Justice Department Files Voting Rights Case

Suit Brought Under Civil Rights Bill

Washington, D. C.—The Justice Department Monday filed suit to stop large-scale removals of Negroes from the voting lists in Louisiana's Washington Parish (county).

The White Citizens Council for the area and four of its members were named as instigators of the alleged purge.

Third Such Case

Attorney General William P. Rogers announced filing of the suit in the federal district court at New Orleans. It is the third voting rights action to be taken under the 1957 civil rights act.

The previous actions, in Georgia and Alabama, were knocked down by U. S. district courts and are now being appealed to the supreme court.

Over Thousand Removed

The suit at New Orleans named as defendants: Washington Parish Registrar of Voters Curtis M. Thomas; the White Citizens Council of Washington Parish; and four men—Diaz D. McElveen, E. Ray McElveen, Saxon Farmer and Eugene Farmer—described as council members.

The suit charges that between November of last year and June 16, some 1,281 Negroes were taken off the voting rolls as a result of challenges of their eligibility by Citizens Council members.

The government charged the Washington Parish council acted in the matter as part of a statewide program of similar organizations to re-

The famed jazz musician left for Rome, telling hospital attendants he planned to do some sightseeing. Physicians warned him to take it easy. Armstrong's personal physician said Armstrong and his wife would remain in Rome until Thursday, then fly to New York.

Knorr's Speech Closes Jehovah's Witness Meeting

"Lovers of peace with justice and happiness long to hear the voice strong enough to command peace upon all nations." With these impressive words Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, governing agency for Jehovah's Witnesses, began his public discourse at the State Fairgrounds Sunday.

"Today in man's most critical time there is no voice on earth with power enough to command peace world-wide," Knorr continued. Exploring man's failure to be able to assure peace he stated that the cold war between the two great blocks of nations, the communistic and democratic, has kept the world near a nervous breakdown.

Knorr pointed to God's established kingdom as man's only hope for world peace.

Knorr spoke to 10,015 persons, climaxed the four-day "Awake Ministers" District Convention which concluded at the Fairgrounds Sunday.

Large Increase in Members

According to Knorr, who has just returned from a tour of the branch offices in Europe and Africa, there are now 861,425 active witnesses in 177 lands throughout the world. New York City has witnessed a 30% increase during the past service year.

A mass baptism was conducted Saturday morning at a local swimming pool when 229 new Witnesses symbolized their dedication to do the will of God by water baptism.

According to convention officials the Des Moines Assembly, one of 29 district conventions held in the United States and Canada this summer, goes into the record as "another grand assembly of God's people."

Convention manager, John R. Meister, stated, "I feel it's necessary at this time to express our appreciation to the kindness of our convention."

mencement of Leland College in Baker, La., and conferred by President Dr. R. Douglas Thomas. White May Die; Raped S. C. Negro

Beaufort, S. C.—A 19-year-old white marine private was convicted here Monday of raping a 47-year-old Negro woman. The all-white jury did not recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

The marine, Fred Davis, of Atlanta, Ga., will be sentenced later by Judge J. Henry Johnson.

First Case

If he should be executed, it would be the first recorded case of the execution of a white man for raping a Negro woman in the United States. Davis, an electrician at the marine air station here, denied the rape charge in testifying in his own behalf. He said the woman consented.

Some Uncle Toms Remain; Times Have Changed Says NAACP Secretary

Memphis—Negro Americans stand united on the school desegregation issue, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the N.A.A.C.P., told delegates attending the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union here this week.

"There was a time," Mr. Wilkins said, "when southern white people could have split the Negro population down the middle on any issue like this. This would have kept us fighting among ourselves and we never would have received any benefit from the Supreme Court ruling."

Still Some Uncle Toms

"This has not been true on school desegregation. Here and there we have had an Uncle Tom, but they have been few and far between. We have been united. I believe this has been due in no small measure to the leadership which our churches, their pastors and their members have given."

In his address on June 24, the NAACP leader said that under segregation white people "get the best, Negroes get only what is left over—if anything. How can Negro parents be happy, for example, when their children under the illegal segregated school system, often must use torn, second-hand, out-dated textbooks after the white children have finished with them?"

