Negro Firemen Lose Suit Against Rail Union

High Court Refuses to Review Case Because Of Wrong 'Approach'

Washington, D. C.—Negro firemen legally seeking to force the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen to drop racial bars and admit them to membership, carried their case to the highest court in the land, only to lose because "their case was not properly prepared."

The U. S. Supreme Court Monday said it refused to act in view of the abstract context in which the questions sought to be raised are presented by this record.

It was speculated the door was being left open for possible later consideration on a different record of the basic issue—whether a union has a right to restrict membership on the basis of race.

Firemen Argument

The Negro firemen argued that denial of membership deprived Negro firemen of a voice and vote in the formulation of bargaining objectives and selection of bargaining officials.

The union, in a brief opposing a supreme court hearing said the federal railway labor act "contains not the remotest reference to the subject of membership in labor organizations."

Detroit Police 'Slowdown' On Traffic Violations Over Integration in Squad Cars

Detroit, Mich.—Nearly 2,500 police officers went on a massive resistance slowdown here Mar. 1 when a "pilot order" for integrating squad cars was handed down by the police commissioner. According to a Detroit newspaper, the police force refused to ticket minor traffic violations and expired auto plates and in many precincts ticketing decreased more than 90 per cent in comparison with last year. The trial order had been scheduled for the Hunt Street Station.

Up until now, squad car crews were assigned on seniority but on a racial basis. No Negro officer was put into a "white" car if the white officer was absent. The car went undriven unless two Negro or two white officers were found to operate it. The new order would mix car crews without regard to race, using only the seniority rule.

Some Walk

It was reported that some officers with over 10 years' seniority refused to conform to the new order and requested a walking beat rather than ride with fellow Negro officers at the Hunt Street Station.

The Detroit Urban League compiled figures on the Department and they reflect that out of 2,504 officers assigned to precincts there are only 94 Negro officers. Of the 94 officers, four are sergeants, three detectives, and the rest patrolmen. Six of Detroit's precincts have no Negro

Rites Held for Storm Victims

March came in like the proverbial lamb but its tune soon changed to that of a ferocious lion as the worst blizzard in 10 years last Thursday dumped 9.4 inches of snow on Des Moines and up to 20 inches elsewhere in the state. Twenty deaths were attributed to the storm, and among that number, were two Negroes, Gerald Smith, 21, and B. F. Wellington, 67, both of Des Moines.

Services Held Monday For Gerald Smith, 21

Services for Gerald J. Smith, 21, of 1709 Lyon street were held at 2 p.m. Monday in Estes and Son Funeral home with burial in Glendale cemetery. He died Thursday when he slipped and fell beneath the wheels of a city sanding truck at 14th and Crocker Streets during snow removal operations.

A native of Macomb, Ill., he had been a resident of Des Moines 17 years. Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Ida Whitehurst of Des Moines; his father, George Smith, Macomb, Ill.; five sisters, Mrs. Darlene White, Des Moines, Mrs. Joanne Carpenter, Council Bluffs, Mrs. Jackie Collins, Des Moines, Mrs. Sarah Brown, Des Moines, and Mrs. Elaine May, Des Moines; two half-sisters, Carol Robinson, Los Angeles, Cal., and Donna Robinson, Council Bluffs; two brothers, James Smith, Des Moines, and Kenneth Smith, Chicago, Ill.; two

He was employed as a route clerk for the Rock Island Railroad and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks Local 1074. Survivors are his wife, Louise; an uncle, Joe Wellington, of Des Moines and a cousin.

Sees Pupil Assignment Laws As Curb to Desegregation

Washington—As long as present pupil assignment laws are used to restrict drastically the admission of Negro children to previously all-white public schools, it will be necessary to "encourage a substantial number of applications," Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, declared at an annual Unitarian dinner.

Speaking at the All Souls Unitarian Church here on Feb. 27, Mr. Wilkins referred to the "pained responses from many Virginia sources" to his recommendation in an address at Portsmouth, Va., on Feb. 15 that Negroes "by the hundreds" apply for transfers and admissions to schools from which they have been excluded solely on the basis of race.

Trickle

"What I was saying at Portsmouth," the NAACP leader asserted, "was that so long as opponents use the pupil assignment process as an instrument to balk desegregation, or to 'control' it in the Norfolk ratio of 17/100 of one percent or other unrealistic ratios (as in North Carolina) we must encourage a substantial number of applications in order to secure more than a trickle of admissions."

