Has Little Rock Come to End of Line?

Supreme Court Issues Scathing Opinion; Bd. Bows to Injunction

Little Rock, Ark.—Just as Gov. Orval Faubus was accelerating plans to reopen Little Rock high schools as private segregated institutions, federal courts stepped in dealing two lethal blows that may have died hard anti-integrationists and their leaders at the point of surrender.

Following the landslide referendum vote in Little Rock favoring segregation Saturday, Faubus announced: "Now that the people have spoken . . . on this issue . . . all speed will be used to reopen the schools . . . possibly Monday."

Supreme Court

However, Monday the U. S. Supreme court issued a unanimous opinion elaborating on its Sept. 12 decision ordering continued integration at Central High. The opinion said read by Chief Justice Earl Warren:

The rights of children to be free of discrimination in admission to schools "can neither be nullified openly and directly by state legislators or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted ingeniously."

Supreme Law

Unequivocally, the opinion also declared the court's 1954 decision outlawing race-segregation in public schools "is the supreme law of the land."

It declared: "State support of segregated schools through any arrangement."

Nation Shocked by Attack on Dr. King

New York.—The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King is "one of the world's few Christians, Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here today. Mr. Spingarn was standing immediately behind Dr. King when he was stabbed by Mrs. Izola Ware Curry in Blumstein's Department Store on 125th Street, last Saturday, Sept. 20. The entire nation was shocked by the attack.

Irony

"It is ironic," the NAACP president said, "that the outstanding advocate of non-violence should himself be the victim of violence. After he was stabbed he sat there uttering no sound, not even a groan."

Good News Would Speed King's Recovery

New York City (CNS).—As Rev. Luther Martin King lies resting in Harlem Hospital—the situation of integration throughout the troubled areas looks gloomy. In Little Rock, the people are confused as to whether the schools will be open—or what the outcome will be. One mother of a student at Central remarked "We don't know what to do or what to believe any more, so we just worry. It seems that every other week the headlines say 'Final Showdown Today'. Then some kind of court issues a ruling and you think it's settled, except tomorrow there's a new gimmick and the whole situation starts all over again."

"His engagement will be postponed until he is fully recovered. Announcement of the new date will be published as soon as it is known."

31 Buses from N.Y. Pledged For Youth March on Capitol-Postponed Until October 25

New York.—With four weeks still left to mobilize for the Youth March for Integrated Schools a total of thirty-one buses from New York City have been pledged already by churches, unions and civic groups. Each bus will carry forty children and at least five adults, ministers, teachers or parents. Duke Ellington, has loaned his orchestra's bus which will carry fifty-five members of the Brooklyn Youth Bank . . . all between the ages of seven and sixteen.

Student Groups

The new date for the March is Saturday, Oct. 25. The postponement was announced jointly by A. Philip Randolph and Jackie Robinson following the attack on the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

"Dr. King has been closely identified with the conception and planning of the March and intended to be in the line of march," the statement said.

Donald Massey Gets 8-Months in Jail For Hitting Wife

Donald Massey, 29, was sentenced to eight months in the county jail by District Judge Carroll O. Swift following his conviction of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury Thursday by a Polk County district court jury.

Massey who said he has no permanent address, was accused of striking his estranged wife, Mrs. Maxine Massey, 131 Ridge Street, with his fists. He also made a request, through his attorney, to be sent to the penitentiary.

Switzer refused and told Massey, "You can not enforce your will upon others or superimpose it upon your wife by using force. I'm being extremely lenient because if I sent you to the penitentiary it would be for more than one year."

Public Reception for Gov. Loveless at Willkie House Sun.

A public reception honoring Gov. and Mrs. Herschell Loveless, will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5 at Willkie House. Members of the Roosevelt Democratic club will be hosts.

