COMMITTEE TO COMBAT RACIAL INJUSTICE:

Intervene in Boys' 'Kissing Case'

Waterloooan Held on Manslaughter Charge

In Sunday Slaying Precipitated by Fight Over Sandwich Order

Waterloo, Ia. — Charles Edward Pearson, 33, faced a manslaughter charge Friday because of an argument over a sandwich.

Pearson admitted he shot John E. Harris, 30, during a struggle at the Dixie Barbecue shop, 720 Mobile St., about 1:15 a.m. Friday.

Pearson, who with his brother, Elbert, owns the eating establishment where the shooting took place, said Harris started an argument because Pearson would not make a sandwich for him.

Pearson said he was closing the shop when Harris came in and demanded the sandwich.

The shooting occurred after a short struggle, during which Pearson hit Harris on the head with his revolver. Pearson told police the gun somehow discharged during the scuffle.

Harris was dead on arrival at a hospital. It was believed that the bullet entered his mouth, traveled downward, and lodged in his abdomen. An autopsy was being performed.

Police arrested Pearson at about 3 a.m. at the barbecue shop.

$10,000 Bond

Municipal Court Judge George Sager set bond at $10,000 for Pearson when he appeared for arraignment and asked time in which to consult an attorney.

He was transferred to the county jail at noon.

Harris lived at 615 Cottage St. with a sister, Mrs. Robert Oden.

He was born Feb. 6, 1928, in Pa-

They Were Not Forgotten...

"I was sick and Ye visited me."
"Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye hath done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matt. 25:35.

By FRANCES HAWTHORNE

Due to the thoughtfulness and human kindness of a group of young ladies, eight patients at the Parker nursing home, at 925 W. 18th Street, looked forward to Christmas with anticipation and joy. These young ladies, all married, are members of the Socialite club, an organization just over a year ago.

Monday evening the club came in a body to the Home loaded with gifts, cigarettes and candies. They placed a prettily wrapped present for each patient under the tree. They also brought a lovely American Beauty rose corsage for Mrs. Irma Parker, manager, but she wasn't there to accept.

When Mrs. Parker returned and learned of the girl's thoughtfulness, she was overwhelmed, close to tears but happy and proud.

Wonderful

"What these young girls are doing is a very wonderful thing," she said. "Because of them, my shut-in patients are no longer forgotten."

However, the generosity of the Socialites have not been confined to Christmas. For them it is an all around project. In it they have sought no publicity.

About a year ago one of the members came to Mrs. Parker and asked if they could adopt a patient. Mrs. Parker suggested that her group was small, mingling together in everything, and recommended adoption of the whole group. The Socialites accepted with gladness.

Reading Material

Since then, they have brought the patients magazines, new newspapers, books, and kept them supplied with cigarettes. They also took out a subscription to the Bystander for them.

UNIONIST DIES IN RESCUE ATTEMPT

Memphis, Tenn. — Tragedy struck the Cargill plant in Memphis, when a union man gave his life in an attempt to rescue a fellow union member.

Rebon McCoy Pugh, a member and former president of Local 196 of the Brewery Workers, jumped into a wheat bin when a grain landslide covered Guy Johnson, who had been repairing a break in the bin. Pugh, thinking that Johnson had been buried by the grain, tried to rescue him.

Johnson, however, had been knocked through a hole onto the ground and escaped injury. Realizing that Pugh had entered the bin, Johnson struggled to uncover him, but Pugh suffocated before being reached. Pugh was white; Johnson is a Negro.

on the Youth program at the First C.M.E. church, 28th and Maury Street at 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 28.

Mrs. Wright's subject will be "Youth's Personalities and Problems." The Rev. J. W. Jenkins will be host pastor.

"What they have done is given these forgotten people recognition," Mrs. Parker said. "Through the reading material they keep in touch with the world and what's going on. One of my patients is a minister from Perry, Ia. Through the Bystander especially puts them nearer to these people outside."

Advice

"If I were to give advice to anyone, I would say, don't take those old magazines and papers to the incinerators," Mrs. Parker declared. "Bring them to the forgotten ones. They have good minds and eyesight. Even though they are shut-ins, they need reading materials."

"I know the girls don't want praise, but something as worthwhile as this, should be told," she stated. "Perhaps, too, it will demonstrate how other organizations can help."

