Hits Failure to Name Negroes to Important Boards, Commissions

A political rally Monday evening erupted over the racial issue when all four candidates were accused of "dodging the issue of appointing Negroes on powerful, legislative boards of the city."

The rally, held at Corinthian Baptist church and attended by about 80 persons, was attended by all four city council candidates, Councilmen Robert Conley, Frank McGowan, who are seeking re-election, and William E. Leachman and Jens Grothe.

The discussion on the racial issue began when Atty. J. B. Morris, Sr., said that "Negroes have the poorest representation we've ever had" on city boards.

3 Negroes

Conley pointed out that one of the first council acts in 1956, after he and McGowan started their first council terms, was the passage of a city fair employment ordinance. He also pointed out that there are two Negro members on one city board and one on another.

Powerful Boards

Atty. Morris emphasized that Negroes are "never placed on powerful, legislative groups which help run the city, such as the park board, water board or city planning and zoning commission."

"Because of this Negroes practically have no voice in how the city is run at all," he went on. "We had Negro firemen 40 years ago but we have none now."

Grothe, Leachman and McGowan all said names of Negroes qualified to serve on such bodies should be presented to the council and they would be considered.

Beating Around Bush

That led Atty. Morris to remark that all of the candidates were "beating around the bush."

Out of a total of 19 city boards and commissions with a total membership of about 120 persons, there are two Negroes on the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and one on the urban renewal board. Members are appointed by the mayor with council approval. There about 14,000 to 16,000 Negroes in the city.

Judge Candidates

Attending the rally were the seven candidates for municipal judge and

Platters Morals Case Taken Under Study

Cincinnati, Ohio—Attorneys in the morals case against the four male members of "The Platters," internationally-known rock 'n' roll singing group, and four 19-year-old girls, filed briefs last Friday before Municipal Judge Gilbert Bettman. Bettman had continued the case from October 3 to allow the lawyers for both sides to submit briefs on questions of law. He said Thursday night that no decision would be forthcoming immediately.

The judge said he would have to study the briefs before coming to a decision. He also said he had other cases before him and while this case had "attracted more notoriety than most, I'm not going to hurry a decision."

Charges

The singers are charged with aiding and abetting prostitution and the girls with prostitution. They pleaded innocent to the charges at the October 3 hearing. All were arrested August 10 in a downtown hotel room by officers who testified they found

Dr. King, The Man What Manner of Man Is This?

By Frances Hawthorne
This is the first of a two-part series about the life of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., author, lecturer, minister, and national integration leader. This article is a revelation of Dr. King—"The Man." Dr. King will speak at University Christian Church Thursday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. in Des Moines.

What manner of man is he—the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.? What manner of man is he who has been likened to Mahatma Gandhi, India's famed passive-resistant leader? What facets of character, mind and heart catapulted this young southern minister into a position of unsought for national leadership?

Young Man

Dr. King is a young man. Yet he has experienced more in his 30 years than most men do in 60. He was born in Atlanta, Ga., on Jan. 15, 1929, months before the great economic crash. His parents were Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King, Sr. His father was and still is pastor of Ebenezer Baptist church in Atlanta. During his young boyhood he attended the Atlanta public schools and was active in his father's church. His basic character was inevitably molded and influenced by the Christian teachings and examples set by Rev. King, Sr.

Degrees

After receiving his A. B. degree from Morehouse College in 1948 at the age of 19, Dr. King received his B.D. degree from Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pa., three years later. He then studied a year each at the University of Pennsylvania and in various stages of undress.

The singers registered as David Lynch, 30, and Ervin Robi, 26, both of El Centro, Calif.; Herbert Reed, 31, Los Angeles; and Sam Williams, 31, Hollywood.

Three of the girls are from nearby Hamilton and the other from Cincinnati.

and Harvard University, later receiving his Ph.D. degree from Boston University in 1955 in the field of Systematic Theology.

In addition he has had numerous honorary degrees conferred upon him including Chicago Theological Seminary of the University of Chicago and Howard University.

Family Man

A devoted family man he and his wife, the former Coretta Scott, are parents of two children, Yolande Denise, and Martin Luther III. Mrs. King follows a career of her own, as a concert singer. Several weeks ago she appeared at Omaha, Neb.

