Contracts as Specialist

Washington, D. C.—Appointment of Johnnie A. Moore of Chicago as information specialist on the staff of the President's Committee on Government Contracts, in its Washington office, was announced today by Margaret Garrity, executive director of the Committee.

Mr. Moore, 31, comes to the

MOORE

President's Committee from employment as makeup editor of the Chicago Daily Defender, where he is currently on leave. Prior to joining the Defender, he worked on newspaper staffs of the Informer Newspaper Group, Houston, Tex., and Norfolk Journal and Guide, Norfolk, Va.

An Air Force veteran, Mr. Moore was released from active duty in 1955 as a first lieutenant. He later served as a civilian instructor in statistics with the Air Force.

Reciprocal Impact

He recalled in this connection "the reciprocal impact of their fight for independence and our fight for equality in this country, together with the many analogies arising therefrom."

Wilkins said that "in the specific instances of charges of discriminatory treatment in places of public accommodation, we can move to invoke the statutory protections which are applicable. Where the dissatisfaction rests upon misunderstanding, we can be of help in promoting understanding."

Disclosure of the NAACP offer followed newspaper accounts of the detention of Ferdinand Oyono, permanent delegate of the Cameroon to the United Nations, by New York City police.

Singled Out of Crowd

Mr. Oyono has charged that he was singled out of a crowd by the police who demanded his identification papers.

"Over the years," Wilkins added, "this Association has maintained active though informal relations with many African leaders, and these contacts have been steadily increasing."

Secretary Wilkins' letter, dispatched Oct. 7, emphasized that "We in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, both as Americans deeply committed to the United Nations and as citizens with more than ordinary interest in the democratic independence of the African nations, are of course greatly concerned."

On The Political Scene

FAUBUS' PLAN FOR KENNEDY

Washington, D. C.—Val J. Washington, Director of Minorities, Republican National Committee, said that the withdrawal from the Florida presidential ballot by Governor Orval Faubus spells out the "cross that will double-cross any Negro who votes for Senator John F. Kennedy."

The Arkansas Governor withdrew his name as the State Rights candidate for President on the Florida ballot, and came out in support of Senator Kennedy. Faubus' name had been placed on the Florida ballot by the National States Rights Party supported by 11,000 names. The States Rights Party's chairman W. D. Burch said: "Faubus' decision comes as a complete surprise to me."

HARLEM "PLEDGE"

Oliver W. Hill, former councilman of Richmond, Va., charged Friday that Nixon's running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, is running away from his Harlem "pledge" in speeches in Virginia and North Carolina.

Hill cited the fact that Lodge told newsmen in the South regarding a Negro in the GOP cabinet, which he pledged in Harlem, "I cannot pledge anything." Hill added, "Nixon has refused to back up Lodge's Harlem line and now the emptiness of the GOP promises should be clear to everyone."

ENDORSE NIXON-LODGE

Atlanta, Ga.—The Atlanta Daily World, in a front page editorial announcement Friday morning, Oct. 7, endorsed the Richard Nixon-Henry Cabot Lodge Republican ticket for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. The endorsement also was made by the Memphis World and Birmingham World, affiliated semi-weeklies of the Scott Newspaper Syndicate, C. A. Scott, General Manager.

Senator John F. Kennedy in Columbia, South Carolina, last week attacked Vice President Nixon on the issue of Civil Rights, charging that Nixon has two different speeches on the issue.

Kennedy told his Southern audience that Nixon "makes a great show of discussing this subject on all of his trips to the South. But it is hardly the same speech that he delivered in New York City a short time ago. Up North he talks about legislation—down here he emphasizes that 'laws alone are not the answer'. Up there, he stresses how quickly he will act in this area."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindnesses, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received from our many friends in Des Moines and other cities during our sad bereavement at the time of death of our husband and father, G. W. Cannon. We wish to express our special thanks to Rev. N. R. Olphin for his consoling remarks and to Sheriff Wilbur Hildreth and staff for their kindness shown.

OUR TREE

I looked out of my window
At our poplar tree,
It was stripped of all its beauty
But, that is not up to me.
That is God's doing
The leaves have all fallen to the ground.
That means winter is on its way.
And there are the squirrels and birds
That we must feed each day
So I'll go on through the winter
Very calm and serene
I know that very soon
My tree will again be all green.

Service is as important as the product you buy.