Duke Ellington Calls for Support of NAACP Dinner

New York.—The actions of the states of Arkansas and Virginia "have created a new issue in the education field—not whether Negro and white children will go to school together, but whether anyone will go to school." Duke Ellington, co-chairman of the NAACP 1958 Freedom Fund drive, declared at a press conference here on Sept. 24, prior to his departure for Europe for a six-weeks tour.

dent in which Louis Anderson, 70, Fort Dodge, was fatally injured when struck by a car north of here. County Attorney Arthur Johnson said the continuance was asked by local authorities.

Montgomery, Ala.—Following a face to face audience with Gov. James Folsom in a clemency hearing, Jimmy Wilson's death sentence for a $195 robbery was commuted to life imprisonment Monday by the governor.

Wilson must serve 15 years before he is eligible for parole. Under Alabama law, the governor had no authority to reduce the sentence below life imprisonment. The state constitution gives him the power only to save a condemned man from the electric chair by commuting the sentence to life.

Wilson, whose fate has attracted worldwide interest and brought thousands of protesting letters and telegrams to the governor, was sentenced to death for robbing an elderly white woman of $195 in coins.

Mary Gaines, 1st Interviewed At Telephone Co., Rose from Elevator Operator to Traffic

This is the 33rd in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders social, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields, and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional and business fields.

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

In the telephone company where she had been employed for more than 12 years, Mrs. Mary Gaines, of 1300 DeWolf Street, was among the first Negroes to join the local communication company and started up from the "ground floor." In fact she holds the distinction of being the first Negro woman to be interviewed. At that time she recommended the job to five other Negro women and they all started on May 5, 1946 as elevator operators . . . breaking the racial bars at the company.

From there she has come on up the ladder in the company's employ. In 1950 at the company's request, she became the first local girl to start as a long distance operator at the telephone building. However, she shares that honor with Mary Simpson, who transferred from Chicago, Ill., and began on the same day at the same job.

Another promotion was in store for Mrs. Gaines when she became a traffic clerk on the 6th floor. However, specifically, her job is that of posting clerk handling assignment of hours for Unit 3.

As posting clerk, Mrs. Gaines scheduled working hours and days off for employees including herself.

"I find the telephone company is a wonderful place to work," she stated smilingly. "I guess that is because I love my work."

"My hours now are from 7 a.m.

to 4 p.m.," she continued. "I worked split shifts some after I started but I didn't mind."

Since I have been with the company I have seen a lot of progress made in the various departments," she stated. "Negro women are working in engineering and drafting, accounting, plant, directory and service bureau. And men are employed as truck drivers in the garages."

In private life Mrs. Gaines is the wife of Curley Gaines, who is employed in the dietetic department at Veterans hospital. They have a daughter, Debra, 6.

For the past year and a half Mrs. Gaines says she has been branching out in real estate and finds it enjoyable work. Aside from attending church at Corinthian Baptist most of her time is confined to her family or to her hobbies, ceramics painting and flowers. A native of Los Angeles, Calif., she came to Des Moines in 1943 and graduated from East High school here.

Culps Pleads Guilty; Get 17-Years Sentence

Fort Dodge, Ia. — Attorneys for Joseph Edward Culps, 32, Fort Dodge accused of killing his wife three years ago, entered a plea of guilty to second degree murder in a hearing in district court Thursday morning Sept. 25th.

District Judge Paul Hellwege, Boone, sentenced Culps to 17 years in the Fort Madison state penitentiary for men. He set the Fort Dodge's appeal bond at $10,000.

Culps was brought before District Judge Hellwege at 10 a.m. Acting as his attorneys were Herbert Bennett and Donald Mitchell. County Attorney Arthur Johnson appeared for the state.

Reduce Charge

The Court granted the county attorney's request to reduce the open murder charge to second degree murder and Bennett, as counsel for the defendant, entered the guilty plea to the charge as amended. Further time before sentencing was also waived.