Pastorates

Dr. King's first pastoring assignment came in his father's church at Ebenezer Baptist. Currently, he is pastor of Dexter Avenue Baptist church in Montgomery, Ala., his present home and where his leadership prowess in the famed Montgomery bus boycott rocketed him to world acclaim. This is Dr. King the man—the quiet, God fearing and God believing man.

Next week: The last of a two-part series, entitled, "Rev. Martin Luther King, The Leader."

NAACP Board Commends Randolph for Labor Stand

New York—The Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has endorsed A. Philip Randolph's "campaign to rid the American labor movement of all vestiges of racial discrimination and segregation."

A resolution adopted by the Board at its regular monthly meeting here on Oct. 13 "reaffirms complete confidence" in Randolph and "assures him of its full support."

The labor leader, the resolution asserts, "in calling for the elimination of trade union Jim Crowism at the San Francisco convention of the AFL-CIO voiced the aspirations of the overwhelming majority of Negroes both within the labor movement and outside.

Heroic Struggle

"As he continues his heroic struggle for democratic, color-blind trade unionism, we commend him for his efforts; express to him our gratitude and renew our pledge of support and cooperation in a sustained attack upon the manifestations of racial prejudice wherever they occur in the labor movement, in industry or in government."

Previously, on Sept. 24, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Board, sent a telegram to AFL-CIO President George Meany asserting the Association's support of Mr. Randolph's demand "for positive action by the AFL-CIO against racial discrimination and segregation within its ranks as elsewhere in American life."

Three More Negroes Enter Central H.g

Little Rock—Three more Negro students have been admitted to Central high, bringing to a total of 9 the number of Negroes integrated into the city's three previously all-white high schools. All three of the new Negro students assigned to Central have high scholastic records and live within walking distance of the school.

There were two Negroes already attending the school. However, white students greeted the additional three with a demonstration of their resentment.

3 Others

The three are: Sybil L. Jordan, 15, daughter of a government employee; Sandra Johnson, 15, daughter of a building contractor; J. Frank Henderson, Jr., son of a Presbyterian minister. The assignment was on a split vote of the school board with J. C. Cottrell, board member, accusing Sybil of being an integration "ring leader" and instructing mental in persuading many other students to 'strike' against board regulations."

Sixty Negro students registered for the schools, but all except the original six were assigned to Jim Crow Horace Mann high under the Arkansas Pupil Placement Law. Eighteen Negro students have announced that they will stay out of school until the School Board reassigns them to Central high, or explains satisfactorily why it assigned them to Horace Mann.

After-School Snack

Here's a way to give fast service to the gang your youngsters bring home for lunch or an after-school snack. It also provides for an even faster cleanup after they've consumed almost everything digestible in sight. Instead of serving them on plates, spread out large Kleenex table napkins at each place and let them eat off the napkins. When they're done, merely fold up the crumbs, rinds, peels and crusts in the napkins, wipe up the remaining crumbs on the table with a moistened napkin and the table is ready for the next group of ravenous invaders.

New York City—Belafonte scoring as actor . . . Two years ago Harry Belafonte was an awkward, amateurish actor with racial prejudice foremost in his mind when he played the young leader in "Island In The Sun" . . . Earlier this year he was less awkward but still racially depressed as one of the two last men in New York in "The World, The Flesh and The Devil" . . . This week he emerged as a fine actor—with more control over his speaking lines—but still strongly depressed over his color in "Odds Against Tomorrow" where his battles with actor Robert Ryan cost them a carefully planned bank job—and $50,000 which each needs for their personal problems . . . The first of Harry's new film company, Harbel, "Odds Against Tomorrow" is a first-rate picture with striking suspense and a good cast . . . The racial conflict is genuine and moves along in a natural manner—building up to a terrible hatred . . . Dropping the interracial angle in this film, Belafonte's film wife and kid are Negroes . . . Conflict is centered on his dislike for Ryan . . . and its hard-hitting impact shows how racial hatred can disease human emotions—and destroy human beings . . .

Cab Calloway

Cab Calloway's so good at the Copper Door, he's been signed for another 16 weeks—he'll keep changing the show and supporting cast but the format will remain the same . . . and he has plenty to say about the cast . . . The Four Step Brothers, fast dancing and comedy team,

Archie Moore was sure surprised when "This Is Your Life" got to him . . . but we aren't too keen on his first acting role as the faithful run-away slave in "Huckleberry Finn" . . . why this type of role for a champion?

