Judge Glanton, 3 Others Elected

3 Indicted, Cop Fired in $40,000 Robbery

Big Spending of Large Bills Led to Arrest in Recent Safe Burglary

A three-week investigation of a $40,000 safe robbery in which originally "nothing taken" had been reported, was climaxed here Friday with a grand jury indictment of three persons. Three days later a veteran policeman, was suspended on five charges in connection with the robbery and its subsequent investigation. (See separate story).

On Oct. 5 the Hiland Potato Chip company at 214 Grand Avenue was burglarized. Officials reported nothing taken. Arthur C. Holman, president of the company admitted later that about $40,000 was in the safe but no one knew it was in the safe but him. He gave no reasons for not disclosing the loss to police.

Big Spending

Big spending immediately after the robbery by three suspects, who were indicted Friday, put investigating officers on their tracks. But, there was no concrete evidence to tie them in with the robbery since no money had been reported taken.

One Arrested

The arrest of one of the three suspects in Mexico, Mo., earlier last week brought the investigation to a head. He was identified as Harry Joe Gossett, 24, who gave his address as 1160 9th Street. Two others named in the indictment were identified as Bernard Laverne Clay, 25, who gave his address as 619 Maury Street and Clifford Claude Hobbs, 25, who gave his address as 990 25th Street. They were charged with breaking and entering.

$8,500 on Person

Police said Gossett had $9,300 in his possession at the time of his arrest. They also said Gossett had purchased a 1959 Lincoln for "slightly under $5,000 and paid for it with $1,000 bills. Money stolen from the Hiland safe was reportedly in $1,000 and $500 bills. The suspects were shadowed, and police tipsters told of a large sum of money, most in $1,000 bills, being taken from the safe.

Detective Allen Denies Charges; Hearing Set Before City Manager

"I didn't take any money or withhold any information," Police Detective James Allen said in a telephone interview Tuesday after his suspension Monday from the Des Moines police department. A veteran policeman, of 21 years and eight months, Allen was discharged by Chief Howard Eide on five charges, accepting a bribe, withholding evidence, obstructing justice, receiving and concealing stolen money, and misconduct.

The charges grew out of "a continued police investigation of the recent $40,000 safe robbery of the Hiland Potato Chip company."

I Cracked Case

"This whole thing (robbery) was cracked by me," Allen said. "They didn't know anything at all about any money being taken until I told them, because the company had never reported any taken. 'Big money' was being spent and they didn't even know where it was coming from. 'During my regular police routine I learned from an informant that these guys (Gossett, Clay and Hobbs) had gotten the money in the Hiland safe robbery."

"I had suspected these guys but had no evidence, so I tried to gain their confidence."

Never Changed Money

"I never changed any $500 bills for them. I never saw a $500 bill in my life. In fact at the time they claimed I got the bills changed, I was out of town. That's when this gossip got around about me taking money."

"I only took a small amount, about $82 from them, to gain their confidence."

"They say I was under surveillance for a week. That's when I broke the case."

Judge Glanton and His Committee Chairmen Smile Over Victory

Pleased at the fine record made by Luther T. Glanton, Jr. as judge of the Municipal Court since his appointment by Gov. Loveless and recognizing that it was important that citizens of Des Moines get full information of that record, early in the campaign a group of citizens from all walks of life, politics and shades of opinion formed a committee to work for his election.

John Tapscoft and A. P. Trotter were named co-chairman, George Nahas, finance chairman, James B. Morris, Jr., treasurer, Henry T. McKnight, assistant finance chairman, Pete Denato, in charge of lawyers contact group, and James B. Morris, Sr., chairman of publicity and public relations.

This committee met weekly planning the details of the campaign promotion and directing all advertising, printing, publicity and speaking engagements. They kept the wheels moving, including work at the polls on election day.

Included in the group were men and women, Republicans and Democrats, white and Negroes. Early, they adopted the motto "Luther Must Be Elected."

Grothe, Leachman Grab Council Seats from Conley, McGowan in Heavy Vote

More than 41,000 voters trekked to the polls Tuesday, re-elected four incumbent judges, including a Negro for the first time, and named two new faces to the city council.

Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., who was appointed to the bench last January by Gov. Herschel Loveless, is believed to be the first of his race to win high office in Iowa election history. He had run unsuccessfully in 1955. New members of the city council who will take office on Jan. 2, 1960 are Jens Grothe who led the field with 23,897 and William C. Leachman, who garnered 23,349 votes. They defeated Robert Conley, 17,069 and Frank W. McGowan, 15,755, who were seeking re-election.

"Most Pleased"

Incumbents judges elected along with Glanton (26,603 votes) and their number of votes are Ray Harrison, 35,093; Howard W. Brooks, 30,623; and Harry V. Grund, 28,212. Defeated were Virgil Moore, 15,685; Elizabeth Lynch, 10,142 and Theodore F. Mantz, 3,781.

"I'm most pleased with the outcome," Judge Glanton said. "It gives some great encouragement to Negroes in this state and to the nation."

Color No Barrier

"Many were watching this race to see if it is advisable to appoint a Negro to a responsible position. It has been claimed in the past that he would not be strong enough to come back in an election."

"This election proves beyond any question of doubt that the color of a candidate's skin need not be a barrier."

"I'm deeply grateful for the way the three other incumbents helped me, to my friends, who worked very hard for me. I'm happy."

OTHER NEGROES ELECTED

According to J. B. Morris, Sr., veteran civil rights leader and publisher, only six other Negroes were ever elected to offices in Iowa. He recalled that years ago Frank Blackburn was elected market master in Des Moines. Five Negroes were elected at various times as justices of the peace in the state. They were Antony Burrell, Crocker township in Polk County (on labor), and John Bacon, Rev. T. Lighons, C. R. Foster and Emmet Bell, all in Monroe County.

Dr. King, The Man Surely He's Man of Destiny

By Frances Hawthorne
This is the final of a two-part series about the life of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., author, lecturer, minister, and national integration leader. This article is a revelation of Dr. King, "The Leader." Dr. King will speak at University Christian church Thursday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. in Des Moines.

Ten years ago the name of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., was hardly known beyond family and friends. Even five years ago it was known to perhaps a few more friends and acquaintances in Montgomery, Ala. Today, it is a name acclaimed around the world.

Man of Destiny

The Rev. Dr. King was surely projected from obscurity to world renown by destiny. His deep-rooted Christian convictions that victory can be achieved without violence, made his leadership in the Montgomery bus protest a success. Yet, he takes no credit for his method of non-violence. He readily points out that these are centuries-old ideas dating back to the teachings of Jesus Christ.

To preach non-violence is one thing. To incorporate the idea in everyday living, despite all hostile threats and physical antagonisms, and capture the faith and trust of thousands of people, is almost impossible, human nature being human nature.

Bus Boycott

Yet, in 1956 the Rev. Dr. King as president of the Montgomery Improvement Association, which guided and directed the Montgomery bus boycott, quietly led thousands of his people in one of the most strongly segregated areas in the nation. He was only 27 years old, yet he had the confidence of men and women twice his age. There was no violence; no loud, belligerent yellings. The car pools were organized and

40 and 8 Group Is Told to End Race Bias

Indianapolis, Ind.—Martin B. McKneally, national commander of the American Legion has been authorized to force the Legion's fun-making 40 and 8 to open its doors to Negroes "or banish the organization from Legion affiliation."

At a recent three day meeting the national executive committee adopted a resolution instructing McKneally to "take any and all measures he may deem necessary in order to eliminate the word 'white' from the eligibility clause of the national constitution of 40 and 8. The committee also said it believed the matter "should not wait until the 1960 national convention to be resolved."

Wanted To End Bias

McKneally, shortly before the resolution was adopted, had asked for authority to end the racial bar saying he could not "countenance the existence of illegalities within our organization."

Youth Of The Week

This is the 45th in a series featuring youth, 13 to 21 years, in the community and in Iowa who are setting a good example in wholesome living and achievements in their homes, schools, churches, sports and civic activities.

