Gunfire Reported in Katanga; Politicians Jockeying for Power

Leopoldville, The Congo—For a while Tuesday it seemed as if it were a question of which Congo leader had fired whom, but the United Nations who revealed that they had the official message, said that Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu had given them a "legal mandate to act," and moved in with the largest gathering of armed forces since the Korean outbreak to take charge of the fraught, tense situation.

Counter Firing

Immediately after Kasavubu's radio broadcast for U.N. support, the ousted fiery premier Patrice Lumumba made a counter broadcast in which he claimed he had fired Kasavubu and appealed to youths and workers to "defend the republic."

Gunfire

Later Tuesday evening gunfire broke out in this city after several hundred Congolese rushed the residence of Lumumba shouting for his death. They were met by 12 police vans and jeeps.

UN Mandate

In an effort to stave off incitement the U.N. had closed down the airport and taken over the radio and banned all broadcasts. The measure was taken as part of the U.N. mandate to maintain peace and order in the nation. All civilian air traffic was halted.

Lumumba called for an emergency session of parliament to seek a vote of confidence in a showdown fight for power with his longtime political foe, Kasavubu.

Longtime Foes

In their quarrel both Lumumba and Kasavubu appealed to the United Nations for support. It was not immediately clear which side the U.N. would take. Kasavubu announced he had asked Senate President Joseph Ileo to form a new government.

Two Men Shot by 'Special Policeman' in Club Fracas Sunday

Tony Anthony, a "special policeman," employed by the Brotherhood Youth center, 1301 Center street, wounded one man critically and another seriously in a shooting incident Sunday morning at the Eleven Twelve Vets club, 1112 Center st.

Anthony, who recently made local history as the first Negro to be appointed a "special police" at the Iowa State Fair this year, told police he shot Harlan Thomas, 29, of 839 16th street, in self defense when Thomas attacked him at the club.

Two Men Shot

Anthony said he fired two shots at Thomas, and one of them accidentally struck Douglas Johnson, 35, of 1237 Dixon street. Thomas was described in critical condition at Broadlawn Polk County hospital with a chest wound. Johnson was treated for a bullet wound in the arm and released from the hospital.

Bartender

John A. Herndon, 1606 Carpenter ave., bartender at the Eleven Twelve Vets club told police that Anthony entered the club wearing a uniform and a badge. Herndon said that as

Hearing Set Sept. 16 For 2 in Theft Attempt

Preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 16 for two men arrested here Sunday on charges of attempted breaking and entering. The men were identified as John L. McNeil, 26, of 948 18th street and W. L. Loggins, 36, of 842 9th street.

They were arrested after a passing motorist, who spotted them behind the Motors, Inc., building, 1620 E. University ave., jotted down the license number of the car of the men as they fled. They were found by police at a drive-in restaurant.

$1,000 Bond

At their arraignment before Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund both men pleaded innocent to the charge. They were released on $1,000 bond each pending trial. McNeil also pleaded innocent to a charge of having a concealed weapon, and was released on $300 bond.

Jacksonville NAACP Asks Justice Dept. to Probe Mob Attack on Sit-in Youngsters

Jacksonville, Fla.—The NAACP has called upon the Justice Department to investigate "fully the brutal attacks by an organized mob" upon youth council members as they sought to demonstrate against segregated lunch counters Aug. 27.

Indifference

Association leaders in their communication to the Justice Department charged that at the scene of the sit-in police stood around watching a mob gather and remained indifferent as axe handles and other weapons were distributed. When the mob attacked Negro demonstrators the police moved in "arresting and clubbing" the latter instead of protecting them. The letter, addressed to Harold Tyler, assistant attorney general, was signed by branch president John H. Good-

CORE Aids Harvard Better

Boston, Mass.—Harvard University's free housing list will now carry a statement to the effect that landlords on the list have agreed to a fair housing policy, according to Jean Mann, Boston CORE housing chairman.

Urges Report

Also, those experiencing discrimination are urged to report it so that discriminatory landlords can be removed from the list. The new Harvard policy was adopted after a CORE telephone survey revealed that 28 of 63 landlords on the Harvard list with rooms available for single male students did discriminate against Negroes. This in spite of the fact that the landlords had signed a pledge to provide housing without regard to race or religion.

Other Colleges

Boston CORE continues to test the men's list and other's made available for women students, according to Mrs. Mann. Efforts are being made to get other colleges in the area, including Boston University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Brandeis, to establish similar open housing procedures. Was Walking with Brother Along Darkened Freeway Area after Visiting Aunt

It was the night before school opening and little Daniel Wease, 6, of 1321 Center Street was due to join his classmates at school the following morning. Monday night he was walking hand in hand with his older brother, Robert, 11, along the darkened freeway area of Keosauqua Way when he was struck down by one of the most feared menaces of pedestrians, a hit-and-run driver.

Fighting for Life

When school bells rang their opening chimes the next morning, little Daniel lay at Broadlawn Polk county hospital fighting for his life. His condition was described as critical. His brother had attempted to pull him from the path of the oncoming car, but the right bumper struck Daniel knocking him to the side of the road. He sustained a deep cut in his scalp and other head injuries.

Freeway Area

The accident occurred about 8:30 p.m. between 13th and 14th Street on Keosauqua, where construction is underway for the freeway overpass. There are no sidewalks along this area. Furthermore, all street lights have been removed. Also just east of the accident point is a street barrier.

