College Student, Idol of Parents, Kills Father

City Council Unanimously Postpone Final Decision on Housing Area Two Weeks

Stuffs Victim in Trunk Before Dropping Into Hudson River

New York (CNS) — In what is probably the saddest of crimes is the murder of a father who worshipped his son — by of all people, his son.

The father was a 45 year old marine radio operator whose chief aim in life was to see that his son got the best — especially in education. His son is 18 years old, an engineering student at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute — an intelligent handsome youth. Father and son quarrelled over the son returning to classes when the son announced he wanted to leave school. Then the son used his tuition money for other purposes. That act led to others which ended in the father being killed while asleep and his body placed in a trunk and dumped into the Hudson River.

Hardworking Parents

Young Richard Hicks, Jr. had everything a child could hope for from hardworking parents. Perhaps they did worry him about his studies, but they wanted him to "be someone." Integration Seen as Challenge to Negroes And White Alike

New Rochelle, N. Y. — The challenge of integration places certain responsibilities upon both Negroes and white persons, Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, member of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, declared in an address prepared for delivery here tonight at a meeting of the New Rochelle NAACP branch.

Earned Place

"No man is ready to meet the challenge of integration unless he is certain that he and his people have earned their place in an integrated society," Mrs. Lampkin asserted. "And the Negro has earned his place. Living in an integrated society is his right; it is not a privilege extended to him by others."

Negro children, she said, need to be taught the history of the race "so that they may be proud of their heritage." They need to know about the contributions the Negro has made to the development of this country and its culture.

Brotherhood

White people need to abide by the teachings of their religious faith which assert the brotherhood of man and fatherhood of God. "If our churches and synagogues were populated by people who really believe what they preach, then the greatest force for integration would be the moral force of the many religious groups."

NAACP

In addressing the New Rochelle branch, Mrs. Lampkin, vice president of The Pittsburgh Courier, returned to an activity in which she was engaged for many years as field secretary of the NAACP. In that position she campaigned for NAACP memberships in practically every major city of the country as well as in many smaller communities. Through her efforts new branches were organized and older units inspired. Currently, Mrs. Lampkin is volunteering her services in the year-end membership and renewal campaign.

New York — In a taped recorded interview last week, Louis Armstrong hit the 1956 New Orleans law which prohibits Negro and white musicians from playing together as they had in the past.

"All I can say," Louis stated, "is that the people who made those laws don't know anything about music. Because in music it doesn't make any difference."

"I don't run into much trouble with segregation because I don't go where I'm not wanted."

"And please don't take this out I'm going to tell this straight. I don't go to New Orleans anymore."

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination said it may disclose the location of three other specific sites for consideration before the urban renewal board tomorrow morning. The statement was made by Atty. Luther Glanton, member of the commission, following a meeting with the Des Moines Redevelopment committee Monday evening.

Glanton declined to disclose location of the sites at that time for fear of precipitating "a hike" of the land's purchase price, purchase price.

City Council

Definite word that the commission had three other sites as an alternative to a present proposed 35.3-acre east side tract recommended by the urban renewal board, came eight hours after members of the city council voted unanimously to postpone final decision two weeks from Monday.

Packed Chamber

For nearly two hours a packed council chamber listened as interested group representatives and citizens voiced support for and against the proposed housing project which would accommodate 200 families to be displaced by a freeway and other public projects.

Major Objection

Major object to the re-location project came from the Human Rights commission and Negro leaders who were concerned that "segregation be eliminated" from the area. Support for the project came from the urban renewal and city planning officials who voiced a desire "not to create a segregated area," but pointed out "urban renewal cannot be used for any purpose... but to clean up the blighted and slum areas of our city."

This is the 36th in a series of articles featuring Iowa firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Because of her leadership abilities and other qualifications important to the job, Mrs. Ruby Wilson, of 1326 McCormick Street, was promoted several weeks ago to the position of supervisor of mails and files in Hospital Service, Inc., (Blue Cross) in the Des Moines area. Her promotion came shortly after the third anniversary year of employment with the local office which began in September 1955.