Few young people have a perfect record of election prowess, but our young candidate has achieved just that. He is Carl Oden of Perry, Ia.

In his four years at Perry High school, he has been elected to the student council each time. He began in his freshman and sophomore years as a home room representative from his classes. Respected for his leadership increased and in his junior year he was named vice president of the student council and at the same time was elected president of the junior class.

President

This year he achieved the highest office on the student council, that of president, becoming the first at the school to be elected four consecutive years to the council. Various students when asked why they voted for Oden, replied, "He knows what he is doing and he has kept good grades throughout school." "He's dependable, willing to work and always very reliable."

In addition to his duties as council president, Oden supervises study hall during one hour each day, checking attendance and keeping order generally.

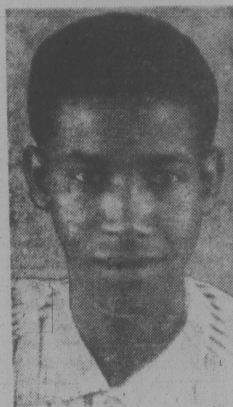

Reaction

When asked about his reaction to being president, Oden replied in his shy, soft spoken voice, "It is an honor and a lot of work but anything worth having requires some effort."

Last year he was in the top 3 percent of those taking the national merit scholarship tests. After graduating he hopes to attend college and study for a career in electronics. He reads every electronics and engineering magazine he can find. He also tinkers with radios taking them apart and putting them together again.

A very level-headed and serious-minded young man, Oden, believes

CARL ODEN
Heads Perry Student Council

that "you gain a lot of understanding others by belonging to organizations within the school and the community."

Community

Active in church work, this year he is assistant secretary at the Sunday School of A.M.E. Zion Methodist church of which he is a member. During his sophomore year at school he also was one of a group of students who helped to draft a code of ethics for the school.

In order to make his ambitions come true he does part-time yard work, and saves his earnings for his college expenses.

HEALTH FOR ALL

A Lucky Accident

Dave was a brawny six-footer with shoulders so broad you wondered how he got through an ordinary door. For the three years he'd been running a drill press in a metal-working factory he hadn't been sick a single day.

Then a piece of iron pipe rolled off a passing dolly and whacked him across the foot. The foreman sent him to First Aid, although after his first yelp Dave swore it wasn't anything but a bruise. First Aid poked him a bit and sent him around to the nearby hospital for an X-ray.

Fracture

Dave was wrong. He'd fractured a bone in his instep and he was in the hospital for a week. While he was there, he got a chest X-ray routine at that hospital for all admissions. The X-ray showed that Dave had TB.

He took a lot of convincing. Hadn't been away from work a day in three years. Strong as an ox. "Look at these muscles, Doc." But Dave had TB all right, muscles or no muscles. He finally believed the doctor. He went to a TB hospital and stayed for the six months it took before he was well enough to go home again to continue treatment there. But all through he was a sadly puzzled man. Because at no time had Dave felt sick.

Looks, Deceiving

The fact is, you can have tuberculosis without feeling sick at all. It doesn't matter how big you are or how strong you look. You can still have TB.

Dave's TB was detected early. But it was only through a lucky accident. Smart people have themselves tested for TB regularly by means of a tuberculin test or a chest X-ray, without waiting to be walloped by an iron pipe. With TB, it's the only way to be sure.

Bobbie Brooks composes a "Color Serenade" for Autumn—in singing shades of Rhythm Red, Swing Blue, Tempo Tan, Harmony Green, and Encore Black! The separates photographed above can be selected in whichever of these color tones is most exciting for you.

On the right are two important styles from Bobbie Brooks' important "Haberdashery" group. Notice the fashion-wise pull-over bulky sweater in Orion with distinctive ribbing at the bateau neckline and sleeves setting off the "popcorn" stitch. Shown with the sweater is a dramatic block plaid skirt, in pure wool, with deep pleats falling in soft folds. The handsome buckled belt is a fashion "plus".