Makes U Turn

Witnesses at a service station a block away said the car made a U turn and drove back on eKo toward the downtown loop area after striking Daniel. Police later found a 1951 light green Ford sedan, believed to be driven by the heavy-set young man who ran down the boy. He was said to be accompanied by a girl wearing her blonde hair in a pony tail.

Had Visited Aunt

Robert told police that he and Daniel were walking home after visiting an aunt. He said they had planned to walk to the intersection of Keo and Crocker and cross Keo at the traffic light. The boys live with their mother Mrs. Janice Morris at 1321 Center Street. Their father is Kiel Wease of 1038 10th Street.

SCEF Calls for Nationwide Protest to Florida Governor In Behalf of 2 Negro Leaders

New Orleans, La.—The Southern Conference Educational Fund called for a nationwide protest against the sentencing of two Florida ministers for protecting NAACP membership lists. It also asked Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida to grant immediate pardons to the men.

The Rev. Theodore R. Gibson and the Rev. Edward T. Graham were given 6 months in jail and fined $1,200 in Circuit Court at Tallahassee on Aug. 30. They had been charged with contempt for refusing to let a state legislative committee check the list of NAACP members in Miami, where both reside.

Hearing Held

Start of their jail terms was delayed pending a hearing on a motion to appeal to the Florida Supreme Court. A hearing on the motion to appeal was held Tuesday in the Supreme Court at Tallahassee.

The investigating committee had said it wished to check the lists in a hunt for "subversives." Father Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP, called the committee's charge "potwash." He said the real purpose of the committee was to destroy the NAACP.

Refused To Answer

Graham, former president of the Miami NAACP, refused to answer any questions of the committee. He wouldn't even say if he belonged to NAACP. He and Father Gibson took their stands under the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, which guarantees freedom of religion, press, speech, assembly and petition.

Telegram to Governor

SCEF sent Governor Collins a telegram urging an "immediate and unconditional pardon" for both ministers. It told Collins: "The jailing of men for refusing to become Judases and informers violates the liberal principles you espouse and should be repugnant to you."

Grave Situation

Friends of SCEF throughout the South and the nation were urged to organize immediate protests to the Governor. An SCEF memorandum said: "This is a grave situation which threatens the whole integration movement in the South. These ministers are protecting the right of citizens to belong to organizations working for better conditions.

"Address protests to The Honorable Leroy Collins, Executive Mansion, Tallahassee, Florida. Residents of Florida should also write their local newspapers and their state senators and representatives."

Glaucoma
More than a million people over forty in the United States have a chronic eye disease called glaucoma (GLAW-KO MA). Every day that it continues without detection glaucoma can cause permanent vision loss. But, if proper medical care is started early, the progress of glaucoma can be stopped. Because there is seldom pain, inflammation, or rapid loss of vision, most cases of glaucoma are not discovered until relatively late. All too often its victims will call it eyestrain and ignore it. But early detection is the most important factor in preventing loss of vision from this disease. If you are over forty, says the Des Moines-Polk County Department of Public Health, it's up to you to have a thorough professional eye examination at least once every two years.

Schools
Schools are opening—give children a "Brake". The Des Moines-Polk County Department of Public Health urges that motorists be on the lookout, especially around school grounds for children that may dart into the street, and proceed with caution around intersections where children might be going to and from school.

Handy Incinerator
FOR burning household rubbish, an incinerator built of concrete blocks on a concrete foundation is excellent. The base is 4 by 5 feet, and the concrete should be reinforced with chicken wire, according to Family Handyman.

Use standard size building blocks, setting the first course on a thin layer of mortar and leaving two 8"x8" spaces at the front to provide ample draft for complete incineration.
The cover is turkey wire, 1"x2" mesh, with welded joints so the wires won't separate due to the heat. Eye-bolts may be inserted in the joints between two of the top building blocks, if you want to hinge the mesh cover by looping down two pieces of the wire into the metal eyes.

NEWS AROUND IOWA

To Our Readers
News from out-of-town correspondents should reach the Bystander no later than Wednesday morning. If you can possibly get your news in earlier the staff would greatly appreciate it.

SOFA CUSHIONS
Since sofa cushions get a lot of wear, it's wise to choose those with removable, washable covers. You can find such cushions in wonderful accent colors in quilted acetate, corduroy, or plastic—all of which just take naturally to soap or detergent suds and water.

To Our Readers
Read the news about your own community. Phone your local reporter and tell him what happens. It helps the writer to do a better job of reporting.

PLASTIC SLIPPERS
Some of the new indoor-outdoor slippers made of vinyl plastic are ideal for the busy housewife—who is constantly in and out of the house in her capacity as family chauffeur, gardener, shopper, and nursemaid. Crepe or ridged rubber soles make these cute flaties suitable for double duty. For fashion appeal, they come in straw-like or leather-like textures. And for convenience—like anything made of versatile vinyl—they are washable in soap or detergent suds.