Mental Ability

Sentence was pronounced at 2:15 p.m., after the attorneys for the defense concluded their presentation of facts in the case. Mitchell pointed out that I. Q. tests and other tests given Culps indicate his mental ability is on a par with that of a child of six. Under conditions of great mental stress, have indicated his mental judgment might regress to the age of three, psychologists and psychiatrists believe, Mitchell said.

Criminally Insane

Culps was found criminally insane in 1955 after he shot and killed his estranged wife, Josephine, on Aug. 27, 1955. Committed to the ward for the criminally insane at Anamosa at that time, he was returned to Webster county to stand trial the latter part of August. Psychiatrists at the reformatory said at that time Culps was "now sane and able to stand trial."

Sheriff Joe McMahon said Culps would be taken to Fort Madison to begin his sentence late this week.

cated, is the concern of everybody because at various times different people have been the scapegoat of the bigots. "Negroes are the chosen minority of the moment. Who knows who will be next?"

Joining Ellington in calling for support of the Freedom Fund dinner was his co-chairman, Mrs. Belafonte, who told of her experiences while on southern and western tours in behalf of the NAACP Freedom Fund drive. She reported encouraging response and noted improved conditions in certain areas she visited.

Purpose

Roy Wilkins, the Association's executive secretary, explained the origin and purpose of the Fight for Freedom Fund and the need to raise a million dollars annually to carry on the NAACP campaign to eliminate racial discrimination and segregation. He cited progress made since the Fight for Freedom drive was launched in 1953 in response to a recommendation by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP Board chairman. He also indicated what remained to be done in order to achieve the goals of the 10-year campaign by 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Man Shot Saturday, Woman Questioned

An unidentified woman was being held for questioning in connection with the shooting of Louis May, 40, of 1129 West 10th Street. May was taken to Broadlawn General Hospital attendants reported his condition fair. Police said the shooting occurred at the Bernice Welton residence at 1322 East 16th Street.

Governor Loveless Delivering Proclamation to Arthur Holman

Herschel C. Loveless, Governor of the State of Iowa, has proclaimed the period of October 1 to 11, 1958 as Potato Chip Week in the State of Iowa.

National Potato Chip Week calls our attention to the important part potato chips play in Iowa's agricultural economy. Thousands of acres are devoted to raising potatoes and approximately 22 per cent of the nation's potato crop goes into processing potato chips. The average American eats over 4 pounds of potato chips yearly. Potato chips are used in many interesting ways today, and new recipes such as these delicious Hiland recipes.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 25th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

After several dry spell weeks we go back again to salute some of our fine local youths. This time we are literally "tipping our hats" to two young "hatted" lassies who made quite an impressive comedy team at their school last Friday. The occasion was Fun Night at North and the two above, Sheila Williams (left) and Cecilia Allen are shown in a pantomime to the record of "Dearie."

At North Cecilia Ruth, 17, is concentrating on typing and is a 12B student. When she graduates next June she hopes to secure a job and then take additional studies at AIB as a clerk-typist. Sheila Marie, who is also 17, is a junior and is active in the Pop, Latin, Concession Stand, Junior Achievement, Inter-club council and Y-Camp. She is also secretary of her home room. When she graduates she is tentatively thinking of taking up nursing at the State University of Iowa.

Both girls are members of St. Paul A.M.E. church where Sheila was a former member of the Chancel choir. Cecilia is an active member of Willkie House and the Y. Both like sports. Cecilia favors swimming where as Sheila goes out for basketball and softball.

Sheila is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia Williams and lives at 1022 West 13th Street.

Cecilia is the daughter of Mrs. Helen S. Allen and lives at 1012 Laurel Street.

SEE IN STARS

Hollywood Calif. (CNS)—They're raving about EARL GRANT so much out here that we had to go and see what the commotion was about. So we went to the Interlude—in Hollywood—where Earl is playing nightly. . . and we found he is a master. . . a genius. . . a real grand person—and people love him for HIMSELF as well as for his music.