The girl on the left knows the "score"—for students! Her broadcloth shirt, with notched collar and roll-up sleeves is teamed with Bobbie Brooks' wool-and-nylon box pleated skirt, stitched to mold the hipline. (These styles, too, are from the "Haberdashery" group, which includes all the lovely co-ordinate pieces you need to round out your wardrobe.)

Last but not least, note over the model's arm, Bobbie Brooks' crested blazer—the jacket which is a "must" for every girl.

Added Energy for Football Players

EVERY FOOTBALL TEAM HAS SUBSTITUTES... but there's no substitute for a good breakfast for providing energy and stamina needed by football players—young and old. So, if your son hasn't made the team this year, it may be that he isn't eating fruit, crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, bread, butter and a beverage each morning.

When he makes that first string team, celebrate by baking a batch of these flavorful Gingerbread Pennants. Made from a simple, wholesome recipe developed in the test kitchens of the Kellogg Company.

GINGERBREAD PENNANTS
1/4 cup butter or margarine 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup molasses 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Brans (ready-to-eat bran) 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup cold strong coffee 1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 cups confectioners' sugar 3 tablespoons hot milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses, All-Brans and coffee. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices; stir into first mixture. Spread in greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. While cake is still warm, cut into pennant shapes. Combine sugar with milk; add vanilla and beat well. Letter pennants with icing.

Yield: about 2 dozen pennants. (ANS)

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

Self-direction by the young child is one of the first aspects of his becoming free. Yet, independence is not synonymous with freedom, nor is freedom synonymous with independence. Both are important in child life—doubly important in adult life.

The child's inner promptings will send him on his way to attempt many things. His parents will recognize these drives, approve of his activities as he tries them out. His parents will guide him, and they act as guides, not dictators, he will come to realize that he needs them, that at times he will depend on them to show him how far he can go.

Ready Thing

Freedom is a ready thing—too much, too young, can be disastrous for the child. Too little is equally disastrous. The balance between freedom and independence is an achievement hard to attain but eminently worthwhile; in fact, this balance is a basic goal for parents as they guide their children.

What is a constructive use of freedom in the young child? It is most apparent in his play life; here parents keep hands off, except to provide materials and see that the child is safe from danger.

Limits Beyond

Through play the child gets his first experience in managing his own affairs and trying out his own ideas.

Visitors are House Guests of Wimberly

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimberly of 1127 11th street had as houseguests over the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones and Mr. Thomas Linton of Council Bluffs and Mrs. Etta Grider of Sioux City, Ia.

PSYCHE PATE

Personally Yours by Frances Mulhorne.

November came in bright, beautiful and balmy Sunday. The mercurial dip the following day reminded us that chiller days are just a breath away. The griddon season has passed the halfway point as the local social minded get set for the weekend festivities of the Drake Homecoming.

Mrs. Joseph Wimberly of 1127 11th street came down with such a bad cold last week that she had to leave work Friday afternoon. Friday was her birthday also and guests came in from out of town to help her celebrate. However, Mrs. Wimberly was feeling so badly she had to go to bed early. She didn't stay in bed Saturday though she got up to attend the day-long board meeting of the Iowa Association of Club Women.

When Monday came her voice was almost at the non-talking stage so she stayed home but was back in her office at the Polk County juvenile court Tuesday afternoon.

Halloween 'trick or treat' night turned out to be a near downpour but it did not dampen the spirit or hamper the excursion of Des Moines youngsters. Even toddlers and youngsters who needed escorting by parents, dragged their mothers out under threat of sleepless night of begging and reproach. They bounded around the neighborhood in their door-to-door jaunts as if it was the clearest and warmest night in June.

Shanell Woods, sixth grader at Nash school, won first prize for her outfit in her class. Raiding the basement for old cast-off clothes, she found a man's black jacket, dark trousers, a black homburg hat, old shirt, striped tie and some huge men's shoes, painted a big black moustache and goatee on her face and also some eye brows, and she elicited smiles and comments from all who answered her door summons.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Woods, of 1239 10th street.

Another Nash school student, Peggy Marie Spates, fourth grader, was chosen from her class to attend art classes on Saturday mornings at the Des Moines art center. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Spates of 1244 13th street.