"If I know anything about my own people," Mr. Wilkins continued, "it is that they are mighty tired of the same old shabby deal."

Praises Church

Turning to the role of the church in the struggle for civil rights, Mr. Wilkins said, "Our work and the work of the church have the common objective of creating a better and more just world."

"The establishment of the Kingdom of God on earth means the establishment of a society in which all the children of God shall have equality of opportunity, in which there shall be no difference in treatment because of nationality, or language, or form of worship, or skin color."

Speaking of the unity within the Negro community, Mr. Wilkins said, "that against this, 'our opponents have made much noise, but not much progress. In the battle for public opinion they are losing. Their cause is not just."

"They are trying to turn back the clock, to revive conditions as they were 80 years ago. They may delay the progress, but they will never succeed," Mr. Wilkins said.

Faubus Blunder

"Gov. Faubus made the mistake of the century by calling out the state troops to bar nine Negro youngsters from going to school. When the history of the segregation struggle is finally written, I suspect that the Faubus error will mark the turning point in favor of the new order."

Mr. Wilkins stated that decent white people outnumber the other kind in the South. Together with Negro citizens, they form a vast majority. "God will not permit such a combination to be defeated by the forces of bigotry and strife," he concluded.

Who's Who in Iowa

William Parker, Waterloo Attorney, Active in Civic Work; Prominent in Politics

This is the 68th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.

In that position Atty. Parker's main job is supervising the integration of Negro Republicans into the party. The Negro division per se was dissolved shortly before the national election last November and Parker's appointment came soon after from L. L. Jurgemeyer, G.O.P. State chairman.

A few weeks before the November election Atty. Parker was among a committee of state party leaders who welcomed President Eisenhower to Iowa during his appearance at the annual corn-picking festival held at Cedar Rapids.

Local Product

Born in Des Moines, Atty. Parker got his start in law practice in his hometown. A graduate of East High school he entered Arkansas State College where he received his bachelor degree in 1941. Soon after graduation the United States was pulled into World War II and Atty. Parker entered the service where he served 37 months in the navy.

Following his discharge he returned to Des Moines, attended

Drake university school of law for one year before leaving to enter Rutgers university, receiving his degree in 1949.

He practiced law in Des Moines one year before going to Waterloo where he has been active in the legal profession since 1950.

In Waterloo, Atty. Parker is active in professional and civic affairs. He is a member of the Waterloo branch of the NAACP and has participated actively in the Iowa State Conference Branches.

In addition he is a member of the Business Men and Professional club in that city. Regarded highly as a speaker, he brought the major address at the Bi-Annual of the Iowa Republican convention held at the Hotel Kirkwood in Des Moines last fall.

New York City—Charged with contempt, Hospital Strike Leader Leon J. Davis lost his appeal and faces the $250 fine and 15 days in jail. Davis, President of Local 119, Retail Drug Employees Union, was sentenced with George Goodman, the union's business agent.

Meanwhile, six pickets were arrested after an outbreak at the Jewish Hospital when strikers threw stones and sticks at two non-strikers.

Youth Of The Week

This is the 43rd in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

We are keeping our bouquet of commendations on the local level as we present Paula Gertrude Propes, 16-year-old North High junior. Interested in typing and clerical work, she plans to enter the American Institute of Business here following graduation from North and then land a job in her field.

Most of her outside activities have been concentrated in church and social clubs. At St. Paul A.M.E., where she is a member, she formerly was active in the junior choir and was active in the Youth group before its dissolution. Last summer she taught her mother's Sunday School class at the church. For the past three years she has been sent to the A.M.E. church camp at Cassopolis, Mich., as a representative of St. Paul.

Socially, Paula is a member of the Wilkie House and served five years on its House Council and served as secretary of the dance committee before it was incorporated in the former.

In addition, she is a secretary of the Starrettes, Federated Girls' club and was recently elected vice-president of the state organization. She is also a member of La Fraus Deputz Sois and is secretary for the group. She sings soprano with a girls singing group known as the Starrettes.

