Rights Group Warns Citizens on Housing Bias

Ask Cooperation in Relocating Families Affected by Freeway

In an effort to remind Negro citizens that they have a right to choose new homes "in any neighborhood they can afford," and that city officials have an equal responsibility to "show" all available housing to prospective buyers affected by the proposed freeway, two letters were made public Saturday, by Malcolm Higgins, executive secretary of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination.

In his letter to the citizens, Higgins wrote:

"As a property owner or renter, living in an area that will be taken in by the freeway, you will undoubtedly be approached soon by real estate agents offering to help you relocate. Des Moines has many decent and desirable houses for sale and we urge you to resist any sales talk designed to get you to move in a hurry or into a house or neighborhood that does not meet with your needs, expectations or ability to pay.

"The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights is committed to help citizens being dislocated by the freeway, regardless of their race or color, secure housing anywhere in the city. We hope you will cooperate with us. The American Friends Service Committee and others by not moving until you have had a fair chance to examine all housing in the city that is being offered for sale or rent.

"If this Commission can be of any assistance to you in solving your future housing problem, please telephone CHerry 4-2181, Extension 226 or write to us in care of the address above."

The second letter which was addressed to the Urban Renewal board, Higgins said, "Our commission is anxious to co-operate with all members of the Urban Renewal board in making sure that Negro families being replaced by the Urban Renewal project are given the same chance to move into decent and desirable housing and neighborhoods that white families are."

"We are hopeful that you will use your influence and position on the Urban Renewal Board to see that Des Moines Negro citizens being replaced by the Urban Renewal project here are not forced to move into such substandard housing as Negro citizens have been in other areas of our country.

We have observed a great deal of goodwill and interest in this problem here in Des Moines and believe by segregated neighborhoods which do, in fact, exist in our city."

Higgins' letter was directed primarily at Negro families living in the freeway route between Cottage Grove avenue and Keosauqua way, the first section to be built.

Start Immediately

The Iowa highway commission on July 23 announced that negotiations to buy right of way for this segment of the freeway would begin immediately and construction should be started "sometime in 1959."

NAACP MOURNS TRAGIC DEATH OF DR. WALKER, BUSINESS LEADER

New York.—Roy Wilkins, executive, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, hails Dr. J. E. Walker, Memphis insurance leader, as "an outstanding citizen of the nation and a pioneer in building the economic strength of his people," in a telegram of condolence to the slain man's son, a Maceo Walker.

Dr. Walker, chairman of the board of directors of the Universal Life Insurance Company and president of the Tri-State Bank of Memphis, was shot to death on July 28 by a long time associate allegedly because of a grudge. He was a life member of the NAACP and a supporter of the Association's branch in Memphis.

Faubus Victory Regarded as Challenge to Redouble Efforts

New York.—The victory of Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the Arkansas Democratic primary should be regarded as a challenge "to redouble our efforts, to expand our membership, to enlist support from every decent American, and to increase our financial resources in order to continue" the fight for desegregation, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, says in a letter dispatched today to 400 local units of the Association in ten southern states.

Not Frightened

"We must not be frightened by" the Faubus victory, Mr. Wilkins asserts. "We must continue our work for desegregation more intensely than ever."

By ordering state troops to keep Negro children out of Little Rock's Central High School, the Governor brought on the present situation, the NAACP leader points out. "All that has happened since the state troops moved in last September can be traced to the policies and actions of Gov. Faubus," he charges.

Expresses Confidence

Expressing confidence that nothing can stop the progress of desegregation, Mr. Wilkins sees the Faubus triumph as something "of the moment" which cannot last unless we succumb to defeatism. We have known setbacks before. And we have overcome them. We will likewise overcome the latest development."

The issue, the letter points out, "is

NEWS In A Nutshell

Providence, R. I.—The Providence, R. I. chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., last week announced their withdrawal from the women's international singing organization because "changes in the by-laws exclude Negroes from membership."

Accra, Ghana — Ghana's first national currency was issued last week, with the notes having the same value as British money.

East Lansing, Mich.—Wynell Whitmore, 17-year-old Detroit, became the first Negro to be elected governor of the Wolverine Boys' State last week. Announcement of his election to the American Legion sponsored organization was met with a whistling, cheering ovation from the more than 1,000 delegates, a majority of them white.

