, and deep South and Canada, but not Alaska yet," he noted.

"I have three more states to go, Wyoming, New Hampshire, and New Mexico, before I can qualify for 'Work All States certificate,'" he went on.

Public Service

"Ham operators are dedicated to public service," he continued. "During times of emergency, such as floods, tornadoes, and the like, op-

"Besides, the Morse code, there are about 42 characters (tones) with different meanings, that you have to learn in order to be able to translate at least 15 words per minute," he explained.

In former years Mr. Bolden, who is a native of Little Rock, Ark., was better known for his model airplanes which he built and tested in the city parks.

Plan Second Youth March on Capitol

The Rev. Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, leader of the school integration fight in New York's Board of Education, today urged public school students, teachers and principals to participate in a youth march in Washington on April 18th, "to win for the entire nation the democracy we seek in New York."

In a letter to over 10,000 student leaders, heads of parents' groups, teachers and school administrators, Dr. Taylor called for "thousands of signatures on petitions to the President demanding speedy integration in all the nation's schools."

Delegates Pledged

The 1959 Petition Campaign and March was initiated at a meeting of over 10,000 Negro and white young people in Washington last Oct. 25. The meeting, which included delegations from all parts of the United States, pledged to "come back to Washington again and again

Sidney Poitier Among Best Actor Nominees For Oscar Award

Hollywood, Calif. — Sidney Poitier, star of "The Defiant Ones," was nominated Feb. 23 for an Academy Award in the 31st annual Oscar race, Hollywood's highest honor.

Besides Poitier, the actors vying for a golden statuette were Tony Curtis, "The Defiant Ones," Paul Newman, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," David Niven, "Separate Tables," and Spencer Tracy, "The Old Man and the Sea."

Poitier and Curtis, the handcuffed prisoners in "The Defiant Ones," both were up for their first Oscar nominations along with Newman.

Poitier's selection was a double honor for the actor—he was the first Negro ever to be nominated for the top male award.

Cartoonist Sent to Chain Gang; President Eisenhower Urged to Intervene in Case

Chicago, Ill. — The intervention of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the case of a Negro civic and union leader now serving a six-month conviction on an Alabama chain gang for ordering a poster portraying a Negro praying to God for help to win equal rights, was demanded here by civic, union and religious leaders.

The chain-gang of Asbury Howard, President of the Bessemer Voters' League and International Vice-President of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers came promptly after his appeal for a new trial was turned down by Jefferson County Superior Court.

Poster "Crime"

In a telegram to the President, Raymond Dennis, executive board member of the union declared that "each day we allow Asbury Howard to remain chained on the streets of Alabama for the 'crime' of having

Brutally Beaten

The now-famous "prayer poster" case which saw the 52-year-old Howard and his son brutally beaten inside the Bessemer Court House by an anti-Negro mob while city policemen looked on, was regarded here by civic leaders as a desperate attempt by poll-tax leaders of the South to defeat the growing voting strength of Negro citizens and to head off demands for Negro representation.

Re-enlists in Air Force

Harry Lockman, son of Mr. Daniel D. Lockman, and one of this city's fine young men, has re-enlisted in the United States Air Force. He left for Denver, Colo., on Feb. 21 to continue his military service.

A going away party by the young set was given in his honor on the first floor of the Elks club that is used and supervised for teenagers. The young man is a member of Copin Chapel A.M.E. church, where he regularly attended.

Senior Choir

The Senior choir of Copin Chapel A.M.E. church under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Robert L. Cox, Jr., gave an enlightening concert at the church Sunday, Mar. 1. Guest pianists were Mrs. John Cooper and Mrs. Blanche Kinkler. The group was organized by the pastor, Mrs. Mary Louise Robinson is the official organist and Mr. Marshall Wells, is president of the choir.

