Deputy Sheriff Cannon Dies of Heart Attack

NEWS In A Nutshell

Los Angeles, Cal.—Dootsie Williams, wealthy recording company president last week was granted an annulment of his 1-year-old marriage to Mrs. Josephine Williams, a former executive of the firm, in Superior court. In handing down a decision on the case, bitterly fought over for nine months, Judge Jesse J. Frampton, upheld Williams' contention that the marriage was null and void because Mrs. Williams had failed to divorce a previous husband, Ernest Billups whom she had married in Texas.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Etta Slater, 61, wife of Judge Fred (Duke) Slater, was reported in fair condition from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Goldboro, N.C.—A 50-year-old Negro man, with a record of liquor arrests, was charged with manslaughter last week as a result of the deaths of two policemen during a chase. The accused is identified as Charlie N. Brown.

Bridgeport, Conn.—Posing as an African "prince" an American wound up with a jail cell for his kingdom here last week. Edward Lee Woods, 26, started serving a 8-month sentence after pleading guilty to charges of obtaining money and property under false representations.

Durban South Africa.—The segregationist government of South Africa has slapped a ban on Louis Armstrong, claiming a proposed tour by the international famous trumpet player "would not be in the interests of the country at this stage."

Washington, D. C.—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Undersecretary of the United Nations, was recently paid tribute in the House of Representatives. The Hon. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, speaking in behalf of Bunche, said few men warrant the title of teacher, humanitarian and world citizen.

Greenville, S.C.—The Greenville public library has substituted segregation by sex for racial segregation. Three of the seven tables used for reading and study in the main section of the building are marked "Reserved for Women."

Chicago, Ill.—Final rites were held last Tuesday for prize-winning author and foreign correspondent Roi Ottley, who died at his Hyde park home. Distinguished for his non-fiction writings on race, Ottley authored four books and was a member of the Chicago Tribune Staff since 1953 covering special assignments.

Atlanta, Ga.—They're calling foxy Carmen (The Body) LaBelle Atlanta's own contribution to the interpretive dance field, the gall with the new twist. Reason: she dances standing on her head as part of her act. A finished ballet dancer, she is the only Negro girl ever trained locally in Atlanta's Fred Astaire School of Dancing.

THIS IN AMERICA?

Jakarta, Indonesia—Social Welfare Minister Mulpads Bjojomartono reports he is preparing a bill restricting Moslems to one wife each except in an emergency. Then a man can take a second wife with permission of the first, if he supports both.

Held Position 13 Yrs. As Polk Jail Turnkey

Funeral rites for William Garnett Cannon, 66, of 1220 Laurel Street, a Polk County deputy sheriff, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Corinthian Baptist church with the Rev. Norman R. Olphin officiating. Burial was in Glendale cemetery. He died of a heart attack at 5 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5 at Still Osteopathic hospital. He suffered the attack an hour earlier at his home. He had been ill since May 4 when he had a heart attack downtown.

Mr. Cannon had been a deputy for 14 years and served as a turnkey at the county jail and later was night dispatcher at the jail.

Church Worker

Born in Troy, Mo., Mr. Cannon came to Des Moines 24 years ago from Kansas City, Mo., and worked at the Des Moines Ordnance Plant during World War II.

An outstanding church worker, Mr. Cannon was a deacon at Corinthian Baptist church and was president of the Five States Baptist Ministers and Deacons convention. For many years he served as manager of the True Friend Quartet and he was a member of the Fellowship chorus of Corinthian Baptist church.

Survivors

Surviving are his widow, Julie; two daughters, Mrs. Pauline Lewis and Mrs. Raye Evon Galbreath, both of Des Moines; a son, Dexter of Kansas City, Mo.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Nadine Taylor and two stepsons, David Jackson and Elmer Tolson, all of Des Moines; a brother, Robert of Plainville, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Lena Hughes of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Anna Penn of Kansas City, and 18 grandchildren.

