Hour of Decision Near for U.S. Supreme Court

Resumes Oral Hearing Today on Little Rock School Integration

Washington, D. C.—As the United States Supreme Court resumed hearing at noon today on the Little Rock integration crisis Americans from the White House to the man on the street . . . pro-integrationists, moderates, and bitter segregationists . . . are waiting with bated breath . . . as the hour of decision draws near.

Integrationists and especially head officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are confident the ruling will be for continued integration. According to Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, this confidence is "based on the record of the high jurists who have not reversed a lower court (since the 1954 decision) but sustained or ordered integration.

Wilkins expressed this view on a national television program, "Face the Nation Sunday" when he was interviewed by a group of reporters.

School Board

The Little Rock School Board, which had postponed opening of Central High School until Monday, Sept. 15, renewed its request to the Supreme court asking for sustaining of the 2½ year delay of integration decision handed down by a Federal District Judge Harry D. Lemley. In its brief filed Monday with the high tribunal the school board asked for the delay or if integration is ordered . . . they asked the judges to chart or outline a course of action which would prevent the "chaos and racial

Retired Californian Gives $10,000 to Aid NAACP

San Francisco.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is today $10,000 richer due to the generosity of Mrs. Mattie Dickson, an 83-year-old retired domestic worker of Oakland, Calif. Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, flew here to receive the check at a brief presentation ceremony at the Downs Memorial Methodist Church on Sept. 4.

"I'm giving this in God's name to fight against the disgraceful abuse of American democracy," Mrs. Dickson said in making the presentation. "I mean," she added, "what's happening at Little Rock where the NAACP is carrying on the fight to see that all youngsters are treated alike. I mean what they did to Rev. Martin Luther King in Montgomery and to Jimmy Wilson in Alabama."

Wilkins

In accepting the contribution, Wilkins expressed the Association's appreciation for the gift which is one of the largest the NAACP ever received from an individual. He praised Mrs. Dickson for her generosity and her dedication to the fight for freedom, which, he said, is a struggle of the spirit as well as of legal rights.

Retired

Mrs. Dickson has been retired for 15 years. She accumulated a substantial fortune through wise real estate investments. Advising her on financial affairs is Henry T. Brock, a San Francisco real estate broker, who came here from his native Houston, Texas, 40 years ago.

Native Virginian

Still vigorous and active at 83, Mrs. Dickson is the sister of the late Rev. J. P. Hubbard, for 30 years pastor of Beth Eden Baptist Church in Oakland. She came to the Bay Area in 1907 from Virginia. She, and her husband, also retired, live modestly in Oakland. They have a married daughter who also lives in Oakland.

Man Apparently Sleeping On Tracks in Davenport When Killed Friday Night

Davenport, Iowa.—Local police Wednesday were still checking all available sources in an effort to identify a man killed here late Friday (Sept. 5) by a train. Following discovery of the victim's body on the Burlington tracks near the truck entrance to the Oscar Mayer packing plant, local authorities sent a copy of fingerprints to the Iowa state penitentiary at Fort Madison to see if the victim might be the man who escaped recently from there. At the same time they asked local rooming house operators to notify police if they had a roomer who hasn't been seen since Friday.

Prints to Washington

Later a copy of the fingerprints were also sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C., in the hope they might be identified.

Description

Seytt County Coroner Kenneth Froeschle said the victim was a Negro male, well muscled between 35 and 40 years old, five feet eight inches tall, 180 pounds, clean shaven, natural teeth in good condition without identifying deformities or marks.

The man wore a size 36 trousers, no underclothing. His clothing was described as freshly laundered, grey shirt, brown trousers with a sharp crease, grey socks, black shoes and a brown belt.

Pillow on Tracks

Coroner Froeschle said a pillow and a small blanket were found on the tracks indicating the man was sleeping on the tracks. The body was carried about 28 feet by a slow moving freight train. The only personal articles found included a pair of eye glasses, a five-cent piece, a beer can, opened and glasses case.

The body was taken to the Nicholson Funeral Home in Davenport. Several persons viewed the body in an effort to identify the victim.

