U. S. SUPREME COURT DENIES INTEGRATION DELAY:

3,500 Students Idle in Little Rock

1,000 Students to Demonstrate in Washington

For Integrated Schools, Will Seek Interview With Pres. Eisenhower

New York, N. Y.—Plans under discussion for a student demonstration on the school issue became official today with public announcement of the Youth March for Integrated Schools, to take place Saturday, October 11, in the nation's capital.

The announcement was in the form of a call issued jointly by Mrs. Daisy Bates, Mrs. Ralph J. Bunche, Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., A. Philip Randolph, Jackie Robinson and Roy Wilkins—all of whom have agreed to serve as honorary chairmen.

1000 Students

1,000 Negro and white students from fourth grade through college are expected to converge on Washington for the occasion. They will come from Eastern Seaboard States in special buses sponsored by churches and civic groups. Already, in New York, two churches and three unions have agreed to sponsor buses.

Escort

A minister, a teacher and a parent will be aboard each bus. A special children's committee headed by Representative Bessie Buchanan has been established to make these arrangements.

In Washington the students—led by Jackie Robinson holding the hands of a Negro and a white child—will first go to the White House where an interview with President Eisenhower will be sought. They will then march down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol where they will present to six congressmen their own declaration in defense of the U. S. Constitution.

Following his graduation as a licensed barber, he continued to work at Armstrong for three years before opening his own shop in a leased building.

Afro-American Editor Visits at Bystander

Cliff Mackay, editor of the Afro American newspapers in Baltimore, Md., was in Des Moines this week and stopped by the Iowa Bystander to visit his old stamping ground or we should say newspaper starting post.

Mr. Mackay, is a local boy who always dreamed of journalism. . . got in on the ground floor in the newspaper in his hometown. Today he is editor of one of the largest chain of Negro newspapers in the nation.

At Bystander

Back during his high school days at East after switching from North so he could take printing, he began working at the Bystander and continued to do so after he entered Drake University, a year after they established a journalism department there. Besides his degree, one of his proudest achievements at the university was his appointment as associate editor of the Drake Delphic school newspaper.

To Defender

He first ventured into the outside world in 1929 when he left to go to the Chicago Defender. Two years later he went to Atlanta, Ga., where he was instrumental in the initial publishing of the first Negro daily newspaper, the Atlanta World.

After working three years as managing editor he left to join the Norfolk Journal and Guide for a year before returning to the World as managing editor where he stayed until 1945, when he left to work on the Afro-American newspapers as managing editor. Seven years ago he was promoted to editor.

Columbia U.

His professional education also includes studies at the American Press Institute of the department of Journalism at Columbia University, where he was the first Negro to be appointed. He attends the annual seminars there also.

A very active NAACP worker, he is a member of National Newspaper

Gov. Faubus Defies U.S., Closes 4 Schools; Sets Up Voting Date to Sept. 27

Washington, D. C.—At noon Friday in the nation's capitol the United States Supreme court handed down a unanimous decision upholding the ruling of the Eighth Circuit Appeals court decreeing continued integration at Central High school in Little Rock.

Despite a plea by President Eisenhower asking for "non-defiance" against the court's decision, Gov. Orval Faubus signed into law a bill empowering him to close the Little Rock schools if ordered to integrate. His signature was followed by a proclamation applying it to all four senior high schools in the racial tensed city.

NAACP

As national officials of the NAACP expressed approval of the court's action and disapproval of Faubus' move, Mrs. Daisy Bates, Arkansas NAACP state president, revealed plans of the local organization to integrate all senior high schools in the city.

U. S. Marshals

Prior to the court's ruling 150 U. S. marshals had been dispatched to the city presumably to enforce the expected order for school integration and prevent violence. In what exact capacity they would be used was not disclosed.

Opinion Later

When the court refused the Little Rock school board a 2½ year delay it indicated it would demand steady progress in desegregation in all schools where ordered. The justices, who went back to their interrupted vacations, will write the opinion later which they indicated would give specific points on clarifications and methods of administering desegregation in southern schools.

Freedom Dinner Will Honor Publisher, Opera Manager

New York.—Two men of distinguished achievement—one in the field of publishing and the other in music—will be honored at the NAACP's annual Freedom Fund Dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel here on Nov. 16, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, announced today. The guests of honor at that dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel here on cago, founder and publisher of the popular magazines, Ebony, Jet, and Tan; and Rudolph Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera since June 1, 1950.

