Tuskegee Honors Late Cleveland L. Abbott

Famed Coach Went To Officers Training School at Ft. D.M.

On May 2 dedication services were held for a United States Army Reserve center erected at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama in the memory of the late Cleveland Leigh Abbott, World War I first lieutenant and former head coach and physical education director at Tuskegee for more than 25 years until his death in 1955. Special invitations from the U. S. Government to attend the dedication services were sent to Mrs. Leora Daniels, 900 S. E. 27th Street, Mrs. Stella Greer, 108 Lyon, and Mrs. Anna Hall, 827 S. E. 27th Street, all of Des Moines and Mrs. Edna Wathus, of Keokuk, Iowa. These ladies are all sisters of Mr. Abbott's widow, Mrs. Jessie Abbott. (Mr. Abbott met his wife, then Miss Scott, at a Drake Relays event during his college days.)

Sports Fame

A native of Yanktown, S. Dakota, Mr. Abbott's first call to fame was in sports when he compiled an enviable record of 16 letters in high school and 14 at S. Dakota college—in basketball, football and track.

He did graduate work at Kansas State Agricultural college and Harvard university before becoming a faculty member at Tuskegee in 1916 under the late Booker T. Washington.

First Lieutenant

In 1917 he entered Officers Training School at Ft. D.M.

Council Bluffs Kicks Off NAACP Drive

A. P. Trotter, state president of the Iowa conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Atty. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., state redress chairman, were in Council Bluffs, Iowa, May 4 where they assisted the Council Bluffs branch of the NAACP with the kick off of their membership campaign.

At a dinner-meeting held at the Bethel AME church, Trotter spoke on "How to Secure Memberships," and on the Fighting Fund for Freedom. Glanton spoke on the civil rights case at the Hotel Chieftain, an incident involving the president of the Waterloo branch, Mrs. Anna Mae Weems, who was denied a room there several months ago.

Matthew Johnson of Des Moines accompanied them and talked briefly on the setup of the National branch.

Ollie Lewis of Omaha, Nebr., is president of the Council Bluffs branch.

Fla. State NAACP Offers Aid in Apprehending Bomb Culprits; Lauds Mayor, Gov.

Tampa, Fla. — The Florida State NAACP will give "aid and support" to Jacksonville Mayor Haydon Burns and Governor LeRoy Collins in their efforts to discover those responsible for the bombing of a Jewish center and an all-Negro school in Jacksonville on April 28, the Rev. A. Leon Lowry of Tampa, state NAACP president, announced here today.

He praised the mayor and the governor for "taking a forthright stand in organizing law enforcement officials to find out who the culprits are."

Mr. Lowry characterized the bombings as "a stab in the back of the United States Constitution by culprits who have no respect for any form of law and order."

Purpose Day

Because of the bombings, Mr. Lowry continued, the Jacksonville

Etta Moten Making 2nd Appearance as Women's Day Speaker at St. Paul AME Sunday, May 11

ETTA MOTEN

Making her second appearance in Des Moines will be Etta Moten, the internationally mezzo-soprano who will be Women's day speaker at St. Paul AME church Sunday, May 11 at the morning service.

Miss Moten made her initial appearance in this city for a similar occasion in 1954 when she was guest speaker at the same church.

Although she is probably best known for her artistry on the concert stage, especially for her portrayal of Bess in the opera "Porgy and Bess," she is equally famous for her performance on radio and television. An impressive speaker, she won acclaim as the "best woman speaker" from the Speech Department of Brooklyn college.

A world traveler, Miss Moten is active with the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Council of Jewish Women's Organizations, Methodist Women's organizations here and in Africa and is an inspiration to women the world over.

In private life she is the wife of Claude Barnett, director of the Associated Negro Press and is the mother of three married daughters.

Who's Who in Iowa

Mrs. Sadie Peters Mothered, Shared Her Home With 18 Children; 11 Not Her Own

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

This is the twelfth in a series of articles featuring Negro first, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)

"All young people of today—and in years to come—should stand at attention on Mother's day and make a pledge to their mothers ever and always."