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Although his name became known to the general public only a little over two months ago, Louis Dade, 40, of Fort Madison has been known among golf enthusiasts for nearly 20 years. When he became the first Negro to win a championship round match in Iowa Amateur golf history on July 9 his name and picture were headlined in newspapers and magazines around the country.

Weekend Golfer

"I have been playing golf for a good many years," Dade stated, "but not seriously, that is, only on special occasions which isn't good for anyone's game. Like most weekend golfers, I never get to spend enough time with the game to get nearly as proficient as I would like to."

He explained that he and his wife, the former Frances Orpheia Holder, of Keokuk, Iowa, whom he married in 1928, have traveled throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Won Tournaments

"I have managed to win a few tournaments and a few runner ups," he admitted. Included in his victories around the golf circuits are the win-

TABLE TRICKS: Tea for the Bride-To-Be

Pot holders come to the tea table without blushing when the occasion is an informal tea and shower for the bride-to-be. Willing hands will make short work of finishing the pot holders, when you place them on the table, along with needles and thread, tape or rickrack edgings that will be sewn on while the guests chatter. "An informal tea table can be just as pretty as a formal one," according to Catherine Gray, Fosteria Glass consultant on table settings. "And of course, every woman appreciates the ease with which such a table can be prepared."

Tall tapers on the tea table reflect the glow from a polished table top and prettily etched glassware. A large oval cut from pastel-colored linen (or a lace doily) is the only cloth that is used on the table—a different and effective touch.

To make the floral arrangement, place roses, an assortment of broad green leaves, and tall white tapers in a glass garden set. This usable piece consists of a low bowl with removable flower block and individual candle holders which are also removable. You'll bring the bowl to your table often, to serve cookies, cake, salad, canapés or berries.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 23rd in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

This week we are extending a special grant salute to Marva Marie Keyes, whose three entries in the baking contests at the Iowa State Fair this year—won for her a first place ribbon and two second place prizes.

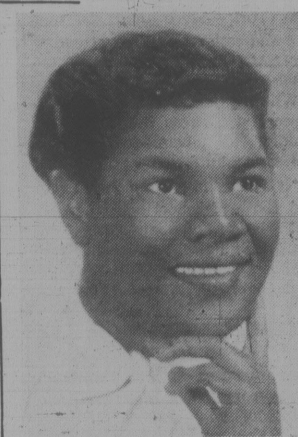

The 19-year-old lass, who has been cooking since she was in the seventh grade in elementary school, won a ribbon for her oatmeal cookies. They also won a ribbon for reserve sweepstakes. Her second place winners were refrigerator cookies and ginger cookies.

This was not the first year however she entered or won in the state fair competitions. For the past three years she has entered the competition winning a second prize for gingerbread last year.

East Graduate

Last January she graduated in home economics from East High School and has been teaching Sunday School at Shiloh Baptist church for the past three years, where she is a member. She attended most of the conventions held at various churches here in the city.

In addition to cooking she is also adept at sewing and made most of her clothing during her high school days. She likes the two so much she has made them her hobbies.

Future Plans

Her future plans are to enter a local business school. Presently unemployed she keeps busy helping her mother, Mrs. Ada Keyes, of 922 S.E. 14th street court. Her father, Thomas Keyes, is deceased. She is next to the youngest child of two brothers and two sisters.

New York—(CNS)—Marriage Surprises—Sarah Vaughan who has been carrying the torch for her ex-husband and partner-in-success George Treadwell, played it quietly and made Clyde Atkins her second husband. They did it in Chicago very much to the surprise of many.

Meanwhile, back in New York, the most highly publicized marriage in many a year was being written off the records as the second Mrs. Joe Louis signed the annulment papers to clear the decks for her to use only her famous maiden name—Miss Rose Morgan. Of course everyone by now knows how Miss Morgan served Joe with the papers on a trip East and how he decided not to contest the annulment which claims he wouldn't provide his wife with a home nor did he want children.

MISS VAUGHAN

Both Sarah Vaughan's marriage and Joe Louis' about-to-be annulment probably have nothing to do with each other and yet when these two were seen together with Joe Louis giving undue time and interest to Sarah when he had been married scarcely six months, this as much as anything else started the Morgan-Louis romance to really skid.

