Plan Opening May 1 For Urban Renewal Information Center

The Federal government has given its approval to the Des Moines Urban Renewal project but actual acquiring of property will not begin until approximately after July 1, 1959.

According to officials it will require the next 15 months to complete necessary planning which includes a survey of families in the designated area to "determine needs by income groups, family sizes, and type of housing desired." The survey which will be conducted by authorized representatives of the Urban Renewal Board will poll the business establishments in the area also.

Available Housing

A survey checking available housing will be conducted by the board in cooperation with realtors, home builders and other civic groups.

Property owners in the Urban Renewal area are cautioned against spending money for improvements, except those necessary to keep properties in a safe and usable condition until the property can be acquired by the city.

Information Center

An information center to answer questions and give assistance on relocation for persons affected by the freeway and urban renewal projects will be opened May 1 in Room 402 of the Securities Building, 418-7th street.

Families in the area should feel free to visit this office at any time to discuss any problems that may come up. The center will be opened from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

School Subjects

Although he doesn't believe a child can get too much science he thinks it should not be at the expense of other subjects, such as foreign languages, algebra and English.

"There is a need to communicate," he explained, "and we suffer because of our inability to do so."

A man with deep convictions Dr. Hubbard believes a child's direction are set at the age of 10 that punishment for erring children should be suited to the individual and spanking held to a minimum.

Enjoys Family

Dr. Hubbard enjoys his family. plays ball each evening with his children—ranging in ages from 2 to 11, joins in family singing and car rides, helps his wife Wynonna with the household duties and cooking and bathed the children when they were babies.

He is active leader in cub scout activities and coached a Little League baseball team last year. He teaches a Sunday School class of young teenagers at First Methodist church and is an active leader in community services and civic organizations.

Basic Philosophy

His religious beliefs are a vital part of his basic philosophy. It is easy to see that he can "walk" with leading men of science and converse with great minds and still not lose the common touch.

"We should bring ourselves to do what we know is right," he said. "Often when praying for guidance, we are praying for strength to do what we ourselves know is wrong."

Negro Hit Hardest By Recession

Washington—Negro workers have been hit much harder by the recession than whites, a Labor Department report disclosed Friday.

The department said 16 percent of "non-white" men in the total work force were unemployed in February compared to 7 percent for white men.

Since February, 1957, the number of unemployed non-white men has climbed from less than 400,000 to 700,000. This is an increase of 90 percent compared with a 70 percent rise in the number of white men looking for work.

The government said 1,073,000 of the 5,173,000 unemployed in February were non-white. Negroes comprise more than 95 percent of the "non-white" category.

The Crocker Conservation Club will meet Thursday, May 1, 8 p. m., at the Crocker Branch YMCA.

John A. Williams, president, reported that committee appointments would be made and that final plans for the club's fishing trip to Lake Keonah would be discussed.

Hearing Wednesday for Clarence Smith Jr.

After the Bystander news deadline a hearing was being held in Municipal court Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. for Clarence Smith, Jr., 28, of 512 East 16th Street, who is charged with assault with intent to commit rape.

Smith who is alleged to have attempted an assault on a 17-year-old high school girl April 14, was jailed after his arrest for failure to post $10,000 bond.

Estimate Handy, Haggens, Turk Will More Than $250,000 to Human Relations Institute in Omaha

New York, N. Y.—The estate of the late William C. Handy, "Father of the Blues," was estimated here last week as exceeding $250,000, according to reports when the will of the late composer was filed in Westchester County Surrogate's court.

In addition to Mr. Handy's $50,000 Tudor home on a one-acre plot in Yonkers, he was receiving more than $50,000 a year in royalties from his various songs: "The Beale Street Blues," "Memphis Blues," St. Louis Blues," "Yellow Dog Blues," and more than 60 other blues and religious songs which still are being published in many countries.

Memorial Tribute

Out in St. Louis, the city-wide "William Christopher Handy Day" proclaimed for Thursday, April 10 by Raymond R. Tucker, mayor of St. Louis, has been changed to a memorial tribute to the beloved "father of the blues."

