Negro Originated Idea of Reclaiming Iron from Slag

Gary, Ind.—Two men, one white, one Negro, whose cooperation will add up to the reclamation of unnumbered tons of iron, were awarded $10,000 each by the United States Steel Corporation here today. Oscar M. Dansler and Salvatore Lumella, both employed in the blast-furnace division of the Corporation's Gary Steel Works, have worked together for more than 15 years.

Furnace Keeper

Mr. Dansler, a furnace keeper, is one of the pillars of the Negro community in Gary. He was born on a farm in Morrell, Ark., in 1897, and was working in sawmills when he began work as a cinder snapper in the blast furnace division.

The father of two children, Mr. Dansler is a cornerstone member of the Galilee Baptist church. He teaches Sunday school for young adults, along with his wife who heads that department of the church work, and serves as a member of the board of deacons.

Italian Descent

Mr. Lumella is of Italian descent and has literally been reared in the tradition of steelmaking. As was the case with his fellow-worker, he also began his work with the Gary Steel

Union Donates $10,000 to Aid in Civil Rights Fights

New York, N. Y.—More than $10,000 raised by members of District 65, RWDSU of AFL-CIO for civil rights causes was presented Nov. 5 to Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the legal Defense and Education Fund of the NAACP, at the union's headquarters in New York. The money was part of a total fund of $40,000 contributed by the 30,000 members of the union celebrating their 25th anniversary. Other contributions went to charities and $10,000 to aid Israel.

Living Democracy

Mr. Marshall told the unionists, "It is not only the money you give us to carry on the fight for real democracy in America which we appreciate, but even more, the example of living democracy which you set every day in your own great organization. We wish that everyone could know District 65 as we do—as one of the very few places in our country where people practice the high principle of brotherhood."

Who's Who in Iowa

Charlene Wharton Is New Director of Willkie House With International Experience

This is the 39th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)
By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Charlene Wharton, Willkie House's new director, is a career social worker who has had wide varied experience in every facet of her profession, generously seasoned with international service and travel. Her commendable achievements as director of community centers in the United States and with service clubs abroad are testimony to her leadership and organizing abilities.

New Community

Miss Wharton believes in getting things done, and it especially applies to getting acquainted with a new community. Since she came here two weeks ago from Detroit, Mich., where she has served with Family Service, she has already gleaned more firsthand knowledge of the city than some people do in two months or even a year.

"Whenever I go to a new place I always visit the libraries first," she said. "Then I visit the churches and other places of interest."

Driven Over City

She revealed she has already visited the Des Moines library, Art Center, State Capital and during moments of sparetime has driven over the city in her car to all sections of Des Moines—East, South, North and West—and calls off names of main shopping centers, residential areas and streets, like a longtime resident.

Other Centers

In addition to Detroit, Miss Wharton has served as director of community centers in

Seeks Anti-Bombing Statute To Protect Homes

New York.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is urging that proposed antidynamite legislation be broadened to include protection of homes and businesses, as well as churches and schools.

The Association's Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting on Nov. 10 approved an amendment to the bill introduced in the 85th Congress by Senator John Kennedy and Representatives Emmanuel Celler and Kenneth Keating with a view to expanding the scope of the measure.

Federal Crime

The Kennedy-Celler-Keating proposal would make it a federal crime to transport explosives across state lines or to use explosives so transported "with the knowledge or intent that it will be used to damage or destroy any building for the purpose of interfering with its use for educational, religious, charitable, or civic objectives or of intimidating any person pursuing such objectives."

The amendment approved by the NAACP Board would insert the words "residential business" in the text of the measure. Almost two-thirds of the buildings maliciously dynamited since January, 1955 were homes, mostly of Negroes. It was pointed out.

Supporting Groups

Other organizations supporting legislation to curb dynamiting include the American Jewish Congress, AFL-CIO, and the Anti-Defamation League. New interest in the measure was stimulated by the dynamiting of integrated schools in Osage, W. Va., and Clinton, Tenn., and synagogues in Atlanta, Ga., and Peoria, Ill.