These are the words of Mrs. Sadie Peters, 1449 Buchanan who through the years despite hardships and criticisms, has shared her bountiful loving heart and care with her own 7 children, adoptive relatives and 11 dozen children placed under her care by the State Board of Control. All were outstanding in athletics in East high school and went on from there to good jobs, college and military service.

Husband Separated

After she and her husband separated 19 years ago, she reflected "there were times when I didn't know how we would make it—but the children and I made it through."

"I never took girls, not because I don't like them; I do," she explained, "but I was working and I had sons and I didn't want any situation to come up that might get them into trouble."

Door Latch

When Mrs. Peters was at work she instructed the children to cook, help clean the house and when to return. "They knew if I were away no other were to come there and the latch was to be shut on the door at 7 p.m.," she added. "I had a neighbor across the street who said they followed my instructions."

Shared Paycheck

Because she believes parents must trust and respect their children, she shared her paycheck with all her children and didn't spare the rod and spoil them when it came to discipline.

"I never went to bed without knowing that each child was in his place," she said. "If they had trouble

Accuses 3 D. M. Policemen Of 'Malicious. . . Assault' Following Arrest Last Aug.

Raymond Knox, 41, of 223 Raccoon Street, started on the last lap of a series of courtroom battles when trial proceedings in his $200,000 damage suit against three Des Moines policemen went into its third day Thursday in District Judge Tom K. Murrow's court.

In his petition, filed August 30 following his arrest at a Des Moines river drowning scene and his conviction in Municipal court on charges of resisting arrest and disturbing the peace, Knox named as defendants—Lt. Frank Manny and Patrolmen Bruce Dyer and Ralph E. Baker.

Assault

Knox said that after his arrest, the policemen "did violently assault him and wrongfully struck him over the head and face with a night stick" and that he "was knocked to the floor in the basement of the city jail and was beaten about his body and kicked."

He said 29 stitches were required to close the wounds he sustained and asked $75,000 actual and $125,000 exemplary damages for the assault he termed as "willful, wanton and malicious." He also asked for a jury trial.

When the civil suit trial began Tuesday, only a month had passed since Knox and his attorneys, Henry T. McKnight and James B. Morris, Jr., won the significant half of their appeals case when a Polk county district court jury—after 15 hours of deliberations—found Knox innocent of resisting arrest. The jury upheld the Municipal verdict finding him guilty of disturbing the peace by using loud and profane language.

Last Thursday Judge Carroll O. Switzer, who presided over the appeals trial, fined Knox $50 on the peace disturbance charge. He had been fined $10 in Municipal court.

During the August Municipal hearing and the appeals review last month, police did not deny striking Knox with their fists and blackjacks but testified they did so in self defense.

The Knox case has attracted wide attention and during the four-day municipal hearing last August when spectators jammed the court room, protest delegations from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, were in attendance.

Urges Negro in North to Ignore Party Line in Voting

Pittsfield, Mass. — The northern Negro can and should use his vote to help fight the battle against southern segregation, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, asserted here last week.

The Association's top executive addressed a banquet on April 26. The affair was part of a regional meeting of the New England NAACP. He maintained that a small clique of Dixiecrats in Congress could not successfully block civil rights in Congress if they were not joined by northern Democrats and Republicans.

Negro Rights

"It is up to you whether you want to help make history," Mr. Wilkins told the audience. "Vote. Vote for good men no matter what party they are in."

"Oil men don't vote for candidates who are not for the oil interests," he continued. "You shouldn't find Negroes who vote for men who don't favor Negroes' rights."

The League of women voters will be among four panel members discussing "For Technical Assistance."

Other panel groups will discuss "For establishing a permanent police force," "For disarmament," and "For peaceful use of atomic energy."