Save money by making sure... before you buy... that reliable repair service is available locally.

Six rules of buying a product that will need maintenance or repair:

1. Expect good sales service. If you don't get it you're likely to have trouble when you need repairs.
 2. A guarantee is only as good as the organization behind it. Read it carefully.
 3. Think of the product in terms of need for maintenance and availability of parts and service.
 4. A good product name is essential but not enough if facilities for service are lacking.
 5. Utility companies may be able to tell you where to obtain good service.
 6. A dealer with adequate service facilities may have to charge a slightly higher price for the product.
- You save in the long run with those who have facilities for good service.

PROBING SIX WHITE MEN WHO FLOGGED NEGRO WOMAN IN GEORGIA INCIDENT

New York—An investigation is on with the NAACP stimulating it—on the flogging of a Negro woman by six white men, who accused her of "running around with white boys."

The woman, 33 year old Mrs. Alene Redwine, is reported to have been dragged from a sharecropper's shack in Whitesburg, Ga., stripped in the glare of auto headlights and flogged by each of the white men with a heavy leather strap. One of the men was a teenager.

Speaking at Morgan State College and again on Pennsylvania avenue she decried rumors which she said are being spread through Negro areas that Senator Kennedy is taking one stand in the South and another in the North. She termed this "talk" as nothing more than empty rumors.

She noted for her audience of over 50 Negro Party leaders that "Senator Kennedy's campaign speeches are well covered in the newspapers, any discrepancies in his statements would be quickly known."

Another Brown At Syracuse

Syracuse, N. Y.—It's getting to be a habit at Syracuse university that as one great star steps down another is there to take his place.

A few years ago when the great Jim Brown left the campus to join the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, moans were heard from the galleries that Jim's departure may leave a gap on the team which may not be filled for years.

However, another star performer was not long coming to the Syracuse gridiron. He is Ernest Davis, an outstanding halfback, who came along fast to win a coveted berth on the team. Davis, who has been termed "simply great" by Syracuse Coach-of-the-Year Ben Schwartzwalder, was hampered by a pulled muscle last year, but has returned to top form this season.

SEE IN STARS

WITH DELORES CALVIN

New York—More Talent To Visit Africa . . . The State Department has in mind to send more talent to Africa so that the former colonial states now on their own can see "the lighter side of American entertainment." Such stars as Satchmo of course, and Belafonte will be augmented with many more names from drama, dance and other "cultural exchange" items.

The State Dept. is working with the American National Theatre and Academy on these visits and Ed Sullivan or John Ringling North is expected to be Chairman. They intend to expand the tours to Asia and Latin America.

World Series

Showbusiness has been off beat for quite a while. Some are blaming the World Series, the Nixon-Kennedy debates, etc. Maybe it's just the election. But Motion Pictures are not drawing the moola they should—let alone what they used to do. And night clubs are off, too.

Duke Ellington

Sick Johnny Hodges flew from San Francisco to New York for a possible ulcer operation. One of the oldest members of the Duke Ellington band, the parting was rather sad. The alto saxophonist left the group finishing up at the Fairmont Hotel.

Pearlie Mae Bailey

Everyone in Pittsburgh and all in showbusiness elsewhere—are talking of the sensational Pearlie Mae's International House Revue. "It's the closest to a Broadway musical ever staged for a club," they say.

The biggest talent is none other than Pearlie Mae herself and La Bailey has really put together a show. She opened at World Series time so that it's a debate as to who the out-of-towners were more enthralled with—the dazzling Pirates or the dazzling Pearl Bailey.

Pearlettes

She surrounded herself with the Pearlettes—13 of the most beautiful girls in precision. She's even got a ballerina—a 16 year old named Alice Grant who is outstanding. Then there's her husband—Louis Bellson in a terrific drum number that brings on Bailey herself. And how she sings several of her own songs ending with "Tired." Bring on Broadway is the cry.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

HELPING CHILDREN "FIT IN"

"My three-year-old doesn't seem able to play outdoors with the other children in the neighborhood without coming in hurt. Sometimes he isn't hurt very much, but they seem so rough on him. I wonder whether there is any way that I can get them to treat him more kindly," a mother asks.

Probably not. He is still learning to handle his body, and is not as skillful as he will be later. Comfort him, patch him up, and send him back to play if he wants to go.