PAULA PROPES

In their appearances at churches, Wilkie House, Val Air Ballroom and several other places.

Paula likes collecting rock 'n' roll records for a hobby and has a few records. Johnny Mathis is her favorite singing artist.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Propes of 1118 17th street. She has an older brother, Victor, 20, a student at Grand View College and a younger sister, Arthurine, 13.

Lorraine Hansberry Featured in Vogue

Lorraine Hansberry, author of the Broadway hit, "A Raisin in the Sun," is featured in the "People Are Talking About" section of Vogue. The magazine describes her as "easy, brilliant, attractive, downright, and with plenty to say."

A stunning full-page photograph in the June issue shows the playwright in her Greenwich Village apartment in her working clothes: chino pants and a handsome checked top, in contrast to the "beautiful black and white of pearls" Vogue reports she wore at the Broadway opening of her play.

Vogue says of her: "Although caught in the pounce of publicity, she has remained a quiet woman. What fires her, however, is the recurrent label, 'the first Negro woman to have a smash on Broadway'."

REQUIREMENTS FOR POPULARITY

A question that plagues children about their behavior is, "Must I do this in order to be popular?" The question is asked about the ability to swim, dance or play ball, about necking on dates, drinking, the public flouting of rules and laws, and many other acts. This question seems to condense several related concerns that children have about how to maintain a desired standing with their friends.

No Guarantee One thing that children must notice is that just because one does any of these things he is not a guaranteed social success. It must also be apparent that not doing any of these things does not automatically bar one from popularity. So popularity must depend partly on other things than on just the performance of certain kinds of behavior.

Actual studies of the popular children of different ages suggest that the popular child is one who possesses a kind of comfort in his relationships with other people that is not closely related to his performance of specific behaviors. The popular children have a kind of inner security based on self-acceptance that is absent in the very unpopular children.

Real Requirements In view of these studies, it would seem possible to help children understand the real requirements for popularity, not in the light of a set of acts to be performed like a machine, but in the light of an approach to other people on a comfortable and natural basis.

If children are helped to feel self-confident about themselves, if they are helped to develop good working relationships with other people, if they are helped both to trust their own judgment and to realize that an occasional error is not fatal, they will probably have a good chance of being the kind of person that other people like. If they are liked, they can decide on better grounds whether or not to dance, or drink, or engage in other specific act.

Teenager Stabs For Beer Money

Brooklyn, N. Y.—A 17 year old Negro teenager is under observation this week for the fatal stabbing of a 24 year old married secretary whom she attempted to rob to gain money for beer. The teenager, Elizabeth Oulds, made the unsuccessful attempt to grab the purse of Mrs. Edward Rock in a subway station and when the latter put up a fight, she stabbed her in the back with a pen knife and fled without the purse.

Hours later police found the girl after making inquiries in the neighborhood. They discovered Elizabeth was a teenager with a bad temper and a lust for beer.

Dead on Arrival

Meanwhile, the secretary, collapsing on the subway platform, was taken to Cumberland Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival. Police at first admitted to having no clues. Her family didn't know of any enemies.

Elizabeth, found at her home, confessed that she had been drinking and ran out of money. She decided to steal a purse for more money and waited at the subway entrance for a victim. Mrs. Rock was the first to come along. After trying to grab the purse the victim held on to it and the girl panicked—stabbed her and ran while screams of "Stop or I'll call police" rang after her. She threw the knife away and continued home. In the purse, still clutched by the dead woman, was $6.93 in change.

REPLACEMENT

New York—The Monroe, N. C., branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been directed, in accordance with the Association's constitution, to call a special meeting for the purpose of electing a successor to Robert F. Williams, suspended president of the branch.

In a letter dispatched today to Mrs. E. A. Johnson, vice president of the branch, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins outlined the procedure which requires the executive committee of the branch to hold a special election within 30 days.

Ineligible

Further the letter "advised that by the action of the Board (of Directors) June 8, Williams is ineligible to hold any office in the NAACP or any of its branches during the period of his suspension and that, therefore, he is ineligible to be a candidate for office at the special election."