Earl Grant

The Interlude is a small spot on Sunset Strip, owned jointly and connected with The Crescendo where Frances Faye was playing downstairs. The Interlude is upstairs and where you dance is under the stars on the terrace and the view is the city of Los Angeles. A club so small, you rub elbows with the celebs. . . and the night we were there Milton Berle and Steve Allen made up the front row party. . . Steve was sort of "auditioning" Earl as a prospect for his show. . . and from the look on Steve's face he was very pleased at what he saw. . . and heard. . . for Earl Grant is a person who speaks his mind and does whatever he wants—he makes the audience a part of his act—and they go right along with it.

At the Hob Nob

But all was not rosy once Earl has been knocking around small spots with meager salary for quite a while. . . His one big chance was at the Hob Nob in an exclusive sec-

Sammy Davis, Jr. Makes Dramatic TV Debut Oct. 5

New York, N.Y. (CNS)—Sammy Davis, Jr. Makes his television debut in a straight dramatic role when he stars in "Auf Wiedersehen," on "The General Electric Theater" over the CBS Television Network, Sunday, Oct. 5 (9:00-9:30 P.M. EDT).

Davis plays Pvt. Spider Johnson, a member of an all-Negro Signal Corps company assigned to post-war duty in Germany. A bitter man with few friends, Spider spends a good deal of his free time bickering with others, and the remainder in a struggle with his inner self.

push or shove will invite a race riot.

Rev. King Happy

But in New York Rev. King is being kept from unhappy news. He is also unaware of the few crude messages sent him wishing he were dead and citing he is being paid for the trouble he has caused. He is only allowed to read his thousands of get-well cards, telegrams and letters from admirers all over the world. The leader has received so many flowers, his wife had to ask that they please send contributions instead.

Gov. Harriman

Though he is allowed only a few visitors, Governor Harriman managed to make three visits within a few days. King, he says, speaks cheerfully, but is no means past the danger stage. His family feels if the Little Rock situation could be victorious, the news would help a great deal in speeding King's recovery.

tion of town—and many feel he muffed it. . . That is many except his own race. . . for on opening night Earl saw that his own people were discouraged from coming and even refused admission. . . so he upped and quit right on the spot, walking out on a contract for which he later suffered for. . . but he refused to work where his people weren't welcome.

By Word

Since Earl has become a by-word with celebrities and home-folk alike. . . His philosophy is to come up with the little people and then when you're made—you're in solid. . . Today he has an enviable TV show. . . I hr. long—he has a fine trio, the respect and love of all—and his talent pushes him into higher brackets constantly. . . He's doing so well at the Interlude—he's being held over until January which is a wonderful tribute. . . from there he-hopes to make Europe and other places where people feel as he does—that men are men and race and skin color have no bearing on the matter. . . A youthful-looking, always-smiling, pleasant guy who radiates wherever you see him, Earl has become a symbol of the new Negro entertainer—one who fights as well as plays and cares what happens to his people.

Paying Goodwill

At one time a fight for integration on the bandstand meant instant death to a career. . . but show business has come a long way in paying goodwill and in educating the audience to not only accepting—but demanding the Negro entertainer. . . Earl feels he's as good as any other—and his terrific talent—on the organ and piano—and singing—proves he is right. He has a great deal of faith in himself and with his music—he hopes to smooth the way for other entertainers who are afraid to speak out.

James Edward

INCIDENTALLY. . . With a police guard on the "Porgy and Bess" set for 24 hours, there isn't much chance of another fire. . . There is still so much controversy over the making of this movie—those for integration feel it is a waste of money to go backward and those for entertainment feel it's another good chance for the Negro to work. . . James Edwards writing now for MGM—still living fabulously in the highest penthouse on Sunset Strip. . . L'Tanya, the designer, has moved out of Hattie McDaniel's house, which she was renting.