Toledo, Ohio — Dr. Everett O. Campbell, a June graduate of the University of Michigan school of medicine, has become the first Negro intern at Toledo hospital, the city's largest privately operated institution.

Raleigh, N. C. — Matthew Phillip Bass, father of six children, was sentenced to die in the state gas chamber for raping a 35-year-old white woman.

Nashville, Tenn. — Richard Lillard, 38, held in the city workhouse, where witnesses said he acted "kind of crazy," was found dead last week in a blood-smeared padded cell and one of three workhouse guards admitted hitting him "maybe six, seven or eight times."

Sweatman was under court order restraining him from molesting his wife.

Alice Cunningham Appeals Jail Term For Disturbing Peace

Miss Alice Cunningham, of 938 West 24th street, appealed a 30-day jail sentence to Polk County District court Monday and was released on $300 bond. She had been sentenced by Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund on charges of disturbing the peace and quiet.

During a 90-minute hearing, neighbors testified Miss Cunningham had, within the last 30 days:

Thrown hot water on a 3-year-old girl.

Pushed a 5-year-old boy to the sidewalk, injuring his arm.

Called neighbors "all kinds of bad names."

Miss Cunningham denied all the charges. She told Grund she had only ordered the children out of her yard because they were destroying her flowers and had on occasion taken them by the arm and led them out

Small Courtroom Packed As Attorneys Argue Appeal Of Integration Suspension

St. Louis, Mo.—A full court of seven judges heard the appeal case on the 2½ year suspension of integration on Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., but there was no indication when a ruling would be handed down as the justices took the case under advisement.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People charge the school board with evading its duties and with laxity in student discipline. Councils for the Little Rock school board argued that the government let the board down in enforcement of integration at Central High, referring to the U. S. Attorney General's decision not to prosecute leaders of a mob because it "only encouraged anti-integrationists."

Thurgood Marshall, general counsel for the N.A.A.C.P., said he doubted the school board would do anything to ease tension during the 2½-year cooling-off period it was granted by a U. S. district court. Marshall said the importance of the Little Rock situation is this:

"The governor can do whatever he wants to do. The school board can ignore its rights and duties, but a federal court can not deny an individual his constitutional rights because of threats of violence."

But in House's words, the phrase used by the U. S. supreme court in ordering school integration "with all deliberate speed"—is flexible and should be translated into existing conditions.

A tense crowd of 120 persons jammed the small courtroom as all seven judges of the appeals court—instead of the usual three—met in special session to hear the N.A.A.C.P.'s appeal. The crowd was almost evenly divided between Negro and White.

Another 150 persons were turned away. The small courtroom was used because it is airconditioned.

A.P. Trotter, State NAACP President, Is Also Noted for His YMCA Volunteer Work

This is the 25th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

A man whose name is synonymous with leadership and service is Arthur P. Trotter, of 934 West 14th street place. Although, he is best known in NAACP and YMCA circles, for every worthwhile civic activity and undertaking he has had a significant hand in its organization and development.

A native of Bolton, Miss., he came to Des Moines in 1918 as a sergeant-cook instructor where he was stationed at Camp Dodge for eight months before the end of World War I and his release.

A year later he began working with the Crocker Branch committee of Management and has been working with it ever since, serving as chairman a number of years. He has also been a member of the Board of Directors of the Des Moines YMCA for the past several years and on many "Y" committees, including the Camp Committee, Budget and Finance committee and many others.

Because of his love for youngsters and his aspirations for their wholesome development in the community, Mr. Trotter's inspiring leadership with the Crocker YMCA program has continued to have an expanding influence in the lives of many boys and adults in Des Moines.

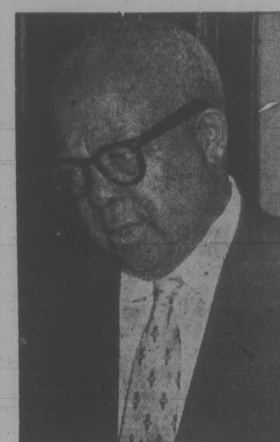

He has seen the program grow "from a small beginning in a little hut" on Crocker street to the overcrowded building now located on 13th and Keoway.