In her new position with the company Mrs. Wilson has five employees, all white, working under her supervision. Chiefly her department is in charges of opening daily mail, stamping it and sending it to the various department. They also keep up to date, a master file which includes filings, cancellations, and transference of cards.

Nurse's Aid

"I have been connected with hospital work for a number of years," Mrs. Wilson said. "I wanted to get into another division so upon the recommendation of a friend who was already working at Blue Cross, I applied for the position of file clerk and was hired the same day three years ago."

In Topeka

Actually, Mrs. Wilson began working in hospitals in Topeka, Kans., a

In an official statement to the city council Monday, Malcolm Higgins, executive secretary of the Commission, pointing out the physical unsuitability of the area, said: "On the north it is bounded by an area principally owned by a railroad company and zoned for heavy and light industry; to the east are junkyards, dilapidated and sub-standard housing; to the south the same conditions of unimproved streets and substandard housing exist."

"Only toward the west is there a more suitable section and even here the neighborhood is in a state of transition with numerous white families trying to sell their homes

Likes Job

"I like the job at Blue Cross very much," Mrs. Wilson said. "The co-operation and attitudes of the other employees are wonderful."

"My boss told me when I began that the company does not hire or promote employees on the basis of race, but only if they are qualified for the job," she continued.

"To begin you must take an aptitude test and of course, a physical examination," she noted.

Private Life

In private life Mrs. Wilson is the wife of James E. Wilson who is employed with Penn Dixie Cement Corp., in West Des Moines. They are parents of a daughter, Ruby Mae who resides in Topeka. PRIVATE SCHOOLS DOOMED, NAACP SPOKESMAN ASSERTS

New York, —The private schools set up in Little Rock and in Virginia are "doomed to failure almost before they get started," Gloster P. Current, NAACP director of branch here today before the 63rd annual session of the Empire State Baptist Missionary Convention.

"These schools are mere makeshifts without adequate funds, facilities or teachers," the NAACP spokesman asserted. They are the consequence of the legislative devices, economic pressures and other gimmicks designed to maintain segregation at any cost.

"The Christian churches in Little Rock," he charged, "are missing a marvelous opportunity to give Christian witness to their belief in God and the bringing about of His Kingdom by opening these schools to all students regardless of race and color, showing that the church can practice the principles of brotherhood."

New York, —(CNS) . . . IS POWELL BACKING THE WRONG HORSE? . . . With the first reports seeping through that Nelson Rockefeller might win the prize of politics—New York State's Governorship and thereby make the Democrats most sick in what might be their only major setback to a sweep, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell may be a very sorry man. For it could be that he is backing the wrong horse.

Winning the primary as he did so smashingly—Adam had the chance to run as a Republican or a Democrat. Of course, it was recognized that either way—Adam could deliver a lot of votes and so might dictate which party would get the top place on New York State's totem pole.

Officers of Rose Temple are Helen Powell

Powell chose his original party—the Democrats. The Republicans who had offered him their ticket—charged he was traitor. He counter-replied that he had full say in the terms, with no dictation and complete control. Powell has been needing Rockefeller ever since—as the shrewd politician he is. But Rockefeller has a slight edge—the polls say—and may win.

Powell would most certainly want to back a winner to really ride high, wide and handsome. Should Governor Harriman lose, and his plans go astray, it would certainly

School Integration by "Eye-Dropper" Faces Doom, Wilkins Warns

Raleigh, N. C.—North Carolina's policy of school "integration by eye-dropper" which in two years has permitted the enrollment of only a dozen Negro children in previously all-white schools "would seem to be doomed," NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins has warned.