Advocated Violence

Williams was suspended from his office as branch president on May 6 after he had admitted to Executive Secretary Wilkins that he had publicly advocated meeting "violence with violence" and stopping "lynching with lynching." The suspension ordered by Wilkins was sustained by the Board of Directors following a hearing on the charges that the North Carolinian's statement had been in violation of NAACP policy and inimical to the best interest of the Association. The Board extended the suspension to cover a six-month period ending Nov. 6, 1959.

Other important workshop programs scheduled for the convention include sessions on housing, political action and civil rights, equal justice under law, public relations, and branch operations.

Gov. Rockefeller to Speak

Outdoor Summer Beauty... YOU!

by Genevieve Young

When you dance or cuddle close to your favorite man, do you leave flaky dandruff on his shoulder? This is a sure bid for membership in the wall-flower club, as well as being embarrassing.

Dandruff is an unhealthy condition of the outer layer of the scalp which causes unsightly, scaly flakes. When allowed to proceed unchecked, it may result in hair loss. Authorities disagree on its causes, but some say it can be transferred from one person to another, so keep your comb and hair brush as personal as your toothbrush.

There is no known absolute cure for dandruff, but there are products on the market today that will control it if used regularly and as directed.

These preventive practices include frequent, thorough shampooing with the use of a special type of shampoo that removes scales and normalizes the scalp.

One of the most effective of these new preparations is a double-action, combination shampoo and cream rinse. The shampoo not only loosens and removes itchy dandruff but works between shampoos to avoid the formation of new dandruff. The pleasantly scented conditioner-rinse leaves your hair with a sparkling new lustre and sheen. It acts as an invisible dressing to make the hair easy-to-manage, easy-to-style, and stay-set longer between shampoos.

To insure popularity—and beautiful hair—shop today for an effective dandruff control product.

Miss Young will answer your letters on "Beauty Problems." Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Miss Genevieve Young, R. C. Beauty Institute, P. O. Box 2841, Memphis 2, Tenn.

Personally Yours by Frances Mulhorne.

As we told you in last week's column, we are in Houston, Tex., when this issue (July 2) of the By-stander comes out. We will be back at our old desk Monday (July 6) ready to take over where we left off, and help any of you with pictures and stories. As you probably suspect, next week's column will be devoted mainly to our experiences on our train trip and during our visit in Houston.

Meanwhile, before we embarked we had a few comments we wanted to get off, so here goes. Among the graduating class this year there were two sets of twins and a brother and sister team. The twins were Elaine and Elinore Dixon from North, whose pictures appeared in the anniversary edition, and Barbara and Kathleen Wilson of East. Another set of twins are Melvin and Alvin Barber of North. Because he attended summer school several years Melvin (picture also in anniversary paper) will graduate in August, six months earlier than his twin.

The brother and sister team were Penny JoAnne and James Von Favors of North. Because of a congenital asthmatic condition which sometimes gets severe, JoAnne missed graduating last year. Actually, much tribute should be extended, because she combated serious illness which at times hospitalized her for days, as well as attempting to make up for lost time and even being put back several semesters during grammar school because she had fallen behind.

But she kept plugging and even attended a summer session, even though the asthma acted up worse then. So she graduated with highly personal and family honors, if not public honors, in her June class with her brother.

At a recent distinctive party given by the Puella Legatos club, two young madames wore gowns designed and created by one of Des Moines "sewers of a fine seam", Mrs.

Mrs. Guinn Gives Birthday Party

Mrs. Nelson Guinn, 1274 Stewart Street, gave a birthday party for her granddaughter, Lovella Guinn, June 23rd. Guests were Debbie Mason, Wanda English, Lillie Jean Robinson, Shirley Guinn, Sandra and Debbie Williams, Jacquelyn Lewis.

J. B. Morris, Sr. The Mesdames were Delores Brewer and Corliss Williams.

The ladies reported they were treated to a lovely weekend which included several after parties and breakfasts after the dance was over.