Originally 151

He cited the example of Norfolk where there were originally 151 applicants only 17 of whom were finally admitted to schools with a total enrollment of 10,000. "If this tortuous procedure were to be accepted uncomplainingly by Negro citizens, and the same ratio were to be maintained, it would require roughly 2,500 applications to secure 250 admissions—and this number would be SEE PAGE THREE

Supreme Court Asked To Review Alabama Anti-NAACP Ruling

Washington—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today asked the United States Supreme Court to review the action of the Supreme Court of Alabama in refusing to send to a lower state court the mandate of the federal court reversing the judgment of the Circuit Court of Montgomery County which found the NAACP in contempt and fined it $100,000 for failure to disclose the names and addresses of Association members in Alabama.

Restraining Order

The NAACP petition for a writ of certiorari in the case included an alternative petition for a writ of mandamus "directing and requiring" the Alabama Supreme Court to send down the mandate of the United States Supreme Court to the Circuit Court of Montgomery and "to order, direct and require that court to proceed to hold a hearing to determine on its merits the validity of the ex parte temporary restraining order and injunction," still in effect against the NAACP.

History Reviewed

The petition, filed by NAACP attorneys Robert L. Carter and Arthur D. Shores, reviewed the history of the case and asked if the Alabama Supreme Court may "refuse to send down the mandate of this Court under the circumstances of this case" SEE PAGE THREE

In Nightclothes as Blaze Sweeps Interior Causing Estimated $11,000 Damage

Early morning flames gutted the home of the Bryon Hayters at 1155 13th Street Monday wreaking an estimated $11,000 damage. Nine occupants, including five children, in the two-story frame house were forced to flee in their nightclothes. Outside the grounds were covered with deep snow, reminder of last Thursday's blizzard.

Mrs. Hayter said she awakened her husband when she smelled smoke about 4:40 a.m.

"I don't know why I awoke; I wasn't coughing or anything" she said. "Smoke was coming from the registers."

The couple awakened their three children, Tamarra, 12, Byron T., 9, and Kevin, 8; two grandchildren, Cynthia Simmons, 2½ and Keith Jackson, 11 months; Mrs. Hayter's mother, Mrs. Minnie Thurston and Mrs. Arthur Harvey, occupant of a second floor apartment.

Complete Loss

Firemen battled the smouldering fire for over two hours. Their efforts were hampered by frozen fire hydrants. Firemen said the fire apparently started in the basement

Lamb Curry Is Glamorized With Pineapple Tidbits in Rice Ring

Salted almonds and coconut are delicious accompaniments.

Impart an Oriental touch to left-over lamb with a dash of curry powder. Remove meat from the bones, cut it into fairly large-sized pieces and combine with curry sauce, surrounded with a ring of rice, glamorized with pineapple tidbits.

The more condiments the merrier at a curry dinner. Chutney is considered indispensable in curry-eating circles. Other suggested condiments are shredded coconut, salted peanuts, or salted bananas.

- PINEAPPLE LAMB CURRY 2 lbs. lean lamb shoulder 1/4 cup flour 2 tbsps. salt 2 tbsps. cold water 1 can (No. 2) pineapple tidbits 1 cup hot cooked rice or margarine 1 tsp. chopped parsley 1/2 cup flour 1 tsp. curry powder 2 tbsps. cold water 1 can (No. 2) pineapple tidbits 1 cup hot cooked rice or margarine

Put meat into small cubes and brown in hot shortening. Add enough boiling water to cover meat; add seasonings, onion and parsley. Cover and cook slowly for one hour, or until meat is tender. Strain stock; reserve 2 cups. Mix flour and curry powder with cold water and stir into lamb stock. Cook until thickened and add meat. Heat pineapple tidbits in syrup until boiling and drain. Lightly mix rice with melted butter and pack into a well-greased ring mold about 7 inches in diameter; allow to stand a few minutes. Unfold rice onto a large platter and pour curried meat into center. Arrange pineapple tidbits in a ring, separating meat and rice. Serves 6.

Collar the Clock! PUTTING a collar on the average kitchen timepiece will brighten up the clock wall and make it both attractive and more useful.

Material should be large enough to allow for the saving of a "collar" to fit around the clock. The center of the "collar" may be cut out with a coping or similar-type saw. To get the blade started, insert it in a hole bored near and inside the line marking the outline of the clock.

the Camera Guild Be sure that everything is in order for projecting your film before the meeting opens. That's the secret of a good smooth showing. Films Give Variety to Club Programs

Many clubs and organizations have heard their first "meeting come to order" for the season, and program chairmen are looking for good material. That's why we feel it's a good time to talk about the vast fund of program material that's currently available in professionally-made movies—and at prices well within the budget of even the smallest club group.