Addressing a state-wide conference of the Association here on Oct. 12, Mr. Wilkins noted that the North Carolina pupil placement law "has not yet passed a full scale federal court test, but its continued life could well depend upon the record of its operation. We are now in the second year of that operation. If the pupil placement law continues to filter out a scant dozen Negro children in the entire state for integration by eye-dropper, as it were, the federal courts may take a dim view of the legislation, especially in the light of the Sept. 29 Supreme Court condemnation of evasive devices sought to be employed by the states."

Standing still
North Carolina, the NAACP leader said, "is standing still... It is ridiculous to assert that only a dozen out of the scores of thousands of Negro children in North Carolina can meet the tests of the Pupil Placement Act. If the state should attempt to maintain this absurd position, the law would seem to be doomed. North Carolina has an opportunity to supply leadership on this issue by pressing its admittedly gradual program forward. Gradual means gradual; it does not mean standing still with three cities and a dozen youngsters."

Mary Church Terrell No. 1 to Meet Monday

Mary Church Terrell No. 1 will meet at the home of Mrs. Jesse Bell Davis, 1629 Walker Street, on Monday evening, Nov. 3.

Among recent babies born locally that were not reported in regular news stories are a son to the Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobs of 1175 West 12th Street. They have two daughters. Also a daughter to the Mr. and Mrs. William Bell of 1811 Maple Street. The newcomer, now four months old, has a three-year-old brother. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edwards, 1409 Carpenter Avenue became parents of their fourth daughter, also.

The beautiful fall colors were carried out in the setting of the long reception table with its tall bouquets of golden, orange and bronze chrysanthemums, purple napkins with gold lettering and large bowls of golden punch at both ends of the table. Orange mints and brown nutmeats, continued the color scheme and topping it off, was the white frosted cake squares with purple initials.

When you busily answering the knocks of "ghostly beggars on 'trick or treat' night do you ever stop to wonder where the custom had its origin? Seems, it all began far back in the days of olden times of the English who very concerned with life and death, would go from house to house, begging, "A penny or a soul cake," to help souls of relatives rest in the hereafter.

Each householder then handed little cakes out the windows of their homes... which was believed to help their souls, also.

To those who deem it so... it is a thrill and wonderful satisfaction to read the works of great personalities and perhaps follow in the news columns their day to day activities or achievements. But to these same people it is an even greater thrill to meet an admired personality in the flesh. Last Tuesday during United Nations day observance here in the city, some of us got our first chance... and some a second... to look upon and shake hands with the "World's First Lady"... Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

At the reception at the Governor's mansion I was particularly impressed by Mrs. Roosevelt because to my mind she so graciously typified a philosophical belief of mine. Rudyard Kipling put it better. The ability "to walk with kings and not lose the common touch." For she has as former first lady of the land, and later in her work for the United Nations, has reached great heights in the social and intellectual world... yet, she seems to be acutely aware that there is so much to be done.

While we were interviewing Mr. Rozenting Hardaway last week for our "Who's Who" feature, he showed us an autograph book he has been keeping since 1949. In it are the best wishes and signatures of such well known personalities as the late "Bo Jangles" Robinson, George Dewey Washington, "Peg Leg" Bates, Earl Banks, George Tallaferra, and Joseph W. Boyne, from Liberia, Africa and H. S. Shirley from Kingston, Jamaica.

Speaking of our "Who's Who in Iowa" feature, the tip on this week's candidate was given to us by Mrs. Barbara Robinson who is employed at the same place. Perhaps, most of you remember the story of Mrs. Robinson receiving a five year pin at Blue Cross.

VOTE ON ELECTION DAY, NOV. 4

Tuesday, Iowa voters go to the polls to elect State, County and township officers as well as representatives in Congress. The campaign has been comparatively quiet in view of the fact that the issues have not been brought forward with a bang.

However, there is considerable interest in the outcome as Democrats have been trying to get control of the statehouse from the Republicans and to further control county court-houses.

President Eisenhower has given the country a sound administration. Whatever depression or recession we have had has been handled with skill so as to cause a gradual movement toward recovery which has reached remarkable proportions.

