Action Taken Tuesday Report Racial Fight Led to Incident

Six ninth grade at Amos Hiatt Junior High School were suspended Tuesday as a result of a walkout of 150 students the day before. The walkout was precipitated by a fight between Negro and white students near the school Friday. Students of both races were in the walkout.

L. I. Wires, principal at Hiatt, said the six, all boys were suspended on grounds that they either were involved or had knowledge of Friday's fight. Three police cars were sent to the scene last Friday about 3:37 p.m., after a phone call reported some boys were fighting; but the boys had gone, when police arrived.

Wires also issued a statement after the walkout Monday that the incident had "little, if any" connection with any "race problem that might exist at the school."

No Hesitation

Dr. John Harris, Des Moines superintendent of schools, on hearing of the incident, advised the principal to "not hesitate in suspending any child for doing anything in a physical way that he shouldn't be doing."

He also suggested that any students involved in Monday's walkout, continuing to stay out of the school, should be suspended unless they return to "classes Wednesday. Nearly 100 of the 150 were still out Tuesday. Parents were asked to exert all effort to get their children back in school.

Fight Rumors

Dr. Harris, also said there had been rumors of gang fights around the school and some students had complained of being roughed up in the halls by other students. It was speculated that many of the students in the walkout, were staying out because they (or their parents) were afraid of their becoming involved. The school has an enrollment of 1,023.

He was a member of Omega chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi undergraduate fraternity which last spring became the first Negro fraternity in Iowa history to win a scholarship trophy on a predominantly white campus.

Local NAACP Plan Meeting Tuesday

The Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will meet Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. at Willkie House, 900 17th Street. Mrs. Clara Bayles, branch president, will preside.

Delegates who attended the Iowa State Conference of branches will make reports of the meeting. In addition a film, "Marching to Freedom," about Dr. Martin Luther King, and the Montgomery bus boycott, will be shown. Nominating Committee will also be elected.

Under a 1957 Iowa law, Dr. Powell was charged with a second offense although his previous conviction in 1955 was for driving while intoxicated. In his trial last June, attorneys for Dr. Powell contended that he had been taking a drug under a doctor's prescription but that the doctor had not told him not to refrain from driving.

Negro Unionists Urged Not to Desert Labor Rank; Meany Still to Be Honored

New York — After a two-hour luncheon meeting of George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and a group of colored leaders, these facts appeared to be established:

1. There is no feud between Mr. Meany and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and an AFL-CIO vice president.

2. The only difference between the two labor leaders is over the methods of ending racial discrimination and segregation in some unions.

The luncheon meeting, held at the Commodore Hotel, was arranged by William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call-Post and president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, to ascertain the facts concerning the controversy which occurred between Randolph and Meany at the recent AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco.

"Fair, Hard Fighter"

In opening the discussion, Walker said Meany has the reputation of being a "fair, hard fighter" for the rights of working men and colored members of organized labor has profited from his leadership. He said colored people regard him as one of their "national heroes."

He told Meany that when it looked like he and Randolph were at odds, the colored press thought it was time to find out the facts. Colored people, Walker declared, "do not want to see a fight between Meany and Randolph."

No Feud

"I have no feud with Randolph," Meany said in reply. "We have been

New York — Despite his recent convention floor tilt with AFL-CIO President George Meany, A. Philip Randolph last week issued a public statement urging Negro workers not to consider leaving the AFL-CIO. He called any suggestion of a mass exodus from the ranks of the labor organization as "ridiculous."

"Negroes cannot afford to leave an institute because racial discrimination is in it," said Randolph, the dean of labor leaders among Negroes and president for many years of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

"By this logic," he continued, "they would have to get out of every institution in the nation, including schools, government, the church and business. Our task is to get into all institutions despite the fact that racial discrimination is in them with a view to working and fighting together with our friends to eliminate discrimination from them."

Urban League Still To Honor Meany

New York. — Following George Meany's argument with A. Philip Randolph on the AFL-CIO convention floor in San Francisco, the board of the National Urban League held an emergency session last week to decide whether to withdraw its award from the AFL-CIO president. The board voted not to change its original decision to honor Meany at the Equal Opportunity day dinner, Nov. 17 at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Meany will receive the Urban League award to give recognition to the constructive efforts organized labor to eliminate racial discrimination in the nation's work force.

