Lena Horne Launches Annual NAACP Holiday Seals Drive

New York.—The 32nd annual holiday seals campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was launched this week with an appeal from Miss Lena

Lena Horne

Horne, star of the Broadway musical hit, "Jamaica," and campaign chairman.

In letters mailed to thousands of NAACP members and friends, Miss Horne urged purchase of the seals at $1.00 per sheet of 100 "so that the fight against injustice and for our dearest democratic principles may go on."

The beautiful singer and actress cited the tensions of the year and said that 1958 may become known as the "Year of Fausus." It has been a year, she said, during which "irresponsible persons, emotionally stimulated by examples of defiance of authority by high officials, have resorted to rioting and dynamiting. The bombing Oct. 12 of the Jewish Temple in Atlanta shocked and horrified the nation."

Proceeds from the sale of the seals go to help the NAACP carry on its Fight for Freedom. Assisting Miss Horne in the drive is Miss Bobbie Branche, campaign director.

Surprising Democratic Victory at Statehouse Polk County Levels

Gov. Herschel Loveless, incumbent Democrat, defeated his Republican opponent, William G. Murray, by a wide margin in the record breaking balloting in Tuesday's general election. By winning a second consecutive term, Loveless became the third Democrat to win re-election

GOV. LOVELESS

In Iowa's gubernatorial history, unofficial returns Wednesday morning indicated that Loveless had a total of 387,057 to 322,125 for Murray out of 2,087 precincts reporting with 300 more yet to report.

In this off election year, Democrats gained in other offices on the local and state scene. The first Democratic lieutenant governor in 20 years when State Senator E. J. McManus was elected.

Democrats added to the surprising Republican defeat in Polk County also by placing two Democratic judges on the district bench. Carrol O. Switzer and Wade P. Clarke . . . and when Neal Smith defeated incumbent Republican Paul Cunningham in the fifth district for Congressman.

More than 80,000 ballots were cast, setting a record for an off-year election in Polk County. It was expected that official tabulation would show that nearly a million votes were cast in Iowa.

Confessed Wrong

Powell immediately answered by stating: "Mr. Burton evidently doesn't read the papers . . . If he did he would know that Mr. Harriman (Governor of N. Y.) and Mr. De Sapio's statements clearly indicated that they confessed they were wrong and that they acknowledged I was leader, and that I was made associate campaign manager of the state ticket on my terms, not theirs, and that their position on purging me was incorrect."

Who's Who in Iowa

James Volliner Elected First Vice Commander of Sixth District of AMVETS Here

This is the 37th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)
By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Less than a month ago, James Burton Volliner of 1735 E. University Avenue was elected to the position of vice commander of the Sixth district of AMVETS. Although it is the highest office he has held in several levels of the AMVETS, it is far from the only one he has served.

Following his discharge from the army after a two and a half year hitch in the Army, including two overseas in the European theater and the South Pacific, Mr. Volliner, returned to his native hometown, Des Moines. On June 7, 1951 he became a charter member of the newly organized Post 7 of the AMVETS.

Commander of Post 7

Since then he has served Post 7 on various occasions as finance officer two years, adjutant one year, provost marshal two years and is currently serving as commander for the term ending in 1959. One the state level he has served as historian.

Pride in Post

When he speaks of AMVETS Post 7, there is unmistakable pride in his voice. "The post is doing very well for itself," he said, "and that it is due to all the good members who belong to it."

Gold Trophy

"At the state convention last June we were awarded a gold trophy for having the most new members in our category," he continued. "We also met our membership quota set up for us by the state department for the past four years."

"We also have a bowling team, of which I'm a member, which was leading in its league, Central Bowling, with a 175," he noted. "Back in the summer another team of the Post also led most of the way in the Capital Bowling league."

Other Units

In addition the post sponsors a junior and senior boxing team. His 11 year old son, Freddie, is a member of the younger group. The latest venture of the Post is a Boy Scout group which was recently organized.

Letters in Sports

Explaining the differences in veterans' organizations he stated that AMVETS require members to be honorable discharged veterans of World War II or the Korean War, but that overseas service is not necessary for membership. In addition he pointed out, all the organizations from the Post on up are integrated.