Gangs Chase

"The neighborhood gang keeps chasing my eight-year-old boy home every time he goes off our lot. He is very unhappy. What can I do?" another woman wants to know.

Your child has done something of which the gang does not approve. He will probably know what he has done. It may be necessary for him to make peace himself. If you enter the situation too frequently, he may be branded as a sissy and find it more difficult to be accepted.

Kindergarten

Still another mother has this problem: "My five-year-old just cries and cries when I leave her at

How Long Will You Live?

It may be a long time. Right now, you may not be thinking of the years ahead. You're still going strong. You can't do everything you could at 25, but you certainly aren't ready to be put on the shelf.

"On the shelf," useless and dependent—that's the way too many of us think of old age. But that's only one kind of old age. And it's the kind that can be avoided if you start planning now.

kindergarten. I stayed with her three whole sessions, and then stayed outside the room where she could see me. Nothing seems to help her adjust. We are both miserable. What shall I do?"

Go home! The teacher is able to handle situations of this type well only when the mother is absent. Your part will be in encouraging your child to talk about the things that she does at school that she enjoys. Praise her pictures and work she brings home. And most important, praise her for becoming a "big girl."

NAACP MAY EXTEND JACKSONVILLE WITHHOLDING DRIVE TO WHOLE STATE

Jacksonville, Fla.—Florida NAACP President Rev. A. Leon Lowry this week announced that the Association is considering extension of the local selective buying campaign to the entire state.

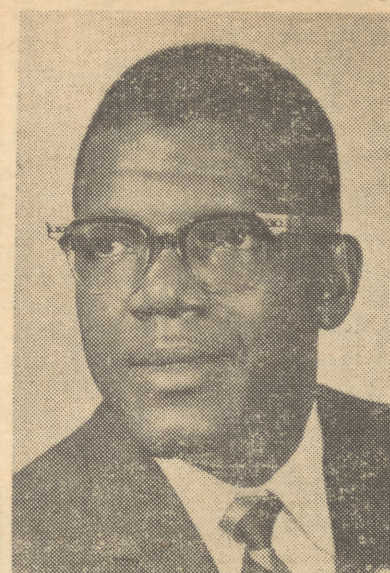

Members of the Association's youth council resumed sit-ins here this week declaring local authorities have not shown good faith in considering their grievances.

Kneel-Ins

Youth council members are also conducting a series of kneel-ins. They were denied seats at the First Baptist Church last Sunday. They were told that they were unwelcome at another because its sanctuary had been abused the previous week by the presence of newspaper reporters.

paign to improve and keep your health. The old "stitch in time saves nine" was never truer. Your happiness at 70 depends on the stitches you take now. If you don't already have the habit, begin now the practice of getting a physical checkup at least once a year. A number of the diseases that make dependent invalids of old folks start quietly without any outward sign that something is wrong inside. Only a doctor with his scientific tests can spot them. And almost every kind of sickness responds best to treatment in its early stages.

Chest X-Rays

Tuberculosis is one such disease. It's tragic to see an older person shut in by TB. He might be up and about and living a full life if his disease had been discovered earlier. And a tuberculin test or a chest x-ray would have helped to find it. To be sure that your later years are not shadowed by preventable illness and dependency, take full advantage of modern medical science. Get the physical checkup habit and follow your doctor's advice.

GIL RANDLE BRIGADE

These smiling, attractive young matrons above have been busy working the past months to help their candidate get elected. They are members of Gil Randle Brigade and are working from block to block, staffing centers, distributing literature, pictures, and cards, button-holing people, delivering bumper

Links Ask Holiday Card Money to NAACP

New York—Announcement that the Links, Inc., nationally known social action club, has undertaken another NAACP fund raising drive was made here this week by NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins.

Entitled the "Links Christmas Card Substitute Plan," Link members across the country are sending all their usual Christmas card greeting money to the NAACP Freedom Fund. Substitute greeting card forms, explaining the nature and purpose of the drive, are sent to friends. In turn, recipients are asked to do the same thing, thus setting up a chain effect.

Mrs. Frances Forsythe, of Montclair, N. J., co-chairman of the drive, said it seeks to "obtain financial aid for the sit-ins and similar activities and to allow every interested person to participate in the struggle for freedom and human rights."