Then, too, farmers are receiving excellent prices for their products. And even though farms are getting bigger and less small farmers are on the soil, the high cost of operation of any business today makes it necessary to keep the unit cost of production low.

The NAACP has circulated thousands of placards which say "They Will Hear From You in Arkansas If You Vote Right in Your State". Right, it says, means "For Civil Rights and Against Faubusism".

This will be done if the voters know who the Faubuses are. Faubus is not running for Governor or any other office in Iowa, but when you vote the Democrat ticket in Iowa you help Faubus whenever they are. To give you some idea of who the Faubuses are, consider this fact: Almost every Governor, U. S. Senator and Congressman who has spoken against integration is a Democrat.

The professional polls are predicting that the Democrats are leading in 36 states. Time will tell whether or not this is true. In off year campaigns, there is a disposition to vote the party in power out. Certainly, not that the Republicans have done a poor job but the idea that another may be better.

If any event be sure to vote Tuesday.

COUNCIL HEEDS PROTEST ON RENEWAL SITE

The City Council, acting after protests from the Commission on Human Rights, NAACP and a group of interested citizens, deferred final approval of the urban renewal relocation sight in East Des Moines, in order that these groups might have an opportunity to offer other sites and include safeguards against racial discrimination in whatever proposal is finally adopted.

Much of this delay and protest could have been avoided had the Urban Renewal Board consulted with other groups and particularly those who might be displaced from the urban renewal site. But they did not just as some of our commissions and boards are in the habit of acting in a dictatorial manner when the interest of the small fellow is at stake.

Nobody wishes to impede the progress of urban renewal in Des Moines. made to get the best possible site. Surely, it is needed. But while improvements are being made they should be reasonably satisfactory because they are constructed to last a long time.

Of course, nobody expects to cure all evils. But every effort must be in the most favorable direction looking toward open occupancy.

Negro Boy Heads Harvard Boating Team

Boston.—Negroes, accustomed to participating in most of the major spectator sports, are finding new outlets to conquer, as evidenced by Mario Bryan, of St. Thomas, V. I., first Negro member of a Harvard university rowing team. The 117-pound youth is coxswain of the 8-man 150-pound crew which last year won the Eastern boating championship, and earned an invitation to compete in the English regatta last July.

Members of the crew have expressed no unwillingness to be led by the spindly Virgin Islander. Coaches attribute this partly to Bryan's being so "down-to-earth." After his team won the Eastern championship, Bryan took an oar and helped them row the half-mile home, the first time a Harvard coxswain has pulled an oar.

"Mario has always been just another one of the guys to us," said one coach, "not someone making history."

Bryan attended prep school in his native Islands, and decided to become a coxswain at Harvard, because, at 5 ft. 6 in. and 97 pounds, he was too small for other sports. He had no crew experience, but he learned fast. Varsity Coach O. J.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

Woody Hayes of Ohio State loosed some verbal blasts at the Big Ten officiating for this season. Last Saturday sportscaster, Al Coussepe questioned the judgement of some of the officials on one or two plays in the Iowa-Northwestern game.

Football officiating is a tough job and now there are so many judgement calls that a man must be on his toes. The job now is no job for a man very far in years. Too fast, and one has to be too alert and can't tire during a game.

Just getting our breath back after that Iowa-Northwestern affair. We were surprised at the number of Negroes on the Wildcat squad and they all played important parts in their team game.

But now comes a Michigan team, hard to beat always at home and always tough in November. The dope is the Hawkeyes by seven points but the game isn't played on dope sheets.

Drake Wins

Drake tasted victory for the first time and now maybe they will get some more wins. The squad is small in number and small in size. Actually there is nothing wrong with Drake football that a few big husky football players won't cure.

High School

The East-Roosevelt game will be the showdown for the city title, unless the Lee Township come up with the best effort of the year, the Riders will win 92 to 0. Well, maybe not that bad but they will win. The East-North game could be a surprise too. North could win it.