On The Political Scene

NIXON IN MEMPHIS

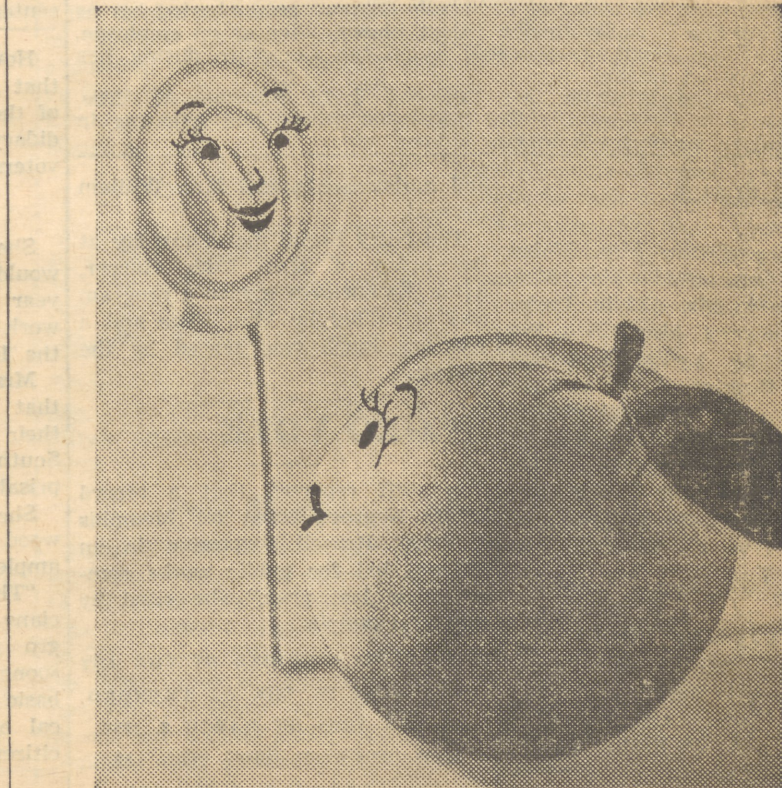

Memphis, Tenn.—The Nixon's rally in Memphis was highly successful. It primed the wells of enthusiasm and stirred the pride of the people strikingly devoted to his campaign and to him as the symbol of the American success story.

The rain came down in great showers but it didn't dampen the ardor or enthusiasm of the people and when Mr. Nixon said from the speakers' stand, "If you all can stand the rain, I can stand it too", the people responded with tremendous approval. It seems that in this statement, they got the full significance of Nixon's life of struggle up from the dust of the days' long road to the pinnacle of a laughing star.

Mr. Kennedy had visited Memphis only last week for a speech but he received no such reception as the town gave to Mr. Nixon. The streets over which the Nixon caravan travelled from the airport were lined with people standing against the curb sometimes five and sometimes twenty deep.

LYNDON JOHNSON ADDS INSULT

Washington, D. C.—Val J. Washington, Director of Minorities, Republican National Committee, charged Friday that Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic Vice Presidential nominee had added insult to the injury already inflicted by his party

"Thanks for your pledge, Priscilla.
You're a peach to give the United Way."

SOCIALLY PROMINENT WIFE SAYS HUSBY SEEKS PROOF SHE, SONS PARTLY NEGRO

New York—An eminent Fifth Avenue eye specialist—Dr. Arthur A. Knapp—is seeking to prove his wife and two sons are partly Negro, charged his socially prominent wife, Mrs. Gloria Knapp in Supreme Court this week.

In an affidavit prepared by her attorney, Frank Delaney, Mrs. Knapp is saying that her husband is preparing annulment suit charging that not only she is partly Negro but that their children are too and that she concealed this fact when she married him 11 years ago.

JAMAICAN HOME ECONOMISTS

Three Jamaican home economists departed for home recently after a four-month stay in the United States, studying the Cooperative Extension Service program. They are Mrs. Ivy H. Lewis, and Mrs. Iocylene L. Seaton of the Sugar Industry Labour Welfare Board; and Mrs. Amy J. McNeish of the Jamaica

Antique China
Mrs. Knapp is in court to recover a quantity of antique china she says the Doctor took from their apartment at 907 Fifth Avenue, last year. She wants $20,000 for the value of the china and $5,000 for his "wrongful detention" of it.
An attractive woman, Mrs. Knapp is the Doctor's second wife. He figured in a sensational separation suit with his first wife. He also engaged in a bitter custody battle over his two sons by his second wife, Arthur 2nd, 10 and Ashley, 9.