Mildred Blount

Mildred Blount resting after doing all the hats for Ice Capades show. . . Mabel Fairbanks, former ice-skating star, now teaching Hollywood stars and their kids and every now and then does a few of her famous jumps and splits at the Polar Bear Palace—the coolest place in L. A.

Nat. Cole

Nat and Marie Cole gave a party they called "just for no-reason" and Marie's hairdresser, Edward, came and gave her a French twist which surprised the guests as she's noted for her bangs and page boy.

The prime mover in this deeply touching story is a small boy (Steve Perry), the only colored lad in a German orphanage, who for some strange reason is drawn to the lonely Spider.

Author

Others in the teleplay include Ike Jones, Karen Verne, Morris Erby, Charles Swain, Nick Stuart, Clyde Venture, Gisele Verlain, Bill Yetter and Jeanne Bates. "Auf Wiedersehen" was written for "The General Electric Theater" by Valentine Davies and Kurt Vonnegut from a story by Vonnegut, and was directed by John Brahm. The series is produced by William F. management, funds, or property can not be squared with the Fourteenth Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Deliberate Speed

Monday the court spelled out, to a certain degree, what it means by deliberate speed. In effect, it sanctioned delay in some cases, provided local authorities develop good-faith plans to put integration into effect as early as possible.

Court Injunction

The high tribunal's opinion was followed later Monday by a court injunction from two judges of the Omaha Circuit Court, which instructed all persons connected with the schools not to take further action to transfer possession, control or operation, directly or indirectly, of the Little Rock high schools.

Surrender?

That is when Little Rock surrendered—presumably, amidst the confusion of frantic telephone calls from parents and students demanding to know if the school was opening. School Superintendent Virgil Blossom said Monday night legal counselors advised the school board to obey the court injunction. And the schools remained closed Tuesday with a sign on their doors—saying, "This school remains closed on order of the federal government," although Faubus closed the schools back on Sept. 12.

Faubus

And Faubus still promises his followers, "if the people will stand firm, we'll find a way." But officials close to him have another refrain, "we are at the end of the line."

School Adjustments Can Be Frightening and It Helps Children If Parents Listened to Them

Written by Eleanor Luckey, SUI Assistant Professor

It's frightening to be a young one going back to school after a summer of freedom and fun. School-rooms, like homes, mean many things to a child; but homes and parents don't change every fall the way classrooms and teachers are likely to do. Even a preschooler has more or less learned what to expect from mother, but from a new teacher, that's different.

30 Other People

And there's not only teacher to size up and get along with. There are at least thirty other people—same size, same age, same assignments. "How will I stack up?" Johnny wonders. "Will they like me? Will they laugh at me? Am I as good as they are? Am I bigger, tougher?"

Learning

Then there's the learning he's expected to do. Can he do it? Will he please the teacher? Will he show the class his work? Will he be in the first-reading group? And what will happen if it's just too hard? What if he can't? It's difficult to be a small one.

trying to learn something new and hard in close-living association with other small ones, in subjection to unpredictable authority.

Understanding

If I were a little one, I'd need a big, quiet person at home to listen to me talk. I might need someone who'd listen and understand when I say I'm scared. It doesn't help to say it's silly to be scared, or that teachers don't bite, or that the kids do too like me. But it does help for a mother or a father to listen and to remember what its like to feel afraid and not sure even if there's no real reason.

I'd like a big person to say he'd felt like that too, and he knew how it was. I'd like to know that that big person really liked me and would go on liking me, whether teacher did or not, whether the kids did or not, whether I understood the directions and made good grades or not.

At home I'd like to know that I was safe and loved and listened to. And if I knew these things, I'd feel less afraid and I'd find living in the classroom less frightening. And I would learn to grow.

Civil Rights Commission Is Independent Agency in Exec. Branch of Federal Government

This is the last of three articles explaining the program, scope of authority and organization of the Commission on Civil Rights which the Iowa Bystander has published as a public service.

