Marian Anderson, the noted contralto who will appear at KRNT Theater at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday will readily agree that a sewing machine, typewriter, phonograph, electric stove and recording equipment are quite a load to carry on a tour of 50 cities.

Miss Anderson knows the burden it represents from experience. For when she began her annual tour, she was convinced that each of these items was indispensable. And in addition, there were three bags of concert gowns, complete clothing changes for winter or summer climate, two bags of shoes, another for hats, and a full valise crammed with correspondence she was sure she would answer on the road. In all, there were 22 pieces of "necessary" luggage.

For School Integration to Allow Other Negro Pupils To Enroll in September

New York — The agreement reached for desegregating the public schools of Charlottesville, Va., "suggests a path to peace and mutual respect which both white and colored Virginians can pursue with benefits to the commonwealth," NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins said here today in a letter to Dr. Philip Wyatt, president of the Virginia State Conference of NAACP branches.

Y.M.C.A. will participate in the annual Y.M.C.A. Recruiting Conference in Newton on Sunday, Apr. 12. Mr. Dixon, along with other professional Y.M.C.A. staff men, will interview prospects for the 'Y' Secretaryship.

Charlottesville, Mr. Wilkins recalled that "ever since the Supreme Court decision of May 17, 1954, the NAACP has advocated that the proper officials in the affected areas and Negro citizens agree mutually on a plan of desegregation suitable to the communities involved and the problems existing therein."

Negro Students

Under the Charlottesville plan, not only the 72 Negro students already approved for admission to previously all-white schools under a federal district court order—but also other Negro students will be permitted to enroll in desegregated schools in September. The plan was approved by Federal District Judge John Paul on March 30 in conference with Mr. Hill and John S. Battle, Jr., attorney for the City of Charlottesville.

Last Isort

The NAACP view, Mr. Wilkins asserted, "has been (and remains) that law suits should be the last resort and should be employed only when localities and states present such resistance and defiance as to leave citizens who seek their constitutional rights no alternative."

All that Negro citizens seek for their children, Mr. Wilkins said, is "that equality in educational opportunity" afforded by "a public school system that is not organized or administered on the basis of race. They seek this objective peaceably but firmly. They realize fully that a great social transition is in being and that this change requires not only patience, but honesty and fairness as well."

HOUSE BUYING TROUBLES IN CEDAR RAPIDS

Dr. Harris, who is believed to be the first Negro doctor in Cedar Rapids in 30 years, and his family have come up against unyielding racial discrimination when they attempted to buy a house in the city. Presently, they are living in a three-bedroom house owned by St. Luke's hospital, but the hospital needs the hospital for training of new interns in June.

A native of Durant, Miss., Dr. Harris was graduated from East High school, Waterloo, in 1947, and attended Iowa State Teachers college and Howard University, in Washington, D. C., where he received his medical degree in 1957.

Robert Armstrong, chairman of St. Luke's hospital board, described Dr. Harris as " . . . an exceptional man . . . an outstanding intern one of the ablest we have had in years." "That's why we retained him to train the next class of interns." Photo courtesy of Des Moines Sunday Register.

trips, the chorus spends about eight hours each in several workshop rehearsals.

Chancel Choir

Formerly, Mrs. Reeves directed a Chancel choir, composed of about 35 children voices, for 10 years. For a time she directed both the Chancel choir and the 40-voice Richard Allen Chorus.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

"No use to put your foot down when you haven't a leg to stand on!"

ANYONE can have a picnic right in the back yard, providing there's a picnic table and benches. Now available is a free plan that makes this furniture for outdoor living a simple acquisition.

With materials obtained from the lumber yard, the home craftsman will find this project a pleasure to build.

Unlike the old style benches, the ones described in the free plan are separate, so one needn't climb over them to sit down. When the picnic's over, they fit neatly under the table!

The table is rugged and sturdy. Its smooth, splinter-free top is made of Masolite Tempered Plywood, which will never split, splinter or crack. Rain, wind and snow won't affect it.

Another advantage of the design shown is that winter storage is made simple because one merely unbolts the "X" frame legs. Folds them together and stores them.

The table top can be hung on a wall in the garage or storeroom. Benches can be carried inside and used for wintertime or bad weather gatherings in the recreation room.

For a copy of the free plan, write Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting Plan No. AE-279. With it comes information for making comfortable lawn chairs.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

ANYONE can have a picnic right in the back yard, providing there's a picnic table and benches. Now available is a free plan that makes this furniture for outdoor living a simple acquisition.