HELPING CHILDREN AVOID RIGID IDEAS

A few days ago as I was writing some numbers for my second-grader to copy in a game we were playing, he became quite upset about the way in which I wrote the number "two." He insisted that I was not doing it correctly and that I should change to his method of forming the number. He repeated that his teacher had taught him the correct way.

For a moment I was tempted to retort that my teacher had taught me a different way—but then I stopped to wonder why the subject seemed so important to him.

Neighbor's Children

I was reminded that he sometimes becomes upset when neighbor children use his toys in patterns of activity that are different from his own; he gets angry and insists that they aren't using the toys in the "right" way. He must still be very careful and deliberate in many actions that are habitual for me, and perhaps his self-consciousness about whether he conforms to the style he has been taught makes it hard for him to see that there might be other styles that accomplish the same thing.

Writing Number

He and I talked then about why a person would want to write a number anyway, and he finally suggested that it was to tell somebody else something definite about an amount. I agreed, and pointed out that as long as the idea was communicated clearly, it was partly a matter of convenience and habit, then, that determined which particular way of forming the number was used.

Ways of Fun

We moved on then to talk about why people play; he immediately that we do it to have fun. When I asked whether people could have fun in different ways even though they used the same materials, he agreed. After a few minutes he said he thought maybe there weren't special "right" ways to have fun, but only "fun" ways to have fun.

With luck he will continue to see that many of his own preferences are not matters of right and wrong but of taste and habit and experience, and that other people are entitled to have different preferences because their experiences and tastes are different from his.

remarked, "It's terrible to come back and have this happen, but I am glad I was here. I doubt if I could have taken it if I had learned of it while I was out there."

"People have all been so very nice to help. We won't ever be able to thank them," she said.

New York City—Joyce Bryant, the fabulous night club singer who dropped fame and fortune for her religion, will be heading back to Bermuda again this summer. . . . She went last year—and loved it but "only to visit" . . . The singer took her young pianist-organist, Everyl Gibson, who demonstrates organ for Wurlitzer Co. in New York. This year the two will return to do 4 programs, one at The Barclay, Bermuda's private high school . . . Joyce, who loved the native "passion flower" as well as all the beautiful array of flowers and plants growing along the roadside, toured the churches and the many 7 Day Adventist groups on the island—speaking about her reconversion . . . She spent her evenings doing concerts in far less glamorous settings than many of her fans have ever seen her . . .

We saw Joyce in her first big appearance—her debut—back in '51 in Pittsburgh when the possibilities of a big career dangled before her . . . We saw one of her last appearances, at the Apollo, when, decked in one of those skin-tight gowns which barely leaves room for walking—and silver-colored hair and fingernails to match—she was the rage of New York . . . What she could do with simple ballads was amazing . . . With a slight motion of bended knee and a voice that throbbed from the heart—Joyce Bryant was a unique stylist very few could touch . . . She had reached the pinnacle when she suddenly decided to give it all up . . .

We've missed Joyce from show business—there has been no one to fill her shoes . . . And whereas before she was a distinct headliner in clothes and coiffures, she now limits herself to being smart but simple . . . She allows only a few unusual hats to her wardrobe—made and designed by herself. Joyce will help this summer to celebrate Bermuda's centennial year—and incidentally the island got off to a bad start with unusually cold and dampish weather for the famed "sunshine resort" but they're expecting a booming Easter season—featuring their famous lilies . . .

Johnny Mathis

Theatre-goers of Hawaii put thumbs down on the Honolulu Community Theatre's version of bringing the "Tobacco Road" company to its shores . . . In short they found the production "unsuitable" . . . The duet affair between George Gobel and Nat King Cole on Gobel's TV show was adorable . . . Johnny Mathis into the Sands Hotel in Vegas for 3 weeks in March . . .

Golden Gate Quartet

Babs Gonzales, one of the original bebop kings, now sports a Russian cossack hat, a relic of his European tour . . . The Golden Gate Quartet, now playing in the Philippines on a world tour for the state dept. is taking bookings for U. S. in May . . . They return then to a sad affair as Margaret Wilson, wife of one of the singers, was among the 65 who perished in the recent plane crash in the East River . . .

James Edward

Friends of James Edwards, the actor, are disappointed at the small role he had in "Anna Lucasta" and to make matters worse—he looked extremely thin . . . but reports from the coast are that he's "swinging" in the screen writing dept.—a big interest with him at the moment . . .