Brotherhood

A few families from Fort Dodge, attended a brotherhood program for a history group in Rockwell City, Ia., located in northwest Iowa. According to the Rockwell City correspondent, Mrs. Roy Ridge, for the Fort Dodge Messenger, the theme of "Brotherhood" was accented at the February meeting of the Calhoun County Historical society in the Rockwell City library with a talk by Al Peters, whose parents were Negro slaves.

Mr. Peters was born Feb. 18, 1887 in Coffman county, Texas. His father, the late King Peters, former resident of Rockwell City, was born in Mississippi. Both father and mother were slaves. Al told of their lives and of how, when they became free, his father started farming with a few acres and "razor-back" hogs.

When Al was three years old, the family went west by "covered wagon" to Oklahoma territory and there he grew to manhood.

He picked cotton and sacked corn after leaving school. Then he worked in a dry-goods store and later on the Santa Fe railroad. After coming to Omaha, he learned the dry cleaning business from a friend and in 1914, came to Rockwell City.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 32nd in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

This week we are penning our commendatory remarks—en masse—to five young gentlemen of the community. As a group they are known as the "Casual Tones." Singly, they are, (above left to right) Bernard Gaines, 18, bass; Marvin Cooper, 17, lead singer; Dennis McCraven, 17, baritone; Wallace Gaines, 17, second tenor; and James Favors, 17, first tenor.

When contacted for this article, through their spokesman, Wallace, made it clear they "do plan to become professionals."

"We cut a record of one of our songs, and a guy who is a manager for talent trying to get started, is trying to interest recording companies in it. Also Hugh Semple, disc jockey at Radio Station KWDM is helping us," he explained.

North Students

The "Casual Tones," all North High students, (one graduated) were first organized by Wallace for a talent assembly at school. They have since performed on three occasions there. They sing mostly rock

'n' roll but also sing spirituals and have sung in most local churches. Other singing appearances include the Elks 50th anniversary, Red Cross convention at Hotel Savary, Junior Prom at Hyperion Field club, and several elementary and junior high schools.

Sports Minded

All five are sports minded. Bernard who graduated last January, played left end in football, lettered twice and received honorable mention on the all-city and all-state rosters. He works part-time at an eastside supermarket.

His brother Wallace, participates in football and track and is interested in commercial art. Both Gaines brothers are members of Union Baptist church, where their father, the Rev. Seymour Gaines is pastor. They are members of a Young Laymen's group there. They reside with their parents at 1173 W. 10th street.

Coaching Career

During his participation in sports,

Dennis has acquired a letter each in football and basketball and two in track. His hobby is singing and he is contemplating a coaching career after graduation in Jan. 1960.

He is the son of Mrs. Rose McCraven of 840 W. 16th street and Frank McCraven.

Likes Radio

James expects to graduate in June 1959 and has lettered once in track and participated in cross country. He would like to go to college and maybe study electrical engineering. His hobbies are sports and building or repairing radio sets.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Woods, of 1239 W. 10th street.

In School Chorus

Besides singing lead with the group, Marvin also sings in the school chorus at North and participates in football, wrestling and track, with a letter in the latter. A member of Union Baptist Church, he is also active in the Young Laymen's group.

His hobbies are singing and dancing and he would like a career in art. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Drain of 1143 W. 3rd street.

Jazz Combo

The "Casual Tones" are accompanied by a school jazz combo, known as the "Chessmen." Players are John Breemer, 18, pianist; Dave Finch, 19, bass player; Greg Love, saxophone; Bruno Valters, drum and Steve Sams, guitar. Dave and John, though still members of the group also graduated in January.

Future aDes

Their calendar is generously notated with future appointments, some of which are the Republican party convention, Lutheran nurses at the Cloud Room (Airport) and several churches. They have auditioned for "Spotlight Parade," statewide talent show to be held in Des Moines in April but have not received word if they made it. Photo courtesy of Des Moines Register.

mer's most outstanding Negro civic leader, was vice-president of Bessemer's National Association for the Advancement of Colored People until that organization was forced to cease operations.