SOAP THAT HAM!
That's right—put that country ham right into your well-scrubbed kitchen sink, or even into a clean laundry tub. Spread soapsuds over the ham, and scrub it with a vegetable brush under slightly warm running water. Be sure to rinse thoroughly, of course! This method of preparing a ham gets a big hand from cooking experts.

the Camera Guild

Here's proof that a camera is an exciting gift for a youngster.
YOUNGSTERS SHOULD HAVE THEIR OWN CAMERAS

Maybe the younger members of the family have been taking an occasional turn at using the family camera, but that's no substitute for brother or sister with his or her own camera.
At what age should a child be given his first camera? It all depends on the child. With most of them, eight is about the right age. To an eight-year-old, a camera is an exciting gift, one that ushers in a whole new world of experience and pleasure. Start him off with one of the inexpensive modern day versions of the old familiar box camera. It's easy on your budget, easy for him to use. He'll find countless subjects that he'll want to snap—pets, playmates, parents, and things you'd never think about. And that brings us to point which we feel is very important. Remember that an eight-year-old's idea of good picture subject material isn't necessarily the same as that of an adult. So, don't be surprised if Junior turns up pleased as punch with pictures that you'd never take.
And while we're giving advice, remember that to the average youngster a camera is just a toy. Try to think of it that way yourself and don't make him afraid of using it. You shouldn't expect much more of him in handling a $5 camera than if it were a toy fire truck at the same price. He'll have a lot more fun and be much more inclined to use the camera if you keep your supervision to a minimum.

There's room to burn in one of our two newest states, but the other is a bit on the crowded side. According to the Census Bureau, the population of Alaska averages out to less than half a person per square mile of land area—0.4 to be exact.

Hawaii, on the other hand, has 96.8 people per square mile. And it is exceeded by California, with a population density of 99.2.

Your baker's coffee rings, cookies and pastries for the Christmas season also ring an inviting note. So, when you want to serve something sweet and festive but haven't the time to "do-it-yourself," take a look at your baker's shelves.
Baked goods you buy, like those you make yourself, contain enriched flour for added nutritional value. Enriched flour provides extra amounts of three essential B vitamins and food iron at no extra cost.

1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
3 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
Melted butter or margarine
Cinnamon sugar
Confectioners' sugar icing

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to rectangular sheet about 12 inches long and 6 inches wide.
Brush with melted butter or margarine, and sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Roll up like jelly-roll and seal edge firmly. Shape into ring on greased baking sheet, pressing ends together to seal. With scissors, cut through roll almost to center, in slices 1 inch apart. Turn each slice slightly on its side. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 1 tea ring.

HIGH SCHOOL DROP-OUT: YOUR CHILD?

"Every day it's the same old routine. Get up, go to school, come home, do my homework and go to bed. I don't want to go back to school this year. It bores me to death. And I'm old enough to get a job, anyway!"

How many of us parents are hearing this teen-age lament with September and the new school year here? And how can we deal with the problem?

Single Cause

There is rarely a single cause for leaving school before graduation. In a recent survey of Iowa youth, investigators found that low scores on tests of intelligence and poor classroom performance are more important in predicting drop-out with boys than girls, whereas absenteeism and non-participation in extra-curricular activities are more likely to forecast drop-out for girls than boys.

Schools

Let's look at our schools and homes for a moment. Large and small schools, on the average, show no differences in student intelligence and in curriculum and grading standards. As for home environment, whether a child lives with both parents, with only one parent, or away from home has little apparent effect on his school persistence. Children whose parents did not complete school, however, are less likely to graduate.

Disturbing

One disturbing fact we parents must face: 18 per cent of our brightest children leave school early. Why do these children who should be among the best students drop out? There may be many reasons—boredom with regular classroom procedure, conflict with school personnel or parents, the lure of a first big job and independence, etc. These boys and girls not only represent a great loss in potential to themselves, but to future families and communities.

Drop-Out

However, compared with the average national drop-out rate, we Iowans can point with pride to our youngsters. Thirty-six per cent of the students who entered the ninth grade in 1950-52 across the country left school before graduation. In Iowa, only 16 per cent were lost. Even more to our credit, the greatest loss of these students did not occur until the tenth-grade level, two years above the grade students are required to complete.

Anthony was leaving a few minutes later, he got into a scuffle with Thomas at the door. Herndon said Thomas then went into a small adjacent room with Johnson and that Anthony followed them into the room. The incident occurred about 6:30 p.m.

Special Police

Following questioning by police, Anthony was released. Police said he has a "special police commission" issued by the city manager, Elder Gunter. Police explained that such permits are issued to persons working as dance hall supervisors, bank guards, and other police jobs for private organizations. Police said Anthony had a gun permit.

Veneral Disease

Veneral diseases are increasing in Des Moines-Polk County. Many persons are not aware of their condition. Remember these facts. V.D. is spread mainly by sexual intercourse. Symptoms include sores, rashes, and discharges. Treatment by a capable physician must begin immediately. These diseases can be treated. If not treated, they can cause crippling, sterility, even death. Early treatment is important. See your family physician or the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department. The Health Department V.D. Clinic is open Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:00 to 11:00 A.M., according to Dr. James F. Speers, Director.

Child's Health

Being a Father or Mother means more than the pleasure of having a family, reminds the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department it means the sober realization that you have the full-time job of fostering the emotional, physical, developmental and social health of your child.

Place Mats

The latest colors in the fashion world can now be seen on your dining room table! Vinyl placemats with the look of homespun linen come in eight high-fashion shades: pumpkin, raspberry, olive, cornflower, plum, wheat, chartreuse, and turquoise. 2,000 YEAR OLD SKYSCRAPER

Long before Manhattan Island was purchased from the Indians—at a time when the word "skyscraper" had not yet been coined—a magnificent twenty-story palace dominated the skyline of Yemen's capital city of Sana'a.