Senators Keating and Jacob Javits have indicated that they will introduce legislation to stop hate-inspired bombings early in the 86th Congress.

DR. FOSTER TO SERVE ON WHITE HOUSE CONFAB

Tuskegee, Ala.—Dr. L. H. Foster, President, Tuskegee Institute, has accepted an invitation from President Eisenhower to serve as a member of the National Committee for the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth.

The first meeting of the National Committee will be held in Washington on Dec. 16-18. Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, is serving as planning chairman.

Two Boys Sent to Reform School for Kissing White Girl

Monroe, N. C.—The President of the United States was asked to intervene in the case of two youngsters who were sentenced Nov. 3 to indefinite terms at the Morrison training school for Negro boys and girls. The crime—kissing a seven-year-old white girl.

The two boys, Hannover Thompson, 9, and Fuzzy Simpson, 8, allegedly kissed the girl as she walked home from school. Making the plea to President Eisenhower, (who had no immediate comment) in behalf of the boys was Robert L. Williams, Sr., president of the Union county chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Jungle Called Dixie

In his telegram Williams said: "Please tell me, Mr. President, when Negroes may expect your justice department to introduce the Fourteenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution to this social jungle called Dixie."

Williams, while saying both boys had been "in trouble" before, contended the boys were tried without benefit of counsel, and that they were not allowed to confront their accuser. He also said he was not allowed in the courtroom during the brief trial.

Washington, D. C.—Birmingham became the second Alabama city scheduled for a federal hearing when Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced Thursday a federal grand jury investigation into the arrest of Negro Ministers in Birmingham. Rogers told a news conference he ordered a grand jury investigation when Eugene Connor, Birmingham's commissioner of public safety, refused to discuss the matter with agents of the F.B.I. and instructed police to follow his example.

Arrests

The incident the grand jury will investigate occurred Oct. 27 when the Reverends S. S. Seay, A. W. Wilson, and H. H. Hubbard, all from Montgomery, Ala., were held several hours on vagrancy charges by Birmingham police. They were later released and the charges dropped.

Bus Segregation

Prior to their arrest, the ministers were active leaders in challenging new bus segregation ordinances giving the drivers power to assign seats on a Jim Crow basis. They were arrested in Birmingham (where the same issue existed) at the home of the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth. Rev. Shuttlesworth later was given a 90-day jail sentence and a $100 fine for violating the ordinance.

Montgomery First

Montgomery became the first city to be slated to come under federal scrutiny when the Civil Rights Commission announced plans the day before for an open hearing Dec. 8 on alleged denial of voting rights to Negroes.

Considering Legislation

Rogers also announced the justice

Initiated Idea
The suggestion has to do with drawing off iron from slag which would, ordinarily, be recovered only as scrap. The two men, long-time friends, developed the idea after the thought had come initially to Danser. Essentially, the idea revolves around the placement of a basin which catches iron before it cools.

The interracial team, neither of whom has had extensive formal training, plans to continue cooperating, since, under the suggestion system of U. S. Steel, it is possible for them, through other accepted ideas, to earn additional awards. In commenting upon their earned discovery the two men said:

Oklahoma City Youth Council Enrolls 1800 Membership

New York—With a membership of 1,818, the Oklahoma City NAA-CP youth council is now the largest youth unit in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Herbert L. Wright, the Association's youth secretary, reported last Thursday.

The council closed its annual membership drive this week. A total of $700 was raised for the Association's Freedom Fund. Six junior life members, at $100 each, were recruited. Mrs. Clara Luper, adult adviser to the council, credits Miss Areeda Tolliver, who brought in 355 members, as "the most outstanding worker" in the campaign.