Mrs. Parker told how the Socialites brought homemade baked pies and cakes and all kinds of canned vegetables, fruits and juices to the Home last Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving

"One of the members had a relative ill, but before she left the city, she baked a double portion pie and brought it to the door piping hot," she said, adding:

"And you should have seen the faces of my patients, when I brought them into the kitchen to show them the food. The expression of happiness on their faces would have made you cry."

New York — Legal action has begun to secure the release of David "Fuzzy" Simpson and James Hanover Thompson, the eight and nine-year-old Negro boys of Monroe, N.C., committed for indefinite terms to reform school after one of them had allegedly been kissed by a seven-year-old white girl.

Conrad Lynn, well-known New York civil rights lawyer acting for the parents of the two boys and for the Committee to Combat Racial Injustice, last week appeared before Judge J. Hampton Price in Monroe, N.C., with a plea for modification of the Negro children's sentence.

Adverse Ruling

North Carolina juvenile law permits the judge at the original trial to make subsequent modifications of verdict. Judge Price, however, ruled against the plea for modification in

Who's Who in Iowa

Mrs. Roberta Frazier Is 1st Negro Named President Of United Church Women

This is the 44th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

All her life Mrs. Roberta Frazier, of 328 E. Creston avenue, has been busy, caring for her husband and family of five children; and actively participating in the various departments of her church and with civic organizations in the community. At one time or other she has set in the driver's seat of organizations she has been associated with, and Communist China, is confronted with many problems similar to Israel's.

Other delegates, from such countries as Nigeria, Ceylon, Ethiopia, India, Japan, Ghana, Thailand and Kenya, will study Israel's cooperatives in industry, agriculture, public services and marketing.

The three-month seminar will enable newly liberated and underdeveloped states to study Israeli methods and adapt her experiences to their needs.

the case of Hanover Thompson and Fuzzy Simpson. Originally the two boys were tried on three charges of assault and molesting three white girls, ages six and seven. All three charges stemmed from the same incident of playing in a ditch with a kiss by one of the girls allegedly set as the price of her climbing out.

Released Before 21

Both Negro children were given indeterminate commitments in the reform school for Negro boys at Hoffman, N.C. Judge Price informed them in the courtroom that if they behaved themselves well they might be released before the age of 21.

Juvenile Court

The rejection of Lynn's plea for modification exhausts the remedies available in the juvenile courts. He is now preparing to file papers in Superior Court. Since the Superior Court of Union County is not presently in session, Mr. Lynn intends to return soon to North Carolina and institute action in the court of an adjoining county.

Without Counsel

A principal point being made by Lynn in the brief is that young Simpson and Thompson did not receive due process of law or a proper trial even under the latitude permitted in juvenile cases. What occurred was a "separate but equal" trial. The judge first held a hearing for the whites involved in the case—the seven-year-old girl, her playmate, and their parents. Later in the day he conducted a trial for the Negro children. Though their mothers were permitted to be present, having been first informed of the trial but a few minutes before, they had no time to secure counsel. Robert F. Williams, president of the local NAACP, for whom they had sent, was not allowed to enter the courtroom.

Incommunicado

Thus the two Negro children were denied counsel, denied the right to hear or confront accusers and witnesses against them. Indeed, the

Arkansas NAACP Loses Suit Monday

Little Rock, Ark. — Mrs. Daisy Bates, president of the Arkansas NAACP, and the Rev. Mr. Crenshaw, president of the Little Rock branch, were on the adverse end of a ruling handed down by the State Supreme Court here.

Court Reverses Memphis Bus Boycott Case

Ruling Seen as Aid in Filing of Bias Suits

Washington.—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that a Memphis Negro who challenged Tennessee bus and trolley segregation laws must be given his day in court.

The tribunal overruled a special three-judge panel which had dismissed the suit of O. Z. Evers, a postal clerk. The Supreme court, in an unsigned opinion, ordered that Evers be allowed a trial in the case.

Brings Suit

Evers brought suit against Memphis city officials, the city transit company and one of its employees, resumably the bus driver.

The three federal judges had thrown out the suit on the ground that Evers had boarded the bus solely for the purpose of starting a lawsuit. They said he did not represent the Negro bus riders of Memphis and no real controversy to be settled at law existed.