Rex Ingram

Meanwhile, "Anna Lucasta" is enjoying a big week at the local theatres—and we'll have to admit, we were surprised to see how the audience went for Fred O'Neal who is a real scene-stealer . . . Rex Ingram as the God-fearing father had a chance to show his acting ability but too often was over-dramatic . . . Sammy Davis proved himself a natural-born actor but definitely not the lover type . . . Eartha Kitt, meanwhile, looked the part of Anna but still has her old trouble: too fast with her lines . . .

Sammy Davis, Jr.

Too many times her words came out mumbo-jumbo . . . and when she was audible, she said them like a sing-song . . . Eartha is predominately an entertainer—a singer, a dancer, a showman . . . but not a finished actress . . . Her performance lacks sincerity . . . even when she was pleading for a second chance and tears ran down her face, it was more melodrama than words from the heart . . . Her best was done as the sultry siren—selfish, confused and almost untamable.

only 2 1/2 percent of the white students enrolled," he pointed out.

Organized Labor

Of the role of leaders and members of Local 371 of the Textile Workers in the Front Royal high school boycott and economic reprisals, Mr. Wilkins said: "Irony is piled on top of irony when a unit of organized labor—which is presently being investigated and smeared and, in some instances, persecuted—should in turn become the leader in persecuting Negro workers and their families, whose only 'crime' is the seeking of equal education for their children under a Supreme Court ruling and through the orderly procedures of the courts."

The NAACP leader also reaffirmed the Association's support of the Douglas-Javits-Celler bill as "the best of the civil rights bills" now before Congress. The Johnson bill, he asserted, "is unacceptable" and the Administration bill "which has some good features . . . falls short of the Douglas-Javits-Celler bill."

Knew Nothing

Mr. Bell, who has been with the Des Moines postal system since 1955, said, "I knew nothing about the recommendation or citation until that Saturday when we were called together for a meeting."

Fellow workers at the sub-station chidingly attest to his superior ability by calling him "Mr. Postoffice." After becoming a regular clerk in July 1956 he transferred out to the south side sub station about a year later where in addition to distributing letters and papers, he works on the stamp and money order windows.

Professional Baseball

Before going into the post office, Mr. Bell who is a native of Des Moines, was a professional baseball player with the Kansas City Monarchs. For three years he was a pitcher on the team and assisted the club to a pennant in 1953. He was first contacted by the president of the club after he graduated from East High school, where he received two letters each in baseball and football and one in track.

Then came two years in the army where he served as a private first class at Ft. Eustis, Va. Mr. Bell and his wife, the former Itasca Parker, are the parents of two children, Robin, 3 and Deanna, 9 months. Mrs. Bell formerly was employed at the Northwestern Bell telephone company as a TBX operator.

N. C. BOYS ADJUSTED TO NEW HOME ENVIRONMENT

Charlotte, N. C.—David Simpson, 8, and Hanover Thompson, 10, have enrolled in a public school in Charlotte and are now "on the way to a good life," Kelly Alexander, president of the North Carolina State Conference of NAACP branches, reported today.

The two boys were released on Feb. 13 from the Morrison Training School where they had been detained since Nov. 4, 1958, following their arrest for being kissed by a little white girl playmate in Monroe, N. C. The NAACP undertook the legal defense of the boys. A petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed by NAACP attorneys, was denied on Jan. 12 by Superior Court Judge Walter E. Johnson. They were released and returned to their families before the case went up on appeal.

Relocated Families

Meanwhile, the Association relocated the families of the two youngsters in homes in Charlotte. The NAACP is providing them with financial and other assistance pending an adjustment to their new environment.

The arrest and detention of the children aroused world-wide indignation. People and organizations in Holland, Italy, France, Germany and elsewhere flooded the office of Gov. Luther Hodges with protests.

case," and if the NAACP may "be deprived of access to the courts of Alabama to test the validity of an ex parte order, in effect ordering it from the state as a punishment for contempt, thereby rendering the ex parte temporary restraining order a permanent injunction, without petitioner's having been granted the right to a hearing in accord with requirements of due process of law."

Banned Since '56

The NAACP has been banned in Alabama since June, 1956, when the Montgomery County court, on complaint of Attorney General John Patterson, now governor of the state, issued an order forbidding further activity by the NAACP in the state. A fine of $100,000 was imposed. On June 30, 1958, the U. S. Supreme Court handed down a decision reversing and remanding the Alabama court ruling which had been sustained by the state's Supreme Court. Last Feb. 12, the Alabama Supreme Court refused to follow the mandate of the U. S. Supreme Court on the ground that the federal Court's decision "rests upon a mistaken premise."