Welfare Commission. The International Cooperation Administration-sponsored visitors spent three of their four months in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, studying extension organization and procedure, and the fourth month at the University of Wisconsin, observing the operation of the agricultural extension program in that State.

Current Urges Civil Rights As Answer to K's Charges

Bluefield, West Virginia—West Virginians today received a suggested rebuttal to Russian Premier Khrushchev's United Nations attack on American race bias.

Gloster B. Current, NAACP director of branches, told a meeting of the organization's state conference that "denying the embarrassing truthfulness of the Russian leader's remarks, or rationalizing the amount of racial progress" is not the answer.

Shortcomings

"The answer," Current asserted, "lies in getting on with the business much out of any strong admiration for Nixon or dislike of Kennedy as out of a deeper and largely inexplicable restlessness and discontent."

Special Session

Negro leaders are "convinced that the recent special session of Congress was a fiasco for the Democrats." Although they realize that "additional civil-rights legislation could not reasonably be expected from such a session," they are amazed at the "inertitude of the Democratic leadership in scheduling a session which (at least in hindsight) offered the Republicans such an opportunity to embarrass the Democrats with dramatic demands

Jack Will Be Retried Says District Attorney

New York—The battle of words may be on as to whether the suspended Borough President of Manhattan—Hulan E. Jack—is resigning his office or not for the good of the Democratic Party and to make way for a Negro successor—but according to the District Attorney's office, Mr. Jack will be retried on November 14th.

Avoid Retrial

One report has it that Jack is resigning not only for the good of the party but to avoid being retried. Jack himself is denying he ever said this as a solution to his dilemma.

District Attorney Hogan says he is preparing to retry Mr. Jack for conspiracy on the City Charter violation. Says Hogan: "That matter is of no interest to me—the resignation. It is not my business. I have an indictment by a grand jury. We tried it once. We were ready again Wednesday but it's been put off to November 14th, for a good reason. We should be ready to try it again November 14th."

Clarence Jones Attends Civil Service School In Omaha, Nebr.

Clarence Jones, vehicle operator analyst, with the Des Moines post-office department, was selected to attend the civil service road test examiner clinic at Omaha, Nebr., last week.

He successfully passed the test and is now qualified to administer the civil service road test required of all motor vehicle operators, and clerk carriers entering the postoffice, including internal revenue and federal service administration. He is the first of his race to hold the position, in Des Moines.

OPENS DIPLOMATIC OFFICES

Porto-Novo, Dahomey—The newly independent Republic of Dahomey announced that it will open embassies in Paris, Bonn (West Germany) and the United Nations shortly. The Paris representative will also serve Great Britain, while the Bonn ambassador will double as representative to Belgium.

White Workers Walk Off Job; Force Discharge of Lone Negro Bricklayer

Flagrant discrimination in labor forces reared its ugly head here last week when a Negro bricklayer was forced to leave his job because white layers showed up for employment and worked.

James Short, Negro bricklayer, from Suffolk, Va., came to Des Moines to work with Jessie M. Colton, bricklayer foreman on the construction job at the new shopping center at Harding Road and Douglas Avenue. Colton has operated all over the country and Short has worked with him for five or six years.

Refused to Work

According to reliable sources, Short came with union card and was cleared by the business agent. When he went to work Monday, Oct. 4, there were five white bricklayers on the job. The next day two refused to show up and on Wednesday three refused to report for work.

Since work had to go on to beat winter, Colton was forced to discharge Short and he (Short) returned to Suffolk, Va. On Thursday, after Short left, six white bricklayers showed up for employment and worked.

Hypocritical

Local civil rights leaders have long attacked what they call "the hypocritical stand of American labor unions, that they talk equality with their mouths and practice discrimination in their action." One leader recalled that several years ago two men came to Des Moines as bricklayers and were advised to move on to Waterloo. There are no apprentices or journeymen in the city.

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights contacted Al Daniels, union agent and asked if "he realized he was violating the law, the spirit at least—by refusing to abide by his own rules; that this action showed that the union officials had no control over the men."

