South African Leader Says U.S. Racial Problems Are Similar to His Countrymen's

St. Paul, Minn. — The Negro's struggle for freedom in the United States has many parallels with the fight the South Africans are making for emancipation in their homeland, Professor Mlaheni Njisane told delegates attending the 51st annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which closed here Sunday.

Addressing the "Africa Night" session on June 22, the former professor of sociology at the University of Natal in the Union of South Africa declared: "Your organization strives for equality, integration and acceptance. So also does the African National Congress. Our struggle is

NAACP Youth Council To Hear Reports

Giving reports will be Ada Triplett and Leon Jones, Jr., delegates and Brenda Lewis and Shirley Carter, alternate delegates. A report will be given to the council by Atty. J. B. Morris, Jr., president of the Des Moines branch.

your struggle; and your struggle is ours."

Jailing

The African scholar went on to compare the jailing of southern freedom fighters with the imprisonment of thousands of South Africans struggling against the apartheid policy of the South African government.

"It is as significant for South Africa as it is for the NAACP that of those arrested some are whites who love not the African but justice and fair play and the principle of human dignity. Because democracy is indivisible, and as long as tyranny stalks astride over anyone no one is completely free.

Significance

"Another very significant development of recent years is the role of the hitherto passive elements in our society. In South Africa since 1959, the women have reiterated the dictum that they must be free or die, and that freedom is a moral duty of all of us," Professor Njisane continued. "They rose up against those men whose objective in life is to fill their bellies, and next against the indignity of carrying passes. They were not deterred by police brutality and beat the men out of boycotted places and the boycott was a 100 per cent success. This was a very progressive political development and won the women a place in

Noted Lawyer Succeeds Dr. Mordecai Johnson, Resigns Due to Ill Health

Washington, D. C.—Dr. James Madison Nabrit, Jr., noted educator and constitutional lawyer, last week was named president of Howard University, the nation's largest predominantly-Negro institution of higher learning. He succeeds Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, who had headed the Washington D. C. school since 1926.

Dr. Nabrit is enroute home from Geneva where he served as a member of the U. S. delegation to the recent 44th International Labor Conference. He currently serves as Secretary of the University and Dean of the Howard Law School, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1936.

25th Year

Dr. Nabrit's elevation to the presidency comes as he begins his 25th year at Howard. Joining the School of Law faculty following six years as a practicing attorney in Houston, Tex., he has served also as Administrative Assistant to the President, and Director of Public Relations. The 59-year old educator was named Dean of the Law School in 1958.

Dr. Nabrit is a noted constitutional lawyer, having specialized in civil rights cases for the past 30 years. He introduced the first formal civil rights course in American law schools in 1936, and is author of a syllabus for such courses which is used in many schools throughout the country.

Prominent Cases

As a practicing attorney, Dr. Na-brit has argued civil rights cases before courts in 11 states and the District of Columbia. Among his outstanding cases before the U. S. Supreme Court were Bolling v. Sharpe (racial segregation in D. C. public schools), Lane v. Wilson (Oklahoma voter registration procedures) and Terry v. Adams (white primary elections in Texas). He won a favorable decision in each case.

Dr. Nabrit is a member of the President's Committee on Government Contracts, and has held such other government posts as Legal Advisor to the Governor of the Virgin Islands and U. S. Delegate to the International Labor Conference, in both 1959 and 1960.

NAACP Pledges to Defend Youth 'Sit-ins' Demonstrators

The recent St. Paul, Minn. Convention of the NAACP threw its entire weight behind the youthful "sit-in" demonstrators all around the United States. The final resolution on "sit-ins" pledged continuing financial, legal and participatory support. These youth whose mass, direct action against segregation is aimed at bringing about complete Freedom for the Negro American at the earliest possible time won the endorsement of the delegates "without reservation".

Battle Cry

The battle cry "FREEDOM NOW" as endorsed by the youth was also acclaimed by the body-at-large and indeed, in the victory celebrations over the surrender of northern Virginia's segregationist policies at lunch counters one of the most widely known members of the NAACP Board of Directors carried a picket sign that read "Not 64 but FREEDOM NOW for me". The idea of acting together now to assure Freedom by 1963 has really caught on.