Negro Singers

Bing, a Viennese by birth, broke the Metropolitan's longstanding bar against Negro singers in 1954 when he engaged Miss Marian Anderson for a role in "The Masked Ball." Since that time other Negro artists have sung and danced at the Metropolitan Opera. He came to the Metropolitan after years of experience in opera, music and drama in England and on the Continent.

Arkansas Native

A native of Arkansas City, Ark., Johnson achieved fame and fortune in Chicago where he heads the Johnson Publishing Company, publisher of the most widely circulated Negro periodicals. Starting in 1942 with the since suspended Negro Digest, the Johnson company within a few years became the dominant force in the Negro magazine field. Still a young man, Johnson is active in a wide range of civic affairs. The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce named him one of 10 outstanding young men of America for 1951.

Little Rock, Ark.—As the air of tensed expectancy increased Tuesday where nearly 3,500 senior high school students are absent from schools closed by Gov. Orval Faubus, the state executive made a move shifting a scheduled vote on integration from Oct. 7 to Sept. 27. At the same time officials of the U. S. Justice department met with President Eisenhower at his vacation spot to discuss "the integration problem" at Little Rock.

Faubus

Faubus denied setting the date earlier for voting because resistance on the part of citizens and parents was growing to having the schools closed. However, he renewed charges the Little Rock School Board favored integration when it canceled all football games and extra curricular activities.

"It is a cruel and unnecessary blow to the children," he said.

Referendum

The scheduled referendum gives the people of Little Rock a school district the opportunity to vote on whether they want the schools to be reopened on an integrated basis. If the necessary majority should be in favor of integration Faubus is expected to reopen the schools and operate as private schools.

School Board

When the School board announced cancellation of sport activities, it also expressed concern for losing accreditation . . . if the schools were forced to operate as private schools. The Little Rock high schools were opened Monday for teachers only, who did routine paper work. An estimated 3,500 students stayed home—2,000 from Central, 730 from Hall, 175 from Tech and 700 from all-Negro Horace Mann.

Committee

Heading the committee sponsoring the $100-a-couple Freedom Fund dinner are Duke Ellington and Mrs. Marguerite Belafonte, co-chairmen of the NAACP's 1958 Freedom Fund drive. Last year, the dinner honored Mr. Ellington and Branch Rickey who broke the color bar for Negroes in major league baseball. In 1957, Jackie Robinson was chairman of the drive and dinner which was attended by 1,200 guests.

Dr. King's New Book Comes Off Press

New York, N. Y.—Nation wide television and radio programs interviewed Martin Luther King Jr. on the publication of his book, "Stride Toward Freedom: The Montgomery Story". The book was published yesterday, by Harper Brothers. "Today," the Dave Garroway show featured the man who has been hailed as one of the greatest Negroes of the century from 7 to 9 a.m. (E.S.T.) yesterday.

The historic account of the bloodless victory over the Jim Crow busses in Montgomery has already sold out its first edition of 20,000 copies two weeks before the book will appear in book stores across the country. A second edition of 10,000 copies has been ordered.

The Rev. Dr. King will be in Des Moines, Oct. 23 where he will speak at 7:30 p.m. at University Christian church. His appearance, first in Iowa, will be sponsored by the Des Moines Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It seems barely credible that in the United States in 1958, the largest trade union, with a membership of more than a million, has become a sheltered preserve for criminals to work their will on the rank-and-file membership, and on the public at large. . . . Tube Rack Keeps Gardening Hose Safe This Winter

Caring for your gardening equipment during the winter will keep it in tip-top shape, ready for use next spring. To store garden hoses, try this simple rack that keeps them neatly coiled, off the floor and out of the way.

Cut a 12" length of 2x4 to make the main support. Lay out the holes for the 1" Do-It-Yourself tubing and bore the holes at a slight (about 5°) angle to keep hose from sliding off. Drill 3/16" holes for the two screws that hold the 2x4 to the wall.

Cut four 8" lengths of the 1" tubing and force tubes into the bored holes. Drill holes from top edge of 2x4 into each tube end and drive in lock nail.

Screw the rack to the wall with two #10x2 1/4" screws. To keep dirt from getting into the tubes, snap 1" aluminum tubing end plugs into the outer ends of tubing hangers.

Reynolds Do-It-Yourself aluminum is available in local hardware and building supply stores.

