NAACP Supports Randolph's Demands

Against Prejudice in Trade Unions While Meany Yells Bitter No

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today informed A. F. L.-C. I. O. President George Meany that it "fully supports the demand of A. Philip Randolph for positive action by the AFL-CIO against racial discrimination within its ranks as elsewhere in American life."

In a telegram to the labor leader, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, charged that failure of the AFL-CIO convention to take effective action to end the abuses of exclusion and segregation in some of its affiliates reveal an unwillingness on the part of the federation "to implement its own democratic professions."

Bitter Attacks

At the closing session of the third biennial AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco on Sept. 23, Meany attacked Randolph who vainly sought to have the convention expel two railway unions which continue to exclude Negro workers and to order the dissolution of Jim Crow locals. The Randolph resolution would have given the offending unions six months to get rid of their illy-white policy.

Irritated by the proposals, the AFL-CIO president, launched a bitter attack upon Randolph who is president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and the only Negro vice president and member of the executive council of the AFL-CIO. Meany defended the Jim Crow locals on the ground that some Negro workers wanted them. He asserted that the railway unions needed more time to comply with the federation requirement to admit Negro workers.

Nehru Sees Great Race Improvement Around the World Except in Africa

New York City—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India says in the October issue of Ebony Magazine that he believes the problems of race and color have improved everywhere in the world during the past decade except in South Africa. He also agrees with Gandhi that non-violence is the only avenue open to Negroes by which they may free themselves.

"They have no other weapon," he says, "I think it as simple as that." In a question and answer story entitled "Nehru Looks at the Color Problem," Nehru says that non-violence is practicable in solving race problems, although there is no central figure with the moral strength of Gandhi.

U. S. Improvement

The example of Gandhi is fairly well known in the world," he points out in Ebony. "Such things have strong carrying power. Once it gets started leaders always emerge."

Nehru believes there has been great improvement in the relationships between Negro and white people in the United States.

"As I see it, there have been several influences bringing this about," he says. The American Negro has made rapid strides due to his own efforts. American public opinion and the recent rulings of your Supreme Court have been very effective. It would seem to me that the weight of world opinion also has helped to improve conditions for the Negro, not only in the U. S., but in the world generally—everywhere except South Africa."

No Peace

Nehru still holds with a 1949 speech in which he declared that unless the basic problems of color and freedom are solved, there can be no peace in the world.

He says in Ebony: "The concept of social justice is the dominant idea of the age. Communism rose from this source. It has affected capitalism. The capitalistic states have been changed by it in many ways. Social justice has affected the

Who's Who in Iowa

Donald Smith Landed Job As Sports Editor of Ames Daily Tribune Last Summer

This is the 68th in a series of articles featuring Negro firsts, leaders and outstanding personalities in Iowa who are excelling in civic, professional, business, religious, educational, fraternal and entertainment fields.

By Mrs. Frances Hawthorne

A native Iowan, Donald K. Smith, 29, of Ames, has the distinction of being named sports editor of the Ames Daily Tribune, a position he has held since last July 24.

Well prepared academically for his position, Mr. Smith graduated from Iowa State university in Ames with the B.S. degree in technical journalism on Aug. 21. He had financed his way through college with part-time jobs to supplement G.I. Bill allotments. Much of his sports and writing experience was gained during his college days when he served as sports editor of the Iowa State Daily, photography editor of the same paper and sports correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune. In addition he worked as a hotel waiter and engineering aid during three summers for John Morrell & Co., in Ottumwa and lab technician at the school experimental station for several years.

Born in Keokuk

As sports editor, Mr. Smith's job includes writing, editing, covering all sports news in the city, at Iowa State university and in the county. He also writes headlines, edits all wire copy, make up sports section, and other various duties of his position.

Born in Keokuk, he has lived in Ames since the fall of 1954. He graduated from Washington High school in Sioux Falls, S. Dak. Active in civic and fraternal organizations, Mr. Smith is a member of the Ames Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Masonic Lodge, Golden Star No. 4 in Ottumwa, and the Iowa Daily Press association.

