Woolworth Stores Closed in Durham

BULLETIN

Charlotte, N. C.—Demonstrations by college students at lunch counters of variety stores spread to four North Carolina cities within five days. The sitdown protest against bias began in Greensboro, spread to Durham, Winston-Salem and Charlotte by Wednesday. No disturbance occurred as most stores closed their doors in the "interest of public safety."

Greensboro, N. C.—A group of students at A&T College has launched a "sit down" movement against a mid-town F. W. Woolworth store here, aimed at procuring service at the store's luncheon counter.

The campaign opened late Monday afternoon when four students seated at the counter were refused service. A spokesman for the group told newspaper reporter then that it was to be a growing movement to continue "for days and weeks, with more and more students, until the store had changed its policy of denying service at the counter to Negro patrons."

The original statement bore truth as 25 students took seats at the noon rush hour on Tuesday and as 45 went through the same process on Wednesday. A larger delegation was scheduled to be on hand for Thursday.

No disturbances had been reported through Wednesday. The Charges: Trying to Copy Negro Chemist HairStrate, Plagiarizing Publicity, Ads

Chicago—A $4 million lawsuit against Helene Curtis Industries, Inc. Monday accused the huge Chicago cosmetic firm of trying illegally to "copy" the new "HairStrate Permanent" which a Negro chemist worked 18 years to develop.

Summit Laboratories, of Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, originator of the highly publicized "HairStrate Permanent" which it markets to beauticians throughout the nation and abroad, filed the suit for $4,218,000.00 in the U. S. District Court in Chicago. It charges Helene Curtis with unfair trade practices, copyright infringements and unfair competition.

Both vice-presidents, the chief chemist and general manager of Summit Laboratories, and the inventor and co-inventor of its products, are Negroes.

Plagiarizing

Helene Curtis is accused not only of "copying" the HairStrate product, but also of "plagiarizing" the Summit firms packaging and sales-promotion techniques and its "precisely worded technical instructions to beauticians." Summit charged that the instructions were "developed after many months of private testing" and "copied by Helene Curtis in many instances not only approximately, but literally word for word."

Pending outcome of a jury trial requested by the plaintiff, Summit Laboratories has asked the court to enjoin Helene Curtis from making any further distribution of such materials, and to "deliver up to be impounded all copies in its possession . . . and all plates, molds, proofs and other matter for making such infringing copies."

Attended Demonstrations

Summit also charges that Helene Curtis (1) "attended product demonstrations by plaintiff" and on such occasions "solicited confidential information concerning plaintiff's products from plaintiff's employees;" (2) "has solicited directly or indirectly the employment of plaintiffs key employees;" and (3) "improperly solicited confidential information from plaintiff's employees."

Fear Negro Lynched in Ala.; Snatched From Car with White Girl by Young Hoods

Birmingham, Ala.—City and state police were trying this week to uncover the suspected lynching of an unidentified Negro who was riding in a Cadillac car with a young blonde white woman.

A service station operator reported to police that he had seen six white men yank the Negro from the 1957 Cadillac late Saturday night, beat him with clubs and drive off with him.

DRIVES OFF WITH BLONDE

The operator, Charles Holman, also told police that one of the white men, had taken over the wheel of the Cadillac and driven off with the blonde. He said the Cadillac bore Ohio license plates.

Holman said he could not give an accurate description of any of the persons involved and added that he failed to get the license number of the car in which the white men were riding.

Warned by Hoods

Tuesday, Feb. 2 the service station operator was warned by the white hoods to forget the incident. The anonymous caller told him "you'll be better off if you forget about it." Holman told police "I know it happened but I don't want to get mixed up in any trouble. I have a wife and kid."

A police sergeant who asked that his identity be withheld said: "We're afraid we might have a lynching but we don't know. It could be a farce."

Police ordered the cars and men picked up. They said, however, there were no leads in the case.

Floyd Mann, director of the State Department of Public Safety in Montgomery, said he has received no official report of the incident. He said he had been contacted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation but said he had to await official notification before plotting a course of action.

JUST INSIDE CITY LIMITS

The incident, police said, occurred at a service station on the Bessemer superhighway just inside the city limits of Birmingham.