With materials obtained from the lumber yard, the home craftsman will find this project a pleasure to build.

Unlike the old style benches, the ones described in the free plan are separate, so one needn't climb over them to sit down. When the picnic's over, they fit neatly under the table!

The table is rugged and sturdy. Its smooth, splinter-free top is made of Masolite Tempered Plywood, which will never split, splinter or crack. Rain, wind and snow won't affect it.

Another advantage of the design shown is that winter storage is made simple because one merely unbolts the "X" frame legs. Folds them together and stores them.

The table top can be hung on a wall in the garage or storeroom. Benches can be carried inside and used for wintertime or bad weather gatherings in the recreation room.

For a copy of the free plan, write Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting Plan No. AE-279. With it comes information for making comfortable lawn chairs.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 34th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

This week we are taking our hat off to a pretty young lass, Miss Blondell Winston, 17-year-old senior at Roosevelt High school. Like all prospective June graduates she is full of plans for graduation and her future.

At Roosevelt she is an ex-representative to the Girl's Club and is treasurer of the Spanish club. A member of Willkie House she also is a member of a group of girls who organized a club recently but no name has been selected yet. In addition she is a charter member of a local social club, La Frai's Douze Sois, which when translated means, "The Cool Twelve."

NAACP Youths

Blondell is a member of the NAACP Youth council and formerly served as its vice president. She is active in Sunday School at St. Paul A.M.E. church where she is a member. Several weeks ago she was guest youth speaker for the Evangelistic workshop at St. Paul.

Golf

Her hobbies are golf and her trophy as a former junior champion of the Central States attests to her adroit ability at the sport. She also likes long playing records.

BLONDELL WINSTON

Following graduation she plans to work during the summer and perhaps go to Denver, Colo., for a vacation and shopping spree for college. She wants to enter Drake university this fall and study toward a career in elementary teaching.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Winstons of 1108 W. 18th street.

New York City—Seems like Frank Sinatra is still blue with Sammy Davis, Jr.

He gave the juicy role in "Oceans 11" away to a comedian that was penciled for Sammy. Decca records observed the 10th anniversary of the death of Jack Kapp, one of the owners. The day of his funeral, Louis Jordan, then a big Decca star and headlining the Paramount Theatre on Broadway, sent a simple wreath inscribed "from Pops Jordan."

Mahalia Jackson, who struck another hit on Dinah Shore's Chevy Show, sang in concert at Symphony Hall April 8th in Boston.

Juanita Hall

We love the way Juanita Hall has risen in stature—appearing with France Nuyen on Perry Como's TV Spectacular, she did her famous

"Happy Talk" song which only she can do—and even in her role in "The Flower Drum Song" on Broadway—she is not typed as a Negro but as a performer of any nationality. You remember her from "South Pacific." While waiting for the movie to be cast (after the stage version finished), she did concert work but her first love is the theatre and incidentally, her best is there too.

Lionel Hampton

"Porgy and Bess" may break a record in the fact that it'll be the first film to play the Warner Theatre, which for 5 years has been a Cinerama house. The Warner is the former Strand Theatre where great bands played—namely Lionel Hampton. Bessie Buchanan, local politician has gained as a one-woman

Newspaperman Joins Rights Commission

Washington, D. C.—W. Otto McClarrin, artist, writer and editor, has joined the staff of the Commission on Civil Rights as a part-time consultant, and will assist the Commission in preparing its report to the President and the Congress, the deadline for which is Sept. 9.

A 1940 graduate of Howard University, where he was editor of the Hilltop newspaper and president of the Art Dancers Club, Mr. McClarrin has many years of newspaper, art, and public relations experience. He was formerly a columnist, reporter, and cartoonist for the Philadelphia Independent, Philadelphia Tribune, and Afro-American newspapers.

blockade against Adam Powell, who still gains much favor with the people.

Ruth Brown

Ruth Brown off on a 7 week tour with new pianist, Charles Coker, former Hawkins man. The Deep River Boys, back in the states, at the Key Club in Minneapolis. Dorothy Dandridge, who'll soon be a happy bride and we're tickled about it—signed with the William Morris Agency. That girl has really grown in her outlook—she's almost a woman of the world. Pearl Bailey belts at the Apollo Theatre May 8th, an annual date she insists on.

With Hawaii one of us, American Negro talent will head that way, as they did to Alaska. The Hawaiians, brown and beautiful, love rock and roll—and especially pazz.