Prior to his graduation from East High, Mr. Volliner excelled in sports, receiving two letters each in track and football. He also played tackle with a local semi-pro football team.

He has been employed 14½ years at Iowa Packing company where he works as beef lugger. He has also served as steward four years. of

Democrats Protest Republican Ad

A full-page Republican state central committee advertisement published in the Iowa Bystander last week (Oct. 30) elicited strong protest from Iowa Democrats.

Last Friday Democratic State Chairman Donald Norberg sent a telegram to the Fair Campaign Practices committee in New York protesting the ad on the grounds it linked Iowa Democrats with "racial hatred, discrimination and segregation."

Criticized Governor

The Bystander ad criticized Gov. Herschel Loveless for failure to replace the late Douglas Miller, retired Negro messenger, with "a deserving Negro Democrat." The ad also said, "Iowa Democrats help Dixie Democrats control congress."

Democratic Club

Public protest also came from the executive board of the Roosevelt Democratic club, Negro political organization, which said, "Gov. Loveless correctly stated that any Negro aspires to something better than a messenger's job." The protest was signed by Joseph W. Wimberly, chairman and Luther T. Glanton, Jr., secretary.

Victims Appeal Fines After Challenging Laws to Assign Jim Crow Seats

New York.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has assigned agents to look into the unprovoked arrest and detention in Birmingham of three Montgomery clergymen. Announcement of the FBI probe followed receipt of a telegram from NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins urging the Department of Justice "to make a prompt and thorough investigation" of the case.

3 Ministers

The three Baptist ministers—Rev. Solomon S. Seay, executive secretary, Montgomery Improvement Association, and the Reverends H. H. Hubbard and A. W. Wilson—were arrested on Oct. 27 in the home of Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth who had been previously arrested for refusal to move from a seat on a bus on orders of the driver. Arrested with Rev. Shuttlesworth were the Reverends S. J. Phifer and A. B. Jackson and 11 other Birmingham Negro citizens, including four women, who joined in challenging a local ordinance delegating to bus drivers the power to assign seats on a Jim Crow basis.

Shocking Abuse

In a telegram, dated Oct. 28, to United States Attorney General William P. Rogers, Wilkins called the arrests "a shocking abuse of police power and a flagrant violation of the ministers' constitutional rights." He cited press statements attributed to the "Notorious Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor

We Are Not Turning Back Wilkins Tells Ark. NAACP

Little Rock, Ark.—"The NAACP is not turning back or even to one side. We must resist the temptation to backslide. Victory is near at hand, nearer than some of us think," stated Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the national NAACP in a speech before the Arkansas NAACP Sunday.

"It is hard to watch some of the white students getting some little education while your own high school students are shut out of school by your Governor," he said.

Own School?

"Some have wondered whether colored citizens should not set up a school of their own," he continued. "This we cannot do. We cannot ourselves finance Jim Crow schools or choose deliberately to set up the kind of system which has been ruled illegal."

Attorneys Ready

"The integration leader assured his audience, 'There will be a next move. Our attorneys tell us they will be ready when the decision comes down from the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.'"

Wilkins praised Negroes in the South who in the face of "threats, bombs, loss of jobs and income," for presenting a solid front.

Dictatorship

"We cannot fight Soviet dictatorship and practice dictatorship at home," he declared. "If America is to remain free, she must remain strong . . . which she cannot do if one-tenth of her people are denied equal opportunity to contribute the best of their brains and energies to the common good."

Final Decisions Near on Site for Housing Relocation

The two weeks which were set aside for divergent groups to discuss their recommendations and differences on a proposed eastside housing site—are nearly up, and from the looks of things, they are no closer than they were on Oct. 27. Then, the city council voted unanimously to postpone its final decision on the 15-acre tract recommended by the Urban Renewal Board for slum clearance.

After several meetings with the Human Rights commission, which has been one of the major objectors of the site on the grounds it "extends a neighborhood already labeled Negro," the Renewal board has given every indication it will still recommend the area when it meets tomorrow.