I doubt if many remember how this column predicted Miss Morgan and Mr. Louis never would marry and for very sound reasons—she's too good a businesswoman and very much interested in her career to get involved with the ever roaming ex-champ who flits from city to city at any time. For a moment we looked bad as the marriage was heralded amid so much fanfare and excitement. But those reasons we thought they wouldn't get together are the ones that helped to break them apart. We saw Miss Morgan in St. Louis not too long ago and she was very sad about it all though still hopeful it might somehow turn around differently. C'est La Vie.

Diahann Carroll is still in her early twenties but she has a good head on her shoulders. There is no telling how far this charming bundle of talent will go especially with a husband as Monte Kay—an executive at United Records to push too. Diahann is under contract for United Artists, too, and her first release "The Big Country" is from the new Gregory Peck motion picture. Meanwhile, the young star scored another TV appearance in the hour-long CBS special show "Music USA."

Golf Great Game

"Golf is a great game," Dade said enthusiastically, "one I would advise any boy or girl to take up. You meet people that you would never meet otherwise, and it is a healthy clean sport that you can play for years and years."

"When I started playing golf," he recalled, "there were few of my race playing around this section, therefore all my golfing friends are white, and I must say I have plenty of them." Actually, Dade first became acquainted with golf through a former employer, the late W. A. Sheaffer who founded the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. in April, 1928.

Dade had come to Fort Madison from his native birthplace of Canton, Mo., in 1925 and after working at the Anthes Hotel for two and a half years, joined the fountain pen pioneer... just four months before he was married. His employer used to let him use his golf clubs and Dade struck up an interest in the pastime. Later he played with some of the leading pros of the game.

Negro Pro

"I have played with Pro Bob Frye, of Fort Madison, Scotty Glasgow, Quincy, Frank Bubany, Ottumwa, Caldwell, Okoboji, Iowa, Ted Rhodes, Bill Spiller, Howard Wheeler, Charles Sifford, and many, many more."

In Florida

"The Negro pros I mentioned, I played with them in California," Dade explained. "We spent many winters in Florida also but at that time there were no golf facilities available for Negroes."

Leading an active life runs in the Dade family. His father a paper hanger, painter and plasterer by trade, still lives in Canton, Mo., where his mother died when Dade was 12 years old. He has one brother and three sisters.

Through the efforts of Mr. Louis Dade, Ft. Madison, Iowa has one of the strongest Knights of Pythias lodge in the state of Iowa.

It was he, after completing a golf engagement with Mr. M. A. Butler, our Grand Chancellor Commander, talked of organizing this lodge.

He has served as its Vice Chancellor, since its organization.

3 Negroes Endorsed By Political Parties In Connecticut

Hartford, Conn.—History was made again Aug. 13 as the Democratic party, for the first time in state party history, selected a Negro candidate for the General Assembly.

He is Wilfred X. Johnson, a major on Governor Ribicoff's staff. He became the third Negro within 24 hours to be endorsed for the State House of Representatives.

First in Legislature

Republicans on Monday, Aug. 11 endorsed the Rev. J. Blanton Shields in Hartford and Mrs. Margaret Ardrey in Plainville for the House.

Johnson is a teller for the Hartford National Bank and Trust Company. Endorsement of a Negro candidate on both major party tickets apparently assures election of one of them to the Legislature where no Negro ever has served as a member.

First Judge

Last year, Boce Barlow of Hartford became the first Negro judge in Connecticut history. Three years ago, John C. Clark, Jr., became the first Negro councilman in the city's history.

Civil Rights Seen as 1958 Election Issue

St. Louis—"Negroes will probably be more influenced by racial and civil rights issues in 1958 than in any election of recent times," Dr. John A. Morsell, assistant to NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, said in a talk prepared for delivery at a conference of the American Political Science Association here today.

on the Negro vote in the North on a panel devoted to the Negro vote. The southern scene was to be covered by Professor Hugh Douglas Price of Columbia University. Representatives of the Democratic and Republican national committees were also scheduled to participate in the session.

Inevitable Issue

The emphasis on the civil rights issue seems inevitable, Dr. Morsell said, "not only because the threat to the New Deal program now seems remote after six years of a Republican administration; but also because, at the same time, the issues of civil rights and racial discrimination have been ever more sharply joined."

