Discuss Domestic Issues; Candidates Agree on Goals, Disagree on the Means

Chicago, Ill.—The presidential candidates came into millions of American living rooms simultaneously Monday evening via electronic television in a historic face-to-face encounter in the form of a verbal debate. For one full hour the Republican candidate, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and Democratic candidate, Senator John Kennedy of Mass., sparred and jabbed at each other on their views and stands on domestic issues.

Domestic Issues

Most of their remarks and declarations were reiterations of statements they had made in the past weeks during their campaign trips and appearances. Both spoke on the national debt and balancing the budget, the medical care to the aged, the farm problem, the federal aid to education, and of course, our national military security. Not once was there any mention of Senator Kennedy's religious affiliations.

Disagree on Means

During the debate, Nixon pointed up his experience in the executive branch of the federal government as compared with Senator Kennedy's experience in the legislative branch and declared that he and Kennedy

Political Debate

"had the same goals in mind but disagree on the means."

Experiences

Kennedy declared that he had been in Washington just as long as Nixon, and countered that he did not believe it "was a matter of past experience but of better judgement for making decisions in the future," reiterating that "the United States needs to move ahead in the '60s if it is to keep ahead of the rest of the world, especially Russia."

Newsman

Both answered questions from a panel of television network newsmen; each had the chance of rebuttal after his opponent presented his views on a question. Following the TV debate both candidates agreed that it had been good for the American citizens to have the chance at hearing the candidates, but each declined to say which had won.

Comments

"A debater never knows who wins," Vice President Nixon said, "That will be decided by the people on Nov. 8. I thought he (Senator Kennedy) presented his case very well."

"I hope the exchange of views stimulate interest in this campaign," Nixon added.

Kennedy said: "I think it (the debate) was very useful. I hope it clarified some of the issues on which we and our two parties differ."

3 More Slated

Immediately afterwards both candidates got back on the campaign circuit, stumping around the country via jet airliners to again present their views before people in every state in the nation.

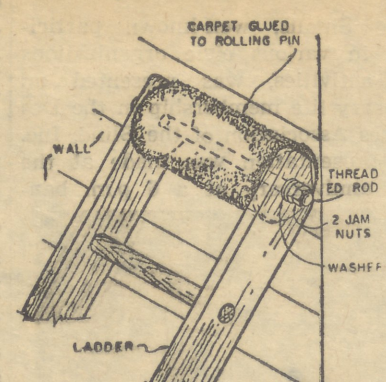

There will be three more 'face-to-face' debates between Nixon and Kennedy on Oct. 7, 14, and 21.

For Protecting Walls

ANOTHER use for an old rolling pin is illustrated by courtesy of the professional builders' magazine, American Builder.

The rolling pin has been installed at the top of a ladder to be used in painting a house. It has been covered with a piece of carpeting glued in place.

Other operations required to make this improvement, which simplifies the moving of the ladder and prevents scratching the wall, include the drilling of a hole through the center of the pin, lengthwise, and the insertion of a long threaded rod or bolt. Washers and jam nuts are then attached to hold the rolling pin firmly in place.

The Textured Rug New Look for Home

FREE DIRECTIONS are available for crocheting the Textured Rug. You'll find it an attractive addition to your home.

News on the home front is the trend toward texture. A striking example of this "new look" is the Textured Rug, designed by Kentucky Yarns. The soft high pile and interesting pattern add beauty to polished wood or linoleum floors.

Its uses are varied. Teen-agers will find it a perfect "camping spot", small children will love a bright-colored version by their bed. Use it, too, as a color accent in a living room, hallway, or den.

Easy to crochet, the rug can be made in any size you wish. It works up quickly in rounds done in a fast loop stitch, set off by squares in contrasting colors. Shown here in fluffy loops of white Soft Spun, with squares in black and red, the rug is equally handsome crocheted in a single color—Kentucky's rosy new coral, for instance. Or, choose among the wide range of colors available in Soft Spun yarn for the combination that fits your decorating scheme.

Economy-minded homemakers will applaud the news that, in these days of rising prices, Soft Spun is still sold for 29c a skein at leading variety stores. Washable, color-fast and shrink resistant, the yarn is guaranteed to give lots of wear.

To obtain a free, illustrated instruction leaflet for crocheting the rug, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the women's editor of this newspaper. The leaflet will be mailed to you promptly.

ARRESTED AFTER RIDE

Memphis—Six adult Negro leaders were arrested Monday for sitting in "white" seats on city buses, while younger Negroes staged lunch counter sit-ins at drug stores and bus terminals. Among those arrested were two Protestant ministers and Jesse Turner, a Negro bank executive.