NAACP Reports Lag in Campaign

At their weekly report meeting of the membership drive of the local NAACP held Tuesday at Willkie House, Atty. Robert A. All board members are asked to report next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

"When you talk about southern white people, don't try and sweep them all in the same trash like they do you," he said. "If the southern politicians would take off the pressure, the southern white people want to do the right thing, and I'm confident they'd do it."

Mr. Wilkins criticized some northern Negro politicians and two Massachusetts senators, as well as southern white politicians. He said some Chicago Negro politicians have tried to block housing integration in that city because they fear it would put an end to their political power.

Indonesian Chicken—Shrimp Superb

The Asian countries are masters at combining unusual food combinations for sensational flavor. This combination of shrimp, chicken, ham, crab meat, peanut butter and seasonings sounds too different! But it is a delicious, subtle blending of complementary flavors.

INGREDIENTS:

1 1/2 cups uncooked white rice
4 cups chicken broth (use bouillon cubes if desired)
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup cooking fat
1 1/2 cups chopped onions
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon whole cumin seed
1 pound frozen green shrimp or 2 1/2 oz. cans
1 teaspoon ground coriander
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 cup cooked crab meat, cut up (about a 6 oz. can)
1 cup cubed cooked ham or luncheon meat
1 cup cut up cooked chicken (about 2, 5 oz. cans)
About 1 cup chopped peanuts
About 1 cup shredded coconut
About 3 bananas, sliced

METHOD: Put the rice, 3 cups of the chicken broth and 1 1/2 teaspoons salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on until ready to use, at least 10 minutes. While the rice cooks, heat the cooking fat in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Add the onions, garlic and cumin seed. Cook, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes or until the onions turn yellow and are tender.

While the onions cook, if green shrimp are used peel and clean. To clean, run a knife along the back of the shrimp from head to tail to remove the sand vein. Wash in water.

After the onions cook stir in the green uncooked shrimp. If shrimp are very large coarsely chop them but save several whole shrimp for garnish. Cook, stirring occasionally, about 10 minutes or until the shrimp are pink all over.

Stir in the coriander, mace, chili powder and peanut butter. Mix well. Add the shrimp if canned shrimp are used, crab meat, ham, chicken and the remaining 1 cup chicken broth. Heat until very hot. Gently stir in the hot rice.

Serve in a large dish garnished with the whole shrimp. Serve the peanuts, coconut and bananas in side dishes. Servings of the chicken-shrimp mixture should be topped with helpings of peanuts, coconut and bananas. This recipe makes 12 servings.

Parents Are in Better Position to Help Children if They Recognize Real Reason Underlying Their Behavior, Questions

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

IDENTIFYING REAL MOTIVES

The motives and feelings that prompt children's questions and complaints can easily be misinterpreted. A four-year-old boy once asked his mother, "Where did I come from?" The mother, who had anticipated that her children would ask many questions about sex, launched into a careful clear discussion of the facts of life.

She felt the conversation was going very well when the boy interrupted, "The reason I asked is because the new kid around the corner says he came from Philadelphia!"

2 Daughters

Recently a mother told me about her concern for her two attractive teenage daughters. The younger is active socially, and dates two or three times a week. The older daughter does not date very often. The older girl often accuses the mother of being unfairly strict with her, and points out how much more often the younger girl is permitted to go on dates.

The mother has tried to explain that the older girl is free to date more often, and that she is not being restricted by parental rules. One day, however, the daughter burst into tears and said, "You never let me go out on dates!"

Asking Directly

The girl may really have been feeling, "You never help me go out on dates." She is unhappy about the differences between her own social success and those of her younger sister. She may really know that her mother is not unfairly handicapping her social life and curtailing her freedom, but she may not be able to ask directly for help in finding greater her remarkable ability to get along with small fry.

Saves for Project

Yvonne, who baby sits for white and Negro parents, often saves her money where possible to finance some special project. This year it was toward her Easter outfit.