Rights Commission

The Rights commission recommended three other tracts, which the Renewal board agreed "would be good to go into and build low-cost housing", but do not consider any of them slum or blighted areas. (An area must be so designated in order to qualify for federal-aid urban renewal).

City Council

Hard on the heels of the Renewal board's final recommendation, will come the final decision for the city council, which is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 10. Delay by the council had been asked by the commission

Discredited State

These statements, the NAACP leader told the Attorney General, "clearly reveal" Conner's "intention to create an explosive situation. This will further discredit his state and the country in the eyes of the entire world at a time when America can ill afford another shameful denial of human rights by officials of the State of Alabama."

Wilkins called upon the Justice Department "to take appropriate steps to protect the civil rights of citizens in Alabama." The matter, he said, "is urgent since Conner's threat plainly signals a reign of terror against Negro citizens."

Vagrancy Charges

In response to Wilkins' telegram, W. Wilson White, assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department's civil rights division, gave assurance that "if report of preliminary investigation in progress establishes basis for federal action, all appropriate steps will be taken by the Department."

The Montgomery clergymen were held on vagrancy charges for nearly five hours by the Birmingham police. They were released after being lectured by the police and warned against "agitating" in Birmingham.

Fine Appealed

Meanwhile Rev. Shuttleworth was given a 90-day jail sentence and fined $100 by Recorder's Court Judge William C. Conway. Mr. Phifer was sentenced to 60 days and fined $100. Both were released in $300 bond pending appeal of the cases. The others in their group were given 180-day suspended sentences and warned that they would be locked up again if they violated the city ordinance permitting bus drivers to assign seats.

Dr. Njoroge attributes his newly found success to Americans in California who helped him with his medical studies. But most of all, he's particularly proud of the 14 year old kid from Rye, N. Y. who wrote to him 13 years ago and first encouraged him to want to come to America.

Pen Pal

That kid first wrote to him about the wild animals in Kenya and what the young Africans played instead of baseball. When Njoroge answered, he also told him how he longed to become a doctor and wanted to know about American scholarships. The American boy then had many suggestions and though none of them worked, they kept his hopes alive enough until he could get to America.

Monument

"In some ways," says Doctor Njoroge, "This all-African hospital will be a monument to the worth and effectiveness of the pen pal movement." He's hoping one day to find that boy, who must be 29 now, who gave him his first encouragement—all by mail.

A. Phillip Randolph, Labor Exec.-Dean, Called Leader of Nations 17 Million Negroes

Chicago. — Asa Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and an AFL-CIO vice president, is the number one leader of the nation's 17 million Negroes, according to an article in the November issue of EBONY Magazine.

Randolph's stature as the leader of Negroes can be measured by the honor of being selected as lead-off spokesman by three other members of the Negro delegation that met with President Eisenhower at the White House on June 23.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 28th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

This week we are presenting our "bouquet of roses" to Miss Alberta Miller, who graduated from Des Moines Tech last June after compiling a commendable record both at Valley High and Tech. The 18-year-old lass with the pleasing personality was the only Negro in her class to graduate in the upper 15 percent of her class. As it turned out she was the only Negro to achieve that scholastic standing in all graduating classes.

Scholarships

Because of her academic achievements she was received two scholarships, one to Simpson College and another to any school of her choice. Now she says that choice is Drake University, where she plans to enter night classes beginning next semester.

Stenographer

Following her graduation at Tech she sought and landed employment at Younkers department store and several weeks later began as an elevator girl. On Sept. 3, she was transferred into the office where she works as stenographic-secretary in the credit department.

Letters in Sports

Alberta finds a lot of time for other activities. Even when she was in high school she participated in sports compiling five letters in basketball and once played in the state tournament. A member of Corinthian Baptist church she was also runner-up in the 1957 NAACP contest for queen.

Community

Other activities in the community include vice-president of the Willkie House Council, and former president of the Willkie House Collegiate club and participates also in skating and volleyball. Other hobbies and sports of which she is just as enthusiastic and cooking and tennis.

She resides with her mother, Mrs. Evelyn A. Carter at 127 10th Street in West Des Moines.