At last week's meeting of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a white couple and their children from Winterset, Ia., were visitors. They answered the appeal for support of the Nov. 12 appearance of the Rev. Dr. M. L. King, with a donation of $10 to the cause.

Newspapers get all kinds of calls for legitimate information. They also get their quota of wrong numbers. Recently, a caller phoned saying, "I want to ask about a dog that was picked up last night." The secretary informed the caller that she had a newspaper office, and recommended calling the Animal Rescue League.

After hanging up a bystander, who had listened to the conversation, spoke up, "Maybe she was asking about me."

In various news releases from the National Beauticians convention, we have seen references to the "Chosen 100." Naturally, we got to wondering how they were selected out of thousands of members who are active or associated with the National Beauty Culturists League. We had our chance when we talked to Mrs. Pauline Humphrey this week.

She explained that they are chosen mainly on their activity in the national organization and on their contributions in the community and the local and state beautician organizations in their area.

At each national convention a formal banquet is held for the "Chosen 100." For the past several years, Mrs. Humphrey has been chairman for this banquet, with responsibilities for the decorations, seating and everything else in the way of preparation. The guests are gowned in white full length gowns and long gloves with a chimestone tiara on their heads. This year they presented their president, Mrs. Katie B. Wickam with an Eastern Star tiara because she is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

This year Mrs. Humphrey and her committee arranged the tables in a "stairstep effect." That is, the present "Chosen 100" were seated on the top level, on the next lower level were seated the old members of the "Chosen 100" and on the lowest level were seated the newest members of the "Chosen 100."

When you consider that your southern and eastern cities along with a few far western cities, have the largest number of membership and consequent dues payment in the national organization, the Midwest and Iowa, especially with its sparse population, is fortunate indeed to have a leader who is third vice president and a member of the executive board. Mrs. Humphrey has been active in the national since 1938 and has seen the organization grow from convention meeting places in churches and schools to its present-day headquarters in the finest hotels in the big cities in the U. S. She is active also in just about every phase and committee in the National, which is a tribute to her unstinting efforts for beauticians.

Technology

From National Review Bulletin: "American wealth depends on 1) capital; 2) technology; 3) a commercial spirit. There is no nation in the world that can hurt us provided we 1) permit capital formation; 2) encourage technology by appropriate tax legislation; and 3) free our entrepreneurs and our workers from the restraints of cartel, union and government."

COMMON SENSE SHOULD PREVAIL

The citizens of Des Moines continue to have the threat of a bus strike hovering over their heads. The strike was set for last Saturday midnight, but somebody used a bit of common sense, and the union and company continue to bargain for a contract.

Admittedly, the company is in tough financial straits—as is the case with many other systems over the country. It has been reported month after month that the company lost money. If this is true, how can the company assume additional expense without raising fares and cutting back its service, both of which have caused the company to lose money?

The Bystander certainly does not argue against paying the men higher wages if those wages are below the rate paid for similar work in other towns. But it is ridiculous to kill off an institution because it cannot pay wages equal to that paid in other industries.

STASSEN RUNS

TRUE TO FORM

Some years ago, when former governor Stassen was campaigning for the Republican nomination for President, Negro residents of Minneapolis warned that "the governor is no good." And when neighbors make such comments about a person, look out, there must be something to it. Since Stassen has tried, without success, to get elected governor of Pennsylvania, where he moved several years ago and on November 3 was defeated decisively for mayor of Philadelphia.

In years gone by, Philadelphia has been a Republican stronghold. Stassen got the nomination and during the campaign advocated a proposal that Negroes be stopped from coming to Philadelphia from the South. Naturally, Negroes voted against him. Stassen was defeated 2 to 1.

There is no excuse for this type of campaign issue for the candidate not only hurts his own reputation but also that of the party he represents.

This crushing defeat has not dampened Stassen's desire for public office for he has announced that he expects to run again. But Republicans should see that he and candidates of his type are defeated in the primaries for they continue to drive decent people out of the party.

Iowa Republicans may well take notice.

