NAACP Seeks Another Ruling in Ark. Tax Case

Little Rock.—The right of the State of Arkansas to demand the membership lists of NAACP units was challenged in the new chambers of the seven-judge Arkansas Supreme Court here last week in the first of a series of cases involving the Association's right to function in the state.

Ike Panned for Integration Stand By Democrats

Forest Park, Pa.—(CNS)—"The President counsels our Negro leaders to patience and forbearance in the integration of schools. He should be emphasizing that the Supreme Court decisions should be obeyed, not merely because they are the law but because they are morally right. This he has consistently failed to do. We cannot afford another Little Rock."

These were the dramatic words of Governor Averill Harriman of New York as he addressed 300 delegates at a weekend conference on civil rights, called by the Jewish Labor Committee at the Unity House.

Citing that "the American prestige abroad has had a precipitous decline in the last five years from the eras of President Roosevelt and Truman when America was considered the friend and good neighbor of peoples around the world," Harriman paved the way for Roy Wilkins, NAACP head, to speak on new problems being unearthed in Florida. He stated that even though new evidence on recent bombings had been uncovered, he could get no cooperation from federal officials of that state.

Racial Battle Mars Holiday Outing for Philadelphia Sorority in Amusement Park

Chalfont, Penna.—A series of small fights between a Philadelphia Negro sorority and visiting whites erupted into an hour long vicious racial battle involving nearly 500 persons at Forest Amusement park Friday night . . . injuring scores of persons with more than a dozen hospitalized.

The wild melee apparently began at a holiday dance with the batters mostly teenagers, swinging baseball bats, tree limbs, and tire irons, hurling bottles and rocks.

Unable to cope with the rioting mob, police summoned assistance from surrounding communities. More than 2,000 persons in the 150 acre park were involved, with women and children running and screaming in terror.

There were 372 in the sorority group which was escorted by a dozen policemen on the return trip to Philadelphia, on the return trip to Philadelphia. Only one arrest was reported.

Robert Dillard, 40, who said he was one of sponsors of the outing. Police said he interfered when they tried to remove one of the injured from the train.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Philadelphia, Penna.—The home of Representative-elect Robert N. C. Nix, the first Negro elected to congress from Pennsylvania, was under police guard last week after a bomb scare which authorities reported after investigation, came from a crank.

Columbia, S. C.—Allen University's capitulation to Gov. Timmerman by firing three "integrationist" professors, failed to win for the school its recertification by the state last week. The certification was lifted by the state board of education because the university was reluctant to fire Professors Riddick, Wiggins, and Hoffman.

New York, N. Y.—Mrs. Alma Vesels John, a native of Philadelphia, is one of seven winners of McCall's magazine's 1957 gold mike awards to women in radio and television. The first Negro so honored, she was cited for her unique program, "What's Right with Teen-agers," a three-weekly presentation over New York's WJRL radio station.

Toledo, Ohio.—Two Negroes were among 15 fire captains qualifying on the eligibility list for district chief here in Toledo. They are R. D. Heron, sixth and Alfred Stuart, who was tied for 14th position.

Nairobi, Kenya—Government security forces announced here last week the arrest of 102 African leaders on charges of plotting the poison death of white people. The leaders were identified as being members of the anti-white Mau Mau society, going under the name of Kiama Kia Muingi.

Pittsburgh, Penna.—Eleanor Merriek, New Orleans Negro High school girl who was denied the privilege of singing with the New Orleans Symphony orchestra, won the title of the "Finest Voice in the Nation" in the National Catholic Association convention, competition here last month.

Two Students are Honor Graduates

Two Negroes graduated among the top 15 percents of their classes this spring. They were Alberta Miller, graduating senior of Des Moines Tech, and Rosella Murray, East High graduate.

Of the 1,453 senior high school graduates in Des Moines, 33 were Negroes.

Floyd Graves Injured In Storm Accident

Vice-Principal Tells How Violence May Be Solved By Controlling Outsiders

Little Rock, Ark.—Under cross-examination in the U. S. District Court hearing of the school board's appeal for a 2½ year suspension of integration, Mrs. Elizabeth Huckaby, vice-principal of Central High testified she believed the violence and threats of violence could be solved if outsiders were "identified and controlled" by the courts.