The Oklahoma City youth council has figured prominently in the nation's press recently because of its successful efforts to eliminate segregation at lunch counters and soda fountains in drug stores and department stores in the city. The council's efforts have been hailed by the NAACP Board of Directors, Roy Wilkins, Jackie Robinson, A. Philip Randolph and other leaders in the fight for civil rights.

"All-Around Jimmy Brown," Depicts Life of Cleveland Brown's Pro-Football Player in Nov. 22 Issue of Saturday Evening Post

New York, N. Y.—Jimmy Brown, the National Football League's Rookie of the Year who helped put the Cleveland Browns back on top of the Eastern Division last season, actually prefers Lacrosse. Further than that, Milton Gross relates in the current (Nov. 22) issue of The Saturday Evening Post, Brown considers basketball the easiest sport.

The author's article, "All-Around Jimmy Brown," notes that the ex-Syracuse star speaks with some authority. He achieved All-American status in both football and Lacrosse and was good enough to have his name on the draft list of the Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association.

Baseball Offers

Gross adds that Brown, who also starred in track, played baseball only as a senior at Manhasset, Long Island, High School, but was invited to tryout camps by the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves. In addition, the Post story says, Norman Rothschild, Syracuse boxing promoter, offered Jimmy a $25,000 bonus to try his fists at professional fighting.

Commenting that Brown is one of those fellows who step right in and make a tough business look easy, Gross tells that for most of his 22 years Jimmy Brown's sole advantage in life was his physical equipment.

Georgia Born

Born in a cabin in Georgia, he was reared there by a great-grandmother. Later, he lived at foster consideration, Rogers said, touches on recent bombings of synagogues and schools, actions that he called cowardly.

Race Relations

In the course of this news conference, Rogers disagreed with a reporter's suggestion that race relations have deteriorated in the past year. On the contrary, the attorney general said, he feels that there has been a great deal of improvement, adding: "There are hopeful signs in Virginia, for example."

Expresses Concern

Rogers expressed concern over what he described as an increase in the volume of hate mail. He called this "another indication of illness on the part of certain people," and said he will do everything he can to curtail it.

He also expressed concern over what he called defiance of court decisions in school desegregation cases.

homes in the North and many of his fellow students at Manhattan were from families for whom his mother worked as a maid.

Gross relates that Brown went to Syracuse with no athletic scholarship or other aid in his freshman year. His expenses were paid by home-town sponsors. In a sense, they had adopted a homeless boy.

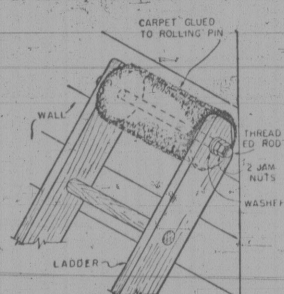

Natural Gifts

Because of his background, Brown is found to have concentrated on a super-proficiency in sports and Gross says that he worked so hard at developing his natural gifts that he came to rank with men like Jackie Robinson, Bob Mathias and Jim Thorpe among the greatest all-around athletes of our time. Meanwhile, some Cleveland opponents no doubt wish that Brown had stuck with Lacrosse for he is again making life miserable for them.

For Protecting Walls

ANOTHER use for an old rolling pin is illustrated by courtesy of the professional builders' magazine, American Builder. The rolling pin has been installed at the top of a ladder to be used in painting a house. It has been covered with a piece of carpeting glued in place.

Other operations required to make this improvement, which simplifies the moving of the ladder and prevents scratching the wall, include the drilling of a hole through the center of the pin, lengthwise, and the insertion of a long threaded rod or bolt. Washers and jam nuts are then attached to hold the rolling pin firmly in place.

SEE IN STARS

WITH DELORES CALVIN

New York—(CNS)—IF WE PUT OUR MONEY WHERE OUR MOUTH IS . . . That's an old saying that you've heard over and over with variations but never has it been so true as in showbusiness. Top name stars have moaned so often about not being treated right in the theater, and in the movies and that they could be big box office stars, etc. and etc. and etc. . . But they never put any money or gather any money together to prove what they can do. They have to wait for others to put the money up.