A member of the First Baptist church in Ames, he also is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity. For over three years he served as an air policeman with the U. S. Air Force and was honorably discharged with the rank of Staff sergeant.

Mr. Smith lives with his family at 127 Pammel Court. He and his wife, Emma Jewell, are parents of four children, Archie, 12; Thaddies, 10;

Patterson was accused of going in excess of 80 miles an hour.

Blood Poisoning

One well-known doctor and writer on medical subjects reminds us again of the importance of soap and water in preventive medicine. This expert says that septicemia (blood poisoning) after injury "can be avoided in the majority of instances by cleansing the wound thoroughly with soap and hot water and applying a sterile bandage."

Ebony Magazine States Both Races Must Throw Off Yoke Of Prejudice to Advance

New York—Negroes as well as whites must divest themselves of prejudice if understanding between the races is to be achieved, Ebony Magazine says in its October issue. In an editorial called "Search Me, Lord," which includes a 10-question Negro tolerance test of whites; the magazine says that prejudice is a two-way street and that a black barrier of suspicion and resentment is frequently raised to counteract white bias.

Not Hate With Hate

Fighting hate with hate is not the answer, says Ebony, pointing out that distrust, resentment and fear only compound the sins that already have been committed in the name of race. The walls of prejudice and the barriers of suspicion that separate Americans of different color are not impregnable. But the barriers must come down if the walls are to be reached. Once that is done, the wary Negro will be surprised to find that the walls are crumbling. Once he has let down his guard, he will see that not all white people are his enemies.

Soul Searching

Ebony says that those Negroes who believe they have no racial prejudice, who wish to do a little soul-searching of their own, should ask themselves these questions:

1. Do I discourage the friendship of white people?
2. Do I invite white people to

- my home? Visit in theirs?
3. Would I object to them joining my church? My social club?
4. Do I object to working with them?
5. In the company of white people, am I at ease? Uncomfortable? Irritated? Flattered?
6. If I could move anywhere I wished tomorrow, would I stay where I am? Move to a mixed neighborhood? To an all-white neighborhood? To an all-Negro neighborhood?
7. If I bought an apartment building tenanted by white people, would I ask them to move?
8. Do I feel myself equal to white people? Inferior? Superior?
9. Do I distrust them? Dislike them? Hate them?
10. If I had my choice would I rather be white?

Those who loudly petition God to cleanse the souls of white folk, says Ebony, might ask Him to also search the black man's heart.

Michigan State Has 8 Negroes On Grid Team

East - Lansing, Mich.—Michigan State, trying to regain its place in the national football sun, has 8 Negro prospects, several of whom indicate they may bolster the Spartans considerably.

The team's prime All-American candidate is Blanche Martin, 22-year-old senior from River Rouge. The 195-lb. fullback who missed last season because of an injury in Spring training, is likely to be "State's best defensive and offensive back."

As a junior back in 1957, he carried the ball 100 times for 528 yards and scored 7 touchdowns.

Promising

Martin is also an outstanding student, with an A-minus average in his pre-dental course. Another promising back is Hugh Adderley, 184-lb. junior from Philadelphia. The 20-year-old fullback figures to carry a large share of the offensive burden this fall. He averaged 3.8 yards in

Old-Fashioned Plaything

EVEN in this streamlined age of television and jet planes, the child of two to six enjoys a toy that's quite primitive, like a hobby horse. It makes no difference if you can't purchase one, because making one is a cinch for the proud Dad.

The only parts needed are an old broom stick, two pieces of Masonite 1/4" tempered Presdwood, a four-inch wooden or metal wheel from an old wagon, a piece of rope, and some paint—white, red and brown.

Following the diagram shown here, Dad can lay out the head pattern on the Tempered Presdwood. He will cut out two heads with a coping or jig saw and glue the screened sides together so that only the smooth faces will be exposed.

