NEWS In A Nutshell

La Grange, Ga.,—Oct. 2 is the date set for the electrocution of three Negroes charged with raping two white women. The defendants George Altord, Jr., 18, of Dayton, Ohio; Clifford Johnson, 22, and Brandon Epps, 24, both of La Grange, accepted the sentence with the same stoical expressions they had maintained throughout the two-day trial. One Negro was among the 12-man jury.

Washington, D. C.,—According to close diplomatic sources, Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, was one of the few world statesmen who had been officially informed of the pregnancy of Queen Elizabeth II. The Ghanaian leader was informed because the "delicate condition of England's queen will make it impossible for her to make a scheduled trip to Ghana in the fall.

New York.—The Rockefeller foundation has granted the Institute for Research in Social Science $190,500 for the study on the changing position of the Negro in the South.

Memphis, Tenn.,—Registrar Robert P. Clark disclosed last week that Memphis State university will have "five or six" Negroes among the 4,500 students at the opening of school in September.

Moscow, Russia.—American Exhibition officials said last week that two photographs in the exhibit's "Family of Man" display were torn down by a Nigerian visitor who immediately was taken into custody by Soviet police. The Nigerian claimed the pictures were "unobjective" portrayals of the Negro race.

Detroit, Mich.,—Mrs. Juanita Diggs, 30-year-old wife of Rep. Charles Diggs, Jr., has filed a protest answer to her husband's divorce suit entered recently in Wayne county circuit court.

Wilmington, Del.,—Seven white men have been arrested in connection with the first of two explosions which ripped through a Negro home. Authorities expected more arrests to follow.

New Orleans, La.,—A newly found 'unloaded' sawed off shotgun last week resulted in the tragic death of Shirley Hutson, 14.

Warns Levittown Jim Crow Will Give Mr. K. Opening For Job at United States

New York.—The NAACP this week warned President Eisenhower that Russian Premier Khrushchev, will score a telling point, if shown suburban housing near Washington, D. C., and in Levittown, Pa.

The President listed these among places he wants the Russian leader to see during his upcoming visit. NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, in a wire to the President, added that the "suburbs of Washington are lily-white in occupancy.

Known World Over
"Levittown, Pa., has become known the world around as the town where a single Negro family had to fight off a mob in order to occupy a modest home," Wilkins said.

"Not even Negro employees of the Fairless plant of United States Steel were permitted to purchase homes in the town built especially to accommodate plant personnel.

"Levittown in Long Island, N. Y., Wilkins continued "was built as a fly-white community. Levittown, N. J., is presently in court on charges of refusing to sell to Negro applicants."

PEACH MELBA

Here's a new easy way of making a traditional elegant dessert, peach melba. You only need a peach, ice cream and powdered sugar doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Place one cake quality doughnut in a sherbet glass. Top with a peach half, hollow side down. Just before serving, spoon currant jelly or strawberries over peach.

Over K. C. Mo., Cafe's Snub to Nigerian Official Visiting U.S.

Kansas City, Mo.,—When a restaurant manager committed an error of diplomatic protocol recently against a visiting official from Nigeria, national and international repercussions resulted.

Several weeks ago the manager of the Forum cafeteria here told Alaba Kalejaiye not to return there because of his color. Leading daily newspapers and other news organs headlined the incident. Reaction like a wave-length reached the ears of the U. S. Department of State, the U. S. Department of Labor and the Halls of Congress.

Allowed to Eat

Kalejaiye, 42, secretary-general of the Nigerian Civil Service Union said he was allowed to eat his food because he had already gone through the line, but the manager told him not to come back. The Nigerian official had been given the keys to the city prior to the incident.

Among the leading newspapers which carried comment on the Kansas City incident were the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Chicago Sun-Times,

Negro Citizens Intimidated; President Turns Plea Over to Attorney General

Little Rock, Ark.,—Integration at two Little Rock high schools moved into their second week. Three Negro girls at Hall High and a lone Negro boy at Central High reported no incidents or violence within the schools' walls.