Woman Dead 15 Minutes, Brought Back to Life

Chicago, — Mrs. Alice Bell, a 32-year-old mother of two, died at Mt. Sinai Hospital Sept. 29, but Oct. 9 she left the hospital and returned home to care for her family. Mrs. Bell who died on the operating table, remained "dead" more than several minutes.

Two doctors, Julius Levy, personal physician of Mrs. Bell, and Dr. Constantine Filis, a Fellow in anesthesiology at Mt. Sinai, "worked with God" to bring Mrs. Bell back to life.

Frantic Call

Dr. Levy said when he arrived at the Bell home following a frantic phone call, the mother-to-be was in a semi-conscious condition. Suffering from a tubular pregnancy in her fourth month, Mrs. Bell "died" when her tube ruptured causing severe internal bleeding which in turn caused her internal organs to collapse.

Simultaneous with her death, Dr. Filis, who was in the hospital, was summoned, and he immediately began the process of intubation—administering oxygen by positive pressure. A tube was inserted in the woman's windpipe and the doctor then worked to regulate the flow of oxygen into her body by a machine.

Signs of Life

Within a fifteen minute period, Dr. Filis noticed signs of life. He then signalled Dr. Levy who quickly operated on the woman, sealing off the bleeding tube after extracting the damaged part containing the fetus.

Following Mrs. Bell's recovery, both doctors remarked that it was a "miracle" the youthful mother lived to reach the hospital. They pointed out that in most cases of ruptured tubular pregnancy, death occurs before the eighth week. Mrs. Bell had passed the 17th week when rushed to the hospital.

Double Miracle

They said her being alive could be counted as a "double miracle" because "generally when there is no circulation and oxygen going to the brain for as long as three minutes, even if one does survive, there is permanent brain damage." Mrs. Bell was dead fifteen minutes but she left the hospital "as sane" as when she entered.

The wife of a part-time post office employee, Robert Peter Bell, Mrs. Bell is the mother of an 18-year-old married daughter, and a four-year-old daughter.

She said her remarkable recovery "was just the will of God."

He added that he is willing to accept Randolph's version of what happened. "I am quite sure he will tell the truth."

Meany said he believed if he had not used the words "who the hell" appointed Randolph the guardian of all colored union members in the country, newspapers, would not have played up the flare-up.

Convention
A resolution concerning AFL-CIO enforcement of its constitutional provisions against segregated unions was before the San Francisco convention when Meany and Randolph got into the argument.

Randolph took the position that those provisions were as important as any other parts of the constitution. Randolph wanted segregated unions kicked out of the AFL-CIO. Meany said he told Randolph that he could not go that far with him.

Bricklayers.
The Bricklayers were under discussion. Harvey Bates, their president, did not want the resolution acted upon without explaining the situation, Meany said. Colored bricklayers in the South work on the same job with whites, get the same pay and have the same contract, Meany said, but are in separate unions. Bates' argument, Meany said, was that it was not legally possible to put the segregated locals out of the union. He said the Bricklayers have been working to merge the white and colored locals but have been meeting with resistance. He also said some colored locals have voted against merging with white locals.

Claims Politics Inspired Louisiana Ban on NAACP

New York.—An injunction banning NAACP activity in the State of Louisiana was politically inspired, Mrs. Doretha A. Comb, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Louisiana, charged this week.

Here to attend the regular monthly meeting of the NAACP Board of Directors of which she is a member, Mrs. Comb told reporters at a news conference on Oct. 14 that the NAACP leader said, "is seeking State Senator William M. Rainach, leader of the White Citizens Councils in Louisiana and a candidate for governor, was behind the anti-NAACP injunction issued by a state court at Shreveport on Oct. 9.

Purge Voters
Campaigning on an all-out segregation platform, Senator Rainach, to purge Negroes from voters' lists throughout the state because he knows he cannot carry these voters in his race for the governorship." Moreover, she charged, the state senator believes "that his role in investigating the injunction will enhance his candidacy among white voters." This view, she said, has been repeatedly expressed in Louisiana newspapers.