For his longtime volunteer service with the organization, he was among two honored by the YMCA in an annual dinner meeting two years ago.

Holding the equally long service with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Mr. Trotter has been a member for 36 years, is a former president of the Des Moines and is presently serving his second term as president of the State conference of branches. Last December he was among three local stalwart NAACP active members who were presented certificates of merit for their outstanding service and leadership with the local organization.

However, Mr. Trotter is well-known in other fields of endeavor. He was a former president of the Negro Chamber of Commerce, now defunct and formerly headed the Roosevelt club, chairman of the Trustees board of Corinthian Baptist church where he is a member and treasurer of the now disorganized Frontiers club, organization for business and professional clubs. During his vacation out east last month, he attended one of the meetings there. He was organizer and president of another defunct organization, the Standard Loan and Realty company. His deep interest in interracial affairs found expression also in the Des Moines Interracial Commission where he serves on the executive committee. He holds membership in the United Citizens Association.

His hobbies are confined to hunting. "I guess you have not."

1,000 Delegates Hear NACWC Speaker Call for Appropriate Legislation on Civil Rights

Detroit, Mich.—An official of the Commission on Civil Rights said this week that Congress expects the Commission to produce the needed facts for future "appropriate legislation" to enforce the Fourteenth Amendment.

George M. Johnson, director of the Commission's Office of Laws, Plans and Research, and former dean of Howard University law school, made the statement in an address to the biennial convention of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit. Over 1,000 delegates attended.

Voting Rights

"During the Congressional debates there were numerous charges that persons were being deprived of their voting rights by reason of their race, and that they were being denied equal protection of the laws in a variety of activities," Dr. Johnson declared.

"If these charges are valid then something is wrong with our system of justice and some adjustments should be made," he added. Others, however, denied the charges, he said, so the Commission was established

Legislation

"The underlying assumption," Dr. Johnson stated, "clearly is that Congress wants to know the facts and receive the recommendations that will help it to exercise its power under the 14th Amendment to enforce the provisions of that Amendment by appropriate legislation."

Disappointment

"Many persons were disappointed that Congress after such a lengthy struggle should produce so little," he acknowledged, but added his belief "that it will be important to have a thorough-going fact-finding project executed by an agency established by Congress for that specific purpose."

Ernie Banks Hopes to Break Own Homerun Record of 1957 and Gain Homerun Title

Chicago.—Before the 1958 major league baseball season opened, Ernie Banks had hit 136 home runs in four full seasons—10 games—in the National league.

The slender powerhitter for the Chicago Cubs had a good chance of reaching the 180-homer mark before the end of this season. With 26 homers under his belt after 89 games, Banks could exceed his major league high of 44 which he hit in his second full season in organized baseball.

Sets Two Records, Same Year

The 44 homers were more than any major league shortstop had hit and came in the same season (1955)

pointing in all states, Dr. Johnson declared that these unpaid advisory groups "organized properly and including satisfactory minority representation, may well become vehicles for the opening and strengthening of new lines of communication between the races."

Spend a little time during the summer making jelly to be used on breakfast-toast, hot biscuits, between-meal sandwiches for the children, and top a sizeable food expense item from your next winter's grocery bill!

Excellent jelly is easily made from the juice of tart apples, grapes, currants, blackberries and several other fruits and berries. They contain enough pectin, the substance in fruits which makes jelly "set." But, some fruits are low in pectin, notably cherries, peaches, strawberries and sweet apples, and the amount of pectin in a fruit may vary from season to season. It is also influenced by the degree of ripeness.

You may mix fruit juices known to be low in pectin cup for cup with those known to contain a great deal of pectin, but it is usually better to add pectin—the kind you buy in liquid or powdered form—when making jelly of low-pectin fruits. It is also faster. A one-minute boil is enough for jelly-making when you use either Certo or Sure-Jell, well known brands of natural fruit pectin.

You may even make jelly from canned or frozen juices and fruits by using pectin. This is one of the easiest ways of making jelly because it eliminates preparation of the fruit and permits you to make jelly any day of the year in about 15 minutes time.