However, Monday, Jefferson Thomas, 16-year-old senior at Central, who also helped to integrate the 1,200 pupil school in 1957, reported that he was jeered and hooted at by a small group of white pupils as he left Central High. He denied being in any fights, a rumor which began at a board meeting Monday night.

Policemen

The three girls who integrated Hall high for the first time this year are Effie Jones, Estella Thompson and Elsie Robinson. On opening day last Wednesday (Aug. 2) only a handful of policemen were on guard at the school. No spectators were present or have been since. Policemen ceased to guard the school. However, at Central High it was a different story. On opening day some 200 segregationists clashed with po-

Little Rock, Ark.,—Mrs. Daisy Bates, school integration leader and president of the Arkansas NAACP, appealed to the President of the United States for protection, but was refused. The militant leader made the plea last Thursday in a telegram to President Eisenhower, saying that her pleas for protection had been ignored by local authorities and that friends who had guarded her had been arrested.

The friends who were arrested Wednesday night as high schools opened with token integration (Aug. 12) included Isaac Mullen, an honorary deputy who had been employed as Mrs. Bates' house guard. The others arrested were Ellis Thomas, Sr., father of the lone Negro student at Central High school and Dr. Garland P. Freeman, a neighbor of Mrs. Bates.

No Comment

The telegram which was received at the temporary White House at Gettysburg, Penn., was held without comment from the President. However, Press Secretary Wayne Hawks, upon receiving the telegram, said

2 Students Leave City with Warm Regard for 'John Law'

Two young students, both from separate southern universities, left Des Moines Saturday with warm thoughts for the "Law."

The young men, enroute to Minneapolis, Minn., arrived in Des Moines with only seven cents between them. They stopped at a filling station, picked up an old tire which they planned to use for a spare and proceeded to siphon some gas to take them the rest of the way. Then John Law in the form of a policeman arrived on the scene, catching them in the act.

Brought to the police station, charges of petty larceny were filed against them. Then the case was brought before Municipal Judge Harry Grund. After hearing the circumstances of the case Judge Grund was in favor of dismissal.

Clean Cut

The boys were clean cut, well mannered, seldom the kind you get in police court. They had no previous record of trouble and I was just in favor of not spoiling their reputation, he said.

"They got in Des Moines with nothing in their pockets, and were too proud to beg. At first there was

Broke Ground for Iowa Crippled Children's Summer Camp Tuesday

Governor Herschel C. Loveless Tuesday attended ground breaking ceremonies for the new summer camp planned for Iowa's crippled children, located on a 37-acre tract adjacent to Margo Frankel Woods State Park between Ankeny and Des Moines.

With other civic and public officials, Governor Loveless saw the first earth turned for construction of the Main Lodge. He expressed satisfaction that Iowa will soon take its place with the other states which now have crippled children's camps.

"The camp," he said, "will provide a much needed source of recreation and rehabilitation for the state's handicapped youngsters."

All Races

The Easter Seal Society will operate and staff the camp. Society officials expect the camp to open for at least part of the 1960 season. It is for all Iowa's crippled children between the ages of 8 and 16, regardless of race, religion, national origin, cause of crippling or economic status. Provisions will be made for older teen-agers and adult-camping sessions, as well as family camping.

The camp will accommodate about 450, to 500 children each season, about 100 at a time for periods of 10 to 14 days each. In addition to the Main Lodge the camp will offer six cabins, a Nature Study Lodge, Chapel, Health and Therapy Center and, as funds become available, a swimming pool will be added.

BARGAINS

Taking advantage of late summer sales? When shopping for bargains, be sure to insist on the biggest bargain of all—washability. It's a real economy to choose washable clothing and home furnishings.

Tube Rack Keeps
Gardening Hose
Safe This Winter

Carb for your gardening equipment during the winter will keep it in tip-top shape, ready for use next spring. To store garden hoses, try this simple rack that keeps them neatly coiled, off the floor and out of the way.

Cut a 12" length of 2x4 to make the main support. Lay out the holes for the 1" Do-It-Yourself tubing and bore the holes at a slight (about 6°) angle to keep hose from sliding off. Drill 3/16" holes for the two screws that hold the 2x4 to the wall.