No Significance

The supreme Court said that whether Evers had boarded the bus properly to institute a law suit had no significance in his right to trial. The opinion said the existence of an actual controversy was established in the case.

New York.—A Supreme Court ruling reversing a lower court decision which had dismissed a suit challenging segregation in buses in Memphis was hailed here today as "highly significant" by Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, who, together with H. T. Lockard, filed the suit on behalf of O. S. Evers of Memphis.

"What this decision means," Mr. Carter explained, "is that it will be more difficult for state officials to resist law suits brought by Negroes seeking to end segregation. There is

DUKE AND MAHALIA IN UNUSUAL RECORDING

DUKE ELLINGTON plays and Mahalia Jackson sings on an unusual Columbia Records release featuring two numbers each by the famous recording artists. The first-time record offer is being made available by Carnation Company, Los Angeles, as a premium to Carnation evaporated milk users throughout the United States. On the 45-rpm, 7-inch disc, Mr. Ellington renders "Such Sweet Thunder" and "Sonnet to Hank Cinq," while Miss Jackson sings "Oh Lord, It Is I" and "Walking Over God's Heaven."

Hollywood Film Tidbits

By A. S. "Doc" Young

Beverly Hills, Calif.—Bob Johnson, stand-in for star Johnny Nash in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster's movie production of "Take A Giant Step," is one of the few Negro stuntmen to work in Hollywood. A trick rider, too, he has appeared in many movies, is hoping that some day a producer will bring the Negro cowboy to the screen.

Pauline Myers, who plays the role of a lady with easy virtue in the motion picture once harbored an ambition to be an opera singer, studied voice with that idea in mind.

Fullback-sized Frederick O'Neal, the character actor now working in "Take A Giant Step," vows daily to go on a diet. But he has a weakness: vanilla malts which he often drinks chain-fashion (and then wonders why he weighs 230 pounds).

Loray White, estranged wife of Sammy Davis, Jr., who has a small role in the film declares that she wants to make her way to the top in show business on her own. "I got this part," she told Los Angeles writer recently, "on talent alone."

The fast pace of shooting set by Director Philip Leacock on Hecht-Hill-Lancaster's motion picture production of "Take A Giant Step" was broken in stride when stars Johnny Nash and Ruby Dee came down with ailments. Nash had minor eye trouble, Miss Dee injured a knee in an auto accident.

It's an open secret that Hecht-Hill-Lancaster motion picture producing company executives expect "Take A Giant Step," their almost-all-Negro film, to repeat the box-office success of their "Marty," made several years ago.

Frederick O'Neal the noted character actor began his theatrical career at age 10 in little Mississippi town. He helped stage, and performed in, kid productions in a hall next to his father's general store.

Beah Richards, who makes her as a movie actress hopes one day to see a Negro woman portray Cleopatra or Medea. A devotee of the classics, she has played Shakespeare often.

Although he is the top star 18-year-old Johnny Nash is still the bright-eyed teenager, awed by other stars. He keeps a Polaroid camera handy, hoping for a chance to shoot a picture of the visiting great actor, Sidney Poitier.

80 to 125 women attending each time.

Native Kentuckian

Born in Pineville, Ky., Mrs. Frazier came to Des Moines in 1910 from Cheyenne, Wyo. She graduated from East High and in later years when she had plans of seeking a job, took a refresher course in typing and public speaking with the Des Moines Adult education classes.

Shiloh Baptist

Mrs. Frazier love of religious work has made itself manifest in most of her organization work. She and her husband were among the first group to join Shiloh Baptist church after its founding in the fall of 1917. Since that time she has served in every departmental capacity of the church, on committees and in offices. For the past 24 years she has served her church as clerk. A member of Central district of the Baptist Association, she is its former president and secretary. In addition she is recording secretary of the Women's department of the Five State Baptist convention.

NAACP Worker

In the community she has worked with the Des Moines Area Council Interracial Fellowship committee, serving as acting secretary of the group. She is an active worker in the NAACP and has served as a board member three years and is currently social chairman.

IACW Officer

In addition she has been a member of the Iowa Association of Colored Women, (one of the oldest and leading state organizations for federated club women) for 10 years and is currently its second vice president.

Because of her affiliations with the various organizations she attends nearly a half dozen conventions a year. Last year she attended the national convention of United Church Women in Denver, her church conventions and the IACW state meet.