Blue & White Car

Holman gave the following account: A blue and white Cadillac with red and white license plates, believed to be those of Ohio, pulled into the station about 50 yards from where Holman was pumping gas. The car was occupied by a Negro man and a white woman.

Almost immediately after the Negro stopped, two cars, one of them a 1956 Plymouth, the other unidentified, pulled in behind the Negro. Then several white men jumped from one of the cars and pulled the Negro out and beat him with hose pipes or sticks, the attendant said.

"THROW HIM IN BACK SEAT"

Holman said then they dragged the screaming man to one of the cars and threw him onto the back seat.

Holman then said one of the white men got into the car with the white woman and drove off following the other two cars in the direction of Bessemer.

Daddy Grace Leaves Wealth To Church; Nothing to Wife

New Bedford, Mass.—The wife of the late Charles Manuel "Sweet Daddy" Grace, 78-year-old Bishop of the House of Prayer For All People, was left out of the will of the famous religious leader, while the bulk of the estate, estimated in the millions, went to his church.

The disclosures were made in nearby Taunton, Mass., as Bishop Grace was being buried in colorful rites here. The reports said Mrs. Jane Lombard Grace was not mentioned in her husband's will.

Specifically mentioned was the House of Prayer For All Nations, founded by Grace. An undisclosed sum was left by Grace "for the propagation of the faith as I have preached it all my life," according to the disclosures.

Delivers Own Eulogy

Another amount of $70,400 was left in specific bequests, probably to close relatives.

Meanwhile, Grace, one of the most colorful figures during his life-time, was buried in impressive rites here. The funeral here was believed to be the climax of others held for Grace in such large cities as Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles. His body had been borne cross country from Los Angeles where he died of a heart attack. "Sweet Daddy," as his followers called him, was as unique in death as he was in life. This was noted at the funeral here, where Bishop Grace preached his own eulogy via tape recording. The recording was made shortly before his death. According to rituals, no one but Daddy Grace should speak at his funeral.

In $20,000 Coffin

Grace's body was viewed by millions, many of whom were curious to see the man who cut such a dash during his life-time, in the several cities where it laid in state. The bishop was laid out in a $20,000, glass-topped, solid bronze casket dressed in one of his famous cutaway suits.

Following funeral services in the red-white-and-blue House of Prayer here, Grace's body was borne in procession to the Oak Grove cemetery and placed in a public vault. It was to remain in the vault until church leaders decide whether to permanently place his remains in the family plot in Pien Grove cemetery, or construct a mausoleum where his body could be viewed for years to come.

According to Bishop Grace, he was born in Cape Verde Islands, a Portuguese territory.

Ponder Unusual Case of Girl Unable to Feel Pain

London—The little girl held up her broken wrist and looked at it calmly and curiously.

"Look, Mummy," she said, not a tear in here eye, "my hand is bent the wrong way."

That was four years ago. On another occasion, when she was six, her parents noticed she was walking with a limp and sent for a doctor.

The doctor discovered the girl had a fractured thigh. Still, there was not a tear in sight.

A Cause of Anxiety

On one occasion her fingers were crushed in a door, but the child only looked at the swelling with distaste, not pain.

Today the Medical Research Council, composed of eminent medical specialists all over Britain, confessed they are baffled by the case of the girl—who was not identified by name—who strangely is incapable of feeling pain.

Her peculiar indifference to pain first came to light when her parents noticed that when her playmates pulled her hair out by the handful, the child reacted with serene disinterest.

The parents then began to live in dread that his 14-year-old marriage is failing and he wants a divorce. Newcombe and his wife have three adopted children, ranging from four to two years old.

continued anxiety, knowing their daughter must be watched constantly lest she follow the normal child's curious instinct about fire and touch a flame.

Feeling no pain, the girl would not react naturally and withdraw her finger from the fire.

Unmoved by Electricity

The most ordinary childhood hazards became calamities so far as the child was concerned. She could fall

SEE FRONT PAGE students have been orderly, while being ignored by waitresses, have conversed quietly among themselves and some have used the time for study.

Leaders in the movement indicated that the campaign is being organized to avoid breaking any existing laws and college regulations. "None of us will cut class", one said, "to remain on duty."

Leaders Apparent leaders in the movement, all freshmen, are: Ezell Blair, Jr., and David Richmond, both of Greensboro; Franklin McClain, Washington, D. C., and Joseph McNeill, Wilmington.