Dick Campbell

Dick Campbell, who packaged those Negro units for the USO back in the war days—is now field consultant on African Cultural Affairs for the African National Theatre Academy. He's got great plans to help celebrate Nigerian Independence next year. He'll take a plane-load of about 100 on a tour of Africa. Incidentally, Campbell is a great pioneer for better parts for the Negro in legitimate theatre and he's also manager of Muriel Rahn, concert singer who happens to be his wife.

Police said Banks beat and robbed Ronald Thompson of Hotel Lloyd in the 1000 block of Center street.

John Williams Elected President of "Y" Club

Ashford, secretary; Kenneth Clayburn, assistant secretary; Roy A. Todd, treasurer; and LeRoy H. Carper, sergeant-at-arms. Dr. Stanley A. Griffin, Milton L. Miller and Samuel S. Singleton, were elected member-at-large of the executive committee.

BOOK REVIEW

Althea Gibson's Book Is Warm, Chatty And Reveals Rough Background of Author

BY LOUISE GLASS

"I WANTED TO BE SOME-BODY" by Althea Gibson is an interesting, chatty story. Reading it you have the feeling of sitting with an old friend who is bringing you up to date on her many experiences of the last two decades. Althea is perfectly candid. There is a lot more to this book than the autobiography. The things between the lines are very revealing.

Share Cropping

The Gibson family left sharecropping in South Carolina and came to Harlem when Althea was three years. Here life was sort of a "catch-as-catch-can" affair. Unlike her brother and her three sisters Althea disliked school and played hookey often. She loved athletics and played every kind of ball including football (with boys). She thinks the teachers passed to higher grades simply to get rid of her.

As she grew older she grew more wilful. No one could do anything with her. She stole, she swore and fought on the street with boys. She even beat up the leader of one of the boy gangs. Her father taught her to fight. But, staying out all night wasn't his idea. He lashed her with a strap. The more he lashed the worse she got. The worse she got the more he lashed. The girl was on a vicious cycle, headed for destruction.

Buys Tennis Racket

Then, Buddy Walker, the play affret director, noticed that in playing a game similar to tennis she handled the wooden paddle with remarkable skill. He told her he believed she could become a tennis champion. With his own money he bought her two rackets. Here Althea picked up a golden thread that led her through a labyrinth of experiences right onto the stage of world achievement.

Rough Diamond

She is deeply appreciative of patience and the understanding shown by so many people. There were times when they were sorely tried. She names many of those who saw her as a "diamond in the rough." Most outstanding among them are Joe Louis and Sugar Ray Robinson. She realizes it was their faith in her that allowed them to hold on. Even after she began taking part in important local matches she was ready to fight when things went contrary to her wishes on the court.

Tennis Heights

Now that she has reached the heights in tennis she would like to sing. She admits to having had several "crushes," but she isn't particularly interested in marriage yet. She has received some unfavorable press comments because of her crude manners. She says Negro press "beat my brains out" because she does not see the race situation as some see it. However, she gives many heartening excerpts from foreign newspapers on race reaction. The one by Alice Marble of the United States is a gem.

"Althea Gibson has realized her early dream. She really is somebody—WORLD TENNIS CHAMPION."

When Miss Anderson returned from each trip with an untouched typewriter, a full bag of unanswered correspondence, an unplayed phonograph, and several other pieces of luggage which were merely carted from railroad station to hotel and vice versa, the singer reluctantly decided to dispense with a few items.

The few left at home gradually reduced her load to six bags. This year, however, it is only five, for the sewing machine which so often accompanied her on the concert circuit is not along this trip. It proved

Don't Put Family Snapshots Off Until Tomorrow

TOMORROW is definitely too late for picturing people as they are today. There are some varieties of family snapshots that you definitely shouldn't put off taking.

Among these are the family groups, the four generation snapshots. Sometimes in our concentration on picturing the small fry and how they grow, we tend to forget about the grown-ups in the family. They belong in the family picture record, too.

Picturing the oldsters and the youngsters together is something that can be fun, and at the same time produce snapshots that will become family treasures.