This regal structure, known as the Palace of Ghamdan, was as great a tourist attraction two thousand years ago as New York's Empire State Building is today. Many historians have described the wonders of the famed palace, which had a ceiling of transparent alabaster so clear that its inhabitants reportedly could distinguish the species of different birds as they alighted on the roof or flew overhead.

Because of Ghamdan and other palaces which once towered twenty to thirty stories in the air, the Yemenites can fairly claim that they were the first people to erect skyscrapers. Only traces of the palace of Ghamdan remain in present-day Sana'a, but the capital contains many seven- and eight-story buildings with the same type of original architecture. Even today the upper windows of some Yemenite palaces are made of translucent alabaster instead of glass, and the lower stained-glass windows beam forth at night in multi-colored splendor.

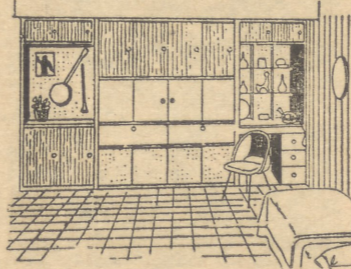

Although Sana'a is situated on a flat plateau, some of its buildings are so tall that from a distance it seems as though the city is built on elevated land. The average Yemenite, accustomed to climbing his country's rugged mountains, is undaunted by long flights of stairs and instinctively seems to prefer tall buildings. Foreign visitors have noted with amazement that the Yemenite of the plains, when unable to live on high ground, erects a tall house—and chooses the top floor to live on!

Game Room-Guest Room

AN UNUSUAL wall installation provides game room facilities along with a guest closet and a combination desk and vanity. Modern and attractive, the various units may be used separately or in combination.

As shown in the left of the illustration, the game room-guest closet gives little clue as to its real purpose. A functional door, about 8 inches thick, has storage behind sliding panels of Masonite Ridgeline, and the closet interior is outfitted with "Peg-Board" panels and fixtures.

Behind the central closed swinging doors, made of a new hardboard known as Panelply, are space for a TV set and books.

At the right is the combination desk and vanity, including nickel-plated shelves. Each of the three units can be built in the average home workshop. The principal materials are lumber and Masonite hardboards, the versatile do-it-yourself materials that come in a variety of finishes and sizes. They are available at lumber yards.

A free plan detailing the construction in diagrams, sketches, cutting diagrams and bill of materials may be obtained by sending a postal card to the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2087, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting plan No. AE-327.

Snapshots tucked into letters let grandparents watch their grandchildren grow even though they live far apart.

Snapshots "Illustrate" Your Letters

Recently we've heard a family that makes good use of their pictures as a means of keeping in touch with relatives who live in other parts of the country.

This snapshotting family has three boys and it is mother who is the photographer. She's made taking pictures of her family and home an absorbing and highly rewarding hobby. And two very special things have resulted from it. First of all, she has a perfectly wonderful set of family snapshot albums containing complete picture stories of each member of the family individually, and one of them as a closely knit group. Secondly, she's made extra prints of all of these pictures to tuck into weekly letters that go to grandparents. One set of grandparents are in the midwest, the other in the south, while the young family lives near the Canadian border.

Although widely separated geographically from their three grandsons, these grandparents are watching them grow, almost day by day. They see the art work done in school, the Cub Scout activities, the help they give dad in the yard, the work they do for mother in the house. It's all shown to them in the snapshots that arrive with almost every letter.

We've told you about this family because we think that you'd like to do the same thing yourself. For some of us, this is one of the things that we are always going to do sometime in the future. But we hope that this story will inspire you to start right away to bring your scattered family and friends close together with your pictures. —John Van Guilder

Lenten Lunch

It needn't be Friday to enjoy this delicious "quickie" lunch. Fish sticks in frankfurter rolls is the latest suggestion from the Minute Maid-Snow Crop Frozen Foods Test Kitchen—and a wonderful idea it is too!

Quick, easy and economical, this is a menu specially apt for Lent, but appetizing enough to serve year 'round. Allow 2 Snow Crop Fish Sticks per serving (the 3 ounce package will serve 4 people). Heat, following label directions, then sandwich in the frankfurter rolls. You can warm your rolls in the oven along with the Fish Sticks, or toast them if you prefer. Tartar Sauce and lemon slices belong, of course, but there's no law says you have to have them.

For crisp contrast try celery and carrot curls, radishes served plain or fancy, your favorite beverage and maybe some fruit for dessert. You've got an attractive lunch that takes only minutes to set up.

QUICKIE SANDWICH

1 8-oz. package Snow Crop Fish Sticks
4 frankfurter rolls, hot or toasted
Heat fish sticks, following label directions. When hot, place 2 fish sticks in each roll. Serve immediately. Serves 4.

Storage Boxes

Trim plastic storage boxes for shoes and "folding" clothes play a big part in making closets neat and attractive—on one condition. They must be kept sparkling clean! Fortunately, this is easy. Just wash them regularly with a cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds. Then wipe-rinse and dry. At housecleaning time, these boxes can be washed in deep suds just like dishes.