While perusing through some old editions of the By-stander we came across an article written by our predecessor, Marie Ross in the 50th anniversary edition. It was an interview story of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hughes (now deceased) who recalled their wedding invitations were printed by the By-stander six months after it was founded. The paper was then known as the Iowa State By-stander. Incidentally, we still get mail from publicity staffs addressing us as the Iowa State By-stander.

New Neighbors: Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Tucker have moved from 1101 School street to their new home at 1630 Amick street; also, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are established in their new home at 1235 10th street.

Overheard in a doctor's office: A receptionist on a 5th floor to another receptionist in another doctor's office on a higher floor, "Watch out for a man who is on his way up. He looks like he doesn't know where he is going."

From the little fry, A seven-year old who had been asked by his mother to assist his younger brother's bowtie, while preparing for church, completed the task and smiled. "Now, you look as pretty as a picture."

Tongue in cheek statement: A prominent civic leader when asked to make remarks at a program citing the appointment of Iowa's first Negro judge, said, "Behind every good man is a better woman."

Back to the graduates: When we called to check with the dean at Grand View Junior College, he reported there were no Negro June grads, but praised one young lady who will be graduating from there

SEE IN STARS

New York City—Jo Baker returns... Seems like still another generation will be allowed to acquaint themselves with one of our greatest living entertainers, Josephine Baker... Returning to the scene of her triumphs, the Olympia in Paris, Miss Baker seems to be none the less for wear... For a woman of her age, she possesses a remarkable figure—a beautiful smile and a lovely complexion with little or no wrinkles... Certainly her hormone cream is amazing... And the men, forgetting their grandfathers were falling at her feet during World War I, continue to swoon and dedicate themselves to her desires... Josephine, meanwhile, losing none of her charm, ropes in all newcomers as well as her long-faithful fans...

Glitter of Yesteryear

We understand the rest of the show built around "Paris Mes Amours" is not socko entertainment but rather on the droopy side—until La Baker makes her appearance—as usual, down a flight of stairs built just for her—with white fox fur dragging carelessly and wearing a tight sequined gown which dazzles like moonlight... With all the glitter of yesteryear—how can she miss...

The only criticism Parisians had was that Jo sang none of her oldies at the opening—she insisted on new material—and she should remember she's a legend and people pay to see her as she was in her heyday...

Racial Situations

The last time Josephine Baker was in America, she became unpopular when she became involved in racial situations and spoke her mind, even criticizing Americans... Performers all through the ages have made it a policy to remain neutral in political and racial conflicts but perhaps Josephine thought she was famous enough to speak out... She made friends but lost too many of the top producers who nixed her career which was going strong, so she returned to France and soon announced retirement... Famous for her adoption of many homeless waifs of different nationalities—and for her dangerous work during the last war—Josephine Baker thought she could be content spending the rest of her life in her villa in France... Now—she finds the lure of showbusiness and of the life she loves brings back such memories she had to return... We hope she will consent to an American tour—as she is too great a talent to miss seeing...

John Bubbles

The Judy Garland Revue, featuring John Bubbles, formerly of Buck and Bubbles, didn't do as well in Chicago as in New York's Metropolitan Opera House where they did top business for the 1 week stay... In Club giving Erroll Garner a luncheon... Lena Horne to London for the Savoy Hotel in September... and London's Churchill, one of the most elaborate nightclubs, is ready at last to use a line of Negro chorus girls... The Kenneth Later Agency here is casting their prettiest applicants for the honor—not only will it be a first for Negro chorus girls but Churchill's usually uses local ladies...

Billy Holiday

Chicago's Opera House they had an $8.80 top and took in $101,132 when capacity would have netted $140,000. Reason was blamed on Judy's recent appearance there as a single... This revue is a terrific break

Mary Church Terrell Honored in Graveside Ceremony

Washington—Members of the Coordinating Committee for the Enforcement of District Anti-Discrimination Laws last week visited Lincoln Memorial cemetery and placed a wreath on the grave of Mary Church Terrell, in ceremonies honoring the late civil rights fighter whose campaign led to outlawing of racial discrimination in District restaurants and cafes.