Defiant South

"For three years now," he continued, "a defiant South has sought to check the Negro's progress in its full and final flood. The signs are that this unchecked display of crude political and economic domination has produced an equally strong counter-reaction among Negroes in the North as well as in the South."

While in the city, Dr. Morsell also participated in a conference sponsored by Americans for Democratic Action on "Civil Rights: Its Effect on the Body Politic." Joining him on this panel were Joseph L. Rauh, Jr. and Peter Odegard.

Urges President to Denounce Police Attack on Rev. Dr. King

New York.—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, today called upon President Eisenhower to express "the indignation felt by every decent American" at the arrest and maltreatment of the Rev. Martin Luther King by Montgomery, Ala., police.

In a telegram dispatched Thursday to the President at Newport, R. I., Mr. Wilkins said that the manhandling of Dr. King "has shocked the nation and demands in the minds of millions of Americans a rebuke from the Chief Executive."

Wired King

Previously, the NAACP leader had wired Dr. King assuring him of the Association's support. The NAACP, he said, "along with the rest of the nation is outraged at the treatment of you by the Montgomery police. We stand ready to assist in any way to our maximum ability."

Court Hearing

Dr. King, who led the successful bus protest movement in Montgomery in 1956, was arrested as he waited at the courtroom entrance of City Hall. He was there to attend a hearing involving an attack on the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, his close associate in the Montgomery Improvement Association which conducted the bus protest movement.

Manhandled

The arresting officers, Dr. King said after his release, "tried to break my arm; they grabbed my collar and tried to choke me, and when they got me to the cell, they kicked me in." Photographs taken of the arrest show two husky policemen manhandling the minister. The police brutality charge was promptly denied by Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers, an active member of the White Citizens Council of Montgomery.

Held 15 Minutes

Dr. King was held for 15 minutes and allowed to sign a $100 bond for appearance in court on the charge, Sept. 5. He announced he would continue to "stand up for what I think is right, even if it means further arrest, or even physical death."

Winthrop Rockefeller Speaks To Urban League Delegates From 32 States in Omaha

Omaha, Neb.—Winthrop Rockefeller was scheduled to share the speakers platform with Nebraska Governor Victor E. Anderson and Omaha Mayor John Rosenblatt at the National Urban League's closing banquet here Wednesday.

Rockefeller, a trustee of the league and also chairman of its commerce and industry council, was slated as feature speaker before an estimated 600 delegates of 32 states.

Discussion

On Monday Mrs. Dorothy H. Davis, director of the Florence Home for Girls in Kansas City, led a discussion group at the inter-racial organization's annual conference.

Effective use of Negro manpower and a concentration of social services for Negro communities will help solve the problem, she said.

General Session

At the opening general session the league, Tuesday an inter-racial group working to better conditions of City Negroes, heard Dr. Irene Tauer of Princeton University report on the changing population patterns of the American Negro.

An end to migration of southern Negroes from farm areas to north and south industrial centers was predicted by Dr. Tauer, a population research expert.

Some of the local ministers and delegates boarded the special coach. Others followed later by car and bus. Names of attending delegates that were available at press time were the Rev. and Mrs. N. R. FIXIN' UP TIPS
For Farm and Home
An Unusual Entrance
IN SOME settings, a valance can dress up an otherwise drab doorway between rooms. Typical locations are a recreation room, a nursery or an enclosed porch.
A pattern for this improvement may be laid out on wrapping paper and then transferred with carbon paper to pieces of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presswood. This material because of its smoothness, durability and paintability is widely used for valances and similar installations in homes and commerce. Width of the pieces should be approximately twice that of the door framing, depending on individual taste and the size of the doorway. Mitered joints between the two side panels and the top should be planned. The curved lines forming the outline may be cut with a coping saw.
After making certain that the parts fit, by laying them out on the floor, the craftsman should lightly bevel the exposed edges with a file, beveler or sandblock. They should be fastened directly to the door frame with finishing nails. If there is a molding around the outer edge of the frame, shims of Presswood should be attached first to bring about a level nailing plane.
The artistic homemaker can decorate the door valance in some ingenious manner.

Hot Spiced Tea and Sportsmen

Always welcome to a group of winter sports enthusiasts is a hot cup of tea, especially Hot Spiced Tea, "solid" sandwiches and an assortment of cakes or cookies.