Chairmen

"This is being done without seeking any new funds or extra effort from individuals," she explained. Mrs. Forsythe along with her husband, Dr. Albert E. Forsythe, originated the plan. The Links, long-time NAACP supporters, will carry out their Christmas greeting card substitute plan in all of their 88 chapters located in 27 states.

Mrs. Virginia B. Savoy of Montclair, president of the North Jersey Link chapter, is also co-chairman. Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, president of school year the Negro children journeyed 80 miles daily to Asheville by bus, to attend Negro schools. The County School Board had never operated a high school for Negroes and during the past two years, maintained no schools for Negroes. The Pittsburgh chapter of Links, is liaison between the Association and the Links.

11 Years Old

Though only 11 years old, the Links have established an exceptional record of underwriting the civil rights struggle. By 1954, all of the functioning chapters had pledged to purchase one NAACP life membership. Subsequently, each incoming unit has followed suit, so that today there are 68 fully paid Link units in the NAACP life membership program. An additional two are in process of paying while the rest are committed. Another Link project was contribution of $200.00 annually for two years by each chapter to the Association's Freedom Fund.

North Carolina School Board Integrates by US Court Order

Burnsville, N. C.—The first public school board in North Carolina ordered to integrate by the courts, today obeyed a federal court mandate and assigned eight Negro students to two previously all-white high schools.

The Yancey County Board of Education had been ordered on Sept. 13, to admit the eight Negro students to either one or both of its two all-white high schools within 30 days by federal Judge Wilson Warlick.

No Appeal

School authorities also indicated that the board would not appeal a recent decision of Judge Warlick ordering the school board to reconsider the assignments of 17 Negro children to a new two-room elementary school, built solely for Negroes.

Judge Warlick's integration order resulted from a case filed on Nov. 11, 1959, by attorneys for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund on behalf of 27 Negro students. Prior to the 1958-59 school term, the county operated a separate, one-room wooden elementary school in Burnsville (the county seat) for about 30 Negro children. This represented the entire Negro school population of the County. It is estimated that Yancey's Negro population is 200, while there are 16,000 whites.

Building Condemned

In the summer of 1958, the Yancey County grand jury had condemned the one-room wooden building as "inadequate," "unsafe," and "unsanitary." During the 1958-59

OUR TREE

I looked out of my window
At our poplar tree,
It was stripped of all its beauty
But, that is not up to me.
That is God's doing
The leaves have all fallen to the ground.
That means winter is on its way.
And there are the squirrels and birds
That we must feed each day
So I'll go on through the winter
Very calm and serene
I know that very soon
My tree will again be all green.

Tense excitement permeating the political scene as national election day draws nearer and the voters will decide the $64 million question. Even more tense excitement and taut suspense is being generated by the Iowa Hawkeye football team as rabid fans literally hold their breath and ask the big question—"Can . . . can they do it again?" And all of exciting events and suspense is being painted against the vast—Spectacular Autumn.

Meanwhile, beauticians around the midwest and the local public are looking forward to the annual beautician's clinic at Crescent School of Beauty in Des Moines. They too will hold their breath as national guest artists and expert hair stylists unveil their wares in the latest of women's hair styles, coloring and permanents.

A brief note arrived at the news desk from a former resident of Des Moines, Mrs. Deborah Young of Chicago, Ill. Along with it she submitted an original poetic creation which ties in with the current season. You may read it in the Letters to the Editor section of this week's Bystander. She lists her address as 7634 Calumet ave., in Chicago.

Back to Crescent School of Beauty a moment. Hundreds of young ladies and women have graduated from the school since its inception over 20 years ago. This year's class (July) was among the largest. And of course, it is only natural that people wonder what they are doing now, that they have completed their desired training in cosmetology.

Mildred Graves is employed at Berline's Beauty shop and Louvenia Henderson is at Evalon's in Des Moines. Evelyn Cropp, is back in her hometown, Ottumwa where she is employed at Marion Nesbitt's beauty. Before leaving Crescent's however, she took an extra course in hair styling. Naomi West Monroe is back in her home town, Cedar Rapids, where she is employed at Thelma Price's beauty shop and is working parttime in a white shop. Another classmate, Dorothy Cherry, of Des Moines is still at Crescent's taking a teacher's training course. In this year's class all members made high grades and three of them topped the class with a 92 point average.