He had been under intense Ku-Klux Klan attack for several years because of his leadership in the campaign to increase the number of eligible Negro voters in Bessemer.

Demand Probes

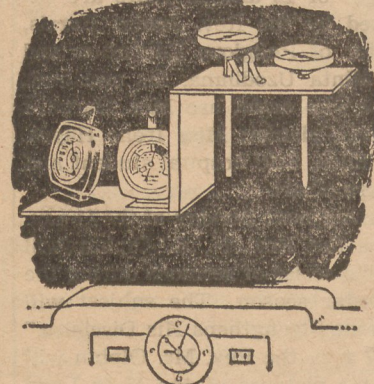

Meanwhile, the Chicago Afro-American Heritage Association joined with the American Civil Liberties Union in demanding full-scale federal probe of Howard's attack and conviction.

Cooking Thermometer Shelf

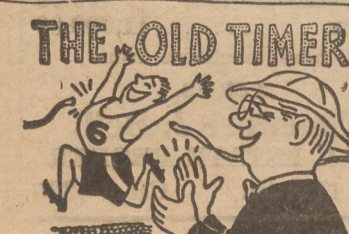

THERE is a growing trend in American kitchens to keep many utensils out in the open where they are easy to reach. This is particularly valuable in the case of often-used instruments and those which are apt to be damaged if left to roll around in a drawer with a lot of other tools. For instance, if you have a fine set of cooking thermometers, as so many good cooks do today, it is a very simple matter to construct a small, handy shelf to display them and protect them.

First take a rectangular piece of one-inch board and two rectangular pieces of Masonite Presdwood. This is a particularly versatile material which can be used for innumerable jobs around the home. The dimensions of these pieces are up to you, depending on the available space and the number of cooking thermometers you wish to display.

These two pieces will actually make two shelves. Into the piece to be used for the top, drill two small holes, into which you can insert the stainless steel stems of your roast meat thermometer and your candy-jelly-deep fat frying thermometer. The round, clock-like faces of the thermometers will prevent them from slipping through the holes, and the thermometers will be always within easy reach if you attach your shelf to the wall or cabinet near the range.

have been denied." The record, the brief continues, "discloses a pattern of racial discrimination which requires that judgment in their favor be entered."

Carl Henderson, superintendent of schools, conceded that the Negro teachers had performed satisfactorily, that they met the required academic qualifications, and that they would have been retained but for the integration of the schools which necessitated fewer teachers. However, he contended, the three newly appointed white teachers possessed intangible qualities, such as personality, essential to good teaching in a greater degree than any of the experienced Negro teachers.

Found Employment

Three of the six appellants have since found employment in integrated public schools in other cities. Miss Moore teaches in East St. Louis, Ill. Miss Hughes is employed as a teacher by the Robertson, Mo., board of education. Mrs. Tymony found employment in the Kansas City, Mo., school system.

What Your United Campaign Did Today

This is the story of Billy—3-year old, confident, effervescent Billy. It's the story of a little boy who used to be frightened, withdrawing and terribly handicapped.

Billy is in a new home now. He has a new mommy, daddy and grandmommy. He's happy and he's fast getting to be just like any other 3-year-old; except, of course, he'll always be very much of an individual.

Child Agencies

The Iowa Children's Home Society, one of the child agencies doing a great job under the United Campaign banner, accepted the responsibility for Billy when he was just a little cross-eyed baby that neither parents nor friends cared anything about. Because of his extremely crossed eyes, inability to walk and poor coordination, some doubt was thrown on his mental capacity. So Billy had to be held back from adoption.

Boarding Parents

ICHS found a couple who, with financial help from the agency, would care for Billy and provide him a loving home until a definite future for the lad could be planned. It was the love these "boarding parents" showed and the correction of physical handicaps by the operations paid for by the agency that made Billy the changed boy he was when the case worker told him a new, permanent home had been found for him.

Thoughtful Buildup

Billy had the benefit of a thoughtful buildup by his boarding mother and the case worker when he visited his new home.