Mrs. Terrell was honored in the memorial service on the sixth anniversary of the Supreme court's 1953 anti-discrimination decision. She was chairman of the Coordinating committee at the time of the decision.

CONGRESS TAMPERS WITH COURT

The house of representatives in Congress passed the Smith bill which would hamstring the U. S. Supreme Court and cause untold confusion in federal and state jurisdictions. The same measure passed the house of representatives last year but failed in the senate by one vote.

The combination supporting the measure were those southern Democrats, who see in it some hope of maintaining segregation by law, and northern reactionary Republicans, some of whom agree with the South, others call the bill a blow to Communism.

Both groups, in the final analysis, harbor the foolish notion that the authority of the states supercedes that of the federal government even in matters created by the constitution. The support of southern Democrats is not surprising. On the other hand, the reactionary Republicans take a view of states rights contrary to the historical position of the party and by helping the southern Democrats alienate the Negro vote and gain none in the South.

Iowans voting for the bill were Schwengel (R), Smith, (D), Wolf (D); Jensen (R) Gross (R), and Hoeven (R), for the bill.

GOV. LOVELESS

Gov. Loveless is to be congratulated for refusing to send Thomas C. Roby, a Negro back to Mississippi to stand trial for having shot a white owner of a Negro night club.

Ordinarily, comity between states dictates that when a prisoner escapes from one into another state, governors generally honor extradition proceedings from sister states. However, in these hearings defendant may raise a question as to whether he can receive a fair trial, should he be returned to the seat of the crime. Southern requisitions have been turned down on many occasions because just such conditions prevailed where the defendant was to be tried.

And as the bad law enforcement record in Mississippi was revealed to Governor Loveless in the case, he refused to subject Roby to the farcical trial he would receive.

Congratulations to the Governor Loveless for displaying courage to do what is right even for the lowly—a thing many people in high places won't.

AMERICANS CAN'T WIN—ALWAYS

The big fellows were, completely fooled about the outcome of the Patterson-Johansson championship fight as shown by the betting odds and the sports writers, so it is not surprising that we too missed a guess. Americans are a pretty cocky nation reasoning that they can do a better job than any one who comes to its shores. But there are exceptions to all rules, even in boxing. Certainly Johansson proved it Friday night.

The new champion fooled the wise ones. And while he is to be congratulated for being a great fighter, we just don't like to see the championship leave America.

Happiness

Many schools have conducted similar programs successfully. They are not successful with all pupils, of course, and the insistence on improved scholastic performance can be made so strongly that students become discouraged. The successful programs, however, seem to have actually improved the typical student's happiness about his school experiences.

Dodgers Sign

Florida Negro Star

Los Angeles Dodger baseball scouts have discovered a new talent, they announced this week as they signed 18-year-old shortstop Nathaniel "Pee Wee" Oliver last year's star athlete at all-Negro Gibbs high school in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Reportedly, paying somewhere in the neighborhood of $20,000 for the five-foot, 11-inch all-round athlete, the Dodgers have sent him to their St. Paul Triple A team.

Gibbs, who was voted the outstanding athlete at his former high school where he starred in track, basketball, football, as well as baseball, was discovered by Dodger scout Leon Hamilton.

Dodger brass expect him to make the parent team soon and express confidence that he is one of the best to come out of their recent "million dollar" rookie-buying spree.

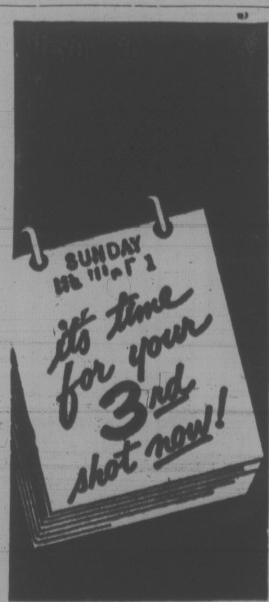

Giants May Shift
Mays to Infield

San Francisco, Calif.—The San Francisco Giant manager Bill Rigney may shift Willie Mays to the infield in an effort to plug some of the weak-hitting gaps in his infield.