She attends Sunday school regularly at Corinthian Baptist church where she is a member, sings with the Red Circle Girls at Shiloh Baptist, has membership at Willkie House and one of its club, The Charmettes, likes picnics, and records and her hobbies are swimming, baseball and soccer.

Honor Roll

At Washington Irving she is a student council member and her scholastic record won her a place on the honor roll last week. She likes home making best of all her subjects and is currently working on skirts as her class project.

At home she aids her father in keeping the house clean and does some of the cooking. She is the daughter of Hubert Jones of 1316 Laurel street and Mrs. Marie Parish of Los Angeles, Calif. She has a brother, Hubert (Butch) Jones and a sister, Nellie Marie.

'St. Louis Blues' Comes to Paramount Theater Tomorrow

Storied Memphis, gaudy Beale Street, the turbulent world of the blue note and the man who discovered it arrives tomorrow (May 9) at the Paramount theatre with Paramount's "St. Louis Blues." The Story of W. C. Handy, the Vista Vision filmization of the life and times of the genius of jazz is packed with a glittering roster of top performers of the music that set the world dancing and singing.

In his first major acting role, Nat "King" Cole stars as Handy and starring with him are tempestuous Eartha Kitt; nightclub and screen favorite Pearl Bailey; all-time-great rhythm-and-blues artist Cab Calloway; the country's leading female vocalist, Ella Fitzgerald; and world-renowned gospel singer, Mahalia Jackson. In supporting roles are Ruby Dee, Juano Hernandez and a half-dozen noted instrumentalists. Rarely has a single film combined so much talent or had so colorful a story to tell.

Rhythm-and-blues was born out of turmoil, the unrest of Handy's life as well as of the Mississippi River roustabouts and the denizens of Beale street's honky-tonks. Inspired and compelled by that wild world and its primitive music, Handy fought his bitterly opposed religious family, personal misfortune that would have finished another man and the lures of Memphis itself to create a new music form and bring it from Beale Street to Carnegie Hall. The story of his titanic struggles, backgrounded by lusty Memphis, is the story of "St. Louis Blues."

C. Garland Denied Habeas Corpus Writ

In denying a writ of habeas corpus to Calvin Garland, 24, under a Polk county indictment for state income tax evasion, the Iowa Supreme court Tuesday ruled that Garland "is at liberty on bail and is, therefore, not restrained of his liberty . . ."

When Garland filed his petition for a writ of habeas corpus last week he challenged certain provisions of the state law under which he was indicted. The Supreme court did not mention these challenges but Iowa Attorney General Norman Erbe has recommended county attorneys to suspend further action on 14 income tax cases until certain questions about the state income tax law are clarified.

Garland was indicted several weeks ago by a Polk county grand jury for failure to file state income tax returns for 1955 and 1956.

President to Address 'Summit Meet' of 300 Negro Leaders

Washington, D. C. — President Dwight D. Eisenhower will deliver a significant address on the opening day of the two-day sessions of The Summit Conference of National Negro leaders in Raleigh Hotel, May 12 and 13. S. Supreme court decisions on voting and school integration.

Africa Will Rule The World

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD, N. B. C., U. S. A., INC.

FIFTH OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES
By Dr. C. C. Adams, Secretary

Monrovia, Liberia: From a sound economic foundation, the new Africa will join and help the other nations of the world to, under God, take charge and rule the earth, making it a fit and decent place for man to work out his destiny. This is the sound logic of history and the irrefutable law of the universe. This is precisely why the history and the future of Africa is really destined to be a glorious one. This is a good reason why the plan and purpose of her despoilers and exploiters must come to an end.

Self-Equalizing

Justice in the universe is self-equalizing, and the end of divine justice cannot be defeated. This is marvelous and unique in the political history of the world.

Good Will

From the nations now emerging in Africa, there need be no fear of aggression. Of whom else can this be said? Wherever the African has been tried and given the opportunity, the qualities of mind and intellect have proven themselves the equals and the best of any in the world.