Mrs. Huckaby related under direct questioning how she had been concerned about the violence and threats and their effects on the teachers, during the past nine months.

"Teachers came to me—a tremble. Some had observed violence for the first time. Some were weeping," she said.

"I have no reason to think there will be any change," she went on, when asked if integration should be continued.

However, under cross-examination by Thurgood Marshall, counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which is opposing the board's petition, Mrs. Huckaby said, "firm action by school officials to remove the threat of violence is not the key to the problem."

"Do you think removal of the Negro children would solve the problem, Marshall asked.

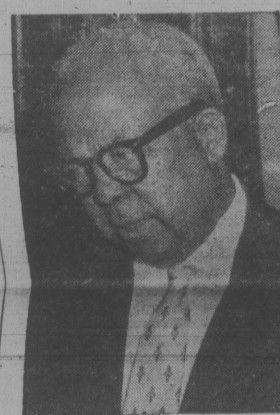

"I would say ringleaders of the school seemed to me to be under directions from the outside," she answered. "I think the problem can be solved by their (the outsiders) identification and control by the courts."

The school board which at first supported integration as the only legal approach, now contends that the year's experience disrupted the educational process and charged the federal court had by order insisted on integration but then did nothing to aid in the control of violence.

The hearing's beginning came right behind the graduation exercises in which the first Negro student Ernest Green received his diploma . . . in a quiet ceremony under police guard.

Monday's victory marked the first time a college professor had won the nomination of the Republican party. Murray is a professor of economics on leave from Iowa State College at Ames.

His unopposed nominee Gov. Herschel Loveless, Democratic incumbent also received a strong vote, more than 15,000 over that of

PRETTY WEDDING CAKE IS EASY

Whether a wedding is large or small, formal or informal, there must be a cake. Nowadays there are such good cake mixes on the market it is not at all difficult to make a wedding cake. Consider, for example, using a new lemon chip angel food mix. Merely by preparing two packages of this new mix and baking in two tube pans according to package directions, you have the basis of a delicious double-ring wedding cake. The frosting for these cakes is no problem either; it is a simple confectioners' sugar frosting, requires no cooking. —(ANP)

THE TIME IN SCHOOL

The time that's spent in school may seem, A most confining, tiresome scheme: To keep us under some restraint. We're restive, and our stock complaint is, that they all say, "no, oh, no!" You can't do this, or that don't go ...

The point at miss, is, that no fool, can graduate from any school! Great names, through-out all history, have searched for knowledge, constantly. Our learning must be culled from books. No retains their gains on looks: and each of those who reached that peak. That ease and fortune most at seek, used knowledge as a ductile tool, with effort as their golden rule. ...

Learning pays great dividends, returning in full measure a thousand-fold in profits: so tap your mind for treasure. The time is now; that we must know. And knowledge is the power we, must have to strike the winning blow, or end this life in slavery. ...

The heroes of this age of space, will not bleed on our sod! Our science must not lose this race, our faith remains in God.

N.J. Manufacturer Held for Violating Child Labor Law By 'Importing' from South

New York.—Gus James George of Jackson's Mills in Ocean County, N. J., was arrested on charges of violating the state's child labor act and other labor laws on May 27 following an investigation by Herbert Hill, NAACP labor secretary, and presentation of affidavits to Carl Holderman, New Jersey State labor commissioner. Meanwhile a warrant was issued for the arrest of William Mitchell, an associate of the arrested furniture manufacturer.

Isolated Area

George and Mitchell were accused of bringing nine teenage Negroes from the South to work in their furniture plant in an isolated rural area near Jackson's Mills. According to the NAACP official who conducted the investigation in cooperation with the New Jersey State labor commissioner, the accused pair were engaged in "a vicious racket in which adolescents from southern states were forced to work 12 hours daily for fantastically low wages below the established state minimum while some received no money at all."