Pectin may be bought at the food store in either liquid or powdered form. Be sure to follow the directions which come with the bottle on package when you make your jelly.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 20th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports, and civic activities.

This week we are saluting the first of two guests who spent the summer here in Des Moines. Miss Catherine Brown, 17-year-old senior from Talledega, Ala., was one among about 20 out-of-state high school students, mostly seniors, who were in the city taking freeway surveys of Negro families who will be affected by the city's proposed project. They were taking these surveys for the American Friend Service, which has headquarters on Grand avenue, and all of them lived there in the dormitory quarters. Miss Brown and the young lady who will appear next week, were the two Negro girls in the group.

Pediatrician

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown, in Talledega, Catherine is quite active in civic, school and church. Following her graduation from high school next spring, she immediately plans to enter pre-medical school at either two Negro institutions of higher learning, Fisk University or Howard University, to study toward a career of pediatrics.

Honor Roll

In school this studious young lady has made the honor roll regularly every two weeks since she was in the seventh grade, and now ranks in the upper ranks of her class. Prior to her attendance at West Side Senior High school, she attended a church-supported integrated school, which was attended by students from many international countries. For the past three years she has been a representative on the student council and represented the National Homemakers of America at different district offices.

Church

"I ran for president one but didn't make it," she said.

However, she has made a very presentable record also in her church activities, at Mount Canaan Baptist church where she is a member of the Usher board, assistant secretary of the Sunday School and teaches a Sunday class for seniors.

A member of the YWCA, for several years she has helped out with the organization's many projects, at Christmas time. She is also a NAACP member.

Camps

Catherine did not make it to Boone at the camp which preceded the group's coming to Des Moines, but camps are not new to her.

"I have been going ever since I was big enough," she said. Most of her outings have been in Alabama except for one summer when she went to Vermont two years ago.

"I have liked the work very much here, especially meeting the people," she acknowledged. "The interviews, will be helpful, perhaps not in my studies, but they will help me to meet similar situations later on in life."

"Why do I want to be a doctor?" she repeated the question asked her. "Well, mostly because I will be of some service. And perhaps my work here will help me meet some of the challenges."

W. Barton Beatty, Jr. Is New UNCF Leader

New York—W. Barton Beatty, Jr., head of the United Negro College Fund's Cleveland-Pittsburgh region since 1955, has been named national campaign director. It was announced here today by W. J. Trent, Jr., Fund executive director. Beatty's regional assignment will be filled by Joseph Henry Taylor, formerly in charge of vocational services for the Cleveland Urban League.

Fisk Alumnus

A native of Cairo, Ill., Beatty is an alumnus of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., one of the Fund's 33 member colleges. He has done graduate work at Howard University and the University of Michigan. He holds an honorary degree from Bishop College, Marshall, Tex., another of the Fund's member institutions.

Background

Beatty came to the College Fund staff from an assignment with a third member school, Hampton Institute, Va., where he served as secretary and public relations director. His earlier professional experience includes four years as executive director of the Moorland Branch of the Dallas YMCA and four years as boys work secretary of the Detroit YMCA.

Campaign

The pioneer in joint fund raising for institutions of higher learning, the United Negro College Fund is now conducting its 15th annual campaign to raise 10 per cent of the operating costs of its member schools. Organized appeals are being conducted in some 120 cities and towns throughout the country for the 1958 goal of $2,250,000.

All 33 UNCF member colleges and universities are privately supported, accredited institutions. All but one of them are located in the South.

New York City (CNS)—When the stars hit the big hotels (where the money is)—they seldom get to introduce new tunes... they must please the public by singing the songs which made them famous... and therefore when ELLA FITZGERALD appeared at Mr. Kelly's in Chicago—there it was—the same routine... She had to end her 45 minute section with "Tisket A Tasket"—the very first song which skyrocketed her to fame some 20 years ago.

Ella Fitzgerald

Ella began with an equally famous one—"Too Close For Comfort"—and all in-between there were hits of years such as "Lady Is A Tramp", "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered"—and the only new numbers were "Red Wagon", her latest disc, and excerpts from "St. Louis Blues"...