Basketball

The Globetrotters ushered in the basketball season. Wilt Chamberlain was featured attraction but he was traveling in fast company and could not afford to clown. But the crowd always likes the three ring circus the Trotters call basketball plus the other assorted acts so a good time was had by all. The crowd enjoyed it and we guess the team and promoters made some money.

Brown said of him: "Bryan has done a good job for us. He's a smart and conscientious coxswain."

West Coast Defense

HEALTH FOR ALL

That Nagging Backache

Few complaints are more familiar to a woman's doctor than a nagging backache. Yet, because it is such a common ailment, many women think it's not important enough to bother the doctor about.

It's foolish to suffer a backache in silence, and it can be dangerous. Pain in the back can be a symptom of many ailments, some trivial, some serious. It's important to give the doctor a chance to find out the cause. Once he knows the cause he can tell what should be done to ease or cure it or prevent it from happening again. When relief may come from something as simple as a change in shoe style, it's silly to do nothing.

More Women

Women really do have more trouble with their backs than men do. This isn't because they're the weaker sex, but because of their different anatomy, body functions, and job habits. No male occupation is more likely to cause back strain than a woman's housework and child care. Pregnancy causes more abnormal strain on the bones and muscles of the back than the most strenuous sports.

Carelessness

Many pregnant women don't take proper precautions against lifting, reaching stretching, and pulling motions which may easily displace ligaments and cartilage. The results of carelessness show up as many as fifteen years later. It's especially important to be careful during the latter months of pregnancy. A woman who persists in straining her sagging back by wearing high heels, carrying heavy bundles of groceries, picking up squirming children, sleeping in a bed that's too soft, or sitting in a chair that doesn't give back support, is guaranteeing herself an immediate backache and possible serious trouble later on.

Iowa Continues Mastery Over Opponents—Undeclared, Leads in Big Ten Competition

Iowa City.—The Hawkeyes of the State University of Iowa continued their mastery over all comers Saturday as they eased by capable Northwestern 26-20 in a thrilling victory before a huge, jubilant Homecoming throng; and thus remained undefeated.

This win over the rugged, opportunistic Wildcats affords the Hawks several laurels. For instance; they are now top in the Big Ten, (with three wins), are number one in a

Iowa is definitely shining in majestic splendor as they step past the halfway mark in this fifty-eight football season. As a matter of fact they are shining so brightly that although they haven't won against Michigan, their next foe, since 1924 (they tied 21-21 last season) they are a seven-point favorite to win at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Phillies Break Color Bar; Hire Scout to Find Negro Player

Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia Phillies proved this week that they are definitely in the market for Negro ballplayers, as they announced the signing of Winfield Welch, a member of the travelling secretarial staff of the Harlem Globetrotters Basketball team, as a full time scout.

James T. Gallagher, a member of the Phillies' front office, said that Welch's "specific job" will be to sign Negro prospects; but that his duties will not be limited to this. According to the executive, Welch will be expected "to recommend any and all good prospects."

Gallagher said the scout will be free to travel anywhere in the country, but that the major portion of his time "will be devoted to Negro college teams and semi-pro clubs in the south."

Globetrotter boss Abe Saperstein says Welch will not have to sever his connection with the famed hoopsters because of his new job. Saperstein said the Trotter season ends

Letters from Our Readers

A bit of prose . . . a line or two of poetry . . . a letter now and then to express thoughts in the minds of our many readers.

Send Yours Today

DEAR EDITOR:

I am a regular Reader of the Bystander. I deeply regret and strongly resent along with other Negro employees a article which appeared on the front page of the Bystander of the Oct. 16th issue.

The article was by Mrs. Frances Hawthorne. I don't know where Mrs. Hawthorne received her information but it was incorrect and it showed credit where not much is due.