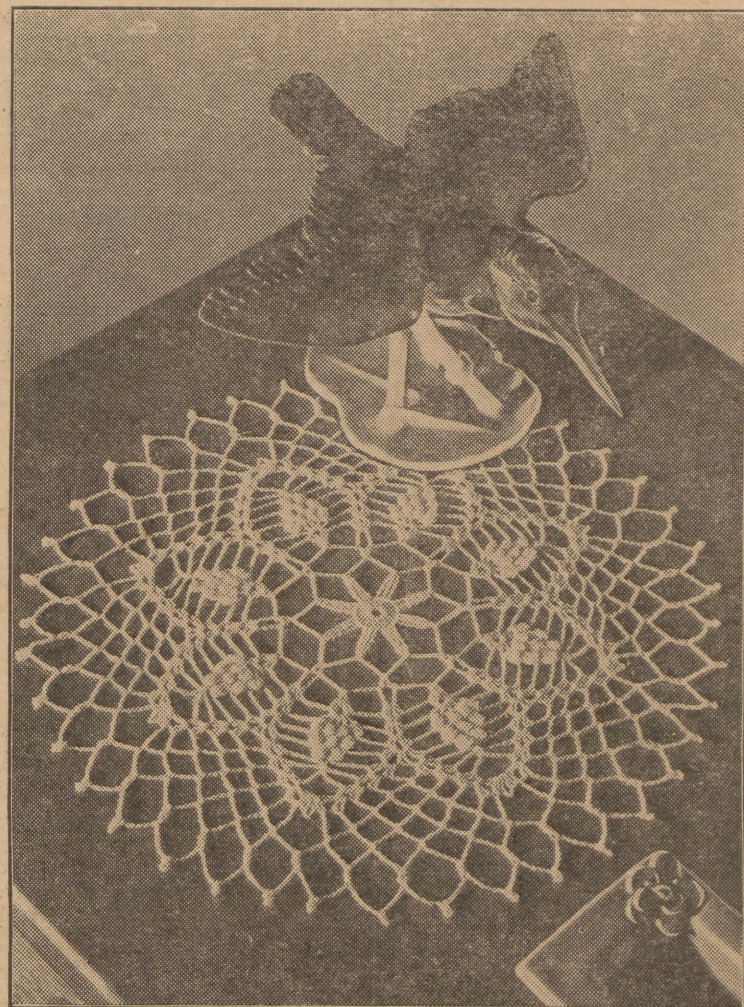

Malcolm Haggens, executive secretary of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights, will serve as a resourceful person on human relations at the Mid West Human Relations Institute to be held in Omaha, Thursday through Saturday.

Also, attending the institute which is sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League will be Sam Turk, chairman of the local rights group.

Plans to attend the three-day meet were made at the regular monthly meeting of the commission. The group discussed two complaints, one on housing and employment, but further details are pending developments and investigations.

THE Kingfisher in the above picture is an imitation of the real bird, but that beautiful doily, designed on the order of a "Kingfisher's Nest" is the "real McCoy." It enhances the appearance of the room where it is used—it protects your furniture from those annoying scratches. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Home Sewing Department of this newspaper, asking for crocheted pattern No. D-123. A Public Statement

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

To correct any erroneous opinion that may prevail concerning the relationship of North Star Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M. and Doric Lodge No. 30, F. & A. M. relative to the operation and/or ownership of Key Clubs, the following statement is issued:

There are only two Clubs composed entirely of F. & A. M. Masons that are under the sanction and supervision of our Lodges. These are service groups and maintain no club rooms. One is the North Star Guardsmen and is sponsored by North Star Lodge No. 2; the other is the Doric Service Club which is sponsored by Doric Lodge No. 30.

North Star Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M. and Doric Lodge No. 30 do not own, operate, sponsor or sanction any Clubs other than the aforementioned.

North Star Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M. and Doric Lodge No. 30, F. & A. M. are not assisted by nor do they receive revenue from any Clubs other than the aforementioned.

The fact that there may be Key Clubs owned and operated by persons who also hold membership in our Order is purely coincidental, and should not be construed to mean that they are sanctioned by or that any liabilities resulting from their operation will be assumed by either North Star Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M. or Doric Lodge No. 30, F. & A. M.

Predicts Nigeria Will Gain National Independence

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD, N. B. C., U. S. A., INC.

Third Of A Series Of Articles
By Dr. C. C. Adams, Secretary

Monrovia, Liberia: Will Nigeria, following Ghana's new independence, be free by 1960? My answer is an emphatic yes. And for many important reasons.

Nigeria has been planning intensively for her independence. No stone is being left unturned to reach her complete independence. Actually, she has all but complete independence right now. There is already absolute home rule in four districts: Eastern, Western, Northern and Southern.