He'll select the desired length of broomstick and cut slots into which the head and wheel are bolted. After applying a prime coat of paint, he can cover the various parts with colors as shown. The youngster will thoroughly enjoy this old-fashioned plaything.

For a free plan showing other toys that can be made in the home workshop, write Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, and ask for "Drawing No."

Brushes

One great value of housekeeping brushes is that you can keep them clean with little trouble. Nylon or other plastic bristles shed soil quickly, so it's easy to see when they're clean all the way through. Just wash such brushes in hot soap or detergent suds and rinse after each use, and they will always be ready for the next job.

How to Start a Nail

AS MANY a youngster or amateur craftsman has learned by painful experience, there are several wrong ways of starting a nail. There also is a correct way, which will avoid smashed fingers.

In the illustrations by the National Safety Council, the wrong way is demonstrated in the upper two pictures, with the painful result if the nail slips. Rule 1 is to avoid holding the nail by the thumb and finger near the point of the nail.

If the thumb and finger are held near the head of the nail, as shown in the lower illustration, the digits will be knocked out of the way and will escape injury even though the nail slips. Of course, avoid having the thumb and finger snug against the head of the nail, too; otherwise the hammer is likely to strike them as well as the head of the nail.

Nehru: India Has Many 'Little Rocks'

New York—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru admits in the October issue of Ebony Magazine that his nation has many Little Rocks and that tensions in India are far more than those in the United States.

In an article called "Nehru Looks at the Color Problem," the Prime Minister says: "India is a big country in which there are many small isolated communities. Some of them are highly self-centered and not interested in or sometimes even unfriendly to the rest of the nation. It is not related to color, however. It is a hangover of the old caste structure. The whole of our present

Third Dimension in Crocheting

Completely new is the three-dimensional effect in crocheting shown in the Crinoline Lady designs used as decoration on the towels above. This represents the latest idea in popular crochet, number one hobby among American women. A variety of these Crinoline Lady designs and the use of them as decorative motifs on different types of household linens are further suggested in the color illustrations of a new crochet booklet now available in needle-work departments and ten-cent stores. Worked out in attractive colors, the charming little figures are gay with real bodice and skirt ruffles, bows and ties, all swirling out freely in diminutive replicas of the famous Crinoline fashions. Use of these designs appeals to women who like their household accessories to harmonize, or contrast effectively with the color schemes of the rooms for which they are intended. The Crinoline Lady design lends itself to use as a decorative motif, not only on towels for the bathroom, but on pillow cases, doilies, table mats; boudoir lamps; linen, silk and satin boudoir pillows — and, in larger dimensions, as a charming center decoration for a young girl's bedspread.

parliamentary government is trying hard to break this down. Public opinion in India is strongly opposed to it. It will probably take some time to rid ourselves of all such tensions, but we will finally do it. Conditions are much better now than they were a few years ago."

Nehru also says in Ebony that non-violence is the only avenue open to Negroes by which they may free themselves.

"They have no other weapon," he says. "It is as simple as that."

Belting them out in old-time style, Della has that husky voice which carries the message well as in such as "Good Morning Heartache"—a favorite of Billie Holiday—and "St. James Infirmary."

The occasion was "A Portrait of Della Reese"—televised for one hour—and the background was like in a basement club—the kind where you knock twice—where jazz sifts through the railings and comes up to the street . . . A small interested group was seated around tables and Della seemed to change her outfits for every song which was well dotted with commercials.

Choir Singers

About the only bit we did not relish was when Della was joined by a group of "choir singers" who, while looking angelic, were swinging it a little too loudly . . . Their costumes, shimmering sequins, spoiled the church-like effect and when Della joined them for a closing number "When the Saints Come Marching In," we thought the TV would just about break.