"So this is my new mommy," he said. The same for daddy and grandmommy. He inspected the whole house, from basement to attic, and declared it was O.K.—this would be the place he'd grow up in.

Months before, Billy no doubt would have hidden behind the case worker's skirts. But not the new Billy.

The tyke is proud of his new home, and his new parents are happy to have a son they can call their own. The boarding parents—the salt-of-the-earth kind of folks they are—are ready to give another youngster a good start in life. ICBS workers are glad they could have a part in making Billy a normal boy.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

By May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

"I AM MYSELF"

"I'm sick and tired of being Jim's sister," wailed Deborah. "Why, what do you mean?" asked her mother. "You and Jim never quarrel—what are you talking about?"

"It's just that I'm tired of being compared to him—at school, in Sunday school, and sometimes, Mother, here at home you hold Jim up as a pattern for me to follow and I am tired of it. You see, Mother, I'm myself," said Deborah with great emphasis, "and I can tell you I'm not going to college where Jim plans to go."

Free to "Explode"

"No," said her mother, "you need not—and Deborah, we will see what can be done about this. We really do love you for your own sweet self, you know. We'll try not to make comparisons any more."

Fortunate for Deborah to have a mother who understood and to whom she felt free to "explode."

Teachers, parents, and anyone else responsible for children need to recognize the biological fact that there never can be two absolutely alike. Each person, a new being, deserves to have his own possibilities developed.

Modern Approach

One encouraging fact of the modern approach to childhood is that we can approach their problems from a new angle. We know more and more about behavior, its causes, the ways children learn and the motivations governing their behavior.

It would be well to study individual differences in our children, and indeed it is fascinating to observe them in the baby, the preschool child, the school-age child and the youngster on through adolescence. Only by knowing children as individuals can we be fair to them.

Let's forget comparisons as a motive for so-called "good" behavior.

Fla. Anti-NAACP Ruling Stayed by Supreme Court

Washington—Execution of a ruling of the Florida State Supreme Court requiring local NAACP officers to answer questions asked by a Florida Legislative Committee relative to members of the organization has been stayed by the United States Supreme Court pending the filing of a writ of certiorari in the high court.

The stay, granted on Feb. 24, affords an opportunity for the NAACP to file a petition for a hearing on the state court's ruling, which NAACP lawyers contend, is contrary to the substance of the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Alabama case which held that the Association need not disclose the names of its members.

Committee Hearings

While the Florida court ruling does not require that the names of members be turned over to the legislative investigating committee, it requires the custodian of the list to bring it to committee hearings and, when asked whether a particular person is an NAACP member, to check the list and answer. Further, persons would be required to say, if asked, whether they had seen particular persons at NAACP meetings.

When hearings were held in Miami last year, NAACP officials refused to turn over the list of members on the ground that to do so would expose the members to reprisals and other punitive action.

Forrest "Frosty" Mitchell, a radio-T.V. personality has announced his candidacy for one of the three positions on the Des Moines School Board to be filled on Monday's election.

Mitchell is a Lieutenant in the Iowa National Guard and has been active in community affairs, having received in December, 1958, the Des Moines Junior Chamber of Commerce Keyman Award.

Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Phelps-Stokes Fund and founder of UNCF, spoke of the growth of the College Fund during Mr. Trent's years of service. Dr. Patterson told of his joining the organization during its formative period in February, 1944 and of the key role played by Mr. Trent in its development.

Beginning

In 1944 only 27 colleges joined the Fund. During that first year, UNCF raised $765,000. In 1958 it raised $1,843,033. In 15 years the organization has raised more than $37,000,000 in support of its member colleges. Thirty-three private, accredited colleges and universities located, with one exception, in the South are now members.

The presidents of these 33 colleges presented Mr. Trent with an inscribed sterling silver tray in recognition of his outstanding service.

Personally Yours By Frances Mulhorne.