From these four districts, the federal government is formed and is presided over by a prime minister, who is a native Nigerian appointed by the British. Actually, this office is the final hurdle. This step is, of course, to have the federal prime minister elected by Nigerians as the other four are. These four presently elected district prime ministers are not only elected by Nigerians, but controlled by them.

Prime Ministers

For the record, let me give you the names of these prime ministers: The federal prime minister is Abubakar Tafawa Balewa; western district prime minister, Obafemi Awolowo; eastern, Nnamdi Azikiwe; northern, Sardauna Of Sokoto, and the southern prime minister, Dr. Encheley-Prame.

Size and Wealth

Another very important factor is Nigeria's size and wealth. She abounds in richness and vastness.

E. S. Union Mission To Meet at Bethel

The East Side Union Mission society will hold its services Sunday afternoon, April 27 at 2:30 p.m. at the Bethel A.M.E. church. The Rev. James Harris of West Des Moines Baptist church will deliver the message and his choir will furnish the music.

much larger than the Gold Coast which is now Ghana. Where Ghana is 90,000 square miles, Nigeria is 372,000. In fact, Nigeria is about three times larger than England.

Helpful People

The country has many things in its favor. The people are very kind and very helpful in their social relations and practices. A major hold-back is the diversity of languages, numerous tribes with cherished traditions of long standing. This naturally creates problems of misunderstanding and sometimes makes working difficult.

Education

But there is this unified desire to be free and it is felt that a system of compulsory, free, primary universal education will do much to hurriedly bring unity; that government-owned and operated hospitals will also aid in bringing this about.

Who are the people of Nigeria? What are they like? What are their groups roles in the coming independence?

Tribes

The most outstanding tribes are the Honsas, Ibos, Yourbas, Tularis, Ijanos, Binis and the Kanvys. The largest and most influential are the Honsas, Ibos and Yourbas. They are destined to furnish the ruling classes. The country may expect great unity, peace and progress if these three tribes can compose their differences and overcome remaining misunderstanding which might arise from tribal traditions.

Supreme Opportunity

Mainly, and this is the crux of the entire matter of freedom and independence, Nigeria is confronted with a challenge, a test, and most of all, a supreme opportunity to rise above small and petty differences and to show bigness and vision. Here is the chance, like Ghana, to become a member of the world's community.

SEEIN' STARS....

WITH DELORES CALVIN

New York City. . . (CNS)—SAMMY TELLS WHY. . . Sammy Davis, Jr. is a remarkable guy—wonderful yes but really remarkable—and anytime a guy can do four heavy shows a day to benefit the NAACP, then appear on a radio show for the benefit of children trying to get to camp this summer—then rehearse for a coming Town Hall one man show where for 3 hours Sammy will be on stage—all for charity—well you just wonder why and how come . . .

Charity

We found out just why Sammy does these things . . . and its really a pure and unselfish reason . . . A few years ago our hero was in a car accident and lost his eye . . . He feels from this experience he learned a great lesson . . . "I figure God meant me to live for something," he says . . . and everytime he can lend his name to a charity—and it helps to collect a dollar or two for kids or needy people, he's happy to do it . . . People wonder how Sammy can give so many benefits and still make a living—seems like he gives all the profits away . . . But Sammy's happy doing it . . . He says he hasn't yet been blessed with kids of his own but loves them and will do anything possible to help a needy child . . .

Impersonations

We found out something else about Sammy . . . he's a guy who loves to do those impersonations which have made him famous . . . "I get a big kick out of them," he says—especially the Jerry Lewis and Sinatra mimics . . . When he did Sinatra at the Moulin Rouge in Nevada no one laughed longer or harder than Sinatra himself . . . Sammy admits he's taken all the little minor habits of Frankie's and overplayed them—so that he is convinced he sounds like the guy . . . and "that's too because I've worked and been around him so long—about 20 years"

Edward G. Robinson

About his famous impersonation of Edward G. Robinson, Sammy says the line "All right Louie, drop the gun" is associated with Robinson but the actor never said those lines in any of his pictures . . . Sammy loves to pick out the unusual things about a person and play them to the hilt, not overlooking what endears them to the public. . .