Cut four 8" lengths of the 1" tubing and force tubes into the bored holes. Drill holes from top edge of 2x4 into each tube end and drive in lock nail.

Screw the rack to the wall with two #10x2 1/2" screws. To keep dirt from getting into the tubes, snap 1" aluminum tubing end plugs into the outer ends of tubing hangers.

Reynolds Do-It-Yourself aluminum is available in local hardware and building supply stores.

Mice may not be nice, but they do exist. If you're campaigning against them, remember to scrub the "mouse traps" in that room or detergent suds and rinses after each "battle". Otherwise, mice will avoid even a skillfully set trap.

BET PROPER MIXTURE

Bare spots on the lawn can be patched by mixing a handful of grass seed to four parts of peat moss in a galvanized steel pail, which can be used to carry the mixture out to the yard. The peat moss holds moisture, helping seed to germinate and its dark color warns passers-by not to step on freshly seeded areas.

AUTOMOBILES

Exterior surfaces on many new automobiles are designed to require little waxing or polishing. Ordinary washing with soap or detergent suds and later suffices to maintain the luster of the original finish for as long as two years.

PICNICING

Always be sure that your hands are well-scrubbed with plenty of soap and warm water, before you handle food—even at a picnic. Take a container of soapsuds and some clean towels along, for the benefit of the family and friends.

Judge Brooks Gives Dedication Speech

For Brotherhood Bldg; Open House Sunday

Pride and pleasure in the accomplishment of a long-term project were justifiably and openly exhibited Sunday by the officers and members of The Brotherhood, Inc., and its auxiliary, The Sisterhood.

The occasion was the dedication of the new $40,000 Brotherhood and Sisterhood Youth Center at 1301 Center Street, at 3 p.m. Guest speaker was Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund, who knowing of the plans for the building 12 years ago, related Sunday, "At the time, I like others, thought it could not be done."

"Much of what you do in this building will be a tribute dedicated to the city of Des Moines," he said. "You can be as equally proud in your sense of accomplishment, as well as in your dedicated program for youth."

Donations

Judge Grund also complimented the organization upon the clean, good structural condition of the unfinished building, begun over 10 years ago, until work was again resumed during the past few years.

Most of the construction work, materials, and utility installment and equipment was donated by various contractors and firms in the city.

Additional Plans

Gilbert Randle, executive secretary and master of ceremonies of the dedication program, reiterated plans for finishing and addition to the building which includes a second floor, and parking lot. As it stands now, the building is composed of a large auditorium with speakers, platform, long lounge across the front, and kitchen.

Platform Guests

Other platform guests included Elbert Durden, Noble Chieftain, Rev. George Parrish, who gave the invocation, the Rev. T. L. Lighons, treasurer, who also gave the benediction; Mrs. S. B. Boyers, Sister chieftain; Mrs. Henrietta Arnold, vice sister chieftain; Mrs. Lena Brewer, secretary and chairman of the Trustee board; and Mrs. F. H. Black of St. Louis, Mo., guest of Mrs. Boyers.

Music was provided by the Anthonettes under the direction of Marguerite Anthony. Large baskets and vases of florists' bouquets sent from well wishers generously adorned the auditorium and lounge.

Officers

Other officers of the Brotherhood are William Humphrey, vice chieftain; and E. M. Harold, lookout. Other officers of the Sisterhood are Mrs. Agnes Adams, financial secretary; Mrs. Hestina Maybin, recording a suggestion of a suspended sentence but I held out for dismissal. The chief of detectives, the arresting officer and I got together and that's what we agreed on—dismissal of the case," he continued.

That would have been enough to earn the gratitude of two young men passing through a strange city. But, there was more in store for them.

The arresting officer and court bailiff chipped in and donated one dollar each for the young men. Judge Grund added another dollar. They had enough to get a tank full of gas which would get them to St. Paul.