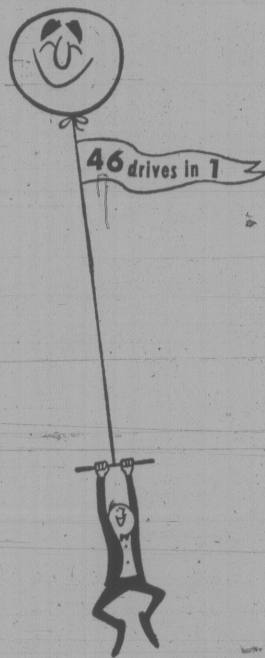

Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, announced that the Association will seek to have the injunction dissolved at a hearing scheduled for Nov. 2 in the district court at Shreveport.

TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman—even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

Jazzman Miles Davis Cleared by Negro Judge in New York

New York City—Stating it was "common practice for entertainers working in the area to take a breather on the sidewalk", Magistrate Kenneth Phipps, young Negro judge in Upper Manhattan Arrest Court, cleared jazzman and trumpeter Miles Davis of disorderly conduct charges which had set flame to racial tensions in the music world. Davis was arrested last Aug. 26th as he stood in front of Birdland (a nightclub), smoking a cigarette and signing autographs. A cop, telling him to move on, had pushed him and when asked why by Davis, arrested him striking him over the head and hauling him off to jail.

Controversy

So embarrassing a situation caused much controversy as to whether it was an act of civil duty or a plain case of prejudice. Davis, however, was released on bail to face charges on two counts: disorderly conduct and assault.

Judge Phipps, listening attentively to both sides, decided that testimony by witnesses showed Davis had not been loud and boisterous as the arresting policeman had insisted. He also stated that at the hour—between midnight and 1 a.m.—it is perfectly understandable for entertainers to be in front of their cafe "taking a breather." Phipps said "the defendant might well have been within the building line and not actually blocking the sidewalk."

Diplomatic

Acting diplomatically, Phipps, a popular Democrat and former Assemblyman, added that he believed the officer was "honestly attempting to carry out his business as an officer and perhaps the defendant failed to use the best judgement which might well have avoided the incident."

Keep Drawer Knobs Tight

USE of a lock washer can keep a knob screw on a drawer from turning, according to Popular Mechanics. The special washer should be placed between a flat washer and the head of the screw. If it is located against a wooden surface, it will sink into the wood and lose its locking ability. The same principle can be applied to keep wooden knobs tight on the lids of pots and pans.

Fun With Suds

Here's a simple party trick to amuse children—and grown-ups, as well! Fill a bowl with water and detergent, very carefully so no suds are created—immediately—Pass a handkerchief over the bowl, secretly dropping in a small piece of dry ice in passage—and the bowl will froth up with a sudden rich suds, rim-high. Just don't touch the dry ice with bare hand—since its extreme cold will burn!

Washboard

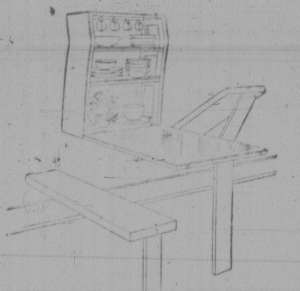

A far cry from the old-fashioned, rough washboard is a small plastic one—in such unwashboard-like shades as pink, mauve, and white. It's designed primarily for use while sudsing lingerie, gloves, and other hand-washables. This small plastic helper can be stowed easily for travel, as well as for home use. The table legs, when folded in, serve as a shelf for the wall cabinet. Because it will wear long and is easy to keep clean, Mowite 35 Tempered Preswood is used to surface the lumber framing of the table top. The same material covers the benches, serving as benches.

The cupboard is built of Linch lumber framing, covered with Tempered Preswood. Shelves are similarly constructed.

Note the hinges which permit the table and benches to be pushed out of the way, against the wall, to which they are fastened with hooks.

Panel of Preswood can be used effectively in other ways at the summer cottage—to cover unsightly interior walls, for converting a large room into smaller ones, corner closets, floors, fish cleaning and bait cutting boards, sunshades at the beach, or resurfacing old picnic tables.