Old-Time Allergy "Cures" Were Unique But Victims Kept Right on Sneezing

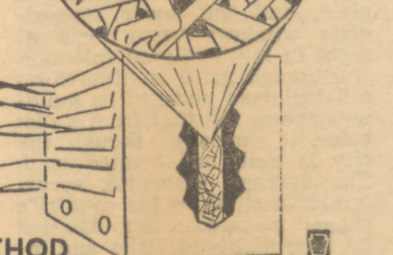

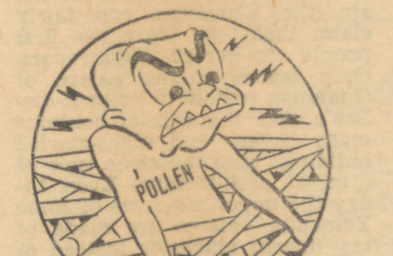

A wet sheet hanging over an open window didn't mean wash day back in those dim, dark days before air conditioning and filtered air.

It was a pretty good indication hay fever or a similar air-borne pollen allergy and was attempting to keep out invisible trouble-makers and get in some fresh air.

Unfortunately, the wet sheet treatment didn't work. But today a modern Fiberglass filter, manufactured in various sizes and thicknesses for air conditioning units easily keeps out most of the pollen and lets the fresh air flow through.

Tests indicate the Fiberglass filters have a mesh fine enough to strain out the microscopic-sized pollen grains while allowing a free flow of air through them.

Before the age of the filter, however, desperate and uncomfortable allergy victims tried a variety of remedies to relieve their seasonal suffering. In addition to wet sheets over doors and windows, they burned candles containing certain drugs believed helpful and smoked, instead of tobacco, "cubes" cigarettes made of the dried, unripe berry of a tropical shrub. Even prolonged immersion in a head first—didn't do the trick. Unless drowning can be considered an allergy cure, of course.

The increasing use of air conditioning (nearly one-sixth of U.S. homes now have a central air conditioning system or at least one window unit) means more relief for an estimated 8,000,000 hay fever victims.

All of these units include some type of filtering agency which removes from the air in varying degrees, pollens resulting from trees, grasses or weeds, chief causes of hay fever.

As an example, Owens-Corning Fiberglass has completed a series of tests which indicate 91 per cent of pollen is removed from circulated air by its two-inch thick fibrous glass filter.

Scottie for House Number

A TIME TRIED method of displaying a house number in an attractive manner is illustrated. Either the Scottie-dog cutout or some other animal will serve the purpose. Set in a parkway, on the lawn or at the curb, the jaunty puppy, with its sparkling eyes, will prove to be an attractive addition.

Scottie is 15 inches long and his height is 11 1/2 inches. Cut him from two pieces of Masonite 3/16"

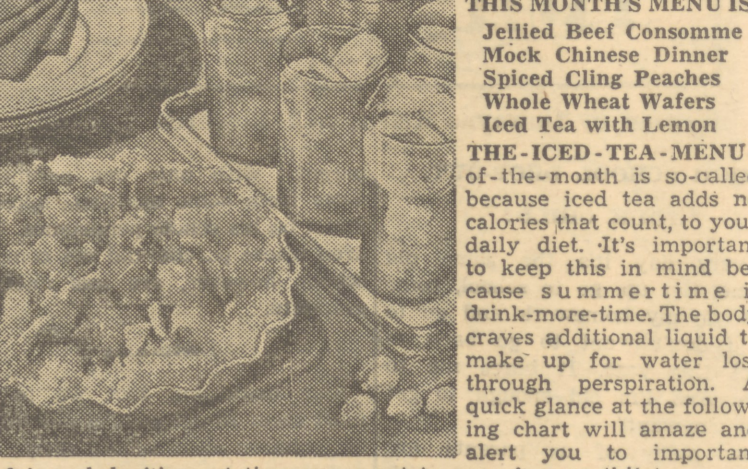

Tempered Presdwood, holding the panels, screen sides together, with C-clamps and following a pattern with a coping, keyhole or band saw. Slightly round the edges with a file or sandblock.

Reflector-type bolts used for car licenses serve as eyes and reflect the light from passing cars. The numbers are sawed from the Tempered Presdwood and glued to each side of the cutout.

Two wooden stakes, shaped from 1 by 2-inch lumber, are laid between the two cutouts and fastened with screws applied through holes drilled in the hardwood. Paint Scottie in appropriate colors, first using a primer. Push the stakes into the ground, and your new house number will be in service. All the materials needed are available at lumber yards.

Neighborhoods in Des Moines were strangely quiet and perhaps some residents forgetting that it was the first day of school, thought for a moment that it was another Sunday or holiday . . . just for a moment, that is. However, if you were along the route to neighborhood schools, the steady stream of cheery, well-dressed youngsters on their way to the first day of school may have reminded you that you had never seen so many youngsters since last June unless you were an infrequent visitor at local parks or swimming areas.

The opening of school Tuesday reminded us of a mother who had brought her youngsters to the first day of school last September. She peeked in at the doorway of one of the teachers with a broad smile on her face and called, "Hello, there. Your vacation has ended; mine has just begun." Do you dare to agree?

A heartwarming story came from Mrs. Korrine Jackson of 1130 Enoch street also on the opening day of school. Her little nephew had come down with rheumatic fever this summer and though he was scheduled to enter school for the first time this month, it was feared that he would be unable to do so because he had to be confined for rest and medical care in a hospital. However, she reported due to modern science and the youngster's will to get well and attend the first day of school, he made the miraculous effort and was among the thousands of Des Moines school pupils Tuesday morning.