Latest Home Hobby Transforms Old Nylons Into Lovely Flowers

THERE'S NEW LIFE in those old nylon stockings you get from time to time. They convert them into lovely flowers and corsages. Which you can use to adorn hats, suit packages and low vases.

as shown in photo. They're striking glass as buttonholes and as ornaments for hair, wrists, dresses, jackets and coats.

Making the flowers is easy, inexpensive and full of fun. All you need besides the old nylons are a big box of color remover and all the usual tinting, dyeing, ordinary copper screening, floral tape, scissors and corsage pins. Floral centers can be colored with crocheted cotton dipped in paraffin.

The Tintex Home Economics Bureau has published a free leaflet of instructions. About 10,000,000 leaflets have already been distributed, many to churchwomen eager to make the flowers for sale at fund-raising bazaars and parties, others to hospital convalescents and home shut-ins. Some alert housewives have even converted the hobby into a money-making enterprise.

You can obtain one or more leaflets from the Tintex bureau, by addressing it at 485 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

Lowly Burlap Feed Bag Stars In New "Do-It-Yourself" Role

GOOD NEWS for budget-minded homemakers and "do-it-yourself" fans.

With the help of a little needlework and all-fabric dyes, ordinary burlap feed bags can become articles of arresting beauty for home and wardrobe.

Designer Elizabeth Cowan, above, displays a few of the useful and colorful things she made from burlap bags—the bolero costume she's wearing, window curtains, place mats, napkins, cushion cover and apron.

Scores of other wardrobe items and home furnishings can be transformed easily and inexpensively from burlap bags, thanks to joint research by the Tintex Home Economics Bureau and Burlap Council.

Mrs. Cowan has written an eight-page illustrated folder for the two organizations that describes how to wash and prepare the bags for dyeing, how to dye them in either a vessel or washing machine and how to make a series of typical articles from the tintexed burlap. The leaflet, entitled "How to Make Beautiful Articles from Burlap Bags," is obtainable free from Tintex Home Economics Bureau, 485 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by Lloyd Lovell, SUI Assistant Professor

ACCEPTING CHANGE

Every now and then parents take stock of their youngsters and note how quickly they are growing up, how fast time has passed. Often this review takes place after some new privilege has been granted, some different activity has been undertaken that signals the step forward.

But also, too often these new events follow the emotional crisis of the child's having to demand that he be recognized as a human being who has passed to a more advanced stage of development.

Single Stage

In the everyday process of things we really don't see our children as growing, changing, advancing young people. They remain at a single stage until something makes us sit up and take notice, a notice often urged on us by the child himself. Tom really needs more allowance; Betty can make a trip down town by herself; Andrew should be allowed to stay up a little later in the evening.

All of these may be perfectly sensible requests. But because we are involved in the daily routine of living, we sometimes don't see that they are. And when they are brought to our attention we may resist recognizing them. Not only is change often unwelcome, but growth in our children also means we are growing older. Some people would rather not acknowledge this.

Privileges

If we grant new privileges and change our behavior toward our children as their growth warrants it, before they must demand the recognition, some benefits may be forthcoming.

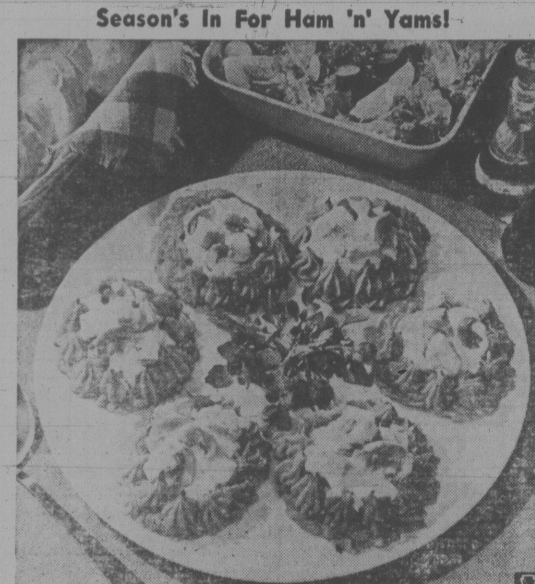

Our youngsters may then see us as people who reward and notice the process of growing up rather than as people who must be badgered into seeing something that is already obvious. They may feel that behavior earns them privileges without always having to put up a fight. And, we may save our families from some of the unpleasant aspects of an emotional crisis.