More for Iowa Transport Workers...

"We Iowa transportation workers, just like Iowans in so many other fields, can tell you first hand how the brewing industry creates more jobs in every section of our state. Last year, for example, the industry spent over $6,600,000.00 for rail and truck transport services in Iowa. That means more jobs, more family income, more business for everyone in the Iowa transportation industry."

Everyone Benefits

"Then, look at the 23,000 jobs for Iowans regularly employed in the brewing industry... or the $25,000,000.00 spent for taxes on beer sold in Iowa (reducing our own taxes by that amount). No matter what field we're in, we all feel the benefit, because..."

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

"How old was Philip before you began to make him mind?" asked Mrs. Burgess of Philip's mother. "Our Mary is four years old and her father and I have thought perhaps we should begin to make her mind."

Commenting later, Philip's mother said, "I didn't tell her that I considered the day for introducing Mary to discipline was lost, that Philip began to mind the day he was born!"

Definition

Discipline does begin the day a child is born. The word discipline comes from the same root as disciple and means "the treatment that is a way of training a child's character and conduct so as to obtain desirable behavior."

If we consider that discipline is learner." Another literal definition is necessary and desirable for a learned, we focus our attention on the baby and the developing child, not on what he does.

Security

Let's first consider what constitutes discipline for the baby. Adequate regular sleep, regular feeding—keeping in mind the self-demand feeding now recognized by doctors as having validity—love and cuddling from mother and father, outdoor trips in his carriage, these all have their contribution toward discipline.

These give a baby a sense of security, a feeling that he knows what is happening next, that life goes on in an ordered way. Of course he cannot express this but he can feel it.

An example of discipline in the developing child can be seen in the hungry baby who wants his bottle immediately and yells till he gets it. But by the time he is a two-year-old, he may tell us when he is hungry and then wait a few moments without yelling while his dinner is being prepared. He is becoming disciplined.

Expressing it another way, we say he is learning how things happen and adjusting to this phase of life.

The Trouble with Women

Some women are a part-time pain in the neck. A few disgruntled males might claim that the rest are a pain in the neck all the time. But the men are talking about something else altogether.

We're referring to the fifty per cent of women of child-bearing age who suffer to some extent from premenstrual tension. To puzzled and resentful families and co-workers, a normally good-natured, active woman seems to change overnight into an irritable shrew whose feelings are easily hurt, who flops around limply unable to get anything done, who gets depressed and jittery. The woman herself isn't exactly having a picnic either. She finds she's put on several pounds in weight (enough to shatter any woman), her head aches, she's tired, she doesn't want to go anywhere or do anything, her abdomen hurts, and her nerves feel raw. This uncomfortable state of affairs can last anywhere from two days to two weeks before she starts menstruating. Then it all goes away until the next time.

Medical Attention

Trouble is that most women don't

E. University Church of Christ Burns Mortgage Sunday

Members and officers of the East University Church of Christ held services Sunday, at 3 p.m., in which the mortgage was burned paying off the full debt of the church.

realize there is something specifically wrong with them, so they don't go to a doctor. If they did, they'd find that a good deal of the suffering could be prevented. Some of it is due to the unusual amount of water which gets stored up in the body. The doctor can prescribe medicine for that. He can also do something about the shrieking nerves. And the patient's relief is matched only by that of the people around her.

Caution

A word of caution, though. No woman should decide for herself that she suffers from premenstrual tension and go shopping around in drug stores. Similar symptoms may be due to something else. Not only will the wrong medicine not do any good, but is something is taken that isn't needed, the effects can be very dangerous. A doctor's diagnosis, advice, and supervision are essential.

RHYME and REASON for the SWEATER SEASON

WASHING

A frequent bath in mild suds and lukewarm water will actually help preserve the life and softness of your nice sweaters. Before washing: turn the sweater inside out; button cardigans and open-necked sweaters to retain shape. Then follow washing instructions on hang-tags attached to the sweater when you buy.