Hadda Brooks

If Hadda Brooks is the girl we think she is, she'll up and sue Mike Troup, owner of the White House in Minneapolis where she recently had a singing engagement, for stating in court that he discouraged Negro customers from coming to the club because Miss Brooks preferred not to perform before mixed audiences, fearing that some of her songs such as "That Old Black Magic" might offend minority groups . . . Such a statement is absolutely outlandish—when Billy Daniels made the song famous and certainly there is nothing to refer to any race . . . Surely this was just another way—a unique way—of beating around the bush about not admitting Negro patrons . . . Incidentally, the insulted party, two women and one male, sued the club for $1,500 jointly—won the case but was only awarded $200 . . . They will take the case to a higher court for damages . . .

NAACP Asks U.S. District Court to Void La. Injunction

New York—Robert L. Carter, general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, today announced two actions filed on Oct. 21 in the United States District Court in New Orleans designed to lift the state-imposed ban on NAACP activity in Louisiana . . .

In an effort to void the injunction handed down by a state court on Oct. 9 banning NAACP meetings and other activities in the state, the NAACP counsel filed a petition seeking removal of the case to the federal court. The petition cited action pending in the federal court to invalidate the 1924 anti-Ku Klux Klan statute under which the NAACP was originally banned in 1956 . . .

Suit Pending

As further grounds for removal of the case to the federal court, the petition cited an Association suit also pending in the federal court challenging the constitutionality of a 1958 state law requiring local groups affiliated with national organizations to file affidavits that none of the officers of the parent organizations is a member of any society listed as subversive by the House Un-American Activities Committee . . .

Candidate Demands

The present injunction, issued by Judge John Dixon at the behest of State Senator William M. Rainach, was based on these two statutes: Senator Rainach, a leader of the

Halloween: Trick or Treat Originated From English Custom of 'Begging Soul Cakes'

Do you know that jack-o-lanterns were first carved out of turnips? That today's customs of "trick or treat" originates from an old English custom of "begging cakes"?

Most important do you know that Halloween originated thousands of years ago when the Celts believed in the power of darkness and witches? Then, November 1 which was the beginning of the new year. The Celts did not understand about winter having shorter days and feared the god of darkness was angry with them . . .

Witches, Ghosts

To appease him, a feast was held in honor of lord of death and ghosts arose from graves and warmed their bones by firesides; witches mounted broomsticks (besoms) and whisked through the air with black cats perched behind them . . .

The beginning of a new day dawned when the Romans invaded England in 55 B.C. The conquerors brought their custom of worshipping Pomona, goddess of harvest. Our present day fun of bobbing apples and throwing nuts into the fire comes from their harvest offering of apples and nuts to Pomona . . .

In an effort to dispel and change the age-old fearsome beliefs, the Roman Catholic Church set aside November 1 as All Saints or All Hallows' Day; the night before was called All Hallows' Even and was later shortened to Halloween . . .

Soul Cakes

In England where the living gave much thought to the dead, a curious custom grew up. People went from house to house shouting, "a penny or a soul cake". Housewives gave them little pastries called soul cakes and in exchange they prayed for the souls of the dead. Hence comes today's "trick or treat."

The Irish, who first had the custom of jack-o-lanterns, carved grinning faces on hollowed turnips until their coming to America in 1840 where they were introduced to the pumpkin. In Ireland, land of legends, Jack-o-Lantern was a legendary stingy man who could not enter heaven or hell. He was condemned to roam the earth with his lighted lantern until Judgement day . . .

Of course, we know that ghosts, witches and jack-o-lanterns are non-existent and always were, but its real good to live in times when Halloween is fun. Trick or treat!!!!

Keep It "Clean" This Hallowe'en

Soap comes into its traditional own on Hallowe'en, of course. But there's no reason why the youthful pranks can't be turned to mother's advantage. When the children start their evening prowls, give each of them a supply of soap. Add an open invitation to write soapy messages—or draw soapy pictures—to their hearts' content on the windows . . . With the dawn, all you need is a wet cloth to spread the "ghost writing" over the pane, then wash it away . . .