The world therefore needs the Africans brain-power and his contributions to the problems which baffle mankind. Most of all, the world needs the Africans' goodwill, his fellowship and love for which the entire world stands bankrupt. Without this, there can be no peace.

Abundance

All of this Africa offers in abundance as it comes from God without cost or price. With this abundance, Africa wants to bless the United Nations and convert it from a debating forum and propaganda sounding board into a world brotherhood.

Heavy Debtor

Africa not only feels that the world owes her much, but that she is a heavy debtor to the world. She is anxious to discharge this obligation. Africa is richly endowed and fully able to pay, however, she demands that a bill of indebtedness be receipted in name.

Africa knows she has paid much for which no receipt has been delivered, or even written in the records of nations. She has paid in patience, loyalty, sweat, and even in blood, without much ground for confidence and hope for the future. Now she asks, in the Name of God and humanity, to be given recognition in the world court of justices.

Next Week:

"AFRICANS DON'T WANT TO BE WHITE"

RUTHE CAMPANELLA
New York City — (Calvin News Service) — Ruthe Campanella, never giving up one ounce of hope, now goes into her third month of visiting Campy each day. She's adjusted her life to the tragedy now and the kids are at last accustomed to not having their daddy around. . . . The accident has a sadder effect now that baseball season has crept in. . . . Campy's friends gather around talking about him—wishing he'd get well or even better. . . . One tells the story of how he bought several huge tanks of tropical fish from the baseball star—one is a man-eating fish which has to be sealed in a container. . . . Campy had many active hobbies but raising unusual tropical fish was a great indoor sport to him. . . .

Marian Anderson

Miss Marian Anderson

Marian Anderson continue to be a "first" . . . she'll sing the title role in Gluck's "Orfeo" at the June Festival at Caramoor, upstate in New York. . . . and it'll be her first performance of this famous opera. . . . Miss Anderson has been chosen to officially open the new outdoor Venetian Theatre, which is built Roman-styled. . . . The concert is sponsored by the Walter & Lucie Rosen Foundation. . . .

Sammy Davis, Jr.

One thousand bucks which was donated to a summer camp fund to help send kids away, in the name of Sammy Davis, Jr., has been tripled by donors after hearing the earnest appeal of the star on radio — now that many more New York kids can get off the streets and out into the fresh air come July.

Judges Announced for High School Contest Of V.F.W. Auxiliary

Judges for the 23rd annual National High School Essay contest, sponsored by the V.F.W. Auxiliary in cooperation with the schools and press of the nation, were announced today by Mrs. Ray Godbey, national president.

Chairman of the national panel of judges is W. C. "Tom" Sawyer, a vice-president of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., and secretary of the All-American Conference to Combat Communism.

The other members of the panel are Miss Malvina Lindsay, editorial page columnist for the Washington Post and Times-Herald, Washington, D. C., and James A. Hazlett, superintendent of schools in Kansas City, Mo.

$1,000 First Award

The winner of the $1,000 first-place award in the annual contest, as well as winners of the 23 other cash and medal awards, will be announced at the Auxiliary's national convention in New York City in August. The subject of this year's essay is "America's Future Is Up To Youth."

All shows postponed that week were penciled in for first available times. . . . Being this is a live show, the sponsors are trying to get an okay when all will be available.

Dorothy Dandridge

Off-Broadway gets to see "Sign of Winter", termed "a poetic melo-drama" which opens with an interracial cast at Theatre 74 midtown. . . . It features Negro actor, Bill Gunn. . . . Lena Horne's new casual recording being pushed. . . . Dorothy Dandridge seems to be quite an international figure, what with hopping back and forth to Paris, London, New York and Hollywood. . . . Dot has a new movie out, made in Italian, and co-starring handsome actor Curt Jergens, which is receiving raves abroad. . . . She recently flew back to Paris to dub English titles as to get a substitute would have spoiled the effects. . . . Dubbing English titles is a tricky business which widens the financial scope of a production — as then it can be shown in more theatres if the titles are in more languages. . . . Dorothy has become one of the few actresses to achieve such recognition and surely has come a long way since her days of singing only, a very limited field for a girl with big ideas. . . .