L. Brown, husband and wife.

That the said defendants, or some of them, as plaintiff is credibly informed and believes, make some claim to said property or some interest therein, adverse to the title of this plaintiff, but plaintiff alleges that any right, title or interest that the said defendants, or any of them, may have had in or to said real estate, or any part thereof, is junior and inferior to the title of this plaintiff, and is now barred by the statute of limitations.

That the name and residence of the defendant, Evelyn Wilson and the names and residences of the unknown defendants and the unknown claimants, and each and all of them, are unknown to this plaintiff, and that plaintiff has sought diligently to learn the same. Plaintiff prays that the title to the real estate above described be quieted in him, as against the adverse claims of each and all of the defendants, and that all of said defendants be forever barred and estopped from having or claiming any right, title or interest in or to said real estate, adverse to the plaintiff herein, and that plaintiff be decreed to be the absolute owner in fee simple of said real estate, and for general equitable relief.

For full particulars—see petition now on file.

You are therefore hereby notified to appear before said Court at Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa, at the Court House, on or before the 17th day of October, 1958, and unless you so appear and make defense thereto, your default will be entered and judgment and decree will be rendered against you as against the defendant in the petition and for such other relief as the court may find just and equitable in the premises in the above entitled action.

Your Commission on Human Rights --Its Powers, Limits

What is the Commission on Civil Rights doing about these things? a disturbed citizen might ask after reading or hearing of violations of civil rights reported from distant parts of the country.

The answer in some cases is: Everything that it can possibly do. In other cases: There is nothing it can do.

The answers do not always satisfy. But that is because all too often the average citizen just does not know what the Civil Rights Commission, what it can do, and what it cannot do.

The Iowa Bystander will attempt to supply the answers to those and other questions about the Civil Rights Commission in a series of three articles. The first of these appears below.

Washington, D. C.,—For the first time in history Congress has set up a commission to study how the civil rights of American citizens guaranteed by the Constitution are being protected nearly 100 years after adoption of the 14th and 15th Amendments.

That body is the new Commission on Civil Rights, authorized by the Civil Rights Act of 1957. The six commissioners and a staff director, were appointed by President Eisenhower and confirmed by the Senate earlier this year.

No Police Power

It is not a law enforcement agency; it was given no police power and therefore can exercise none. It is mainly a body to gather, appraise and report facts. Its duties are spelled out in the Act creating it, which provides that "The Commission shall—

"(1) Investigate allegations in writing under oath or affirmation that certain citizens of the United States are being deprived of their right to vote and have that vote counted by reason of their color, race, religion, or national origin; which writing, under oath or affirmation, shall set forth the facts upon which such belief or beliefs are based;

"(2) Study and collect information concerning legal developments constituting a denial of equal protection of the laws under the Constitution; and

"(3) appraise the laws and policies of the Federal Government with respect to equal protection of the laws under the Constitution."

Investigate

The Commission's authority to investigate violations of voting rights may be used only when it is claimed the denial is "by reason of color, race, religion, or national origin."

Also, before it can investigate a denial of voting rights it must receive a complaint "in writing under oath or affirmation." No special form of complaint is required, as long as it sets forth the facts upon which such belief or beliefs are based.

Reports

The Commission has until Sept. 9, 1959 to complete its studies and make its reports to the President and to the Congress.

These reports will be of great importance, especially if as a result of the Commission's findings and recommendations significant changes in Federal laws and policies are made which will better protect and secure civil rights.

The second article in this series explaining how the Commission operates as a fact-gathering body—through research, hearings, State Advisory Committees and otherwise—will appear in this newspaper next week.

Savings and Loan Ass'n. Goal Half Reached in Greensboro

Greensboro, N. C.,—A campaign by local citizens to get $300,000 in subscribed deposits required to open a federal savings and loan association reached the halfway mark last week.

The Organizing Committee, headed by E. E. Smith, local mortician, has procured subscriptions from charter members totalling $125,933 in the first month of its efforts. The group has six months in which to procure the full amount of subscribed deposits.

The amount was swelled by $32,715 with subscriptions at a mass meeting held at the local St. Matthews Methodist Church on last Tuesday night.

with a mass rally of the students at Lincoln Memorial during which the students will express their own views on the issue of school integration.

Committees to mobilize for the March are being set up in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington and more will soon be established in other cities along the Eastern Seaboard—including the South. In New York a mass mobilization rally is set for Friday, Sept. 19.