These Baked Apples Go Glamorous!

In the time it takes to say to unexpected guests, "Stay for supper," you can change plain baked apples to a glamorous dessert with a quick 'n' easy topping! This same simple flaked coconut and cream mixture would be equally delicious on applesauce, or on a wedge of apple pie. The topping can be added just before serving; or, if there's time, chilled in advance, as the recipe suggests.

Coconut Baked Apples

6 tart apples, cored
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup Baker's Angel Flake Coconut

2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon orange extract or grated orange rind
1/2 cup cream, whipped

Place apples in baking dish, add water, and sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 45 minutes, or until done. Cool. Fold 1/2 cup of the coconut, 2 tablespoons sugar, and orange extract into whipped cream. Top apples with the mixture. Garnish with remaining coconut. Chill before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Personally Yours by Frances Hutchorne.

Chasing the few beautiful Indian summer days away were low hanging, dark clouds that brought intermittent cold rains with a forecast of likely snow. Adding to the general "gloomy outlook" for football fans was the Hawkeyes' second consecutive loss in Big Ten competition. However, such weather is made to order for goons and goblins who will be roaming goonland this week end.

Youngsters get a lot of quiet fun out of "Trick or Treat night" as well as a lot of fuel for the sweet tooth. Grownups who enjoy the humor of the costumes and "tricks" get quite a kick out of the night themselves. Some of the mothers who go along to protect their little ones, get into the act and do a little costume dressing themselves. All in all it makes for a night of fun and laughter and sometimes for some "very uneasy stomachs" the next day. Clubs and organizations also choose the month of October to get in a good costume party complete with appropriate Halloween menu and decoration scheme.

Youngsters, ideas for "spooky" Halloween outfits are as numerous and changeable as the assortment of masks. Our little boys finally decided on a gorilla and monster mask, respectively. We had promised to make matching suits. Well, a hunch back of Notre Dame outfit wasn't so hard to envision and sew into a reality, but how do you create a "hairy gorilla?" Especially when you don't have hair or cannot dig up anything that resemble it, short of shearing the neighbor's dog or cat? Well, our youngster who wanted to costume as the beast came up with the idea of cutting pieces of old cloth into strip, and sewing them on to resemble "make believe hair." We silently wondered why we couldn't have thought it up in the first place. Then he wondered how we were going to make it black, we told him we could machine dye it, so the whole thing was settled. There won't be any trouble mistaking them for the "real things" at their classroom parties at school, but we are kind of holding our breath for Friday night.

Mrs. Korinne Jackson, of 1155 Enos street, who will direct a 50-voice chorus at the "Girl Scouts on Parade" Saturday said there is only one little Negro girl in the chorus. She is Luella Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Webb of 2443 Garfield avenue.

Mrs. Jackson had been very disappointed that there was only the one Negro girl out of some 120 Negro Girl Scouts that she knows of in the city to participate in the chorus but her disappointment was softened a little, when the lone girl came from her own Troop 220.

Mrs. Jackson also had a co-starring role in "Member of the Wedding," at the Des Moines Community Playhouse production last Friday, Oct. 23. Mrs. Jackson played the part of "Sadie Brown," the role Ethel Waters made so famous on Broadway and in the movies. She co-starred with Joan Lohry, who played "Frankie Adams."

Others in the cast were Bobby Marks, Joanne Friege, Irvin White (who is almost a veteran Playhouse actor); also, Leon Jones, Jr., Jack Mishler, Jannette Mishler, L. Brennan, Tom Woodward and Sue Casswell.

For the first time the cast acted out their parts in the arena with the audience sitting all around them. Mrs. Jackson, said acting from the "new stage" was an interesting experience.

Miss Adele Addison, who appeared in her first Des Moines recital last week at KRNT theater, was honored with a reception afterwards at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shloss, of 2 Foster Drive. Mr. Shloss is president of the Des Moines Civic

SUPPORT GLANTON
FOR JUDGE;
VOTE NOVEMBER 3.

The citizens of Des Moines will be called upon on November 3 to elect four judges, a bailiff and clerk of the Municipal Court and two members of the city council. As has been the case in the past few city elections, interest of the average voter is not high. By and large, even though the number of candidates was small in the primaries, the list appears somewhat above the average over recent years.