Blair declared, "many of our adults have been complacent and fearful and it is time for someone to wake up and change the situation and we decided to start here."

McClain told reporters that no economic boycott is contemplated. "We like to spend our money here, but we wish to spend our money at the lunch counter as well as at the one next to it."

Not NAACP Inspired The leaders stated that the movement was not being inspired by the NAACP, any other organization or the college, itself. "We are doing it on our own", they said.

The action was taken without prior notice to the Student Government, headed by Charles Debose, a senior of Gainesville, Fla., or college officials.

Among the developments on Wednesday were the following: (1) The snack bar, without seats but which gave service to both races, was closed, (2) the students addressed a letter to the New York officers of the Woolworth Company asking relief and, (3) several students from nearby Bennett College had reportedly joined in the campaign.

Supreme Court Petitioned to Review Tuskegee Vote Case

Washington—The United States Supreme Court has been asked to review a circuit court of appeals judgment affirming a district court opinion that the federal judiciary has no authority to invalidate an Alabama act which in effect disfranchised practically all the Negro voters in Tuskegee.

A petition for review of the case was filed with the Supreme Court here on Jan. 30 on behalf of Dr. Charles G. Gomillion, president of the Tuskegee Civic Association, and others. Representing Dr. Gomillion and his associates were Robert L. Carter of New York City, NAACP general counsel, Fred D. Gray of Montgomery and Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham.

Tuskegee Negroes were, in effect, disfranchised in local elections by an Alabama law authorizing a fantastic gerrymander which excluded from the incorporated city "substantially all of its Negro residents and voters, and no other residents or voters." Some 400 voters were thus deprived of the right to participate in local elections. Within the city limits there remained 600 white and only five Negro voters.

May a state, the petition asks, enact such a measure "without contravening the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States where the alteration produces a highly irregular geographic outline, and is not thus far shown or suggested to have been based upon any consideration other than to deprive Negroes of the benefits of residence within the city limits?"

Prior to the gerrymander, the map of Tuskegee was in the shape of a square; afterwards, it was an irregular 28-sided figure resembling a "sea dragon," the petition points out.

Through Dr. Gomillion, Negro citizens challenged the constitutionality of this statute in the federal district court charging that its purpose and effect was to disfranchise the city's Negro voters. The complaint was dismissed on the ground that the court "has no control over, no supervision over, and no power to change any boundaries of municipal corporations fixed by a duly convened and elected legislative body, acting for the people in the State of Alabama."

Appeal Denied On appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, this judgment was

The stars are Lawrence Winters, operatic star turned actor, Al Freeman, Jr., and Josh White, Jr., young actors and a cast not of strangers to the theatre world—Joya Sherrill, Isabelle Cooley, John Garth III and many other good players.

Cheryl Crawford

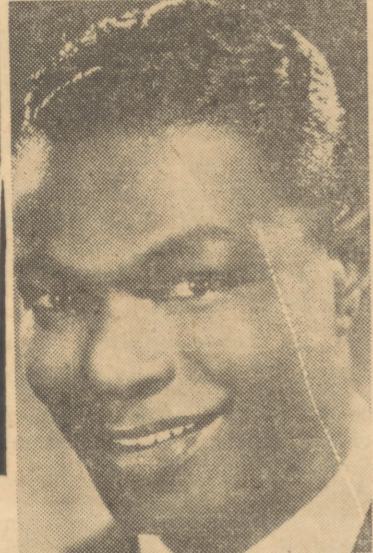

"The Long Dream" is melodrama at its best . . . Written by Richard Wright as a novel, it's produced by Cheryl Crawford and her associates and seems a sure-fire hit for Broadway . . . The story revolves around a Negro family—a respected funeral director, his wife and son . . . When a fire breaks out at a picnic, killing many persons, the Negro owners are blamed by the whites . . . The distrust and hate spreads to panic as the son is killed by police and the father turns on his white neighbors. Dialogue is skillful and the production, a dynamic soul-searching one which leaves the audience more educated in the ways of prejudice.