ELECTION OF GLANTON UPHOLDS THE REPUTATION OF DES MOINES

The voters of Des Moines did themselves proud Tuesday by upholding the town's reputation as a progressive city by electing Luther F. Glanton Jr. as a judge of the municipal court. Thus he becomes the first Negro elected to a judicial post or any job of importance in Iowa.

Heretofore, Negroes have been candidates for school boards, city councils and municipal judges here and in other towns but without success. Many years ago a Negro, Frank Blackburn, was elected market master in Des Moines.

But Judge Glanton's campaign was different from those in years gone by. The Bystander has contended that Negroes could not be elected because of their race, neither should they be employed on that basis. In this instance, a group of citizens, white and Negro, men and women, Republican and Democrat, formed a committee which worked hard and long day and night until the votes were in hand counted.

Of course, the committee had a good candidate. True, there were others who ran for office and who were good candidates, but the all-out effort of all classes and groups was not made then, and that was the difference.

The election was a vindication of the record made by the sitting judges of the municipal court and a district repudiation of the two candidates seeking reelection to the city council.

The campaign developed issues and this brought out a good vote.

Kruschew

Time magazine poses some cogent questions concerning the Krushchew visit. Is he seeking a genuine thaw in the cold war that might lead to formal peace? Is he seeking an American acceptance of the status quo of Communist conspiracy, a softening up of American will? Is he trying to shore up his own status in Communist's labyrinthine society, and if so against whom—against an aggressive Communist China, against restless captive peoples, against hostile Kremlin cliques? Is the sum of Krushchew's intentions that he means to show that his is the face of the future?

Tall Illini Guard, Bill Burrell Called Top College Lineman

Champaign, Ill.—Bill Burrell, Illinois star guard and captain, last week was acclaimed the outstanding lineman in the nation for the previous Saturday—and nobody deserved the honor more.

The 23-year-old 207 pounder contributed or participated in 20 tackles, recovered a fumble that led to a touchdown and had one of five Illinois pass interceptions in a 14-to-6 victory over Minnesota.

In his first four games of the season, the senior from Chebanse, Ill., accounted for 63 tackles by himself or with assistance. Unofficial press box totals credit him with 20 tackles also against Indiana, 12 against Ohio State and 11 in the Army game.

Burrell is the first Negro to actually serve as captain of the Illinois football team during the regular season. Several years ago, this honor also was voted J. C. Caroline, now with the pro Chicago Bears. However, Caroline was thrown for a loss scholastically and dropped out of school.

What makes a team roll up 50 points or better against an admittedly inferior club? The newspaper didn't help any by saying that this was a comparison of Iowa U and Iowa State strength. But it usually happens that the first team decides to roll up three or four quick scores and then take it easy.

Then the second string takes over and they want to make a showing so they go all out. After that comes the boys who may never play again. They want to show off before the folks so they try as hard as they can and the poor opposition is usually rubber-legged and disgusted so the scores come easily. But, if Iowa makes the mistakes they made against K-State when they play the rest of their schedule they could have trouble.

Iowa State just couldn't quite make it against Kansas U. That Nebraska game ought to be worth seeing. Maybe, we will.

Local

East High players must have read our column last week. Certainly, the facts fought their hearts out to upset a favored Roosevelt team. Jimmy Payne will have to be considered for all-city honors and all-state honors for Butts.

Teach finally made it. An unbeaten season, actually they shouldn't even have a tie—but that is the way the ball bounces. North with what looked like good potential material had a bad year. Maybe, a new coach would help. The Polar Bears have quite a sophomore team and maybe next year—maybe next year.

Pro Football

The local Dragons have put off their game with Kansas City to Wednesday 14. They have their work cut out. The Dragons lost to Fort Madison 14-6, and the K. C. boys, dubbed the prisoners 38-7. Maybe the local boys are getting real hard for this one. They had better.

Big Ten History in the Making?

History is expected to be in the making when two Negroes get their chance to quarterback opposing Big Ten teams Saturday. Sanford "Sandy" Stephens (above), regular quarterback for the Minnesota Gophers will probably get an opportunity to match wits against Wilburn Hollis (below), Iowa's second string quarterback, in the traditional Minnesota-Iowa clash. Glen Treadway, regular quarterback for the Hawks is expected to handle most of the piloting job, as usual.