Harry Belafonte

Harry Belafonte is a guy after our own hearts. He's putting up the money and he's producing what he thinks will sell, and not what another Hollywood producer thinks. Even if what he produces should fail—and somehow we think Harry has the midas touch so that it just won't—even if it does, he will have set an example in showing what possibilities as box office.

Two-on-A-Seesaw

There's been many a story on Broadway, many a story on the screen that haven't required too much money. $20,000 it took to produce the sensationally successful "Two-on-A-Seesaw" with a cast of two on Broadway. Some "sleepers" have almost been singly financed in the movies and have been highly successful, too, but we as Negroes would rather talk about how they ought to spend their and star us than how we ought to get our own together and star ourselves and see if it will make money.

Lloyd Nolan

Belafonte's show is called "Odds Against Tomorrow." He has in mind veteran actor Lloyd Nolan to take the role of a crooked fight manager who forces a Negro and a white boy. Harry wants, is the ne wbox office Harry wants, is the ne wbox office Harry wants, is the ne wbox office attraction, Tony Franciosa, and you know he might just get this popular star on his terms, because there are a few in Hollywood—as in other places in business—who will go along with you if you have the guts to start out on your own.

Roy Leonard Rollins Auxiliary Meets

Sidney Poitier has no intention of letting Paul Robeson be known as the only great Othello. He's going to do the role himself and in Robeson's back yard—England. . . . Ruthe Campanella was as radiant as we have seen her in a long, long time at the Copacabana the night before Campy was to be released from the hospital. Ruthe has had her share of troubles, but she seemingly forgot all about them, and realized how wonderful it was going to be to have Roy at home. She and Campy were celebrating with Nat King Cole—star of the Copa show.

Amos 'N' Andy

Kingfish of the "Amos 'N' Andy" show is very ill in General Hospital, its reported. . . . We have a Nigerian woman leader in our midst for 60 days. She is Mrs. Margaret Ekpo, the first vice prexy of the National Council for Nigeria. She's doing a fact-finding tour of the U. S. and naturally wants to know about the U. S. Negro.

The Starrette club, federated girl's organization, met at Crescent Beauty school Tuesday, Nov. 11, and held a panel discussion. Plans were also made for the group to hold a Sadie Hawkins Day on the first Friday in December at the Crocker Branch of the YMCA.

Wilt Scores 50 Points Before Hometown Crowd of 13,909

Boston, Mass.—Few, if any, of the standing room crowd of 13,909 who saw the incredible Harlem Globetrotters with Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain spring their razzle dazzle court magic here last week have recovered. The Globetrotters put on one of the greatest basketball exhibitions in Boston history as they breezed to victory over the Hawaii Fifty-Staters, 94 to 83.

50 Points for Wilt

Chamberlain, the former Kansas University All-American and the Trotters' $65,000 scoring fiend, poured

CAMPY'S BACK HOME HOSPITAL DAYS REDUCED

Glen Coye, N. Y.—(CNS)—Roy Campanella is back home with the family and that's about the best medicine he could have at this stage of the game. The paralyzed Dodger Catcher has fought a superhuman task against being bed-ridden for life. Now he'll see the hospital only three days a week for therapy. Roy's plans are still indefinite. For some time after the knew, he would be paralyzed and not likely to play ever again, he's said he couldn't make plans too far ahead. His first job was to get home to his family and then begin to make a living.

News-casting

But he's been doing that with his news-casting program, his column writing. Now it seems that the Dodgers are anxious to have Roy in Los Angeles for spiritual guidance as much as for his managerial ability. How far they can go, is not yet known.

Wrote Whole Page

The therapy consists of massage and exercises. Campy can grasp a pen and write. As he wrote a whole page, he remarked: "I feel good, mentally and physically. I plan to work as hard as ever on my rehabilitation program." He thanked all the nurses and doctors and other personnel of the hospital in touching humility.

ed in a total of 50 points for Abe Saperstein's delightful crew of zany cagers.