Al Hibbler

We'll bet Al Hibbler will be more careful with who picks him up and takes him home from work in the wee hours of the morning . . . Al used to beg just about anyone going his direction to drop him off at his Teaneck, N. J. home—being blind he cannot drive . . . Last week, he was happy to get a ride when suddenly the driver stopped at a gas station and robbed it . . . Police got Al—who was sitting patiently in the car . . . After much explaining, Al was driven home—from the police

Hazel Scott

Hazel Scott is anxious to make a big splash in her return and she's getting off to a good start—with a date at Freddie's in Chicago signed for two weeks beginning April 18th . . . Hazel has spent so much time abroad, her American fans had just about forgotten her . . . It will take all of her abilities to get back her crowd.

Nat Cole

Della Reese has a date in Chicago at the Cloister March 22 . . . Erroll Garner going to Albany, N. Y. to the Washington Ave. Armory March 4th . . . Nat King Cole is all aglow over the Kidney Foundation plans for their huge 1960 K-Day campaign . . . Not only does he head the entertainment committee but he's gathering all the show people he can for the big day.

Earl Grant

"The Harlem Heatwave" opened at the Pigalle in London—and Londoners got a whiff of life in that great section of NY—sizzling, exciting and quite wild for staid Britishers . . . Earl Grant's latest LP for

King Says Negro Wary Of Kennedy Support

Charleston, W. Va.—Sen. John Kennedy's seeming acceptability to conservative southern leaders may be a "kiss of death" so far as Negro support is concerned, Dr. Martin Luther King declared here last week.

King said Kennedy who is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination is not handicapped among Negroes because he is a Catholic, but they are suspicious of his attitude on civil rights matters because southern conservatives find him acceptable.

He added that if the Democrats nominate Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, it is his belief that Negroes might throw their support to Vice President Richard Nixon.

Nixon, he said, in spite of being a Republican, "has made a real impression on the Negro."

PLANS FOR CELEBRATION OF 6TH ANNIVERSARY OF COURT DECISION

New York — NAACP branches, youth councils and college chapters were urged this week by Association Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins to launch plans for May 17th commemorations.

This May 17th marks the sixth anniversary of the historic Supreme Court ruling on school integration. Delegates attending the Association's 50th convention here last July passed a resolution calling for such action.

In addition "to commemorating this historic landmark in the struggle for full freedom," the NAACP leader said in a memorandum to local Association units, the occasion "also offers an excellent opportunity for interpreting the present challenges and needs in the field of civil rights." Conferences, meetings, forums, dinners, exhibits and other programs were recommended to the branch committees sponsoring the observance.

The research program is open to Decca; "Paris Is My Beat" going strong, as is his fast-selling singles, "House of Bamboo" and "Two Loves Have I" . . . Earl himself makes his 3rd date with Ed Sullivan Feb. 21st and headlines the Copacabana show here in New York the same week—great strides for an entertainer who had a hard struggle . . . He's currently at La Fiesta in Juarez, Mexico.

Nina McKinney

We see they're bringing back a Broadway production of "Emperor Jones", a story of an African leader which first starred Paul Robeson and Nina Mae McKinney . . . We remember so well Robeson dressed in chieftan robes and feathers and Nina wearing those large spangle earrings with those wide eyes of here frightened and excited . . . Nina has since faded from the theatrical scene after her movie comeback in "Pinky" some ten years ago . . . Robeson is now doing well in concert tour in Europe—and his son follows his footsteps by refusing to answer whether he is a Communist to get a passport to visit the family in England.

high school teachers with at least three years experience in teaching science or mathematics. Dr. Lloyd N. Ferguson, professor and head of the Department of Chemistry, is director of the program.

The Institute in Biology is open to teachers of biology, chemistry or physics who have not been enrolled previously in a similar program. Dr. Marie C. Taylor, associate professor and head of the Department of Botany, will direct the Institute, which will have sections in Modern Biology Perspectives and Radiation

Biology.

Fellowships

Twenty fellowships are offered in the Research Participation Program, 20 in the Radiation Biology section, and 25 in the Biology Perspectives section. Applications for fellowships should be received during February. Applicants for the Research Program should direct correspondence to Dr. Ferguson, and applications for both sections of the Institute in Biology, to Dr. Taylor.

COURT PETITIONED

affirmed by two of the three judges who heard the case.

In his dissenting opinion, Judge Brown noted that "In Macon County, of which Tuskegee is a geographical party, neither the Constitution nor Congress nor the courts are thus far able to assure Negro voters of this basic right. That this has occurred demonstrates, I think, that the Fifteenth Amendment contemplated a judicial enforcement of its guaranties against either crude or sophisticated action of states seeking to subvert this new right."