Eartha Kitt

The Apollo, in an effort to pull in more business, paired Ruth Brown's show with the Teenagers with Eartha Kitt's new film: "Mark of the Hawk". . . . "St. Louis Blues" had a short run, was replaced on Broadway with Lana Turner's new film.

Congratulations to East High School Senior Jean Maurice Johnson, Jr., 17, who won the recent local Elks (IBPOEW) oratorical contest.

While she is making preparation for the regional contest to be held May 25 in Waterloo, Iowa, and thinking about her coming graduation events—Jean might be too busy to remember one of the most spectacular events of her early childhood.

Recorded in a 1942 Personal Touch column was a note about Jean and her late grandmother, Mrs. E. Williams, who then was living at 2413 Garfield avenue, several doors from where Jean and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Johnson, 2407 Garfield avenue reside. It read:

"Mrs. E. Williams, 2413 Garfield avenue, ran into one of life's darkest moments this week when she discovered that her three-year-old granddaughter had given herself a coat of tar from a can which the child's father thought he had put safely out of the child's reach.

"Little Jean was covered from head to feet with the black, sticky oily substance.

"When grandmother gazed upon her 'little angel', grandmother Wiliams was shocked. She was dazed. She thought she was seeing things. "Jean!" she pleaded. "Don't move—just stand there until I can think of something to do."

"Jean stood, like a statue, with her hands outstretched."

Congratulations again to the 17-year-old miss.

The young people are making some outstanding records these days. Just this week, Jo Anne Joyce Holbert, a sophomore at Sumner High school, Kansas City, Kas., went to Flint, Mich., on an expense-free trip to the National Science Fair which is convening from May 7 to 10. Jo Anne was the top girl winner in the Greater Kansas City Science Fair. The top boy winner was a white youth, 17-year-old George Marchin, Jr., a senior at Ward high school, also in Kansas City, Kansas.

Jo Anne's first-prize winning project, "Determination of the Charge of an Electron from the Millikan-Stokes," used oil as the substance in measuring the force exerted by an electron, the smallest unit of electricity. She explained that measuring electrons is an important process in nuclear science work.

Jo Anne squeezed tiny drops of oil with an ordinary atomizer into a chamber above an electrical field—between two steel plates two and one-half inches square. These plates were connected to a high voltage wave rectifier, that she built.

Talking to Jo Anne about her project almost would make your head swim—if you are not electrically intelligent. She demonstrated by reversing the current between the plates, how the drops of oil were suspended so she could measure their size and how far and fast they fell. These results led to the strength or force of one electron. She measured the drops of oil with a 10-powered lens—and the flotation rate with a stop watch. Her result: "0.0000000048 electrostatic units in one electron, conforming with the figure in the Millikan-Stokes method within a few percentage points."

Jo Anne is a busy young lady—outside of her science activities. She has a Saturday job at a neighborhood variety store—conversing with customers about notions and goods they wish to buy. On Sundays, she plays the piano for the Sunday School of her church, Trinity A.M.E. On week nights, she is at the library doing research, or, at home studying for some of her daily classes in—Algebra, English, Biology, French I, Typing and Gym. About boy friends—well—Jo Anne smiled, then said: "Mother and Dad think I have plenty of time." They are Dr. and Mrs. Leond Holbert, 2200 N. Seventh street, who have a 17-year-old son, a senior at Sumner High school, who won an "excellent" rating in the Science Fair.

COVERING THEIR HEADS UNDER THE SAND

The south has become alarmed over recent bombings of Negro and Jewish property in Florida and Tennessee. Of course, the practice against Negroes has gone on for years, and particularly since they have been asserting their civil rights with a degree of success.

Law enforcement officials and prominent citizens have organized to do something tangible about the situation and have come up with a program to combat the evil. It provides:

"The recent incidents stirred southern officials to organize a meeting in Jacksonville where an intercity cooperative police setup was approved for exchange of information and confidential gathering of evidence against the dynamite assaults throughout the South.