For some time now there has been considerable debate in this area as to whether Big Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics is a better player than Chamberlain, or vice versa.

Russell

Russell is the ex-San Francisco star and now one of the best players in the National pro league. Chamberlain, of course, is the Trotters' new wizard and the highest salaried player in the game. The argument is still raging here this week. Russell, who saw The Stilt in action here, refuses, naturally, to enter the argument. However, he did have volumes of praise for his young rival afterward. He said: "That kid's absolutely uncanny, one of the all-time greats. The fact that the experts compare us is a distinct honor to me."

Children's Reading Habits Start at Home; Depends on When They are Ready to Listen

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

A mother asks: "When shall I begin to read to my son?"

The answer is very simple: "When he will listen." Children vary greatly—one may listen at a year or even younger, another pays no attention till he is two or older.

What to begin with? Rhymes, Jingles, picture books with only a line or two on each page as he turns the page. Lined and cloth books are back in stores now. Pictures of familiar things in the child's life will appeal most. Bright colors are a necessity.

Rhymes and Poems Mother Goose rhymes have delighted so many children and are a part of our heritage as an English-speaking people. Let's not deprive our children of them. The A. A. Milne poems, as do those of Leslie Brooks and Robert Louis Stevenson, follow Mother Goose naturally.

Enjoy the nonsense rhymes of Edward Lear with your children. They have delighted both children and adults for generations.

Animal Stories

As the child grows older, he can listen for a longer time. Bring in stories of animals, including the Peter Rabbit series. They delight the three-year-old. There are also stories about dogs and cats, the policeman, the postman, about cars and trucks, and many, many things in the child's world. Children get their first knowledge and keen enjoyment of books at home.

Library

Consult your librarian, your teachers. If there is no library in your town, write the Travelling Library

Assault and Battery

Gilbert Alexander Gaines, 31, of 1342 McCormick, will appear before a hearing tomorrow (Friday) in Municipal court on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. He was jailed Nov. 11 in connection with the severe beating of his wife.

Building a Greater Iowa

Where People Live Longer

Iowa stands second in the nation in percentage of population aged 65 and over... a wonderful record, a tribute to our Iowa way of life. With our agricultural economy we avoid the ups and downs of other areas. Jobs are stable here, hence less worry for people, and a longer, happier life. In both these categories the brewing industry makes a real contribution. It helps stabilize our farm income, buying nationally over $240,000,000.00 worth of farm products every year for brewing purposes. It helps stabilize Iowa's business picture, too, with over $30,000,000.00 a year in Iowa payrolls, and $34,000,000.00 per year in Iowa business expenditures. In this, as in so many other ways we can truly say...

...the Brewing Industry helps build Iowa

Enrolled Members

"It was found that 44 had enrolled members of minority groups," the survey indicated. Twenty-nine had from one to ten, and six had more than 10 such members. Specific groups mentioned were Japanese, Puerto Ricans, Negroes, Spanish, Indian, and Latvian.

The report continues, "Seventy churches stated they do have people of minority groups living in the vicinity of the church. Sixty nine had none.

Official Action

"It is interesting to note 88 of the churches have taken official action by the governing board to admit any person, regardless of race, color, or national origin; 27 taken no official action; and 24 excluded themselves by stating the occasion had never arisen.

"Sixty-five churches indicated no minority group people attended while 49 did have such attendance; 25 indicated occasional attendance and these churches were situated close to one of the colleges in the community."

Human Understanding

As to programs in churches to prepare people for human understanding, the report went on, "A shocking fact is that 48 felt no special understanding is needed."

Another part of the survey dealt with the Urban Renewal program and the Free-way. "Eighty-four churches could not see how these programs in the community would necessarily affect them at all. The others indicated concern and interest all the way from the fact 'the free-way will remove our church,' to some churches that long for Urban Renewal to come to them to better their condition," the survey indicated.