Expands Policy

Perhaps with the admonition in mind that was carried recently in a nationally-circulated magazine that the "sit-ins" may bring violence, the NAACP expanded its racial defense policy to include its youth. The NAACP defence policy as stated in the Preamble to the Convention Resolutions reads "we reject violence . . . (but) in rejecting violence, we do not deny, but reaffirm, the right of individual and collective self-defense against unlawful assaults". If the "sit-ins" do bring violence, NAACP parents and adults have let it be known that they will defend their youth.

Waterloo Store Agrees to Hire Negroes after Picketing

Waterloo, Ia.—Picketing of a food store here Friday by the Youth Council of the Waterloo branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, ended after an hour with apparent success when the store announced to leaders it would hire Negroes.

Mrs. Anna M. Weems, president and spokesman for the NAACP, said the store was being picketed because it did not hire Negroes although it had considerable Negro trade.

The demonstration began about 8 a.m., against the National Tea Food store and ended about an hour later when District Sales Manager William Cook told Mrs. Weems that one Negro carry-out boy and one Negro Cashier would be hired.

Cook revealed that the store was the first food store in Waterloo to hire Negroes. He said that three were on the payroll when the store opened in 1954. However, he said, no Negroes had been employed for the past six months.

SUDS CANVAS COVERS

Canvas slip-on material, which covers the frame of a modern wing chair, may be washed on or off the frame. If left on, scrub with plenty of soap or detergent suds, applied with a brush. Then, rinse with the garden hose. If the canvas is removed and machine washed, put it back on the frame before it is completely dry. This way it will dry in perfect form-fitting shape for the frame.

Freshen Old Furniture
MUCH old furniture still is useful, but its appearance is against it. Yet, it's too good to give away and not old enough to be considered antique. What can be done? A bit of ingenuity and effort will transform an old dresser into a thing of modern beauty — and at small cost. Note the "before and after" sketches of the same dresser. There's quite a change!
In general, removal of the gingerbread from the dresser is the first step in the renovation. A recessed wood base, instead of legs, does much to modernize the piece. Most likely, the top has been scarred. Easiest cure is the addition of a panel of Masonite Tempered Preswood, 1/4" thick. This then may be primed and painted. Alternates might be black Preswood, or Leatherwood, a textured hardwood. One of the gay plastic-surfaced hardwoods would be suitable, too, as they are resistant to stains and cigarette burns. Various colors and patterns in Marlite are available.
Matching material, if needed, may be used to re-cover dingy-looking drawer fronts. Standard 1/4" Preswood is excellent for replacing cracked drawer bottoms and dresser backs.

Beaming New President of NNPA

Washington, D. C.—John H. Sengstacke, upper right, publisher of the Chicago (Ill.) Daily Defender and head of The Defender Publications, Inc., beams with William O. Walker, publisher-editor, Cleveland (Ohio) Call & Post, following Mr. Sengstacke's election as president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association at Chicago last week. The youthful Chicago publisher succeeded Walker.

kee, Wis., Sengstacke, PR man Moss H. Kendrix, Washington, D. C., whose firm represents Carnation milk and Coca-Cola, and Floyd Collins, Schlitz, Chicago. Bassett and Kendrix were speakers for NNPA's 20 anniversary session which was held at the Defender's beautiful new offices.

COMPLEXION

Thoroughly clean skin is the basis of a clear complexion. Fresh make-up should never be applied until the face is washed carefully with soap and water—to remove stale make-up, perspiration, and grime.

LAUNDRY BASKETS

Laundry baskets are now constructed of smooth polyethylene plastic, completely eliminating the scratches, scrapes, and splinters that were part and parcel of the old-fashioned wood or wicker-type of basket. A deep, handy basket of this sort is a must in any home laundry, along with the soap, detergent, hot water, and a washing machine.

Asks for Abolition of House 'Red' Activities Group

New Orleans, La.—The Southern Conference Educational Fund is asking the Democratic and Republican conventions to call for abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Aubrey W. Williams, president of the HUAC prove that the committee is a menace to the movement for integration and civil rights. SCEF is a Southwide interracial group working to end segregation and discrimination. The organization is informing the party platform committees that members of the HUAC and its staff have been linked to leading racists and segregationists.

