School Suit Filed in Durham for 170 Students

More Integration Ordered in Louisiana

New York—A suit involving 170 Negro students was filed last week in the federal district court against the Durham Board of Education. This is the largest number of plaintiffs in a single legal action brought against a school system since the Supreme Court 1954 decree outlawing segregation in public education.

Two Zones

The Durham Board of Education is accused of using the North Carolina Pupil Placement laws to maintain and operate segregated schools by assignment on the basis of race. The North Carolina Pupil Placement statutes give local school officials the authority to assign school children on the basis of various vague factors.

The suit charges the school board with making assignments on the basis of 2 school zones—one for white and another for Negro students. It also accuses school officials of operating 2 segregated school systems.

The school board has not applied the state pupil placement statutes as a means of abolishing state-imposed racial distinctions, the court was told in the complaint filed here. Nor have the school authorities advanced a "genuine method" for desegregating the city's public schools, the complaint charged.

The complaint was filed on behalf of 170 Negro students.

Tells How Brave Negro Lad, 15, "Bucks" Congress

A noteworthy exception to people who believe that "you can't fight city hall" is James A. Johnson, a 15-year-old Negro boy from Chicago, who has taken it upon himself to "buck" the entire U. S. Congress. In its May issue, EBONY Magazine tells the heart-rending story of this courageous, clean-cut teen-ager and his quiet struggle in Washington, D. C., for an appointment as Capitol Page, which race-conscious southern legislators are opposing.

Entitled "Loneliest Boy On Capitol Hill," the article shows how Jimmy's quiet determination, displayed while working hard as a Capitol messenger, is beginning to stir the consciences of fair-minded Congressmen and how his iron will may eventually help him to reach his coveted goal.

Wagner Appoints Weaver To New Housing Board

New York—Dr. Robert C. Weaver, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, has been appointed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner to New York City's new three-man Housing and Redevelopment Board.

Sworn in with Dr. Weaver on May 4 were J. Clarence Davies, former commissioner of the city's Real Estate Department; and Walter S. Fried, former regional administrator of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Following the taking of the oath by the three, former New York Governor W. Averell Harriman briefly addressed the audience of about 250 friends of the appointees who witnessed the ceremony.

He was executive director of the Mayor's Committee on Race Relations in Chicago during World War II. Macon, Ga.—Chester Burge, white wealthy realtor found the cards stacked against him last week when he charged out of his house, armed with a pistol, to chase members of KKK. His property was being picketed because he had recently rented a two-unit apartment to a Negro family in a white neighborhood. Police threatened to arrest him for carrying a weapon.

Washington, D. C.—Deputy Attorney General Lawrence E. Walsh announced entry of a consent judgment at Memphis, Tenn., ending voting discrimination against Negro voters in Fayette county, Tenn.

Calls Measure Historic Step Forward in Achieving U.S. Goals of Race Equality

Washington, D. C.—Placing his official signature on the 1960 civil rights bill, President Eisenhower hailed the measure as "an historic step forward in the field of civil rights."

Even though congress failed to include some of his recommendations, the President's statement praised the act, noting that this is only the second civil rights measure passed by congress in 85 years.

"With continuing help from all responsible persons, the new law will play an important role in the days ahead in attaining our goal of equality under law in all areas of our country for all Americans," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Chief provision in the measure is the voting referee plan which is designed to help Negroes or other minorities fight discrimination against them at the ballot box. When, at the attorney general's request, a court finds a pattern of discrimination, a court-appointed referee would hear complaints from persons discriminated against. If the referee found them qualified under state law, he could order that they be permitted to vote.

Other Sections

Other sections of the law provide: Obstruction of U. S. court orders "by threats or force" is a federal crime.

Fight to avoid prosecution for bombing a religious or educational structure, home or other building, or the interstate transportation of explosives for such a purpose, are federal crimes. Penalties range up to death if the explosion causes loss of life.

The U. S. is authorized to set up school for children of servicemen, if public schools in their areas are closed to avoid desegregation.

Integration Leaders Defend N.Y. Times in Libel Suit; Criticizes Birmingham Paper

Birmingham, Ala.—Integration leaders have come to the defense of The New York Times, which is under attack by segregationists for telling about injustices against Negroes in Alabama cities.

Montgomery city officials have sued over an ad in The Times, and Birmingham officials threaten suit over an article by Harrison Salisbury. Governor John Patterson is also threatening to sue.