Added Energy for Football Players

EVERY FOOTBALL TEAM HAS SUBSTITUTES... but there's no substitute for a good breakfast for providing energy and stamina needed by football players—young and old. So, if your son hasn't made the team this year, it may be that he isn't eating fruit, crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, bread, butter and a beverage each morning.

When he makes that first string team, celebrate by baking a batch of these flavorful Gingerbread Pennants. Made from a simple, wholesome recipe developed in the test kitchens of the Kellogg Company.

GINGERBREAD PENNANTS

- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| 1/4 cup butter or margarine | 1 1/2 cups sifted flour |
| 1/4 cup sugar | 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder |
| 1 egg | 1/4 teaspoon baking soda |
| 1/2 cup molasses | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Brn (ready-to-eat bran) | 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1/2 cup cold strong coffee | 1/2 teaspoon cloves |
| | 1/2 teaspoon ginger |
| 2 cups confectioners' sugar | 3 tablespoons hot milk |
| | 1/4 teaspoon vanilla |

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses, All-Brn and coffee. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices; stir into first mixture. Spread in greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. While cake is still warm, cut into pennant shapes.

Combine sugar with milk; add vanilla and beat well. Letter pennants with icing.

Yield: about 2 dozen pennants. (ANS)

BIG ATHLETIC EVENTS
GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

More than 58,000 watched the Iowa-Ohio State football game—a beautiful sight to witness. In fact, Iowa athletics have drawn tremendous crowds during the past few years simply because the school has produced some excellent teams.

This has not been true all along for, at times prior to Coach Evans' tenure, the support given the then mediocre teams was poor.

This should be a lesson to sports in Des Moines—particularly baseball. During the past few years, attendance has been miserable because of the miserable teams it had. Even loyal sports fans find it difficult to support a poor team.

These large crowds do something for the people. They not only provide a means of letting out energy of the youngsters, but they also give tired people an opportunity to ease up their nerves and forget for a moment the hard grinds that present-day occupations require.

In most cases the fellow in the next seat you never saw or heard of before. Sometimes he is stiff and rather self-centered. But as the game progresses, he gets into the swing, and before the gong ends the event, everybody becomes a good neighbor. Certainly, sports give a fellow a lift for which there is no substitute.

URBAN RENEWAL
HANDICAPPED AT START

The Des Moines City Council has approved the area selected by the housing commission, upon which is to be built a project to house some of the people who will be displaced by the urban renewal and freeway projects.

The Bystander supported the commission on human rights and the NAACP in their opposition to the site for the reason that it simply enlarges an already existing Negro neighborhood; it is almost totally surrounded by undesirable boundaries. On the other hand, it was selected because it was the cheapest site which could be found.

And the cheapness of the area was the deciding factor. Unfortunately, Des Moines finds itself outside of the opportunity to take advantage of federal low cost housing, and thus the city is called upon to subsidize the occupants of its slum clearance project for at least two years to come.

The Bystander feels that in the final analysis, the council did offer a fair opportunity for everybody to be heard and will provide, by law, some steps to make the project interracial. However, as a practical matter, the results are bound to be disappointing.

If the city hopes to go further in providing urban renewal projects, it will take a mighty long time the way it is going for if lack of cash hinders this small one, adding new ones will be a heavy burden upon the already overburdened taxpayers which they will not wish to bear.

BOTH VIEWS HAVE SOME MERIT HERE

The governor's commission on human rights has been called upon to deal with a most unfortunate situation involving the discharge of a school teacher, Donald E. Laughlin at West Branch. It also involved unfavorably one of its most able and understanding members, Donald E. Johnson, who is looked upon as a business man of unusual interest in human rights. The school board reversed an earlier stand by firing the teacher after Johnson made a protest. Laughlin served in a civilian camp during the last war. He refused to register for the peace time draft in 1948, all because of his religious views for which he served a six-month sentence in federal prison. And thus the commission decided that he was dealt with unjustly because of his religious views.