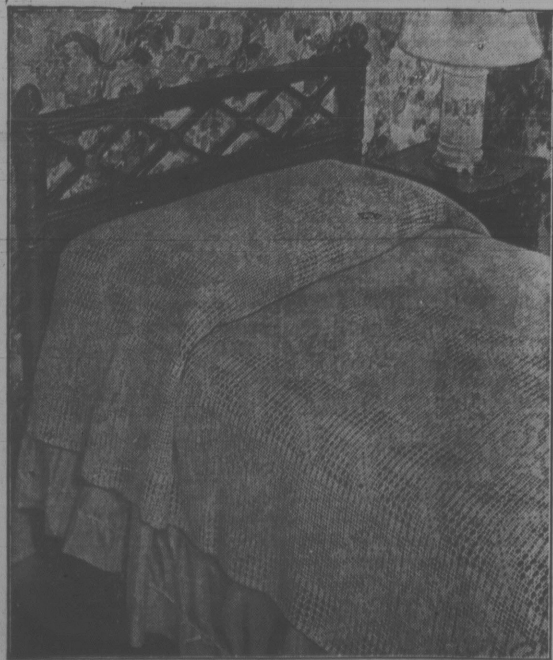

Of course, when it comes to picturing a family group, it is always important to have a center of interest—something that all of your subjects can focus their attention on and not look at the camera. In taking the three or four generation pictures that should be a part of every family record, the representative of the youngest generation makes an excellent center of interest.

Group the adults in a comfortable manner and let them be admiring the baby. Nothing could be more natural—and because of that it ought to be a sure-fire means of getting good expressions on the faces.

When you have a group like that together, don't take just one picture—the subject is too important to take any chances. Shoot several and you are bound to have at least one exceptionally good picture, and you'll probably have a whole series.

Negro Jobless Rate Twice That of White Workers

St. Paul—Fiscal policies of the national Administration are making Negro employment gains extremely difficult and in many cases are destroying past progress, NAACP Labor Secretary Herbert Hill charged here Saturday.

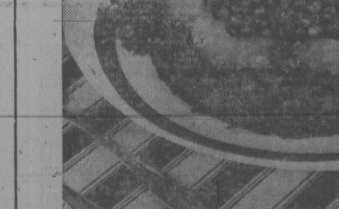

When he delivered the main address at the third annual American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations Institute on Human Rights.

Disparity
As certified bargaining agents, he said, trade-unions are often the decisive factor in determining status of the Negro worker. "All too often, there is great disparity between declared public policy of the national AFL-CIO and the day-to-day reality experienced by northern as well as southern Negro wage earners," Mr. Hill declared.

Non-white Unhired
He added that "during 1958, the non-white unemployment rate, as estimated by the census bureau, was higher than at any time during the last 12 years."

"In 1958 and the first quarter of 1959, the non-white unemployment rate has almost been consistently more than double the white unemployment rate."

"This would indicate that very limited progress has been made in securing the same degree of employment stability for the Negro worker as is enjoyed by the white," he concluded.

Pineapple slices add a bit of glamor and interesting texture.

When you put your ring mold to work, you add a bit of sparkle to everyday foods. A main dish distinguished enough to star on any table is our Tuna-Pineapple Ring. High in nutrition with milk, egg, tuna, bread crumbs and celery, it takes on glamor and interesting texture with cut slices of pineapple arranged in the bottom of the mold. Either green beans or peas may be used in the center of the ring. Substantial, it needs no more than a combination or fruit salad with rolls and butter for a main dish for a meatless meal. A sweet dessert and beverage would complete the menu.

TUNA-PINEAPPLE RING
2 cans (7 oz.) tuna (2 cups)
1/2 cup medium white sauce
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 egg
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup dry bread crumbs
4 slices pineapple
Flake tuna and add lemon juice, white sauce, seasonings, egg, celery and bread crumbs. Mix well. Thoroughly grease the bottom and sides of a 9-inch ring mold. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and arrange around the bottom of ring mold, placing cut side to the center. Spoon tuna mixture over pineapple. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes. Serves 6.
Run spatula around edge to loosen and unmold on serving plate. Fill center with cooked green beans or peas. (One pound beans fills center.)

HAPPY BIRTHDAY PARTY

To a child, his birthday can be one of the highlights of the year, a happy initiation into the opportunities of the year ahead. But the birthday party can be a disappointment to the child and a headache to mother unless some precautions are taken.

Kids at a party are not always on their best behavior, and one way to limit the potential hubbub is to limit the number of guests. Perhaps a good rule of thumb to apply is the one suggested by Myrtle Meyer Eldred: one guest for each year of the host's life. Another way of preventing too much unpartlylike activity is to set definite times for the party to start and end, and make them clearly known to the guests' families. For young children a couple of hours, at most three, provides plenty of time for fun and food.