Intended to Blind

The Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights adopted resolutions stating that such "lawsuits are intended to blind the eyes of the local public, and cover up the various violations of law and abuses of citizens' rights."

Actions of the officials and of Alabama newspapers were condemned in a letter in the Birmingham News by the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, president of ACMHR and a member of the board of directors of the Southern Conference Educational Fund.

Editorial

A similar stand was taken by Aubrey W. Williams, Montgomery, president of SCEF and publisher of the Southern Farm & Home, in an editorial in his paper.

The ACMHR said: "We see nothing false, slanderous or calumnious in the articles in question. We submit that there is nothing of substance to be retracted in either, rather there is much more that could be added.

"We believe the racial climate in Alabama, and especially Birmingham, is tense and dangerous mainly because certain elected officials, sworn to uphold the U. S. Constitution, seem more obsessed with keeping segregation than in protecting individual rights."

Mr. Shuttlesworth defended Salisbury and The Times and then criticized The Birmingham News. He said the newspaper "sought to misrepresent Negroes by writing of 'a continued high-pressure program by a handful of Negroes.'"

MONEY EMPHASIS An article in Parade Magazine quotes New York Stock Exchange President Keith Funston as saying: "While some Americans may put too great an emphasis on money for its own sake, the great bulk of our people regard it not as an end in itself, but rather as a means to such worthwhile goals as providing for their families, securing their futures and bettering their lives. The pattern of investing in recent years, on a sound and thoughtful basis, certainly bears out the fact that Americans appreciate and are anxious to work for a fuller and more productive life."

Made with packaged pre-cooked rice it requires no real "cooking" at all — good news which means you're out of the kitchen in no time at all. Serve this hearty, flavorful salad meal to your family tonight. They'll love it, and you'll make it again and again.

Crabmeat Rice Salad 1/2 cup packaged pre-cooked rice 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup boiling water 1 cup mayonnaise 1 1/2 tablespoons diced pimento 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice 1 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1 cup (6- to 7-ounce can) crab meat, drained and flaked 1 1/2 cups diced celery 1 1/2 cups cooked peas Add packaged pre-cooked rice and 1/4 teaspoon salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 13 minutes. Then uncover and let cool to room temperature. About 1 hour before serving, combine mayonnaise, pimento, lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, and the pepper, mixing well. Combine crab meat, celery, and peas in a bowl. Stir in the mayonnaise mixture. Then add the rice and mix lightly with a fork. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce. Makes 6 or 6 servings.

Cake of the Month

Everybody has his favorite father. And every father's favorite is this deep, dark, luscious three-layered devil's food cake. Decorated to win the heart of Dad on his day, this cake is simple enough for daughter or son to make with the new instant cake mix now on the grocer's shelves.

Father's Devil's Food Cake 1 package Instant Swans Down Devil's Food Mix 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons water 2 eggs, unbeaten Sea Foam Frosting Empty contents of package into bowl. Add water and eggs. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Pour batter into three round 8-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes. Cool layers. Prepare Sea Foam Frosting. Spread over tops and sides of layers. To decorate, prepare confectioners' sugar frosting by mixing together a small amount of sifted confectioners' sugar with milk; tint, if desired. Place in pastry tube; outline figures on cake as illustrated.

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, and water in top of double boiler. Beat with sturdy egg beater or electric beater 1 minute until thoroughly mixed. Then place over boiling water and beat constantly with egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. (Stir frosting up from bottom and sides of pan occasionally with rubber scraper, spatula, or spoon.) Remove from boiling water. Add vanilla and beat 1 minute, or until thick enough to spread. Note: For a smoother frosting, wipe down sides of pan with a fork wrapped in a damp cloth before and during cooking and beating, to prevent crystallization. MIX TRICKS: A package of instant devil's food mix adapts well to various pan sizes. Try 3 eight-inch layer pans as suggested above for a special party cake. For other occasions, use 2 round layer pans, a nine-inch square pan, a 13x9x2-inch oblong pan or 24 medium cupcake pans, baking according to package directions.