Sees South's Negro Vote As Pivotal in Fall Election

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Negroes in southern states hold the key to election of the next President, asserted Mrs. Marguerite Belafonte, NAACP special projects director, in a talk prepared for delivery here today.

Mrs. Belafonte appeared on the WKZO-TV show "Feminine Fancies." She visited the city as guest of the local NAACP unit.

Neck-and-Neck

"Last week," Mrs. Belafonte pointed out, "the Gallup poll reported that the 1960 Kennedy-Nixon presidential race 'is neck-and-neck' in the South, long noted for its one party system.

"Each ticket shows 46 per cent," she continued. "The balance of power lies in the uncommitted eight per cent. Anticipating a close race, the Republicans are desperately trying to entice the South's 128 electoral college votes.

"The southern Negro voter will be pivot man in the bitter bid for Mr. Gallup's undecided eight per cent.

Independent

"And if these voters follow their tendency toward independent thinking, as in 1956, they may well be the balance of power in Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Louisiana, Texas and perhaps Georgia," she said.

"Moreover there were more than 1,000,000 registered Negro voters in these states in 1958," Mrs. Belafonte added.

"Since that time, the NAACP has carried on an intensive voter registration drive throughout the South.

TENNESSEE PRECEDENT

Nashville, Tenn.—Negro and white Tennessee Democratic Party workers broke precedent last week in their joint participation in the opening ceremonies for the Kennedy-Johnson headquarters in downtown Nashville. Robert E. Lillard, Nashville City Councilman, reported that it marked the beginning of a "new day" in Tennessee politics. Lillard was recently appointed by Governor Ellington to a five-man state Democratic campaign committee.

Commenting on the party activity in the state, Lillard stated that the Negro is being fully integrated in the machinery of the party in many sections of the state which heretofore have been segregated. He called attention also to the fact that Jesse Turner, a Memphis banker, had been elected to the Shelby County Executive Committee of the Democratic Party.

Florida Court Turns Down Parker in Sit-in Appeal

Jacksonville, Fla.—The Florida Supreme Court at Tallahassee has refused to free Richard F. Parker, a white student who is serving a 90-day sentence for taking part in sit-in demonstrations here during August.

Parker sits in jail with a broken jaw received when he was slugged by a segregationist after the riots which followed the sit-ins. Unable to eat solid food, he lost 25 pounds during the first 35 days he was imprisoned. Because of his belief in the philosophy of non-violence, Parker refuses to prosecute his attacker.

No Vagrant

The student's attorneys plan to appeal to the federal courts to release Parker. They contend that his sentencing on a vagrancy charge violates his rights under the First, Fifth and 14th Amendments to the U. S. Constitution.

Parker himself points out that he was in no sense a vagrant. He had funds in a local bank, was on vacation as a student from Florida State University, Tallahassee, and had a room in a local hotel when arrested.

Watched 10 Days

Jacksonville police admit they arrested Parker when he was sitting alone in a white restaurant waiting for a cup of coffee. They had been watching him for 10 days because he was the only white person who had the courage to join Negro students in sit-ins.

Parker took part in sit-ins on Aug. 25 and 26. On Aug. 27 the White Citizens Council brought on a riot by flooding the downtown section with hoodlums armed with ax handles and baseball bats. Police officials say they were unable to restrain these men because of a manpower shortage.

Arrested After Riot

Parker was arrested the day after the riot by officers who had been sent especially to look for him. Police accused him of instigating the sit-ins and thus bringing on the riots. In Aug. 29 he was given the jail sentence and taken to a temporary cage to await transfer to jail. He was sitting on a bench in the cage when he was struck by the segregationist, who shouted a racial epithet as he hit Parker.

Jaw Still Wired

The student's jaw was shattered and several teeth knocked out. His mouth is still wired up and he is unable to eat anything but food in liquid form. However, his spirits are good and he has been strengthened in his belief that he is doing right.

"I've always felt this way," he said. "I've always had a feeling for the Negroes. I've always thought they were not given rights they were entitled to as American citizens."

Old-Time Allergy "Cures" Were Unique But Victims Kept Right on Sneezing

A wet sheet hanging over an open window didn't mean wash day back in those dim, dark days before air conditioning and filtered air.