Planning

Planning party activities rather carefully can reduce confusion and aimless behavior, too. Organized games can provide alternating periods of active and quiet play, they add direction to the children's expenditures of energy and can provide ways of working off the excitement of the occasion. Planning for the possibility of a rainy day will not find mother desperately wondering what on earth the kids can do indoors if the weather does turn out to be unpleasant. Even if you don't have to use the space provided by rearrangement of the furniture beforehand, the peace of mind gained by this preparation is probably worth the work it takes.

Food

Food is a must; it can be simple and unimpressive, yet attractive. As for gifts, it often is permissible to suggest to the parents of the intended guests that they should not be elaborate—this is not a contest.

Many libraries have excellent books of games and party activities, and several good ones are widely available in paperback form. A little planning can make the party a howling success, not just a howl!

DES MOINES A CITY OF BEAUTY

Featured as No. 215 in a Series of "Des Moines a City of Beauty," Monday was Mrs. John M. Estes, jr., of 1012 University ave., who is brightly jacketed books in the Des Moines Public Library where she is employed in the circulation department.

A graduate of Drake university,

Mrs. Estes is basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and is the daughter of Mrs. Zelma Graham of Springfield, Mo. Her husband, a former North High school and State University of Iowa athlete, is associated with his father in operation of the Estes and Son Funeral Home. Photo courtesy of Des Moines Tribune.

The beautiful, warm, sunny week-end did much to dispel the cobwebs of "winter weary despair" from the minds of most Des Moinesites. Like most people your columnist is torn between demanding spring cleaning and gardening, though we must concede that there is little we can do in the latter but pour over seed catalogs, gaze dreamily "in color" about flower gardens and mentally make plans for this year's tryouts and regular plantings.

Last year's success with initial plantings of a few gladioli bulbs made it a must for this season. Decided to go in for more and varied colors and species of marigolds because of their beautiful fall blooms when all else is fading; also, for their good ground coverage, especially the low growing ones. The only thing we have against them is either their lack of odor or their peculiar odor, when they do have some.

Noticed that the rock garden specimens are getting a good start. Mrs. A. C. Crawford, of 1200 13th got us off on this after we admired hers.

Our old friend, Mrs. Louise Glass is back with us this week with a well written review on Althea Gibson's autobiographical book, "I Wanted to Be Somebody." Be sure to read it on Page 3.

Speaking of Althea Gibson, we were particularly impressed with her on last Friday's appearance on Edward R. Murrow's television show, "Person to Person." Miss Gibson may not have many degrees in formal education but she certainly seems to have learned much from "The School of Hard Knocks." You can readily understand how she was able to climb from the basements of obscurity to the pinnacle of world tennis competition. She taught physical education classes at Lincoln university in Jefferson City, Mo., just several years before I enrolled there myself.

One point Miss Gibson made which carried a lot of weight with us. When asked about gangs during her childhood as compared with gangs of today, she replied, "that there were no gangs in comparison with the population rates today than yesterday, but said, 'Gangs are more brutal today. When I was growing up the worse you could expect from a gang was a good beating. Nowadays, they seem to want to physically hurt the person.'"

You know you often hear the expression, "Kids are so much badder than we were," or "People don't care like they used to." Something can be added to this, children and people of yesteryear did not live in an electronic, space age, either.

Mrs. Clara Bayles was unable to go to work for over a week due to injury sustained in an auto accident Monday, Mar. 29. She was not bedridden but unable to drive or get around because of a leg abrasion and foot injury.

James Callaway was released from the hospital a day before Easter and was back at work at the By-stander last week after a nearly three-week absence. Miss Shirley Fullbright, former employee of the paper, is now employed at Miller-Wohl's in the Park Fair shopping center.

Mrs. Vera Morrow of 1160 W. 17th street, who attended a beautician's clinic in Davenport over the week-end, commented on the "April Show-

REASONABLE MEN
CAN AGREE

Reasonable men can agree on a reasonable proposal if both sides come together with a willingness to settle their differences. The West is trying to tell Russia this in connection with foreign ministers' conference and the summit meeting. It is what reasonable people have been trying to tell the racial opponents of school integration in the South.

This possibly can best be illustrated by the statesmanlike program which has been worked out settling the school integration problem in Charlottesville, Va. The settlement, not only admits 12 Negro children whose status had been in controversy to the heretofore all white school, but also provides for others to come. Both the school officials and those representing the children agreed upon the program which was promptly approved by the federal judge.

Of course, the backbone of the citizenry in Charlottesville (it is the seat of the University of Virginia) has opposed sacrificing the education of their children to the whims of those politicians who thrive on arraigning one class against the other to gain their selfish ends. And the people of Charlottesville proved this by coming up with a workable program which all sides felt to be fair and just.