Further, the jurist asserted: "If a court may strike down a law which with brazen frankness expressly purposes a rank discrimination for race, it has—and must have—the same power to pierce the veil of sham and, in that process, judicially ascertain whether there is a proper, rather than an unconstitutional, purpose for the act in question."

MEMORABLE STATEMENTS BY LINCOLN

- I have no other (ambition) so great as that of being truly esteemed of my fellow men, by rendering myself worthy of their esteem. (1832)
- Those who deny freedom to others, deserve it not for themselves, and, under a just God, cannot long retain it. (1859)
- I go for all sharing the privileges of the government, who assist in bearing its burdens. (1863)
- There is no grievance that is a fit object of redress by mob law. (1838)
- I believe the declaration that "all men are created equal" is the great fundamental principle upon which our free institutions rest. (1858)
- Let us at all times remember that all American citizens are brothers of a common country, and should dwell together in the bonds of fraternal feeling. (1860)
- LET US HAVE FAITH THAT RIGHT MAKES MIGHT, AND IN THAT FAITH, LET US, TO THE END, DARE TO DO OUR DUTY AS WE UNDERSTAND IT. (1860)
- I make a point of honor and conscience in all things to stick to my word. (1838)
- Stand by the cause, and the cause will carry you through. (1856)
- No man is good enough to govern another man, without that other's consent. (1854)
- Let me die in the advocacy of what is just and right. (1858)
- I am naturally anti-slavery. If slavery is not wrong, nothing is wrong. I can not remember when I did not so think, and feel. (1864)

"Iowa Nature Trail" to Be Among Landscaped Gardens in Home, Flower Show Feb. 20-28

Eight landscaped gardens, along with other extensive floral displays, will be featured in the flower and garden exposition now being created for the 1960 Des Moines Home and Flower Show Feb. 20-28 at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Some of the gardens are those that can be duplicated in Iowa. Others are elaborate, formal gardens only for show. More than 6,000 pots of blooming flowers, many started as early as last September, have been grown specially for the show, according to Frank Dubinsky, managing director.

2-Story Model Home

This is the 12th annual Home and Flower Show, which is expected to attract some 75,000 Iowans to see the annual preview of spring in bloom. The show will be open from 1:30 to 10:30 p.m. daily. The "Gardens to Live In," theme of the show, will share the auditorium's main arena upper level with a landscaped full-size, two story model home.

Below, in exhibition hall, will be the traditional "home show," comprising exhibits by 150 manufacturers and suppliers of home appliances and products. The entire two-level exposition is sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Des Moines, with flowers by the Allied Florists of Des Moines. D. G. McQueen is president of the Home Builders Association and J. Gaylord (Bud) Case is chairman of the builders committee in charge of the show.

One of the outstanding gardens of the show will be "An Iowa Nature Trail" and waterfall, an exhibit by the Iowa Conservation Commission. It will feature a cascading waterfall, which will begin at the balcony level of the auditorium. The water will make several falls, then drop into two lower pools which will contain live native Iowa fish.

Other gardens will be Yesterday's and Today's Farm Scenes, Aviary Garden, Tomorrow's Garden, Lilac Garden, Primrose Panel, and Outdoor Living Yard for the model home.

TEN KEYS CLUB

The Ten Keys club will meet Friday, Feb. 12 at the home of the president, Mrs. Inice Carter of 758 11th street.

In her second week of a month's leave of absence from her job at S & L department store is Mrs. Pinkie Goode. She planned to take advantage of the mid-winter vacation with a good rest and possible hospital checkup.

Iowa's capricious weather did itself up brown this week. Monday climaxed the week long mild weather with one of the sunniest days imaginable in spring and sent minds spiraling toward flowers and green trees. Some residents said they couldn't believe it when the weather man promises plenty of blue skies and sunshine for Monday. Twenty-four hours later they could hardly believe their eyes when they went to get the morning paper and beheld all the white, wet stuff falling down a mile a minute.