Utility Cart

Here's still another use for the handy tea or utility cart! Place baby's plastic bathtub on the cart, then roll it to the sink for filling and emptying. The handles are fine for hanging towels, and the shelves for diapers and blankets. After the bath, remove the tub; then change and dress baby on the same convenient table.

Hooks

Have you noticed how hooks on clothes tend to become bent and flattened during laundering—especially if they go through the wringer? Try keeping a silver table knife on the ironing board, then use it to open hooks.

Season's In For Ham 'n' Yams!

"Pretty-perfect" for a party... this fine way to use up left-over mashed potatoes and bits of ham which results in gourmet eating! And, with the Louisiana yam season at its height, you'll get peak enjoyment too, in these easy-to-make, and easy-to-serve yam-rings. With the delicate flavor of maple-blended syrup-enhancing the yams, you can be sure of requests for second helpings. So better not depend upon having "left-overs." Better double the recipe, in fact!

HAM AND MUSHROOMS IN YAM RINGS

1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 cups mashed cooked Louisiana yams
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/4 cup Log Cabin Syrup
1-1/2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 cup diced cooked ham
Combine egg, 2 tablespoons milk, and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Add to mashed yams. Mix well. Add salt, pepper, and maple-blended syrup and mix until well blended. Shape yam mixture into rings on greased baking sheet, using a pastry bag or spoon. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 20 minutes, or until delicately browned.

Meanwhile, saute mushrooms in 3 tablespoons of butter until browned and tender. Add flour, mixing to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture is thickened. Add ham and heat thoroughly. Serve creamed mixture in center of each yam ring. Makes 6 servings. G

Wash Right Away!

Cheap knives are a false economy, as any good home cook knows. Many professional chefs feel that carbon steel gives the best cutting edge for kitchen and carving knives. But remember—carbon steel stains easily and must be washed and dried immediately after use; use hot soap or detergent suds and rinses.

Convertible

Scrub the cloth top of your convertible once in a while with soap or detergent suds. Then rinse, but never put the top down while it's still damp. This may cause wrinkles, mildew, and shrinkage.

Women Campaigning For UC This Week

The Women's Division of the United Campaign of Greater Des Moines kicked off its annual house to house drive Monday when four thousand volunteers went out to raise $100,000 for the 46 health, welfare and recreation agencies of our community. The Women's Division is scheduled to finish Oct. 9 with final calls to those not contacted the following week.

The goal for this year's United Campaign is five per cent over the actual amount raised last year. Each year nearly 80,000 people in the Greater Des Moines area are served by the 46 agencies of United Community Services.

The weekend rains proved to be a boon to Iowa's TV sports fans, especially for the man of the house who was hampered from doing planned fall outdoor chores. Americans breathing a sigh of relief and hope as Nikita Khrushchev boarded his huge plane for his homeland. Any one viewing last Sunday's timely 90 minute show of Ed Sullivan which was filmed in Moscow, Russia, had to agree, perhaps, with a mixture of surprise, that the land of the Great Bears isn't quite so backwards, materially, as we thought it was.

As funds for the polio treasury got low during the epidemic this past summer various persons of all ages have found ways to raise money for the worthy effort. Two mothers got together several weeks ago and made plans for a benefit bake sale for the March of Dimes. The mothers were Mrs. Phillip Tindrell, of 1428 E. 15th street, mother of a son and her neighbor-friend, Mrs. Glenn Fayles, of 1424 E. 15th street, mother of a daughter.