Unfortunately, there has not been the close contact with city council candidates which would argue an improvement of some of the objections the Bystander has raised over a fairer deal for Negroes in the city administration. Members have given lip service to conditions of which complaint has been made, but, so far, little action of a forward nature has been noted. Maybe organization of the new council will help some.

As a rule, continuity of service on the bench is desirable, and for this reason the sitting municipal judges offer the best choice for the voters.

The Bystander calls particular attention to the candidacy of Luther T. Glanton, Jr., now serving on the municipal bench. Judge Glanton is the first Negro appointed to high office in Iowa. At one time, he was in private law practice and has served as our assistant county attorney. He is a gentleman of the highest character, has the respect of the members of his profession as well as the public generally and has made an excellent record on the bench.

Judge Glanton deserves to and draws support from all segments of Des Moines: capital and labor, whites and Negroes, Republicans and Democrats all of which attest to the general opinion that he should be elected. The citizens of Des Moines can ill afford not to elect him and keep in office a public official who has done such a splendid job in the position he seeks to retain and who commands the highest respect from the people of this community.

TIME TO SEARCH CANDIDATES.

Prospective candidates for party nomination for President are traveling over the country in an effort to sound out sentiment concerning their chances to be selected. Each one is talking to all segments of the population in an effort to explain that his views are best for the country, and thus he would be the best candidate. Some have little chance, but proceed upon the theory that the far out in front candidates will kill each other off and they may be chosen as a lesser of the evils.

They are saying what is best for the farmer, the laboring man, the business man. This, of course, would include the total population. But along with these are issues of particular interest to groups which, at times, transcend them all.

By and large, Negroes support the candidates which they feel offer the best chance of doing for them the things which guarantee first class citizenship: a job, education for their children, a chance to advance and equal protection of the law. Admittedly, they are passing through a critical period in the history of the country brought on by their rapid advance in recent years which has taken them closer to what the country guarantees its citizens.

They are demanding more of what America has to offer. They are taking their place in every walk of life. And this new look is meeting resistance not only from their perennial enemies, North and South, but also it has tended to neutralize some of the passive element who have little backbone and who glow but are cold in convenience.

World sentiment makes it more imperative that America does a better job of cleaning its own back yard in the matter of human rights for all of its citizens. Thus, any candidate who pinesfoot or glosses over that grave situation to get in office is not to be trusted, neither is his party.

Of course, there are those who spend in glib tongue on the question offering anything, but have no chance to put into practice what they preach. But in the months to come, before the party nominations for President and members congress, every effort must be made to expose squarely on a program of complete equality and justice for all, and weed out those who fail to stand

Cyclones Win Again
Skin K-State 26-0

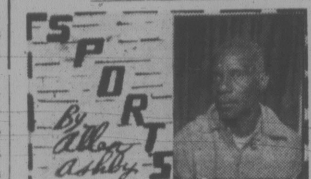

By Staff Writer

Ames, Iowa—The Iowa State University Cyclones persisted in their winning ways here Saturday as they subdued Kansas State 26-0 for their second straight conference victory.

The Cyclones awed Kansas State homecoming fans with their offensive dominance and decisive victory, for K-State had been accustomed to spanking the Cyclones.

In whipping Kansas State the Cyclones won their second conference game in a row and five out of six for the season. They are tied for second in Big Eight, standing with Kansas and Missouri behind Oklahoma. Iowa State cannot relax, however. Their toughest tasks are yet to come when they tackle Kansas (Saturday), Nebraska, and Oklahoma.

Scoring one touchdown each in Saturday's game were Tom Watkins, Dwight Nichols, Mickey Fitzgerald and Don Webb.

It is always amusing to listen to the barber shop coaches when a team loses a couple of games as Iowa has done. They know just what to do and how to do it. The Hawks could gain a respectable 500 average in the conference by beating Minnesota and Ohio State. The main trouble as we see it with Iowa is just lack of a big jarring fullback and a couple of heavyweight middle guards. Ohio State might beat them again down the middle.

Iowa State is headed for its best season in years no matter what happens from now on. It isn't too far-fetched to think they might beat Oklahoma. The Sooners aren't the club they used to be but they are still Oklahoma.