Romantic Ideas, Sacred Taboos Poses Problems For Research on Marriage, Family Living

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Eleanore Luckey, SUI Assistant Professor

"Why don't you scientists get busy and find out what's wrong with the modern American family? If we want a satellite put in an orbit, science does that; if we want a better cake mix put in a box, science does that? Why can't we learn how to put marriages in the orbit? Why can't we find the ingredients that make good adolescents, and that make delinquents?"

"Why can't we work out some method of prediction for marriage failure or success before it happens?"

Research

These are some of the questions many of us are asking the social scientist. Because we are so aware of the significance of the contributions that research makes to our daily lives, we are eager for scientific investigations to reveal what we would like to know about family living. Questions of this kind ought to be answerable, it seems. And within the last 15 years many researchers have diligently sought the answers. But science has rough going when it comes to learning "The Truth" about the American family.

Family life has long been considered personal and private if not all but sacred. Sex is an integral part of family living and is an area of study that is highly taboo. Outside of the Kinsey reports, which have their glaring deficiencies, very little is known about American sexual behavior. We aren't happy about the scientist's even asking such personal questions.

Romantic Ideas

Another hindrance to family research is our incurably romantic ideas about love and marriage. Falling in love, finding the "one and only," loving forever and a day in the same old way—such sentiments clutter up what the social scientist calls his frame of reference.

In spite of such difficulties, however, science is learning considerable about what makes marriages and families tick. Not all of the answers will be applicable to our particular families, not all of them will be the final word—but family life and marriage is an area which can be and is being investigated scientifically.

A & T to Observe 67th Anniversary Nov. 7

Greensboro, N. C.—A & T College will celebrate its 67th anniversary in special ceremonies scheduled for annual Founders Day on Friday, November 7.

Dr. Joseph F. Drake, president of the Alabama A & M College at Normal, Ala., will deliver the main address. A long time friend of the late D. F. D. Bluford, former president of A & T, Dr. Drake has held his present post since 1927. A graduate of Talladega College in Alabama, he holds the M. A. degree from Columbia University and Ph. D. degree from Cornell University.

The observance will be climaxed with the unveiling of a life size bust of Dr. Bluford, executed by Isaac Hathaway of Montgomery, Ala., and made possible by contributions from faculty, staff and students at the college. The bust is to be placed in the main foyer of the Bluford Library, named in honor of the deceased president.

NAACP Campaigns Against "Right to Work" Statute

New York.—In Compliance with a resolution adopted at the annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, local NAACP units in Ohio and California have conducted vigorous campaigning against the "right to work" propositions up for a vote in those states on election day, Nov. 4.

Thousands of copies of the Association's pamphlet, "Right to Work" Laws and the Negro Worker, have been distributed in both states. Also widely distributed was a statement by Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins asserting that "the very people who have blocked passage of a fair employment practices act in Congress are the people who are backing the deceitful 'right to work'."

Industrial Tour

Herbert Hill, the Association's labor secretary, made a tour of the major industrial centers in Ohio including Toledo, Canton and Columbus speaking before NAACP branches, churches and trade unions urging a vote against the "right to work" proposal. "These laws," he told his audiences, "not only endanger the organized labor movement but have a detrimental effect on the rights of colored wage earners and the economic well-being of the entire Negro community."

In California

In California, Franklin H. Williams, West Coast regional secretary-counsel, has conducted an extensive state-wide campaign in opposition to the proposal. He has spoken in many of the state's industrial centers setting forth the NAACP proposal before numerous religious, civic, labor and fraternal organizations as well as before NAACP branch meetings.

From what I have heard, the night before Halloween . . . Trick or Treat night, was enjoyed by both the young and old. We overheard one tot, on his first night out, enthused as he eyed his bulging bag of "spoils." "This is just like Christmas . . . only there ain't any toys." Rather succinctly, though a little ungrammatically, put, we thought.

And speaking of Holidays do you realize there is only three more weeks until Thanksgiving and seven more until Christmas? If you don't believe it, check your calendar! On the morning following Halloween, some of the downtown stores were bringing out boxes of Christmas decorations and paraphernalia. A little early we think but there you are.