There comes a time every year after a long seige of winter's cold and storms when you can mark the breakup of winter. There is a definite promise of spring in the air. You can feel and smell it. Minds turn to visions of green grass reborn and verban shoots of perennials peeping above the awakening sod. Such a time came last week. I am sure you felt it. Even though you know there are probable cold days, even snow yet, still it was the long winter breaking up and any last flurry of cold or winter-like storms, will be just that . . . last flurries.

Just as we were in last minute preparations to going to press last week, a letter arrived at our desk, postmarked Fort Madison, Ia. Opening it we discovered it was from Rev. Mrs. Orzyealyea Roberson, executive-director of the Prisoners' Rehabilitation Service, Inc. She had been there to the state prison to attend the 11th anniversary of the Lainett club, an alcoholics anonymous group there. Her letter was so descriptive of her experiences, we thought we would print portions of it here.

"I don't know when I have experienced anything as my trip down here to take part in this meeting. Several hundred people attend from around Iowa and from other states as well.

"As I arrived at the door of the main auditorium one of the inmates on the committee, presented me with a beautiful corsage and pinned it on me. It was so nice. Then I was led to the platform and seated at the table with all the distinguished guests.

"It was a pleasure to meet so many new people who invited me to their cities to speak and to stay in their homes.

"I didn't see but four other colored people in the audience. There were only five colored prisoners present who belonged to the AA down there, too. There are less than 200 Negro prisoners there."

We recognized at least four names among the 250 junior and senior students who were winners in the Iowa art contest and were honored at a special recognition dinner at Younkers Tearoom Saturday evening.

RACE PREJUDICE HURTS OTHERS THAN NEGROES

Most northern schools are refusing to participate in athletic events in those southern states at which their Negro players are not given the same courtesies as white players. Mississippi is one of the states which adheres to this shortsighted rule.

Mississippi State won the basketball championship of the South East Conference. The whole state has followed a rule that their school teams would not compete in events where Negro players might be encountered. So the president has announced that Mississippi State would not play in the National Basketball Tournament because teams with Negro players would be encountered in the competition. And this in spite of the fact that 86 per cent of the student body voted just the other way.

No team which refuses to compete with ALL COMERS can be national champions. Mississippi State passes up the chance to be the national champion because of its stand on race prejudice.

It has been said over and over again that the older people are holding fast to deep-seated race prejudice while the younger group is leading the way from it. Certainly, this vote of the students at Mississippi State points in that direction.

Many southern schools are breaking away from this racial prejudice attitude. This is particularly true of Texas and Florida where Negro players have met good reception. Some are including Negroes on their roster. Many southern boys are coming North to play on professional football and basketball teams where they meet Negro players on every hand. They might as well get accustomed to it in college.

MINORITIES TAKING OVER WASHINGTON

According to a report of the district commissioners to Congress Negroes constitute more than half the population in Washington, D.C. Two things account for this: (first) Negroes have continued to move to Washington in large numbers and (second) the trend toward building better homes in the suburbs and the effort of whites to settle where the Negro population is not large and live under discriminatory conditions.

For years, they have been agitated for the ballot in the District of Columbia but the powers that be have blocked it partly because of the fear that Negroes would control affairs. And with this predominance in population there will be less chance of getting the job done.

Check the Congressional Record, which at times contains the names and addresses of congressmen, and it can be seen readily that many members live in Maryland and Virginia. This is also true of thousands to government workers, many of them purchasing homes, thus indicating that they expect to stay.

Literacy among Negroes in Washington is high, being the home of Howard University and an army of government workers many of whom hold good jobs. Their economic level is high and consistent, so that any additional power of self government given to the district will find Negro residents exercising much weight over what goes on.

VOTE WISELY IN THE SCHOOL ELECTION

The Independent School District comprising Des Moines and some surrounding areas, holds a school election Monday, March 9.

Fourteen candidates are in the race to fill two places. They come from all sections of the district, from every strata of society, men and women.