If you know anything about the reactions of outdoor sportsfolks, you know that once they're home, and relaxed, fatigue is likely to take over. So, just in case you've a few chores in mind for them to do, have plenty of that Hot Spiced Tea around. Why? Simply because tea supplies a quick pick-up followed by a steady "lift" without any let down. At the same time, in its own mysterious fashion, tea relaxes nerve tensions. Here's the recipe for the Hot Spiced Tea. If you learn to make this right, you'll automatically learn the basic rules for making a good pot of everyday tea.

HOT SPICED AFTERNOON TEA
4 quarts water 1/2 cup loose tea or 15 teabags
1 teaspoon whole cloves 1 1/2 cups sugar
1 stick cinnamon 1 cup orange juice
3/4 cup fresh lemon juice

Add spices to water. Bring water to full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Strain and add sugar; stir till dissolved. Add fruit juices. To reheat for serving place over low heat. Do not boil. Makes 25-30 servings.

CRUNCHY FRUIT SQUARES
(Makes 48 squares)
1 cup flour 2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder 1 cup chopped filberts
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup candied fruits, chopped
2 eggs, beaten 1 cup dates, chopped
1 cup brown sugar

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until they start to thicken. Continue beating and add sugar gradually, then vanilla. Stir in dry ingredients. Fold in filberts, candied fruits, and dates. Bake in an 8 x 8-inch lined and greased pan in a 350° F. oven for 40 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares and remove from pan.

FILBERT MACAROONS
(Makes about 2 dozen)
1/4 cup shortening 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten 2 1/2 cups ready-to-serve flake cereal, crumbled
1 cup chopped filberts

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually. Beat in egg, and add chopped filberts, vanilla, salt and cereal. Mix thoroughly; press mixture into rounded bowl of tablespoon. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. for 10 minutes.

Return To School, NAACP Urges Youth

New York.—More than 250 high school and college students attending an NAACP-sponsored "back-to-school" party and reception heard Roy Wilkins, the Association's executive secretary, stress the importance of taking full advantage of educational opportunities.

"It is vitally important that every Negro youth of school age return to school this fall and complete his education," Wilkins told the young people who gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria here on Aug. 29 for the reception. "Jobs never before thought possible are now being opened to qualified Negro youth, and if our young people are to share in this rich bounty, they must be prepared," he said.

Honored Guests

Ernest Green, Minnijean Brown, and Terrence Roberts, heroes of the Little Rock school integration conflict, were honored guests at the affair. Gloster B. Current, NAACP director of branches, also encouraged the young people to get as much schooling as possible in order to be able to compete for the new job opportunities which are now developing.

DEEP SOUTH

(From Christian Science Monitor)

Montgomery, Ala.—In the integration tug of war between the authorities and Arkansas and Virginia and the federal courts, one aspect has appeared which has not yet become evident in the Deep South states of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina. That is a willingness at least to make the fight against integration on a contention that delay is essential to the well-being of school pupils and that it is necessary for the preservation of law and order in communities of those states.

Unspeaking

In the previously mentioned Deep South states, there is still a stark appearance of willingness to fight the battle against integration to the bitter end. In Alabama for example, the argument is not that integration moves "with all deliberate speed" should be handled very cautiously and slowly, but that they should not be approached at all.

Primaries

In the recent gubernatorial primary in Alabama to select a Democratic nominee—tantamount to election of a governor—major candidates all spoke vehemently of a battle to the finish against integration. It may be argued, and some few can be found who will so argue, that this was merely campaign oratory. But those on the scene familiar with the temper of citizens of these Deepest South states contend that the entire public education systems of these states would be surrendered before any integration whatsoever is accepted.

Political Suicide

It is manifestly true in these states that it would mean political suicide for any person in public office to agree to a program of integration at any time—be it 10 or 20 years from now.

Alabama currently has a law, passed by the most recent Legislature, providing for school boards to abolish public-school systems where integration is ordered. But Democratic Governor-nominate John Patterson—who rose to public acclaim on a Phenix City cleanup—is proposing to present legislation in the next session calling for mandatory, not permissive, closing of any school systems so ordered to integrate.