WEARING

A tip for that Tailored-Look popular this season: turn the cuff on your long sleeves under at the wrist — it's a neat, trim effect. To keep sweaters fresh and ready-to-wear, an effective deodorant is essential. Mums cream deodorant, safe for you and your nice cashmere, is a good choice.

AIRING

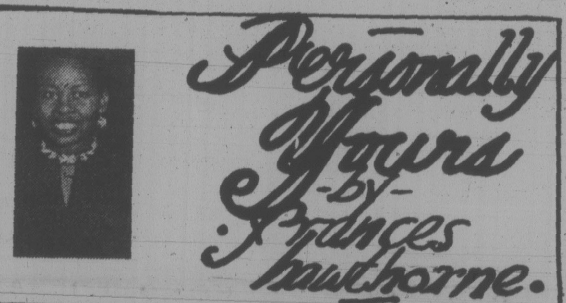

Because sweaters cling to the body, and fit close to the underarm area — give them a good airing after each wearing. First shake out, then air overnight if possible. Wear shirtings and use a good deodorant like Mums for full protection. Put sweaters away separately. Give them room to breathe in an uncrowded space.

CARING

Care in folding a sweater helps retain its shape: lay front down, fold sleeves back at shoulder line and parallel behind, smooth out creases, then fold sweater neatly in half and slip into its own case. Taking off a pullover, avoid stretched necklines; remove arms from sleeves, ease sweater over head with hands.

*Personally Yours
by Frances Hutchins*

If you didn't get out last week to take a drive, amble around the yard or block and kick a few autumn leaves, or just stand and gaze long upon the beauty of nature's wonders then you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Such wonderful weather and scenes to behold. Speaking of that weather, we had to eat a few remarks we made, that went something like "Where are the October Indian summer days of yesteryear?" Believe it we never enjoyed eating a few phrases so much! We also nursed a little nostalgia for days gone by when we used to go into the woods and gather hickory and walnuts and bring back some of the most colorful leaves and dried berry boughs for a nature display or bouquet for the house.

These days also remind us, especially with football season in full swing, of the college days. This is a very busy-time for sororities and fraternities and prospects for the rushing season. Until they become full sorors or brothers, this time is the most enjoyable for rushees or pledges. Like other cities with colleges and universities, Des Moines has its share. Both the Deltas and AKAs are busy.

Miss Mamie Simmons, a full-fledged AKA and senior at Drake university likes to try her hand at writing and enjoys publicity work for the sorority. Recently she wrote a skit, entitled, "Doubts," which was part of the entertainment of Beta Gamma Chapter for a fall rush party featuring a circus theme. Decorations, resembling the interior of a circus tent and costumes worn by sorority members added to the gala color.

The AKAs pitched their tent at the home of Mrs. John M. Estes, Sr., of 3541 27th Street.

Giving the skit action were Misses Duryea, Dickson, Shirley Carter, Charlotte Jones, Mamie Simmons and Misses Gertha Jones and Billie Jean Morrow. Crowned "Miss AKA Rushee of 1959" was Miss Carol Engram, a freshman at Drake university from Dayton Beach, Fla.

Other rushees attending were Misses Alice Clinton, Loretta Deering, Evanette Mays, Rosella Murray, Pauline Robinson, Una Shade, Verbuca Sims, Margaret Tisdale, Lois Wilbur, Barbara Williams, Olabelle Williams, Camille Wilson and Mrs. Bernice Wright, all from Drake; La Vora Dixon, and Rhoda Miller, Grand View college; Miss Louise Potts, Psychiatric social worker for the Iowa Children's Home society and Evelyn Tate, Broadlawn School of Nursing.

AKA members are Misses Duryea, Dickson, Shirley Carter, Charlotte Jones, Mamie Simmons and Misses Harriette Bruce, Belle Jean Morrow, Irma Estes, Lillian Seales, Mary Hyde, Marian Morrison, Gertha Jones and Frances Cule.

You probably noted there were several local young ladies who are attending college that were not reported in last month's issue of college students. Pictorially headlining the front page of a local daily last Saturday were the three children of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Saunders of 1620 Carpenter Avenue. The youngsters names were Sherry and Stephanie, Nash school pupils and their three-year-old brother James, Jr. They were so busy drawing pictures on the roped off area for youngsters as a Downtown Des Moines day promotion, that they probably never knew they were posing for the birdie.

