NAACP Blasts Union Practices

Criticize 'Dilatory' Moves of City Council

Resolution Protests Cross Burning Here

At a special meeting last Tuesday, Dec. 29, the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People adopted a resolution that "deplores" the recent cross burning incident here and at the same time commended the victimized family and the local police authorities for quick disposal of the case.

Victimized Family

After hearing a report from the housing committee on the incident, the chapter adopted the resolution which commended The Rev. and Mrs. Ian J. McCrae for its "courage and forthright attitude in the face of violence and threats directed toward them and their family."

"The strength of their convictions which led to their positive stand is in keeping with the highest ideals of our democracy," said the resolution which was released by Mrs. Clifford Bayles, branch president.

The branch also commended the police detective and juvenile bureaus for their "efficient and expedient handling of the McCrae incident."

Three Groups Urge Passage of Un-Biased Housing Ordinance

Three representatives appeared before the city council Monday to urge the city law making body to pass an ordinance making racial discrimination in housing areas illegal in Des Moines.

Speaking for the housing committee for the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Mrs. Stanley Griffin, criticized the council for its "dilatory" approach to this problem.

White Citizens' Council

"There is an urgent need for an ordinance . . . to prohibit racial discrimination in housing in urban renewal areas and in city-sponsored low-cost housing for persons displaced by urban renewal projects," she declared.

She urged the council to act "before the White Citizens' Council comes here and show us what a real cross burning is," she added.

Church Representatives

Only Negro YWCA Exce.-Director in U.S. Visits in D.M.

During the recent holidays people from far and near returned to Des Moines to spend the festivities with relatives and friends. Among the most distinguished was Miss Mary

MISS WOODS

Woods, the first Negro executive director of a Y.W.C.A., in the United States. A position she has held 1 1/2 years. She spent Christmas here with a sister Mrs. Rose McCraven of 840 W. 16th Street and other relatives.

Open Doors Campaign

Two workshops were held at the Y.W.C.A. building Tuesday sponsored by the Committee on Integrated Housing in preparation for an "Open Door" campaign in which a "statement of conscience" will be circulated this month in the city.

The "statement of conscience" is to be circulated for signatures of persons who are willing to declare that "we believe in brotherhood and welcome the opportunity to practice it at our own neighborhood level."

Letters to Pastors

Lawrence Hutchinson, committee chairman, said letters describing the plan will be sent to Des Moines pastors in the next few days and ask them to call attention to it in their Jan. 18 and 25 sermons.

Attached to each statement is explanatory material which states "studies show that property values do not go down when minorities move into a neighborhood, provided that people are not talked into panic selling."

"Despite this, attempts by Negroes to buy or rent better living quarters . . . have met with blunt refusals," the statement continued.

Consider

"Those of us who have never had this experience should consider how we would feel. The most frequent answer, is, 'Well, I wouldn't mind, but my neighbor might not like it. We are not those neighbors.'"

Among the groups who are officially represented on the Committee of Integrated Housing are: The Des Moines Council of Church Women, United Church Women, Tifereth Israel Sisterhood, Board of the Temple Sisterhood, Disciples of Christ Ministerial Association, Des Moines Ministerial Association, Board of Christian Social Action of Plymouth Congregational Church, Des Moines Area Council of Churches, American Friends Service Committee, Des Moines Commission on Human Rights, Des Moines Valley Friends Meeting, Drake University chapter of American Civil Liberties Union.

Of her job Miss Woods says, "This work has been a most gratifying experience. I know of no other feeling similar except for the months when I was in Europe. I was a person there, accepted as an individual without thought of color."

Education

Miss Woods added to her academic education which began in Des Moines with post graduate study at New York university where she received her master's degree, and at Denver university and the University of Pennsylvania.

Experience

Her professional experience includes 14 years as executive director of the South west Belmont branch of the Philadelphia YWCA with 5,000 members and teenage and camp director in Denver and Tulsa. In addition she has won several awards including "outstanding citizens award" of New Jersey in 1942 and has had articles published in the YWCA magazine and other publications.