Sea Foam Frosting 2 egg whites, unbeaten 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar 1 t. of salt 1/2 cup water 1 teaspoon vanilla

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

HELPING YOUR CHILD THROUGH DEPENDENCY

Dependent behavior is natural and necessary in the infant and young child. Because of his helplessness, he depends upon the mother to meet his physical needs. The child soon recognizes the persons who take such good care of him, and becomes attached to them. He comes to need his mother not only because she changes his wet diapers and feeds him, but because he needs her love and attention.

Attention

He soon learns ways of behaving which gets him that attention (crying, smiling, grasping, etc.). When the child begins walking, he is even better able to attract his mother's attention—he can now follow her around, climb and get into things he shouldn't, and so on.

However, this dependency becomes less desirable as the child grows older. Johnny's mother is busy and recognizes that he is able to do some things for himself, so she discourages this dependent behavior—trying to make him more independent.

Often mothers use methods such as rejecting, ignoring and spanking, which show her displeasure to her child for his actions. Johnny, however, often reacts to this by persisting even more vigorously in his attempts to get attention.

Encouraging

Instead of thinking about ways of preventing dependent behavior, mothers can profit by encouraging independent behavior and praising children when they do something independently. Young children are eager to do the things adults do. If the mother encourages this eagerness, many opportunities for praise will develop. She should praise Johnny for his attempts to "help" Mom or drink a glass like "big" people do. She should praise him when he tries to dress himself as his older brother does.

If the child has the opportunity to learn new ways—independent ways which will get his parents' attention and approval—the less desirable dependency behavior will begin to disappear.

Lamb Riblets Make Barbecue Meal.

To tease your palate and please your purse, as well as providing a fine experience for your nose while they cook, do try barbecued lamb riblets! Surface-cooked in a covered skillet over low heat or slowly baked in the oven, this delicious dish is a year-round favorite, an "easy-to-make" that can be done the day before for re-heating.

Riblets, cut from the breast of lamb, are 1-inch thick strips of lean streaked with fat, attached to a rib bone (making them a good finger food). They're usually 5 to 6 inches long, weighing 2 to 4 ounces each. Available at a ridiculously low price, breast of lamb, either cut as riblets or in serving portions, makes mighty good eating.

Barbecued Lamb Riblets

- |                         |  |
|-------------------------|--|
| 10 to 12 lamb riblets   | 1 tablespoon sugar   |
| smoked salt, if desired | 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and dash of Tabasco sauce |
| 2 onions, sliced        | 1 teaspoon mustard   |
| 1/2 cup catsup          | 2 cloves of garlic, mashed or minced                       |
| 1/2 cup water           |  |
| 2 tablespoons vinegar   |  |

Brown the lamb riblets slowly and thoroughly in a skillet. Drain off the fat. Sprinkle the meat with salt, pepper, smoked salt, if desired. Add sliced onions. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over the meat and onions. Cover and cook slowly until fork-tender, about 1 hour. Stir occasionally while cooking.

These barbecued lamb riblets may be baked in a heat-proof shallow baking dish in a 325 deg. (slightly under moderate) oven, for about 1 1/2 hours. Spoon the sauce over the riblets two or three times while baking. Serve with or on hot cooked buttered spaghetti with Parmesan Cheese. Serves 4.

DISARMAMENT

Writing in U. S. News & World Report, David Lawrence says: "How can there be any progress toward disarmament when there is so little faith in the word of the present Soviet government? Only the peoples of the Soviet Union can assure world peace, and they can do so by ridding themselves of a tyrannical government that doesn't honor its agreements and by substituting a free government that the world can trust. That's the only sure road to a reduction of armaments."

Personally Yours
by Frances Hawthorne.

If you are like me, all of you readers who are mothers are till basking in a warm, joyous glow. On Sunday our families demonstrated in words and actions—how very much we are cherished. Princess Margaret had nothing on us at all. We were treated like princesses and queens and placed on a pedestal.

In our house yours truly was given an entire free day beginning with breakfast in bed then was given hours with nothing at all to do but leisurely read or loll around until the big dinner resplendent with a big bouquet of the last tulips from our yard. Any mother with several children know that a woman's work is seldom done even on Sundays. When they do have a few hours free they cherish it. But when they have a whole day in which they don't have to lift a finger—it is cherished beyond words. Because of my husband, my No. 1 and No. 2 sons, and No. 1 daughter, I truly can cherish Mother's day.