Sharp Contrast

This is still in somewhat sharp contrast to the attitudes, say, in Arkansas, where even Gov. Orval Faubus has pointed out that integration has proceeded in some parts of his state. In the four states mentioned, there is no such limited integration, and the public sentiment in vast majority seems still to be that no integration whatsoever will be acceptable.

Heart of South

Thus, however tedious seems the struggle over integration in Arkansas and Virginia, it is bound to be much more drawn out and bitter in the states which make up the heart of the Deep South. The term "moderation," which could be heard even in Alabama two years ago, is barely heard now and, indeed, has become virtually an epithet equivalent to the term "integration" itself.

When Disciplining a Child He Should Clearly Understand What Parents Expect of Him; Reward or Punishment, Should be Prompt

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

The disciplining of children poses troublesome problems in many families. We are not always sure of the goals we ought to hope to achieve through our disciplinary methods, and we are often even less sure of which methods we ought to use.

One long-term goal of discipline is to help the child learn effective ways of meeting his own needs at the same time he is living up to the requirements that others rightfully make of him. Discipline offers the child real protection from painful results of his own behavior when he cannot foresee these painful results.

Accomplishments

Keeping the following points in mind may help us decide on the things we want to accomplish through our discipline. We usually want the child to learn a certain consideration for property. We want to help him develop effective ways of solving problems and of using his capacities constructively. These goals can be made easier to accomplish if we examine the nature of our discipline.

Child Understands

One factor we can be careful about is to be sure that the child understands clearly what we expect. We cannot expect the child to read our mind (though he often proves embarrassingly that he can do it), so clarity of our requirements is our responsibility. We can also help the child understand when a rule applies and when it does not. May he play in our garage but not the neighbor's? We can make these differences clear to him.

Realistic Warnings

We can also try to make sure that what we say will happen if he behaves in a given way generally will happen. This means that if we promise a privilege for certain behavior, we should grant it when the behavior has been accomplished.

It also means that if we warn him about a punishment for misbehavior, we should generally deliver the punishment. Our warnings must be realistic and reasonable, of course. The policeman will not come if Junior does not stop dawdling over breakfast, and we probably will not keep him indoors for a month if he doesn't stop making so much noise. Then why tell him these things will happen? He has a right to know clearly what actually will happen.

SERIOUS CHALLENGE TO SENATOR
HUMPHREY, ET AL

Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who was Democratic candidate for Vice President in 1952 and a so-called southern liberal, in a speech before his state's American Legion convention, told the delegates that southern interests were safeguarded in the party councils through an alliance of western and northern Democrats who had moved in congress at critical periods to show understanding to the South's special needs.

The Alabama Democrat, twice singled out Minnesota's Democratic Senator Humphrey as a proved friend of southern interests for sponsoring an amendment in congress last year that repealed an 1866 statute authorizing use of federal troops to enforce civil rights legislation.

He asserted: "It is from northern and western Democrats in congress that the South has received the most help and sympathy, even in racial disputes."

"Alone we constitute only a small minority. If the South is to receive fair treatment we must have the help of legislators and others outside the South. This fact is a major reason I urge Alabama to stay with the Democratic party."

"Time after time the South has had the help of Democrats elsewhere in killing proposed legislation that would be harmful to the South. Time after time we have had their help in passing legislation designed to benefit the South."

Senator Humphrey has been looked upon as a liberal who believes firmly in civil rights and in his early service in the senate, was most outspoken in his views. But as serious as the charge is, Senator Humphrey, so far, has not denied Senator Sparkman's statements.

Surely, the Democrats in the North cannot afford to acquiesce in Senator Sparkman's remarks for what he says negatives all the fine protestations of friendship for the Negro which northern liberals make to their constituents for home consumption.

NEW HOUSING PROJECT
APPEARS UNSOUND

The Des Moines Urban Renewal commission has announced a housing development for 200 families which will be dispossessed from their homes to make way for the Urban Renewal project.

The project will be located in an area between East 15th and 16th Streets and Washington and Cleveland Avenue. The area borders on the northern perimeter of a delapidated almost total Negro section and thus will be surrounded by many undesirable homes. It is quite clear that the project is designed primarily for Negro occupants and simply extends the Negro section further North.