Southern Youths

The boys, ranging in age from 15 to 16 years old, were brought from Conway, S. C.; Groveland, Ga.; Raleigh, N. C.; Richmond, Va.; and Savannah, Ga.

Following his investigation, Mr. Hill charged that the youths were employed in violation of child labor laws and other labor codes. They operated dangerous power saw equipment in violation of state safety regulations, lived in tents and were denied adequate wages in violation of the state's minimum wage law, he asserted.

Take Steps

The NAACP official asked the state to take steps to secure the back wages owed the young workers. He also said the case indicated that the industrial commissioners of several northern states need to carry out "a most vigorous and sensitive enforcement of child labor laws to prevent the shameful abuses and exploitation of underage Negro children from rural southern communities brought north by unscrupulous labor agents."

Kenya Resident Speaks to Baha'is

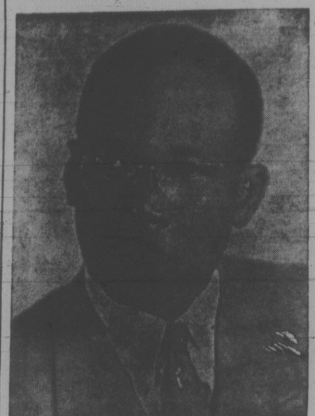

Des Moines had as a visitor this week from far away Kenya, Ted Cardell who is traveling through the United States, addressing Baha'i communities in many cities on the progress of the Baha'i faith in Africa.

In his talk at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moffett, Cardell said, "Happiness and prosperity will only be achieved in Kenya, when the white race as well as the Negro, recognize that all men are created spiritually in the image of God."

"That difference of color and characteristic should never be allowed to be the cause of division, but rather the cause of unity and greater beauty and perfection in the human race. No garden is perfect if it relies upon one color of flower, rather it achieves greater beauty through many colors and all the flowers have equal value."

Mr. Cardell told how this concept

Diplomas Win Special Desserts!

IT'S TIME FOR A PARTY—just as soon as Graduation Day is over, and every eager youngster is the proud possessor of a diploma at last! And we can't think of a nicer way to honor a group of hard-working young students, or sending them off on a vacation, than with a feast! Especially when the desserts have so many things in their favor: appropriate design... simplicity itself to put together... wonderful eating. These serious-looking "graduates" surrounded by snowy coconut, will be just as happy eating for older alumni, too—we'll bet!

"GRADUATED" DESSERTS

- 1 pint vanilla ice cream
- 1 pkg. 4 oz. shredded coconut (reserve several extra-long shreds for each mortar-board)
- 6 chocolate-coated graham crackers
- 6 semi-sweet chocolate chips
- Maraschino cherries
- Cinnamon candies

Scoop vanilla ice cream into balls to make graduates' heads. Set in ruff of shredded coconut on dessert plate. Place chocolate-coated graham cracker on top of each ice cream ball. With a melted semi-sweet chocolate chip, attach several long shreds of coconut for tassel. For the grin, use a slice of maraschino cherry... for the eyes, use cinnamon candies. Serve at once. (ANS)

Youth Of The Week

This is the 18th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

This week the Bystander salutes a young miss who is "graduating" too, that is, she has finished the required courses and studies in junior high and next fall will be a full fledged senior high school student at Des Moines Tech.

15-year-old Sharon Western, of 1052 14th Street has been making ones and twos, the highest grades given in junior high, and still finds time to work part-time as an office girl at Washington Irving Junior high school, then come home and help her mother with her four-year-old sister.

In addition Sharon is the only Negro girl working in the office at her school and her job takes in answering the phone, greeting visitors and showing them around the school and other various tasks.

Sharon likes cooking and sewing, and though she hasn't done much of the latter, she cooks often when her mother, Mrs. Verona Western, is working at Crescent Beauty school.

When she goes to Tech next fall she wants to major in business and food and clothing, but she already has her sights set on a career as a lawyer, and tentatively plans to go South to college preferably Howard University in Washington, D. C.