5,800 Expected to Enroll at Howard U.

Washington, D. C.,—Howard University will inaugurate its 91st year of academic instruction today (Sept. 18) when the vanguard of some 5,800 students begins classes in seven of the University's 10 schools and colleges.

The anticipated enrollment of 5,800 represents an increase of 400 students over the 1957-58 student body. The expected enrollment will also give Howard its largest student body in nearly 10 years. Included among the new enrollees will be 80 freshman dental students, the College of Dentistry's largest entering class in its 77-year history.

Three new deans, two academic and one administrative, have been appointed and will assume their posts this year. They are Dr. James M. Nabrit, Jr., dean of the School of Law; Dr. Daniel G. Hill, dean of the School of Religion; and Dr. Evans E. Crawford, acting dean of Andrew Rankin Chapel. Dr. Nabrit formerly served as University secretary and director of public relations and Dr. Hill as dean of chapel and acting dean of the School of Religion. Dr. Crawford comes to Howard from the Boston University School of Theology, where he was coordinator of student life and activities.

Jonah Jones Quartet To Be Featured on Fred Astaire TV Show

Jonah Jones, renowned for his trumpet style, will be featured with his own quartet on "An Evening with Fred Astaire," hour-long special to be aired on NBC-TV at 9:00 p.m. (EDT) Friday, October 17. This show, sponsored by Chrysler Corporation, will mark Astaire's first appearance as dancing star of his own TV show which will be produced "live" from Hollywood.

Downbeat

The Jonah Jones Quartet includes drummer George Foster, pianist Teddy Brennan, and John Brown, bass. Jones has been featured with the bands of Cab Calloway, Joe Bushkin, Fletcher Henderson and Earl Hines.

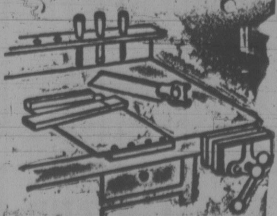

He appeared in "Porgy and Bess" on Broadway. In 1954 he toured Europe and was featured at the Paris Jazz Festival. Down Beat Magazine awarded him popularity prizes. He received additional honors from other publications affiliated with jazz.

Sawing Board for Workshop

TO SAVE the home workshop bench on particularly tough jobs such as chiseling, flat sawing or boring holes, it's wise to have a sawing board. It may be made any dimensions desired. A suggested size is 16 by 14 inches.

As illustrated, the sawing board consists of three pieces—a panel of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presswood and two equally-sized pieces of 1 by 1 lumber. Fasten the panel to the sides of wood through evenly-spaced, counter-sunk holes.

Toughness of the Tempered Presswood will withstand any serious damage despite the cutting operations mentioned. Incidentally, workbench tops of this material are considered a "must" in many home shops. Industrial workbenches generally are covered with these wear-resistant panels due to their low cost and long life.

Court's Ruling Hailed By NAACP ACLU

New York, N. Y.,—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, commented on the Supreme Court's ruling in the Little Rock case. "Naturally, the Supreme Court's unanimous decision greatly pleases us, and all believers in constitutional government, since it makes clear that the basic human rights of individual citizens cannot be abridged or denied because of threats or violent acts on the part of those who uphold racial discrimination and segregation."

Peaceful Manner

"The Little Rock Negro students and their parents have sought their rights in a peaceful and lawful manner through the courts. They have not once indulged in violence or any acts of retaliation, although they have been continuously abused and harassed. They seek an unsegregated education which is the only way they can receive an education equal to that made available to others."

ACLU

New York, N. Y.,—The Supreme Court's decision refusing to delay public school integration in Little Rock is "fresh affirmation of the Court's determination that racial segregation is unconstitutionally out of place in the American public school system," the American Civil Liberties Union commented today.

Hailing the unanimous opinion, ACLU executive director Patrick Murphy Malin declared the high court has thus given clear-cut evidence that it would not allow mob action supported by state officials to flout the law of the land.

Apollo, Pa., News-Record:—"Action to increase social security payments by 7 per cent probably will be a small relief to recipients, and one should not look a gift horse in the mouth—only this doesn't happen to be a gift horse. That fact is emphasized by the announced intention of tacking another one fourth per cent to the grab taken from worker's pay, with a similar amount being charged to the employer."