Stephens is the first Negro to quarterback a Minnesota team and the second of his race to quarterback (as a regular) a Big Ten team.

Ernie Banks, Sam Jones Honored By The Sporting News

St. Louis—Ernie Banks, the major league's RBI king, won the Sporting News annual award for outstanding play during the '59 season in a poll conducted by the newspaper among the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He won the award for the second straight year with a batting mark of .304, 45 home runs and 145 runs batted in, tops in both leagues. Also winning similar awards were Sam Jones, pitching ace of the San Francisco Giants, and Nellie Fox and Early Wynn of the White Sox.

Pitcher of Year

Jones was also named the National League pitcher of the year by United Press International.

Jones won 21 games and pitched a seven-inning no-hitter against the St. Louis Cardinals in the stretch drive. A workhorse for the Giants, the 34-year-old curveballer appeared in 50 games and 271 innings and compiled a 2.89 earned run average. He lost 15 games but pitched four shutouts.

New Tan Grid Star At Harvard University

Cambridge, Mass.—Negro alumni of Harvard university are particularly overjoyed to see the fancy touchdown stepping of Hobart (Hobey) Armstrong, who has been playing stellar football as left halfback of the Harvard freshman team.

In a game against Tufts college freshmen, Armstrong cooled off three touchdown runs of 50, 70 and 38 yards to pace his team's victory.

The 19-year-old youth hails from Kingston, N. Y., and is the youngest of eight children. A good scholar, who finished the Kingston High school with a 91 average, Armstrong wants to be an electrical engineer.

The pre-basketball season should be worth watching with Bill Russell and Walt Chamberlain bumping heads. Then we'll have the Globetrotters and their show here. They have a great ball club and really don't need a supporting cast but that is their way of doing business.

THE WAY TO LIFE

The way to life, we reach through prayer

We talk unto the Lord, and know: That we are in His care,

Protected by His Word . . .

When we are in the darkness deep His light will pierce the pall.

If dangers threaten: none shall weep His strength protects us all . . .

The Spirit knows our simple faith: He cares for whom we pray.

We have His love; the words He saith:

Through grace we live each day . . .

We know—through faith, forevermore:

The way to life . . . the open door.

With Relentless, Merciless Fury of Hurricane Hawkeyes Lash Kansas State Wildcats 53-0

By Staff Writer

Iowa City, Iowa—Like the merciless fury of a hurricane the State University of Iowa Hawkeyes awakened from their lethargy of a three game scoring deficit to lambast a defenseless Kansas State team by a resounding 53-0 score.

Relishing no sentimentality for their obviously weaker foe the Hawks unleashed a savage offensive attack early in the contest and by half time had paralyzed the Wildcats defenses and gone berserk, chalking up 45 points.

Reserves Used

In the second half the Hawks, having atoned for their scoring imperfections in games gone by, rested on their laurels . . . and the quality of mercy flowed freely from Coach Evashevskid causing him to use many of his reserves.

This move seemed to go well for the Kansas State Wildcats of the Big Eight Conference for their Big Ten foe failed to score in the third quarter. The reservists failed to score even one touchdown during their tenure but the number one Hawks came to their aid in the fourth quarter to notch another tally and later a miscue by Kansas State gave Iowa a safety.

Iowa utilized both the ground and air in their mauling of the Wildcats compiling a phenomenal 615 total yardage to Kansas State's puny 81.

Virgil Williams

A new face appeared on the Iowa football horizon and performed in notable fashion. Sophomore Virgil Williams, halfback, reached pay dirt twice for the Hawks both on long runs of 41 and 68 yards. Halfback Bob Jeter made his usual mark tallying one touchdown and piling up yardage totaling 65 in 12 tries to become the leading ground gainer for the day.

The Hawkeyes slaughter of Kansas State should have engineered a killing mood of lasting effect for the Minnesota Gophers—coming up next.