Ella Fitzgerald

Mr. Kelly's is a small intimate place where a person like Ella—with a small but dynamic voice, reigns... She commands the floor and is queen for the length of the engagement... Ella sings the sweet sentimental numbers with eyes closed and here again she puts others in this trance... With her is her own trio: Lou Levy (piano), Max Bennett (bass) and Gus Johnson (drums), who do a good job of anticipating her every desire...

Billy Eckstine

Billy Eckstine is back in the harness again—and we are glad because he's a mighty talented debonaire fellow... Also in Chicago—Eckstine opened at the Black Orchid which turned out royally for the date... He brought old favorites back to the scene also—with "Love Is Where You Find It" and the one which made him famous, "I Apologize"...

Realizing the Motives Behind Undesired Behavior Can Help Parents Keep Discipline Fair, Honest

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

Most of us get into at least minor troubles once in a while when we were children. And most of us can remember some punishments that we thought were dreadful.

We may still resent an incident in which the punishment was unfair or inappropriate from our point of view. As we look back on the incident, we may think of things the punisher should have known or done on that occasion to make the punishment more reasonable. Our feelings about such an event may prompt us to try to avoid, as much as we can, developing the same kinds of feeling in our own children.

No parent can completely avoid making mistakes, of course, but there are some things we can do to minimize the possibility of unfairness in our punishments. One thing we can do to try to see what the child's motives were that produced the behavior.

Different Punishments

Most of us would agree that the child who accidentally knocks his glass over with his elbow may have been too careless, but we would be more irritated if he had deliberately upended it over the clean floor. Should we use different punishments in these two cases if we think that carelessness should be punished? If we wish our children to be honest, should we take care to teach them the difference between taking something that is actually lost, and taking something that hasn't been lost?

Painful Experience

Being insulted is a painful experience, and some of us remember bitterly a punishment that insulted us. It may have been a public scolding for something we felt very self-conscious about, or it may have been punishment that disregarded our real age. We can try to avoid adding insult to the punishment by remembering the child's age and maturity of development.

Discipline is not fun, either for us or for the children. It is necessary, however, and following these suggestions may help make our disciplinary measures a little more effective.

Reports There Is Complete Freedom to Worship in Russia

By Victor G. Backus

New Orleans.—Nowhere in Europe or America is Christian fervor more pronounced than in the avowedly atheistic Soviet Union.

Dr. Samuel L. Gandy, dean of the chapel of Dillard University here, said upon his return from a tour of 16 countries of Europe and the Middle East that Christianity appeared more vital to the lives of the people of the Soviet Union than in any other country he visited.

On-the-Spot-Survey

The university chaplain was one of five clergymen who made an on-the-spot survey of the status of religion on both sides of the iron curtain. Their six-week tour was sponsored by the commission on religious organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Gandy said that the group was especially interested in religious freedom in the Soviet Union. He reported that there is complete freedom to worship in Russia, although less than complete equality between denominations, as guaranteed by the Soviet constitution.

"The Russian Orthodox Church in fact occupies a preferential position in relation to other churches, even though the government denies any commitment to religion. It is the only religious institution classified as a church. All other religious groups are known as 'cults,'" said Dr. Gandy.

Free to Attend

According to Dr. Gandy, the Soviet citizen is free to attend the church of his choice and does so in large numbers, but clergymen there do not comment upon social or political issues. Religious instruction is prohibited, except that parents may teach their children privately in the home.

Notwithstanding these restrictions, Dr. Gandy reported that he found no indications of conflict between church and state. "Religious enthusiasm is greater in Russia than I have ever witnessed anywhere else. I saw no less than 10,000 worshippers at a single service in the Central Cathedral of the Russian Orthodox Church in Moscow, and at least 20 percent of them were young people, including many soldiers in uniform. Services were similarly well-attended at the Baptist and other churches that I visited," Dr. Gandy stated.

In sharp contrast was the relative indifference to religion found in the countries of Western Europe. The Dillard chaplain said that it was his impression that there was no "live" religious movement in the western countries, including the United States.