You know, I thought I had seen all there was to see in the current hoop fad. Besides, energetic exercise for all who twirl them, I thought there wasn't much you could do with them but roll them, throw them jump them—and drop them.

LAMB STARS IN SKILLET MEAL

Like to relax a bit before dinner? Take the long-time partners—lamb chops and pineapple; add a covered skillet—old favorite heavy iron, colorful new porcelain-coated cast aluminum, or versatile automatic electric skillet; and there you have it—thirty precious minutes of freedom from the kitchen at a time you are usually chained to the range.

This easy-to-do skillet meal makes use of low-cost, meaty, full-of-flavor shoulder lamb chops. Tender enough to be oven-broiled or pan-fried, accommodating as oven and casserole meals, these shoulder chops are a good buy any time of the year.

LAMB SKILLET MEAL

Using 1 lamb shoulder chop for each serving, melt small amount of butter in heavy skillet and brown chops over moderate heat, turning once. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, a dash of powdered thyme, minced parsley. Add half slices or cut pieces of canned pineapple, and, if desired, raw carrots cut in finger-sized strips. Pour in ¼ cup of the pineapple syrup, more if liquid cooks low. Cover tightly and cook very slowly until fork-tender, about 35 minutes for ¾-inch thick lamb chops. Serve hot with steamed rice and a tossed green salad.

HIGH GROUND IN ATHLETIC EVENTS

The Iowa University football team defeated the Michigan Wolverines in a remarkably well played game Saturday. It was a victory long overdue for the Hawkeyes had not defeated Michigan since 1924.

From Iowa's standpoint, the spectators witnessed some of the most spectacular backfield performances ever seen in the Big Ten.

It so happened that two of these speedsters are Negroes, one is white.

In his appearance on TV Sunday afternoon, Hawkeye Coach Forest Evashevski, in his praise of these young men said that each was happy over his achievement, but was quick to say that he could not have done the job without the terrific blocking and running of interference by their teammates.

This is certainly fine spirit and helps to compensate for the hard work required in this extra curricular activity in College.

The practice of white and Negro boys learning to block and run interference for each other in college for the common good of the team, is an excellent example of racial cooperation. It cannot happen in segregated schools. As they so often learn this in school, it is easier to do it after graduation.

In fact, the lesson taught here is good for humanity in general. There comes a time in life when every fellow needs a block thrown or some interference run so as to clear the path in order to reach a goal.

It is hard to get very far without both.

Again, good sports continue to lead the way for sportsman-like conduct.

BYSTANDER HERALDED
ON STAND FOR RIGHTS

Last Friday, the Iowa Bystander was heralded across the nation because the chairman of the State Democratic Committee complained that a political ad appearing in the October 30th issue, raised the race issue and constituted unfair campaign tactics.

The Bystander does not wish to get into a jingle about this ad because the criticism was directed to the Republican Campaign Committee.

However, the Bystander cannot stand idly by and allow this criticism to go unchallenged because the factual material in the ad is true. The issue of civil rights, which the chairman calls the race issue, is very much alive today, so much so that President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and former President Truman dwelt upon the subject in their campaign speeches. And as late as Monday, November 3, campaign material, in the form of news releases, was received at the Bystander office from both Democratic and Republican National Committees defending their position on civil rights.

That same issue carried an ad inserted by the Democrats urging Negro citizens to vote Democratic, the best party for their civil rights.

The Republican National Committee reprinted for distribution the speech of Senator Sparkman of Alabama to his state's American Legion convention it was printed in the ad. Circulars were distributed by the committee showing that Southern Democrats controlled the important committees in Congress and that this was not for the best interest of Iowa farmers and business men; that to vote Democratic would help maintain that position and it was on the same basis of reasoning that this ad said that to vote Democratic helped the Faulstichs—and that Faulstichs were those who favored and spoke out in favor of segregation and discrimination.

The position assumed in this complaint implies that men should keep quiet when their rights are at stake. The campaign for civil rights has gone on for years and it has meant a lot only since Democrats got the courage to take a decent stand in their favor.

DEMOCRATIC SWEEP

Democrats, running true to predictions, won a sweeping victory in Iowa as well as over the nation.