Steve Allen Show

We mustn't forget that in addition to his busy schedule for the past week, Sammy managed to appear on Steve Allen's TV show but had to leave early for his return to the Apollo where, at $2.00 top, he played to "his" people . . . Sammy is a great one to remember never to get too great to remember your folks. . .

With so many varied opinions of "St. Louis Blues"—many have stated they hoped W. C. Handy didn't see it as isn't as good as it should be—we'd like to add ours—that the film does not quite get over its point . . . W. C. Handy lived and flourished in a day when Negroes had to struggle hard—to be heard—to be acknowledged and to be encouraged . . . We think however for this modern day the producers overplayed the part of Handy's father and too much stress was on religion . . .

The main point was the struggle Handy had as a youngster and young musician to keep his music alive—and this story alone is an inspiration for the world . . . Somewhere along the way the story is filled with too many interferences and too many "typed" parts . . . but we do wish Mr. Handy had lived long enough to enjoy the picture—as he was a great fan of Nat Cole's and all the others . . . Though he was blind and could not see, we feel anyone would enjoy a motion picture of their life story, whether it be dull, exciting or spectacular to the rest of the public . . .

Geoffrey Holder

We were sorry to see Geoffrey Holder take his $16,000 and quit the $64,000 Ques. as we had high hopes he'd make it to the end. The dancing star is off to native Trinidad for the fair . . . He proved an expert on movies, actors, directors and motion picture business which has always been a hobby of his. . .

La Mesa Club Meets With Mrs. Danforth

The La Mesa club will meet Monday, April 28 at the home of Mrs. Fannie Danforth of 1219 Laurel street.

Mrs. Gladys Brown was hostess to the last meeting.

Personal Touch

By MARIE ROSS

Had I thought before I left Des Moines early last Sunday morning, I would have asked News Editor Frances Hawthorne to write the column this week. She was a guest Saturday at the annual spring convention of Iowa Press Women Inc., which met at the Communications Center of the State University of Iowa, April 19-20.

She would have some interesting comments on plans a press woman makes to take a holiday away from her home and family. Her mail clerk husband, Peter, comes home around 2 a.m., from his work at the post office, then eats his dinner and their three small children awaken around 6 a.m. and want their breakfasts.

But, when I arrived at the Hawthorne home early Saturday, everything was in readiness for us to be awakened by the alarm on the kitchen stove clock at 5:30 o'clock, have breakfast; and, catch the 7:15 a.m. train to Iowa City.

Aboard the train we met other press women—Mrs. Grace Needham of Des Moines, one of the founders and parliamentarian of Iowa Press Women, Inc.; Mrs. Edith McElroy of Des Moines, vice president; Mrs. Lauretta Kass Trauffer of LeMars; and, at Newton, Mrs. Edith Moor, president, boarded the train.

At SUI, after registering, coffee hour was held in the Center's lounge. At noon luncheon, Marvin H. Perry, assistant director of SUI School of Journalism, talked on "The Role of Iowa Press Women in Recruiting Journalism Personnel."

"Writing the Feature Article" was the subject of Dr. Walter A. Steigleman's afternoon lecture. He is professor of journalism, author, and head of the editorial journalism sequence at SUI.

"Pictures for the Small Newspaper" was the subject discussed by William R. Hazard, instructor and head of pictorial journalism at SUI. Discussion followed—and all during the time, Mrs. Hawthorne took notes.

Alan Marshall, visiting lecturer in magazine journalism at SUI, addressed the banquet meeting of the

Cherry Cream Cheese Pie Is a Spring Delight

SPRING MAY MEAN DAFFODILS AND SUNNY BLUE SKIES but it also means unexpected company weekends when friends and relations out for a drive decide to drop in on you generally just before dinner.

One familiar sight on the pantry shelf that comes in very handy at a time like this is a 15-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk. With it you can make a mouthwatering Cherry Cream Cheese pie in a wink because the filling requires no cooking at all. It is made by putting a layer of red cherries on the bottom of the pastry shell and then pouring in a fluffy filling made from sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, cream cheese and 2 eggs. This luscious pie filling can also be combined with strawberries, raspberries, bananas or crushed pineapple for the sake of variety.

CHERRY CREAM CHEESE PIE

convention. A feature of this session was the presentation of writing awards.

Mrs. Ethel Garretson of Iowa Wesleyan University at Mt. Pleasant was chairman of the annual writing contest she had the occasion to call the Personal Touch Columnist's name three times for three first place honors.