One Des Moines couple who were wedded several months ago included a novel idea when they sent thank you notes to persons who attended the wedding and reception. Until this week we had been counting ourselves doubly lucky since we had managed to evade the flu bug and all its relatives. However, as we prepared to get this week's issue of the Bystander for your reading enjoyment, we were unlucky and wearily fighting the unwelcome bug. At the same time we were verbally preparing our oldest daughter, who is a kindergarten at Nash school for entrance into the hospital for a tonsilectomy within a week.

BLIND ATTACK ON LIQUOR-BEER SALES

Des Moines city officials, including the police department, are tearing their pants about the problem of enforcing liquor and beer laws in key clubs. Admittedly, the problem of making the management of these clubs keep within the law is difficult to the point that it is hard to enforce.

Whoever thinks the sale of liquor to individuals can be stopped is just as silly as those who thought prostitution could be stopped by breaking up the old red light district. Both are here to stay. The same thing to do is to regulate the sale in such a way as to require it to be done in a legal manner and at the same time return reasonable revenue to taxing bodies.

Fundamentally, the Iowa liquor and beer laws are hypocritical and thus difficult of enforcement. They are unrealistic in that many people want to be able to buy a drink when they want to drink it. And that time may be down town, at the club, at a restaurant etc. This is the situation in most states and their crime wave seems no worse than ours.

The key club law is no substitute for a system whereby one may buy liquor by the drink. And the key clubs may be put out of business—few are run for the sole benefit of members—but this will scatter more bootleg joints over the city and in some neighborhoods zoned for no such business.

The city council should join up with other Iowa cities in an effort to have the legislature change the Iowa liquor and beer laws so as to permit a more realistic sale policy. It would help enforcement and the tax load as well.

WHY AMERICA LOSES
FRIENDS AT U.N.

When Khrushchev was blasting the U. S. because some African representatives at the United Nations were being discriminated against by restaurants and hotels in New York, many people were surprised and even refused to believe that the charges were true.

Following his speech, several American Negro employees and officials at the U.N. were polled as to whether they had been subjected to any racial discrimination in New York. They answered that they had not.

Last week, the daily press carried stories pointing out instances where such discrimination does exist. This week, the NAACP offered its facilities for coping with such things to the U.N., recognizing that something must be done in its own backyard to clean up racial injustices.

Senator Kennedy keeps telling his listeners that America's prestige is slipping and cites the smaller vote cast this year by African and Asian nations at the U.N. for the programs we advocate, (the one to prevent taking up for debate the admission of Red China to the U.N. for example).

Like most of Senator Kennedy's campaign speeches, he does not give a reason why we are slipping. And yet the additional votes against America came from African and Asian nations. Undoubtedly, discrimination against darker people in America and recent incidents against some of their representatives, lead them to feel that in spite of beautiful words our actions often insult free men.

Much progress is being made toward the elimination of racial injustices but as an observer looks around he is bound to see many problems unsolved in every part of the country.

POOR TASTE BY
DR. GRAGG

Dr. Rosa L. Gragg, president of the National Association of Colored Women, has accepted a bid by Mrs. John Kennedy to serve on the women's brigade for Kennedy for President.