Statehouse Clerk

After rearing five children, all living in Des Moines but one, she worked as a supervisor at the Booth Memorial hospital two years before taking her current job as postal clerk at the statehouse, where she has worked five years.

Her husband, Edward Frazier, has worked 40 years as a butcher at Iowa Packing company and is a deacon at Shiloh.

She is a member of the Social Art club and its former president and secretary. She also is a past president of the Parliamentary Law and Culture club and has served in other offices and on various committees.

Hobbies

Mrs. Frazier finds a change of pace in her hobbies of crochet, sewing and collection of salt and pepper shakers. Her collection of 110 sets represents about 40 states in the nation, and foreign countries like Denmark, Germany, Mexico and France. Her son and a foster son, as well as two friends with knowledge of her hobby, have helped her to amass her exhibit.

Diggs Urges

Washington, D. C.—Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. (D-Michigan) told a Detroit Press Conference that "the United States is in danger of losing the present advantage it holds in Africa to the Soviet Union."

Diggs attended the All-African People's Conference in Accra, Ghana, Dec. 5-13, as an observer for the United States government. He was the only elected American public official at the historic meeting of independent African nations.

African Leaders

Pointing out that many important African leaders, including Ghana's Prime Minister, Kwame Nkrumah, were educated in this country, the Negro Congressman warned that this favorable factor will be forfeited unless the United States "takes a more realistic attitude in its relations with African governments."

Reflect Indifference

He said Americans dealing with African countries reflect both "indifference and a lack of understanding" and emphasized that "our Nation needs to be educated on the

STAFF REPORTS TO BE HEARD AT NAACP ANNUAL MEETING

New York.—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and other members of the NAACP staff will report to the membership on the activities of 1958 at the Association's 49th annual meeting here on Jan. 5, 1959.

The meeting will be devoted to a review of the Association's program and activities during the current year and to proposals for the coming year during which the NAACP will celebrate its 50th anniversary. Ballots in the election of 16 members to the national Board of Directors will be counted and the results announced during the meeting. Following the annual meeting, the Directors will hold their regular monthly meeting at which time officers of the Association will be elected for 1959.

Staff Records

In addition to Mr. Wilkins, other staff members reporting to the meeting will include Robert L. Carter, general counsel; Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Herbert Hill, labor secretary; James W. Ivy, editor, The Crisis; Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau; Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations; and Edward J. Odom, Jr., church secretary.

Power Struggle

"African leaders," he observed "willingly admit that they will make mistakes but they will want them to be their own mistakes."

Diggs described an underlying power struggle between Nkrumah and Nasser of Egypt which was damaged by the unsuccessful attempt of the Pro-Russian United Arab Republic delegation to dominate the Conference. This subtle tug-of-war, he said, may present a threat to Nkrumah's desire for a non-violent African revolution which would employ economic boycotts and similar passive measures.

Revealing that he seeks to be assigned to the House Foreign Affairs Committee when Congress reconvenes in January, Diggs felt that he "could make a contribution to sounder relations between the United States and Africa during this critical period."

READING BUILDS VOCABULARY

There are no "books every child should read." But with the wealth of books today, there are books for every child. As he grows older, an adequate vocabulary is a great help mented by a knowledge of books and reading. His ability to communicate with others may mean success in his chosen profession. The basis for this is read early in life in the knowledge gained from books and reading.

A recent national magazine brings information about book clubs whose members buy 25 cent books. It is hopeful that many books popular for years with children are now available in the 25 cent editions.

Personally Yours by Frances Hawthorne.

As I was writing this it was not Christmas yet, but when most of you read it, it will be the day after. Here's hoping that your house was untouched by sorrow that knows no season or holiday—but is filled with boundless joy and cheerful, happy shouts and smiles... and bursting with the aroma of holiday good eats. May you continue to live in joy, good health, good will, brotherly love and prosperity throughout the next year until another Christmas comes again.

At our house, it was similar to yours. Our little girl, Venita Denise, 3, and two boys, first grader, Victor Duane (will be 7 Jan. 3), and kindergarten, Vance Derek, 5½ counted the days by breaking a link from a "paper chain" each day. They helped decorate the tree and accompanying me on the shopping trip with an advanced announcement, "We'll tell you which one we want." Seems they had fears I would get a "little skinny one."