NAACP '58 Income Exceeds $1,000,000, Wilkins Reports; Five Year Goal Reached

New York—For the first time in its 49-year history, income from all sources to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People exceeded $1,000,000, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary, reported to the Association's annual meeting here Monday.

He recalled that in 1953, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, "spurred us to adopt a freedom campaign with a goal of $1,000,000 a year to wipe out discrimination by 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation."

Five Years

"I am very happy to announce," the NAACP leader said, "that although it took us five years to reach Dr. Tobias' target, we did have, in

New York—Continuing racial discrimination within certain unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations is charged in an 11-page documented memorandum made public here today by Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The memorandum, dated Dec. 4 and prepared by the Association's labor secretary, Herbert Hill, and addressed to Boris Shiskin, director of the AFL-CIO civil rights department, cites complaints received from NAACP members and other Negro workers in various sections of the country alleging discrimination by trade union internationals and locals.

Pattern of Discrimination

Discrimination in the labor movement, the memorandum charges, follows a pattern of total exclusion, segregated locals, or the separate line of progression restricting the job classifications available to Negro workers. "In addition to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen which exclude Negroes by constitutional provision, many international unions affiliated to the AFL-CIO continue to exclude Negroes by tacit consent and other AFL-CIO unions limit Negro membership in most instances to segregated or 'auxiliary' locals," the document asserts.

Meany

Mr. Wilkins wrote to George Meany, AFL-CIO president, on Dec. 19, calling attention to Mr. Hill's memorandum and expressing the conviction that "discrimination can be eliminated only through a systematic program on the part of the leadership of the AFL-CIO to enforce its basic policy of non-discrimination throughout the organized labor movement."

Difficulties Recognized

The NAACP, Mr. Wilkins said, is "not unaware of some of the difficulties faced by the AFL-CIO in implementing the just policy it has set for itself. Some of these difficulties stem from long-established, but unjust traditions and practices within international unions themselves. Some are rooted in the present climate of opinion in the South and in other sections of the country. Some, undoubtedly, are connected with policies within unions and with the general program and priorities of the organized labor movement."

Who's Who in Iowa

Mrs. Billiejean Morrow Has Successfully Combined Her Family and Professional Role

This is the 44th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.)
By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

Mrs. Billiejean Morrow of 1701 Carpenter avenue, has successfully combined brains and personality, family and profession. When she is not teaching or helping to write a book, she is happily working toward the happiness of her family which she will tell you in a minute comes first in her life.

Professionally, Mrs. Morrow has been teaching special classes in Des Moines public school system for seven years. She taught two years at Phillips elementary school before transferring to Adams. She also taught a half year at Crocker school.

Education

A native of Des Moines she is well qualified for her profession adding patience and persistence to prepare herself degree-wise. After graduating from North high she entered Drake university receiving her B.S. degree in education working her way all the time. She and her husband, James A. who is a barber by profession, moved to Chicago, Ill., where they lived for a year, before returning to Des Moines. While there Mrs. Morrow taught in the public school.

Master's Degree

Determined to advance academically, Mrs. Morrow started working on her master's degree by enrolling in summer classes at Drake. After four summers, she walked down the aisle to receive her M.E. "sheepskin" last August. Recalling the event, Mrs. Morrow smiled, happily, with relief and sense of accomplishment, "It was a long hard pull."

Writing Book

About a year ago, Mrs. Morrow was one on a state-committee of eight selected to write a book on mentally retarded children for teachers and administrators. She is the only teacher, only Negro and the second person from Des Moines on the committee which meets two days each month.

Organizations

Organizations have no appeal for her because "they take too much time from her family." However, she is a member of the Des Moines Education Association and of the National Education Association and is membership chairman of the Council for Exceptional Children for the state, "which requires a lot of duplicate paperwork." She has served also as reading clerk three years at Corinthian Baptist church where she is a member. In addition she is treasurer of Beta Gamma chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and a member of the M. C. (Merry Christmas) club.