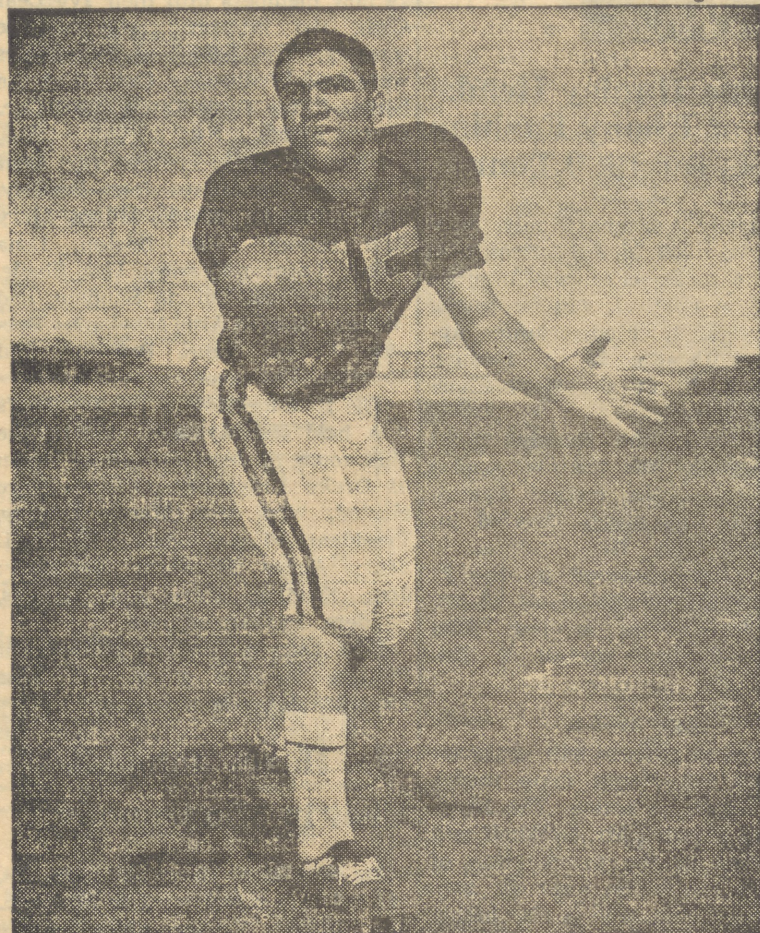

Now, Mrs. Gragg is a citizen, free born and as such has a right to do what she pleases as long as her acts do not encroach upon the rights of others.

But as president of the National Association of Colored Women, it is certainly bad taste and by color of authority appearing like an effort to pledge the members to a candidate for political office.

It happens all too often that this type of thing is done by heads of some of our organizations who undoubtedly get a pretty fat honorarium for leading their followers down this path.

And it also happens that many candidates are fooled as to the results obtained by these questionable methods.

QUARTERBACKS UNBEATEN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn.—Sandy Stephens, who is quarterbacking Minnesota in its second straight season, led the Gophers to its second Big Ten victory, 25-10 over a strong Illinois eleven here last Saturday.

Stephens scored all three of the Gopher's touchdowns and figured on the throwing end of a 41-yard pass play for the second touchdown when they came from behind in a 10-7 half-time deficit.

Iowa Escapes Badgers 28-21 In Closing Seconds;
Hollis' Brilliant Play Highlights Thriller

By Staff Writer

To most of the 58,000 fans who were there, the green pasture of Iowa stadium, where the go-go Iowa Hawkeyes played football Saturday, seem to glow a brighter and radiant hue, as did all other things around, for Iowa had won their second in a row spectacularly uproarious victory from a stalwart, aerial-borne Wisconsin eleven. Thus Iowa fans were in a gay and happy mood.

The Hawks continued in their split second winning ways as they escaped the defeat-minded clutches of a good Badger team by a margin of 28-21 with only 52 seconds remaining in the game.

Resourcefulness

After faltering from a 21-7 lead to an uncomfortable 21-21 tie the

Larry Ferguson
Left Halfback

Hawkeyes, who seem to delight in winning the fight the hard way, dipped down into the recesses of their resourcefulness and came up with the money play. It was a long 34 yard pass launched by brilliant quarterback, Wilburn Hollis to fleet halfback, Sammie Harris, who deftly snared it out of the air and arms of a Wisconsin defender and tucked it in for the winning TD. Earlier halfback Larry Ferguson had returned the punt 52 yards to set up the TD.

It was evident from the start that the Badgers were masters in the air as they marched 76 yards for their first TD. The first quarter ended with the Badgers ahead by 7-0.

Ferguson knotted the score at 7-7 in the second quarter when he scooted 18 yards through a big hole the line had opened.

Hollis Genius

In the second half Hollis' genius at the helm began to shine like the bright sun of the day as he took over and handled the ball like a magician as he rolled out on pass-run option plays and stiff-armed himself across the gridiron pathways for two touchdowns. One from 31 yards out and the other nine yards. The 19-year-old junior quarterback from Possum Trot, Miss., and Boys Town, Neb. truly put his best foot forward this day as he, time and time again, ran the ball to pick up needed yardage for first downs. Hollis personally accounted for 156 yards of the team total of 240. He ran for 77 yards and passed for 79.

Sweet Victory

This victory for Iowa was so sweet that it dripped of honey like a ripe fig. For not only did it place them on the top rung of the Big Ten ladder with a 3-0 record; it also elevated them to the number one spot in the nation on the Associated Press and United Press International football polls.

But the victory also had its bitter spots. Twice Iowa had touchdowns called back because of penalties. Many times they were off side or the back field was in motion.