It is not within the province of private citizens to compromise a legal question—the right of Negro children to attend the school of their choice. There is no compromise of the law in this instance.

Bill in the enforcement of laws, plans on how to carry them out call for negotiation as to the best means of getting the job done. Certainly, in the switch from segregated to unsegregated schools involves many problems which the U.S. Supreme Court reorganized when the enforcement of its school decision was placed in the hands of local federal courts.

Undoubtedly the Charlottesville program will be a model for other cities and districts to follow. It may bridge a gap which has been lacking all along especially for those timid souls who even though hesitant wanted to obey the law of the land.

The NAACP is happy over this settlement for it further disproves the position of those who claimed the organization is extreme in its campaign to secure obedience to this and other anti-discrimination laws.

LEGISLATORS DUCK
REALISTIC PROPOSAL

During the course of the debate in the Iowa legislature over the liquor by the drink proposal, several speakers argued that such a law would wipe out the now famous key clubs many of which sell liquor to all comers.

The liquor by the drink proposal was defeated. Now, in an effort to plug up loopholes designed to secure better liquor control, a proposal is before the legislature which would levy a $1,000 tax on key clubs, require a $5,000 bond guaranteeing against violations of the laws and other restrictions which would penalize some of these clubs unduly. Opponents of this measure argue that this would be a hardship on some veterans groups, lodges and country clubs which operated strictly within the law by allowing members only the use of their facilities.

The present law exempts country clubs from some of its previous which are glaringly discriminatory for comparatively few people belong to country clubs. This proposed law puts them all on the same footing but at the same time gives legal status to many operations which are known to be violating the law.

This proposal is a makeshift and a cowardly method of refusing to face the liquor by the drink question squarely. Few people will argue about laws which operate fairly on all segments of the population but the method here suggested to regulate key clubs are cowardly and deserve to be defeated.

TAKING UNDUE
ADVANTAGE HERE

Speaking before the AFL-CIO Institute on Human Rights, NAACP labor secretary Herbert Hill told the delegates that Negroes were unemployed out of proportion to the total due to the financial policies of the national administration.

This information was included in a news release sent out by the national office this week. Of course the charge is untrue.

The statement is in attempt to show sympathy for the Democrat party by blasting the Republican administration and raising the race question so unnecessarily.

Logart Eyes Crown

Washington, D. C.—Watching his chances to cop the welter crown, Isaac Logart, powerful Cuban contender was hoping to make a terrific showing over Philadelphia's Charley Scott, who's just a little better than an amateur. In a warmup, Logart was amazed when Scott won a split decision. Logart, who's won 55 with 11 draws, is a 3-1 favorite.

Birmingham Barons
Gets New Manager

Birmingham, Ala.—Lorenzo (Piper) Davis, who played for Fort Worth in the Texas League last season, has been named playing manager of the Birmingham Black Barons of the Negro American League.

Davis was an outstanding infielder-outfielder with Birmingham for five years before he went into organized baseball as a member of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League. He also played with the Los Angeles Angels and moved to Ft. Worth when the Dodgers transferred to the West Coast.

The first exhibition game of the spring season will be played with the Memphis Red Sox at Rickwood Field here on Sunday, Apr. 19. The regular Negro American League season starts next month.

NAL Meets in Chicago

Chicago—The Negro American League held its annual spring meeting at the home of Dr. J. B. Martin, president, here Saturday, April 4. Heading the agenda were the drafting of the schedule for the 1959 season.

SPORTS

BY ALLEN ASHBY

If you are a baseball fan you saw the major league exhibition game Tuesday at League park. Your illustrious scribbler is really not a baseball enthusiast to the point where we will brave chilly breezes to sit through one. But we suppose all of the dyed in the wool fans were there to see Willie Mays and company get dunked by Cleveland's Mino Simpson and company.

Wadsworth
We were shocked and shaken up by the news of the passing of our friend, Everett Wadsworth in Chicago. Going at this time the guy's death really strikes home. We used to spend two or three weeks getting ready for the Drake Relays. Then on the Saturday morning of the meet we would make the rounds of all the hotels and interview just about all of the Negro athletes. This got us a speaking acquaintances with some of the most famous athletes of all time, Jesse Owens, Ralph Metcalfe, Eddie Tolson, Mark Robinson and a long list, too numerous for the space we have here.