Governor Loveless won a second term much on the advocacy by Republican Murray of a three per cent sales tax. As much as some means of raising additional funds by the state to assist local schools is needed, it is difficult to win on an increase in taxes when most people feel they are already overburdened.

Now that the election and political arguments are over, Americans must get back to normal for tremendous problems await them both in state, national and international affairs.

Hilltop Tennis Classes
Get Underway Here

Last Saturday the Hilltop Tennis Club held the third session of its fourth annual free tennis classes at the Willkie House with the largest attendance—21—since the classes originated. Because of the enrollment instructors have had to work in shifts.

An interesting feature of these classes, which are sponsored by the Willkie House and the Hilltop Tennis club, is that only seven of the 21 persons are over 13 years of age. Donations to the classes include two rackets, one net and two pressies by Mr. and Mrs. Everett, Newcomb; two rackets by Mr. and Mrs. Rozenting Hardaway, and two rackets each from Messrs. AGGIES WIN FIRST
HOMECOMING IN 10 YEARS
OVER MORGAN, 20-2

Greensboro, N. C.—The A & T College Aggies won their first homecoming clash in 10 years last Saturday, by defeating the Morgan State College Bears of Baltimore, 20-2 in the mud and rain at Memorial Stadium.

Little Howard Smith, senior quarterback, starred in the victory which brought to a close a decade of confusion and frustration in homecoming trials by the locals. He pitched one TD pass, set the stage for a second, and made two long runs when apparently trapped. His 55-yard runback of the opening second half kickoff set up the second touch down. A 62-yard run contributed to the Morgan loss.

He got lots of help from the Aggie forward wall which was superb on defense. Fine line play by ends Jim Toon and Burnie McQueen, tackle Melvin Richardson and guard William Fowler were an important factor in the win.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

Frank Massey is probably the number one Iowa rooster. All you have to do is suggest that the Hawks won't win and Frank's hand flashes to his hip pocket; out comes his billfold and he wants to know for how much. Well we asked the Massey fellow last Friday what he thought of Iowa and Michigan. The old optimist agreed that Fleming is a breakaway runner who hadn't really got going. "This could be his day," Frank said.

Dangerous Opponents

Everyone who could read now knows what Fleming and Jeter did to the Wolverines. Now, so you won't give Iowa the Rose Bowl and National title, let us remind you that the team faces two of the best. Ohio State is still a dangerous top notch ball club, capable of defeating anyone on a good day and that includes Iowa.

Notre Dame

Injury ridden Notre Dame will have all its cripples back by November 22 and when they are sound they just belong among the top ten polls or no polls. So let's wait and hope for the best.

High School

Did you see the East-Roosevelt game last week? That was the first game that we saw East actually trying. But, that pass and lateral on the first play did it. That play is probably the oldest pass variation in football. We used it as kids thirty-five years ago, and it wasn't new then.

North is a hustling young team and may well take East this weekend. The North-Dowling game was an interesting one from the start. Would like to have seen it.

The Cage season is not too far off. Wonder who will make the club around here. They have some jim dandy games at the Willkie House leagues. Have to see a few of them.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Asian Flu Again?

On one day in November last year, more than six million of us were sick in bed—most of us suffering from Asian flu. Indications are that the bug may be back again this year, although not in as bad a form.

The 1958 model will be a different strain of the flu virus. It probably won't hit as many of us, and it won't hit as hard. However, at this writing, no one is making absolute predictions. None of us who went through it last year want to repeat the misery. You'll remember that it usually started like a common cold. Then came fever, headache, the "tired all over" feeling, aching muscles and joints.

Biggest Health Problem

Even without an epidemic of Asian flu, the acute respiratory diseases will be our biggest health problem in the next few months. Last year respiratory ailments such as influenza, the pneumonias, and colds accounted for 190,000,000 days in bed for the American people. And,

Speed Enables Iowa to Spank Wolverines
37-14 . . . First Victory in Over Three Decades

Ann Arbor, Michigan—With their aerial attack rendered ineffective by staunch Michigan forces, speed became the Iowa Hawkeyes' inevitable, alternative, weapon that served them well in their 37-14 lashing of the Wolverines here Saturday. . . . a feat that was more than three decades in coming.