Turned them loose with some dough for gingerbread boys. Didn't have a cutter, but the kindergarten disdainfully remarked, "We don't need a cutter. That's not the way we made them at school."

At my surprised look, he explained the dough this way... and that way. I agreed I rolled the dough, but I still used a cutter.

Thought it best to stand back and learn, and as I watched they produced first the head by rolling and patting flat, a piece of dough, then first one arm then the other, then the body and both legs. Then, raisins for facial features and buttons. Believe it or not, they came out better than if I had used a cutter... much fatter, though and of course, with individual frailties... but perfect in the eyes of their creators.

The boys kept reminding me they had surprises for me and their Daddy they had made at school and my little girl approached me every few minutes with a sack which she presented "For your birthday, Mom."

Hope, you the readers, have not minded too much, my introduction of my family, but, I'm sure in the good cheer of the holiday, you understand. For a picture of the three little ones see the A. E. ad in this issue.

Mr. James Dixon, executive secretary of the Crocker "Y" called our attention to the formation of a rather unique club at the branch. The idea was conceived by A. P. Trotter, active layman in the YMCA, and is a club for retired and semi-retired men. Its very appropriate name... Senior Citizens Club. The members meet from 2 to 5 p.m. each Thursday and included in their activities is bridge, whist, checkers and discussions, etc., and of course, provide them with an excellent opportunity for fellowship and recreation.

Present senior citizens of the group are Messrs. James A. Bailey, James G. Browne, Mack C. Carson, Ezra A. Ewing, Charles H. Holmes, Mathew Johnson, Samuel C. Jordan, Archie A. Martin, Theodore E. Martin, General W. Scott, Rev. Luther H. Smith, Roy A. Todd and A. P. Trotter.

A July 1958 copy of Circle Arrow Retailer, house organ for Western Auto stores, came across our desk and among the pictures was one of Robert Howell, of 1436 Maryland receiving his 30-year service button from Western Auto, Des Moines No. 1 store. The caption stated Mr. Howell started with the company as a porter in 1924 and was promoted to serviceman in 1941.

Among the special religious services being held today (Christmas day) will be the annual Christmas

Rev. and Mrs. Smith to Spend Holidays in California

The Rev. and Mrs. Luther Smith of 901 W. 23rd street will spend the Christmas and New Year's holiday season in California. They will visit their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Eddins of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Windsor and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Smith of Los Angeles. Also, grandchildren, Leslie Jr., Yvonne and Ranel Eddins and Yaron Windsor.

While in California they will visit in the homes of other relatives.

The Socialite club are very active in the community and their pet project is the Parker's Nursing Home, to whom they have contributed many different useful articles during the past year.

THE DEVIL IS ALWAYS BUSY

Senator Russell of Georgia plans to introduce a bill in Congress which would authorize the expenditure of the necessary cash for Negroes to move to northern and western states and whites from these states to move South.

The Senator takes the position that if the Negro population is more evenly distributed in all the states, the race problem would be lessened.

Maybe the Senator is right and if it worked maybe this would be a solution to world problems.

The federal government is in too many projects already and this would simply add to the deficit which its finances are up against. But this is just so much more splurging the race issue by the Senator which will get nowhere.

CONNECTING RACE WITH CRIME A HOAX

Last week a holdup occurred at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in East Des Moines. With the assistance of some of the news gathering and news distributing agencies a description of the culprit was dished out to the public. It said the bandit was a Negro, had mustache, wore a tweed overcoat and was 5' 6" high.

Shortly afterwards, a man answering the description was picked up at Ungles Bakery but released after the bookkeeper, who was on duty at the time of the robbery, said he was not the man.

The Bystander has complained about the unfair racial designation of crime by newspapers and radio stations before. They have argued that it was done at the request of the police department as a matter of identification in their effort to solve crimes. But has it done so?

Absolutely not.

For instance here are examples: Nothing further has been heard about the Negro who entered a home at 10th and University Ave. and attempted to assault a woman.

Nothing has further been heard about the Negro who entered a policeman's home at night and molested his wife, was hemmed in by two officers and still escaped.