Among the recent young newlyweds are Miss Bobby Thompson who recently became the bride of Mr. Floyd Shepard. Their wedding reception was held at Wilkie House.

Add another to your list of college students. He is Bernard Gaines, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Seymour Gaines, of 1173 10th Street. He began his freshman studies at Drake university.

We were able to attend Tuesday's concert introducing Adele Addison, noted soprano of Des Moines, at KENT Theater. My husband and I attended, thanks to the kind, thoughtfulness of Miss Charlene Wharton of Wilkie House. (For specifics on the concert, see front page story).

Throughout her concert, Miss Addison amazed her audience with her art and skill as the pure lovely melodic sounds rolled from her lips. However, during the rendition of Schumann's "Frauenliebe und Leben," she all but startled them at its closing, when they beheld real tears flowing softly from her eyes. A couple next to us in the balcony came equipped with opera glasses, and they quickly made use of them to see if they could really believe their natural eyes. The woman later handed us the glasses for a closeup of Miss Addison. She was as bereft of physical imperfections as her lovely voice.

Several students in the audience, came prepared. They brought along school books and before the concert and at intermission, did their homework.

Little Things

If you want to be truly lovely, remember that "little things" are vital to the big picture. Take lingerie, for example. No matter how beautiful your dress, the illusion is ruined by a soiled slip or petticoat peeking out at the hemline—or by soiled shoulder straps. Don't take chances on concealing faulty grooming. Instead, launder your lingerie regularly after each wearing.

COURTS MAKE MORE WORK FOR NAACP

Louisiana has again enjoined the NAACP from operating in that State. This is a repeat of the action taken in March 1956. In November 1956, the Louisiana Court of Appeals ruled that the lower court injunction was null and void and should never have been issued.

Last week, the U. S. Supreme Court refused to review a North Carolina case challenging the state's pupil placement law.

Earlier, the court had held a similar law constitutional. And while the NAACP lawyers argued that it was simply a subterfuge designed to circumvent the school decision of 1954, the court said it could not presume that the state would violate the law and thus ruled against them.

Since that time, several states have passed such laws wherein school boards are given the authority to "pick" a token number of students for integration rather than carry out the 1954 decision "with all deliberate speed."

These court decisions emphasize the great burden placed upon parents and the NAACP of carrying on a continuous legal battle against segregated schools. It constitutes a challenge to the Negro and his friends to provide the funds that the fine work which has been done in the past goes on.

WHY TURN THE OTHER CHEEK?

The Urban League's annual award for the labor leader who does most for civil rights was presented to George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO. And this in spite of the most uncouth denunciation he made of A. Philip Randolph at the recent national convention because the latter insisted upon squaring local racial policies with declared pronouncements in the organization's laws and resolutions.

Of course, one mistake does not necessarily indicate the overall attitude of a person. But the fact that an apology was not offered by Meany to Randolph for his utter lack of decorum makes thoughtful people wonder whether his heart is really as he says it is.

It cannot be denied that Negroes do make good union members. They have gone down the line, at times, supporting candidates whom they know were against their best interest solely in an effort to be loyal. But men cannot be expected to continue to be loyal where they are kicked in the pants in spite of that loyalty.

FIGHT CAUSES WALKOUT
AT AMOS HIATT

Kids will be kids. And if their pranks get out of hand, they become difficult to handle. At Amos Hiatt Junior High School this week, several students walked out and/or remained away from classes because they feared bodily injury growing out of threats following a fight between a few white and Negro boys last week.

Had this fight occurred between Negro students only or white students, little would have been heard of the incident. But much has been made of this instance, because the fight was between Negroes and whites.

Matters of this kind should, and no doubt will, be handled by school officials by taking stern action against those involved.

Generally speaking, Negro and white students get along very well in the schools. However, some rumblings of strained relations in that school have persisted for some time indicating that true stern administration has not prevailed as much as desired. This recent incident brought the situation to a head.