School's opening not only marked the end of vacation for youngsters and their teachers, it also marked the end of a month-long and much deserved rest and vacation for staff members of settlement houses and community centers. Miss Charlene Wharton, executive director of Willkie House, returned from a vacation in Colorado and from her last postal card, in British Columbia, Canada. Also, returning to their respective jobs at the center were

Mr. Kenneth Whitney, athletic director, and others. They were all set to begin the fall program for pre-school youngsters, and other youngsters during after school hours.

Many mothers will not have a complete vacation especially those who are on PTA staffs and various committees around the nation's schools. Officers at Nash high school include Mrs. Woodrow Lewis, president; Mrs. Cecil Brewster as treasurer and Mrs. Rufus Spates as corresponding secretary.

When Mrs. Alvin Simon of 1227 10th street returned from the hospital with her new baby boy she told neighbors she had not decided on a permanent name for her second son, and was temporarily calling him "Scott." She reported later that her two daughters and son were urging her to name him Phillip and so she finally complied.

Perhaps, this tip is a little late coming but due to our sizzling heat, maybe it will still be of some good to you. When drawing water for a bath, to avoid steaming up the bathroom, run the cold water first and then the hot water.

Another household hint from a local grocer is for tender and most succulent corn on the cob, add some milk to the boiling water.

If you are a collector of odd names especially for towns and cities in the United States here are a few you might add to your list if you do not have them already. Too, a school student who is very fond of geography, might like to use them for classroom purposes.

How about Smackover, Ark.; Munday, Tenn.; Dumbell, Wyo.; Lookout, Wyo.; Halfway, Wyo.; Hell, Mich.; Nottaway, Va.; Husband, Pa.; Blessing, Tex.; Nogo, Mo.; Show Low, Ariz.; Tennis, Kans.; Alfalfa, Kans.;

Or if it's animals you like take, Bear, Idaho; Zebra, Mo.; Buckhorn, Wyo.; Swan, Ia.; Deer, Mo.; Otter, Wash., and Horse Heaven, Vt.

INCONSISTENCY BREEDS BAD BEDFELLOWS

When it finally began to dawn on the South that there appeared no permanent block of integration in the public school, several groups and in some instances states raised and/or appropriated funds to sell the North the "true story" about the Negro and why they opposed "race mixing."

This material came in the form of letters and pamphlets mailed to individuals, some was paid advertising in newspapers, some by radio emanating in the South or transcribed and played over cheap stations which accepted the business even though its contents were a disgrace. They contained lies, distortion of facts, phrases taken out of context of articles and twisted so as to carry a different meaning from that intended by the author. The whole program is disgraceful.

Interesting enough, a few newspapers like the Des Moines Register and Mason City Globe Gazette attacked this rotten campaign as un-American, unfair and designed to do great harm. But generally speaking few had the courage to speak out against these unfair tactics.

Today, campaign of muckraking is going on against Senator Kennedy because he is a Roman Catholic. Already it has reached alarming proportions. To date, none has come to the Bystander office but judging from reports and the aroused ire of some people, it must be pretty bad.

In fact one prominent Des Moines citizen became so aroused that he sent a copy of some literature he received to Senator Kefauver seeking an investigation or what not. This should be done.

The Bystander has no brief for those who are carry on this type of campaign against Senator Kennedy because undoubtedly they are the same people, in most instances, who carried on the scurrilous campaign against Negroes. However, most of these same people, who seem so excited because Senator Kennedy is being attacked because of his religion, never raised their voices against the same unfair campaign leveled at the Negro.

The later Booker Washington warned the South, that if they continued to lynch Negroes, eventually they would begin lynching white men. And of course, his predictions came true.

When the dirty campaign against the Negro came out of the South, was the time for these protestors to begin opposing un-American propaganda and bigotry. To have done otherwise helped open the door to the same thing against Senator Kennedy.

The Bystander believes that every American has the right to embrace the religion of his choice. It has no brief for any attack on that choice. We do a better job when we attack bigotry against all groups. To do otherwise, offers these bigots encouragement to vent their venom upon others.

TRAITORS THERE ALWAYS WILL BE

Many people are shocked at the defection of two American citizens, William H. Martin and Vernon F. Mitchell, to Russia. These men had held important jobs in the National Security Administration where they had access to many top secrets.

America has had communists to desert the iron curtain and defect to this country. Much adeau was made over them because it appeared that they disliked what was going on in Russia. Each side does it.

Nobody likes traitors because they cannot be trusted. These people think nothing of double crossing even their best friend—their mother—to make their point.

These two men have an excellent education and their post of responsibility was extremely high. And while some may criticize the agency for what they call laxity in its hiring policy, it is difficult to keep ALL such people out.

It is difficult to understand why men with position, training, good salary and reasonable access to all the fine things America has to offer its citizens would turn out to be traitors to the country which gave them so much.

But men were traitors to Jesus Christ and human nature has not changed so much as to eliminate the repetition of such conduct which these men have followed.

TEENAGE LUNCH

What does your teenager eat for lunch? Does he settle for a hot dog and a coke? Or is he getting a well-balanced, nutritious meal, enough to meet the demands of rapid growth—asks the Des Moines-Polk County Health Department.

We, along with the other followers of sports, were surprised at the setbacks suffered by the American track team in the Olympics at Rome, Italy. Of course, when something like that happens, every expert has his own reasons.

We can recall a few years back when Negroes were dominating the American wrestling and jumping pictures. There were several explanations offered. One was the structure of the Negro's feet; one was their natural rhythm and grace that they inherited from their jungle ancestors. If such were the case how come we didn't have a whole crop of Negro javelin throwers.