They went from door to door on both sides, the whole length of E. 15th street from Washington to Vine, (about 12 blocks) asking donation for the bake sale. In addition they took their babies right along with them.

They in turn took the donations to a local supermarket on the East side on Saturday, Sept. 12. Their total sale was $50.

Another benefit venture for Polio will be held Sunday, Oct. 11. Mrs. Gertrude Claybrook of 223 E. 13th street, will give a benefit coffee in her home. Proceeds will be turned over to Zeid Court and Zeid Temple.

interest has been channeled through architect and graphic designs.

Have you ever wondered how a blind person goes about getting a leader dog? Ted Johnson, of 826 Center street went through the experience recently. Having heard that the Lions club sponsored such dogs he called the local organization and was directed to Ralph Whitten, international counselor of the Urbandale Lions club. They informed him that prospective students were sent to a school for leader dogs in Rochester, Minn. Mr. Johnson sent in his application to the school which has a dormitory and everything complete for the school.

The dogs are trained there for a month then sent to Pontiac, Mich., where they are trained two more months. Then students come up in classes of twelve and visit the school. Personnel then try to match the personality of the dog with the student according to size and etc.

When Mr. Johnson was advised by the Rochester school that he had been accepted as a student he was sent by plane at the expense of the Urbandale Lions club to the school. There along with 11 other students he went through the training period with his dog to learn what it could do and learned to give the dog commands. The dog he was given was named 'Princess' and at first Mr. Johnson reported that he did not exactly like to have a dog by that name but before a week passed, he would not have parted with 'Princess' for anything.

After the training period Mr. Johnson and his 'Princess' returned home, by plane, at the expense of the same Lions club. They have been back for a month now and Mr. Johnson and Princess are getting along fine.

Added Energy for Football Players

EVERY FOOTBALL TEAM HAS SUBSTITUTES. . . but there's no substitute for a good breakfast for providing energy and stamina needed by football players—young and old. So, if your son hasn't made the team this year, it may be that he isn't eating fruit, crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, bread, butter and a beverage each morning.

When he makes that first string team, celebrate by baking a batch of these flavorful Gingerbread Pennants. Made from a simple, wholesome recipe developed in the test kitchens of the Kellogg Company.

GINGERBREAD PENNANTS

1/4 cup butter or margarine 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup molasses 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Bran (ready-to-eat bran) 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup cold strong coffee 1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon ginger

2 cups confectioners' sugar 3 tablespoons hot milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses, All-Bran and coffee. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices; stir into first mixture. Spread in greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. While cake is still warm, cut into pennant shapes. Combine sugar with milk; add vanilla and beat well. Letter pennants with icing.

Yield: about 2 dozen pennants. (ANS)

RANDOLF SPEAKS
NEGROES' SENTIMENT

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, lost his head at the annual convention when A. Philip Randolph, pressing for the elimination of discrimination and exclusion of Negroes from some unions, charged that the practice had been deferred too long already, and that the tactics being pursued were a continuation of that program.

Randolph was asked by Meany who authorized him to speak for all Negroes. This, of course was simply clouding the issue. Maybe Randolph does not speak for all Negroes; neither does Meany speak for all labor. But when any Negro speaks out against second-class citizenship he speaks the sentiment not only of the Negro but also all people who believe that America—including labor—should practice what it preaches.

Meany's tactics fell to that type of those persons who smart under the truth, and of course, that is just where Meany was backed into.

Labor should recognize that Negroes have given labor loyal support not only as good union members but also from the political angle. On the other hand, some unions disregard the provisions of their constitutions by keeping Negroes from apprenticeship training thus offering no chance to become a journeyman. Some never make it possible for them to be promoted.

Much of these shortcomings can be dealt with on the local level. Negroes themselves have a responsibility to press for better recognition and this must be by those in the labor field themselves.