It was a pretty good indication that someone in the home had hay fever or a similar air-borne pollen allergy and was attempting to keep out invisible trouble-makers and get in some fresh air.

Unfortunately, the wet sheet treatment didn't work.

But today a modern Fiberglass filter manufactured in various sizes and thicknesses for air conditioning units easily keeps out most of the pollen and lets the fresh air flow through.

Tests indicate the Fiberglass filters have a mesh fine enough to strain out the microscopic pollen grains while allowing a free flow of air through them.

Before the age of the filter, however, desperate and uncomfortable allergy victims tried a variety of remedies to relieve their seasonal suffering. In addition to wet sheets over doors and windows, they burned candles containing certain drugs believed helpful and smoked, instead of tobacco, "cubeb" cigarettes made of the dried, unripe berry of a tropical shrub. Even prolonged immersion—head first—didn't do the trick. Unless drowning can be considered an allergy cure, of course.

The increasing use of air conditioning (nearly one-sixth of U.S. homes now have a central air conditioning system or at least one window unit) means more relief for an estimated 8,000,000 hay fever victims.

All of these units include some type of filtering agency which removes from the air in varying degrees, pollens resulting from trees, grasses or weeds, chief causes of hay fever. As an example, Owens-Corning Fiberglass has completed a series of tests which indicate 91 per cent of pollen is removed from circulated air by its two-inch thick fibrous glass filter.

Soon after school begins the various PTA organizations begin their fund raising campaigns with programs, fun night and other entertainment. Nash School under the PTA presidential leadership of Mrs. Woodrow Lewis will have their annual "Fun Night" Friday evening from 6:30-9 p.m. Chairman of publicity is Mrs. Rufus Spates. As many of you know who have attended the events in past year, the Fun Nights are a lot of fun for children and adult alike and of course, go a long way in taking care of financial projects for the school.

Also at Nash the big kickoff for the membership drive is in the air under the capable leadership of Mrs. William Pickett, membership chairman. In charge of the annual bundle drive is Mrs. Cecil Thompson who reports that the drive will be Oct. 26-28. All usable things can be sent

Mrs. Nancy White, of Rochester, N. Y., flew to Des Moines on Sept. 27 to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mattie Scott. Many residents remember her when she lived here. She had to rush back home after the funeral but was still able to visit a few friends.

EASTLAND HELPS
KHRUSHCHEV

Carrying his campaign to the voters via television, Senator Eastland of Mississippi waived a sheaf of civil rights bills before the audience, which had been introduced in the senate and had not passed partly because of his strategic position as chairman of the judiciary committee.

Senator Eastland told the voters that if they wanted these bills blocked in the senate in the future, then they should re-elect him.

Undoubtedly, the senator told the truth about his success in blocking some of these bills. And unfortunately he will be re-elected and at his old post as chairman again since the senate will have a democrat majority.

But these are brazen campaign speeches. They smack at the type the late Senator Bilbo made during his lifetime. And in spite of these inflammatory statements which no decent candidate, Republican or Democrat, can and will deny, no member of Senator Eastland's party condemns him for them or spurns his help.

Senator Eastland's tactics continue to prove Premier Khrushchev's case that in spite of our protestations of the love for democracy and the dignity of man, we continue to do things which negate that position. And rabble-rousers like he, not only get away with it, but also encourage others to do likewise.

Of course, in the name of free speech, a fellow is permitted to carry on such harangues. Such tactics make us look pretty silly at times—especially when no one in high places condemns them.

UNIONS MUST CLEAN
THEIR DIRTY LINEN

It's a pretty good rule to clean your own back yard before criticizing the other fellow who has a dirty one.

This principle is well illustrated in the action of the Iowa Federation of Labor in criticizing the hotels in Council Bluffs for refusing to accommodate two African students when here in Des Moines some of its union brothers—bricklayers—refuse to work with Negro bricklayers.

That very thing happened a few years ago except that the Negro bricklayers (they came to Des Moines and held bona fide union cards) were sent on to Waterloo rather than have them stay in Des Moines.