According to Rigney, the move would enable him to get one more of his slugging outfielders into the lineup.

"Willie can play anywhere in the infield," insists Rigney.

Mays, who has indicated that he would not object to such a shift, has been working out at all infield positions during pre-game practices. Reports are that he is equally adept in the infield as he is in the outfield.

HEALTH FOR ALL

World of Vitamins

You don't usually expect to find news about health—and especially food—back on the sports page. But not long ago the Philadelphia Eagles, the Pennsylvania city's professional football team, made some news that had nothing to do with field goals and end runs.

The doctor of the football team reported that he has been feeding the boys special citrus fruit derivatives. One of them is Vitamin C. Another is called hesperidin. Taking these vitamins in three capsules every day, the doctor claims, has helped the players avoid the big bruises that usually trouble them after a rough, tough game. The doctor thinks the citrus derivatives strengthen the capillaries, preventing the wholesale breakage of tiny blood vessels that make up a bruise.

Special Purpose

This is one instance when the taking of vitamins for a special purpose is probably a good idea. For the most part, though, medical scientists insist that you don't have to take special vitamin preparations—pills, liquids, or anything else—if you eat a normal balanced diet.

It's possible to suffer deficiencies in the nutritive values you need, even when you eat what appears to be a full diet. Some children, for example, have been found to suffer from a lack of proteins for a very simple reason. Proteins are not found in generous amounts in sweet foods—and children reach for sweets more often than meats.

Rounded Diet

But if your diet is well-rounded, with a good selection from the three main food groups, you should never be deficient in any vitamin. The three groups are, first: milk, eggs, lean meats, and fish; second, fruits and green and "yellow vegetables"; and third: enriched or whole grain bread and cereals. Three meals a day of these foods in reasonable amounts make any kind of supplementary feeding out of a bottle of pills quite unnecessary.

Floyd Rematch
In September

New York City—September will tell the story. Floyd Patterson is determined to study up on that right which caused him to exclaim "I never saw a punch like that in my life." The new champ, Johansson, with his broken English, will be royally feted by his country, Sweden, and carefully groomed for the return bout promised for September.

While the skies threatened, $100 ticket holders, with no protection, hovered between the bleachers and damp seats and noted in the crowd was Ralph Bunche, a staunch supporter of Patterson and Mrs. Floyd Patterson, his biggest booster.

Like Jacobs and Louis.

The fight made a rich man of Johansson's manager, Bill Rosensohn, who has the Swede under exclusive contract and the sports world has seen another twosome—Mike Jacobs and Joe Louis. Rosensohn intends to give Patterson and his managers a hard way to go with the take of September's fight.

Lepers in Ghana

Accra.—More than 26,000 lepers had registered in Ghana by the end of last year, according to a report by the Ministry of Health. Under a new system for bringing treatment nearer the homes of the patients, the majority of leprosy cases in Ghana have been brought under treatment by means of 17 treatment circuits serviced by vehicles supplied by the United Nations which travel 300 to 400 miles a week, distributing D.D.S. tablets.

A MAN

So self-important, he, a man,
yet he is as a grain of sand,
yes, like a speck of cosmic dust—
no greater than a mite of rust.
Our minute world—full of abuse—
would be a wart on Beteiguese.
Vain creatures these poor mortals are,

Just cast your eyes upon a star,
and think, what vast mentality,
conceived the galaxies you see!
Who made the ever-changing scene?
Who scored the grand eternal theme?

The time-less, age-less, growth in space,
The wonderous enty that holds in place.
Arise! Awake! Thou vain dull clod, and pry yourself up from the sod.
Grow eager mind, develop worth to all mankind;

Thoughts For Today

Anyone can carry his burden, however hard, until nightfall; anyone can do his work, however hard, one day; anyone can live, sweetly, patiently, lovingly, purely, till the sun goes down. And this is all that life really means.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The best excuse for strengthening the heart is reaching down and lifting people up.—Ernest Bevins.