This is something the amazing Whiz Kids must correct when they clash with mighty Purdue in a Homecoming contest Saturday. Of course the odd makers are on Iowa's side again this week. They have the Iowans 12 points favorites.

Well, sir, one more game like that last one and the Iowa university supporters will become candidates for strait jackets. Did you know there were 16 Negroes on the Iowa squad?

That Purdue game should be something. The Boilermakers have a big, fast backfield, a host of Negroes, a big, rough halfback and a good pass catching end; both you know. Talk about Greek meeting Greek! Wonder what they will say to each other before and after the game.

Iowa State

Iowa State ran into a big rough Colorado line and had trouble. Still Tom Watkins got in his licks. The coach could be right when he says his team is stale. But, how come the Dirty Thirty never got stale? Must see the State-Oklahoma game. The first time in a long time the Cyclones have a chance against the Sooners.

Drake Bulldogs

Now, where did Drake get that sudden influx of Negro athletes? They got more than a handful on their football team, with Harper and Nichols as standouts. Now, we hear they have what could be one of their greatest basketball teams in history. And that club will have a lot of the boys. Remember when Negroes had to nearly use their fists to fight to even get to play fresh-

Laugh Lines

The story is told of a farmer who sat down to write a letter to a pet man basketball, but they were always welcome in football and track. Now times have changed. The football team is drawing pretty good crowds too. Maybe the Bulldogs will make some money this year.

High School

Yep, each week it looks more like Roosevelt in the city series. East could line up and stop the Riders, but they will have to really get up and the Lee Township have been weak for passes all season.

North closes out what started out to be a pretty fair season with Dowling and Lincoln. Might beat shop. He began:

"Dear Sirs: Please send me two mongooses . . ."

It didn't look right, so he started again:

"Dear Sirs: Please send me a pair of mongeese . . ."

That didn't look right either, so in desperation he penned a third note:

"Dear Sirs: Please send one mongoose. H. Brown. P.S. Aw, shucks, as long as you're sending me one, you might as well send me two."

NOTE: Keep abreast of the political issues by reading the Bystander.

Lincoln. Their regular backs are just too short for good defense and that has been a major weakness all year. Then the Bears need a big rough fullback and no got. Sure pulled for our nephew to win a letter, but it looks like he didn't make it.

Tech is rounding out a fine season with only the loss to Roosevelt to mar it. And that shouldn't have happened if the Tech boys had got really fired up for that one. They have to play East yet, but that should be in the bag. Tech has the best group of backs in the city and they can all break up a ball game.

BLESS ALL MOTHERS

I'm writing now, dear mom of mine As thoughts wend backward to the time:

When I was two, or maybe three, You used to take me on your knee And kiss my bruises, calm my fears; If I could just recall those years. Bring back again, just for a day: The peace and joy, the fun at play. I know there's nothing I can do To bring those blessed days to view: Instead, I'll pray, that God above Will bless all mothers, for their love. And thank Him for the memories When I hear those old time melodies. In closing this short note: I'll say God bless all mothers; every day.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG

Hollywood, Calif.—Louis Armstrong, leather-lunged dean of American trumpet players, has asked the U. S. State Department for a visa to include Russia in the six-month tour of Africa and Europe on which he embarked Oct. 11. Armstrong, known as "Satchmo" or "Ol Satch" to millions of international jazz devotees, made the announcement on the pre-taping stage of "An Hour with Danny Kaye," General Motors-CBS color spectacular on Oct. 30.

The real reason to buy an automatic dryer... NOW!

Every woman saves work with an automatic dryer. But especially women with toddlers . . . and working mothers. Their laundry job never seems to end—diapers and little shirts and blankets and crib covers. Children always seem to need clean clothing; one reason why mothers are often so tired.

But think how a dryer lightens that work.

Instead of lugging wet clothes to the line (it amounts to three tons a year), you pop clothes from washer to dryer. You set a dial and go on with other tasks.

Clothes come out perfectly dry (or if you like, just damp enough to iron). Wonderfully fragrant and clean-smelling. None of that musty "basement odor." Wonderfully soft (a dryer dries towels 56% fluffier). And clothes last longer when they aren't whipped and frayed on the line.

Drying clothes automatically is so clean, so fast, so safe. You know it. But does your husband? Shouldn't you tell him now . . . before the cold weather? Then shop together at your appliance dealer or Iowa Power