Hobbies

For hobbies Mrs. Morrow loves sewing and embroidering which she

Old-Fashioned Plaything

EVEN in this streamlined age of television and jet planes, the child of two to six enjoys a toy that's quite primitive, like a hobby horse. It makes no difference if you can't purchase one, because making one is a cinch for the proud Dad.

The only parts needed are an old broom stick, two pieces of Masonite 1/4" tempered Preswood, a four-inch wooden or metal wheel from an old wagon, a piece of rope, and some paint—white, red and brown.

Following the diagram shown here, Dad can lay out the head pattern and glue their screened sides together so that only the smooth faces will be exposed.

He'll select the desired length of broomstick and cut slots into which the head and wheel are bolted. After applying a prime coat of paint, he can cover the various parts with colors as shown. The youngster will thoroughly enjoy this old-fashioned plaything.

For a free plan showing other toys that can be made in the home workshop, write Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, and ask for Drawing No.

It's Almost Like Seeing Double

Yes, when you picture your subject reflected in a mirror, it's almost like seeing double. But it also can give you a very striking and effective snapshot.

Mirror pictures are for the most amateur photographers—using the simplest of equipment, as well as for the professionals who are well aware of the effectiveness of this technique.

A simple camera with flash attachment enables you to take these pictures. There are only two things which you have to keep in mind that don't apply to other pictures.

First of all be sure that neither your camera nor the flash is reflected in the mirror. Secondly, when you figure the distance, you add that between camera and mirror to that between subject and mirror.

This means that if you have a picture closer than six feet—and your subject looks best posed a foot from the mirror, you will keep the camera five feet from the mirror. That's all there is to it.

Find a pretty mirror, a good subject, and take camera in hand to make some snapshots that are "different" and make a terrific impression on people who aren't "in the know."

Mrs. Anna M. Weems Re-elected President Of Waterloo NAACP

Waterloo, Ia.,—Mrs. Anna Mae Weems, was re-elected president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in balloting Tuesday.

Other officers are the Rev. George T. Stinson, first vice-president; the Rev. Montrose Johnson, second vice-president; Mrs. Albert McGee, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Huel, recording secretary and Mrs. E. L. Thompson, treasurer.

About 80 persons attended the meeting and heard county Attorney Evan Hultman discuss problems relating to recent crimes involving Negroes.

Mrs. Weems, along with a committee of eight, will meet with the city and county officials to discuss ways and means of improving conditions in North Waterloo. Jan. 1 began the NAACP membership drive.

Mr. Johnson said, "the Pension drive is not an unusual thing for War veterans, 'every group of National defenders in our history, have been given the traditional pension and guaranteed security in their old age except the Veterans of World War I—they have become the forgotten generation of veterans. local of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks petitioned the union's Frisco System Board for a merger with the white local in view of the desegregation of schools in Tulsa. This petition was rejected and the union continues to maintain Jim Crow locals in that city, the memorandum points out.

Unions, Decisive Factor

"In many industries in basic sectors of the American economy," the document charges, "the racial practices of the trade union certified as the collective bargaining agent will be the decisive factor in determining the status of Negro workers. All too often there is a significant disparity between the declared public policy of the national AFL-CIO and the day-to-day reality as experienced by Negro wage earners in the North as well as in the South."

As of Dec. 31, the NAACP had not received a reply to Mr. Wilkins' letter.

From young life to old age
We have traveled together
For better or worse was the sacred vow
With hand in hand we have made it somehow
We did not know what the future would bring
But two hearts united in love was the thing
And that we had and that we kept

It wasn't the Fourth of July but the 1959 New Year was ushered in with a BANG . . . with all kinds of fireworks. Weatherwise we got the snow and sub-zero temperatures which swept the spring-like Christmas air out of the state. And . . . news wise, well you seldom have two stories to break on the local scene that compete for No. 1 headline honors. Naturally, we would rather shout about stories like Judge Glanton's appointment, but stories dealing with the reverse side of the coin of human emotions . . . occur and must be written about . . . like the cross burning here.