Says Girls Gotta Stop Chasing Men

Cragehead, England.—Village Vicar William Brown warned girls Saturday to stop whistling at men and "become again what God made them" if they want to be respected. Brown wrote in his parish-magazine that today's girls "out-male the male" and "act against nature" with their aggressive man-chasing. The father of an 18-year-old daughter said, "men don't win brides nowadays, they pick them out of a time-up displayed for their delight."

Lids on Cabinet Door
ROUND-KNOBBED lids of cooking utensils may be neatly stored inside a cabinet door where they will be both accessible and occupying otherwise waste space. Here are directions for making this handy storage unit:
Measure the door and obtain a piece of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presswood which covers the interior excepting for one-half inch on all sides. If the door is paneled, there will be room between the cabinet door and the Presswood for the knobs to fit into openings the shape of large keyholes. If the interior is one plane from one side to another, it will be necessary to install a strip of lumber about one inch thick as a perimeter.

Lay out the round-knobbed lids on the Presswood so that their positions may be marked. With a bit and brace, bore holes about one-quarter inch larger than the knobs. Underneath each, with a keyhole saw, complete the oversized keyhole, forming a slot into which the neck of the knob will fit. The final step is to fasten the panel to the interior of the door with finishing nails. The panel may be left unfinished or painted.

Latest Home Hobby Transforms Old Nylons Into Lovely Flowers

THERE'S NEW LIFE in those mislaid or torn nylon stockings you get from time to time. New hobby converts them into pretty, colorful flowers and corsages which you can use to adorn hats, gift packages and low vases—as shown in photo. They're striking also as boutonnières and as adornments for hair, wrists, dresses, jackets and coats.
Making the flowers is easy, inexpensive and full of fun. All you need besides the old nylons are a few boxes of color remover and all-fabric dye plus the usual tinting vessels, ordinary copper screening, floral tape, scissors and corsage pins. Floral centers can be colored crocheted cotton dipped in paraffin.
The Tintex Home Economics Bureau has published a free leaflet of instructions. About 10,000,000 leaflets have already been distributed, many to churchwomen eager to make the flowers for sale at fund-raising bazaars and parties, others to hospital convalescents and home shut-ins. Some alert housewives have even converted the hobby into a money-making enterprise.
You can obtain one or more leaflets from the Tintex bureau, by addressing it at 485 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

Hot Spiced Tea and Sportsmen

Always welcome to a group of winter sports enthusiasts is a hot cup of tea, especially Hot Spiced Tea, "solid" sandwiches and an assortment of cakes or cookies.

If you know anything about the reactions of outdoor sportsfolks, you know that once they're home, and relaxed, fatigue is likely to take over. So, just in case you've a few chores in mind for them to do, have plenty of that Hot Spiced Tea around. Why? Simply because tea supplies a quick pick-up followed by a steady "lift" without any let down. At the same time, in its own mysterious fashion, tea relaxes nerve tensions. Here's the recipe for the Hot Spiced Tea. If you learn to make this right, you'll automatically learn the basic rules for making a good pot of everyday tea.

HOT SPICED AFTERNOON TEA

4 quarts water. 1/2 cup loose tea or 15 teabags
1 teaspoon whole cloves. 1/2 cups sugar
1 stick cinnamon. 1/2 cup orange juice

Add spices to water. Bring water to full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Strain and add sugar; stir till dissolved. Add fruit juices. To reheat for serving place over low heat. Do not boil. Makes 25-30 servings.

CRUNCHY FRUIT SQUARES

(Makes 48 squares)

1 cup flour. 2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder. 1 cup chopped filberts
1/2 teaspoon salt. 1 cup candied fruit, chopped
2 eggs, beaten. 1 cup dates, chopped
1 cup brown sugar.

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until they start to thicken. Continue beating and add sugar gradually, then vanilla. Stir in dry ingredients. Fold in filberts, candied fruits, and dates. Bake in an 8 x 8-inch lined and greased pan in a 350° F. oven for 40 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares and remove from pan.

FILBERT MACAROONS

(Makes about 2 dozen)

1/2 cup shortening. 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar. 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten. 2 1/2 cups ready-to-serve flake cereal, crumbled
1 cup chopped filberts.

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually. Beat in egg, and add chopped filberts, vanilla, salt and cereal. Mix thoroughly; press mixture into rounded bowl of tablespoon. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. for 10 minutes.