She attends Corinthian Baptist church and is a member of the Willkie House and the Charmettes, a social club at the center. She sings with the Glee club at her school and likes collecting records for a hobby, especially those of Little Richard and Johnny Mathis.

During the summer Sharon had planned to attend summer school but on the advice of her teacher, who said she didn't need to, she decided against, and now plans to take care of her little sister for her mother.

The daughter of divorced parents, her father is Frank Western of 1728 Walker Street.

New York, May 29.—With a membership of 1,040, the Knoxville, Tenn., NAACP youth council is now the nation's largest youth unit of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Herbert L. Wright, the Association's youth secretary, said here today.

The NAACP youth and college division is in the midst of a nationwide drive for 40,000 new members and $20,000 in funds to help support the national program. In an appeal to American youth, Mr. Wright said that their membership was needed to express their "real and meaningful support to the fight for freedom."

During Vacations Care Should Be Taken to Scout Dangers of Unfamiliar Places

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

VACATION HAZARDS

The town mouse and the country mouse each found that unfamiliar places hold unfamiliar dangers. Some motorists used to New York City traffic are terrified at the prospect of driving in a small town. At the same time, many small town drivers would dread their first tangles with the rush on the New York City streets.

Accidents

During the summer many families leave their home grounds, with their familiar dangers, for experiences and environments that are strange. A goodly number of accidents befall the newcomers in any area, who are not acquainted with the dangers that seem so familiar to the residents. When we are planning our own excursions to new parts of the world we might profitably consider some of the ways of avoiding such accidents.

City Boy on Farm

To the City boy, many activities and kinds of equipment on a farm can present unexpected risks. His hosts might be especially careful to warn him about the moving parts on some machines, for example. If we are used to farm life, we tend to take knowledge of these dangers for granted.

Water Sports

Water sports are a source of great pleasure—and of great risk. When visiting strange waters or trying unfamiliar water activities, it pays to learn the local conditions and safeguards. People familiar with the lake or river can tell what to guard against—the sudden storm, the submerged reef, the deep hole, the unexpectedly strong current.

When We Visit

When we visit, we can watch to see the kinds of equipment the residents use, and the kinds of activity they engage in. And we can learn as much as possible about what to do if an accident does happen.

Forewarned is forearmed; especially is this true in avoiding the unsuspected dangers of unfamiliar places.

NEW PLAY ON NEGRO

New York City—(CNS)—With a new play—a comedy—about a Negro youngster opening another strike for the racial theme has been added. It is "The Comic Strip" which opened at the swank Barbizon Plaza Theatre, called an off-Broadway theatre.

Playing the lead is Jerry Wimberly, who acts a light, airy role of an ambitious youngster searching for business for his father—an undertaker. Jerry lets it be known his father is modern and "isn't against burying a few white people too." Here a few punches for integration are put over in comedy.

Mrs. Irene Herman Granted Divorce

Mrs. Irene Herman has been granted a divorce from Dr. Joseph A. Herman, Des Moines osteopath, by Polk County District Judge Joseph E. Meyer who approved an agreement which gave Mrs. Herman custody of the couple's two minor children. She also was awarded $100 a month child support.

In addition the agreement requires Dr. Herman to buy a home for Mrs. Herman and the children, and to pay the insurance and upkeep of the home.

Dr. Herman receives sole title to his clinic at 1232 Hutton Street which also had served as the family home.

Mrs. Herman had accused her husband of cruel and inhuman treatment. The Hermans were married June 2, 1941 in Detroit, Mich.

At Radio City, N. Y.

New York City, (CNS)—In a brilliant presentation, the Tuskegee Choir of Tuskegee Institute, Ala. will headline the summer stage show, beginning next week, at the famed Radio City Music Hall. The Choir, of 35 voices, will sing spirituals and other renditions under the direction of Relford Patterson. The show, entitled "Jubilee", will also feature the Music Hall Rockettes and the Corps de Ballet.

Over 20 years ago the Tuskegee Choir opened the Roxy Theatre—and in 1932 they sang at the inaugural program at the Rockefeller Center Playhouse. In '54 they sang at the Metropolitan Opera House at a program for the United Negro College Fund.