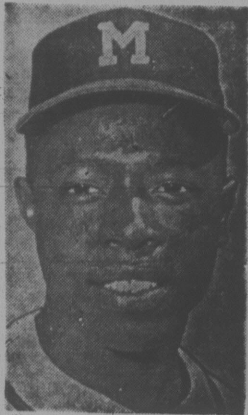

There can be no minimizing of the fact that in most schools, kids are a problem. The parents are problems also which makes it difficult to properly conduct the schools. The ruffians comprise a small minority, but make it appear that they run the whole show.

Dr. Harris, superintendent of the Independent School District, has given the principal of Amos Hiatt a free hand to deal with the guilty parties including suspension from school. This is as it should be for there is no use allowing a few rotten apples to destroy the whole barrel full.

In the meantime, both the parents and other good citizens should cooperate with school officials to the end that the youngsters shall be kept under control and the fine reputation of the whole school system be not damaged.

Hank Aaron Leads
A Barnstorm Tour

Washington, D. C.—Taking over Willie Mays' headline role, Hank Aaron of the Braves will be featured on a barnstorming tour against Harmon Killebrew's all-stars the two clubs of major leaguers who started their trek at Richmond, Va., October 11, on their way to a visit in Mexico. Mays dropped out at the request of Giant President Horace Stoneham.

AARON

The National League's leading hitter, Aaron, will play right field for a lineup that will include Willie McCovey, Giants, first base; Jim Gilliam, Dodgers, second; Al Smith, White Sox, third; Charlie Neal, Dodgers, shortstop; Bill White, Cardinals, left field; Harry Simpson, Pirates, center field; Bob Boyd, Orioles, utility; John Roseboro, Dodgers, and Earl Battey, White Sox, catchers; Don Newcombe, Reds; Bob Gibson and Marshall Bridges, Cardinals; Bennie Daniels, Pirates; Connie Johnson, Orioles, and Frank Barnes, Omaha (American Association), pitchers.

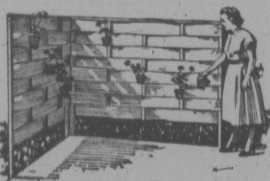

George Crowe of the Cardinals will manage the club.

Basket Weave Fence

A NEW idea in fencing can provide privacy to your patio or it may be used as a lawn divider. Some families have used this attractive basket weave design to screen an unsightly corner.

Built in units 6 feet long and 5 feet high, the fence may be set up to form a corner enclosure. It may be set up also as a straight or a staggered fence.

Flammable but strong Masonite Tempered Presdwood is used for weaving this fence between lumber supports. Available at lumber yards, the panels may be cut readily with a cross-cut saw. They take a beautiful paint job which, with the unusual basket weave design, will enhance the appearance of any lawn.

Flower pots may be hung on holders formed from wire coat hangers that are hooked over the Tempered Presdwood near a post.

The plan may be obtained by sending 20 cents in coin to Craft Patterns, Elmhurst, Ill., and requesting pattern No. 436.

Rough, Tough Wisconsin Gets Past Iowa 25-16
Fumbles Costly . . . Passing Clicks in Last Half

Madison, Wis.—A much rougher, tougher heavier Wisconsin 11 was the irresistible force that moved the crown further back on the Iowa champion's cranium here Saturday—by a score of 25-16. So furious and deadly were the Badgers' defense that Iowa's usual dazzlingly potent offense was rendered ineffective until the last half . . . too late.

Bruising tackles caused the Hawkeyes to tumble while deep in enemy territory close to a touchdown and to fumble too near their own goal. These maladjustments cause Iowa a half time deficit of 17-0.

Dad's Day

Of course, it being "Daddies Day" and all, inspired the Badgers even more together with the Rose Bowl fever they contacted. And so they came back on the onset of the second half and got themselves another TD, and conversion making the score an embarrassing 25-0.

Cyclones Stun Buffs
27-0; Now 4 Out of 5;
Win First Conf. Game

By Staff Writer

Boulder, Colo.—The Cyclones of Iowa State University put the skids on the Colorado Buffaloes' defensive and offensive maneuvers here Saturday and handed the Buffs a 27-0 shellacking to win their first conference game of the season . . .