Few white people will be inclined to move there unless the quota of races is fixed and maintained, knowing full well that they will be planted in a Negro section. So far, the whole thing appears to be a subsidized Negro project.

Before federal funds can be secured for such an urban renewal project, a city must demonstrate that homes for all displaced will be provided. Last month the results of a survey of available homes for those people was announced, showing that sufficient housing could be had with present facilities pointing out the number of vacant houses and apartments throughout the city. But this new proposals indicates that housing authorities were not satisfied that this finding is correct with particular reference to minorities. It looks as if the east side project is an effort to meet that objection.

Again, here is a smooth effort to get around low cost housing. The price of construction today is exceedingly high at best; financing gets higher all the time. In this new project users of the service will be paying a higher price for shelter.

Negroes must not be stampeded into creating new or extended Negro sections. They should either look for new homes and apartments which will be constructed where the old ones will be razed or scatter out into new areas. They should be selective in choosing neighborhoods in keeping with their economic status and get away from the worn theory that all Negroes should live together.

Of course, some sentiment will depend upon how the new project turns out to be for there are those who can do no better. In any event, the movers in the project should be watched carefully so that makeshift construction will not be used to defeat the purposes for which it is intended.

Armstrong Managing
Young Fighter

Henry Armstrong, one-time holder of three boxing crowns, has undertaken the management of an amateur fighter from St. Louis named Eddie Baker. The 20-year-old lightweight has been in Los Angeles three weeks, and is expected to turn professional within the next couple of months.

Baker's trainer, Douglas Lewis, represented Canada in the 1924 Olympic Games, and boxed professionally from 1924 to 1935.

Joe Louis, Rose
Morgan, Call it Quits

New York—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis and his second wife, the former Rose Morgan, wealthy Harlem beauty shop operator and cosmetics manufacturer, came to the parting of the ways as an annulment decree was granted in city court early last week. The action dissolved the two-and-one-half-year marriage.

The decree was granted after Louis flew into town for the purpose. At the hearing, Miss Morgan was represented by Atty. William C. Raipes.

Miss Morgan owns the Rose Morgan House of Beauty and is vice-president of the Rose Morgan Beauty Products company.

Joe is presently a boxing director with the International Boxing club.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The old timer looked at a pair of shoulder pads that a boy out for high school football had "But if we had that protection we would have never got hurt." The thing did resemble a piece of medieval armor.

"Well, how come so many shoulder separations and knee injuries today we asked him.

The old timer's theory was that kids aren't taught the fundamentals of playing to protect themselves. They don't have to. Mother Nature takes very good of the human body if we will let it. When we tackled we kept our arm out in front of us like a diver except that our arms were open. This made a natural pocket around your shoulder that could take a tremendous jolt. Then your backs and linemen all ran in a half crouch until they got a clear field. This half crouch was the thing that kept leg injuries down to a minimum. A knee that is partially bent is hard to injure.

There were so many little things that we did to keep from getting hurt that kids don't learn now. The game hasn't changed much as people like to tell you it has. They still block and tackle and they still carry the ball over the goal line; as big and hard running as Ohio States' Bob White is I don't think he would have ripped our line to shreds running straight up and down as he did last year against Iowa.

Tennis

It isn't news that Althea Gibson won her second tennis title and quit. Where else can she go but play until someone beats her and then her critics will say "she never was any good." We read an article the other day to the effect that the Gibson girl wasn't really great by former standards. But by any standards she is the best woman tennis player in the known tennis world. Now so try to beat that.

Baseball

The other day we said the New York Yankees hadn't lost a World Series to the same team twice in a row. Cliff Miles said we were wrong. Well, we looked it up and sure enough the Yankees lost the first two series they ever played in 1921 and 1922, to the New York Giants who were the Yankees of their day.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The Lady in Blue

Having coffee with neighbors the other day, we saw a stranger go up the walk to the house next door. The conversation—we don't call it gossip in our neighborhood—went something like this:

"Who's the lady in blue?"

"Why, it's a public health nurse, isn't it?"

"I didn't know that family were hard up."

"But public health nurses aren't just for poor people. They're for everybody."