Learning that they had had little to eat for some time, the police officer took them to a restaurant for a good meal. And sent them on their happy way.

lice and were brought under control with billy clubs and fire hoses. Since there have been several minor incidents, mostly involving juveniles.

Segregated Classrooms

Several days after the schools opened, exponents of desegregation explored the possibility of segregated classrooms within the schools. A law attached to the anti-integration legal groups to enable Gov. Faubus to close the schools last year, was dug up to support segregated classrooms.

The school board announced the high schools would continue on their half-day schedules for at least two more weeks. All schools are operating during morning hours.

Open House

Open house followed the two-hour program. Hostesses were Mmes. Ruth Jackson and Pearl Burns. Pouring at the refreshment table with its large basket of American Beauty Roses as a centerpiece were Mmes. Odessa Booker and Lucy Sandler.

FAMILY MORALE

Do you know that psychologists recognize that clean clothes and clean surroundings provide a lift to everyone's spirits? Every homemaker should consider her washing machine her best friend in keeping family morale at its highest peak.

Ted Rhodes Wins Fitch Golf Tourney

New Haven, Conn.—Ted Rhodes of Chicago, five-time national Negro professional golf champion, shot a 68 at the New Haven Municipal course and won the Fitch tournament sponsored by the Knickerbocker Golf club recently.

Rhodes proved he hadn't lost his touch for the course where he played once before in 1947. He birdied on the 5th, 8th and 9th and dropped a five-footer on the 14th for a birdie three.

Zeke Haelsfield of New York City was second with a 70; Bob McCorkel, Newark, N. J., and Jim Taylor, New York City tied for third.

Howard Wheeler, current national champion, scored a 73. Rhodes and Charley Sifford, only Negroes playing the PGA circuit, recently contested in the Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn. Rhodes scored 289; Sifford, 290.

the telegram would be turned over to Atty. Gene William Rogers if usual procedure is followed.

In asking for protection, Mrs. Bates (at a news conference Friday) stated, "I don't care how they do it. They can set up a machine gun in my front yard if they want to."

She told newsmen during the past three years bombs had been thrown on the lawn, shots fired at the house and bricks hurled through windows. A metal guard fence surrounds her home.

Her ardent opponent, Gov. Orval Faubus, called Mrs. Bates' appeal to the president as a "grand stand play."

Mrs. Bates accused Faubus with using the state police to intimidate the NAACP.

SEE IN STARS

New York City (CNS)—DICK CLARK HAS NEW M.C. Comic Arnold Dover has a wonderful break as M.C. of the new Dick Clark Caravan which hits the road on their first national tour beginning September 18th. Produced by Dick Clark himself, the young rock and roll sponsor has a great lineup in talent and should do well on the circuit. Among his all-stars are La Verne Baker and the Lloyd Price Orchestra.

Entering his third year on television as leader of "American Bandstand," Dick thought hitting the road with the show was just what the teenagers would clamor for—good clean music with their favorite stars.

Arnold Dover But back to Arnold—not too many years ago this tall, thin guy was just another mimic appearing when he could at the Apollo Theatre here in New York and on his first date there he was so frightened he couldn't remember who he was to impersonate. he does them all well. After he made several stabs at it, everything came natural and now he's a smooth, unruffled comic who ad libs just the right things at the right time. Showbusiness was his first love although not the trade he studied for—but now this Bostonian means to stay with showbusiness. And the break with Dick Clark is just what he needed to rise above the crowd into the "next plateau."

Louis Armstrong Louis Armstrong is getting top billing right along with Danny Kaye in "The Five Pennies" in most areas where it's showing. Frank Sinatra is doing most commendable roles—he's now starring in "Crime and Punishment," the Russian classic.

Sammy Davis, Jr.

is well remembered by friends when she used to take a bus every day downtown to do a radio serial in Rockefeller Center. Sammy Davis, Jr. signed a petition asking for Joey Adams, comedian, for president of AGVA (the showpeople's guild).