Monday really got us spring dreaming. We have a particular anticipation for the annual rejuvenation of nature. Last fall we transplanted peonies, irises and tulips; also, put in new beds of roses, tulips, and a Madonna lily. In addition there are gladioli bulbs, dug up last fall, that will be assigned to new location this spring. So really as all who love outdoor gardening, especially flowers, we are looking forward to seeing the effect of the change and our impulsive handiwork.

February is the scourge of the flu around the nation. Combating it or recovering from the flu bug in various stages are many residents in Des Moines. Among those who were knocked down for a few counts in bed were Mrs. Inez Morrow, Mrs. Joyce Fant, Mrs. Mary Rollinson, Mrs. Georgine C. Morris and Benjamin Cheatum. Others who had lesser attacks and managed to stay on their feet were Miss Charlene Whar-ton and Mrs. Willie Glanton.

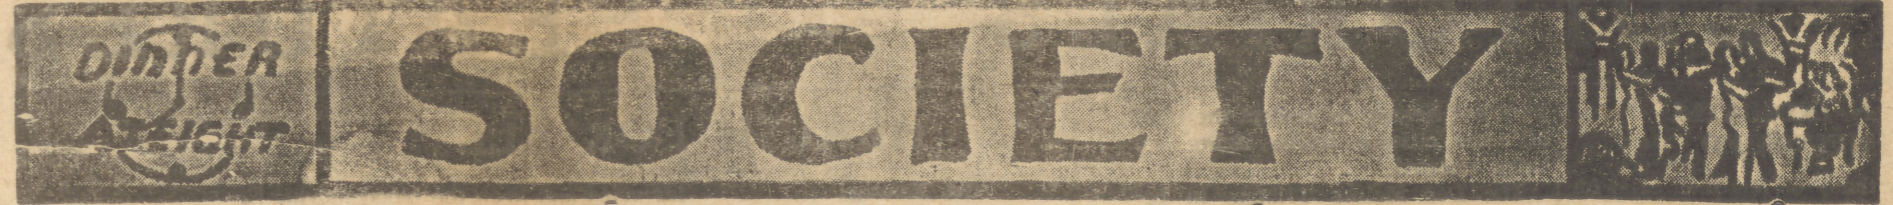

Rang up Mrs. Lillian Scyles who had just got out of Mercy hospital the day before (Sunday). She was hospitalized on Jan. 21 with a broken leg which she sustained when she fell at Grand View College where she is employed as an assistant librarian.

Mrs. Scyles said she got the flu and ran a temperature so they kept her in the hospital. Speaking of the near epidemic of flu cases, Mrs. Scyles said that many times at the hospital, three nurses were required on one floor to care for patients. A doctor told her that the flu reminded him of the 1918 type. Mrs. Scyles agreed that the flu affected her the same way.

She was due to go to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Percy (Martha) Zachery, of St. Paul, Minn., but she still remained so tired and drained from the flu that she postponed the trip. Meanwhile she is getting around on crutches with her leg in a cast.

Another lady who was released from the hospital after therapy and a rest is Mrs. James Claybrook of 223 13th street. Her 12 day stay in Mercy hospital was made more pleasant by her many friends in the community. They were Rev. N. R. Olphin, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Franklin, Mrs. Zella Nolan of Waterloo, Messrs. and Mmes. F. O. Morrow, John Morrow, J. W. Rhone, Fielding Draffin, Aloytus Clark, Marcus McCraven, Lincoln Wells, William Clinton, Clarence Cleotha;

Also, Dr. and Mrs. Julian Mason, Mrs. Livie Neal, Bethel A.M.E. church, Mrs. Viola Chapman and Mrs. Gladys McCue, of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Ann Peterson, Mrs. Mildred LaMar, and granddaughter, and Mr. and Mrs. McCowan.

LINCOLN INDICATED TASK UNFINISHED

The birthday of few men calls for more observance, oratory and thought than that of Abraham Lincoln. And rightly so for he held the nation together and at the same time abolished the stigma of slavery which was the anthesis of what America proposed to stand for.

From the low surroundings of his birth to the White House, Lincoln came a long way. And in spite of the rough road he traveled as a young man with formal education at a minimum, he became an outstanding lawyer, statesman, president, the preserver of the union and the emancipator of the slaves.

Lincoln realized that legal abolition of slavery left much to be done to make Negroes free from economic and political as well as physical slavery. This portion of his Gettysburg address stresses in which he said "It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion," indicates that.