For Everybody

Indeed, public health nurses are for everybody. For example, the girl next door had just brought her new baby, her first, home from the hospital. The lady in blue gave her confidence on that first scary day, taught her how to care for the baby, and give it a good start.

Many Jobs

On her days rounds the public health nurse does many jobs. She's both nurse and teacher. She may help a diabetic youngster learn how to give himself his injections or she may give a bath to a bedridden grandmother. It's part of her job, when she's called in, to be aware of emotional and economic problems which affect health, and steer the family to agencies which can help.

Teaching

She works with the doctor in explaining the whys and wherefores of treatment. In a long term illness such as tuberculosis, she teaches the family how to prevent the spread of the disease, and makes sure no aspect of care is neglected until the disease is under control.

By guiding the family toward better health and helping them prevent spread of disease the lady in blue safeguards and improves the health of the community as a whole. She's available and important to all of us.

Althea Gibson Accomplishes Rare Tennis Feat;
Will Hang Up Rackets for Singing Career

Forest Hills, N. Y.—After accomplishing one of the rarest feats in women tennis Sunday at the United States finals Althea Gibson in a surprise announcement said she would give it all up in favor of a singing career.

"I may never play tournament tennis again," the 31-year-old Miss Gibson said after beating Darlene Hard 3-6, 6-1, 6-2. The victory gave the statuesque Miss Gibson two United States women's championships and two Wimbledon championships back to back in successive years.

Sad Sam Happy With Record 201 Strikeouts
Feat Erases Dizzy Dean's 199 Mark

Chicago, Ill.—The St. Louis Cardinal's Sad Sam Jones has nothing at all to be sad about now for last Thursday he broke former Cardinal hurling great, Dizzy Dean's record of 199 whiffs and became the National League's first pitcher in 17 years as he fanned eight Cubs in a 4-2 victory.

Strikeout King

As a matter of fact Jones sadness should have ended long ago. He is the strikeout king of the national league with 201 in 221 innings. The must go back to the fabulous Helen Wills in the 20's to match the accomplishment.

Althea said "this was last tennis match for at least a year. I will not defend at Wimbledon next year nor at Forest Hills. I plan to concentrate on my singing career."

Singing Success

"If Althea's singing career is a success she never will return to competitive tennis," said her coach and chief adviser, Sidney Llewellyn. "Her main interest will be to secure her future."

Althea appeared on Ed Sullivan's program recently and she also has cut one record album entitled "Althea Gibson Sings."

Dean's Mark

Jones fanned the Cub's Lee Walls for No. 200 for the second out in the eighth inning and made it 201 by fanning Jim Bolger to end the game. Dean's Cardinal mark of 199 was set in 1933. Jones won-lost record is 12 and 11.

Charles Beats Harper
In Comeback Attempt

Fairmont, W. Va.—Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles was one step farther along his "serious" comeback trail last Wednesday after outpointing Johnny Harper of Steubenville, Ohio, in a slow moving bout.

Charles, who had trimmed down from a pudgy 254 last January, to 198 at weigh-in time, was given a unanimous decision in the 10-round bout at East-West stadium.

The former champion did most of the leading throughout the bout scoring well to the body. He opened a deep cut over Harper's left eye in a third-round flurry and the wound bled freely throughout the remainder of the fight. At the end of almost every succeeding round, Dr. J. T. Mallamo, the ring physician, allowed the fight to continue only after examining the cut.

NO NEED FOR SPEECH

My heart has asked the question:
When is love's course begun?
Do two souls blend together,
And both hearts throb as one?
I wonder how, love comes to us,
And what does love disclose?
I've asked how true love passes by
But true love never goes.
I know that love is purest,
When self is set aside,
And when that love is deepest,
Then quiet is its tide.

I've learned that love is richest,
When selfless love we reach.
Some ask about the words of love:
Love has no need for speech.

MAKE UP

Look up and laugh—through the tears and rain,
MAKE UP—be sweethearts, once again.
The storm-clouds go, bright days roll by.

That sun is smiling up on high.
But what's the dif—if the sun don't shine?—
'Cause I'm your joy and you are mine.
So—let us laugh, and love, and smile,
'N spread our sunshine all the while.
Forget—forget—all the aches and pains,
Kiss 'n make up and let love reign.