United Nations—The future of the British and French Cameroons is currently the subject of debate before the UN trusteeship committee. At issue, is whether the two territories will be linked together, or whether the British-held Cameroons will become allied with Nigeria.

U.S. MUST HELP AFRICA

New York—Daniel A. Chapman, Ghana's permanent UN representative, declared last week that the U.S. must decide whether it stands "with the African people or with the foreign powers which suppress us." Africa, he said "prefers direct aid by America rather than aid by the proxy of colonial powers" but did not want an estrangement between the U.S. and its allies, Britain and France.

It needn't be Friday to enjoy this delicious "quickie" lunch. Fish sticks in frankfurter rolls is the latest suggestion from the Minute Maid-Snow Crop Frozen Foods Test Kitchen—and a wonderful idea it is too!

Quick, easy and economical, this is a menu specially apt for Lent, but appetizing enough to serve year 'round. Allow 2 Snow Crop Fish Sticks per serving (the 8 ounce package will serve 4 people). Heat, following label directions, then sandwich in the frankfurter rolls. You can warm your rolls in the oven along with the Fish Sticks, or toast them if you prefer. Tartar Sauce and lemon slices belong, of course, but there's no law says you have to have them.

For crisp contrast try celery and carrot curls, radishes served plain or fancy, your favorite beverage and maybe some fruit for dessert. You've got an attractive lunch that takes only minutes to set up.

Don't Put Family Snapshots Off Until Tomorrow

TOMORROW is definitely too late for picturing people as they are today. There are some varieties of family snapshots that you definitely shouldn't put off taking.

Among these are the family groups, the four generation snapshots. Sometimes in our concentration on picturing the small fry and how they grow, we tend to forget about the grown-ups in the family. They belong in the family picture record, too.

Picturing the oldesters and the youngsters together is something that can be fun, and at the same time produce snapshots that will become family treasures.

Of course, when it comes to picturing a family group, it is always important to have a center of interest—something that all of your subjects can focus their attention on and not look at the camera.

In taking the three or four generation pictures that should be a part of every family record, the representative of the youngest generation makes an excellent center of interest.

Group the adults in a comfortable manner and let them be admiring the baby. Nothing could be more natural—and because of that it ought to be a sure-fire means of getting good expressions on the faces.

When you have a group like that together, don't take just one picture—the subject is too important to take any chances. Shoot several and you are bound to have at least one exceptionally good picture, and you'll probably have a "whole series."

TABLE TRICKS: Tea for the Bride-To-Be

Pot holders come to the tea table without blushing when the occasion is an informal tea and shower for the bride-to-be. Willing hands will make short work of finishing the pot holders, when you place them on the table, along with needles and thread, tape or rickrack edgings that will be sewn on while the guests chatter.

"An informal tea table can be just as pretty as a formal one," according to Catherine Gray, Fosteria Glass consultant on table settings. "And of course, every woman appreciates the ease with which such a table can be prepared."

Tall tapers on the tea table reflect the glow from a polished table top and prettily etched glassware. A large oval cut from pastel-colored linen (or a lace doily) is the only cloth that is used on the table—a different and effective touch.

To make the floral arrangement, place roses, an assortment of broad green leaves, and tall white tapered in a glass garden set. This usable piece consists of a low bowl with removable flower block and individual candle holders which are also removable. You'll bring the bowl to your table often, to serve cookies, cake, salad, canapes or berries.

Personally Yours by Frances Muthorne. Includes a small portrait of the author.

Were we chagrined last week!!!! Here we were guilelessly ruminating about the breakup of winter and about last flurries, then along comes the biggest "flurry" in ten winters to slap us in the face. We realize the conversation of the "Big Storm" is a little jaded by now, but as we were writing this, people were still talking about it as though they were mesmerized and could not talk of little else. So we might as well throw in our flurry of tidbits.

After making a fast trip last Thursday morning to the office, as the storm gathered momentum, to page proof-read that edition, we came back. A few hours later a letter arrived from my mother, Mrs. Pauline Watson in Eolia, Mo., and she too, talked of how the premature spring days of the week before had turned her mind to planting annual flowers (she hasn't missed a year, yet) and gardening.

Most of the people we talked to made it home, but Mrs. William Jackson, of 1319 E. 15th street, was unable to make it and had to stay overnight at the home of some friends on the west side.