Local

We accompanied the Des Moines Dragons to Anamosa where they played the reformatory team. The local outfit won 30-7 with T.D.s by Brewton (2) and Hall (3). The club has a bunch of fellows who all want to play. They have about six good defensive players and are really hard to score on. Their offense shows lack of practice and doesn't have the coordination but the club as a whole has great determination and within another year could be tough as we look at it probably their best offensive combination would be Brewton, Hall, Cookie Ward and the quarterback, Webb.

Jesse Hill got his chance out on the field and managed to escape without broken bones. But the old guy didn't do bad. The next game is at Kansas City Nov. 7.

High School

Tech rolls on toward an unbeaten season by beating the first East High team we ever saw that didn't seem to care. Maybe we are wrong. We hope so for that is the impression we got. Of course there were some kids who fought their hearts out but the team didn't seem to.

81 Yard Run... Then Ride Off the Field

Early in the opening quarter last Friday, deerfooted Junior Taylor, Des Moines Tech, grabbed the pigskin and sped down field for an 81-yard stint. His run inspired his teammates to a 27-0 win over East High and clinched a share of the City Series football championship, marking the first time in history the Engineers have had any part of one.

have agreed to turn professional and tour with the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team, United Press International learned Oct. 16.

According to Saperstein's plans, the girls will play a brief match on the basketball court as a prelude to the Globetrotters' games. Their tour is scheduled to start this month. After game's end, Taylor was triumphantly carried off the field by a couple of proud Tech fans. Taylor's long run was made possible with the aid of fine performances by Tech all-city guard Harold Kennerly (below in single shot) and Ron Watkins and Fullback Bill Gillson. Retirement

Miss Gibson came out of competitive retirement in August to play for the U. S. team in the pan-American games at Chicago. She won the pan-American women's championship. Miss Fageros also played in that tournament.

The 32-year-old Negro girl from Harlem retired from tournament competition in September of 1958 after winning the U. S. women's singles championship for the second straight year. She also won the Wimbledon championship in 1957 and 1958.

Singing Career

After her 1958 triumph at Forest Hills, Miss Gibson announced she was retiring from competitive tennis so that she might concentrate on her singing career and also on a book about the story of her life.

HE'S THERE WITH ME

Alone... and far away I roam,
a stranger in a distant land;
I'm lost... and then I touch his hand,
He's there with me...
Dark night... I follow in His light,
to sail across the ocean wide;
When death still hovers by my side,
God's there with me...
No care, have I, away up there, though lost among the mountains
high;
And angry clouds are scudding by,
He's there with me...
Typhoon, and blood upon the moon,
when danger lurks on sea and land;
I'm in the hollow of His hand,

God's there with me...
I'm glad, no fear can make me sad,
I know that He is always near;
and if I call, He's sure to hear,
He care for me...
Today, when evil speaks, I pray, oppressed by tempters, closing in;
I cry, "God, keep me free from sin,
He hears my plea...

Fumbles Plague Iowa in 10-7 Loss to Purdue
Dazzling Offense Voided by Constant Rain

By Staff Writer

Lafayette, Ind.—The State University of Iowa Hawkeyes, caught again in the treacherous web of fumbles and rainy weather, bowed to the Purdue Boilermakers at their Homecoming... 14-7, for their third Big Ten conference loss.

Rain persisted throughout the contest and impaired the Hawks running- and passing game considerably, and was probably the creator of Iowa fumbles. The Hawks pounded out only 88 yards rushing and 81 passing; which is an all time low. The Boilermakers on the other hand gained 198 yards rushing, and only one passing. Iowa attempted 11 throws and completed 9, most of which came late in the second half and accounted for their touchdown. Purdue completed two of six.

girls in tennis. She comes from Miami, Fla.

Miss Fageros was ranked only 14th in the U. S. following the 1958 season and competitively was not in the same class with Miss Gibson. Miss Fageros' "glamour-girl" antics won her more fame than the quality of her tennis.

In 1958, Miss Fageros competed in the French championships wearing gold lame (pronounced lamay) tennis pants.

When she announced her intention of wearing the same costume in the forthcoming Wimbledon tournament, officials of the staid all-England club banned such apparel.

While fumbleitis plagued the Hawkeyes four times the Boilermakers were immune. Iowa readies for Kansas State Saturday with Minnesota, Ohio State and Notre Dame to follow.