A huge turnout of music lovers is expected to view the coming show, together with college students from over the nation who will be in New York on vacation.

According to EBONY, Belafonte has offices in Los Angeles, and New York, and will set up a London office during his European tour this year.

Discussing other plans, Belafonte says: "We want to set up a cultural center where Negro artists and sculptors can exhibit their work under the best possible conditions. We will arrange for playwrights and TV script writers to work without having to worry about the landlord's knock on the door."

Belafonte's ability as a businessman, according to EBONY, is reflected in the six-picture deal he has worked out with 20th Century-Fox's Buddy Adler for $200,000 per movie.

He has 12 experts on his staff, and an annual payroll that runs into six figures.

Journalism's highest honor ... PULITZER PRIZE to Clark Mollenhoff

Clark Mollenhoff, member of the Washington Bureau Des Moines Register and Tribune

This year's PULITZER PRIZE for national affairs reporting was won by Clark Mollenhoff for news stories which brought corrupt labor union practices to the attention of congress and the public. Members of congress and government officials frankly admit that Mollenhoff—and Mollenhoff alone—was responsible for bringing the situation into the open.

From the Congressional Record, March 8, 1957

"...this reporter first called our attention to certain questionable practices in the labor-management field in all parts of the country and pointed out the federal responsibilities in these areas."

Senator John L. McClellan

Mollenhoff's exclusive and outstanding series of stories over a five-year period also won for these newspapers this year's Sigma Delta Chi Award for "public service in newspaper journalism." In addition to these new honors, he has won in the past, two other Sigma Delta Chi Awards, the Heywood Brown Memorial Award and the Raymond Clapper Memorial Award.

The Des Moines Register and Tribune is proud of this Pulitzer Award to a member of its staff, another in a large collection of awards and honors earned in the past two decades. These awards reflect the kind of reporting and editing which the people of Iowa have come to expect from The Register and Tribune.

SIXTY-FOUR YEARS OF SERVICE

This week marks the 64th anniversary of the Iowa Bystander. Few business institutions of any kind in Des Moines hold a record for such a long period of service. Certainly, a weekly class newspaper must have had something to give the community which enabled it to survive.

Dozens of weekly newspapers in Des Moines have blossomed out and faded during these 64 years. The highway has been anything but rosy for the Bystander at times but a boost here and there from both Negroes and whites who recognize the value of such a paper, the consistent support of some and the knowledge upon the part of management that a Negro newspaper is a necessity in Iowa, all made a contribution to the continued publication of the paper.

When the present management took over the Bystander, the publisher brought a definite policy to improve the civic and economic lot of Negroes in Iowa. At that time, employment for Negroes was few and far between except a generous supply of porters and waiters, maids and cooks. Not that these jobs are unimportant, but the Bystander felt that they should not be the height of their ambition.

It asked for and secured Negro help in political campaigns. For many years practically every Negro office girl worker started her career at the Bystander office.

Candidates for public office were polled and gave promises of consideration to Negroes.

Working in close cooperation with the NAACP, Interracial Commission and forces representing the churches, YMCA, YWCA and other social organizations, much of the inequalities in employment has been eliminated; discrimination has been reduced materially to the extent that few hotels, restaurants and theaters do other than welcome their Negro business.

The Bystander has not grown physically as had been hoped, and yet without boasting we know that it is better prepared, made up and printed than any Negro paper coming to our desk printed in a city with twice the Negro population.

Much of this accomplishment is due to the generous support received from hundreds of civic minded people.

A newspaper is a public servant in which the people have an interest. It may take bold positions on issues or it may straddle the fence on important issues. The Bystander has chosen the former. And although some people have been unhappy, at times, over its position, in the final analysis most have approved our stand.

Class papers, such as the Bystander, have operated for a particular group with the support of others who believed in the cause. But as differences among groups continue to disappear their necessity will diminish.