Leola Hubbard, of 1127 W. 11th street, was among city employees who were sent home, said she had prepared for a possible safe journey home by taking her car to a filling station, where her car chains were put on for her. She made it home just fine but couldn't get into her driveway, and on top of that had to shovel snow from her doorway, in order to enter her home.

Mrs. Hubbard's boss, Malcolm Higgins, executive-secretary of the Human Rights Commission, had motored to Kansas the previous day and had planned to be back in Des Moines by Friday morning. However, when he tried to return Thursday, he was stopped by highway patrolmen. By Thursday evening, he and other motorists were authorized to continue their journey. After making only 100 miles in 8 hours he was stranded in Bethany, Mo., until Friday evening. He arrived in Des Moines Saturday evening.

One Des Moines employer, who always takes extra precautions during any unusual weather by carrying various equipment in his car, took over an hour to take his office help to their homes on the east side, before making a slow but sure trip to his west side home. The employees had been dismissed early but were unable to get bus or cab transportation home.

Miss Charlene Wharton, director of Willkie House closed the center early, but was unable to get her car out to go home. She got out and walked over a mile to her apartment at 2410 School street.

Several employees of the Statehouse walked similar distances after they were unable to secure motor transportation.

TALMADGE WANTS CRIMINALS TO GO FREE

Senator Talmadge of Georgia has introduced a bill in Congress requiring jury trials in contempt cases in federal courts.

It would apply in all contempt of court cases involving individuals except in instances of contempt committed in the presence of the judge. One effect would be to wipe out a section of the 1957 civil rights act that permits judges to impose jail sentences up to 45 days and fines up to $300 without jury trials for contempt of court orders in voting rights cases.

This bill grows out of law enforcement by federal court in civil rights cases which saw, and rightly so, no difference in contempt cases than in other type of litigation.

Of course, Senator Talmadge knows that juries in Georgia and most of the southern states will not convict a defendant of contempt in civil rights cases even in federal courts. He wants his constituents to be free to violate and ignore the law and decisions rendered in compliance with them and still go unpunished. Certainly, there should be enough liberal decent Republicans and Democrats in Congress to see that the measure does not pass. And those congressmen who favor such a measure are not to be counted on the side of those who want justice and equality for all groups.

TRYING TO CRUSH THE FELLOW BELOW

The U. S. Supreme Court has refused to review a lower court decision holding that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineers could exclude Negroes from membership. However, the court did indicate that its decision was based upon the state of the record. (This indicates that some procedural matters had not been complied with.) Undoubtedly if the objections are corrected the case eventually could be heard on its merits.

In these times most workers are joining a union. In most cases, employers fear to hire other than union workers. And in the case of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineers, the U. S. government acting through the Railway Labor Board, is actually a part of that organization.

Some unions have not been guilty of wholesale racial discrimination as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineers as a few of the old line unions. Unions have been formed to cope with employers and employer organizations. And they have done so, and succeeded very well in improving the lot of labor. But while they were being mistreated by employers, these same unions placed provisions in their laws barring Negroes from membership. In other words, as they were being crushed from above, they themselves were trying to crush the fellow beneath them.

Recently, Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP, wrote George Meaney, president of the AFL-CIO charging that a pattern of racial discrimination and segregation exists in many affiliated unions. He named several organizations in the complaint but did not mention the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineers. He did mention the United Brotherhood of Joiners and Carpenters of America. But here in Des Moines the carpenters' union has done a good job in this respect.

Nowadays, not only are unions asking Negroes to remain loyal to their cause on the job but also that they back political candidates that are endorsed by unions. This would not be so bad if these same unions gave Negro workers an even break. But when they ask them to help maintain union solidarity and deny them the fruits of union organization, that is too much to expect.

Undoubtedly this case against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineers will find its way before the Supreme Court again and with a proper record, the results are pretty sure to be different.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENTS

Des Moines has been full of high school basketball players during the last few days. Most of them came from smaller communities.

On the streets, in the stores and at the auditorium it has been interesting to watch these kids and to see the pleasure they derive from these events. They work hard at each whether cheering or playing and burn up a lot of energy. They learn a lot.

The time and money spent on these projects certainly furthers the education, training and experience of these young people.

Makes All City Basketball Team

Edward Carter, 18-year-old star guard of the North High basketball team, was named last week on the first team all-city selection by coaches and sports writers. His performance for the Polar Bears was so outstanding that he missed only by one ballot of being a unanimous choice for the first team. On that one ballot he was placed on the second team.