The victory was even more of a gourmet's delight for the Cyclones in that they had grown accustomed to losing in Big Eight competition. In this sweetest victory they broke an eight straight conference game losing streak as well as winning their fourth out of five for the season.

Quarterback Nichols

Quarterback Dwight Nichols, and associates Mickey Fitzgerald and Tom Watkins combined dead eyed passes and sweeping end runs and bull dozing to upend the more hetter Buffaloes.

Nichols became the all-time Iowa State total offense leader at the University Saturday when he brought his career total to 3,265 yards with five game to go. The original record was set by Bill Weeks in 1948-50. Fitzgerald netted 96 yards in six tries while hard-running Watkins totaled 81 yards in 19 tries for his day's work . . . not quite as good as he usually does.

The high-riding Cyclones take on lowly Kansas State in a homecoming tussle Saturday.

Bath House

Bath-house etiquette is taught to small tots in Japan. They learn how to scrub their neighbors' backs. Seated in a circle, one behind the other, each child applies soap-suds liberally to the fellow in front—keeping time with organ music in the background.

Treadway

But this final Wisconsin tally was all the Hawks could take . . . Realizing their ground advance was blocked by Badger beef, that time was the essence and transportation by air was faster than by land, Quarterback Olen Treaway launched a succession of aerial offenses that hit their targets, end Don Norton, time after time. Forty-one times Treadway threw for 26 completions and two touchdowns. Two two-point conversions were enough to save Iowa embarrassment but not quite enough for victory. However, Treadway set a Big Ten record with his aerial feats.

The Badgers were keyed for wing-footed Bob Jeter and held the Iowa star to a 6.7 yard average in 44 carries.

The Hawks next foe is Purdue, who acts something like Wisconsin on the gridiron.

WORLD'S SECOND BEST
WEIGHT LIFTER IS NEGRO

Washington, D. C.—(CNS) . . . A 30 year old Negro who hopes to be world champion heavyweight weightlifter, is back at his job at the Library of Congress in Washington, after winning title as second best weight lifter in the world in Warsaw, Russian fellow Juriji Wlasow won the title.

Jim Bradford, married and father of two, began his career as a weightlifter when he noticed, at 15, he was weighing 247 pounds. In '52 he was runner-up for the Olympic title and now hopes to be champion in the '60 and '64 Olympics.

Russian Competition

In the Russian competition, Bradford lifted 1085.5 pounds. With a hairy chest, 53 inches, he's 6 feet tall and now weighs 280 pounds. He's working as a binding assistant in the serial division of the Library's Reference Room and is enrolled at Howard University, with one more semester to go.

He has big plans. Majoring in physical education, Bradford hopes to have a health club or gym of his own—once he wins the Olympics and gains world-wide recognition. He's very excited about his career—and is even teaching his kids, aged 4 and 2, some of the tricks of the trade. He's just bought them their own set of barbells.

PATIENCE

Patience be thy robe and cloak, thy armor night and day.
No blow shall wound, nor word defame; thy dignity: I pray.
Upon thy brow, the wreath, O sage; how great thy wisdom be.
Thou seest far beyond this age; to one where man is free.
Warm is thine eye, blue as the sky; yet in it flames, eternal fire! Like lightning jousts with peak and spire; can strike man from on high!
O lips that laugh; caress and love, or speak the words that lift and heal;
Can't thunder wrathful, strong and sure, with faith that's tempered, strong like steel!

Steel forged by heav'n for thy role, against the hosts that seek thy soul;

That fling their darts, that shatter; spent, when patience is thy raiment . . .

With patience, there is no defeat, therein is thy salvation:

The warp, and woof, and weave of it; is part of all creation! . . .

Cracks, Crevices

It's the cracks and crevices and small spaces between things that really catch the dirt in a house. And, of course, these are the hardest places to clean. There's a new stainless steel sink that solves the problem—at least for its corner of the kitchen—by providing its own wide, self-draining apron. In fact, the sink and apron are all-of-a-piece. It's a wonderfully washable, dirt-resistant, stainless unit that also brightens your kitchen.