Negro Official

Everett and I really got a Negro official at the Relays in 1934. Willis Ward of Michigan discussed the deal and got so worked up that we decided to do something about it. There were talks with the Drake Officials and some agreement on the man. Neither of us felt qualified for the job but we weren't sure who we wanted. Well as it happened Ward informed us that he wasn't coming back to Drake and Everett got off on another project so our plans fell through.

That was just about the high spot in our careers together, on the By-stander. But we went through a lot of experience together later during the war. Everett stayed in Chicago after the war but we don't think he ever was a real Chicagoan. Well, it certainly makes one wonder. Our deepest sympathy to the rest of the family.

It won't be long until the Midwest's greatest track show will be honored as the athlete of the half century. We were there that day the Buckeyes flash set his three marks and enjoyed a long talk with him before and after the meet.

Boxing

Anybody who might be tempted to adopt boxing as a career would do well to ponder the fate of Johnny Saxton. Twice world champion now a broken down penniless guy needing mental aid badly. A fine body ruined and over a quarter of a million dollars run through.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"Play Ball!"

The umpire's cry "Play Ball!" will echo throughout the land this week. April brings baseball as surely as it brings showers and new hats. And thousands of boys of all ages trot joyfully out on the diamond determined to knock one into the stands. Millions more, just as joyfully, prepare to watch.

Even if you count all the Little Leaguers and Middle Sized Leaguers and Police Athletic Leaguers, the spectators of baseball far outnumber the players. Many a man who hasn't held a bat since grade school days can quote batting averages back to Shoeless Joe Jackson. There are even experts who are willing to tell Casey Stengel how to manage the Yankees although they have never set foot on home plate.

Watching

The fact is that the Great American Game, as far as most adults are concerned, is watching baseball, not playing it. It may be entertainment, but it's not a sport that builds good

Johnnie Green Named
MVP of Big Ten

Chicago—John Green of Michigan State has been named the Big Ten's most valuable basketball player this season.

The 24-year-old senior, who never played basketball in his high school days in Dayton, Ohio, amassed more than twice the number of points earned by M. C. Burton of Michigan, his closest competitor.

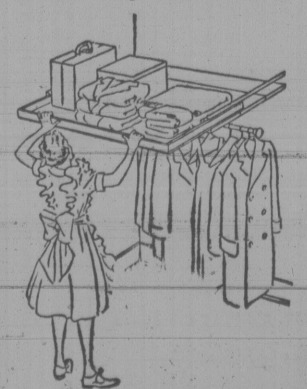

Green, overlooked by the Detroit, Pistons at the annual college draft meeting, was grabbed by the New York Knickerbockers as their first draft choice, Tuesday.

It's a Shelf on Shelf!

SOME deep closets have a shelf in back that's hard to reach. To make it more accessible, just install a thin shelf on top and slide it out when storing or removing items.

Because of its smooth, snag-free, long-wearing qualities, a panel of Masonite Tempered Preadwood is excellent for this purpose. Its width should be one-half inch narrower than that of the closet shelf, and its smooth side should face down to facilitate the sliding.

As a combination pull and railing, fasten a piece of 1 by 2-inch lumber at the front, by inserting countersunk screws through drilled holes in the Tempered Preadwood. Add 1 by 2-inch reinforcing at each side of the shelf, one-half inch from each edge. So that the shelf won't tip when moved forward, fasten to the wall at each side a narrow strip of lumber, or a quarter-round, 1/4 of an inch above the shelf.

The sliding shelf makes this out-of-the-way storage area readily useful.

health. Back in the old days, watching baseball was at least an outdoor sport. Today it's largely practiced in front of the television or radio set. This not only eliminates fresh air but also the exercise gained from jumping up and screaming at the umpire.

Health Improvement

As a step toward improving the health of the nation, how about starting the Middle Aged League? These are the boys—and girls, too—who need to be encouraged to exercise. The coaches, possibly drawn from Little League player ranks, would have to guard against developing too much competitive spirit. Sliding into second might have to be ruled out in the over-40 clubs. Otherwise, as some outstanding Big League players over 40 have demonstrated, baseball is not necessarily a youngster's game. Middle Aged Leaguers will improve their health, not to mention their figures, and have fun doing it. Let's play ball!

Medicine and Old Age

1 In 1900, there were 3 million persons over 65... today there are nearly 14 million

2 Elderly Citizens "have the same health problems as younger persons, but..."

3 the incidence of these ailments is greater as bodily energy tapers.

4 Science works to increase strength and energy in over 65's. Hormones and vitamins may be the answer.

More people are reaching old age than ever before—some 14 million today as compared to three million in 1900. These older citizens present new problems, economic, sociological and medical, many of which are inter-related.