In fact, few major crimes have been solved by our local law enforcement officials, and yet all have given unusual publicity as to race or otherwise. The Bystander is convinced that if less publicity was given—which seems to harbor the hope that the public will solve the crime—and more work done in secret by officers much more would be accomplished. At least, their methods have not paid off.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

The Iowa Highway Commission has agreed to print the Iowa Civil Rights law on its 1959 road maps. Approximately 250,000 will be put into circulation. This is a splendid idea, suggested to the commission by the State Human Rights Commission.

The project does a real service by reminding Iowans and telling out-of-state people that such a law is on the statute books. Printed on state papers, it adds stature to enforcement.

It tells people who have been discriminated against what their rights are and helps take away the plea of ignorance, even though inviolate, some violators advance as an excuse for their action.

In years gone by, the NAACP has carried most of the load of creating proper sentiment for and moving to enforce civil rights laws. And even though it has been on the statute books for seventy-five, until a few years ago, little luck has been had enforcing it.

Even at present there are some counties where the law is being ignored even by public officials. But this is no reason who those who violate it should not be prosecuted. And if witnesses will insist on their rights and stand up for them results will come.

Recently the Commission has discontinued the use of racial designation in its application forms for employment.

Congratulations to the highway commission.

Campy To Aid KOP's March Of Youth

New York, N.Y.—Roy Campanella, former catcher with the Los Angeles Dodgers, has accepted the chairmanship of the special advisory committee on juvenile delinquency.

Campanella will study, as part of the Knights of Pythias' March of Youth, youth problems in Harlem and other over-crowded slum areas.

At a committee fund-raising rally at Madison Square Garden, "Campy" was presented the annual Pythian sports award by Governor-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Dodgers Plan to Trade Junior Gilliam

Los Angeles — General Manager Buzzie Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers, announced that the team was contemplating more player trades, including this time Junior Gilliam.

"The Cubs, Braves, and Phillies," said Bavasi, "have all expressed interest in Gilliam. If one of them will give a right-hander who can hit the ball, we can do business."

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

The year has left quite a string of good stories and outstanding events. Tops among the happenings was the almost complete domination of college basketball by Negroes. Five of them were so good they couldn't be left off any All-American selections.

Proof, of their greatness is in the fact that the three who turned pro are starring in that league also. Walt Chamberlain with the Globetrotters, Elgin Baylor, and Gil Rodgers in the pro-league. The two still in school, Robertson of Cincinnati and Boozier of Kansas State have picked up where they left off last year.

Tennis

Althea Gibson's tennis wins were not unexpected. It would have been bigger news had she been beaten. Floyd Patterson's title defense wasn't much either. Maybe he will better in '59 Ray Robinson's terrific battle with Carmen Basilio was a great story.

Boxing

The lightweight champ made news and then made some more when he lost his crown. Archie Moore really rated the Fighter of the Year title. Even if his lost opponent couldn't fight a lick, getting up off the floor four times was a rare feat for a man his age. Then a win was really something.

Baseball

Malwaukee had the most Negroes in the World Series but the Yankees had the most important one, Elston Howard. Negroes played a prominent part in football, both college and pro. Just about every pro-team had a gang of Negroes and everyone who can read knows about the boys in the Big Ten. Oklahoma U. made history and so did Oklahoma State. Oh well, it was quite a year.

Local

Willie Wells, pool tournament got down to the final stages. The champion may be decided by the time you read this. Del Baldrige is in the finals and has a chance to repeat his wins of last year. At this writing Lee Atkins and Harry Thomas are playing to see who meets Delmar.

Negro Bus Company Thrives in South

Chicago—While some transit systems lose money, the Negro-owned Safe Bus Incorporated bus lines of Winston-Salem, North Carolina is thriving, and on a non-segregated seating basis, according to the January issue of EBONY Magazine.

The Safe Bus carries three million passengers annually, owns all of its equipment, sets their own policies, and ferry Negro and white passengers in an unsegregated fashion.

No. Color Pattern

The white-owned City Bus Line long since took note of the desegregated ways of the 32-year old Safe Bus and followed suit. Today there is no color pattern in seating on any Winston-Salem busses.

The $200,000, 55-vehicle fleet of diesel and gas-driven Safe busses rolls over 75 miles of special routes in the bustling tobacco capital. It has 89 full time employees, an annual payroll exceeding $225,000, $20,000 worth of tools and replacement parts and has the largest maintenance shop in the city.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Help Wanted

Imagine that you're living in the year 1970. As you walk down the street you pass a long line of people waiting on the sidewalk. Smash Broadway hit? World Series? As you follow the block-long line it leads into a door labeled: John M. Doe, M.D.