Among the names submitted for nomination the Nash School PTA are three Negroes. They are Mrs. Woodrow Lewis of 1710 Carpenter ave., for president; Mrs. William Pickett of 1221 19th street for second vice president; and Mrs. Rufus Spates of 1244 13th street as corresponding secretary. Mrs. Lewis served as treasurer this last school term.

We had a note from Mr. Gus Smith of 1194 14th street. He informed us he had found a bunch of keys on 14th street and said that claimant would have them returned to him or her, if they produced satisfactory evidence. His phone number is CH 3-4371.

At the Public Affairs committee meeting earlier this week there was a very stimulating and searching discussion on the role of the YWCA in Des Moines and whether it was adequately meeting the needs of women and young ladies in the community. It's funny how you can live in a community for several years and yet not know much about some of the services of some of its public institutions. We learned more about the YW than we had in years.

Out of the discussion came the realization that the YW, which has kept up with trends, must now change to meet a social change in the community that is prevalent all over the country. The change of the role of women to career women-housewife. Enthusiastic discussion went on so long that there was no time for formulation of resolutions which members felt should come out of the meeting.

Among those attending besides

I won't be misled by the dealer who lures me into his store with an attractive advertisement of a standard brand item and then tries to talk me into a higher priced off-brand item.

I won't be rushed into buying anything by talk of a "last chance."
I won't permit a household appliance, television or radio set to be taken from my home for repairs without first receiving in writing an estimate of the repair cost. I will get assurance that no additional charge will be made without my consent.

I won't accept an oral guarantee. I'll get it in writing, and make sure I understand what it says and that it protects me fully.

ITS TOUGH TO GET CAUGHT

Most people don't know the intricate programs the government must carry on. The practice of spying on other nations never comes to light of the average citizen until the American plane was shot down over Russia. It is a job both Russia and America have carried on and this incident only became bad when the flyer got caught.

The plane came down 1300 miles inside Russian territory which proves that America's set-up is more advanced over them than a lot of critics shout about.

It is unfortunate that this happened just prior to the Summit Conference for it gives Russia a lot to talk about, charging a lack of interest in peace by America.

Russia has carried on its espionage in America; some of them have been caught. But no such consternation arose as has been the case with similar experiences in Russia.

Most people stand solidly back of our government realizing that it must take some chances to protect the country against surprise attacks. It will be the reckless who thrive on criticism no matter what the damage they do.

FINE SUPPORT FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

The Bystander has called the attention of its readers to the newspapers in Iowa from time to time in which appear supporting editorials of the cause of civil rights.

Below in this column is an editorial by Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette. This editorial clearly supports the young students in their strikes for equality of accommodations and chides those loose mouth people who accuse Negroes of communist infiltration because they seek their rights.

These editorials help to put courage in those who waiver and provide leadership for some who don't know what course to take.

CHARGING COMMUNISM IS EASIEST WAY OUT

IT SAVES WEAR AND TEAR on our intellectual machinery to charge communistic tendencies to those who disagree with us in a debate. We're seeing an example of that in the current controversy over racial rights.

Even Harry Truman, ordinarily listed on the side of those wishing to extend full citizenship to our colored people, was quoted as seeing Red influence in the recent wave of lunch counter incidents in the South.

It's quite possible that the slimy hand of the Kremlin does show up in a field where there is so much discontent. That's a situation tailor-made for the spread of communism, in America or anywhere else in our world. Communism never went anywhere except on invitation of misery.

But to try to explain away the whole phenomenon as a product of communism is to be wholly illogical. Inherently there's no more communism in seeking equal rights for Negroes than there was a century ago in fighting to free them from slavery.

That people denied the rights due them as human beings have been as uniformly loyal to our form of Government as they have been in indeed a testimonial to their commitment to the ways of freedom. Their patriotism has indeed been given the acid test. From Earl Hall, Mason City Globe-Gazette.

COMMISSION MUST BACK RIGHTS SECRETARY

Des Moines has a new executive secretary of its commission on human rights. He succeeds a predecessor who made a splendid record, particularly during the scramble for housing last year. The new secretary comes well recommended, has had wide experience and has an opportunity to go forward toward a successful tenure in office.

No matter how able the secretary, the members of the commission have a very definite responsibility to back him up, without ducking the "hard ones" no matter who or what is involved.

Unfortunately, the city itself has not been a good example for business firms to follow in observance of fair employment practices. In fact, some departments still drag their feet on some phases of the work and although called to the attention of top officials, they have not responded with the desired result.