From the 1957 writing and newspaper work done by Miss Ross, first place went to her in the following classifications—women's department in weekly newspapers, (from the society news pages of the Iowa By-stander); special edition of a newspaper edited by a woman (a copy of the last June anniversary edition of The Bystander, which featured high school graduates and their plans for employment); and special article in a magazine ("Potpourri" article which was published in the last July issue of Ladies Home Journal).

All three entries automatically went into competition in the National Federation of Press Women's writing contest which will be announced next month at the annual convention which meets in Jackson, Miss.

Mrs. Hawthorne and I had an interesting day—and found time to visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Phillip Hubbard and their five children, where Mrs. Hawthorne interviewed Dr. Hubbard for an article to appear in her "Who's Who in Iowa" feature.

TEEN-AGERS NEED TO FEEL INDEPENDENT

One evening Mrs. Brown and her teen-aged daughter drove down town to get Mr. Brown, who had been working late at the office. On the spur of the moment he suggested, "Let's stop at the Royale on the way home and get something to eat."

The daughter exclaimed, "Oh, no! Let's not! Let's just go home."

Mrs. Brown was surprised. When they reached home, she asked her daughter why she hadn't wanted to stop at the Royale. "Oh, mother," she replied, "all my friends from school would have been there with their dates, and if I came in with you they'd think I was tied to your apron strings."

Ungrateful?

NAACP DESERVES UNLIMITED SUPPORT

The Des Moines Branch NAACP is in the midst of its membership drive. The quota this year is fifteen hundred members—five hundred above that of last year. The branch adopted a Louisiana branch in 1957 because the organization was suspended from doing business in that state with the result that a hundred members were secured. Thus, the fifty per cent increase is not too different.

At one time during World War II the branch secured two thousand members. However, money was much more available and in addition considerable help was had from outside the city.

But there is no valid reason why every man and woman—particularly Negroes—who should not be a member of the NAACP. This organization has been the difference between the old order and that which Negroes enjoy today in Civil Rights, in employment, in opportunity to grow and become the ultimate in good citizenship.

These things are more important than bread for without rights a man is subject to being denied bread and other necessities of life. Consequently, anyone who refuses or fails to join the NAACP subscribes to an antiquated Uncle Tom attitude prescribed area in which he may operate.

Here in Des Moines, Negroes enjoy about all the things they wish. Of course, the situation can and will be improved. This has come about by the effort of the NAACP particularly in cooperation with many civic groups working in the same field.

But the job cannot stop here. Effort is required to hold the gains that have been made and to secure those about which there is any question. Surely, nobody will refuse to pay his just share—the base membership fee is only $2.00—because it gives him a financial interest in the great job of securing to each man, woman and child full citizenship.

THE KNOX CASE

A jury in the Polk County District Court found Raymond Knox guilty of using loud and profane language but not guilty of resisting an officer. The latter was by far the most important. And while loud and profane language is undesirable and should not be condoned, officers have no right to take advantage of a prisoner while in their custody. And this is just what the jury decided in their verdict.

The case aroused considerable sentiment for it involved a question of the violation of civil rights—police brutality. These abuses are not confined to Negroes but are suffered by white people as well.

The case has been watched closely and it is gratifying that the jury saw that justice prevailed.

FURTHER PROGRESS IN FEDERAL CIVIL SERVICE

For the first time, Negroes are filling all posts in the Des Moines post office system. Heretofore, their operations have been confined to that of sorting clerks, postmen and mail collectors. Now they are serving at stamp and other windows.

To have everlasting credit, Negroes came into their own at the post office under Edith Johnson, in that many were employed in recent numbers; to the present postmaster Dave Cranshaw they are making further strides by being upgraded.

GHANA IS LARGEST PRODUCER OF COCOA

United Nations, N. Y.—Ghana is by far the world's largest producer of cocoa beans, with an estimated output in 1958 of 230,000 tons, as against 150,000 tons for Brazil, the next largest producer.

The Food and Agricultural Organization, which includes a cocoa statistics branch, reported last month that the list of consumer countries is headed by the United States, with about 213,000 tons annually. The majority of these imports is used for flavoring many types of food products, such as chocolate pie fillings and cake mixes, rather than for drinking of cocoa in its liquid form.

Holds Funeral Services For Former Head of Freedmen's Hospital

Washington — (ANP) — Funeral services were held Wednesday at Asbury Methodist church for Dr. T. E. Jones, former director of Freedmen's hospital.