Lamb Curry Is Glamorized With Pineapple Tidbits in Rice Ring

Salted almonds and coconut are delicious accompaniments.

Impart an Oriental touch to left-over lamb with a dash of curry powder. Remove meat from the bones, cut it into fairly large-sized pieces and combine with curry sauce, surrounded with a ring of rice, glamorized with pineapple tidbits.

The more condiments the merrier at a curry dinner. Chutney is considered indispensable in curry-eating circles. Other suggested condiments are shredded coconut, salted pecans, or salted peanuts, and diced bananas.

PINEAPPLE LAMB CURRY

2 lbs. lean lamb shoulder
2 tbsps. shortening
1 tsp. salt
1 bay leaf
4 whole black peppers
2 small onions, sliced
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1/4 cup flour
1 tsp. curry powder
2 tbsps. cold water
1 can (No. 2) pineapple tidbits
3 cups hot cooked rice

Cut meat into small cubes and brown in hot shortening. Add enough boiling water to cover meat; add seasonings, onion and parsley. Cover and cook slowly for 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Strain stock; reserve 2 cups. Mix flour and curry powder with cold water and stir into lamb stock. Cook until thickened and add meat. Heat pineapple tidbits in syrup until boiling and drain. Lightly mix rice with melted butter and pack into a well-greased ring mold about 7 inches in diameter; allow to stand a few minutes. Unmold rice onto a large platter and pour curried meat into center. Arrange pineapple tidbits in a ring, separating meat and rice. Serves 6.

A Peach of A Jam

TALL TINKLING, ICED DRINKS, cool, crisp salads, cold cuts, spiced up with rolls and homemade sweet spread are a gourmet's delight.

Delicately flavored peaches are easily spoiled by over cooking. So when this pink-cheeked fruit is at its prime, we have a special reason to appreciate short-boil recipes for jams and jellies.

With the short-boil method use only fully ripe fruit. By adding natural fruit pectin only one minute's boil is required and the real flavor is sealed right in. The color is bright and natural, the texture and consistency excellent, and the taste—delicious.

PEACH JAM
4 cups prepared sugar 5 cups sugar
1 box Sure-Jell

First, prepare the fruit. Peel and pit about 3 pounds fully ripe peaches. Grind or chop very fine. Measure 4 cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ½ inch hot paraffin. Yield: 9 medium glasses. (ANS)

Summer and all its mecca of traveling vacationers is almost over, signalling the acceleration of the fall social season which will get into high gear in a few weeks. The round of parties, social gatherings, club activities and general entertainment will climax in the forthcoming holidays which are only a matter of weeks (Thanksgiving—seven weeks and Christmas 11 weeks) off.

On the local scene one of the most outstanding events will be the second presentation of EBONY Fashion Fair by the Olympian club. Most of those who saw the spectacular two-hour fashion revue last year, plan to repeat their attendance this year. Others who missed it last year, but heard the raves of those who did see it, are planning on making the date which is Nov. 15 at the Hoyt Sherman place. It is well to make that decision, for from all news releases, the show is bigger and better than ever if that can be possible. The models are all different and are well known, having won or competed in beauty competitions in the United States or even in Europe.

By the way if you wish to get a pictorial review of this year's show, see the October issue of Ebony magazine which is now on newsstands. You will also note that among the pictures of local chairmen for the cities in which the show will appear, there is one of Mr. Orsel Morrow, who is chairman for Des Moines.

Autumn with all its splendor brings with it a flurry of activities in recreation and community interests also. For instance, with at Willkie House there are any number of programs and activities offered to the immediate neighborhood, for children, pre-school and after school, teenagers, adults, senior citizens, and club groups. There is a sewing class offered each Wednesday afternoon under the instructorship of Mrs. Louise Wellington, both for the beginner or the advanced seamstress. Beginner's roller skating classes are held each Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m. and teenage skating night is held every first and third Friday of each month and club groups have the opportunity to participate or plan an evening's outing at the Center.

There are Girl Scout and Brownie scouts groups, and of course the Senior Citizens programs. In addition all types of athletics are offered under the leadership and guidance of Kenneth Whitney.

So if you are looking for something to do, you have a perfect opportunity at Willkie House.

For the ladies if they can't find it at the Willkie House, it probably is offered at the Y.W.C.A. Bowling, especially which is taking the nation by storm, for women as well as men, as the foremost participant pastime, is also offered in classes for those wishing to learn at the Y. And of course, for the men and boys, there is the beautiful new YMCA on the Des Moines river front.