Titusville, Fla., Star-Advocate:—"A recent book review contained the assertion that the book was not beyond the grasp of the average citizen and that it could be read and digested in less than an hour. While one cannot be sure what the reviewer had in mind, mere ease of reading, is in itself not much of a recommendation for serious literature... it should be noted that the really worthwhile objectives are difficult to obtain. In tennis, for example, a player can seldom improve his game if he avoids playing with opponents more skilled than himself. So it is with reading. A reader avoiding literature which cannot readily be understood in an hour will seldom stretch his imagination or increase his understanding of the world about him."

DIRECTOR BUSY PREPARING FOR TOUR OF 30 CITIES

Chicago.—Traveling is nothing new for Freda C. DeKnight, home service director and fashion authority of the Johnson Publishing Company, but she is "frightened to think about the traveling she has done and will do" in directing and producing the "EBONY Fashion Fair" during its fall 1958 tour.

The tour planning, involving some 30 performances in as many major cities within a two and a half month period, actually began when Mrs. DeKnight visited Paris, Rome, and Brussels to attend fashion shows and select the latest creations to be used in the tour. In all, Mrs. DeKnight estimates she will have traveled close to forty thousand miles when the show ends in California in December.

Premiere

The fall "EBONY Fashion Fair" production, which lasts approximately 90 minutes, will have its premiere in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 4, and will then proceed across the nation.

Top Home Economist

Mrs. DeKnight, who directs each performance and is also the commentator, has established herself as one of the top home economists in the country, and has gained international recognition. He does not use eye glasses when reading and she says "his hand writing, which has always been legible, is beautifully formed," has not lost much of its original flair.

Attributes Longevity

The Rev. Mr. Wheeler attributes his longevity to "total abstinence from alcoholic beverages, proper rest, temperate eating and a certain amount of activity."

"The Lord has blessed me with this length of life and has taught me to measure my days that I might apply my heart and life unto wisdom," he continued.

Native Missourian

Parents Should Let Children Know There Is Opportunity for Them to Talk if They Desire To Ask Questions or Talk Over Experiences

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

Lately putting one of our children to bed had become increasingly irritating. He asked question after question about all sorts of things, seemingly in an effort to postpone his bedtime. One night I told him sternly that he could quit playing that little game—he had to get to bed and that was all there was to it.

He replied, "All right. But you find some other time when I can ask you the things I want to know about."

Ignoring

His comment made me realize that in many ways I had begun ignoring his questions and making it hard for him to find uninterrupted time to talk about things that interested him. One thing I had begun doing was to ask his mother about how things seemed to be going with him in school. It took as much time to ask her as it would have to ask him. Why wasn't I asking him?

Questioning

I began making a point of asking him casually what had happened during his day. I tried asking him when he seemed uninvolved in some pressing activity and when there would be a few minutes to chat if he felt like it. Often he would merely say that things had been okay or dull or whatever, and take off on some new pursuit. Sometimes, though, he would tell me of some special adventure or something unusual he had done or seen.

Opportunity

One of the things he seemed to be wanting was the opportunity to talk if he wished to, the feeling that I would take time to listen if he had something on his mind. It really takes little effort on my part—all I have to do is remember that he, too, has a right to be heard sometimes, and then try to find a reasonably quiet time to hear him if he wants to talk.

He's been going to bed more readily lately—and earlier, too, now that school has started. He wasn't just trying to postpone bedtime. He was trying to get something he felt he had missed during the day.

PLAYING WITH RIGHTS OF CITIZENS

There is something about a federal court which is different. There is little lost motion. Even in the South Negroes have always felt that they get justice in federal courts.

Everyone who was able to gain admission to the Supreme Court chambers or read in the press about proceedings at the school segregation hearing could easily see how impatient the justices became with the type of argument the attorney for the Little Rock school board made to defend segregation, that this is a federal court and no such thing goes on here.

Typical of proceedings are indicated when Chief Justice Warren, while seeming to respect Butler's skill, was impatient with some of his arguments. He was clearly annoyed when Butler referred obliquely to the recent action of a majority of state supreme court chief justices in criticizing the court for invading realms reserved by the Constitution to the states and the people.

"That's not the position of your board; why argue it?" snapped the chief justice. Butler explained that he made the reference only because the solicitor general had brought up the question of the supremacy of federal law.

Warren also chided Butler for referring to the rights of the Negro students as "intangible" rights. "I was distinguishing them from something like monetary rights," Butler explained. Said Warren: "If you were denied life, liberty or property would you call them intangible?"