Dr. Jones, 77, died Friday at his home. He made headlines in 1927 when he performed a delicate heart operation, taking two stitches in a heart which had been pierced by a knife. Working between heart beats he sewed together both the heart covering and the several muscles. Although the man died two days later it was revealed through an autopsy that death was caused by pneumonia and that the operation had been successful.

In 1918 he received the Distinguished Service Cross in France for "extraordinary heroism" in the face of the enemy. He was at that time first lieutenant in the Army Medical corps and attached to the 368th Infantry.

Archie Moore Signs For April 28 Clash

San Diego, Calif. — It was announced last week that Archie Moore had signed for an April 28 bout at the coliseum here.

Moore, the world's light-heavyweight champion, will fight Reuben Vargas of Richmond, Calif.

The champ, who lives in San Diego, will be making his first local appearance since he knocked out Bob Dunlap in one round at the San Diego Arena in February 1956.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The Kansas Relays are considered by us as a preview of the real show this week . . . the Drake Relays. There you will see sprinters as Hazel of Oklahoma State, Murchison of Western Michigan and broad jumpers of Shelby of Kansas and Bell of Indiana. No matter who does what there are always a flock of records taken in this the biggest and best organized track show in the middle-west.

When a fellow looks back over the history of the Relays he likes to think and recall the number of kids who came out of our grade school scramble called a shuttle relay and went on to become top athletes in high school and college.

Got Start

Just about every local high school star got his start in this event and several of them went up as college stars.

We always got a kick out of walking around in the field and talking to the various athletes. It would take a pretty good sized book to record everything those guys did or said so we don't want too many of them. Just store them away among our memories and thrills.

Best Miller

The best miler and two miler in college today is probably Iowa's Deacon Jones who may or may not try for a double. One of the great forty yard hurdlers won't be here. Aubrey Lewis of Notre Dame never got over his football injury and won't be around. But no doubt there will be some other to take his place.

Big seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain, the big half of the Jayhawks basketball team, won't be apt to high jump. Maybe he will but it looks doubtful. So we will probably have a new high jump champion.

Now if we can get a sneak on the weather it should be a great weekend.

Local

High schoolers were busy over the weekend. Tech High Jim Hutchinson running a winner in every race he was in was conference track meet; Marshall Knox of Tech won his tennis match and North and East were in the thick of the battle at Marshalltown for second place. Al Collier got second in the hundred and Thomas of East was fourth.

We took a swing up around Cedar Rapids to see what was there and out poker players got a bit out of line.

Didn't get to see our tennis players win either.

HEALTH FOR ALL

New Faces for Old Killers

Back in 1900 when Grandma was a girl, the leading public enemies were infectious diseases: tuberculosis, influenza, pneumonia, and infantile diarrhea. Typhoid and diphtheria did their share of killing, too.

In half a century the picture has changed completely. The three leading killers today are noninfectious ailments: diseases of the heart and the blood vessels, cancer, and accidents. What has happened to the infectious killers of old?

Robb Life

They are still with us. Like gangsters who've moved up in the world, they've given up murder and have taken to high class robbery. Oh, they still carry lethal weapons, and people do get killed. However, most of their victims' lives are spared. But their victims' lives are spared. But they are robbed of months and years of normal life. Some never regain their health completely. The nation as a whole is robbed of more than $700,000,000 a year by tuberculosis alone.

Cooperation

Plainly, we can't ignore these public enemies. The defenses built up by the progress of medicine and public health must be maintained and strengthened. And we can't leave the job entirely to the public officials responsible. They need our cooperation. We must see to it that they get a big enough share of our tax dollar to carry on their job properly. We must take advantage of the vaccines available to prevent some infectious diseases. We must continue to cooperate in community efforts to check their spread. We must support research to find new and better methods of control.

Truman K. Gibson is New Head of I.B.C. Highest Executive Post to Negro in Sports

New York, N.Y. — The powerful New York and Illinois International Boxing Clubs (I.B.C.) presently in the throes of controversy, have a new president in a 46-year-old Negro attorney, Truman K. Gibson, of Chicago, a long time assistant.

Norris Resigned

Gibson stepped in as head of I.B.C. when James D. Norris, 52, multi-millionaire boxing promoter, resigned as president because of failing health. He was stricken with a severe heart attack last fall doing re-negotiations with Sugar Ray Robinson for his middleweight title fight with Carmen Basilio.