Unfortunately, the situation was bungled in the beginning.

He should not have been hired in the first place because a teacher or anyone else who refuses to obey the law stands in a bad light. Our laws are meant for every citizen to obey and certainly one who is hired to teach young people is not in a very good position to teach loyalty to the government. In fact, one who attempts to select the laws he will obey and disregard others strikes at the very foundation of society.

The Bystander would be the last to advocate the denial of the rights of any citizen. On the other hand, every citizen owes an obligation to his government. Anyone who refuses to assume his obligations forfeits the protection of his government. For if everybody took a contrary view, there would be no defense organization to protect even the violators against the enemy.

AGGIES ROLL OVER
VIRGINIA STATE 34-6

Greensboro, N. C.—The A&T College Aggies rolled over the Virginia State College Trojans, 34-6, in an important CIAA football game played here last Saturday at Memorial Stadium. The victory moved the Aggies into a two-way tie in the conference flag race with North Carolina College of Durham, the team they will face on Thanksgiving day to settle the affair.

A crowd of more than 13,000, swelled by 7,800 school boys and girls, guests of the college for High School Senior Day, saw the scrap. It was the largest turnout of the season.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

As an old football player watched the guys from Iowa and Ohio State pile into each other last Saturday he wondered if he ever did anything like that. And if he did it was, no wonder he didn't have all his marbles now. That was the hardest blocking and tackling we have seen in a long time. Whether you saw the game in the Stadium, on a closed circuit theater or listened on the radio, you were seeing or hearing what was probably the greatest football game ever played in Iowa.

Certainly it will be a long time before anyone sees two offensive teams such as these.

Small Fullback

There have been enough comments on the game and exploits of Don Clark and Bob White. Iowa could be glad that big Jim Marshall, Ohio State tackle, wasn't playing fullback. That guy handles himself like a small fullback. If we were watching a game with him in the backfield, we'd have to turn our heads whenever he started into the line.

Monday Morning

Monday morning quarterbacks had a field day telling just what Iowa should or should not have done to win that game. We are reminded of the boy who called a play that backfired in his important high school game. Everyone criticized him for it and he agreed that he had flubbed one. "Why?" he was asked. "Well, I didn't have from then to now to think about it and I had only one guess." That is the way we feel about those things.

Opposing Players

These fellows are still kids who are trying their best to win. The quarterback has had eleven opposing players trying their best to make him the main attraction at a funeral, so maybe, he can't think too straight then. Not nearly as straight as someone in a pool hall the next day. Nobody wants to lose.

Open Season

This is the open season on coaches. Can't see how a coach can have four or five winning seasons, lose one or two important games and then suddenly turn out to be no good. So he is fired. Just like baseball managers. It would be interesting to see what Casey Stengel would do with the Washington Senators or the Baltimore Orioles.

Our sympathies are with those coaches of the teams that were once mighty powerhouses. In some cases injuries have wrecked a good team. But still the coach must go.

Notre Dame has most of the crippled back so Iowa better watch out.

Your Pet and TB

What are the chances of your catching tuberculosis from a pet animal? It depends somewhat on the species, but in general the animal runs more risk of getting TB from you.

There are three major strains of tuberculosis germs—human, bovine, and avian. Half a century ago it was only too common for people to be infected with bovine germs by drinking the milk of tuberculous cows. Today it is exceedingly rare in the United States, although still a serious problem in many other countries.

Traced to Man

When a dog develops TB, the infection can more often be traced to man than to another animal. Cats, on the other hand, are seldom infected by their owners. Canaries, too, rarely develop human TB. They're naturally more susceptible to avian TB. Oddly enough, parrots are more susceptible to the human strain of germs than to the bird type.

In Capacity

Wild animals in their native habitat are believed to be free of TB.