Washington, D. C.—The Commission on Civil Rights, unlike many other commissions and committees appointed by the President, is an independent agency in the executive branch of the Government. It was created last fall by Congress, at the request of President Eisenhower, when it adopted the Civil Rights Act of 1957.

Its six members were appointed by the President but they had to be confirmed by the Senate. The Act provides that not more than three members shall be of the same political party.

Commissioners

Consequently, three of the Commissioners are Democrats, all from the South. Two are Republicans and one is an Independent. Three are from the Midwest. The President designates one of them chairman, another vice chairman.

The six Commissioners are: Dr. John A. Hannah, chairman, president of Michigan State University; Robert G. Storey, vice chairman, dean of Southern Methodist University Law School, former president of American Bar Association; John S. Battle, attorney, and former Governor.

Many Des Moines residents took advantage of the perfect Indian summer weather during the past weekend to get in some of the typical summer activities such as fishing, barbecuing and traveling. . . While their children got in the yard and tried to out perform one another with their hoola hoops. The W. H. Jacksons accompanied by some friends from Kansas City made another weekend trek up to the Minnesota lakes to get a last lick at some fishing before the Midwest snow flies. . . The Alvin Simmons of 1227 West 10th Street were among local citizens took advantage of the very mild fall sunshine and barbecued for family and friends. . . and the hoola hoops kept twirling. . .

However, avid Iowa football fans in the city got in their cars and went to Iowa City where they were 54,500 fans who cheered the Hawkeyes to victory. Some of the local citizenry (whom we know) saw the game were Atty. W. Lawrence Oliver, Atty. J. B. Morris, Sr., and J. B. Morris, Jr., Cecil Bruton, Sr. Dr. E. T. Scales, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Estes, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Estes, Jr. There were more but their names were not available at press time. If you wish to call in your names, we will be glad to publish them next week.

One attorney noticed something unusual at the game. An avid and former Iowa Star, Duke Slater did not attend the game.

A lot of you probably have been wondering what happened to our Youth of the Week features for a few issues. We had some but they fell through on appointment. I even contacted one young fellow in a dentist office but I haven't seen him since. But we will have him eventually. There was another local boy who had been inducted the day before we went to see him. So that's the way it goes some times.

We are always open to suggestions and will be glad to follow up any names of candidates you submit. We are grateful to some of our readers who already have.

THANK GOD FOR THE U.S. SUPREME COURT

When Congress passed the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution it included section 5 which states:

"Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article."

Notwithstanding this provision, Congress has not had the courage to follow up this provision. For years, and particularly since World War I, that body has had before it some type of civil rights bill introduced by numerous numbers. None ever came to a vote until the watered down civil rights bill was passed during the present session.

The house did pass some of the measures but on one occasion after another, the senate has carried on filibusters year in and year out which prevented any of the measures from being debated even on their merits. In each instance, sufficient northern senators have collaborated back stage with southern senators with the result that none of the measures has ever come to a vote.

In the meantime, all kinds of statutes have been passed by numerous southern states aimed at discrimination against Negroes. Southern courts upheld them. Those few which reach the Supreme Court were held unconstitutional. And it was only after the NAACP began its campaign through the courts that substantial justice began to prevail.

It is apparent that southern politicians, and they are generally supported by the ignorant and prejudiced class rich and poor, had hoped to concoct some scheme to get around the 14th amendment, but the court has said in no uncertain terms that they are illegal.

In its decision on Monday, the court said:

"The rights of children to be free of discrimination in admission to schools can neither be nullified openly and directly by state legislators or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted in ingeniously or ingeniously, that no state official can war against the Constitution without violating his undertaking to support it."

Flatly, the opinion said the court's 1954 decision outlawing race segregation in public schools "is the supreme law of the land."

It declared:

"State support of segregated schools through any arrangement, management, funds, or property can not be squared with the Fourteenth Amendment's command that no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Some years ago, a political campaign was conducted on the score "You can't eat the Constitution." This, of course, rang clear in the heads of some people, but the civil rights of a man is more important than expediency.