"Under the plan, Jacksonville police will act as coordinators for the other police agencies. At the meeting, mayors, police chiefs, and other officials said after a day-long secret exchange of information that a 'definite pattern' had been established in connection with the bombings."

As commendable as this program is and while it may deter some rabid race-haters to abstain from committing overt acts against Negroes and Jews, the fact that these same "good people" flaunt the law by refusing to obey the supreme law of the land, place them in the same class of "law violators" as those who bomb other people's property.

These people are in the same position as a Nation which is willing to organize to prosecute war but is unwilling to do anything to prevent war.

Unfortunately, America has not been willing to face the race problem squarely and solve it purely on the basis set forth in the supreme law of the land—the Constitution. While some progress has been made, it has come in proportion that people have been law abiding citizens.

SPORTS LEAD THE FIELD AGAIN

Truman Gibson, Jr., of Chicago, has been elected president of the International Boxing Club succeeding millionaire James D. Norris who resigned because of ill health.

To the best information, this is the first time a Negro has headed a corporation of such magnitude—and particularly the first time a Negro has been elected head of a large corporation which is not controlled by Negroes.

Gibson has been secretary of the club for several years and evidently proved his ability as an executive.

Questioned before the Des Moines Commission On Human Rights, a leading Des Moines plant manager remarked that the reason they did not hire Negroes was that they followed a policy of promoting their employees on merit and that it would not be a good thing to have one as a department head.

Since this, that policy in that same plant has been reversed.

Evidently the International Boxing Club does not feel that way. And again sports has led the way in giving Negroes an opportunity and promoting them purely on merit. These opportunities offer a chance for a fellow to get "in the money" to use the language of the street—a place where Negroes seldom get.

Congratulations to the IBC.

criticism for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.) and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.). They both voted wrong during debates on the Civil Rights Act passed in 1957, he charged. In addition, Sen. Kennedy has been friendly with various southern segregationists, including Herman Talmadge and Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, the NAACP official said.

No Professional Debut For Seattle's Baylor

Seattle, Wash. — Versatile Elgin Baylor, has decided against professional basketball and decided to stay at Seattle despite an N.C.A.A. crackdown on the university, and the resignation of Coach, John Castellani.

The action would make no difference in his plans to stay at the school, Baylor said.

"I'm very sorry to see the coach go," Baylor said, "but I haven't changed my mind about returning to school next fall."

Asked if he could be tempted by a pro offer, Baylor said, "I don't know what kind of an offer the pros could make that would make me change my mind."

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHEY

A bunch of fellows were arguing the effect of the new two-point extra point rule in football. Most of the guys didn't take into consideration how hard it is to get that yard or so down by the goal line. One fellow said if he has a kicker like Iowa's Prescott he would try for the kick and run the ball only on a variation and he believed he would come out ahead. We agreed with him. The Iowa varsity-alumni game proved not too much about the game except that the Hawkeyes won't be a doormat for anybody.

Chamberlain

The hottest news right now is the annual rumor that Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas U will turn pro this summer. Maybe he will but we would certainly like to see him finish school. So many athletes close out their career and don't have their degrees. Some of them go back and get them. Maybe Wilt would. Of course, with about 10 years of pro basketball ahead of him, the Stilt could do more even if he did leave school maybe.

Local

Jim Hutchinson and his Manmattan rival are really having it this spring. So far, Hutch has topped his opponent in all of their meetings. Would be good if the guy could repeat his Grinnell performance in the state meet. Will see you at the district meet at East Saturday.

Baseball

The pennant races are certainly topsy-turvy. The tail-enders are whaling the supposedly top ducks. Only the Yankees roll along. Would be nice to see two new faces in the World series. The Braves are our choice for a repeat and the Yankees would like to get another crack at them.

Campy is Transferred From Glen Cove Hosp.