Power Laden Ohio State Smashes Past Iowa
Hawkeyes 38-28 in Thrilling Offensive Battle Sat.

Iowa City, Iowa—A record 58,658 fans thrilled to a mighty offensive clash between two mighty football fortresses here Saturday as the Ohio State Buckeyes made power over speed the most potent weapon to victory as they humbled the State University of Iowa Hawkeyes 38-28 in a nip and tuck affair.

Undaunted by the Hawkeyes upper class status as victors in the Big Ten and seemingly unaware of their own lowly status as the underdog in this contest, the Buckeyes capitalized on an early Iowa fumble and scored with only 65 seconds of the game gone.

See-Saw

It was a see-saw across the goals after this. The score was knotted at 7-7 at the quarter, and interlocked at 21-21 at the half. They finished the third quarter at 28-28 and the fourth quarter told the story.

Dominant Power

The Buckeyes power, both in the line and in their backs, took dominance here. Ohio's Bob White, behind the tonnage of beef that was the line, powered his way like a runaway bull toward Iowa's goal. Iowa's own comparatively light line offered resistance, but futilely. And so the Buckeyes made their touchdown and backed it up with a field goal and the but in captivity, exposed to man, they frequently develop the disease. Monkeys appear to be the most susceptible of all animals. Even elephants have been known to die of TB, infected by their human keepers in zoos and circuses. Rodents such as guinea pigs, rabbits, and mice rarely are infected with TB when they're kept as pets. Of course, they can be infected artificially in the laboratory for purposes of scientific investigation.

Human Problem

The modern TB problem is primarily a human problem. If bovine TB can be brought under control and kept that way, human TB can also be controlled. You do your share by making sure no member of your family is infected with TB germs. Your family doctor will give each one the simple tuberculin test. If the test is positive, a chest X-ray and other tests will tell whether active disease is present. With today's methods of treatment cure is almost certain.

Most Lethal Weapon

Thus power, this time, won out over speed. Long has been the controversy in football tactics as to which is the most lethal asset to a team. The grinding, bulldozing king of offense or the speeding illuiveness of backs; or the busting power of the line or the speed, mobility and dexterity of the line. Perhaps the best team would be the one who utilized and possessed these attributes in proper proportions. These seem to be the qualities Ohio State combined against the Hawks Saturday.

Dear Editor:

After reading your editorial in the Bystander issue of Nov. 6, I agree that as the editor of a wonderful newspaper you owe your readers the truth, I have no quarrel with the truth, the whole truth.

However I do not believe that the whole truth lies in what Sparkman said down in Alabama; but in how our northern Republicans and northern Democrats voted on issues affecting our Civil Rights. Since you stated the Faubuses were those who favored and spoke out in favor of segregation, I believe that the manner in which northern Republicans and northern Democrats voted could not describe more nor speak out louder for or against segregation.

As an editor you know better than most how our representatives voted on all issues be they Republicans or Democrats, especially our Iowa Representatives. You must have known how our two Republican Senators voted on the Civil Rights Bill and on the motion to limit filibustering, and you must also have known that only two of our Congressmen had a perfect record on Civil Rights issues.

The lone Democrat and one of the Republicans, that five refused to sign the petition that brought the Civil Rights Bill out of the Committee that four voted for the States Rights bill, that three refused to sign a petition to bring an Anti-Lynching Bill out of a committee, that three voted against a strong F.E.P.C. Bill, that two voted against the Civil Rights Bill, that one voted for a Jim Crow Veterans Hospital invades Iowa City next week to try and emulate the feat of the Buckeyes; but of course the champion Hawkeyes will have their say about that.

Bill, that one voted to segregate the SPARS.

Could it be possible that some Faubuses have crept into the Republican Party?

Editors Note: The editorial simply stated that all who spoke out against integration aided Faubus and that those governors and members of Congress who had done so were Democrats. There is no question about the accuracy of this statement. However, there was no statement that there are no Faubuses in the Republican party. There are!