Speaking of that story . . . Des Moines made headlines around the nations and many Negro newspapers made either the Glanton or cross burning story, their banner headline. A paper as far as Baltimore called the Bystander to learn about disposition of the case.

More post-holiday season comment: Some of Des Moines' feathered friends received a "Christmas treat" when some thoughtful residents discarded their trees by tying pieces of bread to the branches and standing them outdoors in the yards.

One youngster when he saw his sister's "sleeping" doll yelled excitedly, "Hey, Sis, got a doll with flip eyes."

Many local residents when asked about New Year's resolution answered similarly, "I haven't made any because I don't keep them very long."

More wonderful than receiving holiday cards from friends and relatives are the ones with notes or entire letters penned in them. There is an additional warm feeling because you know from first hand knowledge it takes time . . . to stop and add a few words of good will. One of the most unusual holiday cards we received was one with an international flavor from Miss Charlene Wharton of Willkie House. On the front was a picture of three Oriental children at play. Inside were the words "Season's Greetings in English, Chinese, Spanish, Russian and French. The card was designed by Mai-Thu for the United Credit for this week's Who's Who

A copy of the monthly mimeographed "news sheet" published by the Crocker-Conservation Club, Inc., ("fell" into our hands. In addition to reminders of meetings and details, the "paper" has humorous anecdotes and reports on the progress of bid whist and other recreational games. The December issue welcomed Vernon K. Ashford, Jr., of 2913 Amherst as a new member and ended with this paragraph:
"One of the saddest things to witness was the downfall of the Bostic-Singleton duo who managed to win only one (bid whist) game all evening. For the past three months this duo stood at the head of the seasoned beginners class but taking over as head scrubs are the Griffin-Johnson team. The Taylor-Carr duo is coming along fast and if they can keep up their play they will soon be able to make a two bid. Right now the best they do is to turn the odd when it's left on them."
Sounds like all enjoy themselves, don't they? We would like to con-

NAACP ASKS LABOR UNIONS TO CEASE RACIAL DISCRIMINATION

At its annual meeting this week in New York, the National Association of Colored People in a message to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, called upon labor unions to put in practice their manifestations of no racial discrimination, often appearing in their constitutions, but which are violated by local unions, and admit Negroes to membership on the same basis as any other applicant.

"Discrimination in the labor movement," the memorandum charges, "follows a pattern of total exclusion—segregated locals, or the separate line of progression restricting the job classifications available to Negro workers. In addition to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which exclude Negroes by constitutional provision, many international unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO continue to exclude Negroes by tacit consent and other AFL-CIO unions limit Negro membership, in most instances, to segregated or 'auxiliary' locals," the document asserts.

No more appropriate move could have been made for during 1958 some courts have held that labor unions are private organizations and thus could refuse to admit Negroes to membership. From a purely legalistic interpretation these cases did not veer from precedent. On the other hand, when city, county, and state officials just about demand the union label on all work done for them, then they enter the picture with state action which, of course, would bring such unions operations under the 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The Bystander welcomes such a challenge to the unions for we here in Des Moines suffer materially from such discrimination.

During 1958, a considerable construction work was done much of it for concerns operating not for pecuniary profit. Take the Mercy Hospital, Iowa Lutheran Hospital, YMCA, and others of this class, less than about a dozen common laborers were employed on any of these jobs. The carpenters' union, which has done a good job in this respect, furnished the only Negro journeyman on these jobs. This same thing is true of the Bankers Life, Meredith and other buildings where considerable labor is used.

In other words, the bricklayers, plasterers, craft machinists, iron, electrical, sheet metal workers and several others have some how kept the Negro worker out completely. And while there is some improvement at the telephone and electric and gas companies, so far, promotions have been exceedingly meager.

Unfortunately, the Des Moines Negro is somewhat handicapped in his efforts to keep track of what is going on and be prepared to move in when the proper time permits. The human rights commission staff is limited both as to staff and areas of operation, and while their job is to track down and prevent discrimination in employment, it has no facilities other than a general education program, to help Negro workers secure jobs.