No Longer Talk

Well, the white boys began to catch up with the Negro boys in the sprints and there wasn't any more talk about the difference that made great Negro track men. We used to point out that other track events required national rhythm, grace and certainly the boys who participated in these had as much rhythm as anybody else no matter who the other person happened to be.

Downfall

That in our humble estimation is the story of our Olympic downfall. Every human being is constructed along the same lines and runs and jumps in exactly the same manner. So it is only natural that some guy from Germany or Russia or Italy is going to outdo our boys in some of these events.

World Records

The tipoff is that these winners are setting Olympic and World records. In the broad jump a 25-foot jump considered a great leap not long ago, was good only for fourth place and a good jump of 24 feet couldn't even qualify. Thomas' high jump at seven feet was a great jump and here comes a leap of six feet 11 or 10 that gets sixth place.

The Story

That is the story of our failures if failures they are. Rather they are marks behind the greatest in the world. Our job is to go home and try to see if we can't hold our own in 1964 instead of fussing about this one.

Two from Des Moines Play in Burlington

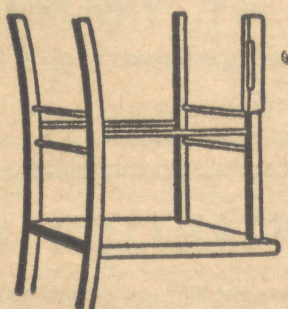

Armiller Bell and Esther Myers of the Hilltop Tennis club played in the Burlington Labor Day Tennis tournament. Miss Bell lost to Alice Luthy of Peoria, Ill., top-seeded player in junior girls. Mrs. Myers, ranked fourth, defeated Irma Whitlake of Moline, Ill., and Peggy Gaston of Chattanooga, Tenn., but lost in semi-finals to topranked, Jean Gelner of St. Louis, Mo.

In doubles, Mrs. Myers and Janet Holmes ranked second, lost in semi-finals to Luthy and her partner.

How to Even Up Chair Legs

WHEN a chair is out of level, one method of evening the legs is to trim the legs which are too long. A simple method of performing this tricky operation is described in Family Handyman.

Form a tube of paper, fastening it together with paste. Now slip it over one leg, cutting off the tube at the exact tip of the leg as the other end rests on the rung. To assure getting each leg the identical length, slip the tube over each other one in turn, marking them to the same length. Now adjust the length of the tube to the shortest leg and mark all others for cutting.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Open Season

Home is the hunter (home from the hill, having bagged his limit of deer, pheasant, small game and other hunters. He may also bring back a little extra something—not in his game bag, but in his lungs or his bloodstream.

Wild animals are afflicted with a number of diseases. People who handle these sick animals or are bitten by them may become infected.

Precautions

General Precaution—If you come across a dead rabbit, woodchuck, squirrel, or bird, don't touch it. While it may possibly have been shot by a hunter who was later unable to find it, it's safest to assume that it died of a disease you may catch if you handle it. If a skunk, fox, coyote, or any other animal which normally shies away from people, strolls fearlessly up to you, apparently tame, get out of there fast. The animal probably has rabies and it will bite you if it can get close enough.

A sick or dead bird may have ornithosis, which produces a serious pneumonia-like illness in man.

Small Game

Sick or dead small game, such as rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks, may have tularemia. In man, this is a serious and sometimes fatal disease. The symptoms are fever, swollen and painful glands, lung trouble and intestinal disorders.

The bite of a rabid animal shoots rabies virus into the bloodstream. Rabies attacks the brain and is almost 100 per cent fatal unless treated. As immediate first aid, wash the bite with plenty of soap and water and encourage bleeding while rushing to the nearest doctor or hospital. Medical treatment consists of a series of vaccine shots, with anti-rabies serum added if the bite was on the neck or head.

Happy hunting! But don't bring back more than you bargained for. This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by: Your Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Olympic Games Thrill Tens of Thousands With Feats of Power, Skill, Speed & Endurance

BY STAFF WRITER

Rome, Italy — The Seventeenth Olympic games, the world's greatest sports spectacle, ends this week in Rome where tens of thousands of sport enthusiasts thrilled to the performances of the top athletes of nations . . . captivated by their power and feats of endurance, skill and speed. They watched new world records set.

Marathon

This international marathon of sport gladiators in action also had in the faces of the disappointed loser and the elated victors. There were joy and elation, heartaches and tears. Never as in this grand arena do athletes try so hard to win nor is the reward so sweet, as for this pot pourri of athlete seeking the honey-sweet glory that comes from victory.

John Thomas

However, on a more somber note, the seventeenth olympic games served to show that nothing in this world is absolute . . . least of all victory in the world of sports. Take

BE GLAD TO BE YOURSELF

Be glad to be yourself, if of yourself you give
And to achieve, you shall receive, the best if good, you live.
With all you have, be free, to think, to work
To say: and of a certainty, you'll live in full, each day.
To all the world belong, lay nothing on a shelf
In prayer, work, or song: be glad to be yourself.

Thoughts for Today

Does anybody remember the name of Paul Revere's horse?—Aaron B. Carpenter.

Times Changes: Dear Mother used to sit and sew, while listening to the radio. Our sox were darned, our buttons right, neatly she mended every night. Two buttons off Dad's shirt I see. Who can sew and watch TV?