OBSERVATIONS ON KHRUSHCHEV'S VISIT

Those who may have listened to Premier Khrushchev's speech when he landed in Moscow might have thought the speaker was an official of the so-called free nations.

He had high praise for President Eisenhower, spoke highly of his trip and said America and Russia could live side by side in peace.

There are those who had their doubts about the wisdom of Mr. Khrushchev's visit to this country arguing, among other things, that nothing would change his thinking about eventual world domination by Communism.

Of course, this was too much to expect for the Russian, like we, believes in his way of life and is not to be converted by a few days stay in a democracy.

Khrushchev demonstrated that he is a pretty smart fellow, constantly boasted of the progress Russia had made in modern development, in science and industry, and vowed that his country would pass America in the near distant future. In other words, he proved pretty conclusively that the democracies must not sell him short.

Undoubtedly, the meeting of the President and Mr. Khrushchev proved that men of conflicting views can discuss their differences and maybe make some progress toward bringing them in harmony. Surely no nation would profit by a war with modern means of destruction which each country possesses.

If nothing more, the democracies and communists are talking of settling their differences. We are in favor of a continuation of that program. At least Mr. Khrushchev has an opportunity to show just how sincere those beautiful remarks in his speech mean action, will tell.

THE VOTE TUESDAY

Voters in Des Moines decided by a wide margin Tuesday that they did not favor city participation in the ownership of the Des Moines Transit Co.

Little enthusiasm was worked up preceding the election and if the city council favored the proposal they made no effort to help convince the voters that the purchase was the right step.

Born under the threat of a strike and the possibility that new taxes might be necessary, the proposal made many people feel that they wanted no part of the proposition.

Washing Clothes

The classic spectacle of native women beating clothes clean along the shores of a river has been reversed in Indonesia. Men in Jakarta make their living by "taking out" washing to scrub on the banks of a canal, then plunging in for a swim after the clothes are clean.

Gloves

Of all accessories, gloves need the most frequent tending, and it never pays to let dirt become imbedded in leather or fabric. Warm soap or detergent suds, plus thorough rinsing, will keep your glove wardrobe in good shape. Remember to peel your gloves off after washing them on your hands—don't tug at the finger tips while they are wet.

Champion Batter
In Major Leagues

(Bulletin.—The Los Angeles Dodgers became the National League pennant winners by defeating the Milwaukee Braves two games straight in the playoffs.)

Hank Aaron, veteran outfielder of the Milwaukee Braves led all batters in both major leagues this year. At the finish of Sunday's games which marked the closing of the regular season, Aaron had a batting average of .355, 10 points more than his next National League rival.

However, all averages of the Milwaukee Braves and the Los Angeles Dodgers, who tied for the pennant, will include the best two-of-three playoff games.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs tied with Eddie Matthews of Milwaukee for the home run honors with 35 but if Matthews should clout a four-bagger in the playoffs he will take undisputed lead. Banks also led the field of runs batted in with 143 and finished with a batting average of .304.

Aaron came behind Matthews and Banks in the home run department with 39 at the end of Sunday's games and finished third in RBIs with 123. Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds, batted .311, finished fourth with 36 homeruns, and second with 125 RBIs. Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants batted .313, and clouted 34 homeruns. In the American league Minnie Minoso of Cleveland Indians batted .302 and Vic Powers, his teammate finished with 289.

What a weekend. Baseball, Football battling for the headlines! The second game of the National League playoffs was the kind of a loss that haunts one for years. We have a faint memory of some of these games of yesteryear and they all seem like it was yesterday. Hope the Sox win this Series although our two favorite teams are playing for top honors.

Local

Several people have asked us about getting into our sports column, our motto, which is, "You have to do something to make that column." Well a couple of golfers did. The Register and Tribune company where a number of us work, has a yearly golf meet for its employees and their immediate families. Cleo Johnson and Mrs. Cleo Johnson along with Chauncey Bailey got into the thing, since both Johnsons and Bailey are employees, to our knowledge they are the first Negroes to ever get in. And some of the good brethren wouldn't care if they were the last. Mrs. Johnson won the women's championship flight, Cleo finished second in the men's championship flight while Bailey won third place. Nice going fellows.