University Grad

Gibson, a graduate of Chicago University, assumes the highest executive post ever achieved by a Negro in sports.

The I.B.C. has in recent years been involved in legal entanglements including a federal court ruling that the two boxing clubs were guilty of monopolizing the promotion of cham-

Drake Relays Fri, Sat. Stars Out for Records

A great array of cinder stars from near and far, intent on the breaking of old records and establishing new ones, will assemble at Drake University Friday and Saturday, April 25-26, for the classic Drake Relays.

Included in the aggregate of track stars that will participate in the many events will be Illinois' Charles (Deacon) Jones, versatile sprinter and distance runner; Lewis Watkins of Lincoln University, (Mo.) broad jumping ace; speedster, Ira Muschinski of Western Michigan; hurdle ace, Keith Gardner of Nebraska; one of Oklahoma States 880 relay stars, Orlando Hazley and maybe high jump man, Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas.

The event offers an opportunity for you to see your favorite star in action, many thrills and perhaps see first hand new records being set.

pionship fights. Last Mar. 17 the Supreme court agreed to hear the I.B.C.'s appeal. This meant a reprieve of many months. Because of a crowded calendar, the supreme court is not expected to hear the I.B.C.'s appeal until next fall at the earliest.

No Changes

Meanwhile it appears that there will be no organizational changes under the new president. Gibson said that "we will have to wait until the Supreme court makes its ruling. Until then, no changes will be made in our operations."

Patterson

And now, under Gibson, will Patterson be willing to fight for I.B.C.? Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, has refused to have anything to do with Norris. Whether or not the new president can arbitrate all of this remains to be seen.

Aggies Take Lead for CIAA Baseball Flag

Greensboro, N. C. — The A&T College Aggies took undisputed lead in the CIAA baseball flag race with twin killings last Saturday over Howard University, 13-2 and over Hampton Institute, 17-5.

The Aggies blasted the Washington, D. C., outfit in a morning set behind the two-hit pitching of Frank Hamilton, veteran righthander. Hamilton, gave up a scratch single but chucked a home run ball to Howard's left fielder, who blasted it out of the ballyard over the right center wall, with none aboard.

Hampton

Aggie big bats again were the chief factor in the victory over Hampton in the afternoon engagement. The locals went straight to work on starter, Nathaniel Trader and blasted him out of the box in the second inning after sending

Dear Editor:

Since I am a constant reader of your paper some things puzzle me that I read in your paper. When I see people ever reading and learning and never coming to the truth, I wonder.

'You can't enter here, you can't work here, you can't preach here.' I wonder, why some of our so called Negro ministers do not take the lesson home with them, I am sure God knows, what he is doing when he ordained women preachers since he made the world and the fullness thereof.

Who can tell God what to do and how to do it? He surely trusted the woman with the first message. It is no credit to sit by a white or black man unless he is borned again and filled with the Holy Ghost, that they all might treat one another right.

Until they are borned again they will never treat any person right. One thing is certain, you cannot fool God.

APRIL IS A MAIDEN

April is a maiden: so lovely. Innocence, poised at the gateway To the tangled jungle that is the Garden of all experience. There she is, on tiptoe; quivering Half-afraid; yet aglow with the eager anticipation, timorous, But pulsing with new life. The undeniable strength of mother Natures forces in action are tied To April growth. All the tenuous Filaments of undeveloped desires Sprout and grow with the season: And begin their irresistible trek Toward the fulfillment of an ageless Pattern that evolved from the Genes of billions who came in the Inscrutable past. The chaotic blend Of that coalescing pageant of exquisite beauty that is April. Ecstatic with the budding promise That opens petal by tender petal April is the lovely maiden. . . .

Net Losses Were Just Mere Test for Althea

Miami Beach, Fla. — Tennis queen Althea Gibson Monday brushed off her series of recent defeats and predicted that she will win the Wimbledon championship again this year.

"These tournaments didn't mean anything," said Miss Gibson, New York star who holds the U. S. Championship as well as the Wimbledon crown. "In fact, they were a test. I played the circuit to see if I was lacking anything."

"I find nothing particular lacking," she added.

The lithe, 29-year old champion was upset in the semi-final round of the Good Neighbor tournament here by Janet Hopps, of Seattle, Wash., the nation's ninth-ranked player.