The Bystander believes that it has accomplished much to be desired. Its fight for economic and civic advancement of the Negro and thus the whole state has, to a large degree, succeeded. Of course, there remains much to be accomplished yet, much to hold the line. And that is why the Bystander will carry on as before, hoping for even better support than has been its lot during the past 64 years.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Iowa voters went to the polls Monday and nominated candidates for the fall election. Some interesting races developed which clarify the issues; a rather forceful group of candidates was endorsed by their respective parties.

Most interesting, of course, was for the Republican nomination for governor won by Murray, a college professor on leave from Ames. The Bystander supported, Lieut. Gov. Nicholas for the nomination believing that he, along with his supporters, were more acceptable to the constituency it represents.

However, the primary system is designed to name one candidate for a post and since majority rule is the only fair way in such a contest, the Bystander joins with the Murray forces.

In spite of the important issues in the campaign, the vote was comparatively light—an indication that many people care little about their civic responsibility.

New York—Wimbledon and U. S. Tennis champion Althea Gibson added two more laurels to her collection last Thursday by winning the Babe Dickerson Zaharias trophy as "woman athlete of the year," and being named captain of the U. S. Wightman Cup Team.

The 30-year-old tennis ace, whose new career is singing, called the trophy award "the greatest honor in my life."

She will retain the large trophy until someone else wins it, but will have a smaller reproduction to place permanently with her other trophies and awards.

The Wightman Cup choice was announced by Mrs. William duPont Jr., chairman of the cup committee.

Miss Gibson will lead the U. S. team in competition against England's top women tennis players at matches to be played in Wimbledon, England, June 13-14. Her prediction for the matches: "I'm going to win Wimbledon again."

HEALTH FOR ALL

When School's Out

"No more pencils, no more books, no more teacher's saucy looks!"

Remember when you used to chant that rhyme on the last day of school? Of course your children wouldn't be so rude, but they are rushing home these days full of happy plans for the long summer.

And what about Mother? Will you be able to share in the fun? Or will vacation days ahead.

You are looking wistfully out of the kitchen window, tied down by the old routine?

Recipe for June

Here's our recipe for June: Take one small note book and one pencil. List the household tasks for the week. Ask yourself, "Is this job necessary?" For each "yes" answer, ask: "Can some step in this job be left out or made simpler?"

It's easier to wash apples than make the minto pie. Serve raw fruit three or four times a week. It's better for the family health, too, than cakes and pies. Com-mercially prepared puddings may not be equal to your special chocolate souffle, but with the milk and eggs you add they're healthful and tasty. Why peel potatoes when they have more flavor boiled or baked in their jackets?

Roast Meat

Speaking of baking, the modern well-insulated oven won't heat the whole house and will save you time and effort. It's easier to roast meat than fry or broil it. While dinners can be popped into the oven and the cook can go fishing.

Save washing and ironing with drip-dry clothes. Let the summer breeze iron your sheets. Paper plates and napkins make any meal a picnic.

And as you simplify, think of ways the children can help with the chores. A healthier, happier Mother will mean a better vacation for them, too.

First major leaguer—Los Angeles Dodger player or member of the visiting team—who hits a home-run over the Coliseum's 440-foot right field fence will be awarded $100 dollars by the 100% Wrong club of Southern California.

The 100% Wrongers, a sports club, voted the lucky player this cash bonus at its regular meeting Wednesday night at the Milomo Lounge, 2829 S. Western, according to the club's president, Attorney Leo Branton, Jr.

The presentation will be made either at the Coliseum or at a regular meeting of the club.

Send Yours Today

To The Jobless

By ANDY RAZAF

Though you are broke and jobless
And your rent is due today
And your creditors are coming
To take your things away,
Just tell your hungry family
To be happy as a pup;

For Haven't all of us been told
That things will soon pick up?
Don't think about the billions
We send across the foam;
Don't ever say that charity
Should first begin at home;

Don't use the word "depression";
Instead, say "downward trend".
High prices and high taxes
In time are bound to end.

You have no cause to worry;
Be gay, and hum a tune;
Don't fret about the money
We spend to reach the moon.

Forget Skid Rows and bread lines;
This is no time to fear.
Just tighten up your belts, my friends;

Prosperity is near. — Reprinted