Millionaire Racist

It cites a recent article in the York (Pa.) Gazette & Daily in which Richard Arens, HUAC staff director, is shown to be on the payroll of a millionaire racist in New York.

A CHILD'S SELF-PICTURE IS AN IMPORTANT GUIDE TO BEHAVIOUR

"I don't want to work on arithmetic problems with fractions. Fractions are hard and I can't do hard things. I won't be able to do it. Trying would be a waste of time," Bobby told his teacher as she introduced

Similar revelations have been made in The Washington Post and The Nation, a liberal weekly. The Knight newspapers also revealed recently that HUAC members and staff have been living high on expense accounts while they were supposed to be hunting "subversives."

$8,000 A Year

The York Gazette reported that Arens is paid $8,000 a year by Wycliffe Draper, textile heir, who is trying to prove that Negroes are genetically inferior. This is in addition to the $16,000 a year that Arens draws from Congress for his work with the HUAC.

Dr. Sheldon Reed, director of the Dwight Institute of Human Genetics at the University of Minnesota, said he was approached by Draper to do research. Reed said Draper "thought that the country would be better off without Negroes."

Inferiority

Newspaper reporters also found that Rep. Francis E. Walter (Dem., Pa.), chairman of the HUAC, is on one of the committees that Draper set up to select men to do research on the "inferiority" of Negroes.

A member of one of Draper's other committees is Sen. James Eastland (Dem., Miss.), chairman of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, which also claims to hunt "subversives." Arens worked with the Eastland Committee before joining the HUAC.

arithmetic problems to the class. She remembered similar experiences with Bobby in reading and many other activities.

Self Concept

The picture that we each have of our self-concept—"the real me" or "what I think of myself" is learned. This comes about as a part of growing up and, as is true of the many other aspects of growing up, is greatly influenced by parents.

While a child is learning this picture of himself, the way in which his parents refer to him is important. Suppose Bobby is told many times that "Bobby is a bad boy, he is always bad" or "Bobby is a dumb boy, he can't do anything right and will never amount to anything in life." Then, Bobby develops a "self-picture" in which he sees himself as a bad boy or a dumb boy and he acts accordingly. The way Bobby sees himself plays an important part in guiding behavior.

Standards

We can help a child learn a reasonable set of expectations for what he can or cannot do and a positive "self-picture." Examine our standards and expectations for him as to whether or not they are appropriate and realistic. When we say Bobby is "bad," is he really bad or merely inconveniencing us? Allow him to meet with some success and approval and then let him know that he has done a good job.

New, Vastly Different, More Valuable Telephone Directory Being Delivered in City This Week

The new telephone directory is being delivered to telephone users during the period July 6-9 according to M. W. Sandvig, District Manager of the telephone company. As announced some time ago, it is a vastly different and far more valuable directory than the one now in use here.

In addition to the listings of telephone users in the Des Moines area, it has those of 22 other exchanges, an area comprising all of Polk County, most of Warren and parts of Dallas and Jasper. Altogether, about 156,000 telephones are listed.

The exchanges are in alphabetical order; Adel first, then Altoona, Ankeny, Baxter and so on. A heading extending across the page precedes the listings of each of the communities. A handy marker enclosed with each directory makes it easy to locate the section used most frequently.

Yellow Pages

The yellow page classified section lists the business customers in all the cities and towns under their proper classified heading. The name of the town where the business is located is a part of each listing, except for those in Des Moines where only the street address is shown.

The opening pages of the directory have the emergency numbers, telephone service calls, dialing and other usage information for each of the exchanges included. The inside front cover describes area codes, a new aid to long distance dialing.

Survey

Sandvig pointed out that the new type directory was developed following a survey of the telephone directory needs of the area here and elsewhere. Having the telephone numbers available for nearby communities will make the directory more useful and help in speeding calls. In the entire area covered by the directory there are 10,000 more telephones than a year ago.