This will be the picture if something isn't done about the doctor shortage foreseen by the experts. You won't be able to choose the physician whose bedside manner appeals to you. You'll go to the one who can fit you into his schedule. You'll make an appointment weeks in advance, and still probably have to stand in line. Important research into the cause and cure of disease may be stymied for lack of trained men to carry it out.

Research Expenses

Expenditures for medical research in this country can and should be tripled by 1970. The number of physicians and other scientists engaged in research should be more than doubled. But where are they to come from?

The medical schools we have today can't turn out enough doctors to staff the research programs we should have. They can't even turn out enough private practitioners to care for the day-to-day medical needs of our growing population. Just to maintain the present ratio of 132 physicians for each 100,000 people will necessitate the construction of from 14 to 20 new medical schools at a cost of between $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Family Doctor

When you visit your family doctor, do you ever think of the training and the teachers that were needed to make him what he is? When you take a pill, do you appreciate the skill, time, and money that went into the research that brought help to you? You, too, play a part in medical progress in this country. A portion of your Christmas Seal contribution to your tuberculosis association is spent on medical research and medical education.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by: "Your Christmas Seal Organization" Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.

Social Progress

According to EBONY, the Safe financial success so much as in its Lines' greatest pride is not in its contribution to social progress. To its officials and its 70-year-old president and sole surviving founder John M. Adams, the company has stood as a beacon for racial cooperation for more than three decades.

The Safe Bus Lines, with whom the City Bus Line once wanted to merge, is now the third largest mass transportation firm in North Carolina, and the only Negro-owned member of the North Carolina Transportation Association.

Lynn also prevented the eviction of Mrs. Thompson, mother of the older boy. She has lived in the same house for the past ten years. Yet the previous week the landlord had refused the rent money and served her with eviction papers.

Renews Ultimatum

Accompanied by Lynn, NAACP president and vice-president, Robert F. Williams and Dr. A. E. Perry, and a delegation of Negro citizens, Mrs. Thompson appeared before the Justice of Peace and contested the eviction and won.

Harlem Globetrotters Return from Alaska

New York City — The Harlem Globetrotters have rivaled Santa Claus for popularity during the Christmas holidays, spreading joy and happiness wherever they have appeared.

"The team has been overwhelmed by fans everywhere," Saperstein said when he returned with the Trotters from a five-day tour of Alaska. "The soldiers in Alaska went mad about the club."

Best Present

The Globetrotters played at Army bases in Alaska last week and wowed the members of the Armed Forces. "It was the best Christmas present we ever had," said one lonely GI. "We were really thrilled."

contested an eviction order by a white landlord, let alone defeat it. On Dec. 15 the landlord renewed his eviction threats, giving an ultimatum to Mrs. Thompson to move before mid-January.

Merry Christmas

LOOK UP

When every scene has faded
the forests turn to ash, a multiplicity of things—
worn out and gone to smash.
The values fall to nothing, that were held to be so high.
Forget this earth, its follies,
and look up to the sky.
If the spirit is ascendant—
and the soul above each thing, the clay remains, they rise on up,
up where the angels sing.

AGGIES WHIP THREE CIAA OPPONENTS

Greensboro, N. C.—The A&T College Aggies, defending CIAA basketball champions, continued their winning ways in rolling over three conference foes in easy victories here last week.

Virginia Union University, St. Augustine's College and Hampton Institute fell victims before the Aggies power, reportedly improved over last year. The recent wins gave A&T a 6-1 record for the season, 4-0 in conference play.

Merry Christmas Everyone!

To little children everywhere—
Reluctant feet upon the stair,
Eyes filled with wonder, ears that hear Elfin sleighbells drawing near—
Merry, merry Christmas!

To parents who so lovingly
Have decked the star-crowned Christmas Tree,
Then join their neighbors as they go—
Caroling across the snow—
Happy, happy Christmas!

To men of good will, far and wide,
Whose hearts and homes this Christmastide
Are opened to the lonely stranger
As their offering to the Manger—
Blessed, blessed Christmas!