Carter, who expects to graduate in June, has won a letter each in football, track and basketball. During 1957 he participated on the North team, in the section district basketball tournament, which beat Dowling and Roosevelt. In that same year he was named "Boy of the Year" at the Crocker branch of the Y.M.C.A.

Joe Louis Gets Spot In New Boxing Setup

Chicago—The wealth of the Jim Norris-Arthur M. Wirtz business interests Monday was thrown behind the promotion of boxing under the name of National Boxing Enterprises, Inc.

Norris and Wirtz, the leaders of the dissolved International Boxing Club, will be chairman and president, respectively, of the N.B.E., a wholly owned subsidiary of the Chicago Stadium Corporation.

Truman Gibson, a former president of the I.B.C., will be a director as well as the administrative head.

Louis Remains Advisor

Joe Louis, the former heavyweight champion, will remain with the N.B.E. in an advisory capacity. He was being paid a salary reported at $20,000 a year for such a service by the I.B.C.—the Chicago and New York I.B.C. units each paying half of Louis' salary.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"Would You Believe It . . ."

A glowing smile beams out from your television screen and a happy, happy voice cries "Would you believe it? I have a cold!" The answer we throw back at the screen this month is a loud "yes".

Medicine has made spectacular advances in the past year, but the common cold is just as prevalent this March as last. The lady on TV may be able to keep up her spirits with liberal doses of her sponsor's product, but that's just about all she can do. Cold remedies, no matter how attractively advertised, give little more than temporary relief for the symptoms of a cold. But let's face it—a cold is at the very least an uncomfortable nuisance. If you've discovered some remedy or routine or even a witch's charm that helps you keep your spirits up, more power to you. Stick to it, as long as your doctor says it's harmless. And keep this thought in mind—if you are otherwise in good health, this cold, too, shall pass away.

First Symptoms

On the other hand, you can't shrug off a cold and try to carry on as if it didn't exist. That can lead to real trouble. With the first symptoms of a cold—whether it's sniffles, sneezes, cough, sore throat, aching muscles, running eyes and nose, go to bed if you possibly can. Drink plenty of liquid. Try to avoid spreading your germs around. Skip school or work or the PTA meeting. Your absence will be more welcome than your presence until you are well on the road to recovery.

If your cold persists or if you have a high fever, see your doctor. And keep hoping. The research scientists haven't given up. Maybe by next March, there will be a break-through.

Campy Makes First Public Statement Since Son's Arrest

New York, N. Y.—In his first public statement since the arrests of his son, David, Roy Campanella, writing in Jet Magazine, said, "When all the facts are in and everything has been considered it may be that the case is more smoke than fire." Campanella, who is now in Vero Beach, Fla. coaching the Los Angeles Dodgers, wrote this for the March 12th issue of the magazine, just released.

In Campy's column he maintained that parents must be "extra-careful". Never once mentioning his own son's name, Campy stated that it is necessary for parents to fight juvenile delinquency, "with every kind of weapon they can muster", especially if it is personal.

Sense of Values

The Jet column by Campy goes on to say, "In lots of cases a kid can be straightened out even after he jumps off the track. Somewhere along the line maybe he loses his sense of values or he tries too hard to prove something. It's up to the father and mother to help the youngster make the right decision, then back him up all the way."

Direct Reference

In the only direct reference to his own family, Campanella seems to believe his son's problem will be straightened out and was unduly publicized. He wrote, "Fortunately, in one example of misdirection that I'm concerned with, I know what can be done. In the first place, the seriousness of the matter may have been distorted far out of proportion."

Roy has been writing a weekly column for Jet Magazine since August, 1958. Jet is a digest type publication with over 500,000 weekly circulation.

YANKEE ROOKIE MEETS SOUTHERN PREJUDICE—AND COMES THROUGH

New York City—When Elston Howard and his pretty wife, Arlene, left this city with their two young kids for Yankee Spring training in St. Petersburg, Florida, the bets were that he wouldn't last. Howard is a serious-minded, out-spoken young man with an intelligent, ambitious wife who wants her husband to get ahead—but not to be pushed around.

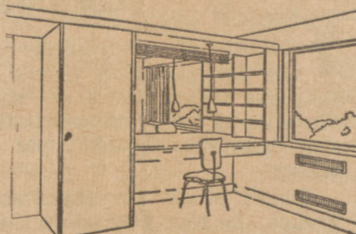

Arlene likes Florida—especially the weather. But she doesn't like the prejudice. And having to live in a segregated section is not their idea of the great equality this country stands for. But they're making out—they are making friends with their neighbors and

A Room for Two Children

WHEN two youngsters occupy the same room, ordinarily they have little privacy. However, by using a bit of imagination and ingenuity, the fix-it-them-selves family can create a room that has two of everything, plus built-in privacy.