The telephone directory is being delivered by local men and women employed for the job by Directory Delivery Associates, a national firm specializing in the delivery of larger directories throughout the country.

Family Finances

Gasoline is your most expensive transportation cost next to the depreciation on your car. To get more mileage for your gas dollar, consider these points:

Lighter cars get more mileage. Everything else being equal, a 3,000-pound car gets 50 per cent more mileage than a 4,000-pound auto.

"Tire drag" is a big gas eater. Wheels out of alignment (toeing in or out) by one degree, increases drag about eight per cent.

Tires not sufficiently inflated waste gas. Five pounds of under-inflation wastes a half-gallon of every 20 gallons.

Keep your car serviced and adjusted properly for best mileage. Correct carburetor adjustments, spark timing, a slow or stuck choke, dirty or faulty spark plugs, stuck manifold and cooling-system valves to keep good mileage records.

You can also waste gas through bad driving habits, e.g., jack-rabbit starts, staying too long in lower gears before shifting, rushing to a stop and then jamming on the brakes.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For the Home

To Lubricate a Lock

IF A LOCK becomes stiff and hard to operate, a temporary cure is available in any home in the form of a soft lead pencil. Simply rub the key until it is heavily coated with the graphite, and then turn it in the lock a few times. This treatment should make the lock work like new. Of course, you can use powdered graphite, which is available in most hardware stores. This lubricant is blown into the lock through the keyhole by squeezing the tube. The illustration appeared in The Home Craftsman.

Applesauce Bake

Apple desserts like this one add magic to menus.

Not enough praise is sung for Johnny Applesauce who, according to legend, planted apple trees wherever he roamed. If the story is true then homemakers owe that beneficent pioneer a vote of thanks for dotting the countryside with orchards.

Applesauce Bake is a new dessert that points up the wisdom of Mr. Applesauce who looked forward to the future. It is a variation of an old Danish apple cake. A not-too-sweet applesauce is baked layer on layer with crushed coconut cookies in between for a new apple combination.

Serve Applesauce Bake either fragrantly warm or thoroughly chilled. Top with whipped cream and garnish with nuts. If you like, garnish the top with bits of blush-red crab apple jelly. This garnish is traditionally Danish.

APPLESAUCE BAKE
7 cups sliced apples 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup sugar 1 pound coconut bars
3 tablespoons fortified margarine

Place sliced apples in a saucepan. Add enough water to barely cover the apples. Cover and place over medium heat. Cook apples until tender. Put apples through a sieve. Add sugar and vanilla. Crush coconut bars with a rolling pin and roll out to form crumbs. Coat an 8-inch square baking dish with margarine. Place a layer of cookie crumbs in the bottom of the dish. Top with a layer of applesauce. Dot with bits of margarine. Alternate layers of applesauce and cookie crumbs and bits of margarine. Top with cookie crumbs. Place in a 325 degree oven and bake for 30 minutes. Serve either warm or well chilled with whipped cream. Garnish with chopped nuts, if desired. Yield: 8 servings.

Many Iowans handed the past Fourth of July weekend a blue ribbon weatherwise to match the beautiful blue skies as they flocked by the thousands to picnic areas, parks, beaches and swimming pools. Others got no further than their back yards for barbecues and informal get-togethers. Whatever the diversion, Ole Sol certainly helped to make it most enjoyable.

Local entertainment was in abundance over the weekend also, with the annual Shrine dance and other social events. One of the most colorful affairs was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Proctor for their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Long of Nashville, Tenn. The event was made more enjoyable for the parents and honorees when another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wilbekin of Cincinnati, Ohio, were able to come for the occasion.

You will probably remember that last fall we ran several pictures of the home designed by Mr. Wilbekin, who is an engineer with the city of Cincinnati.

An added delight to guests who attended Sunday's reception were the two little daughters of the Longs; dressed alike, they were charming indeed, especially the older lass. Mrs. Long's dress of yellow lace drew many admiring comments.

While there we chatted briefly with Miss Louise Stewart who has returned to the city for the summer from Earlham college in Earlham, Ind. She is a senior there and expects to graduate next June. She says this is the first summer she has spent here since 1957. She has been attending summer school and last year was fortunate to be able to attend summer school in Mexico university in Old Mexico, as a representative of Earlham college.