What with the advent of physical sports and other activities, and the preparation for them, there also seem to be the usual rash of accidents, some serious, others not so. Mrs. Georgia Goggins had a pretty hard fall at her home over the weekend, but fortunately, was not serious. It was feared at first that she had broken her hip, but after examination at the hospital, was learned she had only been bruised. She slipped as she entered the kitchen door at her home.

Another accident occurred when Michael Wilcots, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilcots of 1104 17th street, fell and broke his leg at school. His sister, Angie Wilcots, formerly worked at Willkie House, and is now in Chicago, Ill., enrolled in Art school. Like so many other young girls and boys, entering their freshman year of higher education, she is suffering the pangs of homesickness. In an effort to dissipate some of it she has written to many old friends around the city.

Speaking of accident, seems as if Fate could not pass up the temptation to maim, temporarily, another; Miss Charlene Wharton of Willkie House. Her leg, from foot to knee, is in a cast as the result of a broken foot sustained when she was making preparation for the Golden Agers program of activities at the Center. She has four more weeks to wear the cast but it is not hindering her from carrying out the duties of her job.

She had a special compliment for the children and youth who use the Center. "They have really been very nice; I never knew they could be so nice and thoughtful," she said.

Remember the United Campaign annual drive is underway. In connection with the drive, Willkie House has a display in the windows of Bond Clothing store, 5th and Walnut street. The pictures depict various activities at the Center. So if you are downtown and passing nearby, be sure and stop, and take a long look.

We never realize the full value of television, or what it can be, until we can sit before our sets and listen and view such historical firsts as last Monday's debate between the presidential candidates, Vice President Nixon and Senator John Kennedy; or watch the proceedings of the United Nations and listens to the speeches of world leaders and watch the antics and personal mannerisms of each. Then television is valuable and powerful indeed. It puts the viewer in a front row seat where history is being made.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS

Don't be such a superior mother that you can't take advice from baby. Study her diet; its sensible, nourishing, non-fattening. Take a nap when she does; it may be the only quiet time of day to catch up on your rest. Then climb right into the suds with your bambino when its bathtime. For once, you won't need to worry about getting splashed—and you can always use the extra relaxation you'll get from a soap-and-water cocktail served in a tub-sized container.

IOWA POWER
FRANCHISE APPROVED

Voters in the election on Monday, the 26th, approved the 25 year franchise for the Iowa Power and Light Company to continue to operate in Des Moines. And while the vote was exceedingly light—15,586 for and 1,481 against on the gas; 15,577 for and 1,466 against the electric franchise—the total stood about 11 to 1 in favor of the company.

This vote was a fine tribute to the company of which the officials may well be proud and indicates that the public generally is pleased with the services it receives.

Company employees numbering over a thousand did an excellent job of carrying to the voters the why of the franchise vote and with the aid of volunteer groups succeeded in getting out a complementary vote in view of the fact that this election presented no clash of issues which would stir the people to the polls in larger numbers.

Some special efforts were made in the precincts where the majority of the Negro population resides. The ratio of pro and con votes showed that Negroes did not approve the franchise in the same proportion as the over all vote. In fact it averaged about 7 to 1.

The company was disappointed here and would like the reason why. And while the Bystander has a pretty fixed opinion, it would like to hear from others.

MUST COME TO GRIPS HERE

Last year, the Des Moines school authorities were plagued by several disturbances caused by fights following football games. The situation became so bad that they considered holding games during the afternoon.

The fights involved students of some of the high schools; some participants were outsiders who chose this occasion to get even with somebody.

Conduct of this character is bad for the student, bad for the school and bad for the sport giving opponents further opportunity to criticize athletics in school.

The participants in these instances should be sought out and disciplined with a strong hand. In fact, most of these things can be stopped by stern action rather than coddling, which, in some instances, has been too pronounced already.

This year, another fight occurred following the Cerebral Palsy game which involved white boys on one side and Negro boys on the other. From reports, one or two white boys were pretty well ruffed up by a large number of Negroes. As a result of this fight, and the Bystander does not condone it, came a meeting of the chief of police, superintendent of school, representative of the Human Rights Commission and others who were greatly disturbed over the incident.

It is rather unfortunate that no such meetings were called before, in 1959, for had this been done and the boys brought to task as in this instance, in 1960, the last fight might not have occurred. When one group gets by with a prank, however damaging, it is simply a license for another group to try the same stunt.

The Bystander certainly deplores anything which adds to unpleasant race relations here or anywhere else. No community can afford them. Des Moines has not been disgraced with racial clashes. Lets not begin now. And one way to help prevent them is for rightthinking youngsters to assist authorities in pointing out the trouble makers that they may be punished as was the case in the recent altercation.