For instance civil service officials carry an "optional request" for the photo of an applicant. This is clearly wrong, contrary to fair employment practices and an arrogant display of contempt for the rules of the commission. While the matter seems small in comparison with the big job to be done, it is just the kind of thing which should not be tolerated.

The commission should find out from the city council whether it supports the program in full or makes exception to what city departments may or may not do.

Demon's Ringing Bat

Left fielder Irv Clark helped himself to seven hits in eight trips to the plate, and in so doing, virtually supplied all the runs his Demons teammates needed to win a doubleheader at Sec Taylor Stadium Sunday.

His double and three singles accounted for four runs in the opener and he added two more singles and a 360-foot triple in the second game.

The Demons beat Topeka, 10-6 and 6-1, knocking the Kansas team from first place and lifted Des Moines to seventh place. Photo courtesy of Des Moines Register.

The district track meet came on the wrong day for us to do much about it in this column, but we are sure you track fans know what happened out there.

At the annual Iowa State football game, the guy who is expected to carry the load next fall, Tommy

Tom Watkins

Watkins, didn't get to do much. He hurt his shoulder twice and had to stop playing; but the Cyclones will likely field another hustling hard hitting team and are going to step up on somebody.

Baseball

The talk got around to baseball and the ardent White Sox fan was arguing that Aparicio of the Sox is more valuable than Ernie Banks of the Cubs. Well, we looked up from our paper and listened. Banks, the fellow argued, couldn't drive in runs when they were needed. Sure, he drove in some but it was always when his team was either way out in front or hopelessly behind; and then he couldn't field like Louis can.

Steals Bases

Now this other guy gets on bases and steals a lot of bases. In fact, he probably wins more games by this than Banks did with his hitting. Now, we listened to the other side try to refute these arguments. The fellow said Aparicio bats as a lead-off man and if he can't get on base he won't be a leadoff man long. Banks is a clean up hitter who is supposed to drive in runs. He led the league in that department so he must have done his job.

In close games with the result hanging on whether Banks hit or not, how many times was he given the opportunity to drive in runs? Either there was no one on base or he wasn't pitched to, and since both men batted for a different purpose it would be hard to compare them. As for fielding, well, Banks played every game last year and made 12 errors—a new National league record for a shortstop; so you would have to say he was a fair fielder.

HEALTH FOR ALL

When Mommy Goes Along

A hospital in the Middle West was in an uproar because of a stubborn mother. "Hysterical type," one nurse told another. This mother insisted she wanted to stick by her little daughter's side, every moment of the time while the child was being prepared for an appendicitis operation—right up to the door of the operating room, she demanded loudly.

That was against the rules of the hospital, they tried to tell her. But, as it happens, the rules of the hospital have since been changed. They found out the woman was right. A mother should stay with her hospitalized child every possible minute.

Emotional Shock

The emotional shock that may occur when a child is put in the hospital can be serious. A Yale pediatrician recently pointed out that "the hospital environment represents a psychological hazard. The children are threatened by separation from their parents, fears of abandonment, and painful, frightening procedures in the hands of strangers."

The nursing and medical staff cannot possibly replace the mother in reassuring a frightened child, the specialist said. On the contrary, when it comes to taking care of the little one the others are only mother's helpers.

Recognize Facts

Nowadays more and more hospitals recognize these facts. A few have even made accommodations available so that Mommy can check into the hospital right along with little Debbie or Jimmy. At least she can stay in the hospital room through the child's every waking moment.

Such close attendance by the mother may be difficult to arrange from the family's point of view, especially in the case of some long-lasting sickness like tuberculosis or polio. But it will pay off in a happier child who will get better faster and will not carry all through life the emotional scars of a devastating hospital experience.

Pick Hank to Win Batting Title in '60

New York—Hank Aaron, Milwaukee Braves outfielder and perennial batting star of the National league, last week was picked to win the National league batting championship.

Picked by 43 of 50 writers who participated in a poll here, "Hammering" Hank was seen as an overwhelming favorite to annex his third batting title. He first won the NL title in 1956 with an average of .326.

Besides winning the batting title three times, including last year with a hefty .355 mark, Hank drove in a flock of runs and won the league's Most Valuable Player award in 1957.