Lonnie Sartin

Lonnie Sartin at the Cloisters in Chicago is raising eyebrows with his high-class performance when patrons expect more on the rock and roll style. Lonnie is one of these sedate performers who uphold the dignity of the nightclub artist—sort of like bringing opera into a club and still keeping it on a high basis. He never gets "down with the people"—instead—they come up to him and he's dramatic and impressive enough to stop any audience cold so on as the first note comes out.

The dancers and singers who didn't get their options picked up but were fired after one week at the Cotton Club in Atlantic City, finally were paid off.

Poor Earl Grant has to be a magician these days—what with doubling between the Trans-World Club and the Tidelands, both in Houston, Texas, and both interests of promoter Morin Scott. For both shows, Earl opens with his famous "Ol Man River" but at the Tidelands, that's another story.

The show there is all-Negro and they even have a young local girl who is Earl's own discovery—a singer named Jewel Brown. In torch numbers, she duets with Earl. Here music is in its raw form we understand—exciting and with a let-your-hair-down beat. The Trans-World Club, in the Montagu Hotel, is more elite and there Earl puts on his best Hollywood manners. After all, he's a long way from Sunset Strip.

CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

HELPING CHILDREN LIVE WITHIN LIMITATIONS

When a child suffers a dramatic accident, he often gets a lot of attention and may be treated as a hero. A black eye or a cast on a broken arm can be used to avoid undesired activity and to get desired attention.

Some children, though, suffer from illnesses which, while not so visible, may be more serious. A boy who must avoid strenuous activity because of a heart ailment or the child whose allergic reaction requires that he stay away from many common activities may be greatly misunderstood by other children. He may be accused of cowardice, poor sportsmanship, unsocial attitudes, conceit or unfriendliness. He may feel pretty miserable socially.

Interpret With Care

The task of interpreting the child's limitations must be done with care. He must obviously be helped to withstand the temptation to engage in health-risking behavior to "prove" that he's a regular fellow.

Parents can sometimes lower the pressures to exceed sensible limits by carefully explaining their child's limitations to his friends and to their parents. Mother and Dad can remind the child himself often that they are pleased by his good judgment, and that they sympathize with the temptation to take chances or ignore the condition.

Understanding

But at the same time, the protection should not be more limiting than necessary. Competent medical and other advice can help extend the list of things the child can do, so that he gives up no more than is absolutely necessary.

One final help may be to aid the child to understand as thoroughly as possible the condition itself and the reasons for the required protection. The child may then accept the restrictions as he understands the relation between his behavior and his state of health.

Keep Drawer Knobs Tight

USE of a lock washer can keep a knob screw on a drawer from turning, according to Popular Mechanics. The special washer should be placed between a flat washer and the head of the screw. If it is located against a wooden surface, it will sink into the wood and lose its locking ability. The same principle can be applied to keep wooden knobs tight on the lids of pots and pans.

LITTLE ROCK SCHOOL
SITUATION IMPROVING

Men have the courage to accomplish a mission when an important objective is to be attained. Generally speaking, the same people who have taken control of school affairs in Little Rock today were there in 1957. Most of them understood pretty well that legal reminders were just about exhausted, but that somehow the schools would continue to operate.

But the schools were closed; the proper education of their children was at stake. And they accepted integration rather than penalize their youngsters; rather than continue to incur a bad reputation as a city where racial turmoil prevailed, where the education of its young citizens was jeopardized.

Of course, troublemakers, including Gov. Faubus, were on hand and without the prompt decisive action upon the part of Police Chief Smith, the job would have been quite troublesome again. Fortunately, the chief, even though he does not favor integration, recognizes his oath of office to uphold the law. He has done a good job. There are many such white people in the South and given time, they, like chief Smith, will carry out their responsibility.

Gov. Faubus has made speeches bordering on violation of the federal court injunction. He continues to prove his contempt for law and order, and that his tactics should not have been tolerated by federal authorities from the beginning.

Little Rock seems on the road to recovery. Continued stiff handling of the situation will insure its eventual success.

REALISTIC APPROACH TO GOOD HOUSING

Since the housing problem came well to the front in Des Moines, Negroes and their friends have accused real estate operators of stampeding white neighbors to sell their homes when a Negro family moves in. They denied it. The neighbors were silent.