No salary is connected with the job. On the other hand, each member must give considerable of his time as this board spends a large share of the tax dollar. And it is for this reason that the personnel of the board should include members who have had considerable business experience with large financial transactions.

Of course, all candidates are presumed to be interested in the general welfare of the schools. On the other hand, there are those who carry pet projects to the council table and generally do little else.

It becomes more difficult each year to induce capable qualified people to run for public office due, in part, to the bitter campaigns they must go through, at times, to get elected.

These admonitions may well be taken into consideration when votes are being cast Monday, March 9.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"Shots" for Grown-Ups

How long has it been since your last smallpox vaccination? Bet you don't remember. Have you had a full schedule of Salk vaccine to protect against polio? Too many haven't. Of course, you make sure that your children have all the shots recommended to protect their health. But too many adults forget about their own protection.

It's just plain wasteful not to take full advantage of the immunization science has made available to us. Every person under 40 should be protected against smallpox, poliomyelitis, and tetanus. Smallpox vaccination needs reinforcing every three years. You should have three doses of Salk vaccine. A fourth dose, one year after the third dose, is a good idea, according to the latest reports. Your original tetanus protection should be followed up with booster doses whenever an injury with danger of tetanus happens, otherwise every five years.

Influenza Injections

Influenza injections are wise every year for high risk cases, such as old or chronically ill people, especially those with circulatory or respiratory disease. High risk is also the criterion for BCG vaccination against tuberculosis. Vaccination is recommended for tuberculin-negative people in the following groups: (1) children in areas where the prevalence of TB is high; (2) doctors, nurses, and others working with tuberculosis patients in hospitals; (3) persons unavoidably exposed to continued contact with infectious TB in the home; (4) patients and employees of institutions, such as mental hospitals where the incidence of TB is known to be high.

These recommendations are, of course, only general guidelines. Your family doctor will advise the program of immunization that's right for you.

Globetrotters to Play In Charity Classic

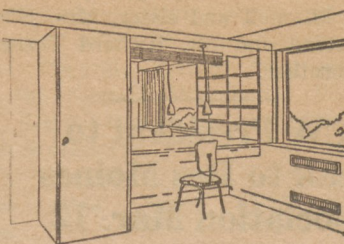

Chicago—The Harlem Globetrotters have been selected to play again in one of basketball's greatest spectacles—The Chicago American's annual Charity Cage Classic.

A Room for Two Children

WHEN two youngsters occupy the same room, ordinarily they have little privacy. However, by using a bit of imagination and ingenuity, the fix-it-themselves family can create a room that has two of everything, plus built-in privacy.

First, the room is divided by means of an extra-wide divider desk and closets. This way, there'll be a separate study and clothes storage area for each child. The separation of the space is completed by a sliding door.

Other features may include a radiator enclosure, fluorescent lighting, spacious drawers in the desks and an attractive soffit. Use of Masonite hardboards for the closet walls, desks, soffit and as underlayment for the flexible floor covering makes such a room improvement both economical and easy. A large variety of hardboards for these purposes are available at lumber yards.

Hardboards made by Masonite Corporation, the pioneer producer, are made by exploding clean wood chips in huge guns and then compressing the fibers into thin, strong panels under extreme heat and pressure. Being all wood, these panels may be worked and finished like wood.

For a free plan detailing how to create a youth room for two, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting plan No. A.E-265.

IN HIS HEART

IN HIS HEART—there is a refuge—purer than the driven snow, calling to the heavy laden on the battlegrounds below. As a child runs to its mother for to soothe its hurt or fright, should all people seek the Father; who can make all things be right. When the chill of death's encroaching, then we reach to grasp His hand; for we know He will protect us only He will understand. In His heart there is compassion when we stumble—go astray, if we ask Him, He forgives us, heals our hurts, and points the way. When the storms have all subsided— from this earth we have to part, we're so glad that we've been guided, by the love that's in His heart.