The battle for equality of citizenship goes on unabated. Victories are being won. They must be consolidated in order that America shall stand before the world with clean hands as it boasts the glory of its democratic way of life. Certainly, Lincoln did much to help her on the way.

And this in spite of the ridiculous comparisons made by some people who have lowered the value of Lincoln's contribution to the cause of the Negro as against some present day politicians who do so to get their vote.

SQUANDERING THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY

Last week, Iowans had a first hand example of how ridiculous congress spends the tax payers' money. It appears that some discharged employees of the internal revenue service in Des Moines had complained that they had been relieved of their jobs contrary to civil service rules.

In response to the complaints, a committee of the house of representatives came to Des Moines to investigate. The group consisted of three members, an attorney and an accompanying coterie of secretaries. It appears that about the only information they got was a restatement of the information which was already in their possession.

This trip cost the tax payers several thousands dollars. The job could just as well have been done by one person for the only ostensible object of the trip was to get information but it turned into a political grand stand play.

Speaking of these now famous congressional committees, some of them have reached the ridiculous, some of them were created for one task but veer off to another. Some have sought to get excited over mistreatment of foreign citizens abroad but close their eyes and ears to the violation of rights of their own citizens.

On February 3, Benjamin Davis, Jr. secretary of the Communist party in America, was subpoenaed to appear before two committees of congress.

Davis pulled no punches in telling the members in what may well be called a "give 'em hell" lecture. He called Senator Eastland of Mississippi one of the worst Negro haters—and of Jewish people as well, "He ought to be thrown out of congress."

Davis said the senators lacked authority to pry into his political views and "will get no co-operation from me."

Then Davis went before the house committee on unAmerican activities, which is investigating Communist activities and propaganda among youth groups.

"Why don't you subpoena the lynchers of Mack Parker?" Davis called out from the witness stand. Parker was snatched from jail and killed two days before he was to go on trial for rape in Mississippi. His killers have never been apprehended.

With a large number of young people in the audience, Davis told the committee, "You're not interested in kids at all. You're just interested in being judge and jury and carrying on your two-bit legal business."

Of course, the Bystander has no brief for the Communist party or its followers. However, even a mad dog can do some good in some occasions and Davis is just the type who would tell "those investigators" why and where they were not serving the best interest of the country by their tactics; on the other hand, that they were not helping to protect the lives of some citizens where rights are being violated.

The Des Moines Tribune in reporting the story headed it "No Rebukes as U. S. Red Rips Probers".

No doubt, Senator Eastland and his gang were knocked off their feet but recovered only to find what Davis said is true but few had the courage to say it.

While Senator Eastland is chairman of the committee and has tremendous control over what it does, there are others from North and South, Democrat and Republican who should try to lift the group up to a higher plane. But they themselves are partly guilty of letting the Mississippi senator have his way. It was refreshing to have Davis tell them their faults.

We recall seeing an interesting article in a magazine the other day called "The man who broke Jack Dempsey's ribs." We got into the thing and it was a story of John Lester Johnson, the man who might have been a champ if Negroes could have got to fight for the title in his day. But John Lester was just one of a whole bunch of good Negro heavyweights in the twenties who might have made things tough for the old Manassa Mauler. But then Negroes did as they were told or they didn't fight.

They threw fights to guys who couldn't have carried their trunks in order to stay in the game. They couldn't fight each other very often because promoters said that such a fight wouldn't draw. There was almost no chance of any one of them ever getting a title fight, because even when Joe Louis came along, people who didn't know a boxing glove from a mail bag were saying, "A colored heavyweight champ would be bad for the game." They never could say why this was so, but they just knew it. It used to gripe us to hear guys talking in barbershops and such make that "profound" statement.

Sparring Partner

So what happened was that most of the good heavyweights including Old George Godfrey, took to being sparring partners for the white heavies. Jack Dempsey was said to have hired any Negro he thought he would have trouble with in the ring. Then the guy had better not make him look too bad, or he would be out of a job. About the only fighter who wouldn't come into his camp was Harry Wills. Wills thought he could beat Dempsey, and was willing to starve in order to get a chance to prove it. Public opinion finally forced a signing of a contract in which as we recall, Dempsey put up $25,000 to bind the thing. Then he just walked out from under the deal and let Wills have the dough. A lot of people thought Wills couldn't have beaten Jack, and we sort of had our doubts. Harry was a close in fighter, and such boxers were usually made to order for the champ. But the followers of the Brown Panther as he was called would point to the tremendous strength of the challenger, and his

HEALTH FOR ALL

Get Moving!