Butler thus summed up the question at issue: "Is it better to defer certain intangible rights of less than one per cent of the students or to insist upon immediate fulfillment of those rights even if it destroys the educational rights of some 2,000 others?"

Warren cut in: "How many Negro children are there in Little Rock?" "There are a total of 21,000 students," Butler replied, "of whom 60 to 65 per cent are white and 35 to 40 per cent colored."

"Then why do you say less than one per cent?" Warren asked. "Isn't all the 35 to 40 per cent involved?"

It is surprising what ridiculous laws have been passed in some states to abridge the rights of the Negro. Generally they have been declared unconstitutional by their state courts and failed on appeal to federal courts.

Maybe it is the independence of the judiciary that makes the difference in that judges are appointed for life while state, district, county, and city judges must stand for election periodically. At times some of the latter act on the basis of votes rather than justice.

ENGLAND COURT DOES NOT TOLERATE INJUSTICES

One of the pitfalls to justice for the Negro has been the unwillingness to give him fair decisions in court when his rights run contrary to that of white persons. (Fortunately there is little of this in Des Moines.)

Over the years, all kinds of brutality including lynchings, burning of homes, subjection to many types of criminal impositions, have been perpetrated with but few convictions. Trial by a jury of his peers meant neighbors who forgot what justice is when the rights of Negroes were at stake.

On the other hand see what happens to the hoodlums in England who commit crimes against human beings because they don't like the color of the victims skin:

A British judge cracked down on racial rioting by sending nine youths to jail for four years each for attacks on Negroes.

The nine, all between 17 and 20 years of age, roamed the Notting Hill area Aug. 24 armed with iron bars, table legs and a knife beating up Negroes. It was the beginning of London race riots, thugs disorders in the city of Nottingham preceded the Notting Hill raids by a week.

Judge Cyril Salmon told the youths:

"It was you men who started the whole of this violence in Notting Hill.

"You are a minute and insignificant section of the population, but you have brought shame upon the district in which you live and have filled the whole nation with horror, indignation and disgust."

The jail sentences were the first drastic action taken by British authorities to stop the racial violence. The nine defendants were charged with wounding three Negroes and assaulting two others.

The judge told them: "Your quarry was any man, providing there were not more than two of them together, whose skin happened to be a different color from your own. Your object was to instill stark terror and inflict as much pain and grievous injury as you could.

"During that night you savagely attacked five peaceful and law-abiding citizens without any shadow of an excuse. None of them had done you any harm. None of them had offered you the slightest provocation. Indeed, you knew nothing about any of them except that their skin happened to be a color of which you apparently did not approve."

These are pretty severe sentences but the justice felt that the only much leniency in the name of freedom which works against law and order.

Imagine an American judge doing this, for any reason. There is too much leniency in the name of freedom which works against law and order.

Archie Moore May Fight in Uruguay

Montevideo, Uruguay. — World's light heavyweight champion Archie Moore may defend his title here against South American titleholder Dogomar Martinez later this year.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

If you saw the cerebral palsy game Monday night you went away thinking that the big game of the year in local high school games will be the East-North game. You could be right but don't sell Roosevelt too short.

They say the East side guys are loaded. Looks like North is too. The Drake-Iowa State game comes at an odd time. For years that was the thumping climax to a season for both teams. Then the Cyclones decided they couldn't be up for Drake after a hectic conference scramble.

Then too the Bulldogs were often as tough as most Big Eight teams and really wanted the Iowa State game. So now it is a season opener for the Cyclones. We would guess that is the reason why there is no Iowa U.—Iowa State football game now.

A Visitor

Our old pal, George Boulard is in town for a visit. George was our pal during our high school days and played tackle on the East Football team. He held the heavyweight boxing championship of the state while he was still in high school.

George taught us to box. His system was to get you in the ring and unless you learned to box you got the daylight whaled out of you.

Speaking of George reminds us that for about 20 years we have been listening to the story of his fight with Beabert Wright one of the leading heavys of that time. Wright kayoed George in the fourth round. Everybody who tells us about it swears he was in George's corner that night.

Well, at last we have decided what really happened that night. After checking all the fellows who claimed to have been in the corner we decided that must have been the most crowded ring in history.

The Carrot Munch

Watching our offspring in front of the TV set the other evening, we had an inspiration—a new twist on an old idea. You may find it worth trying.