Friendship is a chain of gold
Shaped in God's all perfect mold;
Each link a smile, a laugh, a tear,
A grip of hand, a word of cheer.

Laugh Lines

Teacher: "What was one of the greatest obstacles in the building of the Panama Canal?"
Student: "Dirt."

I WANT TO BE A NEIGHBOR

I want to be a neighbor
In a plain and friendly way:
To lend a hand where needed
And do my best, each day.
I like to see, fraternity
real signs of brotherhood:
No prejudice nor bigotry
in every neighborhood.

Hint Postponement of Patterson-Johansson Bout Until Spring

Rome, Italy—Organizational and promotional as well as tax difficulties may force a postponement until next spring of the third Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavy-weight title fight, a source close to Feature Sports, Inc., the promoters of the bout, stated here recently.

Abandoned

The fights was suggested for Nov. 1 in the Los Angeles Coliseum and the two fighters were to meet here just prior to the opening of Olympic Games, Thursday, Aug. 25, to sign for the bout. However, the source said this plan was abandoned when the difficulties developed.

Hit Snags

The fight thus is following closely the pattern of the second bout, when negotiations hit repeated snags and investigations of the principals in the first bout, forced one postponement after another. In the first bout in June, 1959, Johansson scored an upset three round knockout over Patterson to win the title. However, in the encore last June 20, Patterson flattened Ingemar in five rounds to become the first fighter in boxing history ever to regain the heavy-weight title.

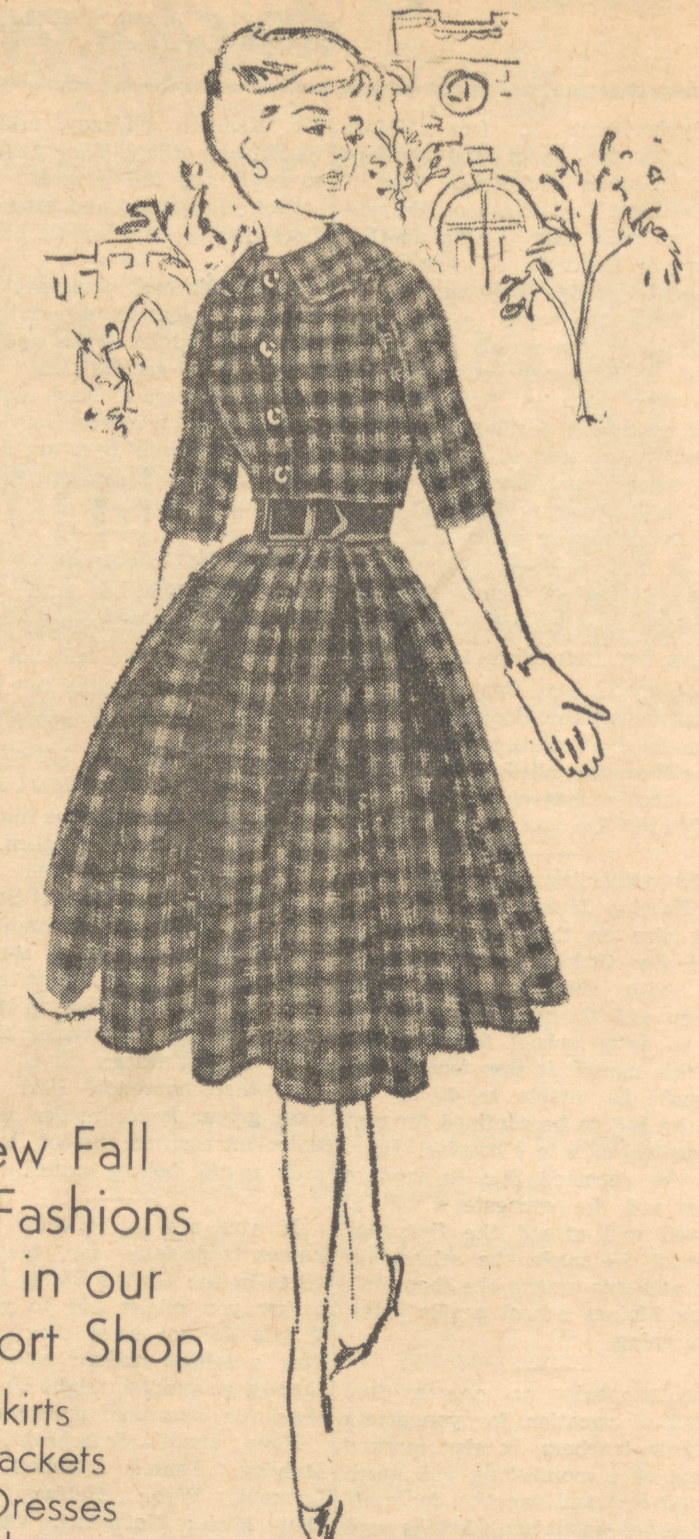

Coliseum

The exact nature of the organizational difficulties was not stated, but an increase in the rental of the Coliseum was said to be giving the promoters a headache. Originally offered for $25,000, the price of the arena reached $75,000 at last report. Meanwhile, the fighters themselves may have to pay prohibitive taxes if the bout is held this year.

Perspiration

Did you know that the skin normally gives off at least one or two pints of perspiration over the total body surface every day? This is just one important reason why lingerie should be washed daily in plenty of soap or detergent suds.