First, the room is divided by means of an extra-wide divider desk and closets. This way, there'll be a separate study and clothes storage area for each child. The separation of the space is completed by a sliding door.

Other features may include a radiator enclosure, fluorescent lighting, spacious drawers in the desks and an attractive soffit. Use of Masonite hardboards for the closet walls, desks, soffit and as underlayment for the flexible floor covering makes such a room improvement both economical and easy. A large variety of hardboards for these purposes are available at lumber yards.

Hardboards made by Masonite Corporation, the pioneer producer, are made by exploding clean wood chips in huge guns and then compressing the fibers into thin, strong panels under extreme heat and pressure. Being all wood, these panels may be worked and finished like wood.

For a free plan detailing how to create a youth room for two, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting plan No. AE-265.

Local AKAS Attend Conference in K. C.

"Forward to A New Era of Service" was the theme of the one-day leadership conference held by the AKA Sorority in Kansas City, Mo. on Feb. 21. A total of 101 AKA women from 18 states and the District of Columbia attended the sessions held at the Parkview Hotel.

Nine national officers were present, including Marjorie H. Parker of Washington, D. C., Supreme Basileus. Mrs. Parker told the assembled delegates that she called the conference to plan ways AKA can best move forward. "Ways in which our efforts can be most effective and meaningful—ways in which AKA can meet the wonderful challenges and opportunities of our second half century."

Founders Day was observed and AKA women joined in a rededication ceremony. The conference was concluded by a bus trip to the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kan., to visit the Delta chapter house there.

finding playmates for their children. Before—Arlene had thought she wouldn't go to Florida—but decided the place for her was with her husband.

Not Discouraged

Howard is not discouraged—he says the situation is improving. He says the Yankees are doing their part to make things pleasant for him—and in each southern town he's met by civic leaders who want him to feel at home. But while the Howards are making out at the little apartment on the other side of town, his buddies are living the life at the Soreno Hotel or basking in the sunshine in rented beachside cottages. And he can't forget it.

A. & T. Aggies Wins Crown

Durham, N. C.—The A and T Aggies wrapped up their second invitation championship here last Saturday night by crushing North Carolina College's hoopsters 84-64.

Coached by Cal Irvin, the Aggies won 17 against no defeats in regular conference play. The Eagles with a CIAA log of 11 and 6 slipped down in the loop's standings.

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help . . . My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.—(Psalm 121:1, 2.)

with this brand-new, lovely day? Shall we waste it and despoil it, and throw it all away,—or value it, employ it, give praise for it—and pray?

Shall we pray that all its beauty, will pierce the walls of crime . . . and bring light to the burdened—of every race and clime? Let us help the blinded ones to see, and free those shackled minds, so they may know the truth today—that the world needs many kinds. ## Negro Hockey Star Honored in Philly

Philadelphia—Art Dorrington, a well-known hockey star and ex-Philadelphia Rambler player was honored last Sunday night at the Rambler-Comet game at the Arena.

Dorrington, who was injured while playing against the Comets in January 1958, still has not fully recovered.

The Ramblers and the Ramblers Rooters' Club banned together and staged the benefit night for Dorrington. Dorrington was given a benefit once before prior to going into the service. At that time (1956) he was the team's leading scorer.

When Dorrington returned from the service he again joined the Ramblers.

The club has paid all his medical bills.

the Camera Guild

Mirror pictures are easy to make, nice to have, and fun to show and impress your friends.

It's Almost Like Seeing Double

Yes, when you picture your subject reflected in a mirror, it's almost like seeing double . . . but it also can give you a very striking and effective snapshot.

Mirror pictures are for the most amateur photographers—using the simplest of equipment, as well as for the professionals who are well aware of the effectiveness of this technique.

A simple camera with flash attachment enables you to take these pictures. There are only two things which you have to keep in mind that don't apply to other pictures.

First of all, be sure that neither your camera nor the flash is reflected in the mirror. Secondly, when you figure the distance, you add that between camera and mirror to that between subject and mirror.

This means that if you have a camera that won't let you shoot a picture closer than six feet—and your subject looks best posed a foot from the mirror, you will keep the camera five feet from the mirror. That's all there is to it.

Find a pretty mirror, a good subject, and take camera in hand to make some snapshots that are "different" and make a terrific impression on people who aren't "in the know."