With a different hair style and quiet confidence of college sophistication, she looks somewhat different from the picture the daily paper ran of her once in its "Des Moines: A City of Beauty." She also was crowned Queen of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP during one of its membership campaigns. She is the daughter of Mrs. Stewart.

It had been some time since we had had an opportunity to chat with Mrs. Billie Jean Morrow in person. In previous summers she has been a very busy lady indeed when her tasks as a school teacher ended in June. For three summers she worked on her master's degree. Last summer she underwent an operation that practically kept her immobilized the entire three months. This summer she isn't doing anything as far as extra curricular activities outside the home following her profession. Consequently, she says she is doing all the things, like sewing slipcovers, drapes, etc., that she had not time to do in previous summers.

In case some of you failed to read it for some reason or other, we will not be in the office for some time to come now. However, we will continue to write the news and request that if you have news call, write or bring it into the Bystander office as soon as you can. With your splendid co-operation we expect to bring you good news coverage and service.

BELGIUM HINDSITE SHOWS UP IN CONGO

The Congo is the newest African state to gain independence as a subject nation of Belgium. Recent news dispatchers and commentators have told the public just how unprepared these people are for independence, citing the almost lack of education and training available to carry on a government.

Some terrible tales were told about natives whom they say had eyes on the home of white officials which they planned to take over for themselves and the design some had on white women whom they would seize as their wives. So far those things have not come to pass.

True, the country is unprepared. Whose fault is it but Belgium. In fact, Belgium has at times been most cruel to the people at victiming mayhem and destruction upon those who did not bring in enough ivory and other products which made these white people rich.

Belgium made no effort to educate these people, to provide schools, hospitals, roads and other things which would elevate the people. Now they reap what they have sown over the years thinking that domination of the country would be permanent.

In the July Readers Digest Charles Stevenson tells what Firestone has done for the people in Liberia while making money for the company. He said that from the outset Firestone saw that the success of his enterprise depended upon the education and welfare of the Liberian people, and he took steps to broaden their economy.

Quoting from the Stevenson article he said:

"Even more important is the Firestone contribution to schooling. In the hospitals and clinics I found only 20 foreign employees. Working beside them were 500 Liberians, doing everything from taking x-ray pictures to acting as operating-room superintendents.

"For us to continue the gigantic foreign-aid giveaway program is merely to perpetuate a profound governmental error. Experience has shown that American business succeeds abroad because it helps to bring about understanding between men. With understanding comes respect and, later, friendship."

And evidently this type of assistance makes more true friends than the Marshall plan which operates as handouts rather than self help.

Belgium was in the Congo long before American industry went into Liberia. The latter has done something for the people; the former has syphoned all the wealth possible out of the Congo people and now decry a very condition which it created.

WHY SO HARD TO WORK FOR THE CITY

Sometime ago, the Bystander suggested that the mayor appoint more Negro citizens to boards and commissions which would give the group some representation at the top level of government. And although approval of the idea was given, only to the Urban Renewal and Human Rights Board include Negro members.

Under our system of government it is difficult to get anything done at the city hall. Public officials are too far away from the touch of the voters and generally they all are too arrogant to bend a knee.

Several years ago, the community chest boards began including Negroes on most of their boards. It gives the agencies a close insight upon the Negro community so as to best serve everyone and an opportunity for the white members to know, by doing a job, Negro members on their same level. Experience teaches that the plan does work well.

The council-manager program has not kept Negro employment on the city payroll in proportion to the overall increase. Somewhere along the line, somebody has kept less Negroes working in the streets, in the parks, in the city hall and municipal court building. And as one dies or retires, his place is not filled so as to hold what had existed before.

Some years ago, the Lincoln League, organized in Des Moines to work in campaigns, did a good job convincing politicians by their vote that they demanded something and got pretty good results. Something of the kind should be formed again for a politician hears and responds to votes better than anything he knows.

No system of government is perfect but any system will do a good job if good people run it.