We noted with dismay that Junior had on the floor beside him a bag of candy. Completely hypnotized by the Western on the screen he was reaching into the bag for a piece of candy and tossing it into his mouth. As the hero raced across the plains pursued by shrieking Indians, his hand moved faster unconsciously shoveling his mouth full of sweet stuff. Mother was about to remove the candy forcibly when inspiration struck. She went out to the kitchen and shortly returned with a bowl of carrot sticks.

Substitution

Junior didn't turn his eyes from the screen. Completely unaware of the substitution, he munching happily away on the carrots.

The restaurant, known as the Patterson Sea Food Restaurant, is being operated jointly by Floyd and his elder brother, Sonny. Initial capital for the business has been reported as about $9,000.

Borough President John Cashmore, Sugar Ray Robinson, and Archie Moore were among the celebrities who participated in the formal opening.

Squirrel, Rabbit Seasons Open Saturday

Open seasons for squirrels and rabbits—first game seasons on the 1958-59 Iowa hunting calendar—got underway around the state Saturday (Sept. 13). The season for gray and fox squirrels continues through November 30, 1958. The daily bag limit is six (6), with a possession limit of twelve (12).

Open season on cottontail and Jack rabbits continues through January 31, 1959. Shooting hours are from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. each open day. Bag limit is ten (10) per day. There is no possession limit.

All studies by game technicians of the Conservation Commission indicate that one of the highest rabbit and squirrel populations in many years is available for Iowa hunters this fall.

Munching seems to be an essential part of TV viewing, with adults as well as youngsters. Crackers, nuts, candy—the amount consumed by the viewing public must be colossal. But from now on, at our house, it's carrots.

Real Source

The real source of the inspiration was a high school game we went to. One of the salesgirls told me that a tidy sum selling bags full of nice fresh carrot sticks in the stands. One of the salesgirls told me that the more exciting the game, the more carrots were sold.

We've got nothing against candy, mind you. It has its place in the diet and, besides, we just love it. Diet experts have been telling us for years that we all need more vegetables in our diet. So let's give them a chance.

I KNOW

I know He's my dear Shepherd
I'm a member of His band,
One of His men, rescued from sin
Protected by His hand.
I know He's Lord and Saviour
For He opened up the door,
He ransomed me, my soul is free.
Dear Lord, Thee I adore
I know He's my Redeemer
Who died on Calvary.
He shared my load, and marked my road
For all eternity . . .
I know He's my companion
And is always standing night,
I have no fear, while I am here,
Thrice blessed soul am I . . .

I know He's my Creator
The God of life and love.
Each hour I pray, "Lord, speed the day
When we shall meet above."
I know that adoration
The song of ecstasy,
That filled my heart, right from the Start,
Since Jesus set me free . . .

LOOKING AT SEPTEMBER

Looking at September
With her gypsy colors glowing,
All the bounty and the beauty
Of this grand old mother earth,

Now her laden fields are showing.
In the glades, the woods and mountains
There is magic color flowing,
All the lovely greens that glorified
When spring gave buds their birth,
Leaves ridescent now—soon are going.

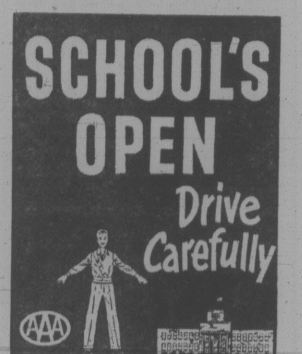

Through the winter there's the treasure
Of this beauty to remember,
All the pageantry of harvests' price—less worth,
We love the glory of its glamour,
While we're looking at September.

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help . . . My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. —(Psalm 121:1, 2)

What a glorious, uplifting feeling it is to look out upon another new day and realize that Almighty God, who made the shining sun to rise and stay true on its course, also is Our Father—merciful, loving each of us, His children, ever willing to forgive us our sins, to help and sustain us.

Building a Greater Iowa

Leader in Home Ownership

Iowans can be truly proud of their record in home ownership. According to the last U. S. census, 63.4 per cent of all Iowa families owned their own homes, placing us among the top ten states . . . against a national ownership average of 55 per cent.

For a family to own its own home requires a steady job, good pay. Here again, the brewing industry is helping to build a greater Iowa . . . with its annual Iowa payrolls of over $30,000,000.00. And the taxes the industry pays help keep down taxes on these homes, too. Last year's state and federal taxes on beer sold in Iowa totaled over $25,000,000.00. Truly, in this and so many other ways . . .