Bricklayers on a shopping center being constructed at Harding Road and Douglas refused to return to work until a Negro bricklayer had been discharged in order to keep the job going.

Most labor unions have non-discrimination provisions in their laws. Most of them carry on a good civil rights campaign, particularly during political years and yet their elected officials seem powerless—maybe—to maintain sufficient influence with their members to have them obey their own laws.

This conduct gives Des Moines a bad reputation. It is the responsibility of unions to clean up their own unAmerican activities as well as criticize others for practicing the same thing.

SUPPORT THE UNITED CAMPAIGN—WORTHY

Des Moines is in the midst of its annual united campaign, a program which maintains agencies covering recreation, social service, health, religious training in an efficient manner with relatively little of the funds collected used in administration.

United campaigns are so well known and the object so worthy that it seems almost needless to talk very much about them. And yet there are new people to convince and the older people to hang on to.

The goal, like everything else, is high. But it is quite certain that those in charge have not asked for more than is necessary to do a good job.

Undoubtedly with the liberal support that has been given heretofore, 1960 will be no exception to the rule of making the quota.

MARGARET TYNES

Greensboro, N. C. — Margaret Tynes, operatic soprano, returned to her hometown for a concert at A&T College on Wednesday evening, Oct. 12. Just returned a month ago from a triumphant tour of western Europe, she was highly acclaimed in appearances at Bonn, Zurich, Geneva, Florence, Milan and Trieste. She was one of three stars featured in the highly successful George Gershwin Festival Concert at Trieste last August.

They buried a great man the other day. He wasn't educated, not even polished. He was just a pool hall-baseball manager who sometimes drank, not wisely, but too well. Well then, why was he great?

Greatness isn't always found in front of cheering crowds or on a speakers platform, or in some dramatic situation. Greatness is where you find it. And in the life of Harvey Furgeson, called Scatterman.

One thing stood out. There wasn't a man on the street who would not trust Scatterman with his cash register and would know that it would be intact with every penny and every transaction accounted for.

Willie Wells, in a fine gesture, closed the billiard parlor for a while. A tribute to a man who richly deserved it. Yes, Harvey Furgeson was a great man because of this fine honesty.

Football

Between listening to the World Series massacre and the Iowa-Michigan State football game we about flipped our lid Saturday. We wanted to go to Ames but was too tired to risk even a short drive on the highway.

We still insist that if one guy weren't captain Iowa would have an all Negro backfield. As it is we wonder how some of the diehards accepted three at once in the same backfield.

This seems to be the year for Negroes in the Big Ten. Just about every team in the conference has its share.

Watkins

A fellow once asked us how we felt playing against another Negro. We told him we were out to win and did not ever have time to think about our opponents or Negroes or anything else. And we believe that is the way the Negroes on the various teams feel.

There was so much said about the Iowa U. game last week that we really can't say much. Kansas University had a big well coached team and Iowa State did well to stay in there. Gonna be hard to keep Tom Watkins off of somebody's All American team. There are too many fine quarterbacks in the Big Ten for Hollis to make all star honors unless Iowa wins the conference title. Then he might have a chance.

High School

The local high schools selection looks like Roosevelt unless East or North can stop them. East didn't look too good losing to Mason City and North couldn't stop Boone.

When you read this the world series will be over. Hope your team won. We were a Pirate rooter and a Yankee better. So you know how we came out.

AGGIES WHIP SOUTH
CAROLINA STATE 36-22

Greensboro, N. C.—Hard pressed for most of the first half, the A&T College Aggies rallied to whip the South Carolina State College Bulldogs, 36-22, in an intersectional football scrap here at Memorial Stadium.

After spotting the South Carolinians a 14-6 lead, the Greensboro club unleashed a passing attack which paved the way for the victory. Prime mover in the aerial attack was big Jim Mitchell, 6-2, 185, quarterback, whose earlier ground assault had sputtered. He tossed scoring passes to Joe Taylor for 4 yards and to Charles Stiggers for 29 yards, set up a third with a 23 yard heave to Robert Faulkner and scored a touchdown with a 1-yard sneak.