Interviews

Dr. Gandy said that the group was well-received everywhere and that its members had an opportunity to interview many of the world's religious leaders. An invitation was extended to the Metropolitan Nikolai of Moscow and other Soviet churchmen limited their discussions to religious matters. Dr. Gandy reported that everywhere the people expressed a strong desire for peace and understanding with the United States. He said that racial discrimination here was a major stumbling block to international understanding. "As a Negro," he said, "I felt more comfortable in churches abroad than I would in almost any church in my native South."

In addition to Dr. Gandy, other members of the group were Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York; the Rev. Leonides C. Contos, dean of St. Sophia-Greek Orthodox Cathedral, Los Angeles; Dr. Irving Lehman, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, Miami Beach; and Roy J. McCorkel, director of the commission on religious organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Mrs. Terry Young, Is Chicago Visitor

Mrs. Terry Young, of Chicago, Ill., was in Des Moines visiting her brother Harry Davis and relatives this week. While here she stays at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Nellie Esters, of 1425 Center street.

If you like corresponding with pen pals of other lands, you can add another on your list, a prince from Africa. This week the Bystander received a letter from Prince Abdul Balogun, setting forth his desires to exchange letters with pen-friends here in America. In the letter which you will find printed in full on the Editorial page, Prince Balogun also discloses the items that are native to his country, that he will like to exchange for items peculiar to America.

His letter was mailed from Nigeria, on July 29 and we had it before Saturday, Aug. 2.

Nowadays, with the world growing smaller, and people realizing that Africa is such a nice place to travel to and tour, it would be nice to develop a friend now through letters and learn so much about the people and what they think, through personal letters. So much more of the charm and warmth come in a personal letter from one citizen to another citizen, than what can ever seep from a diplomatic brochure.

Writing pen pals, is also a good past-time for hobbyists, teen-agers, the aged and anyone who has time to just sit down and write.

If anyone in this area, writes Prince Balogun, and gets a reply, which I am sure you will, will you call us and tell us about it?

About those weekly news deadlines. I think some people are under the impression that you can call news in only on Tuesday. You can call on Mondays too; in fact, we prefer it, if the news event occurred before Monday. We don't like to, but usually we are forced to turn down news when it is called in past the deadline on Tuesday noon.

All traffic was stopped by a special policeman, while the largest delegation of women marched two by two to the Plaza and placed a wreath at the foot of the monument.

The NACWC voted $1,000 to be administered by the Arkansas association of Colored women for the nine students who attended Central High School in Little Rock.

Personally Yours by Frances Mulhorne.

Now that August is here with all its promised heat and dry weather, maybe most of you will have a chance to enjoy more of those yard parties and barbecues that began the summer in June. In addition, it is better traveling weather, too, for vacations and family reunions, now that most of the clubs have disbanded for the summer.

Mrs. Floyd Bailey of 1144 West 17th street reported that a scheduled family reunion in Des Moines last month was postponed because of high waters in Missouri, which prevented traveling. However, she said she and Mr. Bailey, and a brother and his family of Shreveport, Ill., are going to Hannibal, Mo., (where two of her brothers live) this weekend for the delayed reunion, which they have held yearly.

Away from the city also is Mrs. Pauline Humphrey of the Crescent Beauty school and the Cosmetiste club. She is in Miami, Fla., attending the national association of Beauty culturists which will also move onto Nassau.

Miss Catherine Brown, of Talledega, Ala., our guest for "Youth of the Week" left the city Saturday, along with the other eighteen out of state youths who spent the summer here doing freeway surveys for the American Friends Service. However, as the others left by train for their various homes, Catherine left with her mother who drove up from Talledega. The two motored to Chicago, Ill., for a visit before leaving for their hometown.

How many of you saw and read Lillian McLaughlin's story on the Lacey Spriggs, of 1055 West 17th street in the Thursday Tribune's feature of "The Family Dollar" Wasn't it a well written story and account of a typical American family?

Some of the brides of the summer and their new husbands are very fortunate indeed. Recent newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Frazier, moved into their new home, at 2810 Cleveland. The home is a gift from the bride's parents. She is their only child.

Another couple, Lt. and Mrs. R. C. Pifford are blessed in that the bride can sew one of the finest hands, for a young lady, around in these parts. Her grandmother, Mrs. Berdie Lewis, of 1014 West 14th street, proudly reported she made the entire bridal costumes for six bridesmaids and designed and sewed her own wedding gown after one she saw in the display window of Marshall Fields in Chicago, where she worked before her marriage. The couple now live in Texas.