New York City—The Los Angeles Dodger's invincible catcher, Roy Campanella, injured in an auto mishap last Jan. 28, was transferred from Glen Cove, L. I. hospital Monday to New York's Bellevue hospital presumably to begin a course of rehabilitation of his paralyzed arms and legs.

Dr. Howard A. Rusk, director of the hospital's institute of physical medicine and rehabilitation, said last week that the 37-year-old backstop would be sent there soon for treatment.

Most recent reports have had it that Campy is still showing steady improvement.

Aggie No-Hit Pitcher Keeps Rolling...

Greensboro, N. C. — The A & T College Aggies tightened up the CIAA baseball race last Thursday with a 9-3 win over Maryland State College, defending champs and previously undefeated.

Big Joe Cotton the basketball star, who pitched a brilliant no-hitter last week, was the hero in the contest. He came on in the top of the third with the bases loaded and one out to squelch a Maryland uprising. They scored two runs in that frame, one off of starter, Theodore and another on a long fly on Cotton. This closed the gap to 3-2 in favor of the Aggies.

that time will automatically be placed at the bottom of the ladder.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The Privileged Child

"But that child has been given everything!" You've heard that remark in a shocked and puzzled tone at gossip sessions. The Koffee Klatsch has just learned that a neighbor's teenager has run away from home or stolen a car or broken down physically or had an illegitimate child.

We're apt to think these things only happen to the underprivileged in city slums. Nice children whose fathers are good providers shouldn't have serious problems. It's as if we believed that money automatically guarantees health, happiness, and high moral qualities to our children.

Happens to All

But it doesn't always work that way. Your doctor could tell you of youngsters from the "best homes" who suffer from malnutrition, of "well educated" adolescents whose ignorance of basic facts of life is appalling. In a recent study high school boys and girls from upper class families admitted privately to just as much delinquency as those lower down in the economic scale. The slum kid is more likely to be arrested and convicted.

Parent's Job

The job of being a parent is a lot bigger than providing a generous allowance and setting a bountiful table. It's our job to know what our youngsters really do, where they go and with whom, and whether they eat and sleep properly. It's easy to say we should have their confidence, but it's not quite so easy to deserve and get it. Experts tell us that teenagers want to have rules to guide their behavior. But the rules must be reasonable in the first place, and they must be enforced. The privileged child is really handicapped if he's allowed to get away with actions that would take another child to juvenile court.

Wilt Won't Turn Pro; Intends to Finish K. U.

Kansas City, Mo.—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, lengthy cage star for Kansas university, declared recently in an interview with a sports editor that he intends to graduate from Kansas U and thus dispelled recent rumors that he was going to drop out of school next year and turn professional. Wilt said that anything contrary to this is absolutely unfounded.

The Philadelphia Warriors claimed territorial rights on Chamberlain, while he was a player at Overbrook and touched off a controversy between the pros and the colleges.

After that Cotton was never in real difficulty. The losers got one scratch single off of Cotton and that in the sixth which developed into the one-run charged to him.

Paul commanded women to keep silent in the church and to ask their husbands at home. Can she qualify according to I Timothy 3rd chapter and Titus, 1st chapter? Now I ask the Sister to prove her point by two or three witness I Thessalonians 5:21.

PRAYER LEADS US

In the realm of in-between-ness Neither heaven, earth nor sky; Could there be a host of restless Unclaimed spirits, flitting by? ... Does the line of demarcation Show a sharp and precise sign? Are the grades of separation Loosely drawn or straight and fine? When the roll is called forever Will the unclaimed souls then know? Or go drifting on, and never,

Fly on high, or fall below? When the mind is most receptive Calmed, enriched through hours of prayer, Then the psyche's main objective's In rapport with "Those up there." With the eyes of mental vision Visualize those realms above, Pierce the pall of indecision See and speak with those we love, Know that they reside in glory Set the troubled hearts at rest. Teach each soul the wondrous story: Prayer leads us to the blest. ...