For years, Negro employment at the Des Moines post office was poor. This has been changed immeasurably. Employees there take civil service examinations. Just why the city civil service is so difficult to pass seems preposterous. But experience has shown the tricks have been played even in this "system to make things fair." Is it still working?

Hilltop Tennis Club To Play First Home Match vs. Marshalltown

Did you see the Olympic trials last weekend? Then you know that Negroes finished one, two, three in the dashes, hurdles and jumps. In the dashes below the 400 meter run, a couple of determined white boys led that pack of Negroes to the tape. Made a couple of us smile as we watched the race. Now and then a guy slipped in as did Deacon Jones in the steeple chase. Jones seemed to take it easy when he realized he had a place on the team cinched.

It will take a lot of jumping and running to beat out the sprinters and jumpers on this Olympic team. Beyond that we may not do too well in track events, but somebody is going to have to break a record in the hurdles and 200 and the broad jump and high jump. If they want to beat U.S. out of those gold medals there will have to be a right lively effort put forth in the hop, step and jump, too, if the Russians don't want some Negro to have that medal.

We expect the same thing will happen in the women's trials. Last time our only winners were Negroes. Seems the larger schools don't go in for women's track in a big way. We don't know what the Olympics team would do if it weren't for our Negro colleges.

Found out what happens to baseball players who quit the game while they are still fairly young. Ran into one last weekend who used to play for Cedar Rapids in the Three-I league. Now, he plays semi-pro ball and works. Says he makes just about as much that way as he could with a major league team unless he was a top star. Has more time with his family also. Ernie Johnson who used to play for Des Moines is also another ball player now who had to have a steady income.

The light heavyweight champion of the world, usually slightly over the 175-pound light heavyweight limit, admitted last week that he was having trouble making the weight and asked for a four-week postponement of his scheduled July 17 title bout against Erich Schoppner of Germany, the European champion.

The request came through Moore's manager, Jack (Dov) Kearns who said Archie needed more time to take off some 20 pounds. When he fought Willie Besmanoff at Indianapolis recently, Moore weighed 206½ pounds. Although he is having trouble

Down, But Not Out

"Tuberculosis? I didn't think people got that any more. It's been wiped out, hasn't it?"

That's something we've heard a number of times and we wish it were true, but it isn't. Each year there are a few less deaths than the year before. Each year, fewer people come down with active TB than the year before. But . . .

36 Millions

Right now, 36 million Americans are infected with TB. Based on what is happening today, it is estimated that some 156,000 of these infected people will break down with active tuberculosis sometime during the next four or five years.

These are by no means all long-standing infections. People are picking up the germs today. There are, for instance, more than 2 million now, Moore will surely get down to the 175-pound limit, eventually. The veteran boxer, reportedly the oldest of the topflight fighters in the ring today, claims to have obtained secrets on weight production from an aborigine in Australia some time ago. However, the secret reportedly consists of nothing more than a diet of orange juice in the morning and a light dinner every day.

young people under 25 among those infected. Nearly 20 percent of all new active cases of TB each year are people under 25. Fortunately, with early detection and modern treatment, the death rate in this age group is comparatively low. But young people do still die of TB every year.

A Problem

Tuberculosis is very much of a problem today, especially since it is an infectious disease. Any person who is infected with TB can break down with active disease at any time and become a source of new infections far into the future.

No, TB is not wiped out, yet. We hope it will be, in time. Meanwhile it's smart to get a TB check-up every year.

Thomas Sets News High Jump Mark

Bakersfield, Calif.—Long John Thomas, the towering Boston university athlete did it again. In a last bid to reach outer space, the youthful high jumper, cleared the bar at seven feet, two inches Friday night to set a new world record in the National AAU meet.

Thomas cleared 7-2 on his second leap, but before he could leave the pit, the wind knocked off the crossbar.

Pit officials said that each time Thomas went over he cleared the bar without touching it. In fact, the high jump judge wanted to allow Thomas' first successful effort.

But Pincus Sober, the meet referee refused to allow the performance.

Two Congressmen recently praised the dependability of the railroads in all kinds of weather. One of them, in calling attention to the carriers' performance during last winter's blizzards, said "the atrocious weather pointed up the vulnerability of air and highway travel."