"Since the merger of the AFL-CIO three years ago," the National Association of Colored People told Mr. Meany, "the Association has cooperated diligently with the civil rights department and with affiliated international unions in attempting to resolve problems of discrimination and segregation. In addition, representatives of the NAACP national office were active in efforts to defeat 'right to work' legislation in Ohio, California and elsewhere." While it was not on the ballot in Iowa, Negro labor opposed candidates who favored it.

As a matter of fact, some force—maybe the Urban League or an addition to the human rights staff—could fill the gap between theory and practice in decent Negro labor opportunities. Since political leaders are urging the Negro to go along in the support of candidates of their choice when they consider labor's friends, then they should go along and see that Negro labor gets a fair share of labor benefits.

DANGEROUS ADVICE TO LAW VIOLATORS

The Bystander wishes to correct a statement by Carl Parks, Chief Polk County Juvenile officer, which appeared in the Des Moines Register December 31, in which he stated that no law was violated by the five boys who were involved in the cross-burning on the lawn of Rev. and Mrs. McCrae.

These boys admitted planting and setting fire to the cross which violated tarring fires and disturbing the peace ordinances of the city of Des Moines.

It is ridiculous that in the face these two ordinances no charge was filed against these boys, but were given a tap on the wrist and told to go and sin no more.

One of the difficulties of working out racial discrimination is the disposition upon the part of many people to consider such acts as pranks, or larks by older people when as a matter of fact they represent the thinking-bigotry of those who perpetrate them. Certainly, the people of Des Moines or anywhere else must not be given the impression that no law is violated when a person, under any circumstances, sets a fire on the property of another without his consent. It tends to encourage others to violate the law and expect to escape punishment.

Althea Voted Athletics' Female of the Year

New York, N. Y.—The tennis queen of the world, Miss Althea Gibson, Wimbledon and U. S. singles champion, has been voted the Female Athlete of 1958 award by the Associated Press poll.

The tall, vigorous playing young woman who battled her way from the streets of Harlem to supremacy at Wimbledon and an introduction to the queen of the British Empire, was chosen for the accolade for the second time last week. This is a rare honor, one that has been paid to few women athletes.

The 31-year-old court star is far from thoughts of tennis at present. She is busy preparing herself for a role in motion pictures and the furtherance of a singing career.

Recently, she took time out to complete a book of her life, thus proving her versatility in varying branches of activity. After winning her 1958 crown here in the United States, Miss Gibson announced that she intended to desert the court game for a year and devote herself to singing and acting. Recently, she has been quoted as saying she doubted whether she will ever return to tennis.

Polio-Related Diseases

"We now move forward into a future that is so filled with promise that it almost staggers the imagination. Instead of slowing down our research effort, we plan to expand it and to enlarge our studies of polio-related diseases. We stand at the threshold of probably the greatest era in virus research the world has ever known."—Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, medical director, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The January Jump

There are lots of words for January, few of them good. Until a way can be found to eradicate it from the calendar, it's a month to get through as best as we can.

Some of us, of course, live in those fortunate lands where the sun shines every day, and if it didn't we wouldn't admit it. A very few more can make a temporary escape to the South. But the majority of us have to take this month as it comes. If it doesn't snow, it will rain. If, by accident, the sun comes out, you'll have a bad cold and can't go out to meet it.

Can we do something about this dreary prospect? Can we stop resenting the lucky few basking on beaches long enough to take action for our own benefit? Can we turn the January Slump into the January Jump?

Enjoy January

Before you shoot Pollyanna, listen to the proposition. There is evidence that some people enjoy January. You see them out on snowy slopes with sleds and skis, or swooping gracefully over the ice. The trouble with those of us who feel miserable in January may be that we shrink from it. We hunch our shoulders and try not to breathe the bitter air. Our lungs suffer from lack of oxygen and the blood moves sluggishly through our veins. So, let's stop huddling over the radiator, and get up and jump.

Circulation

You don't have to do it outdoors on skis, although that is a wonderful way to stir up the circulation. You can turn on the phonograph and dance. Neither age nor inexperience need stand in the way of this most pleasant of exercises. Anyone who can count can learn. If you like company there's a dancing class or square dance group somewhere near you. Or you can Cha Cha in private with a chair. It will be good for your figure, good for your health, good for your spirits.