The article concerns Byron Hayter, 1155 13th St., which states that he is employed as a shipping and receiving clerk at Meredith Publishing and the responsibility that he has. Mr. Hayter was hired as a laborer in paper stock although he did work a while in the shipping and receiving Dept. But he now is on the 3:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. shift in paper stock where he was originally hired for. He could not be a receiving and shipping clerk because that dept. does not exist on the shift he is on.

I also resent the statement that no other Negroes has asked for anything other than Janitor work. Nothing can be farther from the facts. I was one of the other 3 mentioned who met with the personnel Director, and I had contacted the Personnel Director months before that meeting, and there has been other Negro employees who have executed the same. Present employees have applied for work there other than Janitor work and are qualified but were not hired.

I could go a lot deeper on this subject but my reason for protesting this, is that—we who work at Merediths know the Negro's plight, but to the thousands of people who read the Bystander this would be news of progress. We as Negroes at Merediths would be happy if the facts were even close to true; we as Negroes have not been able to dent the surface.

You don't have to take my word just stop in and browse around and see for yourself. However, there is one Negro after 35 years service most of those years as Janitor has what is called a responsible job and his name is not Hayter or anything close to Hayter.

Floyd Brown
1432 Fremont

In March, in time for Welch to make spring training with the Phillies.

Welch, who has worked for the Globetrotters for the past 20 years, has also established an outstanding record as manager of Negro baseball teams, such as the Birmingham Black Barons, New York Cubans, and Chicago American Giants.

Editor's Note: The writer of the article was perhaps guilty of using the wrong word which implied what was not intended. The article stated Mr. Hayter (subject of the article) was the only one which does not imply progress. The article also stated Mr. Hayter is a member of the Pressmen's union, which his job requires. After checking with Meredith's it was found Mr. Hayter's title would specifically be Press paper handler in the shipping and receiving department. The writer depends on the integrity of subjects and prior to this had no cause to check the facts.

DEAR EDITOR:

I am a Democrat and proud of it and I sincerely believe in the principals of that party. I would like to know just what does Gov. Loveless mean by his statement in the Oct. 21 Des Moines Register . . . about what should be done for the elderly citizens of the state.

Sometime ago I asked if there was a candidate from any party who would champion the cause of the little people. Did I get a response? No! And I still don't believe that Gov. Loveless will do anything for us in this respect.

You can't get a job after 65 years of age if you are even able to work and if you can't pay your taxes, who gets your homestead? Why put us in county homes when we already have given our strength and most of our lives striving for something we never receive? Home should be a place to call our own.

Eye MSU Captain As All-American

East Lansing, Mich.—In Michigan State's first three football games of the season, team captain Sam Williams has justified his selection to several pre-season All-American squads.

Williams, a giant 6-5, 225-pounder, is considered by his coaches as the best all-round end in collegiate football, and Sam is continually convincing opposing teams that this is so. Last year various press observers labelled him "probably the finest player in the Big Ten."

In MSU's opening game against California, Spartan quarterback Mike Panitch passed complete to Williams three times. His catches were good for a total of 57 yards and two were factors in touchdown drives. He also was a tower on defense.

City Council Comments---

The following are comments made by persons speaking for or against support of the east side urban renewal project before the city council public hearing Monday.

Paul Perkins, 1032 14th St.—"Monopolies are taking over the country . . . and to prevent the same thing happening here write up an (FHA) law and enforce it. I can't afford, at my age, to get out and get a 40-year loan."

Mrs. Hayes Johnson, 1443 Walker.—"What's going to happen if urban renewal is not applied to the area? I have lived on the east side over 30 years and it has always been in that run down condition."

MRS. HAYES JOHNSON

Atty. Luther Glanton, Jr., member of the Human Rights Commission. "We hope the city council sees fit to disapprove of the relocation area and pass a proposed city ordinance which would set out that no more than a certain per cent (of the area's housing population) shall be non-white . . . to keep this from being an all-Negro unit."