While we are on the subject we had no report of the wedding until now in the Bystander because the couple left town for an undisclosed honeymoon, and all pictures taken were sent to them. And as in most cases, the story was meant to go along with the pictures.

FAUBUS VICTORY A CHALLENGE TO AMERICA

Anyone, who has any reliable information as to the attitude of the masses in the South toward integration, is not surprised at the victory of Gov. Faubus of Arkansas in his bid for a third term as governor.

And to further emphasize the provincial attitude in America on the race question, the Gallup poll said last Sunday that 50 per cent of the people approved Judge Lemley's decision postponing integration in Little Rock.

Undoubtedly many angles entered into the decision of those who answered Dr. Gallup's pollsters, that were not necessary expressions of approval for the decision itself.

There are many people who approve ultimate integration but insist that a long time is necessary to bring it about, many favor integration but oppose the use of troops to protect the rights of Negroes to enjoy it. And like the attitude of some northerners in the 1860's there are many segregationists in the North today.

But whatever the reason, America is doing a poor job getting its own laws enforced. This is due, to a great extent, to the failure of the executive branch of the government, of Congress, other public officials and leading citizens to take a moral stand on the question.

The victory of Faubus was an approval of his use of troops to block integration and a disapproval of the use of troops to enforce a court decision. It taught other southerners that anything goes as long as it opposes integration and coupled with the decision of Judge Lemley deferring integration all have tended to place lawabiding citizens on the defensive.

This turn of events doesn't raise the status of America in the estimation of some nations abroad. It is certainly a case of trying to solve other people's problems and letting the home problem drift to the dogs.

EARLY ASSISTANCE IN HOUSING PROJECTS IS WISE

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination has undertaken to be of assistance to some of the property owners whose homes will be taken by the freeway or urban renewal projects.

Cities accepting funds from the federal government to construct these projects agree that they will be responsible that no person so dispossessed will be without a place to live.

This places the problem squarely up to the cities and the Bystander hopes that Des Moines will not hesitate to carry out its responsibility.

The commission recognizes that even with the assumption of this responsibility, housing for minority groups is difficult at best and with the heavy demand which must be met during this period of adjustment, a rather close check must be maintained in order to see that justice is done.

Of course, being a part of the city government the commissions which will simply help in carrying out the responsibility which it has already assumed.

Every effort must be made to see that nobody is dealt with unfairly. Many people in the area, whose property will be taken by these projects, bought their homes years ago and paid a modest price for them. And while the value has increased some with the overall rise in the price of everything, it will not be possible to buy a home for the price which will be realized out of the sale of their present home.

This situation is bound to produce many hardships and thus the commission is smart to begin early to see that the job is handled properly.

MENU

To complete a soup " sandwich menu, serve a cream cheese and doughnut dessert. Use packaged powdered sugar doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Cut each in half crosswise. Spoon whipped cream cheese over the bottom half. Crumb the top half and sprinkle crumbs over the cheese. Place under the broiler until the crumbs are brown.

GOODIES

To make a quick and handsome snack for guests, fill a large bowl with a variety of crisp goodies. Then, cut powdered sugar cake quality doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department in half and hook them around the edge of the bowl. The combination of flavors is perfect with either a hot or long cool beverage.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

People who missed the finals of our Hilltop, Des Moines Open missed the best tennis match of the whole series of meets, Gene Nadig had two legs on the Langston Hardaway trophy in the men's singles. He tangled with Bob Duncan and for about an hour it looked as if the big mug was going back to the Willkie House. But Gene rallied from 5-2 and 40 love down and pulled the second set out of the fire and went on to retire the trophy.

Gene's brother, John Nadig and Larry Holpin of Cedar Rapids, won the men's double from father and son, Frank and Ed Brody. This match had us in a light spot. We would like to have seen the old veteran Frank Brody win but John Nadig has a lot of fun with us and we really wanted to see him get a trophy.

From the Hilltop viewpoint the meet was a success. If we interpreted Everett Mays' figures correctly the meet made a small profit for the first time.