As we make this a dancing month, we'll find new words for January. We'll make it jolly, jovial, and jound—whatever the weather.

IN ONE BIG BLOW!

Look at winter... cruel... cold... and picture those who scratch for gold; on frozen tundras barren waste, they dig and grab in reckless haste. wealth they think means pomp & power, not knowing when will toll the hour; that marks the end of one more life, ill-spent in fruitless toil and strife. They build a pile of so-called wealth, with disregard for rights or health; and with no concern about the soul, these play a useless dillards role. No good in life, and when they die, no furor marks their passing by... Some corner foods to get the pelf, and store the gelt upon a shelf; who cares if far-off peoples die, it's hunger that they profit by... Some play with shares, with bonds & stocks;

Some speculate and gain with grain, and thousands lost and hit the rocks, while millions slave in hunger, pain... Many prosper by speculating in land, they hold it, unworked by any hand. So they use the wealth to speculate, and nothing of worth do they create. God, send the world the kind of a man, who has a clear and concise plan, to educate this wandering herd...

by some new means that will be heard;

be heard and heeded by the dolts, who toy with fatal cosmic bolts!!!! When atom weapons start to fly, the end is here for you and I...

A thumbnail history of man... destruction is his basic plan; from birth to death he learned to kill, his lust for power to fulfill...

And now that man is (civilized)? advanced in science, and so (wise)? he's ready for his greatest show, to wreck the earth, in one big blow!

Iowa Hawks Like "Greased Lightning" in 38-12 Rose Bowl Win—Spectacle More Than A Game

Pasadena, Calif. . . . Like the proverbial "greased lightning" that one's often heard exclaimed, Iowa backs flashed and streaked their way across green-carpeted terrain to a thunderous 38-12 victory over the outclassed but gallant California Bears here New Year's Day in the annual Rose Bowl spectacle.

Randy Duncan, Iowa's football General, realizing the Bears' reconnaissance had phantomized their potent aerial attack countered by sending fleet halfbacks, Bob Jeter and Willie Fleming on dazzling reverses that produced flashy, lightning runs of 81 yards, 41 yards and 37 yards.

Record Run

Jeter's 81-yard punt return produced one of the Hawkeyes touchdowns as well as broke an all-time touchdown run of 71-yards set back in 1949. Alert, darting Willie Fleming literally pulled himself away from a host of would-be tacklers to score on a 37-yard hop.

All in all it was beautiful, shift running along with very excellent blocking that netted the Hawks their 38 points while timely passing by the Bears accounted for their tallies.

Pageantry

From a panoramic point of view there is nothing quite like a Rose Bowl game with all its pageantry and color and effervescence and camaraderie. Everyone seems to have that competitive spirit yet maintaining at the same time a genuine warmth toward one another. This appears to be true both in the spectator and the participant alike. Everyone seems to come away from the game having gained something or other for having gone.

Big 10 Dominance

Because of the Big Ten dominance over the Pacific Coast Conference in previous Rose Bowl contest there has been talk of calling it a no contest between the leagues. But be all that as it may... there always will be many, many compensations for such a spectacle as the Rose Bowl.

Wisconsin University Ban Sports Bias

Madison, Wis.—The University of Wisconsin Athletic Board has adopted a resolution prohibiting the Badger athletic team from playing a school which discriminates against athletes because of color.

Negro basketball players Ivan Jefferson and Jim Biggs had to spend a night at a Negro school when Wisconsin played recently at Houston, Tex., while the rest of the Badger team stayed at a hotel.

The Wisconsin Student Senate had urged the board to take action against discrimination.

The board prohibited playing schools where the Badgers would be discriminated against by a policy of the institutes, or from local and state

The declaration of policy will be included in all contracts with other laws, customs or practices.

Schools in the future. Schools unable to comply with the Wisconsin ruling will have games against Wisconsin cancelled.