Thank God for the United States Supreme Court. It has, by following what the Constitution means, advanced the fortunes of the Negro many years; it has done for him what no Congress within 90 years had the courage to do.

SUPPORT THE UNITED CAMPAIGN DRIVE

Des Moines, like hundreds of cities, is in the process of conducting its annual campaign to provide for local charities. Many communities are plagued with innumerable solitaries, but Des Moines has been fortunate that most charitable organizations, seeking support by the public, have joined the United Campaign.

The public should realize that all of these funds are used to help build the moral and spiritual values of the community.

In this day of bombs and missiles, much thought is turned to these methods of destruction. Admittedly, crime among adults and juvenile delinquency are on the increase due, in part, to the let down which has followed one war after another.

The forty-six agencies included in the United Campaign are all striving, in their respective fields, to help offset the break down in moral values which goes on in all too many homes. Des Moines has done a good job caring for these agencies. And besides the fine job done by the paid officials, hundreds of volunteers have given of their time and money that the drive succeeds, that the funds entrusted to their care are expended wisely.

Everybody should make some contribution to this drive for the funds help the agencies do a job which makes Des Moines a better place in which to live.

DEER APPLICATIONS TOP 5,000 MARK

Applications for Iowa's 1958 gun deer season Dec. 13 and 14 have passed the 5,000 mark, Commission license officials announced today.

At the end of the business day Sept. 24, a total of 5,158 gun and 294 bow and arrow applications had been received by the Commission's license section.

Drawing

All applications beyond the first 5,000 received will be held until the deadline date for shotgun applications on October 14. If applications exceed 6,000, a drawing will be held to determine which 1,000 hunters—between the first 5,000 applicants and 6,000 maximum—receive licenses. The first 5,000 applications received were processed immediately on a first come, first serve basis.

Bow and Arrow

There is no limitation on number of licenses or deadline date for the 1958 deer season for bow and arrow hunters. Bow applications and new licenses are being issued as they are received. Bow licenses will be issued throughout the archery season, Nov. 1-30.

Kid Gavilan Quits Ring to Teach

Havana, Cuba—Former world welterweight champion Kid Gavilan has publicly announced that he is retiring from the ring after 16 years of professional boxing.

Gavilan, now 32, quit after receiving an offer from Argentine millionaire Jorge Antonio to teach boxing to Antonio's four sons.

The colorful fighter, whose sharp punching skill won him many plaudits, won the title from Gil Turner in July, 1952 and lost it to Johnny Saxton in October, 1954.

Althea Gibson May Go Out for Golf

New York.—The Queen of American and English tennis, Althea Gibson, told reporters last week that she felt that golf would be a "wonderful" game to go with her singing.

"With the belief I have in myself," she commented, "and six months training from a good pro, I could be good in golf."

In a tournament at Tuskegee institute, she scored 99 and won she recalled.

Miss Gibson can reportedly drive some 260 yards, but frankly admits that her putting leaves much to be desired.

The Forest Hills and Wimbledon tennis champion said she had first learned to play golf while at Florida A&M.

She stated that golf intrigued her because "of its challenge."

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

All week long we have listened to experts, pool hall and barber shop experts, tell what a great future the Iowa U team has this season since they beat a good Texas Christian team. In fact we didn't give the Texans a chance to score and were really surprised when we saw them knocking at the goal line.

Jeter Scores

The one thing Iowa needed badly right then was some kind of a score. Jeter came through for them. You will watch football games quite a while before you see the likes of Jeter's basketball dribble in his shove into the end zone.

John Bumougha proved himself a key man and just about went the distance. It was a good win and let's hope the Texans were as tough as they were supposed to be. If they were Iowa will be hard to handle.

Coe College

We saw a real ham burner Saturday night in Cedar Rapids. Coe College of Cedar Rapids took on Ripon College of Wisconsin. What those two teams lacked in ability they made up in spirit. Those two clubs really went at each other.