Then we placed three members in final events. Esther Myers didn't let recent motherhood bother her and won the women's singles that she nearly got last year. Win. L. Wolder of San Diego, Calif., who considers herself a Hilltopper teamed with Gene Nadig to reach the mixed doubles finals. But they lost to a team of Mike Brewer and Teddy Lovejoy.

Mike Knox played McCullom in the junior boys finals. He didn't beat Mike, Mike lost. If he ever decides what he wants to do on a tennis court, he would be tough. He seems at times to get points whenever he wants them but then he tries to lose the same points doing silly things such as failing to put away low volleys.

A girl from Davenport won the girls' singles and Euling Jensen of Ames grabbed the veterans honors. Of course there were a lot of guys from the club got into the meet and didn't do too well.

We got a lot of complaints on the way the meet was run and a lot of people promised to be back next and Keokuk. We have to find another traveling trophy for next year. We had kids from St. Joseph.

Dodgers Miss Campy See Roseboro As Next Catching Great

Los Angeles — The Los Angeles Dodgers miss Roy Campanella. Of that there is no doubt—witness the team's current low estate in the National league race.

But it also is nice to know that Johnny Roseboro, tabbed as Campy's eventual successor, is coming through.

Fill Roy's Shoes

He hasn't filled Roy's shoes—who can? Campy was not only a great mechanical maskman, but he had that know-how to get the best from the Dodger pitching staff.

But Roseboro has proved good enough to be named by players of other teams as the second best catcher in the NL this season. By virtue of this, he was on the NL's all-star team.

Roseboro inspired enough confidence in Manager Walt Alton released another veteran catcher, Rube Walker.

Young Roseboro's hitting in the early part of the season had him around .300 mark, but he has skidded recently. He dropped to .267. He had hit six home runs and seven triples.

Potential

What the Dodgers like about Roseboro, however, is that he has a future and has the potential to develop. He was 25 last May 13. In a couple of years he might justify some of claims made for him in 1957 when he hit .338 with Caracas in the Venezuela winter league.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Citizen of the World

Looking down from their distant vantage point the Martians must be wondering this summer about the strange American expeditionary force. Fanning out by plane and ship to every corner of the world, hundreds of thousands of Americans are on the move. Armed with cameras, golf clubs, and tennis rackets, they march in platoons to take over the hotels of Europe, Asia, Africa, and South America.

It might be difficult to explain to dwellers in distant planets that the American tourist is out to see the world, not conquer it. Most of the year he's busy with his own affairs at home, but in a few vacation weeks he learns how closely his life is bound up with the lives of millions of strangers.

Vaccinations

He carries with his passport a World Health Organization record of vaccinations. He fills out forms that he learns are part of an international effort to track down the spread of infectious diseases and to prevent epidemics. On a Mexican highway he passes a mounted cavalry "spray team" out to eradicate mosquitoes. He realizes that efforts to control tuberculosis, malaria and other diseases and to improve sanitary conditions throughout the world concern him directly.

Health Group

It's a satisfaction to him to know that he has helped make the global attack on disease possible. His government contributes to the support of WHO financially and with the loan of experts. A small part of his Christmas Seal contribution helps support the International Union Against Tuberculosis and the U. S. Citizens Committee for the World Health Organization.

He returns home from the expedition not only with souvenirs (bought and paid for) but also with the realization that he is a citizen of the world.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by: Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.

THREE TIME WINNER OF TROPHY

Gene Nadig, 25-year-old Iowa State College student, came from behind to win his third men's singles in the Hilltop Tennis Club's Des Moines Open held here last week. Nadig's third consecutive triumph Sunday retired the Langston Hardaway Memorial trophy, which is being presented to him by Everett Mays, president of the Hilltop Tennis club, in the absence of Rozenting Hardaway, who was out of town.

In winning his third time in the Open, Nadig beat his opponent Bob Duncan, of Des Moines, 3-6 8-6, and 6-1. Throughout the first two sets, Duncan had led, notching match points six times, and at one time during the second set, had Nadig down 5-1.

But in the sizzling August heat, Nadig had the stamina—that told the story.

The Hilltop Tennis club's Des Moines Open is believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation owned and operated by Negroes—but open to competitors of all races.