Over-65s suffer the same ills as younger persons, but they are more susceptible to them. High blood pressure, diabetes, cancer, arthritis, heart diseases, hardening of the arteries, and even pneumonia, a disease that is on its way out in younger age groups, thanks to antibiotics, exact a heavy toll among our senior citizens.

Many of the new drugs have helped old and young alike. Anticoagulants prevent the dangerous blood clots which so often appear in old age. Several new drugs have helped cut down high blood pressure, which hits more than 60% of our senior citizens. Much has been done to combat heart disease—the greatest killer—which strikes more frequently both in the winter of the year and in the winter of life.

Important as these advances are, at best they only cure—they do not prevent. The real challenge to medicine is to build up the human machine that begins to wear down as old age advances. Vigor must be improved, tissues revitalized, outlook brightened and strength regained, lest vital organs fail in their functions.

Two types of agents—vitamins and hormones—offer the best chance of building up energy and resistance. Male and female hormones—androgens and estrogens—have been used with considerable success in brightening the outlook and increasing the vigor of old men and women. Often they are used interchangeably to fight a specific malfunction or waning strength. They have even been combined into a single drug, as in the case of Combandrin, to revitalize tired tissue and improve general well-being of male and female alike.

Vitamins, too, are playing a more important role in old-age therapy. Tests on animals have shown that vitamin A increased life span 10%, and that B complex vitamins lengthened life 10-25%. If the outlook for over-65s looks better today than before it is due in large part to the gains made in hormone and vitamin therapy.

AWAKE... MY HEART

Awake, my heart... and glean each fleeting hour, for jeweled moments you may store, to draw upon some future day when you may need them more... When winter comes, and cold winds scream a dirge, how sweet are lovely memories, you stored away within your heart for dreary days just like these... Now the years have flown, and bent the tired back, time in passing etched deep the lines of care, the spring has left your footstep and frost has touched your hair... Then your treasure-house of golden memories, how precious it will be, when you close your eyes and wish all those happy hours you see... The hours of joy in days of long ago, live on, from them you'll never have to part;

more and more, as time rolls on, your soul will thirst and call, "awake, my heart."

Injured John Thomas
Out for 2 Months

Boston, Mass.—World champion high jumper John Thomas of Boston

University, who recently injured his left foot in a moving elevator at the school, last week was expected to be sidelined for two months.

Dr. Chester Howe, physician, described Thomas' foot as "mangled," but there was no fracture.

Dr. Howe added that although several tendons and nerves were exposed by the injury none were found to be lacerated. At the present, it is not known if the injury would affect his career.

Thought for Today

"If there is no struggle, there is no progress. Those who profess to favor freedom, and yet depreciate agitation, are men who want crops without ploughing up the ground."

—Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and never will.—Frederick Douglass.

Good work is the most honorable and lasting thing in the world.—Henry Van Dyke.

Chuckie Channel

A wife who's a little on the heavy side, came home wearing a purple dress with orange polka dots and remarked to her husband, "Now tell me the truth. What do you think of it?" The husband answered, "Look, dearie, didn't it ever occur to you that when God made the humming birds and the butterflies he made 'em in brilliant colors? But when he made the elephants he made 'em gray!"—CBS Radio's "Galen Drake Show"

FORGING: ONE NATION UNDER GOD

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Bath-time and nap-time for baby offers excellent subject material for a picture story.

Pictures in a Series Tell a Story

One picture is always good—but there are many snapshot situations in which it is a shame not to take a whole series. Pictures in a series can tell a heartwarming story of family life that will be a treasured part of the snapshot album.

The small fry of the household are always good subject material for a picture story. The day in the life of a baby is so worth recording. Flash on camera makes such pictures easy to take. You can follow baby's activities wherever they normally take place—from nursery to bath to the kitchen. And, if that is baby's day to go out, perhaps for a visit to grandmother, it's a wise mother indeed who takes the flash camera along to include this part of the day in the picture story.

In addition to making up an interesting section for your family album, these picture stories can bring pleasure to other people as well. Out-of-town friends and relatives would be delighted to receive a note from you enclosing a set of snapshots like those shown above. Fond grandparents would be pleased as punch to receive a small album which traces in pictures the activities of a favorite grandchild in a typical day.

It's always a good idea to share your snapshots. Extra prints from your negatives are inexpensive and are bound to be welcomed by others who share your interest in the subject. We all like to find letters in our mailboxes—but a series of snapshots, or a series of extra special, —John Van Guilder