Speed Personified

Strong defenses from both sides made the first moments of the contest a sparring match toward the goal post. But suddenly like a bolt of lightning flashing across the blue, the green of the football field was transformed into a speedway where speed became personified in Willie Fleming as he grabbed a spiraling punt and with spinning, whirling and needle-threading motions, in varying gears, zoomed past Michigan obstructionists for 72-yards and Iowa's first touchdown.

Wolverines

And so it all began. The Hawks were off to the races. For only minutes later Ray Jauch showed his stuff in a 74-yard run that made the score 14-0. . . . Iowa. . . . after two of Bob Prescott's Conversions. But the steamed-up Wolverines didn't want it that way and scored on a sixty seven yard march that tallied the score at 14-6 at the half way mark. After Iowa's kickoff in the second half Michigan moved onward to tie the game at 14 all with a TD and a two point conversion. And things became bleak and somber again for Iowa.

Jeter Sprints

But speed, Iowa's kind benefactor, brightened things up again when after a Michigan fumble on the Hawks three-yard line Bob Jeter sprinted across for a tally. After another Hawkeye surge Jeter finished.

of course, many of us didn't go to bed with every cold we had.

You should go to bed if influenza strikes. The illness itself may not seem so bad, but rest is important to prevent the development of more serious secondary infections such as pneumonia. Your doctor may isolate you to help check spread of the flu among family and friends.

Milder This Year

Since the disease will probably be milder this year, vaccination may not be necessary. Get your doctor's advice. For protection against all the respiratory ailments, be sure every member of your family gets enough sleep, rest, and outdoor recreation. See that they get plenty of the protective foods: milk, eggs, meat, and vegetables.

If flu epidemic should develop, watch your newspaper for advice and instructions from public health officials. Keep your doctor informed if any unusual symptoms develop.

ished the job with a rapid twenty four yard jaunt.

Mr. Flemming

And just as Flemming had started it all with a 72-yard run he ended it in somewhat lesser fashion with a 61-yard touchdown sprint. All in all Mr. Flemming the speedster from the automotive city of Detroit, had quite a field day for himself and Iowa amassing a phenomenal total of 240 yards for the day. z Mighty Iowa rolls on. They roll into Minnesota next week to take on the lowly Gophers who most likely will be trying to spank the high Hawks and thus improve their status and raise their heads above water.

I WALKED

I walked a mile with sorrow
And never heard one word.
But when I walked with happiness
I sang with every bird.
Someone spoke of Jesus
As they passed me on my way,
So now I know, the way I go
And beauty fills my day.

I'VE LEARNED

I've learned—as years roll onward,

and I leave my past behind,
How much I paid for sorrow,
and the woes that plague mankind
That the many blossoms reached for —had a hidden thorn of pain!
And lots of rugged by-paths—
led to fields of ripened grain.
The clouds can cover sunshine,
but they cannot banish sun.
And the earth comes out much brighter, when the storms and rain are done.

When we stand in deepest sorrow—then we see in deepest sorrow then we see in clearest light.

Just how often, from wrongs' darkness, comes the greatest strength for right.
So the heart, from pain and trial, builds the deepest joy of all.
From the lips that tasted sorrow
the sweetest songs may fall.
As the peace comes after suffering and there's loves' rewards for pain.

After earth—there is the heavens;
out of loss, . . . there comes great gain.

Chamberlain, Hailed by Many as Greatest Cager of All Time, Averages 30 Points Per Game

Chicago.—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, hailed by many experts as basketball's greatest player of all time, averaged 30 points a game in his first month as a professional.

The $65,000 Harlem Globetrotter rookie has been just as brilliant in the pro ranks as he was at the University of Kansas last season. He has maintained an amazing .799 shooting average and his rebound performances have been no less than sensational. When owner-coach Abe Saperstein signed the great 7-footer last summer at the highest salary in basketball history he called Chamberlain "the greatest player of all time."

Now after watching The Stilt during his first month with the dazzling Globetrotters, Saperstein is more convinced than ever that that statement is true.