At a neighborhood meeting of residents living East of the Veterans hospital and attended by members of both races, the white neighbors told everything—just what had been said all along.

These neighbors want a good, well kept neighborhood—that is integrated. They don't want the white neighbors of stampede into filling the entire neighborhood with an unbalanced proportion of Negro residents. They have the right idea. They urge signs NOT for Sale, rather than FOR sale on their property.

The first Negro family to move into the neighborhood has done an excellent job improving their already comfortable home. Their presence has not lowered the value of anybody's home. They set a good example for others to follow.

The leader in this movement, Ben Chaiken, deserves high commendation for doing for his neighborhood, and the city of Des Moines for that matter, the thing which makes for peace with satisfaction in a community, of white and Negro neighbors.

When President Eisenhower suggested that Premier Khrushchev of Russia be shown Levittown, Pa., as a typical example of comfortable homes owned by average factory workers, surely he did not know that many of these workers have been guilty of utter lawlessness in their effort to keep a Negro family out of the community.

This place makes a poor subject to exhibit to Khrushchev as an example of American democracy.

Congress continues to play with civil rights legislation now pending in the Senate. A coalition of southern Democrats and conservative northern Republicans is working for the defeat or watering down of the measure so it would mean nothing. It is rather interesting, if this is to be true, that Republicans would hook up with southern Democrats on a program which hurts Republicans at the polls—not southern Democrats.

CLASS MARK

Fifty years ago, a magazine columnist considered the daily tub bath as "the distinguishing mark between a thoroughbred girl and one of the middle class." Today, this "class mark" has disappeared. Anyone can afford the luxury of a daily bath in warm soapsuds. It's one of the most accessible and inexpensive means of helping yourself to more beauty, health, and relaxation.

Hear Althea May
Turn Pro In Fall

New York, Althea Gibson, two-time Wimbledon and U. S. Tennis champion, indicated, during a ceremony honoring her as the 1958 Woman Athlete of the year at a local YWCA, that she may turn pro in the fall, and participate in an all-women's tennis tournament. The tournament would be operated in competition to the one conducted annually by Jack Kramer, who once was reported interested in the services of Miss Gibson as a pro.

Cage Star Rodgers
Suffers Broken Jaw

Philadelphia, Pa., — Guy Rodgers, star basketball player of the Philadelphia Warriors, suffered a broken jaw in an automobile accident recently.

According to police reports, Rodgers' car mounted a center strip, struck a tree veered back to the road and collided with another car. Three persons riding with Rodgers were also injured.

While we were busy with the Hilltop tennis meet, a lot of other things were going on around the metropolis. The Manolos Tailors' softball team, formerly the Hottentots lost out in the quarterfinals of the state softball meet at Boone in spite of our staying away. They say Bud Collier really pitched two beautiful games and deserved to win them both.

Harold Carr who has been listed as a good umpire worked the meet. But, we thought undue pressure was put on him when he drew Manolos games. Any succession of close calls in favor of one or the other could have been construed as partiality even though the man was as honest as he can be. Yep, the tournament officials really goofed that time.

Then we guess you know what old man Archie Moore did to the lates challenge to his light heavyweight boxing crown. Boxing writers are lamenting the fact that Archie didn't get started until late. Archie kayoed Yvon Durelle in the third round. We feel the same way about Negro baseball pioneers... Jackie Robinson, Larry Doby, Hank Thompson, Monte Irvin and all the rest of them. What baseball history they would have written if they could have got their chances earlier? As it is, the present crop of youngsters aren't doing bad.

Everett Mays

Then Everett Mays and his daughter, Evanett lit out for the National Tennis Association Championship matches. They will have a lot of fun and play a little tennis. Everett will come back glowing with reports of the things he has seen and the people he met; always enjoyed listening to the guy after that trip and am sort of looking forward to it.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Snakes in the Grass

If you are a lover of the great outdoors and don't want snakebite to spoil your fun, chose your camp site in Maine or Alaska. Those are only two states in the Union where there are no poisonous snakes. Most of the 35 poisonous species known in the U. S. are pit vipers, which include rattlers, copperheads, and water moccasins.