Ripon had a Negro named Doss who was big enough and rough enough to play Big Ten football. He just kept slapping blockers away like a guy wishing away flies.

We took Elmer Cross along with us and when our poker playing Cedar Rapids relatives and friends met him we swear they conspired with him to get your scribbler... and they did me in or rather took me in.

High Schools

The high schools must have had some fun over the weekend. But East was disappointed. North really

HEALTH FOR ALL

Visit to the Dentist

Remember your first visit to the dentist? Pleasant memories? Probably not. You can help your children avoid unnecessary fear of the dentist.

Dental authorities now suggest that a child's first trip to the dentist be made when he's about three years old. This may seem young, but it has advantages. The child hasn't had a chance to hear frightening tales about visits to the dentists. He won't be able to dramatize the occasion in advance and work himself into a state of anxiety.

Get Acquainted

In most cases little if any treatment is needed during this early visit. Its chief purposes—to give the child an opportunity to become acquainted with the dentist and his office. Modern dentists have developed excellent techniques for building a youngster's confidence and allaying his fears.

Twice a Year

Authorities recommend dental examinations for a child at least twice a year after he is three years old. This gives the dentist a chance to discover any small cavities in the "baby teeth" and fill them promptly. The loss of baby teeth from decay may result in irregularities or crookedness in the permanent teeth. When the first permanent molars appear, around age six, dental check-ups are particularly important. These molars may be mistaken for "baby teeth," but they are a part of the permanent set. If they are lost, nature can't replace them.

Good Dental Health

Good dental health requires, of course, more than regular visits to the dentist. Diet plays an important part in keeping children's teeth and gums healthy. Daily care is also essential. Your dentist will teach your child how to care for his teeth. It's up to you to see that he follows instructions.

Bob Jeter Makes Dazzling 42-Yard Run for T. D. Has Spontaneous Combustion Effect on Team

Iowa City, Ia.—In a fashion, seldom witnessed in a football contest, Iowa's Bob Jeter with a rapid, fumbling, rebounding, jumping touchdown ignited his team mates into football playing meteors that burned a blazing 17-0 victory over a tough Texas Christian eleven before a record 54,500 thrilled fans.

Following a scoreless first half, in which the Horned Frogs threatened at the two yard line, Iowa kicked off to the Texans who did not utilize their chance and followed it with a poor 15-yard punt. This gave the Hawkeyes the ball on the visitor's 42-yard line.

Touchdown

Hardly Remembers

Jeter says he hardly remembers his dramatic run. Apparently he was stunned several plays earlier when he tackled a T.S.C. back after he had caught a pass.

All fired up, passing ace Randy Duncan took over after the Horned Frogs only threat of the second half—... at the 28-yard line of Iowa. With his special brand of came through on a fine performance by Craddock, Carter and Gaines... along with the rest of the hustling team.

The World Series has got under way and the air is full of it. Who will win? Our guess even now is Milwaukee but by the time you read this the situation could have really changed.

REMORSE

Remorse... regretful afterthought. Reminder of the damage wrought. By careless word, or heartless deed. An evil tongue... a fanatics creed. Remorse... the usual aftermath—Of foul things left along ones path. Things left undone—the jobs delayed; That did not help the role one played. Remorse... for just or unjust rage, That soiled a clean and unmarked page.

And many saw that lost control; That added burdens to ones soul. Remorse... that takes away the joy— That we once knew as girl or boy, When thoughtlessly we spoiled the day; We cared not what we had to say. Remorse... we broke a gentle heart— Were cruel from the very start, All through the years we had our way; And some one always had to pay.

Remorse... descends just like a plague— And bitter to its final drag. Are all the profits of our years; Made from our neighbors pain and tears. Remorse... will never dull our sword— If God and we are in accord... We'll carve a future, clean and bold, And find our pathway paved with gold.