Teachers and school counselors can do a lot to so direct the students' minds that they respect the rights of others and refrain from blocking the chances of anyone to live, grow and succeed in the endeavor he wishes to follow. This, generally, is not done with any degree of regularity or as a part of the overall education program in the schools.

Negro students are not encouraged to participate in many of the things the white students get, confining their efforts to a very few things other than sports. Very little is done to enable them to continue their work from the school, to the apprenticeship stages thus enabling them to become journeymen and instead of working as first class tradesmen, they either fall into the class of jack-of-all trades or in some line of work far from what was their aim in school.

More and more, these are days of specialties. Every youngster must be given a chance and the encouragement to become one. And when students find that the other fellow gets what he wants when he is denied, a feeling of resentment may come out in any direction. So in meeting these problems, we must find the basic trouble and work to correct it. It's too late after the fights all over.

The boys who said Iowa State had speed to burn were exactly right. A backfield of Gene Mosely, Larry Ferguson, Joe Williams and Wilbur Hollis would leave little to be desired. Big, fast and rough, they would make anybody hustle to stop them. Oregon State had a couple of fast guys, too. A fellow asked us if the Iowa coaches put on a special drive to recruit Negroes. They have so many of them in all sports, he said. We said we didn't know, but actually we just don't believe that all those Negroes found the Iowa campus by accident. If they get by Northwestern the Hawks could be tough.

Ron Watkins

Iowa State was so busy singing the praises of Hopman their sophomore sensation that they nearly forgot to mention the great games turned in by Ron Watkins and Webb.

We could be wrong but we think that Drake's Harper is the first Negro to direct a Drake team from quarterback since Walter Thompson called the plays in the early thirties. Time was when coaches didn't think a team would play for a Negro quarterback, but here and there, there were evidences that they were wrong way back then. But now it doesn't matter who runs the ball club, the coaches want wins.

High School

It really happened. The Tech boys must have believed those things they read in the paper last week. Maybe, if they had brought along their clippings, the Roosevelt guys might have wilted. That could be the last game the Engineers lose all season.

East continues to improve but are still a game or two away from peak form. Somebody is in for trouble yet. North has something they haven't shown for a number of years. They have determination and a desire to win. They will beat a lot of better clubs with that determination into that lineup.

The World Series? Oh yes, well guess we will be a Pirate rooter and a Yankee better.

Mrs. Eulalia Boston
Surprised at Ralph
In Broad Jump Feat

Laurel, Miss.—Mrs. Eulalia Boston, 63-year-old mother of the new record-breaking Olympic broad jump champion, sobbed tears of joy and made a strange comment when told that her son Ralph had broken Jesse Owen's record in winning.

"I didn't have any idea that my baby's jumping around would ever amount to anything," she said. She added:

On Edge

"I've been pretty much on edge about this thing. Now that it's over, I think I'll get a glass of milk and lay down for awhile."

"This is the proudest day of my life," she declared.

Mrs. Boston was interviewed in her home here. Careful not to show undue favoritism, she said she was also proud of her other nine children. Ralph, who set the jump record with a leap of 26 feet 7 3/4 inches, is the youngest. Seven are college graduates.

Iowa Spanks Razzle Dazzle Oregon State 22-12
Ferguson Thrills 43,000 with 85-yd. Run

By Staff Writer

Iowa City, Iowa—In Iowa Stadium Saturday where the dark, overcast skies had suddenly turned bright 43,000 fans emerged thrilled and fully satisfied because their youthful Hawkeyes had spanked stubborn, razzle-dazzle Oregon State 22-12 in a spectacular and thrilling fashion.

Clamorous Roar

Near the games end when Iowa led only 16-12 a clamorous roar emanated from the throng, like a rumbling clap of thunder, as Iowa halfback Larry Ferguson, his legs pumping like powerful pistons, took a hand off from the powerful and smart quarterback Wilburn Hollis on their own fifteen yard line and suddenly found himself in the clear and took off like greased lightning down the side lines with the entire throng yelling, coaches and players as well. Near the end of his spectacular jaunt, Oregon State's Art Gilmore caught up with him but too late . . . Ferguson had carried across to pay dirt to add a thicker more comfortable frosting to the cake.

Doubts Dispelled

The doubts as to the offensive and defensive abilities of the Hawks dispelled early in the game as powerful fullback Joe Williams charged through the line like a run-away locomotive, bowling over would-be tacklers or taking them along for the ride. The Hawks scored early in the first quarter on a 7-yard toss from Hollis to end Bill Perkins. Another Iowa drive bogged down and Tom Moore came in and booted a field goal that made it 9-0 at the half.