Anytime we feel like taking some exercise, we just lie down until the feeling goes away. And that, a doctor friend told us nastily not long ago, probably accounts for the fact that the cleaners seem to have been shrinking our clothes lately.

"Not that you're overweight," he added, "but you are flabby. If you exercised regularly, you could weigh five or ten pounds more, and you'd still look a lot trimmer."

Desk Workers

And it isn't just a matter of looks, either, it seems. Doctors have found that desk-workers have more heart disease than mailmen, for instance, who walk many miles a day. London bus drivers, who sit all day, get more sudden heart attacks than bus conductors, who are on their feet and scrambling up and down bus stairs.

Regular exercise does a good job on the circulation. When the leg muscles are kept firm and in good tone by exercise, they squeeze the leg veins and keep the blood moving briskly upward and back to the heart. Soft, limp muscles can't help the veins do their work, so the blood sometimes slackens and even pools, causing bulging veins and blood clots.

Relaxes Nerves

Exercise also clears away the cobwebs that come with too much mental concentration, relaxes taut nerves, and even drives away an attack of the blues.

Since any sudden change can be a shock to the system, it isn't wise to plunge into a strenuous game of handball after years of no more physical exertion than it takes to switch channels on the TV set. Work up to it gradually, if that much of a workout is what you're aiming for. Ordinary setting-up exercises are fine. For those less ambitious, walking is the best all-around exercise there is.

Ingo Hints Archie Is Preferable To Floyd

Hollywood, Fla.—Saying that he is itching for action, heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson indicated a desire to pass up Floyd Patterson and fight Archie Moore instead.

Johansson, who won the title from Patterson on a third-round knockout last June, is tentatively expected to fight Floyd in a re-match in New York this summer. They were supposed to meet in the rematch 90 days after the first fight, but complications have thus far prevented the encore.

In saying Moore would be an ideal opponent at the gate, Johansson declared:

"I'm hungry for fighting now. It has been seven months since I fought Patterson. Yes, I think it would be a real big gate if Moore and I met—it might even be bigger than when I met Floyd."

ability to hold an opponent with one hand and knock his socks off with the other. That was legal in those days.

Of course we always thought that Jack was no weakling himself, and we weren't too sure the hold and hit technique would work too well against a guy who tore in as did Dempsey. Anyhow, the argument was never settled, and today, when the former champ is hailed as the greatest boxer of the twenties, we look back at the group of Negroes, John Lester Johnson, Sam Langford, past his day, but still dangerous, Bearcat Wright, George Godfrey, Wills, and Bill Tate, and wonder if the guy really was the greatest.

MY SAVIOUR HEARD

In the mirror of my mind I look
And I read myself, just like a book.
The highlights of my history
Present to me, no mystery.
Intriguing as my life has been,
I take no pride in the spots of sin,
And as I open up this book
Some pages rate a second look.
To write in truth, I must confess,
I can make no claims to real success.
Obsessions plagued my younger years
They were filled with filth and fears.
God was a stranger in our home
In those darkened ways I was free to roam.
So I did not know the pure and serene

My teachers came from the foul and obscene.
Up from those devil-crops I would reap
Wild, evil things, in my tortured sleep.
The debits of dark years piled up high
Before I knew what a thing was I.
My vision was cleared one ghastly night
And I raised my eyes and saw His light.
The light that led me to His word:
I knocked, I called; my Saviour heard.

Junior Gilliam Inks Contract With Dodgers

Los Angeles—Junior Gilliam, one of baseball's finest lead-off batters, last week became the ninth Dodger to come to contract terms for the 1960 season, E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, vice president and general manager, announced.

Gilliam, who was the Dodgers' regular third baseman throughout most of the '59 season, had a tremendous, on-base percentage in the Dodgers' world championship season. He walked 96 times, hit 131 singles, 18 doubles, 4 triples and 3 home runs and also reached base by causing the opposition to make mistakes.

A versatile player, Gilliam can play any position in the infield except catch and pitch.