Football

Well, has Iowa got a ball club or was California weak? That was the first Oklahoma team that we ever saw help beat itself. Now how strong was Northwestern? That game Saturday ought to be a jim dandy. Iowa State looked pretty good last week. We still think the Cyclones have a good chance to win most of their games.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Ailment of Genius

If your birthday falls during this month, you're in famous company. H. G. Wells, the novelist, St. Francis of Assisi, who founded the Franciscan Order, Dr. Samuel Johnson, who compiled England's first comprehensive dictionary, and O. Henry, whose short stories are known and loved all over the world—all four were born in September. They had something else in common, too. All suffered from tuberculosis.

Famous People

So many gifted men and women were victims of TB, in fact, that at one time it was thought something about the disease helped produce geniuses or vice versa.

We know better now, of course. The genius of these famous people had nothing to do with their illness. In each case there was a history of poverty, hunger, squalor, or close contact with other TB sufferers. These are the factors that have always caused TB and still do.

We know some other useful things about TB. That a simple, painless test, the tuberculin test, can quickly tell if a person is harboring the TB germ. That x-rays can show if the germ is active and doing lung damage. That modern drugs usually stop TB in its tracks in far less time that would have been thought possible twenty years ago.

Modern Medicine

There was a time when the TB victim had no way of knowing he had the disease until the blood he coughed up told him he didn't have long to live. There are still people who ignore the advances of modern medicine, to their cost. A good three-fourths of the more than 60,000 active cases of TB newly detected each year are in a far advanced stage. That shouldn't happen when tuberculin tests, x-rays, and early treatment can bring about a much happier result.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.

Iowa's "Inherited" Offensive Skills

Subdue California Bears — 42-12

By Staff Writer

San Francisco, Calif.—Iowa's 1959 football squad has seemingly inherited the dazzling offensive skill of their 1958 champion predecessors. If their 42-12 spanking of the California Bears here last weekend is an indication of their offensive opulence.

It had been feared that the Hawkeyes' loss of so many seasoned football lettermen that this was the time of diminishing returns in their show of might in the Big Ten.

Quarterbacks

But, temporarily anyway, Quarterbacks Olen Treadway, Wilburn Hollis and Co. have dispelled that contention. After the Golden Bears scared the Hawks with a quick 6-0 tally in the early minutes of the game, they settled down to the task at hand. With sudden retaliating force and skill the Hawks struck back again and again with offensive attacks that contained an assortment of passes and runs, formations, and fakes . . . mixed just right. When it all ended Iowa had

On golden wings, they came to me
Across the seas of space
Three precious things, in mind I see Afar, my fancies race . . .
The dawn that brings sweet ecstasy
That nothing could replace . . .
My glad heart sings in rapture free
I greet this new day's face . . .

LITTLE DIGIT

I have an ornery little toe
That costs me money, pain and woe.
And when I'd feel, just like a "wheel":
This little digit's prone to steal
My peace, and shrink my ego so!!!!
Laugh if you must, but now you know:

amassed a total of 475 yards to California's 319: mostly on the ground.

All this was done with brand new man power with such names as Treadway, Hollis, John Brown (left half back) and Al Hinton (18 yr. old 240 lb. R. T.)

Passes

Treadway passed for 127 yards with eight of 12 passes. Hollis, his capable standin, passed for 50 yards hitting five of eight. He also scored a touchdown. Fleetfooted Brown turned in the longest run of the game when he sprinted for 60-yards and a T.D. Hinton made some fine tackles . . . three of them in a row. A stiffer test comes for the versatile Hawkeyes next week-end when they challenge a tough-fast Northwestern team. A team who vanquished rugged used-to-winning Oklahoma last week to an embarrassing tune of 45-13.