Half Time

Iowa 9-0 half time bite out of the Oregon Staters seem to have infuriated them for they came back with so much razzle dazzle in their reverses and double reverses that it seemed as if they had been playing possum. Before the Hawks could comprehend this kind of stuff the beavers had gotten 6 points and notched the score at an uncomfortable 9-6.

Close Score

Seeing the score now too close for comfort the Hawkeyes, playing alert football capitalized on a short kick off by the Beavers that they had

Big Hero's Welcome
Given Boxer McClure

Toledo, Ohio—Wilbert McClure, the first Olympic gold medal winner in this city's history, came home to a hero's welcome last week and indicated that his amateur boxing days are over.

The scholarly looking University of Toledo senior, winner of the light middleweight title in the Rome Olympics, was given a $500 check by a mayor's committee, a plaque, a $200 watch and other awards.

The presentations were made after a ticker-tape motorcade parade for the 21-year-old McClure, who previously had won two National AAU titles, two National Golden Glove titles, the Pan-American championship, and the International diamond belt title.

"This is the greatest thing that could happen to any person."

REFUSES TO MEET

New York—The executive secretary of the division of Christian education of the National Council of Churches of Christ, Dr. Gerald E. Knoff, announced that a meeting of the national denominational executives has been changed from Rock Island, Ill., to Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 1-2. The reason given for the change was that "satisfactory hotel arrangements could not be made there." The National Council of planned to recover. The strategy back fired as guard Sherwyn Thorson pounced on the pigskin at the Oregon 48 yard line.

Hollis and Co. using the belly series and the bootleg option plays marched in four plays to another Iowa T.D. The P.A.T. was good and Iowa had a 16-6 lead. Again the Beavers retaliated in kind. This time traveling via the air routes to the Iowa 2 yard line and from there bulldozed their way over the goal markers in two tries. This tallied the score at an uncomfortable 16-12 lead with a quarter to play. Ferguson's 85-yard trip put the game on ice for the Hawks.

Iowa meets Northwestern Saturday at Evanston, Ill.

Churches of Christ is the cooperative Protestant and Orthodox interdenominational agency that recently occupied the new Inter-church Center on Riverside drive. Its policy is to hold meetings only where all members may be accommodated and participate without discrimination.

Family Finances

Both husband and wife are entitled to spend money of their own.

The husband should be the superintendent of family resources, not the dictator. After giving honest thought to the wife's ideas about how money should be spent, the husband has the responsibility of making the actual spending decision.

He should be able to hold some money out of his pay as his own—not simply turn over the entire pay to his wife and then beg for money to buy cigarettes.

The wife should also have money of her own—a definite sum with which she may do as she pleases, accounting to no one.

Understanding that the family's income belongs to all concerned and spent for common good—like permitting husband and wife funds of their own—is an ideal concept.

The wishes of both should be understood and financial problems solved with good judgment and unselfishness.

Letters from Our Readers

A bit of prose . . . a line or two of poetry . . . a letter now and the to express thoughts in the minds of our many readers.

Send Yours Today

DEAR EDITOR:

America is about to choose a new leader to guide this country during the next four years.

It is our duty to participate in this choice!

Decades of disfranchisement have proved that human dignity requires that man participate in his self-government.

In parts of our country force and violence bar our path to the polls. Elsewhere, nothing but apathy prevents us from registering and voting. We will never be truly free until we shake this apathy and destroy these bars.

In a democracy a man's freedom is to be found with his ballot!

Negro Americans are eighteen million strong—more than ten million are of voting age.

Today approximately five million are registered though even fewer will vote, unless we mount a crusade for freedom that will rouse our fellow citizens to this responsibility. We, the undersigned, join together in this crusade . . . we call upon Negro American citizens to join with us in a non-partisan crusade to register one million new Negro voters for the coming election.

EMOTION

Emotion rules too many things just try the reason logic brings. Every war was set in motion when some psycho got a notion So some would found a 'super race', and all the world, they would debase! Hear them cheering in elation? They just destroyed another nation! Know and heed the danger sign and help protect your land and mine. Be a regular at your station, let duty be a close relation. Don't let Ivan trump our ace destroying things we can't replace. Learn the pathway to salvation, and what it means to all creation. Save the precious things we love by gaining strength from up above. The super-essence of devotion, is built upon our deep emotion. By prayer we grow, and then we yearn, for all the glories we discern. When emotion teams up with our will, then our dreams come to life and our hopes we fulfill.

Thoughts for Today

If liberty and equality, as is thought by some, are chiefly to be found in democracy, they will be best attained when all persons alike share in the government to the utmost.—Aristotle.

Courage and perseverance have a magic talisman, before which difficulties disappear.