About 3,000 people are bitten by snakes each year. Fortunately, deaths are few, no more than 10 or 20 a year. However, outdoor activities like camping, hiking and picnicking are getting more popular. High boots or leggings and a stick to explore underbrush before moving into it are wise.

Important Thing

Usually bites occur out in the wilds with no doctor nearby, so the victim himself or a companion should be able to apply first aid. The important thing is to keep calm, keep the victim quiet (to avoid pumping the poison rapidly through the blood stream). Then:

1. Apply a tight bandage to restrict the spread of the poison. This is not a tourniquet and shouldn't be too tight. The poison is just under the skin.

Patterson Will Not Hang up Gloves Even If He Is Defeated in Rematch, Ebony Mag Reveals

Floyd Patterson will not hang up his gloves if he is beaten again by Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in their heavyweight championship rematch.

In an exclusive first person article called "I Want My Title Back" in the September issue of Ebony Magazine, the former titleholder says, "If I win I would like to give Johansson another chance at the championship as he gave me. If I lose, I don't know what my immediate plans will be but I certainly won't retire. There'd be no sense in retiring at my age. Boxing is in my blood and I want to continue in the sport for some time to come—win or lose."

2. Make a x-shaped cut over each fang mark and use suction to remove the venom. A suction cup should be part of an outdoor first aid kit, or the poison can be sucked into the mouth and spit out. Keep up for a half hour or more.

If the swelling advances beyond the bite, cuts should be made at the edge of the swelling and more suction applied. Move the bandage, too.

Medical Emergency

Snakebite is always a medical emergency. As soon as the victim reaches a hospital antivenin will be given, if the bite is serious. A bite on an arm or leg is less dangerous than one near a vital organ, like the heart. It is more serious for the very young or the very old, but luckily they are less likely to be within reach of poisonous snakes.

The effects of snakebite may include vomiting, shock, muscular twitching, blood coagulation difficulties, and internal hemorrhage. If he gets safely through the first 48 hours, the patient is usually out of danger.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.

Prepares for Bout

Patterson, whose third-round defeat wounded his pride, says his desire to regain the championship is not primarily financial. He points out that he is in a 90 percent tax bracket, and it appears likely that his entire purse from a 165-hansson rematch would go to the Internal Revenue Service. Although no date and site for the return have been set, Floyd reveals in Ebony that he has been preparing for the bout for some time. He started training two weeks after losing his title to Ingo on June 26th.

Over Confident

Patterson admits that he was, perhaps, overconfident and overtrained for the first fight. He says in

When I walked along with pleasure She talked and laughed all day. But when I took her measure She had nothing good to say. All the honey-coated prattle Of that evil, sin-bent witch. Lures the silly ones, like cattle To a slimy, deadly ditch! She had not reckoned with the spirit Of the souls that are re-born. In that priceless grace and merit That was proved one Easter morn. For I'd walked with sin and sorrow Burning lessons in my clay. Now I have His bright tomorrow

WHEN I WALKED

EBONY: "I fought over 500 rounds in training (including over 400 rounds in New York City and in camp for the Brian London fight), and it was just too much. When a fighter boxes too much in training he becomes mechanical in his movements and doesn't think." Patterson thinks Johansson has plenty of grey matter. He says the decisive right hand Ingo scored with was no lucky punch. "It was a carefully aimed, deliberate punch that did the damage and Johansson must be given full credit for it."

Conscious of Duty

According to EBONY, Floyd will be "conscious of my duty to myself as an individual, to the United States and to the Negro people," when he climbs through the ropes for the rematch. Says Patterson, "All three responsibilities are important to me, particularly the last. I feel when I enter the ring I am sort of a representative of my race. A newspaperman I know asked me how I felt about being considered a kind of symbol to the Negro people. He asked if I considered it a burden. 'It's not a burden,' I told him, 'It's an honor.'"