Iowa's Williams, Hollis Dumbfound Rugged
Mich. Team in Stunning 27-15 Last-Minute Win

By Staff Writer

East Lansing, Mich.—Iowa's amazing football whiz kids dumbfounded and startled a rugged Michigan team into submission in the last three minutes of a rock and sock 'em contest here Saturday by a score of 27-15 before a partisan yelling throng of 74,000 plus.

The go-go Hawks had constructed an early half time lead of 14-0 out of end sweeps, quarterback sneaks, drives down the middle and some passes. They seemed on their way to another relatively easy Big Ten win when suddenly the Spartans became terribly irate; instilled and prolonged by the beseeching cheering of the crowd and by their own desire for a higher echelon in the Big Ten standings.

Atom of Power

Michigan transposed this ire and desire into an atom of power that netted them two touchdowns and three PAT points for a 15-14 margin with less than five minutes remaining in the game.

The Spartans kicked off to the Hawkeyes and on the second play quarterback Willburn Hollis on a belly series play handed off to power-laden fullback Joe Williams who picked up good yardage but as he was hit fumbled the ball.

Williams

The Hawkeye's chance of victory now seemed to have moved into the darkest corners of obscurity. Their hope had dissolved into oblivion.

Now the Spartans have the ball on the Iowa 33 yard line and quarterback Tom Wilson has the snap from center. The rugged play in the line begins and in the melee the Spartan end rebounds off a block by Iowa end Bill Perkins and bumps his quarterback. At the same time Williams, playing heads up football, side swipes Wilson popping the ball into the air where Williams snared it and accelerated into high gear and sped 67 yards for an Iowa winning TD.

Never in the annals of football-dom his this electrifying finish been equalled and it shall be discussed for years to come.

Coup de Grace

Hollis delivered the coup de grace to the now deflated and enervated Spartan club with one of his many quarterback sneaks of the day. This one a 23-yarder for another touchdown.

Iowa's thrilling and spectacular victory elevated them from the number three to the number two spot in the nation; second only to Mississippi by 17 points. They are number one in the Big Ten standings with a 2-0 record.

The Hawks play formidable Wisconsin at Iowa City Saturday.

COMPASSION

Compassion: what a wondrous word So rarely shown, not often heard: Released, it has great power to heal And lifts the hearts of those who feel;

Compassion. Compassion: flows from heavenly grace Takes pain away, lights up each face. Its' beams can pierce the darkest night

And heal sad hearts with holy light; Compassion. Compassion: is the gift of God To all mankind, upon this clod,

To share with all the race of man As He decreed, when time began; Compassion. Compassion: brings the dove of peace

The only hope that strife will cease; Nor can it be misunderstood, This flux to weld, world brotherhood. Compassion.

—Glenn A. Gallagher

Thoughts for Today

A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends and that the most liberal professions of good will are very far from being the surest marks of it. True friendship is a plant of slow growth and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation of friendship.—George Washington.

If you ride a horse, sit close and tight, if you ride a man, sit easy and light.—Benjamin Franklin.

Both sugar and vinegar are preservatives, so it seems to boil down to whether you want to be pickled or in a jam.—H. E. Martz.

Laugh Lines

It figgers: "It seems to me," said a traveler in a remote section, "That your rate of ten cents a mile is extortion!"

"Well," said the official of the diminutive road, "I'll admit its a lot of money to pay, if you think of it by the mile. But you just reflect a bit on how cheap it is by the hour—only thirty-five cents."

is your name in the book?

You can't vote
if you're not registered

When you graduate from high school, they put your name in the school yearbook.

When you have a telephone installed, they put your name in the telephone book.

But you and only you—can get your name in the most important book of all—the roll of Registered Voters of your precinct—the "Election Book."

And if you're not in the book, you ought to be.

Because, if you're not registered, you can't get in the polls come Election Day.

You can't even vote for dog catcher—much less mayor, councilman, congressman, senator, or president—unless your name is in the book.

You don't even have the right to complain—unless you're registered and vote.

So don't cut yourself out of this year's key elections. Get your name in the book. A lot of your friends and neighbors are already listed there. If you know of one who isn't, take him with you when you go to register on this "Roll of Honor" of Americans. And then—we'll see you at the polls!

Be sure
you're registered!