Xavier University Grad a Prima Donna With New York City Center Opera Company

New York—Debra Brown, a 1958 graduate of the United Negro College Fund's Xavier University, will make her professional debut as "Carmen," with the New York City Center Opera Company here, Oct. 25. body." But this was probably his only worry for they gave him all he asked for.

Somewhere along the line, he felt he no longer wanted an education. And so he started cutting classes. Then he decided to take his tuition money and spend it for other things when his marks took a dive. He knew that the dream of his father—and mother, too—was for him to have that education and he knew that taking the tuition money to spend for trivial things was unforgivable.

Trunk in River

Thus when a $24. trunk was pulled from the Hudson River, minutes after it had been pushed off a stringpiece by a youth that fled, and once the victim was identified as Richard Hicks, Sr. by his broken hearted widow, police immediately suspected the son and the motive for the murder.

Gun Hobby

This is how they reasoned it happened: Young Hicks, whose hobby was guns and one which he owned cost him $65, was brooding over his differences with his father. While his mother had gone to work in the early morning of Thursday, October 24th, young Hicks is alleged to have fired a slug into the back of the head of his sleeping father. Now the problem was to dispose of the body.

Dispose of Body

He went to his buddy Leslie Couillard—who has already been picked up—for help and said that he had killed his father but needed a trunk to dispose of the body. The two boys bought a trunk after looking hard for one big enough, lugged it home on the subway. There, young Hicks allegedly forced his father's body inside after removing a tray, and hacking at his father's knees to cram the body in. They took a cab to 125th St. Couillard had had enough of the gruesome business, he says, then watched Hicks call another cab from there.

Workmen Watched

The young suspect was next seen walking along the river at 49th St. carrying the trunk. Workmen watched him with it idly, then noted the youth pushed it over into the river and fled. Longshoremen pulled the trunk to shore and police opened it to find murder.

Back at the apartment, the cops found the trunk, tray, two boxes of bullets so that the missing youth has enough bullets to do harm to others as well as himself.

DON'T LET THE FAUBUSES IN CONGRESS CONTROL OUR CIVIL RIGHTS

Waterloo Atty. Greets President Eisenhower

IOWA DEMOCRATS HELP DIXIECRATS CONTROL CONGRESS

They are chairmen of practically every important committee which gives them almost unlimited power to run the legislative department of our government.

The NAACP has circulated thousands of placards which say "They Will Hear From You In Arkansas If You Vote Right In Your State." Right, it says means "For Civil Rights and Against Faubusism."

You will do so if you know who the Faubuses are. Faubus is not running for Governor or any other office in Iowa, but when you vote the Democrat ticket in Iowa you help Faubuses wherever they are. To give you some idea of who the Faubuses are, consider this fact: Every Governor, U. S. Senator and Congressman who has spoken against integration is a Democrat.

Patronage

Iowa has prospered under Republican administrations. Negroes have more employment at the State House than ever, but Governor Loveless has not seen fit to replace the job held by Doug Miller for almost half a century with a deserving Negro Democrat even though they have worn out considerable shoe leather begging him for crumbs from the table which to date have not fallen.

Southern Democrats Depend Upon Northern Democrats to Help Carry Out Their Program.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 2—Senator John J. Sparkman urged Southern Democrats to remain loyal to national party leadership as a means to preserve racial segregation in the region's public schools.

"Southern interests" are safeguarded in the party councils through an alliance of Western and Northern Democrats who had moved in Congress at critical periods to show understanding of the South's special needs.

The Alabama Democrat twice singled out Minnesota's Democrat Senator Humphrey as a proved friend of Southern interests for sponsoring an amendment in Congress last that repealed an 1866 statute authorizing use of Federal troops to enforce civil rights legislation.

"It is from Northern and Western Democrats in Congress that the South received the most help and sympathy, even in racial disputes," he said.

The interest of Iowa will be served better by placing in office candidates who will see that recognition is given minority groups both in numbers and importance.