A .323 life-time batter, Aaron, a native of Mobile, Ala., walloped a total of 179 home runs in six seasons in the majors. His highest season total was 44 in '57. Last year, also, Aaron collected 223 hits, the highest in the NL in 20 years. Chuck Dressen, who succeeded Fred Haney as manager of the Milwaukee team, has said he will cut Hank loose this season.

Opposing pitchers, BEWARE!

BIG BUSINESS

Big business firms will be looking for relatively fewer high-paid executives in the coming months of 1960 than was the case during the second half of 1959, according to a survey conducted by a leading management recruitment firm. The current indicated need is for about 2.5 top men per company in the next six months, as against an average of 3.2 eight months ago. The openings involved pay $10,000 to $100,000 a year.

Larry Doby

Sorry to read that Larry Doby, the first Negro to break into the American League, is probably on his way out. A cracked ankle has shelved him for a long time in the International league. Such are the fortunes of baseball or any professional sports. An injury can end your career just anytime. We hope Doby came out solvent.

Hilltop Tennis Club Hopes to Play K.C.

The Hilltop Tennis club began organizing its team for inter-city matches at its meeting Monday evening. Final details have to be worked out before Iowa matches are played. Meanwhile, efforts are being made to resume a series of matches with Kansas City, Mo. The two clubs have not played since the days when Bill Ashby and Chet Williamson made the tournaments.

A new member, Mrs. Ernestine Tindrell of 1428 E. 15th street joined the club and by so doing, she and her husband, Phillip Tindrell became the second husband-wife combination in the club.

Parents are reminded that children 8 to 17 years may still join the Junior club and get free tennis instructions. Call Esther S. Myers for further information—AT 8-8719.

Geneva, Switzerland—Returning to his home-away-from-home here after signing to meet Floyd Patterson in their title rematch in New York June 20, Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson immediately started training for the fight.

However he was not ahead of Patterson, who also resumed training. Patterson has been in training somewhere in Connecticut ever since negotiations were started some eight

THE ONE I LOST

The one I lost, is gone I know,
Yet lives within my heart today
Enshrined are precious memories,
Food for my soul, since he's away.
In every blossom's face I see,
The one who is a part of me
No one can take away the days
We shared as one, together;
And somewhere in the great beyond,
We'll cruise in sunny weather
Away from all the storms of life,
Our galleon trimmed in gold;
Will find the haven of the blest,
With all the saints of old.
Somehow I know, this is the grief,
That is a part of life;
A debt that has to be paid-off,
This sad world's price for strife.
The crucible must try the soul,
To temper true and fine;
Prepare yourself to meet the test,

I tell this heart of mine.
When He has made the final call,
All those who've paid the cost,
Side by side they'll live again;
And I'll join the one I lost.

Thoughts for Today

Men often oppose a thing merely because they have had no agency in planning it, or because it may have been planned by those whom they dislike.—Alexander Hamilton.

Heaven is a work of the best and kindest of men and women; Hell is the work of prigs, pedants and professional truth tellers. The world is an attempt to make the best of both.—Samuel Butler.
All things I thought I knew; but now confess the more I know I know, I know the less.—J. Owens.

Laugh Lines

Mr. Peterson was preparing to go to market and his wife told him to get a head of cabbage.
"What size?" he asked.
"Oh, about the size of your head," she told him.

On the way Peterson met a friend who was a gardener. "Just go over to my garden and take any head of cabbage you want," the friend offered generously.

Later another friend asked the gardener. "What kind of idiot did you have walking in your garden? When I went by, he was trying his hat on one head of cabbage after another."

teenagers are busy these days proving that adolescence is not necessarily a time of delinquency. They serve as volunteers in some 5,500 American hospitals. Their duties range from counting linen to feeding patients.

TRANSPORTATION

Proposals to deregulate the transportation industry and permit it to operate as others do under the American free enterprise system are contained in the Commerce Department's Transportation Report sent to Congress by the President. Among other things, the report says that regulation eventually should continue only where "monopoly or threat of destructive competition remains."

John Thomas Ties American Outdoor High Jump Mark

Hanover, N. H.—John Thomas of Boston University, who holds the world's indoor record for the high jump, has begun his assault on the outdoor record.

In a collegiate meet here, the amazingly cool Thomas soared to seven feet and one-half inch to equal the American record for an outdoor high jump.

"For the time being," Thomas told the press, "I'm satisfied."
